GERMANS STILL OCCUPY STRONG POSITION NORTH OF AISNE--CROWN PRINCE RETREATING

ONE RUSS ARMY IS CRUSHED

Four Army Corps and Other Forces Are Completely Defeated.

Austrian Losses in Galicia Are Placed at About 300,000.

Servia Claims to Have 150,000 Men in Hungary Now.

Berlin, Sept. 15, by wireless to New York, via Sayville, L. I.—It was officially announced in Berlin today that Gen. von Hindenberg had telegraphed Emperor William that the Russian army of Vilna, composed of the Second, Third, Fourth and Twentieth army corps, two reserve divisions and five divisions of cavalry, have been completely defeated by the Germans. The Russian casualties were heavy.

Austrian Losses 300,000.

London, Sept. 15.—A reasonable estimate, says a Times' Petrograd dispatch, places the Austrian losses in Galicia at 300,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners, or nearly one-third of their forces. They have also lost, the dispatch says, 1,000 guns, more than two-thirds of their available artillery.

In a dispatch from Copenhagen, the correspondent of the Central News quotes the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger as saying that the reason the Austro-German armies were defeated in Galicia was Russia's numerical superiority, the Russians exceeding the Austrians and the Germans by 350,000 men. The Austrian losses have been enormous, some regiments losing all their officers.

Got Between Forces.

The Russians broke in suddenly between the armies of Gen. Auffenberg and Gen. Dankl, making retreat absolutely necessary.

Another correspondent asserts that the Russian victory was due to the overwhelming superiority of their artillery.

According to a statement issued here today by the Servian legation, there are now in Hungary at least 150,000 Servian troops, successfully pushing an offensive movement against the forces of the dual monarchy.

AUSTRIAN HEIR MAY BE MADE PRISONER

Charles Francis Is With Army Expected to Surrender.

London, Sept. 15.—A dispatch to the Central News from Rome reports that a telegram from Petrograd states that the Austrian crown prince, Archduke Charles Francis, is with the Austrian army whose capitulation is regarded as imminent.

URGE ITALY TO JOIN WAR

Radicals in Rome Meet and Adopt Important Resolution.

Deputy Is Quoted That Italy Must Join Entente.

Paris, Sept. 15.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Rome says the committee of direction of the Radical party in Rome, at a meeting held yesterday which was participated in by members of parliament, adopted a resolution which is considered of great importance.

The resolution, after declaring that Italy's interests in the Adriatic must be safeguarded and that Italy should co-operate to prevent the conflict being settled in a manner that will determine the predominance of military tendencies, calls upon the government "to consider whether the grave but inevitable task is not imposed to change from neutrality to active participation in the conflict."

DEMOCRATS WIN THE MAINE ELECTION BY ELECTING GOVERNOR

HINDU OFFICER IN THE BRITISH ARMY

MAHARAJAH OF BIKANER, One of the Native Princes of India, Who Will Command Indian Troops in the War of the Allies on Germany.

Mayor Curtis of Portland Will Succeed Governor Haines.

All Present Congressmen Re-Elected—Bull Moose Vote Shrinks.

Washington Is Much Gratified at Result of the Voting.

Portland, Me., Sept. 15.—The Democratic victory in Maine's state election yesterday was measured by the 3,587 plurality by which Mayor Oakley C. Curtis of Portland defeated Governor William T. Haines, Republican, for re-election, according to unofficial returns from all but 37 of the 521 cities and towns today. All four congressmen, three Republicans and one Democrat, were re-elected.

In a vote heavier than that cast at the last presidential election, both Haines and Curtis ran well ahead of the Taft and Wilson figures, while the Progressive vote cast for Halbert P. Gardner, the head of the ticket, showed a pronounced slump from that cast for Roosevelt.

Comparative Returns.

The comparative returns available from 484 cities and towns give:

Haines, Rep., 57,662; Taft, Rep., 26,121.

OREGON TO VOTE ON THE DEATH PENALTY

Governor West Meanwhile Will Allow No Hangings.

Salem, Or., Sept. 15.—Governor Oswald West announced today that he would permit no more hangings in Oregon until after the November election, at which the people will vote on a measure to abolish capital punishment, and after the next legislature meets in January.

A measure for the abolition of capital punishment similar to the one now pending was defeated overwhelmingly at the last general election.

WILL OPPOSE ANY WAR TAX

Senate Republicans Reach Determination at Party Conference.

Democrats Will Talk the Matter Over in Caucus.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Senate Republicans at a conference today determined to fight any war revenue measure in any form.

Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee yielded today to protests of Democrats against the tax on freight and agreed to let the caucus tonight decide. The president, Mr. Underwood said, was not committed to a freight tax and would not insist upon it.

"If the caucus tonight does not determine upon a war revenue plan, I shall confer with the president," said Mr. Underwood. "The president is not set absolutely to a freight tax. Neither am I. I shall tell the caucus why it was thought advisable. The caucus is my boss and I certainly shall not try to press any measure that the caucus does not want."

Some Democrats, like the Republicans, are opposed to any war tax.

The conference of the Republican senators appointed Senators Smoot, McCumber, Smith of Michigan, Weeks and Sterling to take charge of the opposition and notify absentees to return at once, unless occupied with political campaigns.

AGED MAN FINED FOR PART IN OLEO FRAUD

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Francis M. Lowry, 70 years old, former secretary of the John J. Jelke company, one of several employes of that firm convicted some time ago of oleomargarine frauds, was sentenced today in the Federal court to a year's imprisonment and was fined $2,500.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 15.—Between 30 and 45 persons were killed and a score of others injured early today when the locomotive, baggage car and forward chair car of St. Louis & San Francisco Train No. 5 plunged through a trestle over Brush creek, near Lebanon, Mo., and were submerged by the swollen stream.

Most of the dead were drowned in the chair car, and a great number of these were women and children.

Those who were able to escape fought their way out by breaking windows and swimming ashore.

It was estimated there were sixty-five passengers in the chair car. Be-

RAILROAD MEN WORK FOR NEW RATE CASE

Committee Is in Washington, With Willard as Chairman.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The committee of Eastern railroad representatives who are here in connection with the proposed reopening by the interstate commerce commission of the advance rate case, in which a petition for a general increase of 5 per cent in freight rates was denied, continued their conferences here today.

The committee, through its chairman, Daniel E. Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, has informally served notice on the commission of its intention to request a reopening of the case on the ground that the Eastern roads are confronted with exceptional conditions as a result of the war in Europe.

WON SPECIAL PRAISE FROM HIS SUPERIOR

GEN. SIR HORACE SMITH-DORRIEN.

London, Sept. 15.—In his first report from the front, Gen. Sir John French, commanding the British forces in France, gave the highest praise to Gen. Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien for his work in repulsing the Germans on the allies' left. Gen. Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien is commanding the Second army corps of the expeditionary force in France. Sir James Grierson was to have commanded this force, but he died suddenly and it was necessary to appoint another commander. Smith-Dorrien has seen much active service. He fought in the Zulu war, the Egyptian war of 1882, the Nile expedition, the Sudan campaign and the South African war. Since 1912 he has held the southern command.

BRITISH SUCCESS IN AFRICA REPORTED

London, Sept. 15.—A dispatch from Capetown to Reuter's Telegram company says the Fourth South African Mounted Rifles, commanded by Col. Daetson, after two night marches, surprised the German force which had occupied a drift sixty miles from Steinkopf, in the Namaqualand. After a sharp skirmish the Germans were compelled to surrender.

FIGHTING CONTINUES ALONG WHOLE LINE

Dieppe Correspondent of London Bureau Says Gen. von Kluck Has Surrendered to the Allies.

"Heavy Undecisive Battles" Reported By Berlin---French Claim Germans Are Doubling Back in Lorraine.

London, Sept. 15.—A statement given out by the official press bureau this afternoon says:

"The enemy are still occupying a strong position to the north of the Aisne and fighting is going on along the whole line.

"The crown prince's army has been driven further back and is now on the line of Varennes, Consenvoye and Ornes."

"The allied troops have occupied Rheims.

"Six hundred prisoners and twelve guns were captured yesterday by the corps on the right of the British.

"Rain has made the roads heavy and is increasing the difficulty of German army in its retreat."

REPORTS SURRENDER.

The correspondent of the Central News at Dieppe, under date of Monday, Sept. 14, transmits a report that the German army under Gen. von Kluck has been forced to surrender. The correspondent says:

"A report has reached Dieppe that the extreme left of the allies, after making an encircling movement by way of Roye and Ham and joining a force from the Boulogne district, has compelled Gen. von Kluck to surrender with, according to one statement, 14,000 men, and according to another statement, with 25,000 men and a quantity of guns and war material."

Gen. von Kluck has been operating in German right wing and has consequently been opposed to the left wing of the allies. His army has been retiring before the allies for several days.

Roye and Ham are to the southeast of Amiens and were occupied by the Germans two days ago. Recent reports show that these towns are now in the possession of the allies.

"Heavy Undecisive Battles."

Berlin, Sept. 15, via Amsterdam and London, 12:05 p. m.—The German general staff today gave out the following official announcement:

"In the western theater of war the right wing of our army has been engaged in heavy but undecisive battles. The French, who endeavored to break through our lines, were victoriously defeated.

"At other points where there has been fighting no decisive results have been reached."

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 15.—The western and central armies of the German forces continued their resistance today north of the River Aisne and north of Rheims and Chalons, while the eastern army is retreating. This is the substance of the French official communication given out this afternoon. The text of the communication is as follows:

"On our left wing, during the day of yesterday, the Germans offered resistance on the north side of the River Aisne, along a line marked by the forest of L'Augle and Craonne, (twelve miles southeast of Laon.)

On the Center.

"On our center the German line of resistance was located yesterday to the north of Rheims and of Chalons. In order to reach Vienna, the town in the western section of the Argonne region, the forces of the enemy who

QUEEN INSISTS ON DUTCH NEUTRALITY

Addresses States General at Its Opening Session.

The Hague, via London, Sept. 15.—The States General was opened today. Queen Wilhelmina, in the speech from the throne, emphasized the necessity for the strictest neutrality in the present war, upon which, she intimated, the national existence depended.

"I return among you in very extraordinary circumstances," her majesty said. "We are all filled with thoughts of the terrible war raging in a great part of the civilized world. Our country consequently has faced a situation which still demands uninterrupted vigilance. I can declare, however, with gratitude, that our friendly relations with all powers continue. The absolute neutrality observed by Holland and maintained with all our force, has not been violated up to the present time in any manner."

BERLIN REPORTS SMALL CRAFT SUNK

Cruiser Hela Struck By a Torpedo From Submarine.

Berlin, via Copenhagen, via London, Sept. 15, 6:55 a. m.—It is officially announced that on the morning of Sept. 13 the small cruiser Hela was sunk by a torpedo from a hostile submarine. Almost the whole of the crew was saved.

The German cruiser Hela was a small protected cruiser of 2,040 tons. She was 328 feet long and carried a crew of 178 men. Her armament was not heavy, consisting chiefly of light guns. The Hela was laid down in 1893 and finished in 1896.

It is notable that the Hela was sunk by a submarine just as the British cruiser Pathfinder was sent to the bottom by a German submarine and it is probable that this is a reprisal on the part of the British for the loss of the Pathfinder. It is not announced where the Hela was sunk.

GIST OF REPORTS FROM WAR

Germany's armies to the north and the east of Paris, after retreating for upwards of fifty miles toward the Belgian frontier, are today making a determined stand along the River Aisne.

A news agency dispatch from Dieppe says that Gen. von Kluck has been enveloped by a French encircling movement and forced to surrender with a large command and a quantity of guns and ammunition.

The German general staff, however, announced today that heavy engagements were being fought by Gen. von Kluck's right wing to the northeast of Paris without a decisive result so far. The French attempts to break through the German lines were said to be repulsed.

Reports regarding the operations in East Prussia contradict each other. From Petrograd it is said that Gen. Rennenkampf has resumed the offensive and that the investment of Koenigsberg still is in progress. Berlin advices, however, are to the effect that the Russian general had suffered defeat nearly as severely as that of the Russian disaster at Allenstein.

Further Petrograd dispatches estimate the casualties of the Austrians in Galicia to total 300,000, nearly one-third of their forces.

The sinking of the German protected cruiser Hela, of 2,040 tons, by a submarine of the allied fleet, is announced in an official statement issued at Berlin. A major part of the crew was saved.

The German submarine which sank the British cruiser Pathfinder with a loss of 246 lives, is reported to have been destroyed by the fire of several British cruisers.

Sharp skirmishes have taken place in the Shan Tung peninsula of China between the German defenders of the Kiao Chow concession and a Japanese landing force.

A measure was introduced in the British parliament today suspending until after the war the proceedings on the Irish home rule and the Welsh disestablishment bills.

Queen Wilhelmina, opening parliament in person, emphasized the necessity of the Netherlands maintaining the strictest neutrality in the war.

COUNCIL REVOKES LIQUOR LICENSE OF ST. LOUIS HOTEL

Vote Is 4 to 1, Commissioner Voss Alone Opposing Resolution.

Saloon Promptly Closes Doors—May Take Appeal to Courts.

The city council at noon today revoked the saloon license of J. W. Irwin for the New St. Louis hotel by a vote of 4 to 1. Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss voted against it.

The forfeiture of the license followed the hardest fight for the preservation of a saloon license which has been made since the inauguration of the law enforcement policy of Safety Commissioner William A. Hicken a year ago last May.

The resolution becomes effective as soon as it is signed by Mayor W. I. Prince. This will be some time tomorrow if the regular course of business is followed and Commissioner Hicken said that he would make no request that it be signed sooner. In that event the saloon might continue to operate until 11 o'clock tonight, but it closed its doors shortly after noon today.

Attorneys E. J. Kenny and H. J. Grannis, who appeared for Mr. Irwin, said at the conclusion of the hearing that they had determined on no course of procedure. The probability is that they will carry the case to either the district court or the state supreme court for review on a writ of certiorari. The saloon, however, must remain closed pending such action.

After all the evidence had been submitted and the attorneys for both sides had made their arguments, Commissioner Hicken made a ringing speech in support of his contention that the license of the St. Louis should be forfeited and the law enforcement policy of the administration consistently maintained.

Fines Cut No Figure.

Declaring that fines cut no figure he sprung a sensation by exhibiting that the chief of police has in his office contracts which show that agreements have been made in certain cases to sell liquor illegally at advanced prices to create a fund to meet the payment of fines before the fines are levied. He did not say that the St. Louis was a party to such a contract but cited the circumstances to show with what the safety division has had to contend in enforcing the law in Duluth.

He characterized as silly the attempt of the attorneys of Mr. Irwin to create sentiment in his favor by placing stress upon his large investment in the hotel. "Mr. Irwin is not entitled to any more consideration than the small saloonkeeper in the city who has his all invested in his business," contined the safety commissioner. "As far as it lies in my power I shall enforce the law fairly and impartially, extending special privileges to no one. My aim shall be to give every one a square deal as long as I am commissioner of public safety.

"The attention of Mr. Irwin has been called time and again to law violations in the St. Louis hotel. He pleads that he had no knowledge of the fact that the law was being violated and that it was against his repeated instructions to comply with the regulations. Who would have paid the $150 which was offered to one of the city's witnesses by the head waiter if he would leave the city; who put up the bonds when the employes were arrested, paid their fines and arranged for attorneys to defend them and tried in every way to defeat their conviction? Mr. Irwin and Mr. Lewis. If liquor had not been furnished the waiters from the bar for sale after 11 o'clock, it would not have been sold in violation of the law."

Hicken Would Vote.

Answering the request of Attorney Kenny that the safety commissioner refrain from voting on the revocation, he declared that he would not stultify himself by not doing what the law plainly makes it is his duty to do. He said that he would vote for the revocation and take his chances before the people of Duluth for justification of his action. He stated that in justice to the hotel men of the city, in justice to the saloon keepers of the city and in justice to the people of the city, the license should be revoked.

When the hearing was resumed at 10 o'clock this morning, having been started yesterday morning and continued until today from late in the afternoon, a number of witnesses testified as to the good character of Mr. Irwin and that the hotel has been conducted in a quiet and orderly manner. These included Mrs. M. C. Ryckman, the housekeeper; Wirt H. Cook, J. P. McDonald and Henry Turrish, well-known lumbermen of the city; Simon Clark of the Marine Supply company and N. F. Russell of the firm of Bridgeman & Russell.

In his argument to the council, Attorney Grannis contended that the charge of want of good moral character against Mr. Irwin, as stated in the city's notice summoning him to appear to show cause why his license should not be revoked, was not well taken. He held that while it stated that the alleged lack of character was qualified to mean within the ordinance, it did not furnish ground for revocation. He pointed out that Mr. Irwin had corrected every irregularity of which the authorities had complained and that the blind pig ordinance, cited in the notice, should not apply in the case. Attorney Kenny said that the circumstances were entirely different from those of any other case in which the council had revoked saloon licenses. Both City Attorney Clapp and Assistant Attorney Gurnee spoke briefly, stating that there was no question but what the council had the power to revoke the license.

Afternoon Hearing.

At the afternoon hearing Mr. Irwin declared that since he assumed charge of the hotel he has endeavored to conduct it in a manner meeting the approval of Commissioner Hicken and the police department. He said that he had issued strict instructions to Tilton Lewis, manager, George Lawrence, head waiter, and all other employes to allow no immoral women in or about the place, and to obey to the letter the regulations governing the sale of liquor.

He explained that when he first came to the St. Louis he had watch kept day and night to make sure that no women of questionable reputation went to any of the rooms and that he had gates put across the front stairway at night to compel everyone going upstairs to use the elevator, which caused them to pass into the lobby, where better supervision could be had of the people patronizing the hotel. He asserted that his orders to Lewis and Lawrence had been of the strictest and frequently reiterated, and that his first knowledge that liquor was being sold in the dining room after 11 o'clock was the arrest of the three waiters and the bushoy, recently convicted in police court. Mr. Irwin stated that he had too much at stake to consent to any chances being taken which would jeopardize his license, as he could not operate the hotel without the bar. He explained that he has an investment of about $60,000 in the hotel and owns about 95 per cent of the stock of the New St. Louis Hotel company, of which he is president. He estimated that his bills for help and supplies average $15,000 per month.

Food Sales

Relative to the allegation that the sale of food in the dining room is merely incidental to the consumption of liquor, he denied such to be the case, saying that the food sales have run more than double the liquor sales. He stated that the hotel is not indecent or disorderly and that it is patronized by the best people of their various communities. He said that he had not discharged the waiters after their recent convictions in police court. He explained that he had advanced their bail money when they were arrested, as he was human and did not want to see them go to jail, and that the money had been in the hands of the court to be applied on their fines.

Lawrence and Lewis later informed the council that Frank Wright was the only waiter of those arrested now working for the hotel company, but that the others had not been discharged. They stated that they felt as did Mr. Irwin, that they had learned a lesson and would profit by it. They also added that waiters are hard to secure at this time of the year. Both corroborated Mr. Irwin as to the instructions which had been given them relative to complying with the laws and keeping disorderly women out of the hotel. Neither of them had seen orders taken for beer after 11 o'clock.

George Reed, Dr. H. D. Burnett, Dan Haley and E. W. Barnes were put on as character witnesses for Mr. Irwin and the hotel. They declared that they had been guests of the hotel for varying periods; that they had never seen anything of a disorderly nature or any indecent women in the hotel, and that they had been unable to make purchases of liquor after 11 o'clock at night or on Sundays.

City's Three Witnesses.

The city put three witnesses on the stand. They were Chief Troyer and the two policemen, Victor Isacson and Bert Duff, who were acting as stool pigeons and secured the evidence on which the waiters and the 'bus boy were convicted. Chief Troyer said that while the hotel has a reputation for having violated the law, he believed that an improvement had been made since Mr. Irwin took charge of it, particularly with respect to gambling. He also thought that there had been betterments as to women hanging about the hotel, and stated that the conduct of the saloon itself has not been subject to complaint. Isaacson and Duff related the circumstances of the instances when they had bought beer after hours.

The proceedings were closely followed throughout by the largest crowd which has attended a council meeting in the last year.

ALL PETTY GAMBLING IS PUT UNDER POLICE BAN

Dice Games and Card Lotteries Ordered Out of Cigar Stores.

Public Betting on Ball Games and Elections Is Forbidden.

Dice shaking, public betting on ball games, and all kinds of petty gambling must cease in Duluth.

Orders were sent out this morning by Chief Troyer, instructing all officers to cause the removal of every gambling device in the city, to stop betting on prize fights, ball games and election contests, to stop the hanging up of prizes for the purpose of promoting business and any other form of gambling that may come to the notice of the officers.

Chief Troyer's order was sent out upon the request of Commissioner Hicken and will undoubtedly put a stop to dice games and the card system by which a box of candy is won upon payment of 5 or 10 cents for a number. These devices are in virtually every cigar store in the city.

The order to the commanding officers mailed this morning follows:

"To commanding officers:

"You are hereby instructed to cause all gambling devices, such as dice, dice boxes and the like to be removed from cigar stores and other places where they are used for purposes of gambling. Also stop all bookmaking propositions where tickets are sold on ball games, prize fights and election contests, etc. Also keep a sharp lookout for all gambling slot machines, candy boxes or other prizes which are hung up in places of business for the purpose of promoting the business of gambling, and you are to instruct the officers under your command to notify all persons having any such gambling devices in operation to immediately discontinue their use, and after such has been given, and such devices are found in use, they should be seized by the police with a view of prosecuting the persons permitting their use, and with a view of confiscating them.

"C. H. TROYER,
"Chief of Police."

This morning each commanding officer instructed the men under him to inform cigar store owners and saloon keepers throughout the city of the order issued by Chief Troyer. From now on a close watch will be kept on the stores and any violation will mean the arrest of the offender.

PROPERTY OWNERS PROTEST ON PAVING

A protest signed by a number of property owners on Grand avenue, between Eighty-fourth avenue west and Zimmerly avenue, was read this morning at the meeting of the city commissioners. The protest asked that the paving of Grand avenue between these points be abandoned.

The council ordered the paving of this thoroughfare by the initiative clause of the city charter on July 15. The protest has been filed within the 60-days' limit, and if found to contain the proper number of signatures, the scheme must be abandoned by the city.

The property owners set forth in their petition that the financial conditions at present do not warrant the improvement. The war in Europe, which caused, they claim, the closing of activities at the steel plant, and in turn caused a depression in the sale of property in that section of the city, is given as one of the principal reasons for opposing the improvement at this time.

Mayor and Commissioners Will Be Chosen for School Government.

Next week will be election week at the R. E. Denfeld high school. Under its commission form of government a mayor and eight commissioners will be elected. Already there are about fifteen students in the field who will seek election to some of the offices.

Principal S. A. Foster announced today that the election would be left entirely in the hands of the students. No teacher or instructor in the school will be allowed to participate in any way in the election or to give his or her opinion as to who should be elected.

A series of mass meetings of the students will be held. These meetings will be held principally in the assembly hall at which candidates or their campaign managers may extol the virtues of the respective candidates. The first of these is planned for Friday.

The Paris styles are here, and from present indications no further importations will be procurable. Fine imported fabrics are becoming more and more scarce, and many handsome fabrics will be absolutely unobtainable later on.

Consequently, as the season advances elegant apparel will probably become higher in price, rather than lower.

The Autumn selections already gathered here are extensive—and distinction is their keynote.

School Levy Indorsed.

The school board last night unanimously indorsed the levy of $207,000 for the expenses of the city schools during the coming year. This is an increase of more than $21,000 over last year. The increase is caused by the raising of teachers' salaries as well as the expiration of much of the insurance on the buildings.

Superior Normal Opens.

The Superior state normal school opened this morning for the season's session. The classes will meet in the Superior high school. As yet those at the head of the institution are not in a position to say whether the attendance will be as great as last year, although the registration had been heavy up to the opening.

FARM TENANT SUED FOR $1,175

Owners of Land Say Contract for Clearing Was Broken.

Because of the alleged failure of William Hukart to clear and fertilize fifteen acres of land leased from John J. Wangenstein and R. K. Doe, the latter brought suit in the district court today for damages amounting to $1,175. This they allege is the amount that it would cost to clear the land and fertilize the soil.

The plaintiffs, who hold the land, which is in St. Louis county, allege that they let out the land to the defendant, who was to be their tenant, making a written contract that fifteen acres of land were to be cleared and manure and debris about the place distributed, by Oct. 1, 1914. The plaintiffs say that neither the land has been cleared nor the manure spread.

WIFE CHARGES ASSAULT.

Whether or not William C. Schnacker thought his wife too "fresh" is not known, but Clara Belle Schnacker, his wife, declares that he threw a sack of salt at her, which she gives as one of the many reasons for asking a divorce and the privilege of resuming her maiden name.

According to the plaintiff, throwing salt was but a skirmish compared to the action of her husband when he really got going. Kicking over a cooking range, overturning furniture and finally threatening to cut out her heart with a razor are alleged to have been some other things that caused her to seek a separation.

The plaintiff, who is 33 years old, was married in 1896 to the defendant, who is now 40. They have one married daughter and a son, 12 years old.

INFORMATION BOOTH CLOSED

Commercial Club Bureau Aided 21,434 People During Summer.

Records Indicate Tourist Travel Was Heavy This Year.

The information booth maintained on the corner of Fifth avenue west this year by the publicity committee of the Commercial club was closed today and placed in storage for the winter.

From June 12 to Sept. 14, 21,434 people stopped at the booth for information, a daily average of 226, or one person every 2½ minutes, when the booth was open.

The record by months is an indication of the flow of tourist travel in Duluth:

Month—	Total.	Daily Average.
June 12 to 31	2,930	154
July	1,718	249
August	8,488	278
Sept. 1 to 14	2,304	164

Besides giving any desired information about the city, the man in charge of the both kept an up-to-date list of rooms for rent and boarding places, and many tourists who desired private accommodations for any period were thus placed.

The records of the booth and the boat lines indicate that tourist travel was unusually heavy this year. The number stopping at the booth is only a small percentage of the summer visitors to the city, as thousands of them have friends here and have no occasion to seek information from public sources.

The travelers came from all over the country, from Florida, Maine, the farthest reaches of Northwestern Canada, from Texas and from other extreme points.

The service given by the Commercial club booth is unique in that few commercial organizations have such a plan of serving the visitors to the city. The Commercial club received many commendatory letters from visitors who appreciated the service, and many other commercial organizations have inquired as to the details, with a view to establishing a similar service in their cities.

The information booth was first established last year, and it was such a success that it was re-established this year. There is now no doubt that it will be a permanent summer season feature.

NURSE SAVES FIVE FROM CAR IN WATER

St. Louis Girl Is Heroine of Wreck on Frisco Line.

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 15.—One of the passengers in the submerged Frisco Line chair car today was Miss Mona Campbell, a nurse of St. Louis. She broke a window and climbed to the side of the car.

Standing in the water, she felt about until she touched the hands of drowning passengers. As she grasped a hand, she pulled with all her strength. In this way she rescued five passengers.

Crossed the Trestle.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 15.—At the Frisco general offices this noon it was said that the cause of the Lebanon wreck was not clear, but that this would be determined as soon as the waters, now receding, had gone back far enough to permit an investigation to be made.

Reports received at Frisco headquarters, however, indicate that the train did not go through a trestle, as a newspaper report from Springfield indicated, but that the track, which has been weakened by the water, gave way.

This report in the main harmonizes with telephone messages from Lebanon, stating that the train crossed the trestle safely and then left the track, falling over into a swollen gully.

ORDINANCE CALLS FOR FIRST ELECTRIC PLANT UNIT

Commissioner Merritt Introduces Measure to Appropriate $85,000.

Probably Marks Beginning of Warm Contest—Referendum Expected.

The ordinance making the appropriation for the West Duluth unit of the electric lighting plant to compete with the Duluth-Edison Electric company was introduced by Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the division of public utilities, this afternoon.

The ordinance calls for an appropriation of $85,800 and recites in some detail the purposes for which the money is intended; namely, the construction and equipment of a plant at West Duluth to furnish electric light to the part of the city between Thirty-eighth avenue west and Seventy-third avenue west.

The estimates for the unit, which is contemplated as the first of a series to be installed throughout the city, have been inspected and approved by W. B. Rittenhouse, the engineer who had charge of the recent appraisal of the property of the Duluth-Edison company. He reached Duluth yesterday morning from Washington, D. C., and completed his checking of the specifications and estimates for the first unit shortly before noon today, and will leave again this evening. The figures as given in the ordinance are an increase of about $500 over the original estimate.

That the ordinance will pass the council is unquestioned, as a majority of the commissioners have declared their intention of voting for it. The ordinance will take three readings and be approved. As required by the charter it must lay over thirty days after its publication before it can become effective.

Referendum Expected.

But as certain as that the ordinance will be approved is the certainty that it will be voted upon at a referendum election. The petition needed to secure the referendum requires only the signatures of qualified voters equivalent in number to 10 per cent of the votes cast at the last general election. This would mean that the petition would be effective with 1,100 names and it is conceded that no difficulty would be experienced in securing more than that number.

Upon the filing of the petition the ordinance is suspended from becoming operative. If the council fails to repeal the ordinance upon again considering it, it must be submitted to a vote of the electors of the city, either at a special election called for that purpose, or at the next general municipal election. To become effective it must be approved by a majority of those voting on it.

Take Engineers' Figures.

The council in ordering the construction of the competing plant, is acting in accordance with the recommendations of the engineers who had charge of the valuation. They submitted four possible plans of acquiring a municipal electric plant. That favored was the acquisition of the present plant of the Duluth-Edison company at a fair price. In the event that this could not be accomplished they recommended what has been described as "course 4." This is given in the report as the installation of a "distribution system consisting of lines radiating from numerous small sub-stations located at sub-centers of distribution throughout the city, these sub-stations to be supplied with current purchased from the Great Northern Power company."

The West Duluth unit is proposed as the first of these to be installed. The figures for the appropriation are based upon those obtained by the engineers in making the valuation of the Duluth-Edison plant. Some alterations have been made to meet conditions for the city plant contemplated but that is a part of the Duluth-Edison equipment in the district between Thirty-eighth and Seventy-third avenues was used as the foundation for their preparation.

DEATH DUE TO APOPLEXY

E. W. Markell Is Overcome While Taking His Morning Shower.

Dies Later in Hospital—Widely Known in Northern Minnesota.

Stricken with apoplexy while taking a bath shortly before 8 o'clock this morning, Edgar W. Markell, 57 years old, who was born in Duluth, was found unconscious in the tub by his son, Clinton Markell. He died at 9:30 o'clock at St. Luke's hospital, without having regained consciousness.

Roomed With Son.

Mr. Markell and his son, Clinton, had roomed at the residence of Mrs. W. W. Russell, 2 Chester terrace, for the last two years. Apparently in the best of health Mr. Markell awoke about 7 o'clock this morning and went to the bathroom for his usual shower.

About 7:30 o'clock Mrs. Russell, who was passing through the hall, saw some water flowing out from under the door. She called to the person inside, not knowing it was Mr. Markell, but was unable to obtain any response. Clinton Markell, the son, heard the noise and rushing out in the hall, broke open the bathroom door. He found his father lying in the tub, with his head thrown forward over the side. Mr. Markell was unconscious.

Doctor Is Called.

Mr. Markell was carried into his room and Dr. C. A. Stewart was called. He examined Mr. Markell and declared that the latter had suffered a stroke of apoplexy from which he did not believe he would recover. Dr. Stewart ordered him to St. Luke's hospital, where he died just fifteen minutes later, without regaining consciousness.

Funeral Arrangements.

The body has been removed to the Stewart undertaking rooms, where the funeral arrangements will be made as soon as Mrs. Markell is heard from. She left last week with her daughter, Miss Ruth, for relatives in New York state and news of her husband's death was telegraphed to her this morning. No funeral arrangements will be made until word is received from her.

Besides a widow, Mr. Markell leaves two sons and one daughter. They are Clinton, who has lived with his father at Mrs. Russell's rooming house; Miss Ruth, and Porter, who lives in Portland, Or. Mrs. Howard T. Abbott of 2219 East Superior street and Miss Ella Markell, who lives with Mrs. Abbott, are sisters.

Pioneer of Duluth.

Mr. Markell was one of the best known pioneers in Duluth. He was born here fifty-seven years ago and had spent his life in Duluth. He was engaged in the real estate business. His father, Clinton Markell, probably the best known pioneer in Duluth, died two years ago, while his mother passed away just last year.

News of Mr. Markell's death will be a shock to his friends. Yesterday afternoon he was with several friends at the Commercial club and had complained of no illness whatever at the time.

VERDUN MAY BE RELIEVED

German Prince Has Retreated, But Still Holds Pivotal Point.

Report of Von Kluck's Surrender Is Doubted at London.

London, Sept. 15, 2:25 p. m.—As has been the case since the commencement of the battle of the Marne over a week ago the final outcome of this mighty struggle seems to depend upon the army of Crown Prince Frederick William in the German center, the headquarters of which has been retired to Montfaucon.

As this town is fifteen miles to the northwest of Verdun, the crown prince's move seems to imply the approaching relief of that French fortress, which his army has been besieging for a week past. However, no news of the actual situation there has come through, nor is official confirmation of the reported fall of the fortified position of Maubeuge forthcoming from French sources.

German Censor Busy.

A dispatch from the German great general staff on the battle of the Marne, received in London today, suffered at the hands of the censor. In its truncated form the only claim made for German arms is that of having successfully defeated the French endeavors to break through the German lines.

This apparently is quite true unless the report from Dieppe this afternoon, alleging that Gen. von Kluck's army on the German right had been forced to surrender, turns out to be correct. Up to the present there has been no confirmation of the story.

In any case, from the estimate given of the numbers of the troops surrendered, which according to one report was 14,000 and according to another 25,000, it would be a misnomer to call it a surrender of Gen. von Kluck's army, which must total in the neighborhood of 100,000.

Von Kluck's Position.

That von Kluck's position is a difficult one seems to be unquestionable, if, as reported, the German line is swinging its extreme right back on the Meuse in the vicinity of Mezieres, Vervines, St. Quentin and Peronne.

Gen. von Kluck, however, has shown masterful skill and even should he have been forced to sacrifice a part of his army to an offensive stroke of the British and French allies, and unless beaten by a break in the weather, which is turning the roads into quagmires and making transport most difficult, observers here are of the opinion that he will reach his appointed position.

Ashland Woman Hurt.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Charles Clark, wife of the proprietor of the Knight hotel here, sustained a broken ankle when the automobile belonging to Thomas Bardon, local capitalist, turned turtle near Highbridge Saturday afternoon. The other occupants of the auto, who were unhurt, were Mrs. Thomas Bardon, Mrs. A. W. W. Sanborn and Mrs. Roy Beebe. The car was in charge of Chauffeur Andrew Melanson. He was slightly bruised.

AGED PIONEER PASSES AWAY

Zebinah Weld, 84 years old, one of the oldest pioneers of Minnesota, who came here two weeks ago from Windom to visit his son, Ernest G. Weld, 4811 Pitt street, was found dead in his bed this morning.

He had been in ill health for several days and yesterday his condition became worse. Dr. Frank Lynam was called to attend Mr. Weld, who was suffering from ailments brought on by old age. Last evening he retired early and during the night members of the family did not hear a sound from the sick man's room. About 6:30 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Weld, thinking it rather strange, went into her father-in-law's room and discovered that he was dead.

Mr. Weld came to Windom, Minn., more than fifty years ago, settling on a farm just outside of the town. His first wife died many years ago, but he is survived by the present Mrs. Weld, three sons and one daughter, besides E. G. Weld of this city. The last named is a member of the Duluth fire department. He is a pipeman at the No. 6 firehall at Lakeside.

The body of Mr. Weld is being held at the Grady & Horgan undertaking rooms, until the arrival of one of the sons this evening. It will be taken back to Windom for burial.

CORONER'S TESTIMONY CONFLICTS WITH WIDOW'S

Different Versions Given of Interview in Mrs. McAlpine's Room.

McAuliffe Tells of Events Immediately Following Finding of Body.

Testimony, widely at variance in some respects with that which was drawn from Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine yesterday afternoon during a cross examination by attorneys for the defense in her suit against the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York to recover on a $50,000 accident policy held by her husband, John McAlpine, was given this morning by Dr. J. J. McAuliffe, deputy county coroner, who was called as a witness on behalf of the insurance company. Dr. McAuliffe was called to the McAlpine residence early on the morning of Aug. 15, 1913, after the body of the well known lumberman had been found in the basement of his home. He took charge of the matter in his official capacity as deputy coroner.

Testimony Conflicting.

In several instances the testimony given by Dr. McAuliffe conflicted with that which was adduced by Mrs. McAlpine during her cross examination yesterday afternoon. Each gave a different version of what was said and done when the deputy coroner interviewed the widow in her bed chamber a few hours after the body had been found.

Dr. McAuliffe testified that on his second visit to the home on the morning after the body had been removed by the undertaker to the morgue, where the inquest was held later, he went to the room occupied by Mrs. McAlpine to see her. He stated that she told him that she had put in a restless night; that she had got up and gone to the bathroom several times during the night, and that on one occasion she found Mr. McAlpine missing. The witness stated that she described to him how she had gone downstairs to find him, and had later aroused Dale and told him to look for his father. No mention was made of the gun by her, she said, although he (Dr. McAuliffe) had known about the gun since his first visit to the house, although he did not see it at that time.

Asked Regarding His Report.

The doctor also testified that Mrs. McAlpine asked him what report he was going to make as to the cause of death, and that he told her he would make no report until after the autopsy had been held. He declared that she appeared agitated, and asked him if it was necessary to have the body removed from the house, and if the autopsy could not be held at the residence. He stated that she then told him how much she thought of her husband and how much John had thought of her.

"I told her that her husband had been shot through the head and that that was the cause of his death," testified the physician. "She was considerably agitated after that and turned to me with the remark: 'I hope you don't think I did it,'" he said. The witness declared that he assured her that he did not.

Mrs. McAlpine Not Suspected.

"Had you said anything to the effect that you thought that she did it?" Dr. McAuliffe was asked by Attorney Theodore Hollister, who was conducting the examination.

"No, sir," was the reply.

Continuing his story, Dr. McAuliffe stated that Dale came in shortly afterwards and that she said to him: "Dr. McAuliffe tells me your father is shot."

The deputy coroner explained that on his first visit to the house about 4:30 o'clock that morning Dale had told him that his father was shot but had requested him not to mention the fact to his mother. On his second visit, he said, Dale also repeated the request that the fact that his father had been shot be kept from his mother.

"When Mrs. McAlpine told Dale his father had been shot, he looked as though he would have liked to have sprung across the bed at me, but he didn't do it," testified the doctor.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. McAlpine, under cross-examination, denied that she had ever asked Dr. McAuliffe what his report as to the cause of death would be before he left the McAlpine house that morning.

"And didn't he reply," asked Attorney Briggs, "that he couldn't tell what the report would be until after the autopsy."

Mrs. McAlpine insisted that no such conversation had taken place with reference to the autopsy.

Mrs. McAlpine also declared that she had no recollection one way or the other on the proposition of whether or not when Dr. McAuliffe told her that her husband was shot she expressed surprise. She testified that Dr. McAuliffe looked queer and was trying to say different things and that she said to him "Are you trying to say that I did it?"

Asked as to whether Dale expressed displeasure when she told him the coroner had told her that Mr. McAlpine had been shot, she said:

"Dale only showed great grief."

Body Moved Slightly.

Dr. McAuliffe testified that he received the call to come to the McAlpine residence about 4 o'clock and that he arrived about a half hour later. Dr. Stewart was then at the residence. He stated that he went immediately to the basement where the body was found under conditions indicating that it had been moved slightly from the place where it had originally lain.

A superficial examination of the body disclosed that it was cold and that some stiffness had set in. The physician testified that in his opinion Mr. McAlpine had been dead for at least two hours although the time could not be definitely fixed within a period of two or three hours prior to that.

Window Open.

On his first trip to the basement on the first trip to the house, he testified, he noticed that a window to the basement was open. Later, he said, Mr. McManus, who was present, called his attention to the window and an inspection was made from the outside, where the window was leaning against the side of the house. He testified that from the examination he made, the window had been removed but a short time prior to that as the grass on which it was resting was fresh and had not been pressed down.

The appearance of the coal bin directly under the window, he said, was such as to indicate that no one had passed through the window. He also stated that he noticed that there was some dust on the window and that on the inside there were some spider webs woven across, which would have made it impossible for a person to have gone through without disturbing the webs. The window space was about two feet square, he said.

The undertaker, he testified, arrived and took charge of the body about 5:30 o'clock. Dr. McAuliffe testified that during his inspection of the basement he did not run across the revolver. He stated that Mr. McManus called him up by telephone later and stated that after he (McAuliffe) had left Dale McAlpine was crying and refused to be reconciled and finally told him (McManus) that he had something to tell and took a revolver from an urn under the staircase and handed it to him (McManus).

The witness stated that later during the morning the gun was turned over to him by Mr. McManus. The gun which was introduced in evidence yesterday was identified by the witness. Dr. McAuliffe then produced a battered bullet and an unexploded shell which were introduced in evidence. The unexploded shell, he stated, came from the gun which was turned over to him by McManus and the battered bullet was taken from the head of John McAlpine at the morgue when the autopsy was held.

The coroner also produced a fragment of a bullet which was found during the examination of the McAlpine body. He testified that he weighed an unexploded bullet from the same gun and found it to register 161 grains and that he had weighed the battered bullet taken from Mr. McAlpine's head and found it weighed 143 grains. He also testified that the difference in weight could be accounted for by the fragment which was found.

John McAlpine's death was instantaneous. The bullet which plowed through his brain entered the head on the right side, two and one-half inches above the tip of the right ear and came through the skull two inches above and one inch posterior to the tip of the lefe ear. The passage way was an inch in diameter. He could not have walked a step or moved a muscle, according to expert opinions given by both Dr. McAuliffe this morning and Dr. E. N. McGiffert, a witness called late yesterday afternoon.

Dr. McGiffert was one of the two physicians who assisted Dr. McAuliffe in conducting the autopsy. He stated as did also Dr. McAuliffe, that three fractures of the skull were found, one connecting the exit and entrance of the bullet, another ending over the right eyebrow and the third ending over the left eyebrow. Both physicians described the wounds in detail. At the point where the bullet entered, there was a discoloration of the scalp indicating a powder smudge, Dr. McAuliffe testified, but there were no indications of powder burns.

Two Days On Stand.

The cross examination of Mrs. McAlpine was concluded about a half hour before the time for adjournment yesterday afternoon. Two days in the witness chair gave the witness an appearance of being somewhat fatigued. Except for the first day she was on the stand when she broke down and sobbed when she told of the finding of her husband's body in the basement, the widow's emotions were well under control. As soon as she left the witness chair she withdrew from the court room for the first time during the trial.

In answer to a question directed by Mr. Briggs, attorney for the insurance company, Mrs. McAlpine testified that not more than ten minutes elasped from the time she first missed her husband to the time that Dr. Stewart was summoned by telephone by her son Dale after the body had been discovered on the basement floor. She stated that perhaps it might only have been five or six minutes.

The witness denied the statement which has been credited to her by Alice Spaulding, Dale's former wife, substantially as follows: "This is all your fault, Alice, you and Dale have troubled him so, he has done this." She declared that she had not made such a statement to Miss Spaulding or any remark like it.

Mr. Briggs asked the witness if it were true when she saw her husband dead she moaned and cried "Oh, my husband, my husband, why did you do it! Why did you do it!" Mrs. McAlphine insisted that her exclamation was "Why did you go down' Why did you go down! Why did you do it!"

Did Not Admit Suicide Theory.

Mrs. McAlpine very emphatically denied that she had ever told Capt. C. H. Henry of Eau Claire, an old friend of her husband's, that in her opinion she thought Mr. McAlpine had committed suicide. She was also asked if it were not true that she had refused to contribute to a fund which friends of Mr. McAlpine were raising for the purpose of hiring a detective to investigate the cause of death.

To this Mrs. McAlpine replied that she recalled that Capt. Henry visited her the Sunday evening following her husband's funeral and that he mentioned at that time that the Masons of Eau Claire proposed to raise a fund for such a purpose and that she replied that she was very glad to learn of it and that it was very kind of his friends.

The witness stated that Capt. Henry made no mention to her of the fact that Duluth friends of her husband were also considering an investigation and that in coming to her he also represented Henry Turrish, A. M. Chisholm Wirt H. Cook and other Duluthians. She also testified that she did not iscourage the movement any further than to say that she thought it was an accident and that there really wasn't much use of investigating it. She stated that she referred him to Harris Richardson of St. Paul, who was attorney for Mr. McAlpine during his lifetime and to her attorney, A. E. McManus.

Heard No Suggestion.

Mrs. McAlpine stated, in answer to questions put by Mr. Briggs, that she had no recollection of hearing Dr. R. R. Chase of Eau Claire or anyone else suggest suicide as the cause of death during the morning the four Eau Claire men, friends of the dead lumberman, visited her in her bed chamber. Mrs. McAlpine said that the Eau Claire men were summoned at her request and that she directed Dale to call up his father's friends there.

James T. Joyce, an Eau Claire banker, who was one of the four men who visited the McAlpine home on the morning of the tragedy, testified by deposition that during his visit there someone,—Dr. Chase, he thought—suggested suicide and that he (Joyce) made the remark at the time that he did not believe John McAlpine took his own life and that Mrs. McAlpine turned to him and said, "You don't think I did it, do you?"

Mrs. McAlpine's attention was called to this testimony yesterday by Attorney Briggs and she was asked if she recalled making such a statement. She replied that she had no remembrance of any such an utterance, that she knew Mr. Joyce had testified to it as fact but that she did not remember it although she had tried hard to.

Fear of Burglars.

During her cross-examination, Mrs. McAlpine admitted a conversation which she was said to have had with Mrs. L. V. Ripley of Eau Claire some time after the funeral, which was testified to by Mr. Ripley in a deposition which was read at the early part of the trial. The story referred to was the one about Mr. McAlpine's fear of burglars and his having a nightmare one night and pinching her arm until it was black and blue. She testified that the event referred to happened two or three weeks before Mr. McAlpine's death.

Did Not Think of Insurance.

"I certainly did not," declared Mrs. McAlpine in answer to Mr. Briggs' inquiry as to whether she had made the statement "I did not think about insurance at that time."

With reference to insurance Mrs. McAlpine declared that it was not until after her husband's death that she knew just how much insurance he was carrying. She stated that she did not even know of the particular $50,000 accident insurance policy on which the suit on trial is based.

Mrs. McAlpine denied that she had ever discussed with P. E. McCormack, local representative of the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York, defendant in the action now on trial, the provisions of the policy at the time it was issued to her husband.

She declared that she did not go to her husband's office to meet Mr. McCormack and have the policy read to her, and that if it was read to her she did not pay any particular attention to what it was.

The witness admitted that she might have directed that her husband's underclothing be allowed to remain undisturbed on the floor of the bed chamber when it was suggested that the room be cleaned up the same morning Mr. McAlpine's death was discovered and before the party of Eau Claire men arrived at the house.

"I don't remember what I said, I was so dazed," she testified. She did remember, she said, that her husband's vest remained on the bed post for weeks later.

Did Not Examine Gun.

The witness testified that when she picked up the gun from her husband's side in the basement she did not examine the weapon to determine whether or not any of the bullets had been discharged.

Mrs. McAlpine testified that two guns were in the house at the time. The other gun was a smaller revolver which she kept in a closet when Mr. McAlpine was home and which she kept on a table in her bedroom when he was away from home. She declared that her husband often urged her to take this precaution and advised her to fire out of the window to alarm the neighbors in case a burglar should break into the house.

Mrs. McAlpine also denied that while she and her son were in the basement with the body of Mr. McAlpine the morning of the shooting she turned to him and said: "Everything will be all right now, Dale."

"I cannot possibly understand how anyone could say that I said anything like that," declared the witness.

During the course of her cross-examination the witness also refuted a statement which has been made by Alice Spaulding to the effect that Mrs. McAlpine had told her to say she had seen a mouse in explanation of her screams when Dale struck her for not giving up a certain letter which she had received from her mother in Michigan, in which Mrs. Spaulding advised her daughter to tell nothing but the truth in connection with the investigation of the McAlpine tragedy.

"What I said to Alice when I heard her make some kind of a noise was 'What's the matter? Did you see a mouse?'" Mrs. McAlpine testified.

Mrs. McAlpine was asked if it were not a fact that she testified before the coroner's jury to the effect that her relations with Alice were pleasant. She admitted that she did.

On re-direct examination by Attorney McManus, Mrs. McAlpine testified that while Alice, Dale's wife, was living at the McAlpine home last summer, she bought her a coat, white suit and that she and her seamstresses made her four dresses. Mrs. McAlpine declared that the girl's wardrobe when she came to Duluth was the scantiest she had ever observed a young woman have.

The witness stated that she had never fired a gun but once in her life and that was about two or three years ago at Grand Rapids, Minn., on a fishing and camping trip when she shot at a target.

When Mr. Briggs took the witness again for a few more questions under cross-examination, he elicited a denial from her that after her husband's death she had promised to build Dale a home.

Dr. Kuehneman is the German exchange professor sent to Harvard this year. He arrived Sept. 7 and said that he considered it part of his mission to this country to set right public opinion concerning the Germans. He tried to do this in an address on the ship on which he arrived and the captain stopped him because feeling was running so high on shipboard that it was feared there would be personal violence if a public discussion occurred.

LAY CRUELTY TO GERMANS

Belgian Press Bureau in London Gives Out Statement.

Says Man Was Covered With Oil and Thrown Into Fire.

London, Sept. 15.—The official press bureau acting for the Belgian legation in London has made public the second report of the Belgian commission appointed to inquire into alleged German atrocities at Louvain and in the district around Malines.

This report reviews incidents heretofore generally reported, but it adds the documents and evidence on which its conclusions rest. It will be published in due course.

The commission finds that on entering Louvain the Germans requisitioned food and lodging. German troops took possession of the cash in all the Louvain banks, burst open houses and pillaged and committed other excesses.

Two Alleged Instances.

The report then relates with considerable detail two alleged instances in which women were outraged by German soldiers, and asserts that there have been instances where women and children have been stabbed with bayonets and their legs cut off. One case is cited where a workman, covered with kerosene, was thrown into a burning house.

Of the burning of Louvain, the report says:

"Everything tends to prove that German regiments, through mistake, fired at one another. At once the Germans began bombarding the town, pretending that civilians had fired on their troops, a suggestion denied by all witnesses."

Treated Like Slaves.

To spread the fire in Louvain, the report charges, Germans entered houses and threw hand grenades.

The commission contends that from several places in Belgium the male population has been sent to Germany and forced to work at harvesting, as if they were slaves.

DTMOCRATS WIN THE MAINE ELECTION BY ELECTING GOVERNOR

Curtis, Dem., 61,249; Wilson, Dem., 60,451.

Gardner, Prog., 17,443; Roosevelt, Prog., 47,904.

The total vote at hand, 136,354, exceeded that from the same places in 1912 by 11,878. The Republicans showed an increase of 31,541 against a Progressive loss of 30,461. The Democratic gain was 10,798.

No material change was expected from the complete returns.

Congressmen Re-elected.

The four Maine congressmen, Asher C. Hinds, John A. Peters and Frank E. Guernsey, Republicans, and Daniel J. McGillicuddy, Democrat, were re-elected, according to the same returns.

The vote was 17,017 for Hinds, 16,318 for J. S. Scates, Democrat, and 2,311 for Walter C. Emerson, Progressive.

McGillicuddy was re-elected by 5,500 plurality over Harold M. Sewall, Republican, of Bath, in the Second district. The vote was 10,884 for Sewall, 16319 for McGillicuddy and 6,281 for Alton C. Wheeler, Progressive.

"Very Gratifying"—Bryan.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Secretary Daniels and other administration officials expressed their gratification at the result of the Maine election.

"That state, previously rock-ribbed Republican, may now be classed as doubtful," said Mr. Daniels.

"Very gratifying," was Secretary Bryan's comment as he went to the cabinet meeting.

One of the first things President Wilson did when he returned to the White House was to examine the figures of the Maine election. He expressed gratification to the cabinet, as it assembled.

KAISER'S SON PROUD OF BEING WOUNDED

PRINCE JOACHIM.

London, Sept. 15.—According to the Exchange Telegraph's Hague correspondent, Prince Joachim, youngest son of Emperor William, recently sent to the dowager grand duchess of Baden the following telegram:

"God has allowed me to be wounded. Bless him! I am proud of the day I fell. It was the finest day I lived."

Prince Joachim was 15 years old last December.

cause of poor communication with the scene, it was impossible to give a definite estimate of how many of these escaped.

None of the sleeping cars left the track. Passengers in these gave aid to the injured.

One man in the chair car lost his wife and five children. He was thrown clear of the descending chair car and swam to shore. In the submerged car his wife and children met their deaths, while he stood nearby, unable to aid them.

Was Making Up Time.

Rains last week caused small streams in the vicinity to rise. The train was late because of the flooded conditions. As it passed Lebanon, according to reports reaching here, its speed was increased to make up lost time.

Railroad officials announced that the injured would be brought to Springfield this afternoon. The dead were placed in hastily arranged morgues at Lebanon.

The restoration of communication at the scene of the wreck and a complete list of the fatalities were awaited anxiously.

Identified Dead.

The names of the identified dead were given out as follows:

HENRY WAGONER, Harrison, Ark.
MRS. ELIZABETH ROSTETER, Alliance, Ohio.
W. H. CHILDRESS, Billings, Mont.
JOHN MYERS, WIFE AND DAUGHTER, Thayer, Mo.

the situation. The first of these, it declares, represented by the government and supported by a majority of the Constitutionalist party, is favorable to neutrality until the interests of the country are in question, but meanwhile favors strengthening the army.

The second, it says, is represented by the remaining Constitutionalists and several of the former ministers, including Former Premier Luzzatti, and besides Socialists, who are favorable to neutrality to the end of the war, the preserving of the economic energies of the country and the maintenance by the government of its own system of foreign policy.

The third group is said to consist of reformists, Socialists, Radicals, Republicans and Nationalists, who favor the abandonment of neutrality in order to realize the old aspirations to redeem the Italian provinces in the Adriatic system under foreign rule.

The Giornale d'Italia supports the idea that the best plan is to retain the present cabinet, saying that the formation of a cabinet as suggested by the Messagero, the mouthpiece of the board group, would mean instead of a ministry of national concord, one of national discord.

People Against Alliance.

Bordeaux, Sept. 15.—The Temps quotes Prince Tasca Di Cuto, an Italian Socialist deputy, with reference to the attitude of Italy.

"Opinion in Italy," says the deputy, "is unanimous in demanding the realization of the anti-Triple Alliance program. Everyone today believes that Italy must absolutely separate her policy and destiny from the Triple Alliance.

"United action with the Triple Entente is the inevitable outgrowth of the situation. Italy's neutrality has been a necessary transition, our military measures have been taken as quickly as geographical conditions permitted, and the Italian army is ready for all eventualities. Our fleet is mobilized and coaled, thanks to arrangements with England.

"We are now neutral only in appearance. The action of Italy might definitely turn the scale in favor of the Triple Entente."

Movements at Border.

London, Sept. 15.—A Reuter dispatch from Rome quotes the Gionnale de Italia as saying:

"Austria has removed her first line of troops from the Italian frontier, especially the frontier riflemen; the Alpine sharpshooters are needed against the Russians. But the Austrians have prepared a defense of the border with gendarmes, reservists and members of the Landsturm and Landwehr. Besides, they have cut intrenchments eight feet wide and ten feet deep.

"A possible landing of Italians at Trieste, which is unfortified, has been provided against by intrenchments on the Campo Marzo hill, which overlooks the town, and by blockhouses around the Gulf of Trieste. The remainder of the coast of Istria and Dalmatia has been mined."

GERMANS OCCUPY STRONG POSITION NORTH OF AISNE

were in the southern part of the Argonne, hastened their movement of retreat.

"In passing between the Argonne region and the river Meuse their front yesterday, at the end of the day, extended from Varennes to Consenvoye.

"On our right wing the Germans were doubling back on Etain (in France) and on Metz, Delme and Chateau Salins (all in Lorraine).

"In the Vosges and in Alsace the situation is unchanged.

"In Belgium the Belgian army is continuing to operate around Antwerp causing serious losses to the enemy."

Crown Prince's Position Vital.

London, Sept. 15, 10:15 a. m. — For once the military critics on both sides agree that the outcome of the campaign in the western area depends on the result of the operations of the crown prince's army before Verdun; but on the question of accomplished facts the divergence of opinion is as wide as ever.

Berlin maintains that the investment of Verdun is now complete, and therefore expects that within two or three days there will be a resumption of the offensive along the whole German front.

On the other hand, the latest official communication issued in behalf of the allies states that the crown prince has been driven back and has moved his headquarters from Sainte Menehould, south of Rheims, to Mont Faucon, about fifteen miles northeast.

Admit Retreat on Right.

Berlin admits that the weakened German right wing has been turned back, but discounts the reverse by maintaining that it will have no effect on the general forward movement to be initiated when Verdun falls.

A very candid statement of Gen. Joffre regarding the sort of warfare his troops are capable of waging indicates that the French are now in a position to take up the gage of battle on their own terms and in a country of their own choosing.

Joffre National Hero.

Gen. Joffre is now a national hero, after conducting the great retreat that caused him to be called many hard names. He declares that the strict discipline of the German soldier made him an ideal instrument for a crushing onslaught with superior numbers, while the French soldiers, without adequate fortified bases and in a generally level country, could not assume that extended order under which they make the best showing.

Recapture of Rheims.

As far as the moral effect goes, the recapture of Rheims probably means more to the French army than the rolling up of the German left wing beyond Verdun, so that the battle line on the Aisne, already the scene of sanguinary fighting, is today undoubtedly the arena of a stubborn struggle of the fiercest description.

Petrograd reports that although news of damage from Gen. Brussiloff's army is lacking and part of Gen. Ruzsky's forces is still to be heard from, it is estimated that the Austrian forces have lost one-third of their available personnel and two-thirds of their artillery.

Bottle Up the Enemy.

It is evident that the Russian generals now hope to bottle up the Austrians and their German contingents in Przemysl, which is an Austrian Metz. No hope is expressed for the early capture of this fortress, but it is expected that the remnants of the Austro-Hungarian forces will be kept within its walls until the end of the war.

Reports of operations on the east Prussian frontier are contradictory. According to Petrograd, Gen. Rennenkampf has resumed the offensive after winning an engagement on the border, while the same Russian sources report that the investment of Koenigsberg is continuing. On the other hand, Berlin states that Rennenkampf's defeat is almost as great as the preceding Russian disaster in this region.

Interest in Navy Stirred.

Interest in the naval phase of the war has been somewhat stirred by the news from Berlin of the destruction of the German light cruiser Hela by a submarine and an unofficial story from a Scottish newspaper saying the loss of the British cruiser Pathfinder has been avenged by the sinking of her submarine antagonist, which went down under a hail of shots from seven British warships.

Outside the zone of military operations, the chief interest centers in the efforts of the German, Dutch and French governments to forestall the possibility of famine among their peoples by regulating the use of certain staples.

Regulate Use of Food.

The regulations not only forbid the use of more than a certain amount of these staples for purposes other than for food, but instruct the people in the most economical way to use them.

The story that Russian troops had been landed on the continent after coming via England from Archangel has met with formal and specific denial, both from the English official press bureau and from Belgian official sources.

No Southwest Mine Strike.

Fort Smith, Ark., Sept. 15.—Differences between the United Mine Workers of America and mine owners in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, which it was feared might result in a strike, were settled at a conference here, it is announced. The trouble arose over the collection of union dues.

PRESIDENT WILSON IS BACK AT CAPITAL

Has to "Flip" Moving Train on Way From Cornish.

Washington, Sept. 15.—President Wilson returned to the capital this morning at 11 o'clock and drove immediately to the White House, where he had a conference with congress leaders over the war revenue bill.

The president was forced to jump aboard a moving train to keep from being left at Greenfield, Mass., last night on his return from Cornish, N. H. He left his car to walk on the station platform and the train started before he climbed aboard. He caught hold of the handrail and jumped onto the observation platform, aided by secret service operatives.

The president's return trip was turned into an almost continuous ovation by large crowds which gathered at all stops to shake hands with him. He was in excellent health and spirits.

At New Haven, Conn., because of a long delay of the president's train here, Mr. Wilson walked through the streets of the city for more than thirty minutes. Few persons recognized him.

BIG GERMAN LOSSES IN FIGHT AT ALOST

Prison at Louvain Is Found Not to Have Been Razed.

London, Sept. 15.—An engagement took place yesterday near Alost, fifteen miles northwest of Brussels, between German cavalry and a Belgian quick-firing detachment in motor cars, according to an Ostend dispatch to the Reuter's Telegram company. The German losses are reported to be heavy.

Twenty thousand Germans, the dispatch says, have evacuated Alost hastily to reinforce their troops elsewhere. Before their departure the Germans removed their flag, which had been flying over the railway station.

Contrary to reports previously circulated, the prison at Louvain remains intact and still holds prisoners.

FIRST JAP-GERMAN CLASH IS REPORTED

Several Sharp Skirmishes Occur Near Chi Mo.

Chi Mo, Shan Tung Province, China, Sunday, Sept. 13, 1:30 p. m., via Pekin, Sept. 15.—The first encounter between German and Japanese forces on land occurred this morning, when there were a number of sharp skirmishes between patrols of the contesting forces at a point close to Chi Mo.

Previous to these engagements a German aeroplane flew over the district. The Japanese fired on the machine but without success.

A considerable Japanese force is reported twenty-five miles to the north of here.

A dispatch received here from Wei Hsien (sixty miles northwest of Kiao Chow) says fifty Japanese troops arrived there Sunday.

Vanguard Near Boundary.

Pekin, Sept. 15.—A report received here from Teing Tau, of German origin, declares that a vanguard of Japanese cavalry is at Kiao Chow city.

Kiao Chow is about five miles outside of the Kiao Chow boundary to the northwest.

U. S. RECOGNITION OF MEXICO TO BE FIRST

European Powers Will Wait for Washington to Act.

Washington, Sept. 15.—H. von Eckhardt, the newly appointed German minister to Mexico, asked Secretary Bryan today when the United States would recognize a new government there, and learned that no conclusion had been reached.

The minister returned to New York, where he will remain awaiting a decision by the American government as to the time for recognition, as Germany, with other European powers, will not accredit her minister until the United States formally recognizes the new administration there.

Before giving further consideration to recognition, Secretary Bryan is awaiting the return of President Wilson, who has been observing conditions in Mexico and interviewing Gen. Carranza.

LANSDOWNE OPPOSES HOME RULE ACTION

Unionists Will Support Government in All Internal Policies.

London, Sept. 15.—Lord Lansdowne, the opposition leader in the house of lords, introduced his bill yesterday to suspend until after the war the proceedings on the home rule bill and the Welsh disestablishment bill. It was read for the first time. Lord Lansdowne declared he would continue to support the government loyally in the present crisis.

At a meeting of the Unionist party held yesterday it was decided that the only speaker on the Asquith bill in the house of commons to this same end would be A. Bonar Law, the Unionist leader. His address was expected today. The leaders present at the Unionist meeting were of the opinion that in the present crisis it was indispensable that the government should be supported on questions of internal policies.

At a speech at a Unionist meeting yesterday afternoon Mr. Law declared that however bitter the Unionist resentment might be, they had to remember that country came before party. When the war was over, however, Ulster could depend upon their support in whatever steps the Ulster men thought necessary to maintain their rights.

COLORADO UNIONS TALK ABOUT PEACE

President Wilson's Suggestion Is Laid Before Conference.

Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 15.—One day preceding the anniversary of the issuance of the call for the Colorado coal strike, officials of the United Mine Workers of America and delegates representing the various local unions in district No. 15 gathered here today to consider the question of a three-year truce suggested by President Wilson.

The terms of the proposed truce as prepared by a Federal committee of conciliation acting for the department of labor and submitted by President Wilson, include the appointment of a grievance committee by the president; "open shop" conditions and non-contractural relations between the miners and operators; publication of the wage scale; re-employment of strikers not convicted of crimes, and the withdrawal of the Federal troops from the strike zone.

FINE EXHIBIT FOR DAIRIES

Fifty Head of Cattle Already Entered for Exposition.

Entries for All Other Departments Coming in Rapidly.

Up to noon today, George P. Grout, superintendent of the livestock department, had made arrangements for the showing of fifty head of the finest dairy cattle in Northern Minnesota at the third annual Industrial, Dairy and Livestock exposition to be held at the curling rink next week.

He expects to have at least seventy-five head by the time the show opens next Monday noon. Guernseys, Jerseys, Holsteins and Red Polls, the best of the many first-class herds in this vicinity, will be shown. The exhibit will also include dairy machinery of the most modern type for the individual farmer and the farm creamery. It will be the most complete dairy display ever made in Duluth.

Other Entries.

Entries for the other departments in the agricultural section of the exposition are coming in rapidly. William C. Sargent, general superintendent, said today that he expects the potato display to be the largest ever assembled in Minnesota. The prizes for potatoes are unusually liberal. The crop in this territory this year has been unusually good, as evidenced by the awards obtained by St. Louis county at the state fair. The competition among potato growers next week will be keen and the awards will be interesting.

The officers of the Northeastern Minnesota Horticultural society are on their mettle. They have never made an exhibit, and now they have started out to show what fruits can be grown in this territory. Apples and small fruits have done well this year and the horticultural show should be one of the features of the exposition.

Industrial Department.

In the industrial department, practically all of the space has been placed. As the exhibitors make known their plans it becomes evident that the show will be a mighty big thing. "Live" exhibits will be the rule—that is, the exhibitors will not only show what is made, but how it is made.

The city health department, the postoffice department and several others will make interesting and instructive exhibits.

Last year nearly 100,000 people passed through the doors of the curling rink during the exposition. This year the display will be infinitely better in all departments. Several new features will attract crowds and the attendance record is expected to be badly shattered.

Mike Collins Has Matched Palzer and Fulton Again.

Mike Collins, owner of the fight arena at Hudson, Wis., is in Duluth. Mr. Collins said that the fights conducted in Wisconsin under the state law had met with the approval of the people and that they would be continued.

The next big bout to be staged at Hudson will be between Fred Fulton and Al Palzer on Oct. 9. These two heavyweights fought last May and Fulton was knocked out in four rounds. He had Palzer down several times before the fight was ended, so followers of both fighters think their man will win in a second bout. There will be three other bouts on the same card.

The arena at Hudson is the largest indoor one devoted exclusively to fights in the world. It will seat 6,000 persons and can take care of 7,000.

Glen Cove, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Play in the woman's national golf championship tournament was resumed on the links of the Nassau Country club here today with Mrs. E. H. Steedman and Miss Grace Semple, both of St. Louis, drawn to play against each other in the first round match. Two erstwhile champions, Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson of Oakley and Miss Harriett Curtis of Essex county, Mass., were drawn together. Miss Lillian B. Hyde, Metropolitan champion, and Miss Marion Hollins, who held that title a year ago, will try to eliminate each other.

All the other matches gave promise of keen contests, but interest particularly centered in the meeting of Miss Alexa Sterling of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Georgianna Bishop of Brooklawn, Conn., a former champion and winner of the gold medal for the low score of 85 in yesterday's qualifying round. Weather conditions were ideal.

PROTEST ON FREIGHT TAX

Would Unjustly Distribute Burden, Is Board of Trade's Stand.

The proposal to levy a tax of three per cent on freight charges is meeting with strong opposition in business circles in this city. A protest against the imposition of the tax has been forwarded to the Hon. Oscar W. Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives at Washington by the Duluth Board of Trade.

It is pointed out by the board that the tax is not distributed equitably upon shippers. It is for instance pointed out that a shipper of grain to Duluth from Montana would pay a larger freight bill between the two points. It is also contended that the tax would lead to the sustaining of heavy losses in carrying through future grain contracts. The regular freight rates have been provided for in these but the war tax proposition was not foreseen.

The milling trade will it is said, be especially hard hit. Upon a concern with the capacity of the Duluth-Superior Milling company, it is estimated that the tax would amount to $65 a day, the larger proportion of which would have to be absorbed by the milling company.

The following is the text of the letter forwarded to Mr. Underwood today:

"The Duluth board of trade begs to assure you that it realizes the necessity that confronts the government for the increase of its revenues, but it desires to present to you the fact that the proposed 3 per cent tax on freights when applied to shipments of grain to the primary markets results in a tax that is inequitable, bearing heaviest on those the least able to pay it. The primary market fixes the growers' price. Those farthest from it pay the most freight and realize the smallest return, and under the proposed plan would pay the highest tax. If grain is to be taxed it should be on a basis that will apply equally upon all.

"The proposed tax results the same when applied to Duluth's heavy coal shipments. The price is made at Duluth. Those farthest away pay the freight and in addition would have to bear the highest tax.

"We believe the first essential of every system of taxation is that it be equitable and that the proposed plan does not stand that test.

"DULUTH BOARD OF TRADE,
"By W. J. McCabe, President."

HE WOULD EXTEND THIS PARLIAMENT.

London, Sept. 15.—Charles Bathurst, Unionist member of Wiltshire, asked Prime Minister Asquith in the house of commons today to consider the desirability of extending the duration of the present parliament until 1917, or of constituting a coalition so that a general election shall not be fought on the ordinary lines of a domestic controversy.

This suggestion followed a motion made by President Asquith to introduce a bill to suspend the operations of the government of Ireland act and the Welsh church act.

Mr. Bathurst urged the undesirability of the country's being convulsed in a general election during the war. Mr. Asquith responded:

"I trust that will not take place."

In answer to a question, the premier said the home secretary and the attorney general would take steps to inquire into the allegations of German atrocities.

FIRST AID TO THE STRANDED

How Americans Helped Their Fellow Countrymen In Europe.

By ROBERT W. DE FOREST,
Vice President of American Red Cross; Member of American Citizens' Committee in London.

If there could be any bright spot in the dark cloud which has suddenly enveloped Europe it is the quick and effective way in which Americans have organized to help their fellow countrymen and particularly their fellow countrywomen, during the appalling month of August. There were probably about 100,000 Americans in Europe at the time when war followed immediately upon mobilization. They had no warning. The situation came upon them with the suddenness and unexpectedness of an earthquake.

Sudden Plight of Americans.

It is quite evident from the English and German "White Papers" that diplomats were alarmed when Austria served her ultimatum upon Servia. The European financial world undoubtedly had some sense of danger a day or two before the cloud burst, but the average American, traveling for pleasure, seldom reading and seldom able to read the local papers, had no warning. Unthinkable as was a general European war, equally unthinkable and inconceivable was the situation which immediately developed.

Replete as the press seems to have been with stories of stranded Americans, it is not possible for those who did not witness the situation to realize it. Letters of credit and other forms of credit became immediately valueless. Paper money was refused outside of the country of issue. English paper, French paper, German paper, with which most Americans who travel provide themselves, was valueless outside of the country of its issue. Nothing but gold and silver went, and gold and silver disappeared almost immediately from circulation. The traveling American without coin or paper of the country in which he happened to be was without money.

All communication ceased. The trains ran only for soldiers; the telegraph and telephone could be used only for government messages; communication with friends was impossible; automobiles could not be had because the government impressed them all. Even cabs and horses disappeared from the streets of many European cities. To the able-bodied American, with ample resources, experienced in European travel, speaking the important continental languages, with European friends, the situation was anxious enough. To the inexperienced student or teacher, with no amount of ready money at hand, and without the ability to communicate with friends, the situation was terrifying.

Quick Organization.

Here was an opportunity for Americans to get together and to use their power of quick organization and inventiveness in dealing with a situation entirely novel and calling for immediate action, and if ever there was a demonstration of these qualities that demonstration was complete. Wherever Americans were, be it in Germany, France, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, England, Scandinavia, or elsewhere, they got together. They pooled their resources, however scanty. They counselled together as to what to do, and so far as my knowledge goes (and it is fairly extensive) they succeeded in obtaining transportation to the nearest important city, and there they organized as only Americans could for mutual help.

This organization usually grouped itself around the American ambassador or the American consul. In some instances the ambassador or the consul took the initiative in calling an American committee to its aid. In others the committee formed after advising with the American representative. In all instances, so far as I am aware, co-operation between such committees and the nearest American representative was complete. Wherever Americans happened to be at the time the "earthquake" came, they were almost always able to get to some point where there were Americans, and usually to some city of importance where Americans were or soon became numerous.

There were fortunately available among this assemblage of new-found friends (for all Americans involved in a common misfortune became friends instantly by virtue of their citizenship) men of experience in business affairs—bankers, lawyers, executives of great corporations, social workers, men and women. Out of such groups committees were formed, or to speak more precisely, formed themselves by some process of natural selection.

Where American representatives had executive ability and were resourceful such committees placed themselves under the leadership of the American representative. When they were not, the committee was accorded the lead and the American representative cooperated, or at least fell into line. Indeed, they could have done nothing else. I know of no instance in which the help of such committees was not warmly welcomed. Except for their organization our embassies and consulates would have been swamped. Their organization supplemented the official force by a large body of men and women of the biggest efficiency, and there was no lack of volunteers—everyone was not only ready and willing, but anxious to help. Mere suggestion that funds were needed produced them. No one was ashamed to do anything. In London we joked about our clerical force, who drew salaries of $23,000 apiece, but the humor of the situation was that it was true, though our committee paid nothing.

My generalization as to the formation of such committees and their effectiveness in all important cities may be too broad. My own personal knowledge relates to London, Paris, Brussells and The Hague. I believe myself to be thoroughly informed with regard to Berlin, Munich and Swiss cities which had their headquarters at Berne, but I have sufficient confidence in my fellow-countrymen to believe that they acted in the same spirit and with substantially the same effectiveness elsewhere. The London committee was presumably the most highly organized naturally, for it had to deal with the largest number of people. It was upon London that almost everyone centered their devious and various routes from the afflicted continent.

The London committee had an excellent card index system. It had special committees on finance, transportation, hotel accommodation and relief—relief for men, relief for women—lost baggage, exchange of steamship tickets, etc.; published a daily bulletin, which gave each successive day's registration as well as general information. The Munich committee did the same. Its daily was entitled "American Notes." I have no doubt organization was carried to this point of efficiency elsewhere. I name no names, because if I did the list would be too long for the columns of the Survey. I wish to pay my tribute of praise to my own countrymen, and I can do it no better than by applying the closing editorial of our London bulletin to all the Americans who helped, wherever their place of activity:

"When the bomb of war broke, every mainstay of our civilization seemed for the moment to perish for those Americans abroad. Inter-communication ceased, the family relation was often sundered, necessities were denied, money lost its value, homes were unobtainable by even the ill and aged, and 50,000 Americans were helpless and appalled—the foundation of their normal life had been wrenched away, and help, direction and comfort from strong men and women was their greatest human desire. This was the necessity of the hour which the noble men and women of the committee and their assistants met with a capacity and sympathy which has fully aided the afflicted and has won the respect and admiration of all who know the true measure of their achievement. No demand of service was refused, no want left unsatisfied. That these men and women had the capacity to do so was no accident. They had sprung from a race of pioneers whose forefathers had made existence possible only by accomplishing the seemingly impossible.

"Their ability was the result of a life's upbuilding in force, self-control and kindliness. They could act when all was chaos, because life with them had been a training school for high efficiency. Thus they met the situation in all its difficulties and realized the highest objective of mankind in service to their fellows in the broadest sense. In this work they had the assistance of scores who had made a vocation of public work. High on the roll of honor will stand those who gave their best with generosity and chivalry, full worthy of the ideals of our generation."

Their existence was not known until the outbreak of this war, and they are capable of firing only twenty shots apiece.

Letter From Miss Sjoselius.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Sjoselius of 1016 West First street have received a letter from their daughter, Miss Alice Sjoselius, who is studying music in Berlin. The letter was written Aug. 24. As the postal regulations of Germany now forbid the sending of letters Miss Sjoselius' letter was brought by a pupil of her teacher who was returning to this country and mailed in New York.

Miss Sjoselius said all war reports unfavorable to Germany and its troops are not to be credited entirely, and that the Germans are very good to the Americans. She has several engagements to sing and thought it much better to remain in Berlin than to attempt to return home.

WILL PORTRAY STATELY LADY SHEFFIELD OF GAINSBOROUGH FAME

MRS. A. B. WOLVIN.

At the picture ball of the Drama league Friday evening Mrs. A. B. Wolvin will portray the queenly Lady Sheffield as painted by Gainsborough.

The story of the picture makes it doubly interesting. After the death of Lady Sheffield her husband had her room, in which hung this priceless portrait of her, boarded up, and it was not until his own death that the room was forced open and the art treasure again exposed to view. It now hangs in the Scotland national gallery at Edinburgh.

The fine new floor of the Spalding ball room that will be used for the first time Saturday night, the new system of indirect lighting, the novel stage and decorative schemes will combine to add success to the function. The decorations will be left intact for the children's ball that will be held the next afternoon.

All the court of the queen will appear at both balls. The younger set is planning to make of the afternoon affair a sort of "the dansant," with fruit punch instead of tea. The chaperones for the matinee dance will include Mrs. J. B. Cotton, Mrs. Stephen H. Jones, Mrs. Eugene Bohannon, Mrs. Olin W. Rowe, Mrs. Richard Sellwood, Mrs. Harry C. Strong, Mrs. David Williams and Mrs. R. H. Draper.

The maid of honor wore blue silk and carried an arm bouquet of pink and white sweet peas. Mrs. H. Krebs, mother of the bride, wore black satin and Mrs. O. Hagen, mother of the bridegroom, wore black satin.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding dinner. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Victor Sohlburg and Mrs. Frank Plotnicky, sisters of the bride.

TO BE FASHIONABLE, WOMEN THIS FALL MUST LOOK OLD-FASHIONED

The Wide Skirt Has Returned at Last, Along With Billows, Frills and Flares.

The October Woman's Home Companion contains the following hints for the woman who wishes to be fashionably gowned during this season when styles are made up of the models that reached this country before Paris was shut off from the rest of the world and of American modifications of those styles:

"To be called old-fashioned—my, how it hurts! Yet to look old-fashioned is just the way you must look this autumn if you are going to have any pretense to style at all.

"We talk of fashions as new, yet in reality they are old. This autumn and winter we will wear again the quaint styles of a half century ago. The modes of the fifties, the sixties and the eighties will be the favored modes. We are to copy what the girls then—who are our grandmothers now—wore.

"We are going to billow, to frill, and to flare. We are going to wear prim, darted basques, but with just a little of the primness taken out. We are going to wrap ourselves in capes, circulars, and old-time mantillas. And looming up ahead, perhaps not as far as we think, is the crinoline in all its ponderous horror."

"The wide skirt has arrived. It started with the short flaring minaret tunic. From there it lengthened and expanded into the long full Russian overskirt. Here it ruled supreme for some time, but at last the final drop came and suddenly, too, and its end is the three and a half yard round-the-bottom skirt. The circular skirt hanging in quaint Godet ruffles is a rival of the new plaited skirt, and Paris favors both as smart autumn styles. The long coat which flares even more than the skirt beneath is the suit coat of the hour, while the basque which clings the figure has taken the place of the bagsy kimono blouse. It has brought with it the high collar and the higher ruff, which flares. It is interesting to note that we are to flare both at the neck and at the feet this fall."

Don't Send Mere Babies to School

What is the proper age at which children should enter the first year of the primary grades of the public schools? There was a time when 5 years was considered by many city and town school committees as the youngest age at which scholars could be admitted to the schools. Now 5 years is the age universally accepted, and there are many who believe that even this is too young.

Most children are led to school by their parents just the moment the law allows, without a thought of considering the child's fitness for school life. Quite often these young children might be benefited by another year of freedom and play in the fresh air and sunshine.

A great number of parents impatiently await the arrival of the year allowed by the local committe, so that their children may be placed in school and "out of mischief," as they call it. I have known of cases where parents have instructed their children to add a year to their age in order that they might be admitted to school, giving as an excuse that the youngsters were strong and healthy. But no matter how strong and healthy children may be they could not fail to benefit by another year of absolute freedom from responsibility of all kinds.

A woman, while discussing the subject, was telling me that of her five children only one went to school before the age of 7. That one, a girl, was detained in class an extra year, though apparently as bright as the others. The mothers laid it to the fact that she was placed in school before she developed as vigorous a body and stored up the strength her brothers and sisters did in their additional year of play and outdoor life.

Another woman informed me that she thought it was an injustice to keep the child out of school until she was 7. She considered that they should be put to school as early as they could be and pushed ahead as fast as possible. She was of the opinion that all children should get an early start in life in everything.

It must be admitted, however, that we have grown beyond the age when the child of 5 is chased to school as shortly after that birthday as the law permits. There may be room for discussion as to what the proper age should be but in this, individual cases and environment must be taken into consideration. More harm will come to a child who is forced beyond his natural limits than to one who may lose a year or two while his body is given a chance to grow strong and vigorous, thereby contributing to his brain force.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Overnight."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and travel pictures.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville and motion pictures.

Amusement Notes.

"Overnight" is running riot at the Lyceum theater where the Baldwin Players are seen in the best work of the season in this rollicking farce, which is full of the very essence of American humor. If one saw the play translated into French or Chinese there would be no mistaking its origin and, quite incidentally, no more side-splitting farce has ever been concocted here. It is one of the plays that provoke the real, breath-bereaving laughter; at which you throw your head back until the top of the spinal column rests upon the back of the chair.

In short, "Overnight" is a rarely amusing and well-written farce and, like the best pieces of this kind, it has an original plot which every American of every age, size or sex can understand. It has two seasons in New York to its credit and it created a box office record in Chicago, giving the Windy City merriment for six months.

It is considered a triumph by the management to be able to secure such a successful piece for presentation and no expense has been spared to make it the most delightful production yet presented by the Baldwin Players.

The regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

No act seen at the Orpheum in the last two or three seasons has created the enthusiastic comment that has been caused by "The Red Heads," the musical comedy that is headlining this week's bill. The comment was reflected last night in the biggest Monday night attendance since the theater opened in August.

The work of James B. Carson as the Jewish proprietor of a cloak and suit establishment, who conceives the idea of hiring red-haired models, is the hit of the production. Mr. Carson is a clever comedian and his impassioned oration on his goods is a very funny bit. He winds up his appeal to the Western buyer with: "It's imported. It's imported. Smell the ocean."

Mr. Carson had a good schooling in the comedy field. In his early youth when the necessity of eating three times a day was a hard problem with him, he joined a burlesque troops and ground out laughs as a comedian for a time. Later he was associated with Marie Cahill for three seasons in "Judy Forgot" and "The Boys and Betty." He played the German student, the principal male comedy part, in the latter production. Following this came engagements with Eddie Foy and Gaby Deslys at the Winter Garden, so that he has had thorough schooling in all of the departments of comedy.

"Mr. Lasky spent a lot of money on this production," said Mr. Carson yesterday. "It cost him as much as many a musical comedy has cost before it started on the road. In the first place he paid real money for the book and lyrics and then he costumed it elaborately and gave me some people that it is a pleasure to work with."

There is an attractive show at the New Grand theater the first half of this week. Twenty-one persons are on the program. Manager Ed R. Salter calls it a bargain show—"Twenty-one actors, admission 10 cents." "That's less than one-half cent per actor," says the eloquent Mr. Salter, "and that's not counting Col. James Laundergren, the stage manager, and his crew of six men, nor does it count Prof. Fred Swider and his orchestra of five—count 'em—five eminent soloists. Neither does it count the many actors on the screen."

The headline act is a musical comedy called "A Morning Plunge," featuring Howard Langford and Miss Jacqueline Tallman. It's a snappy comedy, full of life and go, with numerous pretty girls, a splendid male chorus and special scenery.

John Buckley and Violet Moore are novelty upside down dancers. Sam Hood is one of the old school of minstrel men, and Miss Adele Stutevant wins numerous encores on her rendition of "The Old Melodies." Francis Bushman appears in a two-reel Essanay subject, "For Royal Patronage." There is a comedy reel, "He Nearly Won Out," and a serious photo-play, "The Upper Hand." This program will continue until Thursday, when the new booking agency, the Western managers' Vaudeville association, will begin to furnish acts for the New Grand.

Four vaudeville acts and three reels of pictures are the attraction now at the Empress theater. Featuring the program is Robinson, Romaine and Wilson with their songs and nonsense. They provide a half hour of laughter and comedy, with Mr. Wilson at the piano and Miss Romaine in songs, and Robinson furnishing the comedy patter and antics.

Jermon and Mack present a neat act with their talk, songs and juggling. Mr. Jermon does all the juggling while Miss Mack, better known in Duluth as Kathryne McMahon, does the singing. Her voice is pleasing and costuming attractive.

Howard and Day are a colored team. Their song numbers are rendered in good style and the cornet solo by Miss Day is a very fine piece of work.

Miss Pauline Joseph is heard in songs, making a costume change for each.

The two-reel feature film, "Beneath the Mask," and the single reel photo-play, "A Girl of the Plains," make a fine display of pictures. This bill will remain at the Empress until Wednesday night, giving four complete shows daily.

FOES OF OADAMS FAIL TO OUST HIM

Rev. T. Stanley Oadams is to remain in La Crosse as pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. Mr. Oadams was formerly a pastor in Hibbing and Two Harbors.

Bishop Quayle, who was appealed to at the Fond du Lac conference by a delegation representing the anti-Oadams faction in the church, said he had made his appointment, that he would not reconsider it and that it was "up to" the local churchmen to get along.

The attempt to oust Rev. Oadams followed his recent appointment to the La Crosse charge.

Mr. Oadams is one of the new school ministers and his services in La Crosse have been featured by the introduction of modern methods in church affairs.

"AS GOES MAINE—."

"As goes Maine, so goes the election."

If the country goes in November as Maine went yesterday, the almost unprecedented political phenomenon of a vindication for the party in power just after it has revised the tariff will have come about.

For Maine went Democratic yesterday in a way that surpassed the hopes of the Democrats, and that constitutes a splendid proof of the popular faith in Wilson and the public support of his policies.

National issues were uppermost. The Republicans, hoping to regain their forfeited control, made the hardest fight in Maine they knew how, not so much for the one house seat they could hope to gain there as for the effect the Maine election might have on the campaign in other states. The returns as published tonight must strike them with a sickened dismay.

It was they, largely, who made Wilson the issue in Maine. By attacking him and his policies there, they resolved all issues in the mind of the individual voter into the single question: "Are you for Wilson or against him?" And the voters of Maine answered with an emphatic "We are for Wilson."

The highest hope of the Democrats, judging from pre-election statements, was that they might retain the single congressional district in Maine which two years ago sent a Democrat, D. J. McGillicuddy, to congress. They did retain that seat, and by an increased plurality, the Democrat winning by 5,435 when in the Democratic landslide of two years ago he won by only 1,281.

Moreover, the Democratic candidate for governor, O. C. Curtis, won by a plurality of 3,587, beating Governor Haines, Republican, who won two years ago by 3,295.

The Democrats had utterly no hope of any of the other three Maine congressional districts, but in the First district, represented by Asher C. Hinds, they cut down the Republican plurality from 2,055 to 699.

The Bull Moosers had high hopes of Maine, and for the encouragement of their followers elsewhere they made a determined fight there all along the line, led by Col. Roosevelt himself. The result is not encouraging. Manifestly, the Bull Moose forces are dwindling down to the truly faithful few. In the state the Progressive vote fell off thirty-one thousand, and the Republican vote increased thirty thousand. The less stable of the Roosevelt following manifestly have returned to the fleshpots, caring more for the hope of victory and spoils than they do for the defeat of the Old Guard which is still the backbone of the Republican organization. At the same time the Democrats gained eleven thousand over their vote in the Democratic landslide year, which in the election following a tariff revision session is phenomenal.

The country, we are sure, will rejoice that at this juncture the hands of the president have been upheld by this pre-campaign election.

Now comes the proposal to make banknotes of silk. Next thing will be to make silk dresses of banknotes.

WILLIE, GEORGIE AND NICKY.

A new batch of ante-bellum correspondence has come to light that throws a little gleam of humor into the murk of battle.

In it we see the crowned heads of Germany, Russia and England engaged in a cousinly and affectionate exchange of opinions—they are a sort of cousin to each other, and all are largely of German blood—and using pet names that give the republican witness in the gallery a new angle of vision upon royalty.

In this correspondence Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany is "Willie," Czar Nicholas of Russia is "Nicky," and King George of England is "Georgie."

And the correspondence is genuine, too. We are sure of that, and that it is not a silly prank perpetrated by some crude humorist, for we find Herman Ridder using it in his paper to show that Emperor William was against war, and nothing appears there these days that is not in deadly earnest.

Here is a telegram from his majesty, the emperor, to his majesty the king of England, dated July 31:

Many thanks for your kind telegram, your proposals coincide with my ideas and with the statements I got this night from Vienna, which I have forwarded to London. I just received news from chancellor that official notification has just reached him that this night Nicky had ordered the mobilization of his whole army and fleet. He has not even awaited the results of the mediation I am working at and left me without any news. I am off for Berlin to take measures for insuring safety of my eastern frontiers, where strong Russian troops are already posted.

WILLIE.

And here is a telegram from his majesty the king of England to his majesty the emperor of Germany, dated August 1:

Many thanks for your kind telegram last night. I sent an earnest telegram to Nicky expressing my readiness to do everything in my power to assist in reopening conversations between powers concerned.

GEORGIE.

If Willie and Nicky and Georgie were trying in good faith to stop the war, they were trying to lay a whirlwind where they had sowed the wind.

And what a precious mess of it Willie and Nicky and Georgie between them have made of civilization!

Why such careful avoidance of an increased tax on red-eye?

STATE ECONOMY AND PARTISANSHIP.

Mr. Hammond has declared without equivocation for the plan for the reorganization of the state governmental system proposed by the commission appointed by Governor Eberhart.

Mr. Lee has declared for it rather tentatively and vaguely, placing emphasis rather on the generality "economy and efficiency" rather on this, the only existing plan to achieve economy and efficiency.

Otherwise, there is little difference between the two parties in this state on that subject.

And so far as partisanship is concerned, all that comes to is this:

The Republican candidate say in effect: "We Republicans, by extravagance and waste and the spoils system, have gotten the state into a dreadful mess of high taxes and tangled government. Put us in again to fix it up."

Most employers, in such a case, would wish to try a new man.

The Democrats offer Winfield Scott Hammond, who not only is in favor of "efficiency and economy" but is pledged to a definite plan and has the courage, the capacity, the aggressiveness and the will to carry it out and provide the state with a strong business government that will return to the people a dollar in results for a dollar spent in taxes.

How do you sing "Break the News to Mother" and "Just As the Sun Went Down" in European?

THE WAR FROM DAY TO DAY.

London's prediction of yesterday that the supreme clash is yet to come is the most likely comment that comes out of the news.

Moreover, it is more than probable that this clash will come on French soil.

When the Germans were pushing the left flank of the allies rapidly toward Paris, it was necessary to remind enthusiasts that this movement involved but a relatively small part of the battle front, that Paris was not yet taken, and that even the taking of Paris would by no means end the war.

Now that the allies have been pushing back the German right very rapidly, and the victories recorded are on the side of the defenders of France, it is necessary to remind enthusiasts on the other side that it is only half the German front that is moving back, that fifty miles or more of it are still standing firm, that the Germans are shortening their lines of communication and bettering their position, and that the war is yet far from ended.

There is no "supreme clash" yet. There have been mighty battles, the mightiest in history; yet so far as results are concerned they have been mere skirmishes. The Germans pushed the allied left back a hundred and fifty miles, but the allies retired in good order and kept their forces intact. The allies have pushed the Germans back half that distance, but the invaders have retired in good order and kept their forces intact.

There has been no Sedan, no Metz, no Austerlitz, no Waterloo; though battles much greater with losses much heavier have been fought.

The decisive battles of the war of 1914 are yet to come.

The German retreat seemed this morning to have ended, for the present at least. They seem to have turned along the river Aisne and taken a stand, where a bloody and bitter fight was in progress, though the German position was bad because of the danger from a flanking movement.

Verdun, where the German forces under the crown prince are trying to pierce the allied line at the vertex of the obtuse angle which forms that line, with one arm beginning near Epinal and the other somewhere near Amiens, is still the key to the situation. Both sides agree that this is the crucial point, though their accounts differ, Germany reporting that the crown prince has completed the investment of Verdun and the allies declaring that his forces have been pushed back.

What has happened in the last few days is that the obtuse angle formed by the allied line had opened up like a fan and become still more obtuse by the progress of its left to the north in pursuit of the German right.

A decisive issue can hardly be much delayed—may be reported elsewhere in this newspaper before these lines are printed. The flanking and capture of the German right by the allied left would leave the invaders in a little corner of France northeast of the line Verdun-Epinal. The capture of Verdun and the piercing of the allied line by the Germans under the crown prince would divide the defensive forces and change the aspect of the situation completely.

In the eastern field the two forces are still battling stubbornly, and from the conflicting reports that come there seems little doubt that the overwhelming numbers of the Russians are wearing down the German-Austrian defenses.

Of course it's not impossible that Gen. von Kluck may yet be able to develop the qualifications for a general crow of victory.

BATTLING ON OLD BATTLEFIELDS.

The surging tide of battle in Belgium and France has swept over a territory crowded full of historic associations of battles that, though great historically and often great in their consequences, were but skirmishes compared to the battles of 1914.

If this din of modern battle could wake the sleeping warriors of the past, above the mighty tumult would rise a crowd of ghostly victims of battles ranging back through the centuries. Almost every village has had its battles, from the days of the Roman conquest of Gaul down through Charlemagne, the Capetians, the Revolution, the Empire and the Republic.

In the Vosges, scene of some of the earliest fighting, is the little village of Domremy, whence in 1428 came Joan, Maid of Orleans, to save France.

In Tirlemont in Belgium on March 18, 1793, Dumouriez beat the royal allies of Prussia and Austria, only to be beaten himself near by the same day.

The siege of Namur in 1695 figures in "Tristram Shandy," where "our armies swore terribly in Flanders."

Just north of the line pursued by the invading Germans down the valley of the Meuse in Belgium lies the field of Waterloo.

Laon was the home of the Carlovingian kings in the tenth century, where they died out in 987, to be succeeded by Hugh Capet, who took his capital to Paris to lay there the foundations of his mighty race which created the monarchy of France, and through collateral branches reached its finest flower in Louis the Great, to pass finally from the earthly stage in the storms of the Revolution. Laon was held by the English from 1419 to 1429, and here Napoleon was defeated by Blucher March 19, 1814. The town capitulated to the Germans in September, 1870.

At Valmy Kellerman and Dumouriez, champions of torn and racked France, defeated the invading Prussians September 20, 1792.

In Verdun was signed the compact, in 843, that split the Frankish kingdom into three parts, giving rise to the future France, Germany and Lorraine.

At St. Quentin the Spanish beat the French in 1557, and here in 1871 the Germans destroyed a French army that sought to relieve Paris.

At Chalons the Romans, Visigoths and Franks in 451 routed Attila and saved a dawning civilization.

In 1667 Louis XIV besieged and captured Lille, to lose it to the English in 1708.

At Nancy, in 1477, Duke Charles the Rash of Burgundy, on conquest bent, was routed and killed.

At Rocroi, May 19, 1643, the young duke of Enghien, the prince of Conde's son, brilliantly routed a Spanish invasion.

These are but a few. The whole field of the present war is flecked with historic battlefields, now to be submerged in the horror of the mighty conflict which is the strange fruit of modern civilization.

And to think that the Colonel campaigned in Maine, and then the Bull Moose vote was only about a third of what it was in 1912!

Wilson and Public Opinion

(By Boyard.)

Washington, Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—This town is the political headquarters of the greatest of the governments that are ruled by public opinion, and Washington knows less about public thought than any other community in the United States. Here every swallow makes a summer, and, politically speaking, every zephyr is a tidal wave. Hence the daily abuse of God's patience and the king's English by the Hon. Mondell, the Hon. Humphrey, the Hon. Bristow, the Hon. Norris and the rest of 'em up on Capitol Hill early in the summer, and I frequently met newspaper men, accused of having some sense, who prated that the Wilson administration had ruined the Democratic party and fixed it so that the Republicans would "sweep the country," first absorbing Teddy and his layout.

They insisted on war against Mexico. They declared that the Democratic tariff was a failure. They howled calamity from rise to set of sun. They saw, but were incapable of observation. In vain I tried in my little way to point out that it was the good sense of the Democratic party and the good genius of the American people that had selected Woodrow Wilson, the profoundest thinker and the greatest statesman, gifted with the biggest mind and endowed with the firmest will, of any man of this day—this man was the leader of his party and the head of the nation.

Nobody expected that awful conflict abroad, where armies meet armies and navies guard against navies. Our president seized the situation promptly and treated it wisely. Not one murmur has come from any source against the "foreign policy" of the administration. Only a little while ago we were deafened with the howl that our diplomacy is "the laughing stock of Europe." The boot is on the other foot now. European diplomacy is the terror of Christendom.

It would be easy for a fool in the White House to get us into the fight. It would result in untold calamity to our country as well as to the masses of Europe, who are pouring their blood out like water in a quarrel that three European statesmen like Woodrow Wilson—one statesman like him, perhaps—would have composed without the fire of a gun.

The Hearst yallers and things here put it up to Georgia. They said that Hoke Smith would be defeated because he was the pillar of the Wilson administration. A man of the name of Brown—I believe that is his name—was going to put him out of the senate and out of politics. Now Hoke Smith was as much a spokesman of Wilson as any other man in either house of congress. In many respects his speech on the tolls question was the ablest elucidation of that problem. When he finished with it there was nothing more to be said on the side of the Democrats opposed to subsidy. It simply settled it.

However, let me be just. A Republican, Mr. Stevens of Minnesota, discussed the details of the question in the house of representatives, and perhaps his was the most effective speech made on the issue for the lay mind like yours and mine. Hoke Smith treated it from the standpoint of the lawyer and the statesman, and that is why the yallers hated him so.

Well, they said that Georgia would eat Hoke Smith up blood raw because he stood by Wilson and approved a brazen and insolent ship subsidy. So circumstantial were their reports from Georgia that I got to be alarmed, but Georgia is a Democrat, and the news from Georgia about the primary shows that she, as every cotton state, stands by Wilson and supports his policies.

And over in South Carolina the unspeakable Blease was, politically speaking, knocked on the head by the manhood of that magnificent community. He, too, assailed the Wilson administration. I am frank to say that I sorter wished to see the Hon. Blease in the senate. How he would shrink inch by inch in that body! The cold, unbending arrogance of his fellows, silent as the grave, would make the terrible Blease as meek as a lamb within a fortnight after he first took his seat. But it is best as it is.

Well, you can't find anybody in this town now who believes that the Republicans will "sweep the country" in November. I asked two or three of 'em about it, and they answered that it is "Wilson's luck," that the European war has saved him.

I deny it. His victory in November does not depend on any foreign question, except the approval of his Mexican policy. But for that miserable war in Europe this country would now be entering upon an era of material prosperity due to the Wilson policies such as it never before enjoyed.

Since the above was writ, tidings come from Georgia that Tom Hardwick has carried the state—another Wilson and Democratic victory.

As Her Own Rulers See Her

St. Louis Republic: The United States does full justice to the splendid fighting qualities of the German soldier and to the wonderful perfection of organization of the means of food supply, ammunition supply and transportation of men and guns, which has made possible the striking German victories and advances of the past ten days.

But the American people do not rejoice in these German successes; they deplore them. The reason is much better stated by Germans than by Americans. Four quotations will make it clear, one from a German emperor and three from imperial chancellors:

Germany does not look to Prussia's liberalism, but to her power. • • • The great questions of the day are not decided by speeches and majority votes—therein lay the weakness of 1848 and 1849—but by blood and iron!

PRINCE OTTO VON BISMARCK.

Germany would never, or at best very slowly and imperfectly, have achieved union as a state by following the paths of democracy along which other nations have reached the goal of national development. • • • It is an old mistake to want to gauge the concern of the nation in political affairs solely by the rights granted to the representatives of the people. • • • It is not the duty of the government to concede new rights to parliament.

PRINCE BERNHARD VON BUELOW, In Final Chapter of "Imperial Germany."

Our troops have occupied Luxemburg and perhaps have also found it necessary to enter Belgian territory. This is contrary to international law. • • • We shall try to make good the injustice we have committed as soon as our military goal has been reached. Who, like we, are fighting for the highest must only consider how victory can be gained.

DR. VON BETHMANN-HOLLWEG, In Reichstag, August 4. (Authorized Translation).

Considering myself as the instrument of the Lord, without heeding the views and opinions of the day, I go my way.

WILLHELM II, Kaiser und Koenig, in 1910.

These four quotations express the spirit in which Germany is fighting today.

A Dirty Job.

Lippincott's: "Just look at the wonderful color of the sea!" exclaimed a tourist on his first Mediterranean cruise. "See how blue it is!"

"That's not strange," growled a traveler who had lately run the gamut of the Neapolitan pensions and was therefore disillusioned. "No wonder it's blue. You'd be blue yourself if you had to wash the shores of Italy!"

What Does It Mean?

Editorial in the Lanesboro Leader (Rep.).

There never yet was an election in this state except the self-selected leaders of the Republican party depended upon Southern Minnesota, especially the First Minnesota congressional district, to roll up the heavy majorities for the Republican candidates. Usually they figure right. But not always. Within the memory of the present generation this district, for instance, has twice elected a Democrat to congress, and at least once has every county in it been carried by a Democratic candidate for governor.

Is history going to repeat itself? It is an accepted fact that straws indicate which way the wind is blowing. This year the straws seem to indicate that the wind is blowing in the direction of Winfield Scott Hammond for governor.

How else is the fact to be explained that in this black belt of Republicanism Hammond clubs are springing up everywhere? It is practically impossible to pick up a Republican newspaper from any of the Republican towns in the district except to find that a Hammond club has been organized in the town with so and so many members. Usually the memberships of these clubs are decidedly larger than the total Democratic vote in the town.

Even in staid, old Fillmore county, Republican to the backbone, nearly every town has organized a Hammond club. Rushford has one, Chatfield has one, Spring Valley has one and in the other towns steps are being taken to fall in with the procession. In Lanesboro up to the present time nearly 150 voters have declared their willingness to join in the organization of a Hammond club. Just think of it, 150 voters ready to vote for a Democrat in a town where until a couple of years ago William Emmons prided himself upon being the sole and only Democrat.

What does it mean?

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlus, the Sunshine Man.

If I have faltered more or less
In my great task of happiness,
If I have moved among my race
And shown no glorious morning face,
If beams from happy human eyes
Have moved me not, if morning skies,
Books, and my food, and summer rain
Knocked on my sullen heart in vain,
Lord, Thy most pointed pleasure take
And stab my spirit broad awake.
—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Though our lot may seem to us to be a sad one, if we look around we will find that the lot of others is often worse than our own.

It is a great thing to believe that one has a definite mission in life, and then strive to fulfill that mission.

The forces of evil in this world are great, but the forces of righteousness are greater, and he who allows the latter to fashion his life will be crowned with success.

The lives of great men in the past remind us how we may live so as to win the struggle of our earthly life.

Since we are to help others in building good characters, the earlier in life we begin this work of helpfulness, the better it is for us and them.

Thou truest friend man ever knew,
Thy constancy I've tried;
When all was false, I found thee true,
My counselor and guide.
The mines of earth no treasure give
That could this volume buy;
In teaching me the way to live,
It taught me how to die—
My mother's Bible.

Dayton, Ohio.

A Woman's Voice.

O heart! what is it you hear above the noise of a nation,
Above the sound of clamor and shouting
And men making ready for war?
Only a single voice, little more than a broken whisper,
Patient and unprotesting—only the voice of a woman.
Yet I hear it above the sound of guns
And the turmoil of men embarking.

I.

There's no use praying any more; the prayers are done and said;
But daytime going through the house, or nighttime in my bed,
They trouble me, the old prayers, still ringing in my head.

The young men from the papers, they brought the word to me.
I'm thinking of their mothers, how glad they ought to be,
Who never said "Good-by" to them and let them off to sea.

As strong as any man he was, and bold to do and dare,
And why should I be hearing, then, all night above the prayer,
A little lad that's calling me—and and wanting me—somewhere?

II.

He said what he thought was right;
"Let you be proud," he said,
"That you gave a son to the fight;
'Tis a glory over your head!"
'Tis never a good man's words I'd scorn,
And he said what he thought was best;
But I knew my pride when the lad was born,
And his head was warm on my breast.

"Let you be proud," he said.
'Twas the word that stabbed me through;
Proud—and my one son dead
In a land I never knew!
'Tis the women know when glory's worn
(Tho he meant the word for the best);
I knew my pride when the lad was born
And his head was warm on my breast.

Only a woman's voice—patient and unprotesting,
But I hear it above the sound of guns
And the turmoil of men embarking.
—Theodosia Garrison in the Delineator.

Too Much for Him.

Harper's Monthly: A Methodist bishop in the Northwest tells of a conversation he once had with a Wyoming man touching certain difficulties of the latter's religious tenets.

"Bishop," said this naive Westerner, "I do not refuse to believe the story of the ark. I can accept the ark's great size, its odd shape, and the vast number of animals it contained, but when I am asked to believe that the children of Israel carried this unwieldy thing for sixty years in the wilderness I must confess that my faith breaks down."

A Novelist's Consolation.

Washington Star: "How did your novel come out?"

"Well," replied the self-confident man, "it proved beyond all doubt that it isn't one of these trashy best sellers."

Governorship Talk

What the State Press Thinks

Straddled the Plank.

Le Sueur News: Party regularity is being preached now by the friends of Mr. Lee, but Mr. Lee is not saying anything about it. He is not saying himself. He never has been. He is just a Lee man, first, last and all the time. He wants to be governor. If he cannot win without misrepresentation he will resort to it, as he did in the primary campaign, it is only fair to presume. Good men say that at a recent gathering in Minneapolis he straddled the county option plank. Now he denies this. He is a politician. Do you know what a politician is? Well, it is a man who is out to win, right or wrong, but to win.

Quite Possible; But Lee Should Be Clear.

Heron Lake News: Mr. Lee's continual harping on "county option" is all piffle. He cannot pass a county option bill. That is a matter for the legislature to handle, and it is likely to handle the subject to suit itself.

Like Child's Play.

Tower Weekly News: Republican candidate for governor, W. E. Lee, announces that he is for county option. We could never really understand why laws are passed making a thing legal in one county and a penitentiary offense in another. Reminds one of the children playing tag. When they say "kings ex" you can't tag 'em. In other words, it's only child's play. If a thing is a crime in one place or is legal, then why not the same conditions elsewhere? Why should a section line make any difference? How does a man expect to ride into the gubernatorial ermine on a platform of this kind?

Is Lee a Wobbler?

Albert Lea Standard: The various interpretations made of Candidate Lee's speech at the meeting of his committee in Minneapolis last week made it necessary for Mr. Lee to issue a letter declaring that he favored county option and that his attitude on the question had not changed. At the same time G. R. Bjornson, chairman of his committee, issued a statement saying that: "Mr. Lee is for county option, first, last, and all the time. If elected he will recommend to the legislature that such a bill be passed. Mr. Lee has never dodged this issue and never will."

This last sentence made some of the doubters look up the records and it was found that when Mr. Lee was speaker of the Minnesota house of representatives, he had an opportunity to vote for a county option bill, but dodged. The bill was introduced by J. F. Jacobson of Madison. Mr. Lee's temperance committee returned the bill to the house without recommendation. The house, by a vote of 41 to 32, adopted a motion to lay the bill on the table, which killed the measure for that session. Mr. Lee, although present, was among the members who did not vote.

When Lee announced his candidacy for governor in January, 1912, his lengthy platform contained no mention of county option. It was not until three months later that Mr. Lee, needing an issue, came out for county option in a speech at Wayzata, the Minneapolis Journal declaring that "Mr. Lee's Wayzata speech will be considered a bid for the support of county option men over the state." But a week later, the Bemidji corespondent of the St. Paul Dispatch, in an account of Mr. Lee's speech there, said that "On the topic of county option, Mr. Lee said he had not declared either in favor of or against," but that what he did say in his Wayzata speech was that the people ought to have a right to decide for themselves as to whether there should be county option."

Interviewed in the Biwabik Times of Aug. 21, during his tour of the iron ranges, before the Minneapolis meeting, Mr. Lee said:

If the legislature should see fit to pass a county option bill I will sign it. Mr. Hammond and every other candidate for governor will make the same pledge, so that on this issue ALL THE ASPIRANTS OCCUPY THE SAME GROUND.

All of which leads The Duluth Herald to remark that the Minneapolis speech "will be easier to understand if we imagine Candidate Lee uttering the above statement with a hoarse whisper to the county optionists 'You know where I have always stood' and a ribald wink to the anti-optionists, meaning 'You'll find I'm not such a bad fellow after all.'"

Neither Fish Nor Fowl.

Cass Lake Times: William E. Lee, Republican candidate for governor, is complaining because he has the active opposition of both the liquor interests and the Prohibitionists. He can't understand how that can be. And still it is the simplest thing in the world. Mr. Lee tried to catch both by taking a middle ground on the temperance question. Mr. Lee, being of the old school of politicians, thought that would land them both coming and going. But things have taken a new turn in Minnesota politics. Now-a-days a candidate for office has to show his colors pretty plainly on the liquor issue. That is the one issue upon which every voter in the state has an opinion, and a very decided opinion. The time is past when a candidate could corral the support of the drys and wets at the same time. No man can get both now, and what is more, unless a candidate takes a firm and manly stand for or against the liquor traffic, he is most likely to lose the support of both factions. When a candidate doesn't declare himself for prohibition, he certainly can't expect the support of Prohibitionists and when he doesn't declare himself against prohibition, the liquor interests are looking for some one that will. And that is the predicament that Candidate Lee is in. He is neither fish nor fowl on the prohibition issue. He has declared for county option in such terms that even on that milk-and-water measure he has to explain his position every little while. He has not yet made a declaration even on county option that the papers of the state have been able to understand. And still county option is only a fence proposition. That doesn't say that he is either wet or dry.

Long Prairie, Mr. Lee's home town, is a wet town. Lee claims to have done "all a man could do" to make it dry. But he can't point to a single definite thing that he has done. He can't even say that he has signed a petition in his home town to get the license question up to a vote of the people, to say nothing of working to make it dry.

Changing the Terms.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: The heiress was about to marry a penniless peer. To him she said:

"My dear, I'm rather a new woman, you know; so do you mind asking the bishop to omit the word 'obey' in our wedding ceremony?"

Lord Lacland stroked his mustache, smiled cynically and answered:

"No, I don't mind, my love. I'll just tell the old boy to make it 'love, honor and supply.'"

"The Heaviest Battalions."

Kansas City Times: In saying that "God is always with the strongest," Huerta is evidently paraphrasing the cynical remark usually attributed to Napoleon, but which in reality has been common property for centuries.

"Every schoolboy knows," as they say—really meaning that the "Cyclopaedia of Practical Quotations" shows—that the first reference of the sort was by Tacitus, who wrote, "The gods are on the side of the stronger." Voltaire made it famous in a letter written in 1770 in which he said, "It is said that God is always on the side of the heaviest battalions." The expression attributed to Napoleon is, "Providence is always on the side of the last reserve."

All these remarks deserve to be contrasted with the one credited to Lincoln when he was asked whether he was sure that God was on "our side." "I do not know," he replied; "I have not thought about that. But I am very anxious to know whether we are on God's side."

Sailors Mourn for Nelson.

London correspondence, New York Sun: British sailors have on their uniforms perpetual reminders of the navy's glorious past, though not every one who wears them knows that the three rows of white tape round the edging of the blue collar and the black silk scarf knotted in front are links with Nelson.

The white tapes commemorate Nelson's famous victories—Copenhagen, the Nile and Trafalgar—and the scarf is a token of perpetual mourning for the great admiral, adopted by the seamen themselves and retained ever since.

WOULD STARVE THE INNOCENT ALSO.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have read with considerable interest the numerous articles which have appeared in your columns and signed by Titch Higgins regarding the events which led up to the present war.

The proposal of the Socialists to "feed America and stop the war" looks alluring, but what about the millions of non-combatants in the countries engaged in war whose mouths must be fed? Should we not also think of them? I agree with Mr. Higgins that to stop shipping products from this country to Europe would undoubtedly result in stopping hostilities, but the innocent women and children who are in no way to blame should be thought of first.

Socialists are calling attention to the fact that the various European governments are taking over public utilities and providing for the unemployed, etc., as proper war measures.

I concede that this is entirely proper procedure during war time and during periods of great emergencies, but will my Socialist friend kindly explain why these means should be resorted to in times of peace. Yours very truly,

GIL FOSTER.

IS OADAMS "WORLDLY?"

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your article on "Is Oadams Worldly?" in your issue of Sept. 12 reads "funny" to everyone familiar with the facts. Ever since I have been in La Crosse a few people have been trying to get a former pastor appointed to the position which I hold, continuing an old factional strife which has existed for many years and which therefore has resulted in short pastorates of two years or less. I knew when I came here what I had to face. The present movement gained strength when it was represented that I had been selected as pastor of a larger church and would leave this fall. The activity of two professors in the state normal school with the so-called insurgents accelerated this campaign of misrepresentation. It is a matter of record that the committee said: "No personal antipathy entered into the matter at all. The committee went to Fond du Lac as the representatives of members of the church board (seven of the board being represented, not seventeen out of the total of twenty-seven, as previously stated) who believe that a change in pastors here would help the growth of the church. No charges were preferred against Mr. Oadams."

The bishop knows all about the church and told the committee that the main fact they had to face was not the pastor, but their record in the treatment of pastors. He told the committee kindly but firmly "Go home and try to get along peaceably," and added "you must do that." And then he sent for me and told me to "go back to First church and help them to do so," which I am trying to do. It is said that seventy-one signed a petition for my removal in a searching campaign by the discontented few, but most of these did so when it was presented to them with the statement that I had a good deal better position to which I was going. Out of a membership of over 275 and with no knowledge on my part of what was going on, this was all that could be secured, and most of these have repudiated the imposition. The most successful of all men have never succeeded in getting a few others to forgive them for succeeding. I have succeeded. Come to La Crosse and inquire. The "worldliness," which hardly entered into the matter, was that I was too friendly with "the rich," but that does not change the opinion of the great majority that in the capacity of vice president of the Associated Charities and in other ways, in winter's cold and summer weather, I have been the friend and helper of the poor; and further that I held a life membership in the Order of Elks given me by St. Cloud, Minn., lodge, whose members befriended me in weakness and tended me in severe sickness and appreciated my work in that city and some of whom were members of my official board there; and because I am also a Freemason, which, thank God, I intend to remain, and a member of Duluth Consistory and Aad temple. Tell my old friends in the north I am just the same as when I was near them, trusting Almighty God and fearing no danger, and hoping still that I may come ere long to good old Duluth to make a permanent home among my many friends I have tested and found true. Respectfully yours,

F. STANLEY OADAMS.

NEW SYSTEM MAY NOT OPEN OCT. 1.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The Federal reserve board has begun consideration of a long list of eligibles for class C directorships of the twelve Federal reserve banks, but after a session which lasted two hours it was announced that no definite conclusions had been reacaed. Before the board are more than 200 names, out of which thirty-six men are to be chosen.

In view of the length of time it may take to select the class C directors, it is possible that the board will be unable to open the reserve banks Oct. 1, as has been indicated by Secretary McAdoo.

HEALTH TALKS

By William Brady, M.D.

That Lame Shoulder

THE most frequent cause of shoulder joint disability with which we have to deal is "sub-acromial bursitis"—or, in English, inflammation of the protective pad which caps the outside point of the shoulder.

This is usually caused by some injury or strain of the shoulder joint, although the patient may not recollect that there was any serious injury. It is often mistaken for "rheumatism," gout, neuritis or arthritis of the shoulder. It lasts many months and the muscles about the shoulder and upper arm become weak and wasted from non-use.

The patient can endure a limited degree of motion of the shoulder without pain, but as soon as the arm is extended outward beyond ten degrees from the chest, or rotated to any extent, the pain becomes severe. For instance, it is impossible for the patient to button his collar behind or his suspender button with the affected arm. He can readily place the hand upon the opposite shoulder, however, and this position seems to give him some comfort. In bed he finds it difficult to assume a comfortable position.

Must Limber Up the Rust Joint.

He has tried liniments and "rheumatism cures" and uric acid eliminators and everything his friends may have recommended, all without benefit of medical advice. The one thing he hasn't tried, and must try if he would get rid of his pet shoulder, is stretching the adhesions which have formed as a result of the former inflammation of the bursa. This requires grit, perseverance and a whole-souled willingness to suffer today for the sake of tomorrow's comfort.

Sometimes it is necessary to place the patient under ether and forcibly stretch the adhesions for him. This is unpleasant, but it gives a great start on the way toward full recovery.

How to Feel the Bursa.

A very characteristic test of this kind of stiff painful shoulder is made by pressing the finger upon the shoulder just beneath the prominent bony point. This causes exquisite pain, as it squeezes the inflamed bursa. Now, if the arm can be carried away from the body and lifted upward, and the finger pressure again made in the same place, there is little or no sensitiveness, because the inflamed bursa has slipped up under the bony point beyond reach. This test distinguishes bursitis from inflammation in the joint itself.

In sub-acromial bursitis there is the usual complaint about bad weather—which, according to the ancient hit-and-miss method of diagnosis, proves that "rheumatism" has the victim in its clutches. But after the adhesions have been stretched, by the patient or by his doctor, the weather ceases to annoy him to any great extent.

Mrs. J. C. asks: Do you approve of the use of boracic acid solution or peroxide of hydrogen solution as an irrigation?

REPLY.

Yes.

L. M. asks: Is coca-cola injurious to drink every day?

REPLY.

No, it only hurts the booze business.

Miss B. P. writes: A prescription of rain water, salts and castile soap was given me to reduce weight.

(1) What ingredient is the active one? (2) Is gun-powder and whisky mixed a poison? (3) Will peroxide finally kill hair on the face?

REPLY.

(1) It depends on whether you used it externally or internally. If internally the salts did the work. (2) Whisky alone is a poison. I have never given it mixed with gun-powder, but I should imagine it would be nearly as deadly that way. (3) Peroxide won't kill hair in a thousand years.

Mrs. G. H. states: I have a large growth on my neck a little to the right side, but it doesn't hang down. Could it be a goiter? What should I do?

REPLY.

It probably is a goiter. Do nothing but what your physician advises.

BETTER RESULTS UNDER ONE MAN

Efficiency Commission's Plan Would Correct Troubles Connected With Board of Control—Co-operation Between Departments Would Come.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hot water has splashed all around the board of control these last few weeks. Indeed the board has had more grief than its hardworking members deserve. Nor it is to be expected that such griefs can be wholly avoided by any system of administration. The department that takes care of 10,000 people, afflicted in mind or body or moral nature, is always liable to troubles.

If the efficiency commission's plan is adopted, the director of public welfare and two capable assistants will have to exercise their best judgment, as the three members of the board of control have done. Errors of judgment inevitably will occur. It may be said, however, that the experience of the board of control shows that the present system is not infallible and that it is not so eminently successful that the thought of improving it is untenable. In a department under a single executive one expects to find better results in the long run than under a board of three. The long run experience of human kind does not encourage the employment of a triumvirate.

May Be Helpful By Budget System.

Under the budget system proposed the needs of every department ought to be taken care of more adequately than is now possible in the general scramble for appropriations. The board of control has always urged that more money was needed for subordinate help, and some of the recent troubles may be due to undermanning or underpayment. Perfectly gifted and highly trained and infinitely kind attendants for the insane are hard enough to find at any price. If the board has not been able to pay sufficient wages, the budget system will give the better chance of correcting that trouble.

Under the proposed system co-operation between the departments will come as a matter of course. It has appeared in these matters under discussion that there has not always been as close co-operation as might be desired between the health department and the board of control. With the institutions and the health bureau both in the department of public welfare such co-operation might confidently be expected. And more than that the board of control has looked upon itself as something apart from the state administration. Most of the departments have had that feeling and have it now. Indeed they were established that they might be separate and independent. Now it is proposed to bring all these things into one administration. When that is done, how can you help having better team play than before?

There will always be griefs. But there is some hope that the plan of administration that systematizes the government everywhere will help out in adjusting also the burdens of this delicate and important branch of the state's service.

SECRECY VEILS BRITISH ARMY

English Woman Tells How Tommy Atkins Writes Home.

The close secrecy that veils the movements of the British army in the European war is brought about by cutting the men off from nearly all communication with the outside world, according to Mrs. Lillian Mountford, sister of David Quail, British vice consul in Duluth, who arrived yesterday from Liverpool with her two children, Doreen and George. The soldiers are permitted, however, to send messages regarding their safety to relatives but their location must be kept secret.

The British soldiers in France write special cards through the mail to relatives stating whether they are well or wounded, but nothing is written on the cards that would indicate where the soldiers are stationed, and the cards bear no postmark.

"This is only one instance of the way in which the movements of English soldiers are kept from the people. When the armies were mobilized only a few of the officers highest in command knew the destination of the troops. Even the men who drove the locomotives on the soldiers' trains did not know where they were going. The people did not know when 50,000 Russians were landed on the coast of Scotland and were taken the whole length of the country to the English channel to be sent on to join the French and British armies.

"When I came away, a week ago last Friday, Liverpool was filled with the territorials, which correspond to the militia in this country. These men were being sent out to the colonies to take the place of the regulars who are being called in from India, Egypt and all of the foreign possessions of the United Kingdom. As we left Liverpool I saw two transports, one loaded with food and both of them painted the dull, grim gray of war time, ready to leave with cargoes for the fighting men.

"At no time since the war started have the people at Liverpool felt any worry over the outcome. Germany was still advancing rapidly towards Paris when I left, but the British have not contemplated the possibility of their taking that city. They merely felt that the German success meant a longer war and gave no regard to the thought that Germany might overrun France and menace England. They have never for a moment lost their full confidence of victory."

Mrs. Mountford will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Quail, 6009 Tioga street.

Candidate Tells What He Would Do If Elected Governor.

Promises to Urge Legislature to Pass County Option Law.

Marshall, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—William E. Lee, Republican candidate for governor, formally opened his campaign at the high school auditorium in this city last night, delivering his keynote address to about 1,000 enthusiastic hearers. Over 200 of those present were Lyon county farmers. In his keynote address Mr. Lee told his hearers what he purposed to do if elected governor, and pointed out many possible betterments in state administration which he pledged himself to secure. He was heartily applauded when he came out squarely and unequivocally for county option and promised not only to recommend such a measure to the legislature, but to work unceasingly until a county option law had been placed on the statute books of the state and further to drive brewery domination from the capitol in St. Paul.

Mr. Lee praised the work ond personnel of the efficiency commission, declaring that parsimony in state government was undesirable and that extravagance must end. He pledged himself to work for a lower tax rate, home rule of public utilities, conservation of the state's natural resources, good roads and small town development. He frequently repeated the promise that if elected he would give to the state the careful and conservative administration of a business man.

Will Urge County Option.

"I believe in county option," said Mr. Lee, "and I believe that a majority of the people of Minnesota believe it to be the next logical step in dealing with the saloon question. I shall urge upon the legislature the importance of enacting a county option law at the earliest possible date of the session. I shall also call the attention of the legislature to the need of a law to prevent the sale of beer or liquor by breweries or wholesale liquor dealers to any but regularly licensed retailers, thus doing away with "blind pigs" and other illicit places. In connection I urge upon the people the necessity of electing to the legislature men who will stand firmly with me in carrying out this program. It is said that county option is purely a legislature question, in a sense it is, so are all these questions before the people, but a governor or even a candidate for governor has large influence which he can exercise affirmatively or negatively; silence is negative. For years I have urged the passage of a county option measure and I shall continue to do so until it becomes a law."

For Efficiency Methods.

Continuing, Mr. Lee said among other things needed was the reorganization of the administrative departments of the state government along modern business lines, so as to secure efficiency without extravagance, and also to secure to the people their inherent right to determine the law under which they preferred to live and to provide the machinery to enable them to do so.

Gunner B. Bjornson, chairman of the Republican state committee, presided and addresses were made by Former Governor Samuel R. Van Sant, Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, Fred Snyder of Minneapolis, State Auditor Samuel G. Iverson, State Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner O. P. B. Jacobson and Secretary of State Julius Schmahl.

The two former were non-residents who were seeking to evade the purchase of a non-resident license.

Eugene Rivard Seeks Divorce From His Bride.

Winnie Rivard, a bride of three months, was yesterday made defendant in an action for divorce brought by Eugene Rivard, who charges that she deserted him about a month after their wedding.

They were married in Boston, Mass., June 6, 1914, and on July 17, the husband declares his wife left him and has since refused to return. Rivard lives in the town of Industrial, St. Louis county.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 15.—In furtherance of the movement for the relief of the South in its present cotton crisis due to the European war, the president of a large Baltimore financial institution sent a telegram to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo last night asking the department's approval of a plan to carry cotton among the assets of the company on the same basis as other investments.

The banking executive expressed the belief that if the idea met with governmental approval it would open the way for many other financial institutions to do the same thing, thereby materially relieving the situation.

FRAME BADGER PARTY PLANKS

Four Parties Are Holding Their Conventions at Madison.

Republican Task Is Made Difficult By Three Factions.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 15.—Four party platform conventions are being held here today to put in form the views on which the several parties shall go before the people in the November elections.

Owing to the delay in the official count of candidates elected in the recent primaries, who, under the primary law are the accredited delegates to the platform conventions, the exact number of delegates attending cannot be stated, but it was thought the secretary of state would have a complete list later in the day.

Republican Complications.

In the Republican convention there are three elements which, more or less complicate the preparation of a platform. E. L. Philipp, the gubernatorial nominee, represents the conservatives, while the progressive wings are under the leadership of the La Follette element and Governor McGovern's Progressive supporters, who have in the past controlled the Roosevelt faction in Wisconsin.

The Democratic candidate for governor, John C. Karel, is said to be willing to support a strongly progressive platform. In the primaries Karel had the opposition of John A. Aylward, whose principal slogan was the approval of the Wilson national administration.

Davies Has Not Resigned.

One very important problem to be solved is the selection of a national Democratic committeeman. Late yesterday it was announced that Joseph E. Davies, Federal commissioner of corporations and present national committeeman from Wisconsin, had resigned. Later this was denied and Mr. Davies announced that he did not believe it necessary for him to resign as committeeman until his appointment as a member of the new Federal industrial commission has been confirmed by the United States senate.

The Socialist and Prohibition gatherings are considered perfunctory as the platforms are said to have been agreed to along the usual lines.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF RELIEF COMMITTEE

Some Americans Threaten to Make Trouble for Members.

London, Sept. 15.—Two young American women who arrived from Berlin Saturday night were given the address of an inexpensive hotel by the American relief committee. Instead of going there, they put up at a luxurious hotel and yesterday, according to the committee, appeared at the relief headquarters and presented a hotel bill for $60, requesting that it be paid on their behalf. They also asked to be provided with first class passage on a steamer to New York, as they were penniless.

The committee felt compelled to pay the hotel bill, but allowed them only $1.25 each daily for living expenses until Saturday, when they will proceed to New York as second class passengers. This privilege was granted because the young women declared they were in frail health.

Expects Criticism.

This and similar cases have caused Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American committee, to issue the following statement:

"The American press may be interested to know that they may expect a large number of interviews denouncing this committee upon the arrival of steamers at New York.

"No less than thirteen different persons today threatened us with denunciation and exposure immediately on their arrival in New York. One of them, a woman, was especially violent, because we refused to stand for her bills at the Savoy hotel, a member of the committee having asked her to move to a moderate-priced hotel."

DULUTH BIDS FOR SANITARIUM

Opinions of Specialists Favor Climate Here for Moose Institution.

Communications from specialists in various parts of the country declaring Duluth's climtae to be one of the most desirable for the location of a sanitarium were read last night at a meeting of the joint committee of the Moose lodges at the Head of the Lakes held at the office of Dr. C. L. Haney of the Sloan block. The committee has recently been in touch with the best authorities on climatic conditions for convalescents, with the view of recommending Duluth or vicinity as the best place for the proposed Moose sanitarium.

It is proposed by the committee to interest the Duluth and Superior commercial and civic bodies in getting their aid to land the institution. The proposed institution will cost about $500,000, and is to be built within the next two years.

Several other cities, especially those of California, Colorado and Washington, are said to be working to secure the sanitarium. Local members intend pointing out that Duluth is centrally located and has all the necessary healthful climatic conditions.

NEW PAVEMENT IS BEING LAID

Concrete Work on Zimmerly Avenue Now Under Way.

The laying of the concrete paving for the Zimmerly and Commonwealth avenues in the suburbs began today. It was planned to begin this work early last week but heavy rains have delayed it.

The seven blocks of Zimmerly avenue are now all about ready for the laying of the paving. Contractor D. H. Clough said yesterday that with a short stretch of fair weather he expected to lay the concrete on these blocks within the next two weeks.

Grading crews have already begun work preparing Commonwealth avenue for the paving south of Zimmerly avenue. A large number of men and teams are being employed and with this crew it is expected to have the entire job completed before heavy frost sets in.

WILL REMOVE OLD DRAWBRIDGE

The old drawbridge standing in midstream on the St. Louis river below New Duluth will be removed.

Whitney Bros. have the contract for removing the structure, and have begun work.

The bridge was built by the Duluth & Winnipeg Railroad company about twenty-five years ago. At that time it was to be used by the railroad for connecting the Duluth end of its line with its main line, which would cut through Northern Wisconsin. The project was abandoned shortly after the draw was built.

In recent years the bridge is said to have been a menace to navigation in the river. It swung from its fastenings during a heavy storm early last summer and since then steps have been taken to have it removed.

ECZEMA SPREAD ALL OVER HANDS

Would Dry, Crack and Swell. Could Not Put Hands in Water Nor Do Work. Itching and Burning Terrible. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Hands Well.

101 S. Boots St., Marion, Ind.—"First the eczema started on my fingers, then spread all over my hands. It broke out in tiny blisters, then would get dry and crack and swell so I could not have my hands in warm water they hurt me so badly. I could not do all my work. The itching and burning were terrible. The more I scratched my hands the worse it made them. They were so bad I could not help scratching them and would walk the floor they annoyed me so. I could not sleep, lost many nights of rest on account of the eczema. My hands were not fit to be seen and I kept them wrapped up and wore mittens that I made out of old linen.

"I was about one year using remedies, then I saw an advertisement in the paper saying that Cuticura Soap and Ointment were good. I wrote at once for a sample. Then I bought one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and before they were half gone I could see my hands were better. Before the second box of Cuticura Ointment was gone my hands were well and have remained well ever since." (Signed) Mrs. G. W. Sharp, Oct. 31, 1913.

Samples Free by Mail

Although Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world, a sample of each with 32-p. Skin Book will be sent free upon request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

VIEWS ON CITY PLANT.

Merritt and Others Will Speak to Suburban Club.

Virtually all residents of New Duluth and Gary are planning to attend the meeting of the New Duluth Commercial club Tuesday evening next week when Commissioner Leonidas Merritt of the public utilities department will explain the city's plan for building a municipal lighting plant. Several other municipal ownership advocates are expected to be present to speak, among them being Dr. D. H. Day, Richard Jones and T. T. Hudson.

Following the meeting it is probable that the club will pass on the merits of the proposition. The members at a recent meeting were given the views on the Duluth-Edison company by H. A. Carmichael. At the close of that meeting an invitation was given the commissioner to give the other side of the question.

CLEAR SCHOOL SITE.

Work on Stowe School Will Be Pushed Rapidly.

Workmen have been started clearing the site for the new Harriet Beecher Stowe school at New Duluth. Jacobson Bros., who were recently awarded the contract, expect to begin the excavation this week.

Construction will be pushed as rapidly as possible. Material will arrive in New Duluth as rapidly as it is wanted, according to the contractors, and no hitch in the work is expected.

RAIN DAMAGES WALKS.

Newly Laid Concrete on Commonwealth Avenue Undermined.

The heavy, steady downpour of rain on Sunday and Saturday night caused about $150 damage to new concrete sidewalks recently laid on Commonwealth avenue. Yesterday it was discovered that the foundation of the walk had been undermined by the water and that a stretch of nearly a block had settled. John Stocker, the contractor, said he believed the cause to have been the settling of dirt in the water mains which are close to the sidewalks. These mains were laid recently by the Pastoret Construction company.

The contractor will at once relay the damaged walk. The walk extends four blocks from Goodhue street to the transfer railway.

ZEPPELIN FLYER'S CAPTURE DESCRIBED.

London, Sept. 15.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Moscow quotes the assistant station master at Miava, on the Russo-Prussian frontier, in a story telling of the capture of a Zeppelin. He said:

"We were on the platform when the Zeppelin appeared about 500 feet above us. Our artillery opened fire, damaging three of its motors, but they proceeded, using the remaining motor. The Zeppelin then hoisted a white flag and the Russian officer ordered the soldiers to cease firing. They did so, but the Zeppelin immediately hurled a bomb and the effect of its explosion was terrible. Three more bombs were thrown, which killed twenty-three and wounded sixty. The airship then came to the ground a short distance away, where the Germans succeeded in ruining their vessel. The crew, consisting of four officers and four soldiers, were captured."

Orsova was the route by which the Germain sailors reached Turkey.

The Japanese Red Cross, the dispatch says, has sent to the scene of war in Russia a field hospital of 200 beds.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.— "I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."—Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

THRESHING IS ABOUT ENDED

Ten Days of Good Weather Expected to Finish North Dakota Work.

Wet Weather Has Considerably Delayed Work in Several Places.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With favorable weather conditions, threshing operations will be completed in most sections of North Dakota within ten days. Several districts have had hampering weather with which to deal, operations being badly delayed, but on the whole the threshing is well advanced.

Yields and grades are holding up to the indications shown by the earliest threshing operations. Early sown wheat was successful in passing through the season satisfactorily, while much of the late sown grain was quite badly blighted by the excessive heat of the latter part of July.

There is a comparatively small portion of the wheat crop that is grading better than No. 2 northern, most of it being No. 2 and No. 3. This fact was caused by the July hot spell, which was so disastrous in many instances.

The feed crops seems to be quite substantial, although barley yields are exceedingly spotted, the spread in yields in the same district being very great in many instances. Oats have yielded fair over most of the state.

Stark Threshing Delayed.

Stark county and the adjacent district, seems to have been retarded most in the matter of threshing, the delay being from two to three weeks.

In the Red River valley, and through the east central section of the state, as well as across the northern part of the state, operations are well advanced, many threshing machine owners being confident of completing their runs during the middle or the latter part of next week.

Conditions are satisfactory for fall plowing, the heavy rains of the early fall season having conditioned the soil for the plow. Already much ground has been turned over, and with good weather, an unusually great acreage of fall plowing will be done.

DEERWOOD MAN IS SEEKING DAMAGES

Alleges His Arrest on Serious Charge Was a "Frame-up."

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Leon E. Wilson of Deerwood, through his attorneys, Bussell & Crowell of Brainerd, has started an action against William L. Moore, Mike Lamey and Elias Mason asking for damages to the amount of $10,250 for alleged injury to his character and standing in the community.

Mr. Wilson was one of six men arrested last spring charged with having carnal knowledge of a girl 15 years old. Two of the men were tried and acquitted and the cases of the other four were dismissed, of which Wilson was one.

Wilson alleges that the case was a "frame-up" by the defendants to get him arrested so as to injure his character and good name in the community.

The commissioners also voted in favor of submitting to the voters the proposition of bonding the county for $45,000 to build a new county jail, the money to be borrowed from the state at 4 per cent, the first $5,000 being payable in 1920 and the remainder in $5,000 installments annually thereafter.

SCANDINAVIANS ARE WROUGHT UP

Grand Forks Woman Just Back Says They Fear War Trouble.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Ida Ulven of Grand Forks, who arrived home yesterday from Norway, where she was stranded when the European war broke out, was aboard a Norse steamer in the North sea, when a British cruiser fired two shots across the vessel's prow to halt it, as the Norse steamer failed to heed the call of the Britisher to lay to.

The British naval officers came aboard, and finding the vessel carrying American refugees, allowed it to proceed.

Miss Ulven says the Scandinavian population is exceedingly nervous over the war situation, fearing developments that may involve them in the struggle.

Twelve thousand dollars of the issue will be used for the construction of the water works and $8,000 for the sewer system.

The election will be held Sept. 30. This will be the second attempt this year to vote bonds. It is thought that there will be very little opposition this time, as the mining companies are cooperating with the village council in the installing of the systems.

Omland, a graduate of Augsberg seminary, Minneapolis and Luther college, and ordained a minister in the United Lutheran church in Minneapolis in 1877, died in a local hospital yesterday, after giving over thirty years of his life to the advancement of the Lutheran church in the Northwest.

For most of that period, Rev. Omland was located at Park River, recently relinquishing his pastorate there because of ill health.

Rev. Mr. Omland was prominently identified with the early day movement of the United church in the Northwest.

LAWYERS EXCHANGE BLOWS.

Fargo Attorneys Reported in Scrap Over Attorney's Fees.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was an echo of the sensational breach of promise case filed by a St. Paul woman for $50,000 against W. W. Smith of this city, when Smith and State's Attorney Fowler came to blows over, it is claimed, the attorney's fees. Fowler has represented Smith in the breach of promise suit. It is asserted that Fowler was getting the better of Smith, when the latter's brother, C. O. Smith, a much larger man than the attorney, came to the rescue. There are rumors of two different legal actions as a result of the fight, and the prominence of all involved is attracting attention to the brawl.

BULL MOOSE ON TICKET.

Law That Might Have Kept Them Off Held Invalid.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 15.—Secretary of State Hall will certify the names of the Bull Moose candidates to the ballot this fall, and they will have their own column.

This is his decision, since he has received an opinion from the office of the attorney general regarding the 25 per cent law.

In 1907 the legislature passed an act requiring a candidate, in order to get on the ballot, to receive 30 per cent of the votes cast for governor, secretary of state and attorney general at the election previous. The constitutionality of this law was questioned and the supreme court held it void. The legislature at its last session passed an amendment to the law, making it read 25 per cent. Inasmuch as it was claimed that 30 per cent was too high.

Now the attorney general holds that inasmuch as the law which was amended was invalid, the simple fact that the legislature amended it does not bring it to life. In fact, there is no law on the subject, and Mr. Zuger, who gives the opinion, advises Mr. Hall to place the names on the ballots.

MARQUETTE COUNTY CROPS ARE LARGE.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The consensus of opinion of agriculturists regarding the 1914 crop in Marquette county indicates that it is the largest in years. In all parts of the district the farmers have prospered, although in a few localities some damage has been done by drouth and frost, this not being of any great consequence, however.

Forage crops have developed surprisingly well the last summer, and will give impetus to the dairying industry in this part of the state. For the first time in many years there was an excellent second crop of clover, better even than the first crop. While the clover always develops to a certain extent after the first cutting, it rarely attains the size that it did this summer.

The water was struck at a depth of 110 feet and rose eighty-five feet in the well. It is of fine quality and the supply is said to be inexhaustible. If it proves adequate the city will save several thousand dollars.

Fond du Lac—Joseph Ridgeway, aged 11, son of Dr. J. H. Ridgeway, a dentist, died from loss of blood and shock twenty minutes after his left leg had been amputated at a hospital here. With another boy he rowed into a marsh on the west shore of Lake Winnebago, ten miles from here, to shoot ducks. The gun was accidentally discharged.

Waukesha—Valentine Emig, 49, was instantly killed Saturday night when his automobile skidded and turned turtle on the Milwaukee road, a mile and a half east of this city, pinning him under the wreckage and fracturing his skull.

Madison—The Society of American Indians will hold its national convention in Madison on Oct. 6-11. It is quite possible that a number of the leaders will stay here until the pageant is given on Oct. 13, and will take an active part in the affair, which is in celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the writing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Antigo—County Highway Commissioner T. W. Humble stated this morning that all state aid highway work would be finished before the end of the month. The cost of the work this year is about $30,000.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—William Scherer was turned over to the police by Great Northern Railway Conductor C. M. Goodman for being drunk on the Great Northern train. Scherer, it is said, aside from being drunk, acted most disorderly and his ejection from the train here was absolutely necessary. He was arraigned before Municipal Judge Donohue and fined $10 and costs.

Bemidji—Claims of four Bemidji property owners against the city of Bemidji for approximately $4,200 damages done to their property on Mississippi avenue, caused by street grading, were reduced to $630 by a verdict returned this morning by the jury which heard the case.

Baudette—The Border Farmers' club will hold their regular monthly meeting here on Tuesday, Sept. 25.

Spooner—O. J. Rollevson and family, who have been residents of Spooner for many years, have left for Spokane, Wash. Mrs. Rollevson has been in poor health for some time, and the change of climate may improve it.

Little Falls—The Northwestern Milling company's mill has been reopened after closing down for a short time in order to install new machinery. The new equipment consists of a self-balancing square sifter and it replaces five machines which were before necessary to do the work now performed by one.

Blummer—Burglars entered the store of Langlie Bros. and made away with four ladies' mackinaws. This is all that has been missed, although other small things may have been taken. Entrance was obtained through a window in the rear of the store by tearing off the screen and raising the window.

Moorhead — Perley & Lincoln have closed a deal for the sale of a half section of land in Traill county, east of Buxton, for $50 per acre.

Spooner—A petition was sent to the postoffice department on Monday asking for the establishment of a rural mail route along the route of Judicial Ditch No. 13 along some branch roads. Ninety-four names were signed to the petition.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

D.—While an employe of a local hardware store was demonstrating a repeating shotgun for an Italian purchaser, one of the shells was accidentally discharged and the load was widely scattered over the store. SPORTING COMMENT

WITH the Boston Braves dashing through the National league like wildfire, the Western clubs have been put entirely out of the race, and the conflict has now settled down to a struggle between the Braves and Giants for the honor of meeting the Athletics in the world's series. Neither the Cubs nor Cardinals seem to have the reserve forces to make a long fight from the rear. The schedule operates against the Western teams from now on. The Cubs have played their last game at the West Side park, and are away from home for the balance of the season, winding up with a long Eastern trip and closing in St. Louis. The Cards are off on a trip East and to Pittsburg, and do not get home again until the last two days of the season, when they close with the Cubs at Cardinal park. Meanwhile the Giants and Braves are holding forth on their own grounds for practically all the rest of the season. As a matter of fact, the Cubs and Cardinals have given up the fight, and neither club now has the faintest idea of pulling past both the leading teams. It is a fight between them for third place, with a possible chance of going to second in case one of the leaders breaks badly. Narrowing down to two clubs, the odds favor the Braves at this writing. Of course, their overworked pitchers may break in the last two or three weeks, but that does not look likely. A gamer trio than Rudolph, James and Tyler never lived. They are all in good shape, and they will go through without very much doubt. If the Braves are going to win out, it is to be hoped that they will have the pennant cinched a full week or more before the close of the season, so as to give these hurlers some rest before tackling Connie Mack's artillerymen. It may be, however, that they will not need it. It is easy to remember the world's series of 1906, when the Cubs made a world's record in the National league by winning 116 games and had the flag cinched weeks before the regular season closed, while the White Sox fought under a strain right up to the last day of the season. There was scarcely a man who gave the Sox a chance to beat the Cubs, yet they went out and did it, and their pitchers showed no ill effects from the long grind which had been concluded only a day or two before the series opened. Perhaps the same thing will be true this year, and the Brave pitchers will be all the better for working right up to the finish.

THERE is no doubt that the Braves will stand a better chance to win the world's championship than the Giants, who have lost three straight and are not nearly so strong now as they have been in the past three years. The Giants would be as good as beaten before they stepped on the field to tackle the Mack men. The latter have something on them, and both teams know it. Consequently the Athletics would go into the series with the utmost confidence, while the Giants would have their heads down from the start. The Giant pitching staff has broken badly this season. Jeff Tesreau is now the only consistent winner in the McGraw stable. Matty has been hit hard much more often than in any previous year, and he is by no means the Matty of old, though he would probably rise to the occasion in a big series and pitch at his very best for a couple of games. Marquard has blown fiercely, and would be of little use against the American league sluggers, while the second-string men are perfectly hopeless in any real contest. The Boston pitching, even if the three stars are a bit weary from the long race, will be greatly superior to anything McGraw can offer, and the Braves will go into the series believing that they have a good chance to win, which is just the opposite feeling to that which the Giants would have. For the good of baseball and the National league, it is hoped that the Braves will win out. The Giants are a drawing card, but they are not in the least popular, owing to their somewhat arrogant style in part, but largely through their wretched showing in the last three world's series. Fans all over the country have lost confidence in McGraw's team, and are pulling strong for the nifty Braves. The victory of the latter club will be an extremely popular one in every city of the league except New York. It will be a well-deserved victory, the result of the greatest rush to the front from last place ever seen in the major leagues. If the Braves win, all the world's series games in Boston will be played at Fenway park, and it will be packed to the fences at every game, for this is the most popular team that has represented the city of beans in many years.

IF THOSE Twin City teams don't get out and win a few games they will get "in Dutch" with the sporting editors all over the country. That little old book of Mr. Spalding's that figures up the averages has turned at last and refuses to compute the standing of Minneapolis if that team loses another game. The Millers have won 72 and lost 82 and that is as far as the figures go in the book. If the Millers lose another game the boys on the sport desks will have to get out the big pads and figure out the averages for themselves. St. Paul has won 53 and lost 101. The Saints can lose another and still the book will reveal the standing but if they lose two more the sport men will have to figure out their standing too.

Let's all pull for the Millers and Saints today.

Several Duluth, Superior and Virginia players are planning a barnstorming baseball team to play in towns in this vicinity. If they are looking for trouble they probably will find it out on the kerosene circuit. Ask any stock company actor.

The old style of football will be tried out against the new style when Michigan meets Harvard this fall. Harvard plays the old smashing game and the Wolverines are exponents of the open style.

The wonderful Mathewson wasn't there yesterday and Marty O'Toole was unable to help him in the second game with the Phillies yesterday. The Giants got an even break in the double-header, but Boston won the one game played and went further ahead of the Giants.

Ty Cobb is going after those leaders in the American league batting averages. Yesterday he was up four times and got three singles and a double.

Harry Blume, owner of the Duluth baseball team, is ill at his home from ptomaine poisoning. He is expected to be about again in a few days.

• • •

That Grand Forks sport writer is at it again. He is now predicting that the Northern league will be broken up by the withdrawal of Winnipeg and Fort William from the league. Fine chance. Those teams are two of the best drawers in the league. Even Port Arthur wants to get into the circuit.

MISS BISHOP LEADS.

Former Title Holder Ahead in National Golf Tournament.

Glen Cove, L. I., Sept. 15.—Ninety-one women golfers, the largest field that ever competed in a national championship tournament, turned in cards for the qualifying round of eighteen holes medal play over the links of the Nassau County club here yesterday.

Miss Georgiana M. Bishop of the Brooklyn Country club, Bridgeport, Conn., a former title holder, led the field, and won the gold medal with the low score of 85.

Another former national champion, Mrs. Arnold H. Jackson of Oakley, Mass., was second with 87. The Metropolitan woman champion, Miss Lillian B. Hyde of South Shore, N. Y., who holds the record of 82 for this course, had 88 and was tied for third place with Miss M. A. Airving of Donegan Hills, Staten Island, who had a similar score.

CHANCE LIKELY TO STAY FOR SEASON.

New York, Sept. 15.—While neither Manager Chance nor President Frank Farrell of the New York American league baseball club would make any statement yesterday regarding their differences, baseball circles put much faith in a persistent rumor that Chance would remain manager for the rest of the season. Report had it Chance would relinquish his contract for another season, calling for a salary of $20,000, and that Farrell had guaranteed to pay Chance's salary in full for this year.

Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore Internationals, was considered the most likely choice for Chance's successor. Dunn has been here in conference with Farrell since Saturday.

Indoor Baseball.

The Fraternal Baseball league will continue activities this winter in the shape of an indoor league. It is probable that a team from the state militia will join the league. Clinton Ford, one of the champion Dooks, is trying to form an indoor league made up of Duluth, Superior and range towns. He proposes to form an organization and adopt a regular schedule for the winter.

GIANTS STUBBORNLY YIELD TO THE BRAVES

JOHN McGRAW.

Misfortune, coupled with deterioration on the part of the New York Giants, seems to doom them to second place in the race for the National league pennant this year, a flag which they have held for several years with but little from their foes to give them any cause for worry. But this year it turned out differently and then only when the season was about half over. Stallings and his Boston Braves bounced from the cellar, where they reposed on July 18, up a few notches and then began the stubbornest fight baseball has seen in a decade, and now the Boston team leads the league and is still going strong while New York, though spurred on as never before by Muggsy McGraw, the most belligerent leader in baseball, has been steadily slipping of late. The double-header of yesterday netted them one victory and one defeat, while Boston won its one game, thereby increasing its lead by another half game.

WINS IN STRAIGHT HEATS.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 15.—Frank Bogash, Jr., driven by Tommy Murphy, won in straight heats the $3,000 free-for-all pacing stake, the event of chief interest in yesterday's program at the Michigan state fair races. Walter Cochato led into the stretch in each of the three heats, but could not stand the fierce pace at the end.

Driver Frost was fined $100 by the judges for not trying to win the 2:07 pace with King Daphne. Garrison drove the final heat and won easily.

BIG SQUAD OF CANDIDATES

More Than Fifty Husky Youths Are After Football Jobs.

First Practice of Year Held; No Scrimmage Work Yet.

More than fifty candidates for the Duluth Central high school team turned out for practice yesterday afternoon at Athletic park, and Coach Glyer put them through their paces in running, starting, punting and passing the ball.

No scrimmage work has been attempted yet, but it is likely that two teams will be picked tomorrow and sent against each other. Yesterday afternoon Capt. Kerr, Walsh, McIntyre, Taylor, Mann, Bartlett, Neff, Peterson, Lewis, Kearns, Warner and O'Brien were tried out on the first squad. Kerr, at left half, showed his usual speed, and the coach believes he will be a big factor in ground-gaining this fall. Bobbie Walsh, one of the vets, was out for the first time and was tried in a backfield position. He got away in good shape. Warner, another of last year's players, was out for the first time and tried out his new job of tackle. Hoopes wrenched his leg and was out of the practice most of the afternoon. It is expected he will be back in the game by tomorrow. Lewis was used at right half, and with a little practice he ought to make good. He is new at the position and a little slow, but a little coaching and practice will fix that. He will have to go some, however, to beat out Miller and Comstock, who are out after the job. Bartlett and Mann tried out at end and showed up as well as could be expected at this time of the year. The men in the line seem to be a little slow, and they will have to develop more speed.

The rest of the squad seems to be made of the right stuff, and Central is confident of another winning team this fall.

Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting will be held this afternoon or tomorrow to arouse enthusiasm for the alumni game next Saturday.

The old grads will try to show the regulars what they know about football, and as the alumni players are heavier than the regulars, they have the odds on the schoolboys there. On the other hand, the regulars are in training and are organized. The alumni team ought to be good on the defense, but in offensive playing they will be weak on account of the lack of practice together.

Although the alumni team last year was a good one, the men did not know their signals, and they were unable to keep going all the time. They were strong on the defense and kept the Centrals from scoring, while Joe Boyle kicked a drop kick for the grads and saved them a lot of exertion in trying to push the ball across the line.

The Superior team is out for practice, and the one ambition across the bay is to beat Duluth. The game will be played here Oct. 31. Only two men from the Superior team of last year are back in school this year, Moore and Ferguson. Moore was out for practice yesterday, but Ferguson declares he is not going to play this year, leaving only one veteran for the team. Coach Schneider will have to pick his team from among the green men, but as there are many new huskies in school, he ought to find a good lot. Moore probably will be elected captain, as he has his former experience on the team to help him in running things.

IMPORTANT MATCHES AT NORTHLAND CLUB

Weekly Events Are Scheduled Until Late in October.

There are still some important events to be played at the Northland Country club this fall.

The mixed foursome medal play, handicap, eighteen holes, is scheduled for next Saturday. On Sept. 26 the eighteen-hole medal play handicap will be held. Oct. 3 the second match in the mixed foursome will be played. Oct. 10 the last match in the bogey trophy series will be played. The winner of this match will have his name inscribed on the cup along with A. C. Volk, who won it twice. The president's and vice president's match will be played on Oct. 17. A cup will be awarded to the member of the club who makes the lowest score between June 13 and Oct. 24. The women's ringer competition will end on Oct. 24.

MAGNATES WILL HOLD MEETING

The pennant of the Northern league will be officially awarded to Duluth at the annual meeting of magnates of the circuit here next Monday. The meeting probably will be held at the Spalding hotel.

Another meeting will be held during the winter and if there are any changes to be made in the circuit they will be made then. At the meeting here Monday something definite will be known about the situation in Fargo and Moorhead. Moorhead has decided to stay out and it is a question whether or not Fargo will go it alone next season.

Fined for Assault.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Pitcher William Burns of the Louisville club was fined $100 by President Chivington of the American association yesterday for assaulting Umpire James Johnstone during a recent game at Indianapolis.

WITCHCRAFT, MURDER AND CANNIBALISM IN LIBERIA

Thrilling Story Related By Methodist Missionary, Formerly of Duluth.

Accused People Subjected to Poisoning Test By Sasswood Court.

William O. Pealer of this city has received a letter from Rev. Walter B. Williams, superintendent of the Kroo mission of the Methodist Episcopal church at Sinoe, Liberia, West Central Africa, in which he tells a thrilling story of witchcraft, kidnaping, murder, cannibalism, sasswood poisoning, leprosy and boa constrictors. Wm. Williams was pastor of Methodist churches in Duluth and on the iron ranges about ten years ago and spent several months here during 1913. Here is an extract from his letter:

"Nothing could have been more peaceful than that April Wednesday. A blue sky and a bluer sea, with a German steamer lying at anchor in the harbor, golden sunshine, the mission sheep browsing beside the road in charge of one of the boys, and just outside the Cabo fish town, a mile distant our native preacher, Sanso, with a little Wissipo boy at his side, walking along the same road toward the mission. The child had followed Sanso from Wissipo town, fording the river and running along the beach at his side, despite the warning of the devil-doctor the preceding day that a boy would be found dead in the river. Now, wanting to send a message up to his boy at the mission and no one else being available just then, Sanso sent on this child, watching him along the road until he rounded a small hill, when all the mission buildings came into full sight. The little lad walked on until he came to our small shepherd to whom he gave his message, turning back to town instead of coming on to the mission. The sheep moved just then, and our boy moved with them. When he turned his head once more the child had disappeared.

The Search.

"All that long, long night men were out with lanterns searching through the brush and the farms nearby. We watched the gleaming lights and listened to the voices, calling, calling, and our hearts ached to the breaking point at the thought of that little lad out somewhere alone in the darkness, while all the time a deadly suspicion gripped us with sickening fear.

"It is just before rice-cutting time, and it is native custom to dedicate the farm with a human sacrifice, the human blood and parts of the body being made into country medicine by the devil-doctor, said medicine being supposed to give the land power to bear large crops. The people at Nanah Kroo cut their rice farms every two years, and in this place within the past ten years, there have been five human sacrifices. It was now the twelfth year, before rice-cutting, and a child lost!

"Days passed, one palaver court after another being held, devil-doctors from far and near being consulted, conflicting decisions being rendered. One devil-doctor declared that the child lived and was being held prisoner in the dense bush back of King Naffir's town. Another affirmed that the boy was dead. A' third declared that the names of the witch people holding him were known to him and all their movements watched. We could do nothing but wait and pray. For a week the suspense remained unlifted while the judges 'sweated' the people, 'ate them up,' as the natives put it, in the fines imposed. As the lad had followed Sanso, they held him and forced him to pay an atonement for the loss of the boy, putting a second fine on him in a few days, followed closely by the third, though they acknowledged that he had nothing to do with the death of the child. Then the guilty ones were named, three Cabo men and a Cabo woman. One week from the day the boy was taken, the sasswood court was held and the four suspects made to drink the poison.

The Punishment.

"Now, sasswood is a deadly poison, most bitter to the taste, and it is administered in wholesale doses, quart after quart being poured into the victim until he is full up to the neck. While undergoing the test there are some things he is forbidden to do. He may wear no clothes whatever, he may not spit, nor wipe the sweat from his face, nor sit down, and he may not speak in a low voice. He must shout, else he is a witch. If he vomits the sasswood he is declared innocent and guns are fired in token of joy. But if the sasswood passes from his body through the intestines, he is judged guilty and is driven away. If he retains it and dies, he is guilty. If he retains it and lives, through some trickery in making the medicine, he is a witch man for true, his witch being more powerful than the witch in the sasswood, and he is driven away into an exile of at least seven years.

"Under the present test one died, and died quickly! An old man he was, very quiet at all times that we saw him, a regular attendant at our weekly church services in his town, a quaint figure in his long overcoat and high beaver hat, but a man trained in witchcraft from his boyhood and with a heart as black as pitch. After drinking the sasswood, he shouted: "I be Brofly. I killed the boy. I, Brofly, killed him. I was coming from my farm with a bundle of bamboo on my head. I caught the boy on the road and hid him in my farm. Then I killed him!" The words had barely left his lips when, with one convulsion, he fell to the ground dead—fell with a thud like the explosion of a cannon, his tongue hanging out like a dog.

Cannibalism and Witchcraft.

"But the most horrible feature of that witchcraft crime was the fact, developed that same day, that Brofly carried some of the flesh of that murdered boy into town, cooked it in palm oil and ate it with his rice as they eat fish or chicken and gave some of it to other men in quarter. This is witchcraft and savagery in its lowest form, practised within ten minutes' walk of the mission and under the weekly preaching of the Gospel!"

Mr. Williams also tells some of the bright things. Deeply attentive audiences overflowed the church during the week previous to Easter Sunday, and on that morning nineteen were baptized out of heathenism into Christianity and nine were received into full membership. On Easter Sunday the offering amounted in value to about $12.50, a large sum for these Kroo people to give at one time. Mr. Williams appeals for aid to secure necessities for the boys of the mission. He says: "Five friends (or group of friends) in America are providing food, shelter and shelter for five Kroo boys. Twelve other Kroo boys are left to us to keep out of our modest salary— and it takes at least $20 a year to feed and house and school a boy here. No funds are given us for clothing these boys. We greatly need strong overalls and shirts for boys from 6 to 18 years of age. In all Liberia, we cannot secure one copy of a Second Reader, and we have a class ready to promote into it."

THE JUSTICE OF THE PEACE AGREES WITH THE GOOD JUDGE

MAN, you are not alone in your desire for a clean, small chew that will give you tobacco satisfaction!

That's why men are glad to find "Right-Cut."

Then when they've got it, the natural thing to do is to tell a friend—so he can get the Real Tobacco Chew. Pure, rich tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

SAYS WORKINGMEN DO NOT GET JUSTICE

Job Harriman Testifies Before the Federal Commission.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 15.—Job Harriman, an attorney employed in the defense of the McNamara brothers, took the witness stand amid a storm of hisses and applause at the Federal industrial commission hearing here yesterday, and told why he thinks workingmen of Los Angeles have not obtained legal justice.

Chief among the assertions made by Harriman were these:

Employers forced the anti-picketing ordinance through the city council during a strike in 1910, and the citizens later were refused their right to vote it out of existence.

Local police are the tools of capital who frequently have perjured themselves to obtain convictions in cases involving labor troubles.

The jury system which permits only taxpayers to serve is rigidly enforced when strikes are on, making it difficult for workingmen to obtain justice. Court officials are on familiar terms with veniremen who are called.

The power of injunction has been used to hinder union men from using legitimate means, such as talking to non-union workers, to work their contentions

The Western tour of the commission will close today.

URGES NATIONAL MARKET SYSTEM

David Lublin Appears Before Congressional Commttee.

Washington, Sept. 15.—A national market commission, as a semi-official body to organize states, counties and localities for economic distribution of farm products to meet the high cost of living was advocated before the house agricultural committee by David Lublin, director of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. Mr. Lublin wanted the United States to adopt the system of handling farm products used in Germany, Austria and other countries.

Dr. Lublin urged the committee to accomplish rather than talk legislation. His proposition, embodied in a joint resolution by Representative Goodwin of Arkansas, is for presidential appointment of fifteen farmers and fourteen men eminent in commerce, law, finance and transportation, "with power to act insofar only as affecting individuals and organizations that shall elect to become a part of a national marketing system."

COMPTROLLER CALLS FOR BANK STATEMENT.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The comptroller of the currency has issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks of the United States at the close of business on Sept. 12.

Comptroller of the Currency Williams last night made public reports from national banks in Chicago and St. Louis in respect to changes in securities for loans and loans called since the European war began and the stock exchanges of the world's principal cities were closed. In neither city have the barks called any loans. The maximum interest rate charged by Chicago banks during the month of August was 7 per cent, and by St. Louis banks 8 per cent. In neither city have the banks required more than a 25 per cent margin on stock and bond issues.

THINK WOMAN SLEW DAUGHTER AND SELF

Glenns Falls, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Charles W. Newlino, 32 years old, said to have been a member of a wealthy Philadelphia family, and her 5-year-old daughter were found dead yesterday in a strip of woods near Elizabethtown, where Mrs. Newlin had a summer home.

The child had been strangled with a stocking and the mother met death in the same manner. The authorities believe that Mrs. Newlin killed her daughter and then ended her own life.

Had Been Ill.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Newlin, whose home was at Chadd's Ford, near here, was a member of one of the oldest families of Chester county. She was related by marriage to persons widely known throughout Delaware and Eastern Pennsylvania. Charles S. Newlin, her husband, is in the insurance business and is at present in Texas. She had been married nine years. The little girl was their only child.

Mrs. Newlin had been ill in the spring and went to the Adirondacks in the hope of regaining her health.

No sacrifice of any of the luxuries of the finest closed coaches has been necessary—electric dome and corner lights of every nicety of equipment is retained. COMMON PEOPLE IN ENGLAND HAVE NO ENTHUSIASM FOR WAR

P. H. Nelson, one of the most prominent mining men of Northern Minnesota, who returned yesterday from Norway and Sweden by way of London, Liverpool and Montreal, is of the opinion that the people of Great Britain are opposed to the war, that they do not favor the alliance with Russia, that the Scandinavians fear the Russian government and that the people of England are positive their government has promised Japan some concession for the assistance it is giving the Triple Entente in the present conflict.

"There seems to be no enthusiasm for war among the rank and file of the English people," said Mr. Nelson last evening. "Londoners are frightened out of their wits that the first foggy spell that envelopes the city will bring the dreaded Zeppelin and the destruction of the city. The big public buildings are covered with wire netting to offset the force of aerial bombs, while the very faces of the people on the street tell their story of fear.

"And the prevailing sentiment is that the big trade interests have forced this condition on them. They blame the government for it. On any street corner you can hear it said that the Germans are the natural allies of Great Britain because Germany is England's buffer against the Slav. They do not relish the Russian alliance, and especially do they fear that Japan's entrance into the argument will result in the loss of American friendliness.

Scandinavian Attitude.

"The popular feeling throughout the Scandinavian peninsula, as far as I could learn, is of friendship for Great Britain, but regret that she is mixed up in the present war. Norway and Sweden, while preserving strict neutrality, feel that the success of the British arms means also the success of the Russian arms, and that as a result Russia will become so arrogant that she will be restrained with difficulty at the end of this war from trespassing on the Scandinavian countries, precipitating another war.

"I sailed from Liverpool on the Virginian for Montreal. We displayed no lights during the entire trip, and the windows and port holes were covered with heavy canvas. We saw several warships during the first day out, but otherwise had a peaceable trip.

"The feeling in Montreal is not very warlike either. We saw plenty of soldiers there, but had got so accustomed to them that we thought nothing of it. The business people of Canada, however, seem to feel that the war is going to be a terrible blow to them.

"They feel that this is not a quarrel that interests them, and they are also especially distressed over the Japanese situation. They think that the English government has made some promise to the Japs in return for their assistance at this time in the East and Canada feels that it is the subject of that promise."

RECORD ELGIN PRICE FOR MILK DEMANDED.

Elgin, Ill., Sept. 15.—The highest price ever paid for milk in the Eighth district will be demanded today when the contract books open all over the district. The Milk Producers' association, an organization representing most of the big farmers, is demanding a flat rate of $2 per 100 pounds for the six winter months.

The European war, with its resulting increased demand for prepared milk, is urged as a reason for asking higher prices.

Larger and More Exhibits Are Expected This Year.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tomorrow morning the big Lake county fair will open its doors for what is expected will be the greatest display of Lake county products ever exhibited at any of the seven previous fairs held here and will continue for three days, ending Friday. The exceptionally liberal prizes offered by the society are expected to lure farmers and gardeners here with their products. Special effort has been made by the officers to greatly increase the live stock exhibits and they have reason to believe that their efforts will meet with much success. Additional room for live stock has been provided.

Many of the exhibits are being placed today although exhibitors have until tomorrow at 6 o'clock p. m. to have their exhibits entered. The sale of tickets has been brisk and if the weather conditions are as favorable as today a good attendance is assured.

Duluth Day Friday.

Friday will be Duluth day. A special train will leave the Union depot there at 1 o'clock p. m. This year, however, the officials of the fair expect to see a good crowd come up from Duluth.

The Two Harbors Marine band will furnish the music during the fair.

BUHL MEETING IS POSTPONED

Mining Companies and Village Officials to Confer Later.

Buhl, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of the mine officials and the council members that was to talk over and try to agree as to whether the additional $45,000 allowed for municipal improvements in Buhl should be added to the tax levy or charged against the abutting property, was postponed indefinitely. Mayor Doyle is out of the state on business and will not return for a week. It is not probable that any action will be taken until he returns.

ASTHMA AND HAY FEVER A GUARANTEED RELIEF

"I have arranged with all leading druggists that every sufferer from Asthma, Hay Fever, or Bronchial Asthma in this city can try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann announces. He says: "Buy a 50-cent package of my Asthmador, or Asthmador Cigarettes, try it, and if it does not afford you immediate relief, or if you do not find it the best remedy you have ever used, take it back to your druggist and he will return your money, cheerfully and without any question whatever. After seeing the grateful relief it has afforded in hundreds of cases, which had been considered incurable, and which had been given up in despair, I know what it will do. I am so sure that it will do the same with others that I am not afraid to guarantee it will relieve instantaneously. The druggists handling Asthmador will return your money if you say so. You are to be the sole judge and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying Asthmador."

If your druggist hasn't Asthmador, write direct to Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn.

WORKED FISHTRAP IN ST. LOUIS RIVER

Illegally Conducted Fishing Device Gets Its Maker Into Trouble.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—George E. Wood went to Keenan Sunday and arrested Ole Holmstein for netting in the St. Louis river. Holmstein pleaded guilty before Justice C. W. Hatch of Keenan and was fined $10 and costs. He paid the charges.

Holmstein had an ingenious dam made of heavy timbers across the river and a large fish trap set in the center. He would lift the trap with a gin pole or hoist and when he had made a catch would swing it onto the shore. Warden Wood destroyed the dam and brought the net and Holmstein back.

Caught All Fish.

With Holmstein's device it was impossible for a fish to pass up or down stream without getting caught in the trap.

Poachers are very numerous, according to Mr. Wood. Eleven arrests and eleven convictions have been made during the last week. The eleven were convicted before five courts in the county.

Warden Wood is appearing as a witness in a case before the district court at Duluth.

EVELETH ELECTION NOT VERY LIVELY

Few Developments During First Hours of the Voting.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although this city is having its first recall election today there appears to be very little interest up to noon beyond ordinary election gossip. The friends of Mayor Gleason and Commissioner Brince, who are targets of the recallers, are working to hold them in office and feel quite confident both will not be recalled.

Gleason and Brince are making their campaign largely on the cry that the mining companies and "big business" generally are after them because they wanted to do a lot of public work and give employment to idle men. Their enemies claim that Brince and Gleason are entirely too extravagant in their handling of public funds, are showing too much favoritism to certain cliques in filling positions and on the whole have proved their incompetency for the jobs. The polls will close at 9 p. m. and unless there is more voting this afternoon than this morning the vote cast will be below normal. A normal vote is liable not to be cast because many voters are away.

District Court Jury Says Alto Did Not Violate Law.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The defense of Matt Alto, an Aurora saloon keeper, that his prosecution on the charge of keeping his saloon open on Sunday was the result of a "frame-up" due to bad feeling between himself and a patron by the name of Koski, apparently won the jury, as the twelve men last night returned a verdict of not guilty. Mrs. Koski made the complaint, alleging her husband got enough liquor in the Alto saloon on Sunday to come home intoxicated.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

A Physician's Advice

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of malnutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by Boyce drug store and other good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution:—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

IMPORT GRAY SQUIRRELS

Virginia Park Board Ships in Animals for Olcott Park.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Park Supt. Philbrick has just received from Yardley, Pa., a consignment of gray squirrels which will in future have their home at Olcott park. As soon as they are domesticated they will be given their liberty at the park, where they promise to be a source of considerable amusement for juvenile visitors. The squirrels are tamed easily, and when properly protected against dogs and cats soon learn to feed from the hand and generally to enjoy themselves no matter how many people are about.

NO RUSSIANS ARE IN BELGIUM OR FRANCE

London Official Press Bureau Issues Denial of Reports.

London, Sept. 15.—The official press bureau issued last night a denial of the reports that Russian troops have been landed in Belgium.

"There is no truth whatever," says the press bureau, "in the rumors that Russian soldiers have landed or passed through Great Britain on their way to France or Belgium. The statements that Russian troops are on Belgian or French soil should be discredited."

BRITISH CABLE IS SEIZED BY GERMANS.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 15.—Definite news has reached Vancouver that the Germans have captured the Fanning island cable station. Whether the men who landed on the island on Monday, Sept. 7, were from the cruisers Nurnberg or Leipzig cannot be definitely ascertained. Communication was broken off so suddenly with the Bamfield (Vancouver island) end of the cable that the Fanning island operator was able only to send a message that armed men in uniform had landed and had entered the superintendent's office. Here the message stopped abruptly and the cable has been silent ever since.

Presumably the Germans immediately cut the cable at the shore end and took off the coal and supplies that are maintained on the island for the use of the cable operators. Whether they took the operators as prisoners of war is also unknown.

It is understood that the British admiralty is taking prompt steps to restore communication with Australia and New Zealand. Meanwhile business from Great Britain and elsewhere is being dispatched by the eastern route through Persia, India and by the transcontinental telegraph across Australia.

VIENNA NOT TOLD OF LOSSES BY AUSTRIA

Rising Cost of Living There Is Causing Alarm.

Milan, via London, Sept. 15.—The Vienna correspondent of the Corriere della Sera telegraphs that the censorship in Vienna is of such a rigorous character that all hints of Austrian losses are suppressed. The greatly increased cost of living, the correspondent adds, is beginning to cause alarm.

WASHINGTON HOPES TO SECURE PEACE.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Although no reply had been received last night from the German government to the inquiry of the United States concerning the attitude of the former toward peace in Europe, administration officials were hopeful that from the informal effort something tangible might soon develop.

That many influential German-Americans are working to bring about some exchange of peace terms has been admitted in official quarters. President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are keeping in close touch with all these efforts. The feeling prevails among administration officials that as the casualty list grows and the enormity of the struggle is brought home to the masses in each country, the movement for peace will correspondingly gain momentum.

ELEVEN SHIPS ARE GOVERNMENT RISKS.

Washington, Sept. 15.—War risk insurance, amounting to $3,222,000, has been written on eleven vessels by the Federal war risk insurance bureau. Applications for $3,000,000 more are pending.

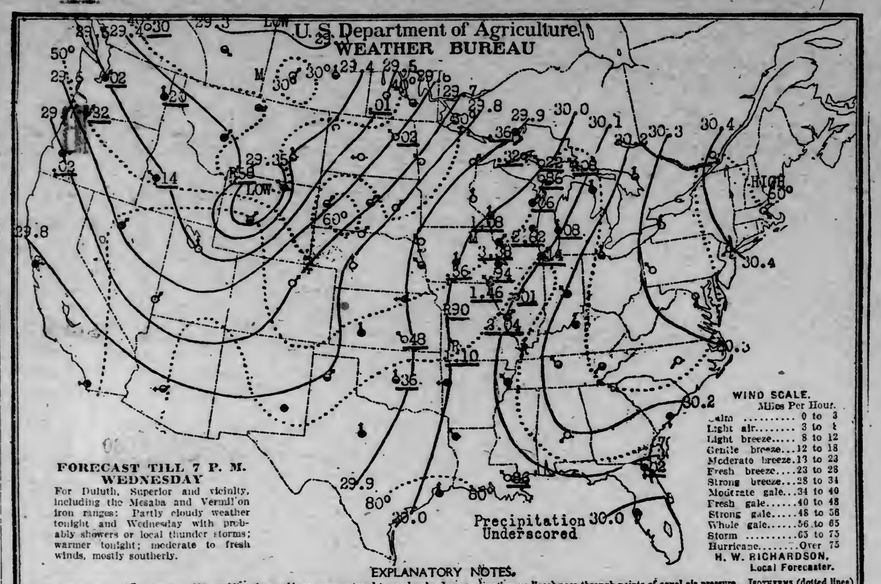

An Instantaneous Wrinkle Remover

The average woman is always surprised to learn, after experimenting with all sorts of patent so-called "wrinkle removers," that the most effective remedy in the world is a simple face wash which she can make herself at home in a jiffy.

She has only to get an ounce of pure powdered saxolite from her nearest druggist and dissolve it in half a pint of witch hazel. Apply this refreshing solution to the face every day for awhile. The result is charming—marvelous. Even after the very first treatment the wrinkles show less plainly and the face has a nice, firm, comfortable feeling that is thoroughly delightful and lends self-confidence in one's appearance. This harmless home remedy is used by thousands of women to obliterate the unwelcome traces of time.

TELLS HORROR OF ARMY ROUT

London Times Correspondent Sends Vivid Word Picture.

Masses of Corpses Packed Too Closely to Fall.

London, Sept. 15.—The Times' correspondent, from a point near Melun on Sunday, writes a vivid description of the rout and retreat of the Germans during a hurricane and torrents of rain which turned the roads into river ways so that the wheels of the artillery sank deep in the mire. He describes how the horses strained and struggled, often in vain, to drag the guns away, and continues:

"I have just spoken with a soldier who has returned wounded from the pursuit that will go down with the terrible retreat from Moscow as one of the crowning catastrophes of the world. They fled, he declares, as animals flee who are cornered and know it.

Miles and Miles of Horror.

"Imagine a roadway littered with guns, knapsacks, cartridge belts, maxims and heavy cannon, even. There were miles and miles of it—and the dead, those piles of horses and those stacks of men! I have seen it again and again, men shot so close to one another that they remained standing after death. The sight is terrible and horrible beyond words.

"The retreat rolls back and train load after train load of British and French are sent towards the weak points of the retreating host. This is the advantage of the battle ground which the allies have chosen. The network of railways is like a network of spider's web. As all railways center upon Paris, it is possible to thrust troops upon the foe at any point with almost incredible speed, and food and munitions are within arm's reach."

ANXIETY IS FELT IN OFFICIAL VIENNA

People Are Hopeful, But the Rulers Show Their Doubts.

Vienna, Sept. 14, via Paris, Sept. 15.—The news of Russia's increasingly victorious occupation of Eastern Galicia is exercising a depressing influence in Austro-Hungarian official circles and among the more intelligent classes of the monarchy, but up to the present time the mass of the people seem credulously willing to accept as satisfactory the meager official bulletins given out by the authorities. They welcome eagerly any report which seems half way encouraging.

Long Conference Held.

That anxiety is felt in higher circles, however, is manifested by the long audiences the ministers of the dual monarchy are holding constantly at Schoenbrunn with Emperor Francis Joseph. Last Saturday the emperor received Count von Berchtold, the minister of foreign affairs, both in the morning and afternoon; there have been also a number of conferences since last Friday with the minister of war and the Austrian and Hungarian premiers.

The newspapers of Vienna maintain an extraordinary reserve concerning the progress of the campaigns in Galicia and on the Servian frontier. Papers of Sunday, Sept. 13, barely mentioned the battle that is reported to have been raging around Lemberg for the past six days.

"We Stand Well."

A telegram received in Vienna from Budapest quotes the Hungarian minister of national defense as saying "We stand well. Our position everywhere is good; more than this I cannot say."

Official bulletins given out in Budapest are silent regarding the campaign against Servia.

NORTH DAKOTAN IS KILLED IN MINE.

Bowbells, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Olson, employed in the Farmers' mine, was instantly killed by a cave-in. He was at work alone in that part of the mine at the time and it is not known what caused the accident, unless it was due to an improper support.

Brief Fargo Court.

Forman, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The term of the district court here was a brief one. There were five criminal and sixteen civil actions, one or two of which were disposed of. The court was temporarily adjourned and unless some important actions arise it may be postponed till the next regular term in February.

NEURALGIC PAINS

Among the causes of neuralgia the most important is the general physical condition of the patient. Neuralgia is most common in persons reduced in strength by over-work or some form of over-exertion, physical or mental, or by loss of sleep. Anaemia, or lack of good, red blood is a common cause of neuralgia. The reason for this is plain. The nerves get their nourishment through the blood. When the blood is thin and weak the nerves are badly nourished, they become inflamed and neuralgic pains are produced. These pains have been described as "the cry of a starved nerve."

Hot applications to soothe these inflamed nerves and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and carry the needed elements to the nerves is the correct treatment and one that has brought good results in so many cases that it is no longer an experiment. Headache, backache, sleeplessness, nervous debility, nervous breakdown, St. Vitus' dance and the functional forms of partial paralysis show good results under the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Send today for the booklet on Nervous Disorders to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schnectady, N. Y. It is free.

ATTACK BILL TO BUY SHIPS

Seven Congressmen Sign Minority Report to the House.

Fear for Invested Private Capital and for Neutrality.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Declaring that the establishment of government-owned steamship lines is a direct attack upon invested capital and would mean the ultimate destruction of steamship lines which a deserving class of citizens have built up and maintained in the carrying trade of the United States, seven members of the committee on the merchant marine today introduced in the house a minority report on the merchant marine bill which was framed to meet conditions arising out of the European war.

The report is signed by five Republicans—Greene of Massachusetts, Heinz of Maine, Curry of California, Edmonds of Pennsylvania and Parker of New York; and two Democrats—Saunders of Virginia and Thacher of Massachusetts.

Tremble for Neutrality.

Possibly the most dangerous effect of the measure, the report declares, would be the result its enactment might have on the position of neutrality on the part of the United States in the war.

The bill, continues the report, would, if it became law, stifle all commercial enterprise and turn over to the government itself the power to create a merchant marine, which power could, it is asserted, be extended and enlarged as long as money remained in the treasury, and as much longer as congress should provide by taxation to replenish the treasury.

As to Buying Ships.

"The purchase of foreign steamships which are now used in the foreign trade," says the report, "would not increase the number of vessels now available for the over-seas trade, even if they were granted an American registry; and no evidence has been produced that there are not now more vessels available for use in the over-seas trade than could be used advantageously in transporting merchandise to the various markets of the world."

The signers of the report charge that the bill did not receive sufficient consideration at the hands of the committee, and that more extended hearings might have revealed some definite practicable system of action.

BERLIN ADMITS AUSTRIAN DEFEAT.

London, Sept. 15.—A dispatch to the Central News from Copenhagen says that a Berlin message received in Copenhagen admits that the chief Austrian army has suffered an absolute defeat, but claim it is retiring in good order.

"Gen. von Auffenburg's army," the correspondent continues, "is said to be in a dangerous position, being cut off from the main army. The Austrians had terrible losses."

NERVOUS MEN

Men That Suffer From Nervousness Restored to Normal Health and Strength.

Every normal and healthy man has a natural and abundant endowment of potential Energy, and electro-magnetic Nerve Power. Units of Nerve Energy are drawn from the blood and stored in the cellular substance of the Brain and the different Nerve Ganglia, for use in the performance of the involuntary function and voluntary actions of the Nerves.

In health these reservoirs of Vital Power are so abundant that the whole physical and mental being is filled and thrilled with the triumphant consciousness of power, of vitality. Such men possess personal magnetism, and unconsciously inspire those who come into social or business relations with them.

It's different with the man that suffers from ailments caused by weak, impoverished Nerves, the man that is "up in the air" from the least disturbance. Such men have little mastery or self-control, they "feel weak" and "run down," are "nervous" and have "lost ambition." If you suffer from frequent Headaches, loss of sleep and have spells of despondency, it probably means that your Nerves are starving for lack of energy, such as you derive from correct treatment with Organo-Therapy and Electro-Therapy. In the opinion and experience of the Progressive Medical Doctors there is nothing else that will equally restore suffering men so quickly to Health and Happiness.

We have made diseases of men our life study, and we have been eminently successful. The effect of the treatment is to cure those diseases and to restore men to the full enjoyment of nature's best gifts to the normal physical and mental conditions that characterize health.

Our offices are open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., at No. 1 West Superior street. All consultations are free.

DISHES BATHED TOO CARELESSLY

City Starts Campaign Against Saloons and Soda Fountains; Must Be More Sanitary, Says Dr. Webster.

When you drop into a soda fountain for a cooling, heating or stimulating drink or an iced dainty, you are not supposed to be served with any part of anything of which anyone else has left behind, particularly disease germs.

Such is the contention of Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, who announced today that the health department is preparing to launch a campaign to secure better sanitary conditions in the soda fountans and saloons of Duluth.

Dr. Webster states that frequent complaints have been made to the department that the glasses, dishes and other equipment of soda fountains and saloons are not properly cleansed. In some of them he explains that the same tub of water is used for washing the utensils which have been used to serve a large number of patrons. He declares that although this is not appetizing, the chief objection is that it constitutes a menace to public health, as disease germs can be readily transmitted through the medium of the common washing basin.

He states that one of the first reforms upon which the department will insist will be the use of running water for cleaning purposes. Other features of the soda fountains and saloons will be closely scrutinized and changes ordered where they are deemed necessary. The department will act under the general health laws of the state and the city. As now proposed the soda fountains will be checked up first, after which a thorough survey will be made of the refreshment parlors which specialize in intoxicants.

WAR WIPES RIVALS OUT

Buenos Aires Resident Tells of Uncle Sam's Opportunity.

Speaks Highly of Shuman's Work in South American Republic.

J. M. Johnson, a resident of Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic, is in the city today visiting the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. and telling its directors about the work that B. A. Shuman, secretary in Buenos Aires and formerly secretary here, is doing. Mr. Johnson is not engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in Argentina, but is much interested. He has been there a number of years in the employ of farming machinery companies, setting up the machinery. He originally came from Iowa. He is going back to Argentina, he says, and expects to remain there the rest of his life.

Mr. Johnson believes that the present European war has opened up to the United States the South American territory and that this country has an opportunity to get such a grip on business there that her heretofore almost invincible opponents, England and Germany, will never be able to recover it. Concerning this opportunity he said:

"I plan to return to Buenos Aires Dec. 1 and so am more than interested in the steps manufacturers and capitalists are taking in the United States to establish better trade and financial relations with Argentina. If the men of this country could only realize what vast opportunities there are in the South, they would bend every effort to taking care of the trade. The English have been the strongest financiers, while the Germans have been the best traders and settlers in Argentina. Both nations have realized fortunes in their relations and both are now so crippled by the war that there is a clear path for the United States. England has drawn her capital out as much as possible and German manufacturers and merchants have been absolutely cut off. Now is the time. South America will take more of our exports in many lines than all of Europe and the chance is right at our doors."

Mr. Shuman's Work.

As to the work that Mr. Shuman is doing, Mr. Johnson said that he is one of the chief interests for good in Buenos Aires and has done wonderful work for the English speaking people.

"Mr. Shuman," said Mr. Johnson this morning, "has been down there twelve years and now has a modern three-story building with a gymnasium and all up-to-date attachments. He has worked hard and has gradually received the support of not only Americans, who rallied to him first, but the English and Germans, French and Scandinavians and now he has Latin-American sections, college sections and other divisions which are being developed. He is a great worker not only in the Y. M. C. A., but in the Methodist denomination and is one of the leading men for good in the republic.

"Buenos Aires is the largest city in the republic—in fact is the only city in the republic. It has a population of just about 1,250,000. It has fine buildings and is so crowded that recently three tunnels have had to be constructed under the city to take care of the railways. Street railways are being put under ground in crowded sections; and, in short the city is going in strongly for modern improvements.

"I have just come back from a trip through Europe, going from the south to the north and then into Russia. I almost got caught by the war. My residence here and my knowledge of the soil in the old land convinces me that the greatest farm land in the world is in Argentina and that is why I am going back there to stay."

ASK CANDIDATES' SUFFRAGE VIEWS

Women Address Open Letters to Illinois Senatorship Nominees.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage association has issued an open letter to Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic candidate for United States senator from Illinois, inviting him to state his position on the subject as it will confront him if he is elected.

Similar letters, with slight differences in phraseology, were sent to Senator Sherman, the Republican candidate, Raymond Robbins, the Progressive candidate, and Adolph Gerner of Springfield, Socialist candidate.

The letters were signed by Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman, and other members of the committee.

DEGREE OF HONOR MEET AT BRAINERD

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Degree of Honor will hold a district convention in Brainerd Sept. 15. A large number of members from the Little Falls lodge are making plans to attend the convention.

Brainerd School Expenses.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is estimated to take $60,782 to run the schools of Brainerd this year. The salaries will be $41,455, fuel $2,700, repairs $2,800, supplies, $1,200, interest on bonds $3,775, improvements at Lincoln school $3,500, etc. The board will retire $10,000 of outstanding bonds.

MILK PRODUCERS ARE STANDING PAT

Insist on $2 Per 100 Pounds in Contracts at Elgin.

Elgin, Ill., Sept. 15.—When the campaign of milk buyers seeking winter contracts opened in this district today, producers and distributers were an average of 21 2-3 cents apart.

The farmers for the most part are members of the Milk Producers' association, which met recently in Chicago and determined to demand $2 a hundred pounds for milk. Today's canvass indicated that the majority of them were supporting this agreement.

The buyers offered contracts as follows:

October, $1.75; November, $1.85; December, $1.85; January, $1.85; February, $1.75; March, $1.65. This is an average of $1.78½, or 3 1-3 cents higher than last winter's average.

The producers are organizing a meeting to be held here to maintain a solid front for the prices which they claim are justified by the higher prices they have to pay for other commodities, and the heavy European demand for condensed milk occasioned by the war.

SAYS THE BELGIANS FLED LIKE LEAVES

London, Sept. 15.—Describing the flight of the Belgians during the German advance, a correspondent of the Associated Press who recently arrived here from Belgium says that the refugees scattered like autumn leaves before the wind. Unaware of the maneuvers of the opposing forces, some fled directly toward the scenes of the engagements. Others whirled aimlessly in circles. Many traveled in dilapitated wagons drawn by horses too old or otherwise unfit, for military service. A great majority, however, walked, discarding after a little even their hand bags. As a rule they wore their best clothes as fresh linen and creaking boots revealed. They appeared to treat their escape as a ceremony that demanded the best showing possible.

House Wrecked By Shells.

At Nivelles there was encountered a man who had walked all the way from Charleroi in one day, carrying a small son on his shoulder. When the trouble began, he hid with his boy in the cellar of his home. The house proved to be in the path of the artillery fire and finally the upper part of the building was destroyed by a shell. He scrambled out of the ruins uninjured, only to fall into the hands of German soldiers. They treated him well except that he was forced to march with other hostages beside the horse to prevent sniping at the troops by Belgian civilians.

A Catholic priest holding a cross in his trembling hands was compelled to head a procession as another precaution of the Germans against attack by the inhabitants of the town.

Two Montana Conventions.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 15.—Democrats and Progressives held their state conventions here yesterday under the state's new primary act. The Progressive platform indorsed equal suffrage, workmen's compensation and a commission form of government for counties. The Democratic platform left its candidates free to act as they deem best.

SWEAR VENGEANCE IN POLICE STATION

Chicago Couple Make Dramatic Scene in Kidnaping Case.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Ralph Capone and his wife, after complaining to the police today that their 5-year-old daughter, Philhomena, was kidnaped yesterday, knelt on the floor of the Maxwell street police station and swore to take the lives of the parents of Rose Beforea, an 11-year-old Italian girl who said a man had given her 25 cents to lure Philhomena from her home.

Capone's arms were folded over his breast. He made the sign of the cross repeatedly. Mrs. Capone's arms were clasped about her baby. The oath was made first in Italian, and then repeated in broken English so that the police would understand.

Wife Fainted at Gesture.

When the couple resumed a standing position Capone drew his hand across his throat, muttering something in Italian, at which his wife, the baby still in her arms, fainted and fell to the floor. Mrs. Beforea, mother of Rose, was present. She turned pale and swayed giddily, but recovered.

Capone's troubles began several months ago when his young son accidentally killed a playmate. Anonymous threatening letters followed, and Capone said the kidnaping was the result. Rose Beforea said the man who gave her the coin took Philhomena onto the Twelfth street viaduct and disappeared.

GRAND MASTER VISITS LODGE

Denfeld Installs Warren E. Greene as Grand Orator.

Robert E. Denfeld, grand master of Masons in Minnesota, made an official visitation to Ionic lodge, No. 186, A. F. & A. M. last evening at the Masonic temple. The occasion was celebrated with an appropriate program of speeches and music. Grand Master Denfeld is a past master of Ionic lodge.

During the evening, Warren E. Greene, a past master of Ionic lodge, was installed by Grand Master Denfeld in the station of grand orator of Minnesota Masons. Mr. Greene will deliver the annual oration at the grand lodge session at St. Paul next January.

During the evening Grand Master Denfeld gave an address on Masonry and the principles it stands for. Past Grand Master W. A. McGonagle gave a talk on the proposed Masonic home for Minnesota and urged the members of the fraternity to lend their support to the movement. Grand Orator Greene also made a few remarks. Edward Armstrong, worshipful master of Ionic lodge introduced the speakers.

Mrs. Alphin Flaaten rendered two vocal solos and Mrs. Tom Miller was heard in two violin selections. Both were well received. Their accompanists were Miss Violet Flaaten and Miss Ruby May Grause. After the program of music and speeches, the members adjourned to the banquet hall where a buffet luncheon was served.

About 125 Masons were present.

FLOUR CHEAPER AS WHEAT DROPS

Reduction of Fifty Cents a Barrel in Six Days.

As compared with a week ago, flour prices are off to the extent of 50 cents a barrel. This has come about as the result of a reduction of more than 14 cents in wheat quotations during the six days.

Standard patent flour is today selling wholesale at from $5.80 to $6 a barrel as against a top figure of $6.40 set since the European war started. That was the highest figure recorded in more than fifteen years, and was an advance of $2.25 a barrel over the quotation prevailing in July.

Both of the Duluth milling establishments have been busy during the last few weeks, and they found export trade a considerable factor. Said an official of the Duluth-Superior Milling company today: "We are getting good foreign demand right along, and have been able to work a nice volume of business both for immediate and at sixty days' delivery. We have booked some Liverpool and Copenhagen orders this week."

Baggage Hearing Postponed.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hearing on the excess baggage rate complaint, which was scheduled to come on before the state railroad commission today, has been postponed till Oct. 1, as the traveling men, who are fighting for lower baggage rates, and the railroads opposing asked for the postponement.

SERVIANS TELL OF MARKED SUCCESSES

Say They Inflicted Casualties of 10,000 on the Austrians.

Nish, Servia, Sept. 11, (delayed in transmission)—A great battle was fought Sept. 8 and 9 on the whole of the northwestern frontier of Servia. The Austrians who were trying to invade the country at different points were everywhere repulsed and suffered heavy casualties. It is estimated that they lost more than 10,000 men dead or wounded. The military authorities consider the victory a decisive one.

The success of the Servian army is said to have been due to the precise artillery fire and the quick maneuvering of the Servians, and especially to their brilliant bayonet charges.

In Northern Servia the offensive by the Servians is said to be progressing successfully.

WANTS MINOT'S PROBE INTO POLICE CONTINUED

Minot, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Not satisfied with the resignation of Chief of Police Ed Robinson, and his demotion to a patrolman's job, H. C. Rudd, president of the city commission, demands the completion of the inquiry that was conducted into Robinson's actions as police chief.

SHARP BULGE AT THE CLOSE

Market Turns Strong With Good Buying on Fair - Export Inquiry.

Flaxseed Declines on Some Liquidation and Light Crushers' Inquiry.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 15—The market bulged sharply at the close on buying attributed largely to short covering. September wheat closed 3⅛c up and December 3c up. September durum closed ¾c up, October ½c up, November unchanged and December 1½c up.

Oats closed 3c up at 45½c for on the track. Rye closed at 86@87c. There was no market in barley.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ⅞c off at 46⅛c bid, and December ⅞c at 45⅝c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis, December wheat closed at $1.06 bid, and calls at $1.13.

The wheat market was a nervous proposition today. After a nervous opening following good inquiry and buying after yesterday's severe break, during which advances extending up to 2¼c were recorded, an easier feeling set in, and the early bulge was largely lost at the noon hour. The large receipts and pressure of marketings in the Southwest exerted a bearish influence, as did also rumors of a severe reverse sustained by the German army.

Inspections at Duluth, Minneapolis and Winnipeg, aggregated 2,691 cars against 1864 last year, an increase of 827 cars. Wheat inspections here were 408 cars against 570 a year ago. At Minneapolis they came to 899 cars against 366, and at Winnipeg 1,294 cars compared with 928 a year ago. Arrivals here were heavy, there being 1,100 cars of all grades on the track for the day.

Further heavy export sales of wheat and oats were reported at Chicago, and at the seaboard, with all the leading European countries outside of Germany and Austria in the market for supplies.

There was an easier tendency at Liverpool in line with yesterday's break in America, and liberal Canadian offers. Paris closed 1½c lower.

Duluth grain men say that there is a growing inclination on the part of farmers in the Northwest to take advantage of the present high prices to market a portion of their crop. It is thought, however, that a considerable proportion will still remain in growers' hands after the close of navigation.

September wheat opened ⅝c up at $1.05½ and after selling 1⅞c higher, the market eased off to $1.05⅝ at the closing hour. December opened ½c up at $1.06½, sold up 1¾c and then receded to the opening figure. September durum opened 1½c up at $1.00¼, and declined 2¾c. October opened unchanged at $1.00, and weakened ¼c. November opened 1c off at $1, and gained 1c. December opened unchanged at $1.01 and stood at that figure at the final hour after selling 1¾c higher.

Flaxseed Turns Weak.

Flaxseed turned weak today with considerable selling pressure. Crushers picked up seed on the recessions, and a fair volume was of trading put through during the session. Quotations at the close showed declines of 1½@2½c in the day.

September flax opened 2c off at $1.52 and closed 2c off at $1.52 bid. October opened unchanged at $1.55½ and closed 1½c off at $1.54. November opened 1c off at $1.57 and closed 1½c off at $1.56½ asked. December opened unchanged at $1.59½ and closed 2½c off at 21.57.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed ½c off at $1.32¾. November closed at $1.34½ and December at $1.36 asked.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Weakness in America and Winnipeg yesterday and continued heavy receipts with an increase in the visible stimulated a lower opening here and values were 1d to 1½d lower. Following the opening there was an advance of ½d to ¾d. Spot market was weak, cargoes being freely offered at shilling decline, and free overnight Canadian offers helped the decline.

"Corn is heavy with continued free Plate offers and shipments yesterday from the Danube. It is expected that shipments from this center will continue and later be liberal. There is a noticeable improvement in the demand on the recent break in foreign values."

Baker had the following from Chicago: "Last month Lecount advised us that the tendency was very strong among the winter wheat farmers to hold their grain for higher prices. We have received the following communication from him this morning from Bradley, S. D., which shows that the spring wheat farmers are inclined also to hold their grain:

"There is a very strong disposition among the farmers to hold their grain for higher prices. They all think we will see much higher prices next June."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Decided Rally Takes Place in the Price of Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Belief that selling had been gratly overdone and that the end of the war most likely was yet a long way off, led to a decided rally today in the price of wheat. Liverpool quotations did not reflect American optimism regarding the outlook for peace. On the contrary, foreign orders were received here to buy. After opening 1-2 to 2c higher, the market reacted a little and then rose as much as 3 1-4c net, May touching $1.15 as against $1.11 3-4 last night.

Subsequetly, reports of fresh defeats of the Germans in France brought about a radical setback in prices. The market went lower than at any time yesterday, but again recovered, helped by news of a German victory over the Russians. The close was strong, 2⅜@2⅞c above last night.

Corn ascended with wheat and as a result of a bullish estimate of the Iowa crop. Shorts were conspicuous buyers. The opening, which ranged a shade lower to 1-2c advance, was followed by an all around gain of more than a cent.

Later the revival of peace talk brought about a decided down turn but the effect failed to last. The close was firm at 1⅛@⅝c net advance.

Active export demand lifted oats.

At one time the December option showed a jump of 2 cents.

Grain strength carried provisions higher. Offerings were light.

Summary of weather and crop conditions in the corn and wheat region for the week ending Sept. 14, 1914.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—Cool, cloudy weather retarded the maturing of late corn in northern and some eastern portions of the belt, but in most sections the greater part of the crop is now matured. In central and southern sections cutting is progressing satisfactorily.

In the winter wheat belt the soil continues generally in excellent condition; preparing ground and seeding is progressing rapidly. Early sown wheat is up in some western portions.

Pastures, ranges and late truck generally in good condition.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

†—Highest yesterday, lowest last night.
‡—Not included in the averages.

NOTE—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received and the average precipitations from the number of stations reporting 0.10 or more.

INVESTMENT INTEREST IN MINING STOCKS

Further good inquiry in Duluth curb mining stocks was reported again today and a substantial volume of business was put through. Liberal sales were reported of Keating, Alex Scott, Calumet & Corbin and Savanna.

Investment interest was noted in Butte & Superior, and it is understood that sales of a couple of blocks were made locally around $30.

The Cuyuna range iron stocks, especially those carrying manganese ores, are said to be coming in for better inquiry.

A dispatch from Butte says that General Manager John D. Pope of the North Butte Copper company announced last night that operations would be resumed either Wednesday night or Thursday morning, when 500 men would start to work at the mine. The normal force of the North Butte is between 800 and 1,000 men. The North Butte has been suspended three weeks, during which time the Speculator shaft has been repaired. A general improvement in conditions is noticed in the Butte camp, Anaconda shipments to the Washoe smelter being slightly increased.

FRENCH BRIER PIPE INDUSTRY.

Consul General Frank H. Mason, Paris: The brier pipe industry of France is, for all practical purposes of investigation, centered in the small town of St. Claude, in the department of the Jura, where not only pipes but cigarette and cigar holders and other kindred necessities of the smoking world are manufactured. So important is the industry at this particular place that all wholesale Paris dealers in smokers' necessities advertise as selling "articles de St. Claude."

The principal sources of supply from which French manufacturers obtain the brier roots are, in order of importance Cicily, Calabria, Corsica, and, of late years, Algeria. A small quantity is also obtained from the French departments of the Var, Pyrenees Orientales, and the Alpes Maritimes.

These roots, fashioned into rough blocks containing sufficient wood to make one or more pipes, are sold at 77 cents to $7.72 per gross of 12 dozen. The price varies according to the actual demand and the quality of the roots. These blocks are known as ebauchions, or rough shapes.

In the process of transforming the rough root into the finished article there are about 12 steps, but these may be divided into four principal operations, as follows: Ebauchage, or shaping down; rapage, or scraping; polissage, or polishing; montage, or mounting (with metallic band and mouthpiece). Men are employed for these processes, with the exception of polishing; the wages vary from 77 cents to $2.89 per day, the highest salary being earned by very skillful mounters and sculptors. The polishing, carried out by women, is paid for at the rate of 77 cents to $1.15 per day.

The annual production in France is estimated at $1,930,000 to $2,316,000, representing about 15,000,000 pipes. Of these not more than $193,000 worth, or about 2,000,000 pipes, are "unfinished," and are for export. It is said that a large proportion of the so-called "English" pipes are entirely manufactured at St. Claude and are exported ready for sale. This statement also applies to most of the French "manufacturers," who place their orders for pipes, ready branded in their name, with St. Claude factories. Considerable secrecy is observed because of the many attempts that have been made to get inside information and to induce French workmen to go abroad with the promise of extremely high wages.

The average wholesale price of a pipe sold retail at 48 cents is $2.31 per dozen, and this may be taken as a basis for estimating the wholesale price of both the more expensive and the cheaper varieties.

In the French customs statistics brier and other wooden pipes are classed together as "wooden pipes." The exports of wooden pipes in 1911 were as follows: Mounted with ivory, etc., 966 pounds; not mounted, 1,961,080 pounds. The imports of mounted wooden pipes totaled 717 pounds, and the imports of unmounted wooden pipes reached 37,840 pounds.

TO CLEAR COFFEE.

Baltimore American: It is rather expensive to use an egg every morning to settle your coffee, as a great many do, and it is not clear and free from grounds if you boil it.

Put your coffee in the coffee pot, pour boiling water in and set where it will be hot, but not boil. If you have your coffee ground fine you will get better flavor and it will be ready in about ten minutes; if ground coarse, allow about twenty minutes.

SECOND GREAT BATTLE IN NORTHERN FRANCE FOR SUPREMACY IN PROGRESS

RUSSIANS HOT AFTER AUSTRIANS

Certain of Their Troops Said to Have Been Annihilated.

Forces of the Czar Have Already Passed River San.

Eastern Russian Advance Guard Is Approaching Przemysl.

Petrograd, Sept. 16.—The following summary of the recent fighting in Galicia, from the Russian point of view, has been made public in Petrograd through semi-official channels:

"Russian troops are pursuing the Austrians with energy and the defeat of the enemy continues. Certain Austrian army corps have been virtually annihilated. Russian forces have passed the River San.

"The Eastern Russian advance guard is approaching Przemysl. The rapidity with which military operations are being conducted has made it impossible to determine accurately the losses of the enemy, but it may be said that they are becoming colossal. According to such information as has come to hand, the Austrians have lost in the neighborhood of 250,000 men in killed and wounded, this in addition to 100,000 prisoners, 400 pieces of ordnance, and a number of standards. In all directions the roads are crowded with artillery, transport wagons and arms and ammunition, which have been abandoned in masses during the precipitate retreat of the enemy.

DEFEAT SERVIANS ALONG ENTIRE LINE

Austrians Report Szerem and Banat Clear of the Enemy.

Vienna, Sept. 16, via London, Sept. 16, 12:44 p. m.—Gen. Hoefer, deputy chief of the Austrian general staff, announced today that the Servian army which crossed the River Save into Hungary, had been defeated along its entire line and that Szerem, in Slavonia, and Banat were now clear of the enemy.

Szerem is the easternmost county of Slavonia, between the Danube and the Drave and Banat is a region of Southern Hungary, the chief town of which is Temesvar. Both sections are north of the River Save and would be the scene of a Servian advance into Hungary.

IS A MISTAKE, SAYS CARDEN

Former British Minister to Mexico Criticizes Withdrawal of Troops.

Says There Will Be No Protection for People at Vera Cruz.

New York, Sept. 16.—Sir Lionel Carden, one time British minister to Mexican and recently appointed minister to Brazil, sailing today on the Celtic for Liverpool, is quoted by the New York City News association, as having made the following statement concerning the withdrawal of American troops from Vera Cruz.

It is a desperate shame that the United States has seen fit to abandon the decent people of Mexico when they most need help. I do not know the reason for this but it would seem that President Wilson has been misinformed in some matters and that if another side of the situation has been brought to his attention he has not seen fit to listen to anything that contradicts those who have told him that the country has been pacified.

"The people who did not get protection in Mexico City and elsewhere went to Vera Cruz for protection. What will they do now? They have no means of getting away and will be left to the mercy of the lawless ele-

SITUATION ON WEST FRONT "FAVORABLE," SAYS GERMAN STAFF

Denies the Allies Have Won a Victory at Any Point.

Tells People They Can Look With Confidence on Outcome.

Reassuring Statements Are Issued to Allay Anxiety of the People.

Berlin, via Copenhagen, via London, Sept. 16, 8:15 a. m.—The German general staff announces that the situation on the west front is still "favorable."

It declares that the French and English have at no place, on the whole battle front, won a victory, and that the Germans can look with confidence to the outcome.

Other than this no news is obtainable regarding the progress of operations.

The public has been showing signs of impatience because of the absence of news from the front and this has led headquarters to depart from its

WELL-KNOWN AUTHORITY ON ATHLETIC GAMES IS DEAD

JAMES E. SULLIVAN.

New York, Sept. 16.—James E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic union, and American Olympic commissioner in recent Olympic games, died here today.

Mr. Sullivan was operated on at a local hospital on Monday for intestinal trouble and never rallied. He returned from the A. A. U. track and field championship games held in Baltimore on Sunday and was stricken late that night with the illness which resulted in his death.

James E. Sullivan, who was noted throughout the world as an authority on amateur track and field athletics, was born in New York City in 1860. In his youth he was a famous athlete, having won American championships in all-round, running, jumping and boxing competitions. After completing his education in the public schools of this city he entered the publishing business and eventually rose to the presidency of the largest sports publishing concern in the United States. After his active athletic days were over he held various offices in the Amateur Athletic union of the United States of which he was one of the founders.

WELL KNOWN BOER GENERAL IS KILLED

Jacobus Hendrick De La Rey Accidentally Shot Near Johannesburg.

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, via London, Sept. 16, 12:52 p. m.—General Jacobus Hendrick De La Rey, the well-known Boer general, has been accidentally shot dead near Johannesburg.

Gen. De La Rey was born in 1848. He was a member of the first Volksraad of the Transvaal, and commanded the Lichtenburg burghers during the Boer war, during which he won a high reputation as a military leader. After the war he went to England with Gen. De Wet and Gen. Botha and took an important part in the peace negotiations.

TO SOON PASS REVENUE BILL

Democrats of Ways and Means Committee Have Reframed Measure.

Action of Caucus in Eliminating Freight Tax Clears Way.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Democrats of the house ways and means committee today began the preparation of a new war revenue bill with the proposed tax on freight transportation eliminated and designed to bring into the treasury $105,000,000. This was by party caucus direction and with the approval of President Wilson.

The action of the caucus, which was enthusiastic throughout, in abandoning the proposed freight tax, it was believed today, assured early congressional action on the bill. Decision to eliminate the freight tax in the new bill was reached because of antagonism within the Democratic party, and President Wilson's announcement that he would not insist upon the plan.

What Will Be Taxed.

The bill as reframed today will tax banks with capital and surplus not exceeding $25,000, $50 a year and $2 for each additional $1,000; stock brok-

RETREAT OF ARMY STUNS BERLINERS.

London, Sept. 16, 8:45 a. m.—A Bordeaux dispatch to the Central News says:

"According to Berlin telegrams, the newspapers there testify to the stupefaction of the German people on learning of the retreat of the armies which were believed to be under the walls of Paris. The papers endeavor to explain the retreat as strategic, adding that the final result must be awaited.

"The German public is also said to be impressed by the news of the disasters which have overtaken the Austrians in Galicia."

REOCCUPIED BY THE FRENCH FORCES

AMIENS, FRANCE.

This beautiful French city, which was in the possession of the Germans, has been re-entered by the forces of the Republic.

GREAT ARMIES ARE NOW TAKING BREATH

Another Big Battle Likely Before the End of Week.

London, Sept. 16.—"Both armies are now taking breath," says the Daily Mail's Bordeaux correspondent. "If the Germans are able to take a strong position north of the river Aisne another battle is likely at the end of the week. Nevertheless, they may intend to draw off their troops through the town of Stenay, eight miles west of Montmedy, or by the Meuse valley into Luxemburg.

"Masses of every kind of material are being abandoned by the Germans, pointing to the continuance of their retirement. The French are bringing up reinforcements in large numbers."

KAISER TO ASSUME CHIEF COMMAND

Report Says Emperor Will at Once Proceed to East Prussia.

Paris, via London, Sept. 16, 10:22 a. m.—The Petit Journal prints a telegram from Berlin via Copenhagen stating that the German emperor will proceed to East Prussia and assume chief command against the Russians.

Occupied By Jap Scouts.

Tokio, Sept. 16.—The railway station at Kiao Chow, five miles from the bay of that name and opposite Tsing Tau, the German fortified port, was occupied on Sept. 13 by Japanese scouts, according to an official announcement made today.

WHOLE STRENGTH OF ALLIES INTO PLAY

Purpose Is to Dislodge Germans, Who Are Believed to Be Suffering From Exhaustion.

German Rush Into France and Back Thus Far Has Brought No Definite Result.

Paris, Sept. 16, 4:56 p. m.—The German armies who failed, according to French judgment, to pierce a road for their retreat by way of the frontier toward Metz, apparently have decided to fight another great battle for supremacy in the territory northeast of Paris.

They have taken up a line almost as extensive as that of the battle of the Marne, and for the last two days there has been in progress a desperate struggle in which the entire German force that made the rapid advance on Paris has been engaged.

AIM TO DISLODGE GERMANS.

The allied troops, strengthened by new arrivals, also are bringing their whole strength into play. Their purpose is to dislodge the Germans, who in some quarters are believed to be suffering from exhaustion due to their long continued marches and counter-marches, coupled with incessant and fierce encounters between their flank and their rear guard, as they retired, and the advance guards of the allies.

The position occupied by the Germans for the second extended engagement, especially at the western end of their line, appear to be suited naturally for the combat, which, according to French military critcs will have a far-reaching influence on the future progress of the war. The Germans are stationed on a great plateau of undulating country, interspersed here and there with wooded heights.

NO DECISIVE RESULT.

The German rush into France and back thus far has brought no decisive result and until a pitched battle on a huge scale is fought and won, neither side is in a position to claim that it has secured more than the opening advantage in the war game.

The allies, for the moment, have retrieved their perilous position and have turned the tables on the invaders, but the next move is with the Germans whose armies are still in great force on a ground more or less selected by themselves.

The debacle—for it seems nothing less—in the Austrian armies, means that Germany will have more and more to rely mainly upon herself; hence there will be a greater interdependence of events in the eastern and western field of operations.

What new forces Germany can put into the campaign in the western area must henceforth depend in a great measure upon how far she can neglect the Russian movement on Breslau, the capital of the Prussian province of Silesia, 190 miles southeast of Berlin.

Kaiser to Command.

According to reports today, Emperor William himself has gone to East Prussia to take chief command of the German armies opposing the Russian invaders. He may have gone there, but little credit is attached to the assertion that he proposes to take the active command out of the hands of a fighting general of the caliber of von Hindenberg.

There is the usual diversity of stories today regarding the Austro-Servian operations. The Austrian general staff claims to have driven the Serbs out of the province of Banat and from the eastern district of Slavonia.

The Servians, however, heretofore have shown a marked capacity for reappearing in the same or better positions after these defeats. They now claim they are bombarding the Hungarian town of Orzova.

The war indemnities demanded by the German troops in towns traversed in Belgium and France reach a total of $144,300,000. Only a very small part of this sum, however, has been paid.

Center of Interest Shifts.

London, Sept. 16, 10:20 a. m.—The center of interest in the western theater of the war has shifted from the right wing of the German army under

WIRELESS STATION OUT OF COMMISSION

Tuckerton, N. J., Sept. 16.—The big wireless station here, one of the two plants in the United States in direct touch with Germany, was closed today.

Lieut. Felix X. Gygax, U. S. N., in charge of the station, said later that one of the generators of the plant had burned out last midnight. He said there was no evidence of any tampering with the machinery.

The station is out of operation for an indefinite period, Lieut. Gygax said, as the extent of the repairs to be made has not yet been determined. It may take a week or more to get the machinery in condition to operate the wireless.

There was a large amount of private and government business on hand to be flashed across the Atlantic when the breakdown occurred.

Lieut. Gygax said that it might be possible to reopen the plant within a week only in case the necessary material to repair the break could be obtained in the United States. The equipment was manufactured in Germany. If the material cannot be obtained here, it may be six months before the plant can resume operations.

GERMAN COMMENT ON WAR REPORTS

Berlin, via Rotterdam and London, Sept. 16, 3:05 p. m.—A military critic in a Berlin paper says:

"We must accept the news from French sources concerning the retreat of the Germans with Dutch calmness and not imagine that the French already are before Berlin. If the French pursue the Germans with the same haste as they were pursued by the Germans they will get into the same difficult position in which the Germans were.

"The French, however, have an advantage in the support of the Belgian army, but even if the Germans were beaten back over their own borders, the aspect of the situation would be no better for the French than it was at the beginning of the war."

SUMMARY OF WAR REPORTS

An official French statement issued in Paris at 3 o'clock this afternoon stated that the German army was fighting a defensive battle along its front from Noyon, a town on the Oise river, fourteen miles northeast of Compiegne, to a point north of Verdun.

This would indicate a battle front of approximately 110 miles, with the extreme west at a point fifty-five miles northeast of Paris.

The German general staff announced early today that the situation on the west front was still favorable. It was added that the allies have not won a victory at any point on the whole battle front and that the Germans could look with confidence to the outcome.

A report that the German emperor will go to the scene of operations in East Prussia credited to the Berlin correspondent, is published in Paris.

An official statement issued in Vienna declares that the Servian invaders of Hungary have been defeated along the whole line.

Demonstrators against Italy's attitude of neutrality were suppressed by the military in Rome last night.

According to advices received in Rome, probably from Austrian sources, two Austrian armies in Galicia have effected a juncture at Rzeszow, thirty-two miles north of Przemysl.

It is announced at Tokio that Japanese scouts have occupied the railway station five miles from the bay of Kiao-Chow.

MUZZLE OF GUN CLOSE TO HEAD OF JOHN M'ALPINE

Not More Than Quarter of Inch Away Is Experts' Testimony.

Opinion Based on Many Experiments in University Laboratory.

The muzzle of the gun from which was fired the shot that killed John McAlpine, the manner of whose death has been a mystery ever since the well known lumberman's body was found in the basement of his East end home, just before daybreak on the morning of Aug. 15, 1913, was either placed in close contact with his scalp or less than one-quarter of an inch away from it, according to expert testimony given by Dr. A. A. Law of Minneapolis in district court this morning. The witness was put on the stand by attorneys for the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York, defendant in a $50,000 suit for accident insurance brought by the widow and which has been on trial for the past week before Judge Cant and a jury.

"In my opinion, the muzzle of the gun with which Mr. McAlpine was shot was either placed in contact with the scalp or less than a quarter of an inch away from it," Dr. Law testified. This opinion, he said, was based on the description of the effect which the bullet wound made on the scalp and skull of Mr. McAlpine as testified to by the physicians who performed the autopsy and a series of tests and experiments conducted by the witness this summer at the anatomical laboratory of the state university, where he is employed as associate professor of surgery.

The Gray Smudge.

Dr. J. J. McAuliffe, deputy county coroner, Dr. F. J. Patton and Dr. E. N. McGiffert, witnesses called earlier in the trial of the case, testified that when they performed an autopsy over Mr. McAlpine's body, they observed among other things a gray smudge or stain covering an area of about one and one-half inches in diameter on the scalp around the wound caused by the entrance of the bullet into the skull. The density of the discoloration was greatest around the bullet hole and gradually faded in receding from it. All of the physicians testified that the smudge or stain could not be rubbed off.

Dr. Law was in the courtroom while the testimony of the physicians who performed the autopsy over the McAlpine body was given. After hearing this testimony and having in mind the results of experiments of the effect of a gunshot wound on the human body, which were conducted by himself this summer, expressed it as his opinion that Mr. McAlpine was shot at very close range if not with the gun pressed to his head.

His Experiments.

The witness testified in detail as to how the experiments were conducted. Human corpses were used as subjects and a 38-caliber Colt revolver such as was found in the McAlpine basement and the same kind of smokeless powder cartridges were also employed he said in making the tests. Tests were made with the gun held close against the scalp and discharged, and it was also fired from the following distances away from it: 1-32 inch, ¼ inch, ½ inch, 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 12 inches. Observations as to the nature of the wound and the kind of a strain it made on the head and body of the subject fired upon were made. Photographs which were taken at the time were introduced in evidence and explained by the witness.

Dr. Law testified that in the experiment where the gun was placed in close contact with the skull of the subject, the hair had not been burned and the smudge or powder stain in the immediate vicinity of the wound was about an inch and one-half to an inch and three-quarters in diameter. The smudge or discoloration diminished in density as the wounds were inflicted at distances receding from the skull. At a distance of four inches, the smudge or stain was larger in area but considerably fainter. At six inches away, he stated, the smudge was extremely faint and could be discerned only when the hair from the scalp had been shaved off. At a distance of one foot from the object, the skin showed no discoloration he testified. The smudge, the doctor stated, could be rubbed off in cases where the wound was inflicted at distances ranging from four to eight inches, but he did not succeed, he said, in rubbing off any discoloration or smudge from the wounds inflicted at distances less than four inches from the muzzle of the gun.

Qualifies as Expert.

Dr. Law in qualifying himself as an expert witness on the subject testifed that he was affiliated with numerous medical societies and that he was for several months a surgeon in the Thirteenth Minnesota regiment in the Philippines, where he had frequent opportunities to observe the effect of bullet wounds on the human body. The witness also testified that he had written articles on the subject for magazines. Dr. Law's examination had not concluded when the noon adjournment of court was taken today.

Only two other witnesses took the stand this morning. They were John Hovers, a coachman formerly employed by Mr. McAlpine, and Thomas Monahan, general agent for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company in this city. Mr. Hovers stated that he was in West Duluth when he received news of the tragedy. He was called to the house by telephone.

On arriving at the home, he testified, he was taken up to Mrs. McAlpine's home. He stated that she shook hands with him and asked him to re-enter their employ at the same salary he was then getting. Mr. Hovers testified that on that occasion she said: "I am glad that you have come, John; you know how I loved my husband and how he loved me." He testified that he then left the room and asked if he could be of any assistance. He was directed to clean up the basement. He went down there, he said, threw ashes on the blood stains and mopped the floor.

The witness also testified that Dale appeared very nervous. He also declared that while he was employed at the home before the death of Mr. McAlpine, the lumberman was accustomed to coming down stairs frequently during the night. On no occasion, he said, did he ever see him carry a gun or barefooted. He was always dressed in a wrapper or bathrobe, the witness said. Mr. Hovers lives at 117 East Palmetto street, Duluth Heights.

Refused Insurance.

Mr. Monahan testified that in October, 1909, Mr. McAlpine applied to the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company, of which the witness is an agent, for a policy, but that the company refused to take him as a risk. This evidence was introduced as a defense to the payment of the policy now in litigation, it appearing in the application which Mr. McAlpine made to the Fidelity & Casualty company that he neglected so to state in the blank provided for such a statement. The court refused to allow the testimony to go in on the grounds that it was inadmissable under the pleadings. Attorneys for the company then asked leave of the court to amend the company's answer so as to make the point an issue in the case. This motion was granted by the court and the testimony was later introduced and received, subject to an objection by Attorney McManus.

Medical Testimony.

Yesterday afternoon's session of court was given over almost entirely to testimony given by medical experts. During the early part of the afternoon Dr. J. J. McAuliffe, deputy county coroner, was cross examined on his morning testimony by Attorney McManus. Dr. McAuliffe was followed by Dr. Fred J. Patton and Dr. Charles A. Stewart.

Dr. McAuliffe was handed the gun which was found in the basement of the McAlpine home and asked by Mr. McManus if when the revolver was at full cock it might be said that it could be touched off with a slight touch, such as a spasmodic and involuntary clutching of the hand. The witness expressed the opinion that he did not think the gun as finely adjusted as that.

Dr. McAuliffe was also asked whether or not a wound such as Mr. McAlpine received in his head would not result in a spasmodic twitching of the muscles. The deputy corner's opinion was that in view of the fact that the bullet had passed through the motor cells of the brain instant paralysis must have followed and any muscular motion would have been improbable.

Dr. Patton was also cross examined by Mr. McManus on the same point. The doctor's attention was called to the fact that in some instances where a chicken's head is chopped off, convulsive movements of the remainder of the body follow. The witness was asked if the same would not be true of a human being. Dr. Patton replied that he did not think so.

Supports Coroner.

On his direct examination Dr. Patton described to the court and jury what he found when he assisted in conducting the autopsy over the body of the dead lumberman. His testimony in this particular coincided substantially with that given Dr. E. N. McGiffert and the deputy coroner, Dr. McAuliffe.

An amusing incident occurred during the examination of Dr. Patton. After the witness had been cross examined by Attorney McManus, Judge Cant directed a question to the witness, inquiring as to what caused the smudge or grayish stain on Mr. McAlpine's head immediately surrounding the point where the bullet entered the skull.

Before Dr. Patton had a chance to answer, Mr. McManus was on his feet with an objection.

"Objection overruled," ejaculated Attorney Theodore Hollister with a smile.

The two-minute kangaroo court skit provoked a ripple of laughter throughout the crowded courtroom. Judge Cant did not press the question and later sustained the objection. Later a juryman asked the same question in another form. Attorney McManus again interposed an objection and it was sustained by the court.

Dr. Stewart, who was the first physician called to the McAlpine home on the morning of the tragedy, testifed that he received a call from Dale about 3:50 a. m. to come over immediately and that three minutes later while he was dressing he was again called to the telephone by Dale's wife, who urged the necessity of his hurrying to the side of Mr. McAlpine.

Case for Coroner.

Dale, the physician testified, was crying when he called over the telephone. The doctor stated that when he arrived at the residence about ten minutes later he was taken to the basement, where he discovered the lifeless form. He noticed blood on the dead man's face and immediately concluded that it was a case for the coroner, he said. He did not observe the bullet wounds in the head or see any revolver, he said, and did not know that Mr. McAlpine had been shot until some time later.

About twenty-five minutes after Dr. McAuliffe had been notified, Dr. Stewart testified, he was requested by Mrs. McAlpine to call for Mr. McManus. Later, he testified, Mr. and Mrs. McManus came over to the McAlpine home.

Mrs. McAlpine, the physician stated, was talking incoherently and after she had gone to the room and he had given her something to quiet her nerves she kept telling him repeatedly how much she loved her husband and how much he thought of her. The witness stated that he did not remember having ever expressed the opinion to Mrs. McAlpine that her husband had died of heart failure. The doctor testified that he had no opinion as to the cause of death.

On cross-examination, Dr. Stewart testified that while he was in Mrs. McAlpine's bed chamber that morning she expressed the opinion that her husband had been murdered.

COMMISSION WILL VISIT COUNTY FAIR

Will Attend to Business Matters En Route to Two Harbors.

Mayor Prince received today an invitation for Duluth's city commission to attend the county fair at Two Harbors next Friday. The mayor said that if the other members of the council were willing, the trip would probably be made by automobile, as there are several places which they can visit en route. The most important of these would be the proposed route of the $1,000,000 Congdon boulevard along the lake shore. While at Two Harbors the officials would also call upon the county authorities relative to the Lake county end of the boulevard, urging that that part of it be built when the big section in St. Louis county is constructed. Several contemplated improvements in Lester park would also be passed upon after personal inspection of the ground.

TRIES IN VAIN TO END LIFE

Axel Anderson, Laborer, Uses Razor on Throat and Wrist.

Quick work on the part of Police Surgeon Murphy and Jailors Johnson and Westerlund in taking Axel Anderson, 32 years old, to St. Luke's hospital at about 10:45 o'clock this morning saved the life of Anderson, who had attempted to commit suicide in his room at the Saratoga hotel, 514 West Superior street, by cutting his throat and left wrist with a razor. At 2 o'clock this afternoon attendants at the hospital reported that Anderson, although in a serious condition, will recover and had regained consciousness.

The man was discovered on the floor of his room at 10:30 o'clock by Gust Johnson, clerk at the hotel, who had heard Anderson pounding on the floor with his feet. Anderson was lying in a pool of blood, with a bloody razor lying nearby.

Jailors Johnson and Westerlund, who answered the clerk's summons, called for Police Surgeon Murphy and they went to the hotel, where it was found that Anderson was losing a large quantity of blood and Dr. Murphy ordered him to the hospital.

At the hospital Dr. Murphy first stopped the flow of blood and at noon he declared Anderson to be out of danger.

Reason Unknown.

Just why Anderson should have attempted to take his life, the hotel clerk is unable to say. He said, shortly after Anderson was taken to the hospital, that the latter had stopped at the hotel desk about 10 o'clock, talked with him a few minutes, and showed no signs of an unusual state of mind nor did he complain of feeling ill or despondent.

Very little is known about Anderson, except that he is a laborer and has been living here for about five years. He usually works in the woods or on Dakota farms, coming to the Saratoga hotel during slack seasons. He came here about a week ago from North Dakota. Anderson has no relatives in this country, except a brother, who is a saloon keeper in Minneapolis.

HUNTERS TO STORE THEIR OWN GAME

Wardens Forbid Placing of Game in Storage Houses.

Because of the announced enforcement of that provision of the state law prohibiting the keeping of game birds or animals in cold storage houses, several Duluth hunters are contemplating the construction of miniature storage plants of their own, according to Thomas J. Storey, deputy game warden.

He said that the state attorney general's office has ruled that game birds or animals which have been killed according to law may be kept in storage plants built by individuals or for their own use, or in butcher shops where no charge is made, but not in regular cold storage plants. Warden Storey states that these are plants which conduct a storage business. Any birds, venison or moose meat found in these will be confiscated.

Warden Storey said this morning that hunters are reporting considerable success with prairie chickens. He stated that a number of excellent bags have been brought to the city and that others will follow as the birds are said to be plentiful.

The reports of several hunting trips have been received at the store which has been opened by Mr. Storey and A. B. (Ben) Thomas at 23 North Fifth avenue west. Mr. Thomas has been in the sporting goods trade many years and only recently severed his connection with the Marshall-Wells Hardware company to get into business for himself. He will be in active charge of the business and Mr. Storey will continue in the employ of the game and fish commission.

DEER HORNS FOR MEDICINE.

Consular Reports: China wants deer, reindeer and wild-sheep horns, which are used in Chinese medicine, and United States Consul George E. Anderson, writing from Hongkong, says that city, as the chief center of trade in Chinese medicines in South China, imports a considerable quantity of such goods annually.

Prices realized for some such goods in prime condition, Mr. Anderson says, are high. At present the chief source of supply of reindeer horns is Siberia, the horns being obtained in the Far North, brought to the seaboard by rail, and imported into Hongkong through Vladivostok.

"Supplies of stag horns," continues Mr. Anderson, "are from the mountain districts of West China, particularly in Szechwan and Yunnan provinces, and from Southeast Siberia. There is also a considerable import of wild-sheep horns from the mountains of India and Thibet and from the mountain frontiers of Indo-China, Siam and the Malay states.

"Apparently there is no reason why reindeer horns from Alaska and stag horns from other American territory should not be brought into this trade. The first requirement in all such goods is that they shall be in prime condition for Chinese purposes. The horns are used in the manufacture of pills and other medicines, and, as is usually the case with Chinese medicines, other elements than actual medicine qualities enter into their valuation.

"Horns must be shipped entire, must be without scar or blemish, and with the hair or growth on them. They must be shipped in the dry state free from salt and other preservative. They should be shipped in sealed cases in the winter months, the trade here running from November to March. If the skull can be shipped intact with the horns, the latter will be valued at something like 20 per cent additional to the normal price. Horns at present imported range from $9 to $14 local currency, or $4.30 to $6.70 gold per pound. Reindeer horns weigh two to ten pounds, and are usually shipped in cases with thirty to forty pairs of horns to the case.

"Stag horns are highly esteemed and at times command very high prices, some extra fine specimens for Chinese use recently bringing as high as $9 gold per ounce. To command any such prices, however, the horns must be in prime condition from the Chinese standpoint. These stag horns weigh four to fifteen pounds. Wild-sheep horns in prime condition bring something like $3.60 to $5.75 gold per ounce.

"All these horns are ground into powder and mixed with other ingredients to form a sort of pill tonic—'strengthening pills,' as the Chinese term them—and are used largely by old people and people in debilitated condition. Some of the large medicine factories in China maintain herds of deer for their horns."

BOATHOUSES ARE BURNED

Three West Duluthians Narrowly Escape Being Trapped By Flames.

Two Forced to Take to Water to Avoid Blaze.

Melvin Olson, 618 North Fiftysixth avenue west, Charles Dahl of Sixty-first avenue west and Reuben Gilmore had a narrow escape from being burned to death in a fire that totally destroyed the boathouse and motor boat belonging to the Kelley Hardware company located at the foot of Sixty-second avenue west. The fire took place at 9 o'clock last night.

The men were fixing the boat to get it in readiness for a trip up the river today. Some gasoline was spilled on the water around the boat and became ignited by the exhaust from the engine when they were testing it. The blaze quickly enveloped the small building and endangered the lives of the men.

Gilmore managed to get through the front entrance, but the fire trapped Olson and Dahl. Diving into the water they were able to swim through the bay entrance to the shed and around to land. Olson and Dahl both sustained bad burns on the hands and face, caused by the flames on the water.

The building as well as the shed adjoining belonging to the Kelley Hardware company was a mass of flames when the fire department from No. 8 fire hall arrived. The flames were fed liberally by gasoline and oil in both places.

The loss to both buildings is estimated at $2,000. The Olson boat, "Dupont" and shed were valued at $1,200 with $500 insurance, while the other boat and shed were valued at $800, partly covered by insurance.

In addition to the loss of the boat and shed, Mr. Olson lost his coat and vest, containing a gold watch and about $25 in cash. Mr. Dahl lost his coat in the blaze. The men had them off while they were working on the engine.

WOMEN'S NIGHT AT COMMERCIAL CLUB

Andrew Myles, chairman of the banquet committee of the West Duluth Commercial club, announced this morning that Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, will be toastmaster at the dinner to be given in honor of the women Friday evening. The program will include a number of impromptu speeches, musical selections and other features.

Mr. Myles said that the committee expected about 150 guests. The entertainment will begin with musical numbers and card games. The luncheon will be served at about 9:30 or 10 o'clock, following which several of those present will be asked to speak.

The affair is the first if its kind that has been planned for the members and their wives. It had been intended to hold it early in the year, but it was postponed on account of the belief that more of the members would turn out after summer was ended.

WOMEN GIVEN BAD SCARE BY PROWLER.

Some man who was prowling about the neighborhood of Thirty-fourth avenue west and Third street last night caused two women, Mrs. S. L. Sather and her guest for the evening, Mrs. H. L. Liberty, to pass an uneasy evening.

The man was first noticed when one of the women looked out through the front window to see if their husbands, who had gone to the Y. M. C. A. in Mr. Liberty's automobile, were returning. The man was then looking the house over. Shortly afterwards the women heard the man at the back door. This door being locked, the women went to investigate, and noticed the same man on the back porch.

The man tried the door and then is said to have tried several of the windows. Mrs. Liberty telephoned the police, and said that they promised to send an officer to the place at once. The telephoning, she said, took place shortly after 10 o'clock. Shortly after 11 o'clock Mr. Sather and Mr. Liberty returned, and after being told of the incident, they telephoned the police to inquire why the patrolman had not been sent, and were told that a man was on the way to the place.

"The officer never appeared," said Mr. Sather this morning. "This is not the first time that prowlers have been around in that neighborhood. The police afford no protection to the community. Women of the neighborhood have been badly scared on a number of occasions, and when an appeal is made to the police they apparently give no heed to the call. To make matters still worse, the light near that place is burning only about half of the time."

COSTS LESS TO DISTRIBUTE

Merritt Claims Electricity Is Cheaper to Handle Than Gas.

Thinks One-Fourth of Business Would Sustain Plant.

That the cost of distributing gas is much greater than the cost of distributing electricity, is the contention of Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the division of public utilities. He declares that the city successfully operates a municipal gas plant on a much smaller margin of profit than the Edison company and that the same would be true of a municipal electric plant.

He points out that the city buys its gas for 40 cents and sells it for 75 cents, an increase for distribution, interest and other expenses of 87½ per cent, while the Edison company buys its current for 1 cent per kilowatt hour and sells it for 8 cents, an increase of 700 per cent.

Commissioner Merritt said this morning that he does not anticipate that the city would get the bulk of the electrical business of the city with a competing plant. He stated that he is confident that the city could get at least one-fourth of the business and that with that part the plant would be self-sustaining.

The ordinance making an appropriation of $85,800 for the construction of the first unit at West Duluth was introduced at the council meeting yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Merritt. The appropriation is being made on the public utility fund, which has a cash balance of about $150,000. In addition to that the utility commissioner says that the water and light department has a sinking fund for depreciation and for retirement of bonds of over $1,000,000, of which over $900,000 is invested in extensions and plant betterments which are producing a revenue of over 20 per cent for the department.

The Ordinance.

The ordinance which was given its first reading yesterday and which will undoubtedly be passed upon by the people at a referendum election, is as follows:

"An ordinance to appropriate from the public utility fund the sum of $85,800, for the purpose of building, erecting and installing an electric light plant consisting of a transformer station, equipped with station transformers, regulators and other necessary apparatus for the transforming and regulating of electric current, and poles and wires for the distribution of electric current for power and lighting purposes, including street lighting, in that portion of the city of Duluth lying west of Thirty-eighth avenue west in said city of Duluth.

"The city of Duluth does ordain:

"Section 1. That there be and hereby is appropriated from the public utility fund the sum of $85,800 for the purpose of building, erecting and installing an electric light plant consisting of a transformer station, equipped with static transformers, regulators and other necessary apparatus for the transforming and regulating of electric current, and poles and wires for the distribution of electric current for power and lighting purposes, including street lighting, in that portion of the city of Duluth lying west of Thirty-eighth avenue west in said city of Duluth; such point and equipment to be sufficient to meet all consumption in said portion of the city as at present existing or as may reasonably be anticipated in the future.

"Sec. 2. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force thirty days after its passage and publication."

Sugar Swindle Latest.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 16.—Sheriff Ben Schoener has been notified that the "sugar man" has been operating in the vicinity of Paynesville. The man, according to the information received, says he can sell sugar at $5 a sack. The buyer is required to pay half the amount down and the remainder on delivery. The amount paid down is appropriated by the agent and the sugar fails to arrive.

Greatest of All Human Blessings

The most wonderful thing in the world is love expressed in the helpless infant.

And among those aids and comforts for expectant mothers is the well known "Mother's Friend."

This is an external application to enable the abdominal muscles to become more pliant, to expand naturally without undue pain from the strain upon cords and ligaments.

Applied as directed upon those muscles involved it soothes the fine network of nerves with which all the muscles are supplied. Thus a great share of the pains so much dreaded may be avoided and the period of expectancy passed in comfort.

There is no question but what such relief has a marked influence upon the general health of the mother.

In a little book sent by mail much useful information is given to inexperienced mothers. It tells how to use "Mother's Friend" and how to avoid caking breasts. It has been prepared in our laboratory for over forty years and is known favorably to most druggists everywhere. Get a bottle to-day and write for book to Bradfield Regulator Co., 309 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to ask for and see that you get "Mother's Friend."

BODY FOUND THAT OF PRICE MATE

Mother's Weary Wait for Son's Remains at Last Rewarded.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of the sailor found last Thursday on the shore near Port Frank, Ont., has been positively identified as that of Charles Hartman of St. Clair, first mate of the steamer Charles S. Price.

Dr. C. W. Bowbeer, dentist, of St. Clair, who did some dental work for Hartman, made the identification. The recovery of the body of Hartman ends a weary vigil which has been maintained by a patient mother, Mrs. Charles Hartman, ever since the storm of Nov. 9-11 swept over the lakes. The mother has made repeated trips to this city to see if there was not some possibility of sending a diver down to inspect the hull of the Price and locate the body of her son. The position of the wreck and the attendant dangers made the task a hopeless one.

Every time a body has been found the little woman has made a trip to the scene. Mrs. Hartman, accompanied by her brother and Undertaker Falk, went to Thedford, Ont., where the body of the sailor was being held.

Mr. Falk was positive that the body was that of Hartman, but the mother was not quite sure, so Dr. Bowbeer went to Thedford and made the identification positive.

The body was brought to this city and the funeral was held here. The body of Hartman was found but a short distance from where seven of his companions on the Price came ashore last November.

VESSELS HAVE TO AWAIT CARGOES.

Vessels are waiting at all of the principal ports of the Great Lakes for cargoes that will not be ready for a few days, and in a number of instances boats are waiting orders. Grain brokers have been freely offering tonnage for grain. In some cases boats are coming to the Head of the Lakes with very short coal cargoes, the managers hoping grain shippers will need them when they arrive.

At the Head of the Lakes vessels are waiting for orders while at Lake Erie ports boats are being held indefinitely for coal cargoes. Coal did not arrive in large enough quantities over Sunday to load all the available tonnage, and managers are hard put to get even resonably large short cargoes.

The ore trade has not shown any change and the outlook has not changed. The increase in the ore business this fall will not be of any consequence unless possibly the last few weeks. Such an enlarging of the traffic would be of benefit only as it would tend to make grain shippers bid up for vessel capacity.

OPPOSED TO COMPROMISE

Council Will Pay Only $18,000 for Fairmont Park Addition.

Funds for Motorizing Fire Department May Be Available.

The city council at its meeting yesterday afternoon tentatively decided not to accept an offer to compromise the appeal taken by the property owners from the award of damages for the condemnation of the proposed water front addition to Fairmont park, but to fight the case through the state supreme court.

City Attorney Harvey Clapp laid the proposition of the property owners before the commissioners. He explained that they lost their appeal in the district court, the court throwing out the testimony of the experts of the appellants, who maintained that the land was worth $2,000 an acre, on the ground that their figures were too high, and refusing to sustain their contention that they should be paid for the areas of streets and avenues.

The settlement which they offer is that they be allowed 15 per cent of the award for the streets and avenues, with interest at 6 per cent to the time of the district court's decision and 5 per cent after that date. The attorney said that the award as fixed by the city through the old board of public works was about $18,000. Allowing the 15 per cent would bring this to approximately $20,700 and the interest would make the total approximately $23,000.

Confident of Winning.

Attorney Clapp stated that he had informed the representatives of the property owners that he could not strongly recommend the compromise, adding that he felt quite confident of winning out in the state supreme court if the property owners conclude to take a further appeal. He said that the only hazard to the city would be the possibility of a new trial being ordered, in which case the property owners might succeed in getting a higher award.

Finance Commissioner Voss asserted that the city might as well pay interest to the property owners as on bonds, which would have to be sold to raise funds to pay the awards, and that as the city stands to win out, the city would be as well off to refuse the compromise. He pointed out that under present conditions it would be difficult to find any market for bonds. Commissioner Hicken and Mayor Prince concurred in this view. The mayor interjected that if the worst came to the worst it would be possible for the city to abandon the appeal. Any thought of abandonment would be strenuously opposed by citizens interested in the development of Duluth's park system, and particularly the residents of West Duluth. The addition is highly desirable as it would give the city its only frontage on the bay or river.

May Use Relief Fund.

At the request of Commissioner Voss the city attorney will determine whether or not it is possible for the city to use the revenue of the firemen's relief fund for fire department purposes. The fund is now about $210,000 and the income approximates $30,000 a year, representing interest and the local share of the tax paid by insurance companies doing business in Minnesota. The finance commissioner said that the fund is now so large that the relief association cannot possibly need its revenue and that if it could be used for other purposes not only would it enable the city to rapidly complete the motorizing of the fire department but would allow considerably more money to be spent from other funds for street improvements. Commissioner Voss thinks that the revenue could be used for purchasing of fire department apparatus but the statute is complex and will be examined by the legal department to definitely determine the point.

The council approved a compromise whereby George R. King will be paid $1,500 in full settlement of his claim of $3,300 against the city for the concreting of Twenty-seventh avenue west between Michigan and Fifth streets. This will give the city $1,800 for putting the avenue in shape. The present concrete will probably be used as a base for a surface of tarcon, which the city engineer estimates can be laid for $1,300 to $1,400, leaving the balance for maintenance purposes.

Thomas F. McGilvray of the Duluth Engineering company called the council's attention to the fact that Cloquet is laying 15,000 yards of Rocmac, a new pavement, at a cost of less than $1 a yard. He stated that the block laid a year ago on Twenty-third avenue west is giving excellent satisfaction, despite storm damage, but that the Cloquet paving is being put down under an improved process. He emphasized the low cost of the pavement and urged that the council investigate the work being done at Cloquet.

The arc lights which have been maintained to light the way from the dock at the foot of Sixth avenue west, where passenger boats land during the summer, to the central section of the city, were yesterday ordered discontinued under recommendation of Utility Commissioner Merritt. They are four in number and are located on the Sixth avenue viaduct and on Railroad street. The intention is to reinstall them during the tourist season next summer.

Paving Protest.

The protest of property owners against the concreting of the New Duluth road from Eighty-fourth avenue west to Ninety-third avenue west and Zimmerley avenue, was presented to the council. They represent that the war has resulted in the curtailment of work at the Steel plant, causing a depressed market for realty which would have to bear the assessment and making it difficult to secure funds. They wish the improvement to be deferred until conditions are better.

The contract for paving First alley with brick between Fifth and Sixth avenues west was awarded to Olson & Johnson on their bid of $2,672.15. Some of the property owners asked that the work be postponed indifinitely, maintaining that the alley is now in sufficiently good condition. The council felt that the improvement is needed and should not be delayed at this late day.

A resolution was passed directing the payment of $82.50 to John Downer in return for a quit claim deed to the city for the prouperty owned by the municipality near Twentieth avenue west and Michigan street. It was originally purchased as a site for a West end police station, but through carelessness was permitted to be sold for non-payment of taxes which had accumulated before the city obtained possession.

An ordinance appropriating $150 for the acquisition of a strip of land two and one-half feet wide on the west side of Harrison's park was introduced by Mayor Prince. This will give the West end park adjacent to the Bryant school frontage on Winnipeg avenue. The ordinance appropriating $100 as a contingent fund for the library was passed. The ordinance amending the plat ordinance and those appropriating $1,000 for ferry service while the aerial bridge is being overhauled and $360 for repairing the water main across the canal were advanced by second readings.

A petition was asked for a building line easement of thirty-two feet on the south side of the boulevard between Seventh and Eighth avenues west.

A petition was received for a sanitary sewer in Carver avenue, between St. Marie and Gold streets, and in Gold street from Carver avenue to a point one block wastward.

LEE'S KEYNOTE SPEECH IS A DISAPPOINTMENT

Throws No New Light on His Position on Important State Matters, and State Press Doubts His Sincerity Anyway; Dodges Indorsement of Report of Efficiency Committee's Report; Congressional, Legislative and County Politics Still Quiet.

At last William E. Lee has gotten his keynote speech off his mind. The opposition always fears that a candidate may be holding cards up his sleeve, until he gets off that keynote. When it is found that, as in the case of Mr. Lee's keynote speech, the candidate has nothing but his elbow and his cuff concealed in his arm covering, of course one feels easier. And the Democrats have cause to feel easy for Mr. Lee revealed nothing at his Marshall speech on Monday evening that he had not already announced.

He declared that he is for county option. That he tried to straddle a time ago there seems to be no doubt among the papers of the state, even some of those supporting him getting up suddenly and demanding to know just what Mr. Lee meant by his attitude at the Minneapolis meeting. Then Mr. Lee, who had hoped against hope to place himself in a position where the liberal Republicans—who have been sulking—would come out for him, found that his proposed policy of evasion was decidedly disliked by the ardent county optionists, and he was driven to declare that he is for it.

He repeated that declaration at Marshall the other night, but a good many will look upon it the same way as does the editor of the Vernon Center News, who, it is claimed, is an out-and-out Prohibitionist and has heretofore supported anybody who would declare himself in the anti-booze line. It may be real mean for that editor to say what he did in a recent issue, but it evidently expresses his thoughts and this is it:

Someone asks why we do not support Lee for governor. Our answer is: Because Lee was at the bottom of the scheme that eliminated Iverson, and by that packed convention repudiated the principles of the primary law. Then again, who can tell where Lee stands on the great issues of the state? He is as quiet as a snapping turtle and just as ready to snap at any bait held out to him. "Oh, no!" I hear some say. "Didn't he come out and plainly say that if the people wanted county option, he would sign the bill?" Sure he did, and so would the devil if he could catch votes by it."

Then the attempt was made by Mr. Lee to give the impression, without committing himself, that he is for the plan of government revision of the economy and efficiency commission, which Congressman Hammond has unequivocally indorsed. But Mr. Lee said no more in his speech, and really not as much as he said in Duluth some time ago when he was cornered by The Herald and an expression of his position insisted upon. According to dispatches, all he did was to praise the work and personnel of the commission and "declare that parsimony in state government is undesirable and that extravagances must end." Later he added that reorganization of the administrative departments of the state government is needed.

Just now politics is quiet—in fact, just beginning to simmer, as it were. But before long things will warm up. Mr. Lee is the only one who is talking as yet and not many are listening to him. Most of them are waiting to hear Congressman Hammond, the Democratic candidate, whose recognition of his duty to his country first and his own interests next has kept him in Washington supporting the president when his elevation to a higher office is at stake. It is hoped that nothing will interfere with Mr. Hammond's plans to deliver his keynote speech on or about Sept. 28, as vital national matters did with the proposed opening of the campaign on Sept. 3. The opening speech will be made at Red Wing, the place originally planned on.

Congressionally, in this district, nothing has happened yet. Andrew Nelson, the Democratic candidate, has appointed his campaign committee and has begun, in a preliminary way, his campaign. Congressman Miller's friends have been watching out for his interests, and he expects to get back here in about three weeks to begin active work for a return to office.

As to legislative and county offices, a still hunt is going on in most instances, but the fight has not really started to be hot. In some cases, however, it is expected to develop that feature in the very near future.

Crosby Crucible: It will be an uphill fight for the Republicans in the congressional campaign this fall. The voters will be loath to put a stumbling block in the way of President Wilson by electing Republican representatives. Watch the Sixth Minnesota.

Also watch the Eighth.

Waseca Herald: There are bright prospects for the election of four Minnesota Democrats to congress this fall. The candidates whose chances for success are exceptionally bright are: Dr. H. H. Witherstine of Rochester, in the First district; Jean A. Flittie of Mankato, in the Second; Carlos Avery of Hutchinson, in the Third, and Dr. J. A. Du Bois of Sauk Center, in the Sixth.

The Waseca Herald should also remember that Andrew Nelson, an exceptionally strong man and widely known, is running for congress on the Democratic ticket in the Eighth.

Red Wing Eagle: Out of some 150 state exchanges reaching the Daily Eagle office there is only one which is really strong for William E. Lee of Long Prairie for governor, and that one is the Long Prairie Leader, Mr. Lee's own paper. No account need be taken of Jim Hill's Minneapolis Journal, its support being a foregone conclusion on account of Mr. Lee being the selection of the Great Northern railroad magnate for governor.

Well, anyway, the support is unanimous on the part of the Lee family.

Brainerd Tribune: Our old friend Dare of the Elk River Star News says:

"Those standpat newspapers who are nagging William E. Lee because of his political independence may unintentionally be doing that gentleman a favor. The people are not so partisan as they were formerly, and no longer support a yellow dog just because he succeeds in getting his name on a partisan ticket."

We have not noticed that any newspaper has criticized Mr. Lee because of his "political independence." As a matter of fact, he has shown no "political independence" whatever. He deserted the Republican party two years ago and joined the Bull Moose party, and was a Bull Moose candidate for governor. And he, of course, supported the Bull Moose candidate for president against the regular Republican nominee.

If it was "political independence" that made him desert the Republican party two years ago, did his "political independence" cause him to return to the Republican party this year to seek the Republican nomination for an office he had failed to land as a Bull Moose candidate?

All fair-minded persons will respect any man's "political independence." They do not take exception to any man voting as he pleases when he is honest and sincere. It is when a man pretends to be something that he is not that they "nag" him.

The Republican party is no better today than it was two years ago, and the Bull Moose party is certainly no worse. Why, then, does Mr. Lee, after deserting the Republican party two years ago, now claim to be a Republican and ask Republican voters of the state to elect him to an office he was unable to secure as a Bull Moose candidate? The answer is simple: the Republicans have the most votes.

We agree with the Star-News that the people "no longer support a yellow dog just because he succeeds in getting his name on a partisan ticket." All the indications point that way.

That Brainerd man is doing some of the most effective work against Candidate Lee in the state. He and Granny Pease of the Anoka Union declare that they are Republicans and that Lee is not; that the Republican party has no candidate this year, and that, therefore, regular Republicans are bound to be tied to no interests but may go where they please. The Tribune's reply to the Elk River News is a fair sample and a strong one.

Appetite Follows Good Digestion

Nearly everyone indulges their appetite and the digestive organs are abused, resulting in a congestion of poisonous waste that clogs the bowels and causes much misery and distress.

The most effective remedy to correct this condition is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a natural, pleasant-tasting remedy, gentle yet positive in action, and quickly relieves indigestion, constipation, sick headache, belching, etc. Drug stores sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and in thousands of homes it is the indispensable family remedy. For a free trial bottle write Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 451 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY OF CYRUS NORTHROP.

On Sept. 30 President Emeritus Cyrus Northrop will celebrate his 80th birthday. Unfortunately his present state of health will not permit of a public celebration, which the alumni of the Minnesota university had planned. So it is suggested that anyone who would like to honor him and help make his 80th birthday a happy and long-to-be-remembered occasion, should write him a letter or postcard and mail it so as to reach him on Sept. 30. His address is: Cyrus Northrop, 619 Tenth avenue southeast, Minneapolis, Minn.

The foregoing proposition makes it possible for friends of President Northrop, not connected with the university, to have a hand in helping him to celebrate.

The alumni of the university are sending in letters of uniform size which are to be bound in a book and presented to him on his birthday.

EXHIBIT SHOWS HOW BUTTONS ARE MADE

In looking at a nicely made button on a suit of clothes few people realize that it is purely a vegetable product, in fact, the seed of a tree. This product has been known among clothing men for the last thirty-five or forty years as the vegetable ivory nut.

Duluthians have an opportunity to see how this product is worked into buttons if they stop and see the exhibit now being displayed in the window of the Columbia clothing store. An excellent display of the vegetable product and the process used in making buttons is now being shown.

The exhibit today proved of great interest to Duluthians and a great many pedestrians stopped to see the display.

HOUSEWIVES "PLAY" FLOUR MARKET

The rapid advance in prices since the beginning of the war in Europe has proved that many of the housewives of Duluth have not been caught napping. Some of them are said to have put in large stocks of flour anticipating the advance which has followed rapidly upon the rise of wheat quotations. Playing the market in this way will prove a profitable investment for them.

During the last few days, however, prices have fluctuated considerably in the grain market and have left the prices of flour in an unstable position. Duluth wholesalers quoted flour yesterday at from $6 to $6.75 a barrel. Some were confident prices would advance again, while others expected a decline.

VERA CRUZ TO BE EVACUATED

President Wilson Orders U. S. Troops to Leave Mexican City.

Closing Chapters of Second Armed Conflict With Southern Neighbor.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Evacuation of Vera Cruz, was ordered yesterday by President Wilson. The American soldiers and marines under Gen. Funston, who have held Mexico's principal seaport since it was seized by the fleet April 21 last, will embark for home as soon as transports can go after them, and shortly afterward all the war fleet except a few light draft vessels will be withdrawn.

The order for evacuation was formally announced at the White House after a long cabinet meeting. It is the concluding chapter of the second armed conflict between the United States and Mexico, in which a score of Americans lost their lives, nearly 100 were wounded, and upward of 300 Mexicans were killed or wounded.

The reasons for the step were set forth in the following statement from the White House:

"The troops have been ordered withdrawn from Vera Cruz. This action is taken in view of the entire removal of the circumstances which were thought to justify the occupation. The further presence of the troops is deemed unnecessary."

At Request of Carranza.

Specifically the American forces were withdrawn at the urgent appeal of Gen. Carranza, first chief of the Constitutionalist army, who is in charge of the executive power in Mexico City. Through Paul Fuller, personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico, Gen. Carranza set forth that the presnce of American troops instead of being a safeguard against further revolution and peace with the United States, constituted a constant menace to friendly relations.

The Mexican chief contended—and he was supportd by Generals Villa and Obregon—that the Mexican people would not understand the continued presence of American soldiesr on Mexican soil and would be bound to cherish resentment no matter how well intentioned the American government was or how acquiescent the Mexico City administration itself might be.

Until yesterday the Washington government had not decided upon any fixed time for the withdrawal of its forces, and awaited negotiations with the new government on the subject. At first the President believed it desirable to keep American forces at Vera Cruz for salutary effect, hoping that a Constitutional election would be conducted fairly, and the troops be removed after a constitutionally elected executive was in power. The Constitutionalist chief argued, however, that no election could be free and without compulsion with a part of Mexican territory controlled by American forces.

Discussed With Cabinet.

The president discussed the subject with his cabinet, some of whom, it is understood, did not favor the move. It was finally the consensus of opinion that the main purpose of the American expedition to Vera Cruz—to punish the affront to the flag at Tampico—had been achieved through the occupation itself and the forcing of Huerta's abdication as provisional president.

Another circumstance which influenced the president's judgment was the approaching general convention of military chiefs on Oct. 1, on that date a provisional president will be designated. Gen. Carranza wished to be able to turn over the power to a successor with the country absolutely at peace with its northern neighbor.

On the question of recognition, it is known that the president and his advisers have reached no decision. The provisional president chosen on Oct. 1 will undoubtedly be recognized if all factions accept him. The United States, as well as Argentina, Brazil and Chile, will consider the popular acceptance of the provisional president chosen at that conference at the fulfillment of the protocols signed at the Niagara Falls mediation conference.

In Interests of Peace.

It had been intended by the American government to withdraw its forces only after recognition had been extended, but in the interests of peace and harmony with the southern republic, yesterday's action was deemed most expedient by the president, who is confident that a stable government soon will restore the country to its normal condition.

The troops at Vera Cruz include Troops I and K of the Sixth cavalry; the First battalion, Fourth field artillery; the Fourth, Seventh, Nineteenth and Twenty-eighth regiments of infantry; Company E, Engineer corps; field hospital No. 3, and D, signal corps. There are also 3,200 marines, drawn from various ships and naval stations.

U. S. Soldiers Pleased.

Vera Cruz, Sept. 16.—Cheers from the American soldiers greeted the public announcement of Gen. Funston's order for the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American forces, which have held the city since last May. An officer made the announcement at the close of an open air picture show in one of the regimental headquarters.

The news spread quickly to the center of the city, where hundreds of Mexicans were dining in the sidewalk cafes. Among them were many men whose names have been prominent in Mexican national affairs for many years. Among these men the order to evacuate caused something akin to consternation. A similar feeling seemed to pervade the permanent residents of Vera Cruz.

Most of the fugitive Mexicans here say they will endeavor to go abrond. Many of them, although rich in lands and mines and factories and other commercial interests in the interior of the country are poor so far as actual money is concerned being unable to realize on their investments.

It is understood here that there will be little loss of time in turning over affairs to a civil governor. It is said that the authorities in the national capital, already have designated the persons to whom the government of Vera Cruz will be entrusted.

When the news first became known last night, it was suggested by some of the refugees that a petition be sent to President Wilson to postpone the removal of the troops. This step, however, was abandoned because of the belief that such a request would be useless, and also because some of the Mexicans feared to affix their names to such a document.

The only demonstration of the night was that headed by a few hundred boys, who procured a Mexican flag and paraded its streets shouting "Vive Mexico."

Their enthusiasm was rarely seconded by the older natives, who watched them from the sidewalks. The American soldier patrols made no effort to interfere with the procession.

FISHERMEN TELL HARD LUCK TALE

Auto Sinks in Marsh and Their Boat Is Overturned.

One of the prize hard luck fishing stories is told by Leo Czwicki, 2318 West Fifth street, and Charles Letz, who returned yesterday from a short trip to the St. Louis river north of Pike Lake. The story includes the miring of the automobile in the swamp two miles from the road and later the overturning of their boat in the river while they were attempting to land a big fish.

The trip to the fishing spot was uneventful until they struck a place in the road which was being rebuilt by a crew of men in the employ of the county commissioner. The wheels began to wobble, according to Mr. Czwicki, and suddenly the machine shot off the road into the marsh. Luckily the machine landed right side up. With the aid of the workmen and two teams the machine was pulled out.

After getting a boat at the bridge the men went a mile down the river and were enjoying great sport in landing rock bass and other fish. Suddenly a large sized pike or pickerel got on the line and the battle for landing him began. The fish went under the boat and in trying to reach him the boat was overturned.

"We saved most of the fish we had caught because we had them on a string, but considerable of our tackle and other material in the boat was lost," said Mr. Czwicki last night. "The water was not very deep at this point, which was fortunate, because neither of us is an expert swimmer."

CLUB EXPECTS BIG ATTENDANCE

West Enders Will Take Action on City Plant Plan.

One of the largest crowds that has attended a meeting of the West End Commercial club in recent months is expected out tomorrow evening when the subject of building a municipal plant will be brought up for indorsement. It is expected that Commissioner Merritt and a number of municipal ownership advocates will be present as well as representatives of the Duluth-Edison Electric company.

According to some of the business men of this part of the city there is considerable adverse sentiment to the building of a city-owned plant. One merchant said that if the ordinance proposed by the commission authorizing the building of the first unit and appropriating $90,000 from the funds of the water and light department was passed that a petition asking for a referendum on the subject would find a large number of ready signers in this district.

Members of the club are extending invitations to all residents of the West end to turn out to the meeting. In case the crowd may be too large for the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, arrangements will be made to hold the meeting at the Woodmen hall.

INITIATE 100 WOODMEN.

Four Lodges Will Receive Candidates Wednesday Night.

The initiation of a class of more than 100 new members for the Woodmen of the World will be held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 7, at the St. Jean Baptiste school hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. It will be held under the auspices of the four Duluth lodges.

John W. Geiger of St. Paul, state manager for the order, will be present to take charge of the ceremony. The degree work will be put on by degree teams, picked from all of the lodges. Following the ceremony a social and smoker is planned.

The Woodmen of the World have in recent years had a successful crowd. The order passed the 1,000,000 mark in membership last May. In Minnesota the order has 150 camps with a membership of nearly 100,000. The membership in Duluth is about 950.

All members of the order at the Head of the Lakes are invited to attend the ceremonies on Oct. 7.

HOMECROFTING WORTH WHILE

Has Saved Money and Beautified West End, Says Hostetter.

Homecrofting in the West end, which was given its impetus three years ago by the offering of prizes to children, has been well worth while, according to A. B. Hostetter, district supervsior of agricultural agents, who accompanied F. M. Thompson, superintendent of the county farm, E. G. Larson, county agricultural agent, and James Maghan, chairman of the West End Commercial club's garden committee, on a tour of inspection yesterday.

"The gardens are wonderful," said Mr. Hostetter. "They show that they have had great care and have brought forth results that not only have been the means of saving money to the families but have also converted idle land into a beauty spot. The children are to be congratulated upon their effort, and the West End Commercial club can certainly feel proud of having taken the initiative in the garden contests in this city."

The committee inspected more than 100 gardens yesterday. A large number more will be inspected today and tomorrow. The committee expected to complete this part of the work before the end of the week.

The Judges also commented on the beauty of the lawns in many parts of the West end. Flower gardens also came in for a large amount of praise.

The display of garden produce will not be held in the West end, according to announcement made last night by Mr. Maghan. The produce will be taken to the Curling rink Monday, where a special section has been set aside for the exhibits of the West end children. The prizes of the West End Commercial club will be awarded for vegetables during the exposition week, and the announcement of all prize winners as well as the distribution of the prizes, will take place at a meeting of the club to be held the first Thursday in October.

NEW HOUSES IN DEMAND.

Four Residences Will Be Built By St. Louis County Bank.

The demand for buildings for residental purposes in this end of the city is said to continue strong in spite of the rapid building of many new houses. Several investors have already begun the building of new houses, and at the present time it is estimated that more than fifty buildings are under construction in the West end.

Four new residences will be built this fall on Twenty-third avenue west and First street by the St. Louis County State bank. Each of the buildings will be thoroughly modern. Each will cost, according to estimates, $3,800. The buildings will be completed by Dec. 1.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. John McPhail, 821 West Fourth street, entertained this afternoon for the Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church.

Miss Isabelle Franklin and brother, George Franklin, have returned to their home at Escanaba, Mich., after spending a week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Brandt, 2625 West Eighth street.

Miss Clara Martin of Deerwood, who has been visiting relatives in this end of the city left for her home last evening.

Albert P. Anderson of Minneapolis is spending a few days visiting relatives in this end of the city.

John Peterson of Fourth street left this morning for Perham, Minn., where he will spend a week hunting prairie chickens.

NEWSPAPERS MAY INCREASE IN PRICE.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The probability that there would be an increase in the price of newspapers in the smaller cities, was expressed here at the annual meeting of the Inland Daily Press association.

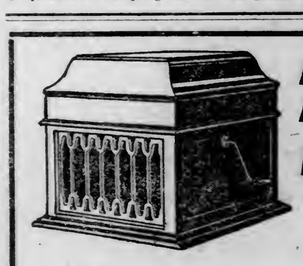

"The war in Europe has sent the price of print paper and other publishing materials to a high mark," said Will V. Tufford, Clinton, Iowa, secretary of the organization, "and in order to preserve the progress of the press and keep a reasonable profit, the prices must be increased."

RUSSIANS MAKING STEADY PROGRESS

Petrograd Paper Says Germans Are Retreating Panic-Stricken.

London, Sept. 16.—The Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent says:

"The first German army, which has been stiffened by several divisions, has virtually ceased to exist. The German are retreating like a panic-stricken mob. The Russians have crossed the lower reaches of the San without opposition.

"With the Russians south of the San the significance of the Przemysl and the other strongholds of the district has been heavily discounted. These fortresses were intended to cover the great triangle between the Vistula and San rivers and the Carpathian mountains. They have proved useless for that purpose and the question now is whether the beaten and demoralized armies can even reach safety at Cracow. Other refuge there is none. The situation looks almost as bad for the eastern as for the western armies."

London, Sept. 16.—Telegraphing from Paris, the Daily Mail's correspondent says:

"The allies' left, which is now strong and well supported, rests near Amiens with the British forces forming the main body of the left wing with headquarters at Soissons. The strain of the next two days' fighting will rest with this left wing and the center, which will have the task of pushing its way after the enemy in the difficult Argonne country."

SAYS GERMAN GUNS INFERIOR TO ALLIES.

London, Sept. 16.—A correspondent of the Daily Telegraph who witnessed the battle of Soissons Sunday sends an account of the fighting and says that "altogether the German artillery seemed inferior to that of the French and English."

OLD SETTLER SUMMONED

W. F. McKay Succumbs After an Illness of Three Months.

Had Been Employed By the County Since 1894.

William F. McKay, 67 years old, supervisor of assessments in St. Louis county for the last four years and an employe at the court house since 1894, during which time he took quite an active part in Republican politics throughout the Eighth congressional district, died at 6:30 o'clock this morning at his home, 1121 East Fourth street, after an illness of nearly three months. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Ill for Three Months.

Mr. McKay was first taken ill about three months ago and he was compelled at that time to give up his work for a few weeks. His condition improved shortly after and he returned to his office, only to be compelled again to take to his bed. For the last three weeks he was confined to his bed. He was attended during his illness by Dr. C. F. McComb.

For the last few days Mr. McKay has been sinking rapidly and his end expected by members of the family, all of whom were at the bedside when death came. Besides a widow, Mr. McKay is survived by two sons and two daughters, who are Mrs. B. A. Smith of Crosby, and Miss Florence, Douglas and Herbert McKay of Duluth. He is also survived by four brothers and sisters. They are: D. F. McKay, Duluth; James I. McKay, Grand Forks, N. D.; Joseph McKay, Earltown, Nova Scotia; Alexander McKay, British Columbia, and Mrs. Elizabeth Burgeson and Mrs. Mary Drysdal, Earltown, Nova Scotia.

WILLIAM F. McKAY.

Lived Here Many Years.

Mr. McKay was born at Earltown, Nova Scotia, in 1857, later moving with his parents to River Falls, Wis. He came to Duluth twenty-nine years ago and two years later was married to Miss Ella Day of River Falls. They came to Duluth after their marriage and made their home here ever since. At first Mr. McKay was engaged in the real estate business, after which he became connected with a West end bank. About twenty years ago he began working at the county auditor's office, having been in the tax department most of the time. About four years ago he was appointed supervisor of assessments in St. Louis county, with his own office in the courthouse, although he was connected with the auditor's office.

During his residence in Duuth Mr. McKay always took an active interest in politics and was usually associated with the Republican party at the regular elections. He was very well known among the voters throughout the Eighth congressional district.

Funeral Arrangements.

The body of Mr. McKay has been removed to the Stewart undertaking rooms, where the funeral arrangements will be made upon the arrival of members of the family. It is expected services will be held Friday afternoon, with interment in the Forest Hill cemetery.

SPENDS $101 A YEAR FOR CLOTHES

Statistics on Average Woman Worker Receiving Less Than $12.50 Weekly.

Women wage earners living away from home and getting less than $12.50 a week spend an average of $101.88 per year for clothes, according to statistics which have been compiled by the minimum wage commission at St. Paul from figures obtained from 6,000 women workers in all parts of the state, including Duluth. This represents about 18 per cent of their total income. Other tables show that the average working girl gives 13 cents a week for church dues. Insurance costs the average woman $9.45 a year; the average for doctor's bills is $22.95; the dentist gets an average of $12.88; the average room rent paid is $6.37 a month, and the average for food is $3.17; laundry 52 cents and amusements 34 cents.

These reports were from women living away from home and earning less than $12.50 a week.

NOT WHAT SHE EXPECTED.

Dallas News: He was a shy young man, but on his way home from the city he managed to screw up his courage sufficiently to enter a jeweler's shop and purchase a small gift for the lady of his heart. This, he hoped, would pave the way to the popping of the great question. That night he called at her house and found her alone. Producing a small, square box from his pocket, he said, nervously:

"I have ventured to bring you a small present, Miss Finn, but I am afraid that perhaps it will not fit your finger. Will you try it on?"

"Oh, dear!" said the girl, blushing most becomingly, "this is quite unexpected. Why, I never dreamed that you really cared enough—"

Poor fool! Instead of grasping the opportunity in both hands, he opened the box and produced a thimble! Then the thermometer dropped about ten degrees.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Teach Children to Obey While Young.

How early in life, in justice to a child, may we insist that the child obey its parents' commands and wishes? A young lawyer, sorely perflexed as to the best way to teach his tiny first-born obedience, asked the question while visiting among friends, and my opinion was asked on the subject.

The lawyer's son is nearly 3 years old and has a passion for being out of doors. Weather conditions have no hindering influence. His parents, however, do not think it advisable that he be out in rainy or damp weather and have told him not to do so countless times. But to no good purpose. He protests and cries against these instructions and will not be pacified.

Worst of all, to almost prove conclusively that he is a naughty boy, he watches his opportunity, and when neither father nor mother is watching, slyly steals out, hatless and coatless. No amount of counsel, argument and punishment seems to make the slightest impression upon him and he repeats the act over and over again. They are almost distracted between doubt and duty. It seems to them that he is quite old enough to be made to mind in so simple a matter and that his sly stealing out proves that he knows he is doing wrong.

On the other hand, they argue he is such a baby it may be possible that he doesn't know right from wrong. They reason that he may be more tractable in a year or two. They wish to deal with him justly and lovingly, but do not know just how to proceed.

It seems to me that a child is never too young to be taught obedience; never too young to be trained right. Did you ever watch little babies in swaddling clothes? How persistently they strive for things out of their reach and bellow forth in rage when some object is placed beyond that reach. Well I think you may in safety and in justice to the child begin to train him in the matter of prompt and explicit obedience from this moment.

When a child reaches the age when his little brain makes it plain to him that he may do things when his parents are not looking, that he will not do when they are watching, he is a fit subject for training in the matter of prompt obedience.

Unfaltering obedience is a parent's due but I think it is well to explain the reason in much that is asked of children. There are matters which appear harmless to children and which appear to them to be needlessly denied, which only people who have reached maturity can detect danger in.

BRINGING THE PARCEL POST HOME TO THE HOUSEWIFE

Exhibit Next Week Will Show Its Uses and List of Farmers Will Be Secured By Postmaster.

How a housewife in Duluth can mail a postcard to a farmer, how he can mail her ten pounds of butter for fourteen cents or a five-pound chicken for nine cents and how delivery will be made to her door by a regular letter carrier, who will also make collection for the farmer, will be explained at the United States parcel post exhibit, which is being prepared for the third annual industrial exposition to be held at the Curling rink all of next week.

Postmaster McEwen, who is arranging the parcel post exhibit, will better acquaint the people of the city with this new department. "It is my aim and that of the postal department," said Mr. McEwen, "to give the people of Duluth an opportunity to learn the real values of the parcel post. Just such an exhibit as we are arranging will better educate the public than anything else we know.

Sample Containers.

At the exhibit there will be sample boxes and containers, showing how farmers can send eggs, poultry and butter through the mail. Local manufacturers will also enter sample exhibits, showing how their articles are mailed, while the government will show the best methods for mailing, explain the zone districts and how housewives can beat the high cost of living by using the parcel post.

Regarding this last feature, Mr. McEwen explained it in the following manner this morning: "Suppose a housewife wants some butter and a chicken from a farmer in the first zone, that is, within the rural free delivery routes outside of Duluth, all she has to do is to send a postcard to the farmer. He can mail her ten pounds of butter for 11 cents and a 5-pound chicken for 7 cents, all C. O. D. She will pay the carrier when he makes delivery. The same is true of eggs or anything the farmer has for sale.

"Now, suppose a housewife knows a farmer within the second zone, which takes in a radius of 150 miles. The ten pounds of butter will cost but 14 cents and the chicken 9 cents. All these figures include the weight of the butter and its container.

List of Farmers.

"At our booth we plan to keep a register, in which every farmer will be asked to sign his name, address and name articles he has for sale. I then will furnish these names to housewives who want to beat the high cost of living."

Guy Fitzpatrick of Washington, field agent for the department of agriculture, a former resident of Duluth, is expected here today from the Twin Cities, where he helped arrange the parcel post exhibit at the state fair. He will assist Postmaster McEwen and aid in preparing the local exhibit for the industrial exposition.

RECENT CHANGE IN WOMAN'S STATUS

Mrs. Mary Rinehart, Novelist, Addresses Underwriters' Convention on Topic.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, the novelist, addressing the convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters here today said that the recent change in woman's status is "not only political but economic." Mrs. Rinehart's remarks were made in connection with the award of prizes for the best essay on the topic, "Woman's Interest and Influence in Life Insurance."

"Woman is earning money and for the first time, perhaps, is learning just how much blood, brain and sweat goes into the making of a dollar," the speaker said. "She is tragically aware on how precarious a thread industrial permanence hangs."

John R. McFee, Chicago, won first prize in the essay contest.

United States Senator Sherman of Illinois in an address opposed what he called "overtaxation of life insurance companies by states and nation."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS PLAN FALL WORK.

The Christian Endeavor union held its monthly executive committee meeting last evening at the First Presbyterian church. Plans were competed for the quarterly rally to be held at the First Baptist church, Friday, Sept. 25. At this meeting the reports of the work done during the year will be read and the annual election of officers take place. It was decided to support the work of "The Flying Squadron" which will visit Duluth in November, and a pledge was made for the benefit of their work. The union also decided to hold a service at the Nopeming Sanitarium, Sunday, Oct. 4. The poor farm schedule as announced by the missionary society is as follows: Sept. 20, Second Presbyterian; Sept. 27, Westminster; Oct. 11, Union church; Oct. 18, First Christian; Oct. 25, First Presbyterian.

Junior societies of the union will hold a special rally Sunday, Oct. 4.

A GERMAN WORD HAS 73 LETTERS.

L'Illustration, Paris: The English speaking world is accustomed to regard with respect the length of transubstantiationalists and antidisestablishmentarianism, but those pygmies of twenty-four and twenty-eight letters are dwarfed by comparison with the giant name of a new form of unfermented cheese.

The cheese is made of fresh curdled milk, flavored with the dry, finely cut blossoms of asperula odorata, or woodruff, a European herb. The originality of this new dairy product, however, rests largely in the name under which it has been put on the market. Oberammergauepassionsfestspielanpenkranterklosdelicatesfruehstueckskase. It has seventy-three letters, and occupies two full lines of print in the Moniteur des marchands de beurre et oeufs. Its great advantage lies in its specific meaning, for when translated it signifies: Cheese of the cloister, a breakfast delicacy flavored with herbs of the Alps, prepared for the feast of the representation of the Passion at Oberammergau.

THE EVACUATION OF VERA CRUZ.

Greatly to the joy of Mexico, President Wilson has ordered the evacuation of Vera Cruz as soon as the movement can be made.

This will be hardly less joyful news to Americans than to Mexicans; for it can only mean that the president is convinced that the Constitutionalists have matters in Mexico well in hand, and that the need of an outside force to insure stability is ended.

Moreover, it is natural that the presence of foreign troops on their soil should be irritating and disturbing to Mexicans, whatever their feeling toward this country.

It is almost time, then, to call this chapter in American history ended. And when the page is turned for the opening of a new chapter, it will turn upon a glorious page in the history of this nation. Despite the temptation to pillage and conquest, subtly spread by greed and its sycophants, despite the peril of a shameful war, to which the nation was steadily urged by those greedily concerned in conquest, President Wilson with cool courage and deft statesmanship has steered the ship of state through these dangerous shoals, and so has achieved in peace and honor one of the finest deeds in the nation's history. Mexico has been brought out of war, turmoil and anarchy into peace, and presently it will glide into industrious prosperity. This Republic has been saved from a war of conquest waged by a bully upon a weakling.

THE WAR FROM DAY TO DAY.

The war, though fighting still persists here, there and everywhere, seemed this morning to be marking time so far as the approach to decisive issues is concerned.

On the left of the French field, Paris says that the allied line is in contact with the enemy north of the Aisne and west of Reims, which supports the idea that the Germans have made a stand there; though it may be a rear guard stand to cover the German retirement to whatever point they have decided upon for the final stand of the invasion of France. The allies were attempting a flanking movement with cavalry on the German right.

In the center, still according to Paris, the forward movement continues between the Argonne and the Meuse river or, roughly, between Reims and Verdun. Paris emphatically denies that the crown prince is investing Verdun, and declares that he simply attacked the fort at Troyon, which has since been relieved. London thinks this leaves the crown prince's army in a dangerous position. There seems little doubt that the crown prince's attempt to pierce the allied line has ceased.

Germany's line, now pretty generally a line of defense against an offensive movement by the allies, has straightened out until it is now nearly a straight line from north of Reims to north of Verdun. The question how well the retiring Germans have been able to handle their big guns through the mud caused by recent rains is an important element in the probabilities for the future.

Berlin is virtually silent, announcing simply that conditions in the West are satisfactory and that the allies have won no important victories. There are hints of internal disappointment at the discovery that the German army, which was supposed to be at the gates of Paris, is half way back over the road it victoriously traveled; and the tone of the Berlin reports suggests an attempt to soothe this disappointment.

It is hard to believe, and it is not to be believed too readily, that the retirement of the German forces is the defeat and precipitous retreat it has sometimes been represented to be by the reports from Paris and London. It is a repulse, beyond doubt; no other construction can fairly be placed on such a movement by an army that entered France with the purpose of defeating and capturing the armies of defense and of taking the capital. But the retirement seems to have been made in good order, the German lines of communication are open to the East, the German armies are still intact, and presently we shall doubtless hear that in a position of their own choice the Germans have settled down for the final battle that shall determine the future of the operations in France. The retirement of the invaders to German soil, jubilantly predicted by some English and French correspondents, is not to be looked for at present.

In the eastern field there is a lull in East Prussia, apparently, the Russians having escaped from the dangerous position they occupied there. In Russian Poland and Galicia, Russian successes seem to continue. Most of the German and Austrian forces there have apparently been driven out of Russian Poland, and are taking a stand on the line from Cracow to Przemysl in Western Galicia, forming now the only barrier to the Russian march toward Vienna and Berlin. Russian activities in Bukowina, at the extreme east of the Austrian dominions, coupled with the invasion of Galicia, would indicate that Russia has in mind, as much as the beating of Germany, the fixing of a new boundary line when the war is over.

The Servians and Montenegrins, joined, have invaded Bosnia-Herzegovina; while Vienna claims the repulse of Servian invaders along the Hungarian border.

THE FREIGHT TAX PLAN ABANDONED.

If anybody connected with congress has a notion that that body may yet hit on a plan of raising war taxes that the taxpayers will hail with eager delight, he had better wake up.

Taxation, properly distributed, is a very small fee for a very great privilege—the privilege of living in such a country and amid such conditions of peace and prosperity.

Nevertheless, the taxpayer ever goes to the pay window as miserably and as reluctantly as any "whining school boy, creeping like snail unwillingly to school." No matter what the size or character of his tax, he faces it with the presumption that it is unjust and iniquitous. Moreover, such a thing as an equal tax is unfortunately not yet known.

So the ways and means committee has had to abandon its plan to raise war revenue by a tax on freight, which probably is just as well because it involved some elements of inequality, as where the grain shipper in Western North Dakota would have to pay a greater tax than the grain shipper in Eastern North Dakota, simply because he is farther from the primary market. Besides, like all taxes it would have to be pushed on to the consumer, and by the time it reached him it would be vastly larger than the amount the government got out of it. Still, it is not hard to see why theoretically it appealed to the committee, since it would be an infinitesimal amount to any individual consumer—so small, indeed, as to be immeasurable on any single article such as a pair of shoes.

The tax on gasoline will be a good revenue-producer, and as it hits a luxury—the automobile—will give pleasure to those whose lives are bare of luxuries. Still, even this will make some people restive, for gasoline is used not only on luxurious automobiles and launches, but to turn the farmer's churn and the country editor's press. Nevertheless, nobody is going to be called upon to shoulder a burden that he shouldn't gladly assume. Those inclined to complain should think of the tax burdens which preparedness for war and actual war itself are heaping upon the people of Europe.

The taxes on documents, theaters, tobacco and wines will be small, and will be felt little by anybody, though they are easy and effective revenue-producers.

At its best, the war tax is a thing that everybody would be glad to escape, but that should be accepted with the good grace that ought to greet the inevitable.

The decision of the Republicans in congress to oppose any war tax at all is just politics, and rather cheap politics, too.

As in other wars, the leading spirit on each side is old General Claims.

At least we may be sure we know as much about the general movements as the private soldiers at the front.

Old-Fashioned.

Philadelphia Telegraph: John Henry had been calling at the home of Myrtle Marie for many months without making much headway toward matrimony, but eventually little Cupid chased him out of the bashful gloom.

"Dearest," suddenly remarked John Henry one night, going over quickly and sitting close by the side of the beautiful girl, "I intend to see your father tonight and ask him for your hand."

"You make me sigh," wearily responded the fair one. "Why will you insist on being so old-fashioned?"

"Old-fashioned?" wonderingly rejoined John. "I don't get you, dearest."

"Don't go and ask him," imperiously answered dearest. "Go tell him."

Those Who Cheer.

Puck: "Who are those people who are cheering?" asked the recruit as the soldiers marched to the train.

"Those," replied the veteran, "are the people who are not going."

Support for the President

Editorial in the Springfield Republican

With the congressional elections only two months distant, one is impressed by the low ebb to which party feeling among the mass of the people has sunk and by the slight popular interest in the nominations, candidacies and campaigns of the year. The change in the political situation in the past six weeks throughout the country has been so radical as to stagger politicians who had hilariously seen things coming their way.

That the change in the point of view of the nation since Aug. 1 must be of advantage to the party in power is generally admitted. Lines of attack on the administration's record, which had been carefully opened up, are now completely blocked. Certain liabilities of the president are now revealed as assets. A gibe at "watchful waiting" today would be more likely to make Democratic votes than Republican or Progressive votes. All criticism of the foreign policy of the administration is suspended. Mr. Roosevelt has publicly announced an abandonment of his assault on the president along that line.

The sufficient answer to criticism of the foreign policy of the United States government is that the United States is at peace with all the world. Americans prefer the answer of the "inexperienced" Bryan to the Japanese ambassador, "There can be no last word between friends," to the experienced Von Bethmann-Hollweg's professional sneer at a "scrap of paper." The nation must take pride in the scrupulous observance of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, in the matter of the canal tolls, now that a great European power has made a mockery of the treaty neutralizing Belgium. One can no longer sneer at "amateur diplomatists," in view of Gerard's splendid service at Berlin and Whitlock's masterly rescue of unfortified Brussels from the German guns.

The administration may go to the country with an extraordinary record of legislative achievement. The new Federal reserve banking system is one of the legislative monuments of a generation. Its importance will grow upon the nation as time passes, particularly in the difficult period in finance which the war has brought on. The country's financial administration is in strong hands. Since the war crisis opened there has been decision and efficiency at Washington. The country suffers and will suffer from business dislocation in this terrible emergency of European conflict, but the dominant thought of the people while the emergency lasts is likely to be what was in Lincoln's mind when he spoke of the danger in swapping horses while crossing a stream.

The country is not likely in the coming elections to weaken seriously the president's influence either at home or abroad. He must remain president of the United States throughout the war period, and in him rest the world's best hopes of peace as soon as conditions render it advisable for him to again offer his friendly offices. He will need the strong and undivided support of his countrymen in order that he may speak at the opportune moment with such prestige that the powers in conflict will listen to his counsel.

Making a Soldier

From Watterson's "History of the Spanish-American War:" "There was a kid in the company who couldn't have been over eighteen. Never ought to have let him enlist at all. He was always complaining and kicking, and at the first fire down he went on his face in the trench and lay there. One of the men kicked him, but he didn't stir. Then along came Gen. Chaffee, cool and easy, and sees the kid.

"'Hello, there!' says Chaffee. 'What's the matter, you fellow down there? Get up and fight with your company.'

"'No, I can't,' whines the kid.

"'Can't?' cried Chaffee, jumping down into the trench and hauling the boy up. 'What's the matter with you that you can't? Are you hurt?'

"'No, sir. I'm scairt. I'm afraid of getting hit.'

"'Well, you're a fine soldier!' says the general.

"Then he looked at the boyish face of the lad and his own face kind of softened.

"'I suppose you can't help it,' he said. 'It ain't so much your fault. 'Id like to get hold of the fellow that took you into the army.'

"I suppose any other general would have sent the boy to the rear in disgrace and that would have been the end of it. But Chaffee stood there with the bullets ki-yiying around him beside the boy (who had crouched down again) and thought with his chin in his hand. By and by he put his hand on the boy's shoulder.

"'There isn't as much danger as you think for,' said he. 'Now get up and take your gun and fight and I'll stand here by you.'

"The boy got up, shaking like a leaf and fired his first shot pretty near straight in the air.

"'That's pretty high,' said the general. 'Keep cool and try again.'

"Well, in three minutes that scairt kid was fighting like a veteran and cool as a cucumber, and when he saw it the general started on.

"'You're all right now, my boy,' he said. 'You'll make a good soldier.'

"'God bless you, sir!' said the youngster. 'You saved me from worse than death,' and he was pretty close to crying when he said it.

"After a time the order came to retire from the trench, and we had just to collar that young fellow and haul him away by the neck to get him to retreat with the company. In the rest of the fights there was not a better soldier in the company, and not only that, but we never heard a grumble or a kick from him from that day."

Blessed Assurance.

Boston Post: At a deadly dull winter resort in the South, where people really go to rest, a visitor one day sought excitement by interviewing an old fisherman.

"This is a dangerous coast, sir," he said. "Many an' many a man has been drowned off that there bar."

"But none of the winter visitors have ever been lost here, have they?" asked the visitor, to reassure his wife.

"No. Visitors is seldom lost. After a tide or two their bodies generally washes ashore."

False Economy.

Boston Advertiser: They tell a story about a country lad who went to New York and tried for a job on the police force.

He passed the physical tests hands down, but the written examinations gave him a little trouble.

One of the questions was: "A man buys an article for $12.25 and sells it for $9.75; does he gain or lose on the transaction?"

After pondering over the question, our rural friend finally answered in this way: "He gains on the cents, but loses on the dollars."

The War of the Kaisers

Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Seeking a title at once descriptive and truthful for the world-battle, precipitated on the people by the rulers, the Courier-Journal has called it The War of the Kaisers—not the Kaiser's War, as Herman Ridder mistakenly assumes—for, though the German kaiser is chiefly in evidence and most responsible, there are two other kaisers, making three in all, the war lord of Berlin, the doddering old man of Vienna and the measly little wretch of Petrograd.

Nobody other than these wanted war. Assuredly the English and the French did not. How many Germans, Austrians and Russians might have objected had they been given the chance to express an opinion we know not. It is quite certain that, when the tocsins were sounded by the kaisers the life of no man who ventured to say them nay would have been anywhere safe. War is madness. Amid the clanging of alarum bells, the roll of drums and the call of bugles, the voice of Reason is dumb and cannot be heard.

If before he strikes the fatal blow the murderer could only stop a moment and think; could see the bleeding body of his victim; could realize the awful consequences of his act! Insanity! What else was the foray upon the English embassy by the mob in Berlin; what else the succeeding insults heaped upon the French ambassador; the burning of Louvain by the German soldiery; the dropping of bombs into Antwerp by the kaiser's airmen? Yet the German writers in America chatter about civilization. They dare to talk of German civilization. They, too, have lost all sense of perspective and all distinction. They, too, are mad.

Instead of whooping up the hordes of death in Europe and hurling anathemas at their neighbors in the United States, the Germans of America should be down upon their knees asking God to have mercy upon the wives, the mothers and the children of the fatherland.

The dread story has but just begun. Only a little while when they will clearly see where their kaiser has led them. Only a few more bloody days when the braves will be scurrying back from France to defend Prussia from the Cossack, who—taking lessons and license from the Uhlan—will be swooping with spear and torch upon Berlin. All that happened to Napoleon the Great and Napoleon the Little—and maybe worse—is about to happen to Wilhelm the Destroyer. Then, perhaps, the Social Democrats of Prussia, rising from the ashes of the ruin he has made—from blighted homes and trampled fields and desecrated shrines—may be able as Thiers and Gambetta were, to sue not without avail for peace, to pay, nor yet with their all, the forfeit, and to establish order and ordain free government, the militariat and all its works and ways gone to hell where they belong! Yea, and with the Hohenzollerns, the Hapsburgs and the Romanoffs; for absolutism and arbitrary power extinguished in Germany and Austria, cannot long survive in Russia. God's will be done on earth as it is done in heaven!

Hearst and Harrison Lose

New York Times: The immense majority given to Roger C. Sullivan for senator in the Illinois primaries means the utter rout of the organization headed by William R. Hearst and Carter Harrison. Throughout the campaign Sullivan proclaimed himself a Wilson man, and his first word after his victory was an announcement that he considered it "a commission from the Democrats of Illinois to make a good fight in behalf of the policies of President Wilson and in behalf of a united, constructive, and aggressive Democracy."

This is the first answer the voters of any state have had a chance to make to Mr. Hearst's attacks on the administration. It demonstrates that the president's is a name to conjure with before the voters, and the lesson will not be lost upon Democrats who intend to be candidates in other states. It should not be lost upon the Democratic candidates for congress in Illinois, who can now estimate how much they will gain by countenacing the opposition.

Sullivan's triumph is no reform victory. It was a contest between two machines, and the voters have decided that Sullivan's is preferable to Hearst's. They have also demonstrated that Secretary Bryan's opposition need not terrify candidates for Democratic nominations. He opposed Sullivan as vigorously as Hearst did, and without result. There is no reason to suppose that the president looks with any more favor upon Sullivan than Bryan does, yet the result will strengthen his hands whether he likes it or not.

The election had the curious effect of showing the falsity of the expectation that under woman suffrage the machines would vote the women in masses for their candidates. This was strictly a machine fight, with no principles or moral issues involved, and the newly enfranchised women stayed away from the polls. In many precincts not a woman voted, and in all Cook county only 8,000 of them expressed their preferences as between bosses. Either the bosses are afraid to exert the influence expected or they cannot get the women out. If men tried to get their wives to the polls to vote for some favorite candidate, they failed. If the election demonstrates anything about woman suffrage, it demonstrates that women will not take any interest in merely political rights, where no questions of right and wrong are concerned, and cannot be lured to the polls in such cases by their husbands or driven by bosses.

Mark Twain on Peace.

From "Mark Twain; a Biography," by Albert Bigelow Paine: There are no peaceful nations now. All Christendom is a soldier camp. The poor have been taxed in some nations to the starvation point to support the giant armaments which Christian governments have built up, each to protect itself from the rest of the Christian brotherhood, and incidentally to snatch any scrap of real estate left exposed by a weaker owner. * * * Within the last generation each Christian power has turned the bulk of its attention to finding out newer and still newer and more and more effective ways of killing Christians and, incidentally, a pagan now and then; and the surest way to get rich quickly in Christ's kingdom is to invent a kind of a gun that can kill more Christians at one shot than other existing kinds. All the Christian nations are at it. The more advanced they are the bigger and more destructive engines of war they create.

No Kick Coming.

Washington Star: "This apartment is not big enough to turn around in," said Mr. Grouchet.

"You are not supposed to turn around in it," replied the agent, icily. "We are letting apartments, not ballrooms."

Not God's Plan But Man's Arrogance and Folly

Editorial in the Springfield Union.

"Just grit your teeth and bear it like heroic Germans and remember that it is for your beloved fatherland" is the advice said to have been given by the German war office in its publication of the first list of killed and wounded in battle. Other governments will address themselves in similar spirit to the relatives and friends of the vast numbers of victims, growing greater with each report from the seats of hostilities. That these terrible sacrifices are the necessary price, not merely of national success but of national existence, is the view urged upon subjects or citizens by each of the belligerents.

For us Americans, viewing the situation from our position of isolation and in the light of our political and social doctrines, it is hard to accede to that view. We cannot get away from the idea that this terrific slaughter and destruction is a man-made affair, preventable in all respects and undertaken not from necessity but from choice. The awful wickedness and depravity of it comes home to us with crushing force because we have disciplined ourselves to live in peace, one nationality with another, have been enabled by our position to free ourselves in a larger degree than Europeans from the ideas and institutions pertaining to war, and have cultivated that regard for the sanctity of the individual human life that is more especially distinctive of a democracy like ours. We revolt against the butchery of men by the tens of thousands as the pawns of greedy and ambitious sovereigns. We feel that the essential superiority of Christianity over heathenism is challenged, and the course of civilization interdicted by this calamity that has befallen Europe.

What difficulty attended the European situation that patience and forbearance, supported by the proper degree of tolerance and breadth of vision, might not have alleviated and remedied? If the divine right of a king to mold human destiny or of a nation to spread its domain by force over a large part of the earth is to be accepted as supreme, where will it all end? If the obstinacy of human nature and the mutual repulsion between races are to be accepted as justification for such a cateclysm, what assurance can be found that a regrouping of forces as a result of the present war will be other than the forerunner of a more gigantic struggle along similar lines?

It is hard for us to believe that the interest of the respective peoples is subserved in any way by the governmental policies underlying the situation, however much we may admire the sense of patriotism that actuates the defense, by sword and pen, of those who appear as instigators of the strife, and we are unable to apprehend wherein mankind in the large is to have its welfare promoted by this stupendous engagement of forces, which the whole course of modern progress and invention has invested with a peculiar malignance.

Not God's plan, but man's arrogance and folly, will be held responsible, in the minds of the great majority of Americans, for this condition, and in that view it must be regarded as an unspeakable misfortune. The deeper aspects of the subject belong to religion and metaphysics, and it is left to each human soul to derive such cheer and consolation as it may, under the limitations of knowledge and vision that beset it.

It is not for us as Americans to entertain the idea that we are essentially wiser or better than Europeans, because they are at war and we at peace. Let us rather be grateful that as a people we have possessed the advantage of a nation founded on high ideals and enjoying the inestimable privilege of isolation from the difficulties which are so deep-rooted in the European situation. Let us pray that we may be spared from becoming participants in a world cataclysm, and that the fruits of our work as the greatest of the world's republics may be an ever-increasing power in promoting the universal struggle for free government founded on individual liberty and opportunity.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlus, the Sunshine Man.

Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling: For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure.—Phil. ii, 12, 13.

Our work for God is God's best work for us. In our doing the work, we are built up in godlikeness. Think what women did for Christ while he lived! One woman made Him a robe. One woman washed His feet. Another woman anointed His feet with ointment. Another prepared Him a dinner. Another offered Him a stupefying draught just before He was to be crucified. His disciples took His messages and carried them about for Him. That is what man did for Him. What did He do for them? He took such a son of thunder as John, and made him a son of love. He took such an inconsistent wave of the sea as Peter, and made him a rock. He would have taken such a traitor as Judas, and made him a saint, if Judas would have let him.

To be a Christian is not merely to serve Christ and love Christ—it is to let Christ live in you and serve you. God has come in Jesus Christ, looking for us, and trying to find us in order that He may give us something better than material blessings—that He may give us character, opportunity, joy, faith, hope, love, and all the elements of a divine manhood.—Lyman Abbott.

Don't wait for something to turn up, but go and turn up something.—D. L. Moody.

To Her.

I sing the song of the soldier's wife
Who suffers the greatest wound.
I chant the chime of her lonely life
That is to her orphan crooned.
My heart is not with the soldier there
With the lust of blood made mad.
But clings to her whom the weight of care
Hath made so strangely sad.
Let him who will bemoan the grave
Of the hero compelled to yield.
Let him who may acclaim the brave
Who win honor upon the field;
But I shall pause at the window drear
Where she is who reaps the woe,
And shed with her the bitter tear
At the loss of friend or foe.
In the honored grave let the victim sleep
While the hero boasts his crown,
When the widow and her orphans weep
That the curse of God comes down.

For, vain is war, and folly's slaves
Are the monarchs who lead the way
That men may seek untimely graves
While the women weep and pray.

Marvelous.

Hammond for Governor

Views of State Press on the Democratic Nominee.

When Hammond Is Sworn in.

Crosby Crucible: The governor's office will be removed to its former location in the state capitol building on Jan. 1, 1915, when W. S. Hammond will take the oath of office.

His Friends Will Care for His Case.

Cass Lake Times: Congressman Hammond, Democratic candidate for governor, would like to get home for a brief season and get acquainted with the people who are clamoring for his elevation to the governorship of the most progressive state of the Union, but his duties as a lawmaker prevent, and he will remain at his post until the close of the session unless the duties required of him may devolve upon some man as strong and worthy. If it should happen that he may not return in time to take part in the campaign we opine his friends who seem to be found in every corner of the commonwealth will take care of his interests and see that he loses no support by reason of his inability to be among us. The people of Minnesota are beginning to admire a man who will sacrifice his own personal advancement to render service to the public good and we apprehend that what he might say to us if personally present may be said equally well by the thousands of orators who admire him for the strict attention and devotion to the work now before him.

Gaining in Favor.

Mesaba Miner: Congressman Hammond's continued stay at Washington, attending to his official duties despite the fact that he has a campaign on his hands, has won him much favorable comment. This, too, in the face of the fact that his Republican gubernatorial rival is putting in every minute of the time hot-footing it over the state soliciting votes. With those who look upon a political job as a private snap, Congressman Hammond's conscientious attention to his official duties probably does not appeal, but just the same the Second district man is realizing as a result. At the state capitol the general belief is that the next governor of Minnesota will have to be on the job, and Mr. Hammond fills the bill in this respect better than anyone else they know of.

Made of Better Stuff.

Preston Times: Hammond was to have come to Minnesota and make his keynote speech at Red Wing Sept. 3, but the trcubles in Europe are so far reflected in Washington as to make his presence there necessary. A lot of men with only a few months left to serve in congress, and with a governorship at stake, would have given the latter his attention, but Hammond seems to be made of better stuff, and his staying at his post will make him votes, or we mistake the public temper.

Complete Devotion to Duty.

Gilbert Herald: The contrast between Mr. Hammond's devotion to duty and the habits of some of the other members was emphasized by news dispatches relating that it became necessary for the house to pass a resolution to deduct from the pay of the members for the time they were absent. There were 180 members absent at the time, including four from Minnesota. Mr. Hammond has been in Washington all summer, except for the trip home to attend the meeting of candidates to organize the state committee, as required by law. He voted for the resolution to withhold the pay of absentees, despite the fact that he has a campaign on at home.

Letter Made a Hit.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Candidate Hammond wrote a letter to the state of Minnesota, telling what he will do for us when he becomes governor of the state, and it has made a big hit.

A New Experience.

Graceville Enterprise: Candidate Hammond has made a decided hit with the people of Minnesota by canceling some of his speaking dates in the state in order to remain at his duties in Washington. The experience we have had with officials who cancelled everything else in order to fill speaking dates has not been very satisfactory to the people of this great state.

Wasn't Sure.

National Monthly: Mrs. Hoyt, who became the possessor of a fortune by the death of an aunt, did not like to admit her ignorance of any subject.

One afternoon she had a call from a prominent society woman and the conversation turned upon books.

"Have you read Shakespeare's works?" asked the caller.

"Oh, yes, indeed," replied Mrs. Hoyt, "all of them—that is," she added, hastily, "unless he has written something very lately."

Aside From That He Was a Fine Golfer.

Life: Foozle—What the devil am I doing wrong, caddie?

"W'y, yer stance is rotten, yer press all the time, an' yer pullin' yer drive an' slicin' yer brassie, yer too low wi' yer iron, an' yer toppin' wi' yer mashie, yer fallin' back an' drawin' in, yer don't keep yer eye on the ball, and yer can't putt for toffee."

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1894.

Day K. Smith, president of the Duluth Transfer railway, died on Sept. 14 at Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Smith had been in poor health for several years and broke down completely last May, after which he was confined to the house. About a week ago Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Modica left with him for Kansas City, his old home, which he reached only to die. He was engaged in the railroad business since youth and held many important positions.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A POINT OF LAW.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you please inform me through the Open Court if a warranty deed transferring property in Minnesota is legal when signed before a witness and not a notary public? It was signed in the state of Oregon.

CHARLES GUILD.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.

Rights under such an instrument could be enforced by resorting to the courts, but the instrument cannot be recorded and is no real protection to the purchaser.—The Editor.

"MISSING MILLIONS."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Referring to your editorial in The Herald about "The Missing Millions."

Is it not the law that the income from dividends of corporations is exempted from taxation? So that individuals are not required to pay income tax on dividends from corporate investments?

It is probable that the greater part of the income of very wealthy men is derived from dividends on such investments.

Would this not account for the unexpectedly small amount of tax received by the government if this is true?

Without assuming that the amount of taxable income has been understated by individual taxpayers, or that our millionaires have not as large incomes as has been generally supposed?

Corporations pay an income tax, so that any one paying a tax on income received from dividends on stock of corporations would be paying double tax.

And I understand this is the reason for the law making this exemption.

Very truly,

ASHER MURRAY.

NO DAY MORE HOLY THAN ANY OTHER DAY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been reading the offer of Brother White in the tent work at Duluth for a $100 prize for one text in the Bible to keep any day but the seventh day holy. He is surely safe in that, but why he stops at that I don't know. Why he did not offer $100 for one text written to the church, asking for any day of the week to be kept more holy than another.

In the study of the Bible, there are four verses of scripture which we must get fixed in our mind. Namely, II. Tim. 2-16, John 10-35, Phil 1-10. I. Cor. 2-13. When all this is printed together in full it reads: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth, the scripture cannot be broken, that ye may try things that differ, that ye may be sincere and without offense till the day of Christ, comparing spiritual things with spiritual."

In reading this verse in Phil, read the margin with those verses, we need to stick to three rules: First find out who are saying the things you are reading; second, who the speaker is speaking to; third, what the speaker is speaking about.

Instead of the church having a holy day to keep she has, see Eph. 5-15 and 16: "See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise redeeming thee, because the days are evil."

In speaking to the church of the sabbath, Col. 2-16-17, we read: "Let not man therefore judge you in meat or drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days; which are a shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ."

I read in Gal. 3-24-25, that God in His great love gave the law to bring me to Christ and I am not now under the sabbath and its law, but in the liberty. John 8-36: "To sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus."

My boy said to me: "Is it wrong to ride my wheel on the Lord's day?" My answer was: "It is not wrong to ride your wheel on any day to help a man in need, but it is wrong to ride your wheel in any day for a selfish end." Trust our Brother White may do a blessed work.

BUILDING LINES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish you would kindly enlighten me with regard to building lines in the city.

Is it possible for one owner of property in the block wherein he lives to reduce the building line without the consent of the other owners or does it require a majority of the owners to make this change?

How should this change be made and who has the authority to make the change?

I would also like to know who enforces the building lines to see that buildings do not extend over the building line?

Thanking you for a reply in your open court column, I remain, yours respectfully,

A TAXPAYER.

Sept. 14, 1914.

A property owner cannot reduce the building line in the block where he lives, unless he has permission from the city council.

The city council has the authority to make the change.

The building inspector enforces this ordinance, while a property owner can cause its enforcement by bringing action before the council.—The Editor.

"MOST FOOLISH" IS PROPER.

To the Editor of the Herald:

Will some one answer a question of one who has forgotten the rules for comparing adjectives? Which would be proper to say, "the foolishest thing I know of," or, "the most foolish, etc."?

IN DOUBT.

THE LIGHTING PROBLEM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

No one reading the resolution recently passed by our council relative to the construction of a new electric light plant for the city will interpret its purpose otherwise than intending to convey full authority on Mr. Merritt to "get busy." It is humiliating for our solons to confess that they did not realize what they were voting on. That the resolution was altered after leaving the city attorney's hands and before being presented for passage would seem to indicate that some one was taking an undue interest in the matter and many would like to know, who this person was or are wondering, why the alteration passed the notice of its author.

But coming to the vital point; the people want good light service and at a reasonable price. If they can get both from the Edison company then there is no need for another plant. But if the service now furnished is poor, I believe the first rational thing to do would be to find out whether satisfactory service may not be obtained from the existing company. Satisfaction in service attained, the main argument for the need of a competing plant disappears.

Then, if service charges are excessive, I believe it would be sound business judgment to see whether an adjustment of rate may not be arrived at that will be satisfactory to the consumers of light and equitable to the company furnishing the same. Some years ago considerably reduced light rates were offered to this city, but the proposition was not then considered by our council on account of the city's ambition of becoming sole owner of a light plant. The offer referred to would have meant a great saving to the people and I am safe to state, that the new light plant bug has so far cost the citizen over $100,000 with nothing to show—this unwarranted loss and waste of money may possibly serve as a sample of the result of unwise running of city affairs.

Should it be demonstrated that as good or better service then we are now getting may be had and material saving effected to the citizen, the acquisition of the present system would be far more desirable than the construction of a competing plant, the difference perhaps showing in balance on the other side of the ledger. To buy the plant, fair dealing would seem to demand that the price for transfer be arrived at by mutual agreement between the contracting parties, or failing in this, by the court. Why should not a municipality follow the rules guiding transactions of individuals? Why should not the seller have something to say as to the value of his property? A price set by the purchaser alone or his hired experts may be partial to him.

But as a last resort, if the construction of a competing plant is necessary, there does not seem to be any reason, why we should not stop to draw our breath and see what we are leaping into. Unsupported and base charges against our newspapers and all opposition to the scheme of our commission prove nothing unless it be the poor judgment and temper of the one making such. Before taking any further steps, the pros and cons should be laid before our civic organizations for discussion and finally before the vote of the people, so that no hasty action may be taken that is not prompted by fairness and good business judgment. No doubt the city can drive the Edison company or any other enterprise within its limits into bankruptcy or out of business by establishing and conducting a ruinous competition, having the taxpayers' pockets handy to help pay running expenses, if need be, but many do not consider such procedure a good policy or even fair or honest. A municipality cannot afford to treat otherwise than with fairness any individual, partnership or corporation established within its confines.

Under existing conditions, I think the construction of a competing plant is not called for, but should at any rate be submitted to the consideration of those that have to foot the bill.

LETTER CARRIER IS AN INVENTOR

Has Invented Improved Mail Box, Envelope and Egg Container.

Duluth may be housing a real inventor in Erick Jackson, a mail carrier, living at 517 North Twenty-sixth avenue west.

Jackson has invented three articles, all improvements on articles now used in the postal department. One of these is an original mail box, which will automatically register the time for the next collection and will open from the bottom, so that a collector will merely have to place his bag underneath open, open the box and the mail will fall into the bag. The West end carrier is now perfecting this box, so that it will also show the time for collections on Sundays and holidays.

Besides the mail box, Jackson has perfected a very neat egg-container, to be used in the parcel post, and an envelope which will be impossible to open by steam without the receiver or sender detecting the operation. The last is not perfect yet, but Jackson hopes to be able to send several samples to the postal authorities at Washington.

Jackson brought his three articles down to Postmaster McEwen yesterday, showing them to the head of the local postoffice. Postmaster McEwen has also received an egg-container from Herbert Landolt, 1010 East Ninth street, son of a letter carrier.

U. S. Telephone Statistics

America, with only one-fourth of the population of Europe, writes about one-half as many letters, and sends about one-third as many telegrams, but we talk over the telephone nearly three times as much.

Here are the figures for 1912, the latest available:

Type of Message...	EUROPE Number During 1912	EUROPE Per Cent. of Total Europe	UNITED STATES Number During 1912	UNITED STATES Per Cent. of Total U. S.
First Class Mail....	17,775,000,000	71.2%	10,212,000,000	39.4%
Telegrams.....	388,000,000	1.5%	113,000,000	0.4%
Telephone Calls....	6,899,000,000	27.3%	15,600,000,000	60.2%
Total.....	24,972,000,000	100.0%	25,925,000,000	100.0%

America has more telephones and uses the telephone more than all the other nations combined, because American telephone service in efficiency and low rates leads the world.

Beef Tea Not a Food

CLEAR beef tea contains almost nothing but non-nutritive beef extractives, some salt and water. It is a mild stimulant, an appetizer, but not a food.

The very best beef tea one can make contains far less nutriment than an equal quantity of milk. A pint of well made beef tea is equivalent to an ounce of beef in actual food value—but not always so good for the patient as a bit of the beef itself.

Animals fed on beef tea exclusively will die sooner than animals fed nothing at all. This apparent paradox is explained in the second sentence of the preceding paragraph. Being a stimulant, beef tea, causes more rapid wasting; it fans the vital fire, making the tissues burn up more rapidly than normal.

At Present Market Prices.

Beef tea is a very extravagant luxury. The clearer the tea—and fastidious patients usually object to the slightest appearance of "grounds" which are really nutritive—the more extravagant it is. The solid, insoluble material left behind when beef tea is prepared contains practically all of the nutritive substance of the meat. What is here said about beef tea applies also to other meat broths, and to most of the ready-to-use liquid beef preparations as well.

Clear lean beef, freed of gristle and fat and cut into moderately small pieces, is really more readily digested than liquid food. Scraped beef, prepared by scraping out the lean pulp from a steak with a dull knife, broiled just enough to remove the raw color, is often administered to patients well advanced in typhoid fever or other serious illness. Even if digestion fails to alter the meat at all, the softness and small size of the pieces insures freedom from serious results. Milk curds are apt to be much harder and larger and more dangerous than scraped beef in the alimentary canal.

Broths Feed the Germs.

Finally, the supreme objection to liquid meat preparations in the dietary of invalids is that these products are ideal culture media for the growth of bacteria. In many diseases the self-poisoning, due to putrefactive bacterial changes of such preparations in the intestine, greatly aggravates the patient's discomfort, if not the severity of his illness. By actual physiological experiments it has been found that solid lean meat is less putrescible in the bowel than the liquid extracts.

The nutritive value of meat broths is increased by leaving considerable "grounds" in the broth, and, if the patient does not object, by omitting skimming off the fat. But still better, both for nutritive value and flavor, is the addition of flour, rice, barley, vermicelli or fresh vegetables according to individual tastes.

Questions and Answers.

Mrs. J. M. S. inquires: (1) What is a chiropractic? (2) Is a chiropractic recognized by law as a physician? (3) Has their school any fundamental requirements or educational standard of admission? (4) is —— ——, of this city, a recognized, registered and graduated M. D.?

REPLY.

1. My personal idea is that a chiropractic is a person who treats disease by the laying on of hands. A chiropractic might define his work more in detail. 2. In most states the law is so worded that a chiropractic is an illegal practitioner. 3. You may take a few weeks' mail order course and call yourself a chiropractic, if you have the nerve. 4. Send the full name and address of this man, with stamped addressed envelope, for reply.

Mrs. A. R. B. asks: What will remove a scar on the face? Is a daily massage good for it? (2) What causes a girl 17 years old to blush excessively when she knows people are looking at her?

REPLY.

1. Plastic surgery is about the only recourse. Massage may make the scar less conspicuous. 2. Her natural self-consciousness. If she is in good health just ignore it and she will eventually forget to blush herself.

FORESTRY AMENDMENT

Would Retain State Lands Unfit for Agriculture as State Forests.

Most Important Measure of Forest Conservation Ever Submitted.

The State Forestry association is waging a lively campaign for the passage of amendment No. 9, the state forests amendment, to be voted on Nov. 3.

This amendment provides that state lands which a soil survey shows to be unfit for agriculture shall not be sold, but be retained as state forests and managed according to forestry principles. The association has issued the following appeal:

"The state originally owned 8,500,000 acres, of which 2,500,000 are left. The question is, shall we treat the small remainder of our forests according to the old policy, which spells deforestation, or shall we adopt a method of management which will produce a larger and continuous revenue? Shall we permit the denuded lands to remain unproductive, unsightly, and a discouragement to the settlement of good lands in nearby districts.

Will Reforest Lands.

"No. 9, the state forest amendment, will make productive those state lands which otherwise would revert to barren wastes; it will reforest state lands which are barren now; and it will treat the remaining state timber lands in such a way as to make them an immediate and permanent source of income to the state school fund. Old forests will be conserved, new forests will be planted, and the timber resources of Minnesota will be saved for this and future generations.

"This amendment is the most important measure of forest conservation ever submitted to the people of Minnesota. It will not only provide us with permanent forests, but it will also give employment to thousands of working people in places that otherwise would be solitudes. It will start schools, build roads, and promote the cultivation of neighboring agricultural tracts that are now vacant. It will develop the incomparable possibilities of Northern Minnesota as a home for the tourist. It will be a direct measure to help lower our taxes. It is a policy which should have been started years ago; but it is never too late to mend, and a stitch in time may save nine.

Support for the Amendment.

"Appreciating the importance of this measure, the State Forestry association has secured the support of practically every newspaper, daily and weekly, in the state. In addition, it has secured the services of a number of well known men and women who are to deliver addresses, some of them with lantern slides, showing the importance of forest perpetuation and reforestation. The secretary of the association traversed the northern part of the state with a motion picture photographer and constructed several very interesting reels of motion pictures on the subject, which are being shown in many motion picture theaters throughout the state. Lodges, conventions and women's clubs in the state is actively engaged in boosting for amendment No. 9, which means so much to the general school fund and the beauty and productivity of Minnesota.

"At the state fair and at every county fair, exhibits are showing what forestry means to agriculture and to thriving industries generally. All the schools in the state will take an active part. Railroads, hotels, and other public institutions are placing posters in prominent places; and it would seem impossible for any voter in the state not to be informed regarding the merits of amendment No. 9."

FIVE FILE FOR COUNTY SURVEYOR

No Primary Provided for Candidates Seeking This Office.

Yesterday, the last day on which filings for the office of county surveyor might be made with County Auditor Odin Haldon, saw five candidates in the field. The names which will go on the ticket at the November election will be A. E. Dyer of Hibbing, incumbent; Lyonel Ayres, 23 West Second street, Duluth; Charles G. Krelwitz, 121½ Tenth avenue east, Duluth; Andrew Anderson, 22 Vernon street, Duluth; and Charles A. Kimball of Chisholm.

The legislature of 1913, for some reason which has never been made clear, excluded the office of county surveyor from the list to be voted upon at primary election. There will be no preliminary elimination of the candidates and all filings made will go on the ticket which will be voted at the general election.

Notice of Dissolution.

The copartnership heretofore existing between M. J. Segal and H. Yessne, under the firm of Segal & Yessne, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by M. J. Segal, who is authorized to settle the accounts of the late firm. Sept. 14, 1914.

FALL FESTIVAL OPENS.

Members of Jackson Farmers' Club Show Many Fine Exhibits.

The second annual fall festival of the Jackson Farmers' club opened today at 9 a. m. at the Jackson school on the Pike Lake road.

The exhibits were unusually fine and of a wide variety, and a large number of people attended. E. J. Larson, county agricultural agent, and M. L. Thompson gave addresses.

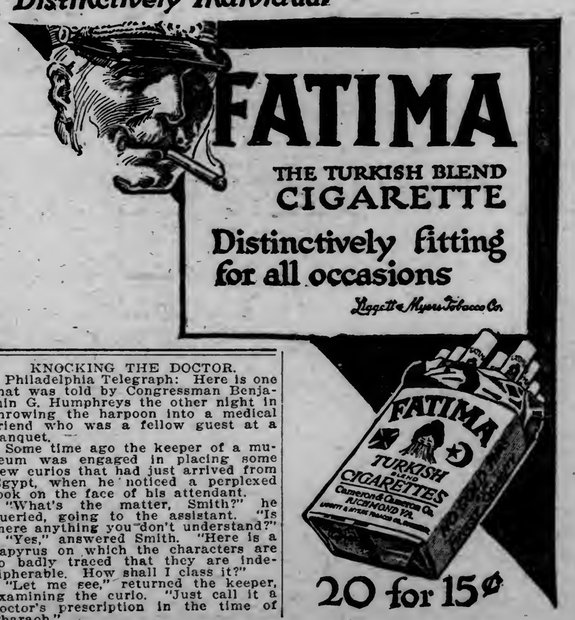

The displays of juvenile gardeners were of much interest. Prizes will be given for sewing, hand work, manual training exhibits and garden produce.

The feature of tomorrow's program will be the livestock exhibit. There is considerable high grade stock in that district and this will make the exhibit unusually attractive.

The committee in charge consists of O. Larson, chairman; Fred Ward and Chris Urgested.

The Jackson is considered one of the most active organizations of its kind near Duluth. It has bought four and a half acres of land near the Jackson school, which it will convert into a playground.

Distinctively Individual

KNOCKING THE DOCTOR.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Here is one that was told by Congressman Benjamin G. Humphreys the other night in throwing the harpoon into a medical friend who was a fellow guest at a banquet.

Some time ago the keeper of a museum was engaged in placing some new curios that had just arrived from Egypt, when he noticed a perplexed look on the face of his attendant.

"What's the matter, Smith?" he queried, going to the assistant. "Is there anything you don't understand?"

"Yes," answered Smith. "Here is a papyrus on which the characters are so badly traced that they are indecipherable. How shall I class it?"

"Let me see," returned the keeper, examining the curio. "Just call it a doctor's prescription in the time of Pharaoh."

WITH THE EVANGELISTS

Nightly Services Are Being Held on Second Street and in the West End.

At the Bible Chautauqua tent on West Second street, near the Y. M. C. A., last evening, Evangelist Stemple White spoke on "Religious Liberty."

"The weapons of the church are spiritual, not carnal," said Mr. White, "and holding up the Word of God with infinite power of love, it persuades men, but does not compel. To Peter the Master said, 'Put up thy sword into its sheath, for they that take the sword shall perish with the sword.'

"When the church courts the world and leans upon the weak arm of flesh, and when the state thus usurps the prerogatives of God, and legislates in anything pertaining to the first table of the decalog, it becomes at once an engine of tyranny in which those who would be true to God are persecuted. 'Render to Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's,' are the words of Jesus, thus separating church and state for all time.

"It was in violation of this principle that the fairest portions of the Old World were made desolating scourges in the Dark Ages. The same evil work was largely repeated in colonial times in America. Let every man be protected in worshiping God according to the dictates of his own conscience, or not worship at all, if he so chooses. The state must deal with civility and not with morality.

"And yet, in spite of the invasion of religious right in the days of the apostles, the martyrs, of Bunyan, the Quakers, Roger Williams and others, it is a fact that the greatest foe today of liberty in America is along this very line, in which the Federal council of churches of America are clamoring at the halls of congress for religious legislation, thus fulfilling Revelation xiii, 11-17.

"With the apostles and those three worthies of old let us say, 'We ought to obey God rather than men,' and 'We will not worship the image which thou has set up.' Fools often rush in where angels fear to tread. The law of the Most High is supreme."

Tonight Mr. White will discuss the question "Where Did the Bible Come From?"

S. Mortenson, evangelist from Chicago, will lecture in the Scandinavian gospel tent, Superior street and Twenty-second avenue west, tonight, on the subject, "The Christian Life of Faith as Contrasted With Feeling."

The evangelist will continue the meetings for a week, and the subject for Thursday evening will be, "When Will, According to Prophecy, the Socialists Come to World Power?"

NORINE CARMAN,
Appearing With the Carman Minstrels at the New Grand Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Overnight."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and Travel Pictures.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.

Amusement Notes.

The New Grand continues to attract big audiences, especially of women and children, and this is due in no small measure to the innovations made by Manager Ed R. Salter, who only recently came to Duluth to demonstrate some of his ideas of how a live vaudeville theater should be conducted. Manager Salter is an old showman, and his theory is just the opposite of P. T. Barnum, who said, "the people like to be fooled." "In the theater business at least you have to give them everything promised," is his theory, "whether you see the first or the last of the continuous program. Every performer must do his or her part, and those are some of the reasons the New Grand has jumped into such instant favor."

Starting tomorrow noon, the new booking arrangement entered into with the Western Managers' Vaudeville association goes into effect, and the new program will be headlined with Norine Carman's minstrels, consisting of twelve people, including Jimmie Conley, and the famous Astor Quartet, with handsome Norine Carman as interlocutor. A novelty feature of the program will be the appearance of Helen Hardy in a conception of her own, called "Great Women of the Past and Present."

Those two "War Dogs," Logan and Ferris can be depended upon for a high-class comedy offering, and Noble and Brooks will seek recognition in their creation, "At the Box Office." George Ade will contribute to the Grandoscope his latest fable, "The Honeymoon." Lubin will give a two-reel subject, "The Van Zant Twins," and the Hearst-Selig News will be as entertaining as ever. Under the new booking management the prices will remain the same and the performances will be continuous from 12 noon until 11 p. m. The program will be changed every Monday and Thursday.

The three-act farce, "Overnight," originally produced at the playhouse New York, where it ran for two seasons to capacity business, belongs to the same category as "Broadway Jones," "Stop, Thief," etc. It has nothing to do with art, morals or reason, and in no manner affords food for sober reflection, its one object being to provoke laughter. In this it is undoubtedly successful and it should be added that the fun is legitimate and wholesome. Moreover, there is some genuine humor in the dialogue to give zest to the extravagance of the incidents.

"Overnight" is by Philip Bartholomae, author of "When Dreams Come True" and "Little Miss Brown," and has been the means of placing him in the front rank of young American playwrights.

The piece which, it need scarcely be said, makes no small demands upon the acting ability of the company, is interpreted in lively and generally capable fashion and is the best work the company has done as a whole so far this season.

There will be a matinee today and Saturday.

Next week the Baldwin Players will present for the first time at popular prices an elaborate production of Harold Bell Wright's famous story, "The Shepherd of the Hills."

To select a company, all the members of which are Titian haired, may seem an easy task, but it did not prove so when Jesse Lasky hit upon the idea. For "The Redheads," which is being shown at the Orpheum theater this week as the leading act of a merry program. More than 150 young women were interviewed before it was found possible to make up the chorus and to fill the principal roles. Then, too, there was difficulty in finding a red-haired girl to lead the orchestra. James Carson is the principal comedian. Mr. Carson has been on the musical comedy stage for a number of seasons and won particular success for himself in the support of Eddie Foy in "Up and Down Broadway," playing opposite Emma Carus in that production. He likewise attracted favorable mention in the support of Marie Cahill in "Judy Forgot." Add to this that he was with Gaby Deslys at the Winter Garden, New York, and it will be seen readily that his career has been an enviable one. The book in the present production was written by William Le Baron. Mr. Le Baron has the libretto of more than one successful musical comedy to his credit. The score was composed by Robert Hood Bowers.

Tonight will be the last opportunity of witnessing the current vaudeville performance at the new Grand as it will be "closing" night for Howard Langford and Jacqueline Tallman and their excellent musical comedy company in Charles Dickson's meritorious offering, "A Morning Plunge," with the exhibition of special scenery, electrical effects, gorgeous costumes, pretty girls, an efficient male chorus and many new songs. "A Morning Plunge" has been one of the best offerings Manager Ed Salter has contributed to the new Grand stage. The "upside down dancers," Johnny Buckley and Violet Moore, are entitled to use the word novelty in their announcements. Sam Hood, the old time minstrel man, enthuses his audiences as in days of yore. Miss Adele Stutevant sings the old fashioned songs in a sweet soprano voice. Francis Bushman, the idol of "The Movie Fans," has a two-reel feature photo play, "For Royal Patronage." There is a comedy picture, "He Nearly Won Out," and a one-reel vitagraph, "The Upper Hand." Tomorrow a new program will be offered.

The present bill of vaudeville and pictures will close with the two performances tonight at the Empress theater. The bill has proven the most popular seen at the Empress for some time. The headline act, Robinson Romaine and Wilson, are deserving of the honor position. Jermon and Mack, a team of talkers and entertainers; Howard and Day, with their songs and cornet solos, and not forgetting pretty Pauline Joseph with her lyrical songs and charming personality, comprise the program.

Tomorrow a new bill will open. The acts booked are: Tracy, Goetz and Tracy, singing, dancing and piano; the Caruso trio singing and instrumentalists; the Marlows with their scenic novelty, and Broomstick Elliott, the "crazy musician." There will also be a good two-reel feature photo play and a single comedy reel. The usual price of admission will prevail.

FAVORS WORK BY THE STATE

Humane Agent Recommends Extension of Society's Activity.

Duluth Society Hears Annual Reports and Elects Officers.

A state organization and a state agent to look after districts not now under the jurisdiction of a humane society were recommended this afternoon by Agent R. D. McKercher of the Duluth Humane society at the annual meeting of the organization at Memorial hall at the courthouse. The Duluth society was urged to take favorable acton in the matter to relieve the great distress in these districts.

"Many cases could be cited at this time which would reveal the most awful conditions conceivable," said Agent McKercher, "but time will not permit me to specify any of these cases, harrowing in the extreme, where children would have been permitted to grow up in such conditions as to make them moral and physical degenerates, had it not been for the activities of this society."

Praises State Hospital.

High praise was given the state hospital for children at St. Paul for the manner in which children have been cared for there. On this subject Agent McKercher said in part:

"Much of our time was taken up where children were involved, bringing the heads of families to a realization that we, as an organization, no longer tolerated desertions or cases of non-support and neglect, and that we considered it entirely unnecessary for children to be in want where the parents were able-bodied.

"I point with special pride to the work of looking up children for the state hospital in St. Paul, and getting them admitted to that institution, and cannot be too extravagant in my praise of the manner in which they were handled while there. Whenever a crippled child has been located, every effort has been brought to bear to have it admitted to this institution, and there were but few exceptions where relief was not extended by the hospital authorities."

Help for Girls.

Agent McKercher said that from the Duluth society thirteen girls have been committed to the Home School for Girls at Sauk Center during the year. Many of these, he said, when brought before the court showed that the girls had lived amid the most immoral surroundings. These conditions he said were largely due to the parents.

Y. W. C. A. Helps.

Mr. McKercher paid a high tribute to the women of the Y. W. C. A. for their able co-operation during the year. He said the young women had taken a great interest in the girls of the city and done much to aid the Humane society in this field.

A high tribute was also paid to the memory of Henry Taylor, secretary of the society, who died during the last year.

"The Band of Mercy work on the ranges," he said, "carried on by the assistant to the agent, Miss Norris, was not as thorough as we had hoped, on account of the limited amount of means in the treasury at the time that the work should have been done, and when we were able take it up, some of the schools were not in a position to permit owing to their being rushed with work just before the close of the school year. The work among the school children of Duluth, however, was carried on very systematically by Mrs. Turie, a member of this society."

Summary of Report.

The agent's general summary showed that 1,793 cases had been investigated from September, 1913, to September, 1914. Of these 690 were reported at the office and 1,103 were noted by the agent on the street. The cases dealing with animals numbered 1,371 and the number where human beings were involved numbered 922. The number of young boys involved was 16 and young girls 60.

Disposition of cases was as follows: Boys' training school at Red Wing, 5; girls' home school at Sauk Center, 13; state public school, 32.

Many persons were placed in various other institutions and the agent performed a wide range of duties in caring for horses, cows and other animals.

MERCHANTS WILL VISIT SUBURB FAIR

Will Take Auto Trip to Jackson Farmers' Club Exhibit.

Duluth retail merchants have planned a visit to the Jackson Farmers' club fair for tomorrow afternoon, and will give all the encouragement possible to the exhibitors at the fair. Automobiles will be provided for the party and it is expected that a large number of merchants will take in the trip. It has been planned to have the merchants visit the work farm on their way back to the city.

A committee consisting of William Burgess, W. N. Hart and George A. Gray has been formed. Mr. Burgess is securing the automobiles, and it is arranged that those going shall meet at 1:30 p. m. sharp tomorrow at the Burgess Electric offices.

WORKED THE LAKE PORTS

Two Alleged Forgers Have Put in a Busy Summer.

One Is Arrested at Port Huron—Police on Trail of the Other.

After operating with an accomplice along the Great Lakes since last December, Edwin Grover, 26 years old, alias James Collins, alleged forger, was arrested yesterday at Port Huron, Mich., while in the act of passing a check similar to those now in possession of Chief Troyer. Word of the arrest was received here this morning and Chief Troyer has already made a requisition for Grover.

Grover, according to the local police, has been working with Edward Graham during the entire summer. On June 8, a man answering the description of Grover passed two checks in Toledo, Ohio. Chief G. A. Murphy of that city wrote Chief Troyer immediately after the checks were passed and asked that the local authorities apprehend them. Shortly after several checks were passed here, but the criminals were never arrested.

During the summer Chief Troyer has received many reports of the operations of these two men along the cities bordering the Great Lakes. Their method consisted in claiming to be sailors on vessels and then attempting to cash a check issued by a steamship company and signed by the master. The steamers "Crete" and "J. B. Nielson" were among those used.

The Toledo Checks.

In Toledo the checks passed were those of the Interlake Steamship company, and the name of W. A. Williams was forged as being that of the master. The checks were each for $19, and were made payable to A. S. Burg and Charles Brunt. During the summer the officials of the Interlake Steamship company, which has offices in Duluth, continued in their search of the two men, and only last Thursday morning did Chief Troyer receive word that Graham had been visiting with a sister at Livingston, Mont., and that he had declared his intention to meet his brother-in-law in Canada.

On the same day Chief Troyer learned of the forgeries here and he immediately made an effort to find the two men. They had left the city Thursday and the head of the police department then sent out notices to every lake port, including Port Huron, and it was this circular that brought Grover's arrest.

The night message from Chief Chalmers of Port Huron states that James Collins was attempting to pass a check for $19 on the Pittsburg Steamship company, made payable to Collins and signed by W. A. Williams, master of the "J. B. Nealson." The check prescribed is the same as those passed here and Chief Troyer has already requested the authorities to send the prisoner here after his case is disposed of at Port Huron. It is not known whether Grover will fight extradition or not. However, Chief Troyer presented the evidence in the case to the grand jury this morning and it is probable that an indictment will be issued against Grover, charging him with forgery in the second degree.

Graham at Large.

Although Graham has not yet been apprehended, the police believe his capture is imminent. Word was received yesterday from Chief Owens of Livingston that Graham had written to his sister Saturday from the Blackstone hotel in Chicago. This information is now in the hands of the Windy City authorities and those in other cities along the lakes.

Fred Hilger, bartender at the Astoria saloon, 102 East Superior street, has made the complaint against Grover, although two other checks were passed in Duluth. Hilger remembers the man who passed the check on him as having had gold teeth. The dispatch from Port Huron also states that Collins, now in custody, has gold teeth, while the description is almost identical with the one given the police by Hilger.

NEW COMPANY WILL MAKE GLOVES.

A new company, to be known as the Minnesota Glove and Fur company took out articles of incorporation today at the office of the register of deeds at the courthouse. The capital of the new corporation is placed at $25,000 and the purpose of the promoters will be to manufacture gloves and other goods of leather make. The members of the company are W. T. Stewart, Percival N. Young, H. M. Craig, Wesley Medd, Jesse Rogers.

MILITIA POISON PLOT.

Butte Plumber's Helper Accused of Advising Poisoning Soldiers.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 16.—An alleged plot to poison the drinking water of the 700 Montana militiamen now on duty here in connection with the miners' riots, was discovered Tuesday and Fred Magnardot was arrested on order of Provost Marshal Frank Conley. Magnardot was taken before Judge Advocate Root, and charged with having advised another person to place poison in the water pipes at the court house where the militia is in camp.

Magardot, a plumber's helper, and several other workmen were repairing the pipes, according to the authorities, when Magnardot advised one of the men to place poison in the pipes. The suggestion was spurned and the officer was notified. Magnardot is held without bail. His hearing will come up today in the military court.

STATE SELLS 720 ACRES OF LAND

Prices Range From $5 to $35 an Acre at Auction.

Seven hundred and twenty acres of land in St. Louis county was sold this afternoon at an auction conducted by Theodore Nelson, manager of the land sales' department of the state auditor's office, at the court house. The prices paid ranged from $5 to $35 an acre.

All of the land was sold to St. Louis county persons except in the case of two forties which were sold to Orsa Beardslee, Clarkson, Mich.

Mr. Nelson said that the sale today was not as large as many other sales because the weather had made conditions unfavorable for prospective settlers to look over the ground. Now that the summer months are over he expects a large number of prospective settlers to look over tracts and be ready to buy at the next two sales, Oct. 21 and Nov. 18.

ALBERT LEA MEN HEIRS TO ESTATES.

Albert Lea, Minn., Sept. 16.—A. E. Gilbert, a deliveryman, was notified this week of the death of his grandfather, Warren Gilbert, reputed to be the richest banker of Columbia county, Wis. Mr. Gilbert is one of seventeen heirs and will receive between $35,000 and $45,000. Otto Harun, an employe of a machine company here, was informed on Monday that his father, who died in Norway recently, left him an estate valued at more than 50,000 crowns or about $13,500.

Colt's Kick Fatal to Farmer.

LeSueur Center, Minn., Sept. 16.—Harold Shippman, 16 years old, living three miles east of here, died as the result of a kick in the stomach from a 3-months-old colt. He died in an automobile while being taken to Minneapolis by his parents and a doctor.

A Truthful Label

"DR. WILEY believes several things strenuously. One of them is that things should be what they seem and what they say they are. At all times and in all places he maintains that the consumer has the inalienable right to demand that the label tell the truth."—Editor Good Housekeeping.

Dr. Wiley is nationally known as a sincere and earnest pure food reformer.

No food product better exemplifies Dr. Wiley's belief than does Armour's "Simon Pure" Leaf Lard. It is just what the label says it is. It is all, every single particle of it, pure leaf lard made from the choice leaf fat and nothing else.

Economy and Quality

Armour's "Simon Pure" Leaf Lard is not only incomparable in quality, but there's no shortening of anything like equal merit which permits of such economy.

Its richness enables you to use one-third less of Armour's "Simon Pure" than any other lard.

When a recipe calls for three spoonfuls of lard, two of "Simon Pure" will give better results.

Armour's "Simon Pure" Leaf Lard cuts the cost of living with an added quality.

It's made in a way that's slow and old fashioned—rendered in an open kettle—that's another reason for its superiority.

Each pail bears the mark, U. S. Inspected and Passed—the Sign of Absolute Purity.

Delicious Dishes of Armour's "Star" Ham

"Star" Ham Bake

Take a slice of Armour's "Star" Ham measuring nearly two inches thick. Lay this on the bottom of baking dish and cover with milk. Bake in a slow oven until the milk has soaked into the ham and the latter is slightly browned on top. When done place on a platter and make a cream gravy with milk mixed with a little flour and poured into the fat left in the pan. Season lighily and cook until thick.

"Star" Ham Croquettes

One cup of Armour's "Star" Ham boiled and chopped fine, one cup of bread crumbs and one potato. Moisten with liquor in which the meat was cooked, add one beaten egg, and season with salt, pepper and mustard, celery salt, sage or onions. Mix well, form into small, flat cakes and fry in butter.

"Star" Scalloped Ham

Place a good layer of sliced raw potatoes in a baking dish and cover with a medium-thick slice of Armour's "Star" Ham cut in as many pieces as desired, and another layer of potatoes, and season with a dash of pepper. Sprinkle the top with a little chopped parsley and pour over the whole as much milk as the dish will hold. Bake until done, and serve hot.

"Star" Stuffed Ham

Soak one of Armour's "Star" Hams in cold water over night. In the morning remove the bone and stuff with one pound of pecans or chestnuts, one can of mushrooms, one slice raw ham, one ounce of mustard and two cucumber pickles. Boil the nuts until tender, chop all ingredients fine and season with pepper, allspice, parsley and salt; add enough raw egg to form a paste. Sew up slit and bind ham firmly with cloth; boil slowly two hours and cool in the cloth. When cold, remove the skin, sprinkle with sugar and crumbs, bake one hour and serve hot or cold.

School Lunches

Wouldn't you like to put something new into the lunch boxes of your kiddies, to vary the monotony of the mid-day meal that they take at school?

Just put up a few dainty sandwiches, the filler of which is Armour's "Star" Dry Salami Sausage.

BROOKSTON VOTES BONDS.

People Favor Expending $6,000 in Water and Light Plant.

Brookston, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The proposition of bonding this village for $6,000 to erect and maintain a water and light plant carried yesterday 31 to 2. The village recorder will immediately advertise for bids to construct the plant, and it is hoped to have the installation completed within sixty days after the contract has been awarded.

Work was commenced on the Duff road again this week, and about two miles more of the highway will be completed before winter set sin. A. Christensen is in charge of the work.

ROBBER PURSUED, COMMITS SUICIDE.

Marshall, Minn., Sept. 16.—A stranger, who held up four cattlemen on a freight train near here Monday afternoon, was followed by the sheriff to the Jenson farm, south of town, where he killed himself when he found that capture was certain. He was about 25 years old, weighed 150 pounds, nearly six feet tall, and had dark brown hair.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 178A Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

JEWISH NEW YEAR MONDAY

Will Usher in Year 5,575, According to Old Testament.

Special Services Will Be Held for Two Days.

Rosh Hashanah or New Year's day ushers in the year 5,575 for the Jewish race, the numbering having started with the creation of the world, according to the Old Testament.

At Temple Emanuel New Year's services will begin at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening, as the holiday begins with sundown of that day and comes to a close at sundown Monday. Orthodox Jews, however, celebrate two days, and their observance of the New Year continues until nightfall Tuesday evening. There will be special services at Temple Emanuel on Sunday evening and Monday morning. Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits will conduct the services, while the choir will render special musical numbers during both days. Services will be held at all the orthodox synagogues in the city on Monday and Tuesday.

Rosh Hashanah, or New Year's day, inaugurates the most solemn season of the Jewish religious year. During this holiday all Jews refrain from labor, devoting their time solely to holy communion. According to the ideas associated with this day, all men are judged by God during Rosh Hashanah, so that the holiday is often called, "The Day of Judgment." As the next holiday is the Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, which comes ten days later, Wednesday, Sept. 30, that is called the Day of Atonement, while the ten intervening days are known as the "Ten Days of Penitence."

Following the observance of the Day of Atonement, the next holiday to be observed by the Jews is the Feast of Tabernacles, which is often called the Thanksgiving of the Hebrew race. It lasts for eight days, beginning this year on Oct. 3. During the week the Jews offer up prayers to God, thanking Him for the large harvests and for the mercy extended by God to the people of Israel throughout the world. It is the harvest festival and the earliest thanksgiving feast, after which the American Thanksgiving day was fashioned.

Result of Caucus.

Abandoning the proposed tax on freight transportation, the Democrats of the house caucus last night agreed to a war revenue measure, which will include the Spanish war stamp tax on commercial and legal papers, the Spanish war taxes on bankers, brokers, theaters and other amusement places, a tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline, a special tax on tobacco manufacturers and dealers, domestic wines and beer.

The caucus adopted a resolution directing the ways and means committee to draft a bill along these lines, President Wilson having approved the plan at a conference with Majority Leader Underwood and Senator Simmons late today. The committee was also given authority to revise the details of the Spanish war tax in its discretion.

Mr. Underwood announced that the proposed bill would yield an estimated revenue of $105,000,000; the stamp tax to yield $35,000,000; special taxes on bankers and brokers $5,800,000; special tax on tobacco dealers $4,000,000; beer by an increased tax of 50 cents a barrel, $32,500,000; gasoline $20,000,000; dry wines at 12 cents a gallon, and sweet wines at 20 cents a gallon, $8,000,000.

When the caucus met Representative Page of North Carolina opened the attack on the proposed freight transportation tax and was loudly applauded as he submitted a resolution designed to prevent it being included in a war revenue bill.

Debate was extended.

SITUATION ON WEST FRONT "FAVORABLE," SAYS GERMAN STAFF

practice and issue reassuring statements in general terms.

Siberian Corps in Action.

The fact that the Siberian corps was engaged in the fighting at Lyck, East Prussia, is noted with interest here as indicating that the mobilization of this corps must have been accomplished with extraordinary rapidity to enable it to arrive in Europe within six weeks after the Russian mobilization order was issued.

No detailed account of the sinking of the cruiser Hela has been given out. It was merely stated that 172 of 181 members of the crew were saved by German ships in the vicinity.

Admiral Maas Killed.

Among those lost in the previous battle near Helgoland were Admiral Maas, commander of the Second scouting division, and Baron Von Maltzohn, navigation officer of the cruiser Koeln, who served a long time on the cruiser Bremen while she was on the American station. He had many friends in the United States.

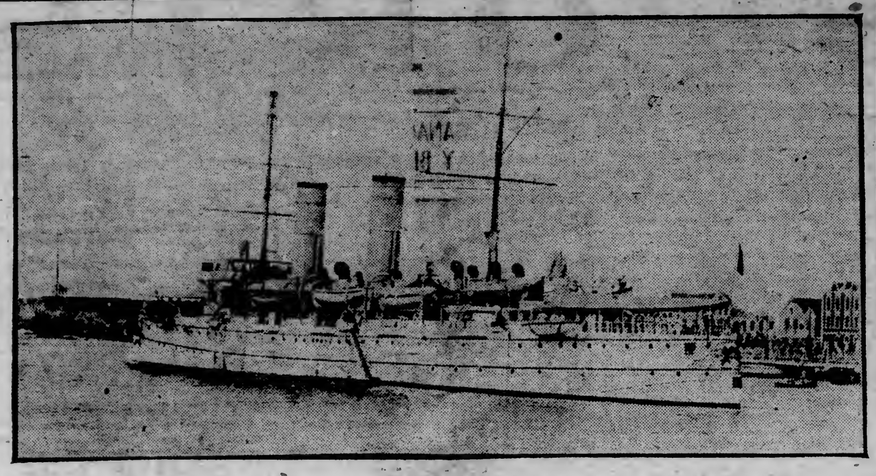

Americans will also be interested to learn that Commander Von Retzmann, formerly naval attache at Washington, commanded the cruiser Strassburg in this engagement with the enemy.

Hundreds of British subjects, principally women and girls, gathered at the American embassy yesterday to arrange for their return passage to England, which is now permitted to women, children and boys under 16. The embassy has arranged for special trains for them for Sept. 21. Arrangements were also made for vising their passports.

Germans Must Mark Time.

Paris, via London, Sept. 16, 10:30 a. m.—The Matin, discussing the withdrawal of the Germans, points out that in order to cover its retreat and avoid the blocking of roads open to it, the German army will have to mark time and fight a second and perhaps a third battle. These battles will be fought under conditions, according to the Matin, certainly most favorable for the French forces, which, thanks to their reinforcements and the rapidity of movement assured them by the railways, will be able to face all eventualities without anxiety.

Though Holland's army now mobilized to prevent invasion is small and not especially efficient, the Dutch have a good coast defense navy of which this is a unit. De Ruijter is a battleship of 5,000 tons.

troops have taken possession of an accumulation of material for bridge building and they destroyed several steamers, one of them armored.

"The desperate efforts of German troops to save the Austrian army from utter rout should be recorded. The active participation of German army corps in the fighting has been revealed at several places along the Austrian front, as for instance at Tourobine.

The Russians captured thirty-six pieces of long range German artillery, in addition to some 5,000 German prisoners at this point. At other places on the front several dozen large German guns, many of which from lack of time had not been used in the fighting, fell into their hands."

In conclusion this announcement of Russian successes declares that the succor sent by Germany did not save the Austrians and that the heavy defeat inflicted upon the Germans has contributed to the brilliancy of the Russian victories.

Armies Join Forces.

London, Sept. 16, 8:35 a. m.—A dispatch to the Express from Rome states that the two Austrian armies commanded by Gens. Dankl and Auffenberg have joined forces at Rzesow, thirteen miles northeast of Jaroslau, and thirty-two miles due north of Przemysl. In the course of this operation, the dispatch says, they lost 40 per cent of their numbers.

Before Court Martial.

Paris, Sept. 16, 11:15 a. m.—In a dispatch from Petrograd the correspondent of the Havas agency says that Lieut. Preisker, the former German commander at Kalisz, Russian Poland, who recently was taken prisoner, has been brought before a cort martial to answer for the atrocities alleged to have been committed when the German troops entered that town.

Road to Budapest Open.

London, Sept. 16, 11:22 a. m.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company, quotes the military critic Michalowski as saying that Russia's victory during the past week over three Austrian armies on the line from the Vistula to the Carpathians leaves the road to Budapest, along the northern base of the Carpathians, completely open. The first period of the war on the western frontier, he adds, thus ends.

SECOND GREAT BATTLE IN NORTHERN FRANCE

Gen. von Kluck to the left wing, where the relief of Troyon by the French is regarded in London as leaving the army of the German crown prince, Frederick William, apparently in a dangerous situation.

As had been predicted in England, the French have retaken Reims, but this step is of greater moral than strategical value, for the line to the northeast of this town provides a better defensive position for the German forces than does the front marked by Reims itself.

According to advices received here from Berlin the demand for news in Germany where the people appear to be growing impatient, has been soothed to a certain extent by the reassuring statement from the general staff that the German line is holding out successfully against the offensive movements of the allies.

Agrees With London News.

So far as the last twenty-four hours are concerned, this information agrees with news received in London with the exception of that regarding the German left wing. This part of the line, judging from dispatches made public in London, appears not only to have withdrawn from the investment of Verdun, but by permitting the relief of Tronyon, which is twelve miles southeast of Verdun, to have left itself only one line of retreat. This is through the Stenay gap, to reach Luxemburg, or by way of Longuyon and Longwy to reach Thionville (Diedenhoff).

If the allies are able to prevent the army of the crown prince from using Metz as a base of operations, it is felt in London that the German left wing would be in as serious a situation as was its right last week.

Detach German Forces.

Expert military observers in Petrograd have declared that the Russian investment of Koenigsberg and Gen. Rennenkampf's foray into East Prussia were planned with the deliberate intent of compelling Germany to detach some of her forces from France to the relief of her East Prussian frontier. In Petrograd military critics unite in characterizing this maneuver as brilliantly successful, so much so, in fact, that the salvation of the allied forces in the west undoubtedly was due to Germany's having sent several of her best army corps to East Prussia.

With this work apparently accomplished, it is being predicted in England today that the Russian forces investing Koenigsberg, together with Gen. Rennenkampf's army, will be withdrawn within the Russian border.

It is a fact that Germany's ally in Galicia has retired within the fortified triangle dominated by Przmysl, as dispatches received here indicate, the inference is drawn by British observers that the Russian right is now free to advance from the south and that an aggressive movement from this quarter may be looked for.

Another Big Battle.

Paris, Sept. 16.—The official communication of Monday which referred to the preceding day's developments, said that the enemy showed a disposition to resist north of the Aisne river. Yesterday's official communication said the enemy had resisted on the line from Craonne and the forest of L'Aigle, north of Compiegne. As a simple rear guard stand against the allies this would scarcely last forty-eight hours, so there must be another big battle in progress since Sunday. The forces that constituted the center in the battle of Marne seem also to be seeking a position on the same line, while the crown prince's army in Argonne continues to retreat in that direction.

Germans on High Ground.

The Germans have on this line the advantage of high ground, with the right protected by the Rivers Oise and Aisne. If the center and left are able to complete a retirement in such shape as to make a stand on the same line they may be able to sustain a general engagement under more favorable conditions than on the Marne. The battle line this time is nearly straight from the east to the west.

In case the German force should retire again they would have two lines of retreat by Longwy and by Sedan.

Mud Bothers Movements.

It remains to be seen whether, under the adverse conditions, the Germans have been able to get their artillery into position through the mud. The situation would be desperate in case of defeat, for the heavy rains continue and under the circumstances the Germans could hardly get their heavy artillery away.

It was rumored last night that the Indian cavalry had arrived and would go into action. This is unconfirmed, however, and doubtless no one will know definitely about them until they have actually participated in an engagement.

Prospects Favorable.

Berlin, Sept. 16, by way of wireless to Sayville, L. I.—The German prospects in the Baltic marine region are still characterized in Berlin as favorable.

The general staff has authorized the announcement that nowhere along the line of battle have the British or French forces won a victory.

No details of the fighting in France are given out and it is said that no decisive turn of events seem probable for some time to come.

Germans Reinforced.

Paris, Sept. 16, 3:24 p. m.—The following official communication was made public here today:

"During the days of the 14th and 15th of September the rear guards of the enemy, with which our pursuing forces were in contact, were reinforced from the main body of the German army.

"The enemy is engaging in a defensive battle along their entire front, on which certain of their positions show strong organization. This front is bounded by the region of Noyon, the plains to the north of Vic-Sur-Aisne and Soissons, Laon, the heights to the north and to the west of Reims and a line which runs thence to the north of Ville-Sur-Tourbe, to the west of the Argonne region and which is continued thence beyond the Argonne by another line which passes north of Varennes, a point that has been evacuated by the enemy, and reaches the River Meuse in the neighborhood of the forest of Forges, which is north of Verdun.

"During the pursuit of the enemy by our troops after the battle of the Marne, the Germans abandoned numerous prisoners to our hands. To these men there has been added a large multitude of stragglers who were hidden in the forests.

"No exact accounting of these prisoners or of the war material captured by us so far has been possible. It is for this reason that the minister of war, who does not want to give out figures which might be considered fantastic, refrains from announcing the details of these captures."

Soissons Abandoned.

Soissons, France, Tuesday, Sept. 15, by way of Paris Sept. 16, 1:15 p. m.—The German right wing, in its retreat abandoned Soissons yesterday, (Monday), at the same time leaving also the southern bank of the river Aisne. The German retirement northward continued during Monday night. The French in their pursuit crossed the river.

The French artillery is today heavily in action on the other bank of the Aisne. The only interruption of the almost Sabbath-like stillness here is the crash of French artillery concealed at a point scarcely 300 yards from Soissons, mingled with the lessened roar of other guns more distant.

To Retire to Rhine.

London, Sept. 16, 9:12 a. m.—A Central News dispatch from Rome quotes a telegram from Basel, Switzerland, to the Messagero, stating that the Germans are reported to have received orders to retire as far as the right bank of the Rhine, completely evacuating France, Belgium and Luxemburg.

Fighting Defensive Battle.

Paris, Sept. 16, 3:18 p. m.—According to official announcement made this afternoon the German army is fighting a defensive battle along its front from Noyon to a point north of Verdun.

Report From Bordeaux.

Washington, Sept. 16.—An official dispatch today to the French embassy from Bordeaux says:

"On our left wing yesterday the Germans rested north of the River Aisne on a line formed by the forest Laigne and the Craonne.

"At the center their line of resistance yesterday was north of Reims and the camp of Charlons toward Vienna (town of western border of Argonne). The hostile forces south of the Argonne have accentuated their movement, retreating between the Argonne and the River Meuse.

"They were holding yesterday evening a front at Varennes and Consenvoye. On our right wing the Germans are retreating toward Metz."

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

Anarchy Exists.

"When it is said that a state of absolute anarchy exists in Mexico it is not stating the facts too strongly. There were some 4,000 good policemen in the city of Mexico, but these have been supplanted by an army of 35,000 soldiers that fought the federal government and among these are several thousands of wild Yaqui Indians who, two months ago, fought with bows and arrows as the only weapons they knew. Imagine these wild men turned loose in the streets of a great city with no law to govern them and with the residents at their mercy.

"Neither life, liberty or property is safe and whenever an officer so desires he may turn a family out of its home and commandeer everything. There is no redress, for there are no courts, no congress, no laws—nothing but anarchy and military despotism with not even a supreme chief to oversee that.

Has No Government.

"Huerta had some sort of a government; Carranza has none whatever; the only claim he has to greatness is his physique and that is not so terrifying either. There is not even martial law there because there is no organization. The Zapatistas, wild roaming bands of brigands, every few days assault the water works of Mexico City, which are only thirty-five minutes ride from the city and are all the time trying to get into town. They are driven away by superior forces, but again make an assault when they feel inclined. But this is only an instance.

TRANSPORT TO GO TO MEXICO FOR TROOPS

Preparations Being Made for Immediate Withdrawal of Forces.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Preparations were being made here today for the withdrawal of the American military forces from Vera Cruz, who have held the city since last May, in accordance with President Wilson's order of evacuation. Transports at Newport News and Galveston were under orders today to proceed as soon as possible to Vera Cruz to take the forces aboard. A short while afterwards the battleship fleet now stationed in Mexican waters will be withdrawn.

The total forces at Vera Cruz under Gen. Funston include 7,200 soldiers and marines, the latter to go back to warships and stations from which they were taken, while the former are to return to Texas City. Their departure is expected to begin within a fortnight.

NOVEL SHELTER FOR CANADIAN TROOPS

Shovels for Entrenching to Be Used as Bullet Shields.

Valcartier, Que., Sept. 16.—The Canadian troops when they sail may be equipped with an implement which would be useful both as an entrenching tool and as a bullet shield when defending an entrenched post against an infantry attack. It is a new form of spade, which would be used to dig shallow trenches during an advance. In the blade an oval aperture is punched. After the trenches are dug the spade would be spiked to the ground, then, lying prone behind it the soldier would fire through the aperture.

Experiments with the spade have been made with rifles and machine guns. Neither weapon punctured the steel and only in one or two cases did the bullets even crack it. The minister of militia, Col. Hughes, was delighted with the results, but would express no opinion as to the probability of the adoption of the device.

Just Between You and Me

By BRUCE

RUMOR whips into being the statement that radical changes will be wrought in the organization of the Northern league at the forthcoming meeting of the merry magnates. Winona is to lapse to the verdant pasture days, it is none too carefully whispered, and Port Arthur and one other change may be made in the present construction of the league.

It is too early to dwell at rapturous length upon all of the changes contemplated. Suffice it to intimate that if all the plans being so carefully cuddled at the present time, are nurtured into mature and joy-giving materialization, that the Northern league will live and thrive another season as one of the livest little leagues in the country—which, by the way, was the case with the Northern during the season that has passed into history.

During the season that has added its toll to the weight of time, Winona drew to the confines of the park something like 20,000 fans. This is the lowest attendance that the southern city has produced in a long list of years. Coupled with the obvious lack of interest in the city beautiful is the startling fact of the geographical aloofness of Winona.

The season past was a record-breaker for the league in the point of real baseball and in the amount of money spent for railroad fare. The figures given to the supine railroad corporations in return for toting the players back and forth around the circuit, are amazing. If most of the teams of the league—or some of the teams—made money, the lucre was made in spite of the amount of travel.

If the present plan goes through, the Northern league of 1915 will be a compact circuit and will also possess the possibilities of the greatest drawing power of any league that has as yet been organized in this section of the country.

What are the plans?

You will have to await the results of the meeting here. Underneath the new fall hats of the magnates some honeyed plans are buzzing, and fruitful materialization should result in one of the niftiest leagues in the country.

The Return of William.

RACY rumor always audacious and sometimes truthful, announces as a possible future attraction William Sommer in the strident role of owner of the Superior Baseball team.

Whether the train of this rumor is freighted judiciously with facts, remains to be seen; the statement is published here for its face value.

William has been joyously sojourning in the golden glow of California. But friends of Will's are authors of the statement that he yearns for the old love and wouldst be back in the town that he fed and amused in the past.

The Problem of Yost.

STATISTICS and Harvard's line tend to make one believe that Fielding H. Yost will judiciously resort to the forward pass in the effort to defeat the Crimson stalwarts of Harvard in the gridiron contest that looms with ominous portent on the lurid list of intersectional games.

Statistics, for instance, serve to discourage any coach from attempting to play the running game against the Haughton machine. Taking the big Eastern games as the basis of accounting, it will be found that touchdowns have been of so infrequent occurrence as to suggest the highly developed defensive strength of the Eastern teams.

On the other five fingers of the argument comes the suggestion that the varied offense of some of the leading Western teams is much more highly developed than the offense of the teams laboring in the effete section of the country.

Coaches out here—and this is especially true of Yost—have realized that ten yards in four downs, without the assistance given the man with the ball in the old days, is a very great amount of distance to gain, therefore the subtle development of the possibilities of the forward pass in all its ramifications.

Notre Dame opened the eyes of the Eastern coaches to the possibilities of the forward pass. Keen students of the game and all of the legion of wide-eyed followers of the game here in the virgin West are ardently hoping, that Michigan, despite loss of veteran material, and despite the fact that precedent points a stern and unrelenting finger at the Harvard's goal mark of success, will assault the Eastern bastile with success and will astonish through the medium of the forward pass.

Out here our men pass low and far and the receiver takes the ball on the run; and it is this style of open play, used to open up the offense for the running game as well as to gain with the passes, that will no doubt be the chief dependence of Yost and coherent cohorts.

Hark Ye and Mark Ye.

LISTEN lads—this American association is the safe and unruffled refuge of the old women of baseball and its uneventful life is as calm and placid as farm life in North Dakota during the months that follow the harvest.

About two players will go up from the association this season. All of the Northern league players that have broken into the A. A. this fall have stellared with effulgent and highly glittering success. The Northern, a humble and more or less obscure class C organization, has had more promising players during the season past than the American association has at the present time.

Around the A. A. circuit the grievious charge of a waning league is sadly admitted. It may sound highly bumptious and like pulling the bow a trifle too far, but the cold gray fact remains that the Northern league of the season past played baseball mighty near to the general class of pastiming put forth during the present season by the A. A. teams.

Giants Drop Another.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—Philadelphia defeated New York yesterday, giving the home team the series by three games to two. As Boston won, New York lost a full game in the race for the pennant. The visitors made nine hits and received five bases on balls, but the home twirler was usually very effective in the pinches. Fromme settled down after being hit hard in the first inning, but in the fifth Philadelphia scored the runs which decided the issue on Burns' muff of Alexander's fly, a single by Lobert, a force out and Magee's triple. Fletcher and Donlin were ordered to the clubhouse in the fourth inning for disputing with Umpire Rigler. Score:

Braves Gain Another.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—By defeating Brooklyn while Philadelphia was beating New York yesterday the Boston team increased its lead in the pennant race by a full game. The visitors hammered James' delivery hard, getting 15 hits to Boston's 7, but the local twirler was strong in the pinches. Brooklyn used three pitchers, the best of whom was Aitchison, the last to go in, who held Boston to one hit during five innings. Maranville's throw from deep short for the third out in the eighth inning with men on second and third bases was a feature. Score:

Red Sox Beat Senators.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Boston won its last game of the season in Washington yesterday. Shaw's wildness caused his own defeat. In the ninth he passed Hoblitzell and then threw Janvrein's bunt over second base, Hoblitzell going to third and scoring the winning run when Milan threw to the Boston dugout. Speaker scored the Red Sox's first run in the fourth on a double and singles by Lewis and Hoblitzell. Washington's run came in the sixth inning when Milan was passed, stole second and scored on Gandil's single. Score:

WILL OUTCLASS THE ADAMS TEAM

Former Manager of Virginia Football Team Leaves Defi.

The Virginia city team, which gave the Adams team of Duluth a hard battle last season, will defeat the Duluth eleven this year, according to Ralph Wilk, manager of the Virginia team in 1913, who was in the city yesterday en route to Minneapolis. Mr. Wilk says he feels certain that he has the right "hunch."

Sandy McDonald, formerly of Duluth, will manage the range eleven this season. Walter H. Radamacher of Gilbert, the former University of Minnesota star, who coached the Virginia team last season, will again be in charge.

Among the veterans who will be seen in the Virginia lineup are Greisch, Meehan, Arnold, Cummings, Reed, Donovan, Floyd, "Doc" Lindsay and others who opposed the Adams team last fall. The rangers will start practicing this week.

Manager McDonald is now making efforts to fill the quarterback position, which was Virginia's weak spot in 1913. "Bobby Marshall, the Minneapolis star, and "Rube" Ursella, the Marine, have each been offered the position. C. Dorais, brother of H. Dorais, the Notre Dame quarterback, who won all-American laurels last year, will try for a backfield position.

A. Hawkinson, Virginia's big forward, who played a star game against the Adams, has enrolled at Minnesota and will try for the varsity eleven, says Mr. Wilk. The range management is now booking games with Duluth and Twin City elevens.

ALUMNI TO MEET CENTRAL

Former Football Stars Will Don the Moleskins.

Former heroes of the high school gridiron and present heroes and hopeto-be heroes will pleasantly or unpleasantly mingle, as the case may be, in the Central-Alumni football game, scheduled for next Saturday.

Last season the high school team was defeated by the alumni. This season the members of the graduates' hero roll state that the result will be repeated and that the dose will be larger.

Among the players available for the former stars are most of the team members of the last few years. All of the alumni players getting out for practice will be assured of getting into at least part of the game. The first practice of the alumni will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening.

Capt. Kerr of the high school team has stated that more "pep" and speed must be displayed by his men, if a victory is to be achieved over the grads.

With weight end experience favoring the alumni team, the high school boys must depend upon team work and speed for a victory, and a large amount of work will have to be accomplished in this behalf during the week.

Following is a partial list of the alumni players who are expected to take part in the game:

TRAINER OF MANY PUGILISTS HERE

HARRY SEEBACK.

Harry Seeback, who has instructed such men as John L. Sullivan, James J. Jeffries, James J. Corbett, Battling Nelson, Abe Attell and Frank Gotch in the use of the punching bag, is in Duluth this week.

Seeback has held the Richard K. Fox bag punching medal for six consecutive years, and as a bag punching expert and trainer has helped prepare some of the great pugilists and wrestlers for their contests. In his vaudeville act at the Orpheum he keeps fourteen bags beating a tattoo at the same time.

Seeback, who is of slender build but in perfect physical condition, took up bag punching when he seemed to be about ready for the grave. He says it has made him as fit physically as any 250-pound football player, and he advocates bag punching as the ideal exercise for boys as it not only builds the muscles, but quickens the eye and gives speed and agility as well as more strength.

WHITE SOX MANAGER MAY BE DEPOSED

JIMMY CALLAHAN.

Strange rumors flit thither and yon concerning the future of Jimmy Callahan. Some say that Comiskey is disappointed in the showing of the White Sox under his present manager, and is seeking for a new pilot for 1915. With one of the greatest pitching staffs in the league, some believe that the Sox should be higher up in the race. It would not surprise some of the followers of the game to hear of the deposing of James J. Callahan.

THE PASSING OF A GREAT LEADER

FRANK CHANCE.

The passing of Frank Chance removes one of the heroic figures of baseball. Linked with McGraw, Fred Clarke and Connie Mack in the forefront of the managerial ranks, the going of Chance will mark the passing of one of the most potent personalities that the modern game has produced. Chance is a fighter from first to last. His lack of success in New York detracts more or less from his glowing fame as leader of the wonderful Cubs, but nevertheless the big, bow-legged chap will go down in the annals of the game as one of its greatest figures, for his prowess as a player will assure him that distinction.

ANOTHER WIN ADDED.

Star Trotter Carries Off Big Stake at Detroit Fair Races.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 16.—Margaret Druin, star stake trotter of the Walter Cox stable, added another to her long string of victories, when she easily won the Dickinson stake for 2:19 trotters in straight heats at the state fair harness races here yesterday. Etawah, splendidly handled by Geers, captured the Fifield stake for 2:08 trotters in three heats.

The 2:17 pace, in which four miles were raced yesterday, dragged through seven heats, Neida Schnell taking the final three.

Five heats in the 2:04 pace failed to decide a winner. In the fourth heat of this event Driver Sweeney was unseated when Billy M.'s sulkey struck the fence. He was severely bruised and had to be carried from the tracks.

FOUR GRAND FORKS MEN IN ASSOCIATION.

Four former Grand Forks Northern leaguers are now members of the St. Paul club of the American association. Nitnecker has been playing shortstop since the day he landed with the St. Paul team, and has been doing some good work. Larson pitched good ball against Kansas City, but was wild in his second appearance at Milwaukee. Donley fared badly in his first appearance in the association, but against Milwaukee, when he relieved Larson, he showed to good advantage during six innings.

Catcher Peters probably won't be with the Saints long, having been drafted by the Detroit Tigers.

TABLOID SPORT GOSSIP

BY BRUCE.

Back in 1898 the Boston Nationals won their last pennant. The team finished the season with a percentage of .685, thus indicating the class of the aggregation.

Some great critic has stated that all great teams possess great strength around second base. This is true of the present Boston team with Evers and Maranville. This was also true of the illustrious pennant winners of 1898.

Richard Lowe played second base and the immortal Herman Long was at short. Jimmy Collins was at third and Fred Tenney, one of the greatest of all first basemen, was guardian of the initial sack.

Boston has been one of the cradles of liberty and baseball. Looking over the record of the older league it will be found that the name of Boston is profusely dotted in the pennant winnings.

The Red Sox have won three gonfalons in the American league, but in the older league the cause of the famous old team has been rather a forlorn one since the last great stand of a great but fading team, the aggregation of 1898.

Stahl, Hamilton, Duffy, Collins, Lowe, Long, Tenney, Lewis, Nichols, Willis, Bergen and others added luster to the roster of that club. Opposed to the brillancy of the of the players of that far removed period of baseball comes the rather ordinary team of today; the team that is leading the bunch and the aggregation that promises to win one more flag for Boston and bring back to the center of ethical culture and the more material center of pork and beans another token of baseball supremacy.

Milwaukee has made Joe Mandot the favorite over Ad Wolgast in the forthcoming bout. It can't be that Adolph has neglected his training—he never did anything like that.

John Evers is one of the few world series honor players with the Boston team. Should Boston win it would be the comparatively inexperienced against the wise and sophiseticated big money series players of Connie Mack's brigade.

Ray Temple desires to fight Joe Rivers before the Hudson club. After a somewhat painful experience with boxers of the elusive and will-o-the-wisp class, Mike Collins is going back to the primitive type as exemplified in Frederick Fulton and Albertus Palzer. When the last verse has been written, it may be said that the average fight patron loves the slugger.

Charley White promises to be the next opponent of Freddy Welsh. It will require a boy with a remarkable left to whip Welsh, and White has a wonderful mitt lashed to his port side.

One of the chances for Pal Brown to gain fame and advancement in the fight game, is to meet Leach Cross and stand toe to toe with the dentist and fight. This would show Brown in the reflected glory of a fighter and would cast odium upon the already ridiculed efforts of John Tecumseth Tillman.

So successful were the automobile races at the recent state fair that it is proposed to devote two days of the 1915 fair to the kings of the speed path.

It was authoritatively announced in Minneapolis last evening that the final options upon property desired for the proposed automobile speedway have been secured and that work upon the construction of the plant that is expected to surpass the Indianapolis speedway, will start in the immediate future.

• • •

Football prospects at Minnesota are the bleakest in years. Conditions have removed some of the experienced players and graduation has also worked havoc. The followers of the team view the coming games with Chicago and Wisconsin with ominous forboding.

"AGED" CREWS TO COMPETE

Former Oarsmen Will Take Part in Fall Regatta.

Efforts are being made to arrange an eight-oared race between members of the crews that have contested in the past for the glory of the Duluth Boat club. The plan is to have four crews made up from those of the antediluvian past, the mediaeval past and the yet more recent past, and arrange a contest for a quarter of a mile. This contest is supposed to furnish the comedy feature of the forthcoming regatta of the Duluth Boat club. The real racing of the association will be furnished by the crews that this season won honors at Kenora and Philadelphia.

The fall regatta of this season promises to be the best ever staged by the club. In addition to all of the oarsmen who competed at the National and Northwestern, Ten Eyck will have a large number of youngsters out.

One of the feature races of the program promises to be the contest between the crack senior four, the Riley conquering brigade, and a four that Ten Eyck is priming with the special purpose of defeating the Horak crew.

Following are some of the old oarsmen who are expected to sit in the age classic contest:

The "Has Beens."	The "Tottering Wrecks."
MacGregor	Puck
Lynam	Thompson
McNary	L Estrange
Liggett	Cheney
Grant	Sinclair
St. Pierre	McDowell
Haroldson	Skelton

CHANCE NO LONGER LEADS YANKEES

Roger Peckinpaugh Temporarily Manager—Jack Dunn Leads in 1915.

New York, Sept. 16.—Frank Chance is no longer manager of the New York Americans. He has severed his connection with the club and left last night on an automobile trip to California. He announced at the Polo grounds yesterday afternoon he was out of the game. He said he had received his full pay up to the end of the season.

It is understood that Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Internationals will be manager next season. Meanwhile Roger Peckinpaugh has been placed in charge of the team temporarily.

FORMER CHAMPIONS OUT

Three Experts Fail in First Match of Women's Golf Tournament.

Glen Cove, N. Y., Sept. 16.—During the first match play round for the women's national golf championship at the Nassau Country club yesterday, three of the five former champions who qualified Monday were among the sixteen eliminated. Misses Margaret and Harriet S. Curtis of Essex county, Mass., and Miss Frances Griscom of Philadelphia, made up the defeated trio of erstwhile title holders and the successful pair were Mrs. Arnold M. Jackson, Oakley, Mass., and Miss Georgiana M. Bishp, Brooklyn, Conn.

Miss Bishop defeated the young Georgia girl, Miss Alexa Sterling of Atlanta, who played pluckily, but showed lack of experience at critical stages.

Herzog Suspended.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Manager Charles Herzog of the Cincinnati National league club has been indefinitely suspended by President Tener of the National league for disputing a decision of the umpire in a game played here last Sunday. This announcement was made at Cincinnati baseball headquarters here today.

WILLIAMS WINNING.

National Tennis Champion Gaining in Intercollegiate Tourney.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—R. Norris Williams, national tennis champion and holder of the 1913 intercollegiate title, won his way through the preliminary and first rounds of the thirty-fourth annual tournament of Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis association, staged on the courts of the Merion Cricket club here yesterday. In the morning Williams beat Jack Rowland of the University of Pennsylvania, while in the afternoon he won from Head of Cornell by default.

Nine colleges were entered, but at the end of the first day's doings saw only Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Pittsburg still in the running.

Has-Beens Fight to Draw.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—Sam Langford of this city and Battling Jim Johnson of New York, both negro heavyweights, fought twelve rounds to a draw here last night.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HIBBING COUNCIL HOLDS SESSION

Various Routine and Other Matters Are Considered.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—An order in the sum of $250 to defray in part the expense of caring for the armory, etc., was ordered drawn up in favor of the local Minnesota National Guard company by the council last night. The weekly reports of the several village officials were accepted and placed on file. A liquor license renewal was granted to Joe Fowler. A communication from the Burns-McDonnell company, architects from Kansas City, Mo., offering to do the necessary survey work and to furnish drawings of the proposed new storm sewer system in Alice and Brooklyn was laid over until the next meeting.

Road to Build Viaduct.

In a communication to Recorder Haley the Great Northern stated that they were expecting the material any day for the completion of the St. Louis avenue viaduct at Alice. Several applications for permits to repair houses were laid over and the parties will be requested to furnish plans for the proposed work.

A redraft of the water contract entered into between the Layne & Bowler Contracting company, Houston, Tex., and the village council will be reaccepted by the council after being executed by the proper authorities.

JOHN MAKKI HELD ON "DOE" WARRANT

Alleged Slayer of Carlton County Man Will Not Talk.

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Makki, arrested a few days ago at his homestead south of Cromwell, charged with killing John Hjerppi in his lonely cabin near Cromwell, Sept. 8, is being held on a "John Doe" warrant pending the outcome of the examination of some suspicious blood marks on Makki's cabin. Makki and the slain man were apparently friends, having worked together cutting cordwood and were together the day of the killing. Suspicion was directed toward Makki when blood stains were found on the door of his cabin and on one of his shirts.

Would Not Attend Funeral.

His actions since the assassination have also tended to bring him under suspicion, as he refused to talk, express sympathy over the tragedy or to attend Hjerppi's funeral last Thursday. Makki is a Finn, unable to speak English, and efforts to get any sort of a statement out of him have proved futile. He will be held until word has been received from the Twin Cities of the result of the examination of a board out of his cabin door bearing blood marks and the marks on his shirt determines whether these were animal or human blood.

A coroner's jury found that the deceased came to his death by a shot fired by parties unknown. The motive of the crime is supposed to have been robbery, as Hjerppi was reported to have had about $1,000 concealed about his cabin, but none of this has been located.

Hjerppi has two sisters living at Eveleth, a brother, aged 18, working in a Mesaba range sawmill and another brother living in Michigan.

DULUTH PRESBYTERY MEETS AT EVELETH

Stated Fall Meeting Will Be Held There Sept. 22 and 23.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The stated fall meeting of the Presbytery of Duluth will be held in the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 22 and 23. There will be a representation from the Presbyterian churches at Barnum, Big Fork, Blackduck, Bovey, Bruno, Carlton, Cloquet, Duluth, Ely, Eveleth, Grand Rapids, Gilbert, Hibbing, Hinckley, Kelsey, Knife River, Mora, Mountain Iron, New Duluth, Pine City, Virginia and Willow River.

The Presbytery will convene on Tuesday evening at 7:30 and the main feature of the opening service will be the sermon by the retiring moderator, Rev. W. W. Lawrence, D. D., of the Glen Avon church of Duluth, and the election of a moderator and temporary clerk after which Rev. Philip A. Schwarz as chairman of the committee of arrangements will make a report.

Some Reports.

The Wednesday morning session will be opened with a half hour devotional service after which the regular business of the Presbytery will be taken up when it is expected that many interesting reports will be read and much important business transacted. The meeting is open to the general public. Among the reports to be given are those of: "Administrative Missions," by Rev. Robert Yost, D. D.; "Foreign Missions," by Rev. J. A. McGaughey; "Ministerial Relief," by Elder L. A. Marvin; "Freedmen," by Rev. Sears Thomson; "Vacancy and Supply," by Rev. F. J. Barackmann; "Colleges," by Rev. L. B. Sherwin; "Education," by Rev. W. O. Garrett; "Bible and Tract Societies," by Rev. James Watt; "Sabbath Observance," by Rev. J. C. Mapson, and "Necrology," by Rev. F. J. Barackmann.

The Wednesday evening meeting will be a popular meeting to be addressed by able speakers on timely topics.

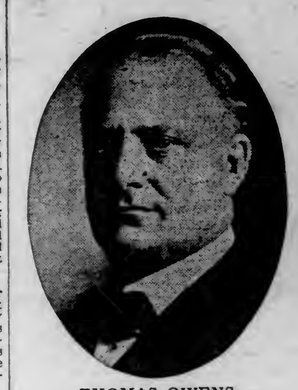

The Ladies' Aid society of the church will serve dinner and supper in the church basement on Wednesday to the visiting delegates and a trip through the mines and to other points of interest is being planned by the committee.

Practical Prescription Against Stomach Acidity

Nine-tenths of all cases of stomach trouble nowadays are caused by too much acid. In the beginning the stomach itself is not diseased but if this acid condition is allowed to continue, the acid is very likely to eat into the stomach walls and produce stomach ulcers which may render a radical surgical operation necessary even to prolong life. Therefore, an "acid stomach" is really a dangerous condition and should be treated seriously. It is utterly useless to take pepsin and ordinary stomach tablets. The excess acid or stomach hyperacidity must be neutralized by the administration of an efficient antacid. For this purpose the best remedy is bisurated magnesia taken in teaspoonful doses in a fourth of a glass of water after each meal. Larger quantities may be used if necessary as it is absolutely harmless. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bisurated magnesia as other forms of magnesia make effective mouth washes but they have not the same action on the stomach as the bisurated.

LAKE COUNTY'S ANNUAL FAIR VERY PROMISING

THOMAS OWENS,
President of Fair Board of Directors.

W. B. WOODWARD,
Secretary of Lake County Agricultural Society.

DR. J. D. BUDD,
President of Lake County Agricultural Society.

FRED D. W. THIAS,
Assistant Secretary of Lake County Agricultural Society.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Threatening weather did not prevent many people being on hand when the gates of Lake county's eighth annual fair, given under the auspices of the county agricultural society, opened this morning for three days. It is warm but rather muggy, with a prospect of clearing before night, which raises the hopes of the fair officials. Most of the exhibits are expected to be in position before night. The exhibitors have up to 6 o'clock this evening to place exhibits. The exhibits for the women's departments are nearly all placed, and according to the superintendents in charge, they are superior to any former show.

In the agricultural department many entries were not made up till noon, especially from the farming country, but this department is expected to be well filled before night. The displays made by some of the gardeners of the city are wonderful, and go to show what can be raised on the back of a city lot. Among the farmers who are expected to have excellent exhibits are L. D. Rose, winner several times of the Duluth & Iron Range special prize; Mr. Lavagine, also several times winner of the Duluth & Iron Range first prize. Others are also expected to come to the front this year that heretofore have not been heard from for the big prizes.

Fine Live Stock Display.

The most exceptional and interesting department this year will undoubtedly be the live stock. Special effort was made by the officers to greatly improve this department, and much to their satisfaction, indications are that their efforts will meet with unexpected success. Already much live stock has been received and much more is expected during the day. There is some of the best live stock in the state right here in Lake county, but prior to this year much of it was never put on exhibition.

The poultry department also shows a big increase over last year, which is undoubtedly due to the increase in the premium lists. Fred D. W. Thias, who is an officer of the fair association, is expected to have his usual fine display of birds on hand.

Officers expect a large crowd to attend this afternoon and evening. By evening all exhibits in every department will be in place. This evening the Two Harbors Marine band will give a concert. The judging of the exhibits will commence Thursday morning. The fair officers have been very careful in their selection of judges, only the best being selected.

Those in charge of the various departments and the total amount offered in each department for premiums are as follows:

Livestock—Iver Amundson, superintendent, total amount offered, $350.

Poultry—J. J. Crooke, superintendent, $140.

Dairy—Theodore G. Johnson, superintendent, $50.

Agriculture—Thomas Owens, superintendent, $300, which includes all special prizes.

Horticulture—Supt. Thomas Owens, $125.

Floriculture—Mrs. A. G. Johnson, superintendent, $50.

Apiary—A. A. McPheeters, superintendent, $100.

Women's department—General committee in charge, Mrs. Thomas Owens, Mrs. E. P. Christensen and Mrs. E. H. Schreiner, tota amount offered in all women's departments is $300.

Boys' and Girls' department—Mrs. E. W. Conliff, superintendent, $50.

School Exhibits—A. A. McPheeters, superintendent, $50, open to school children and is confined largely to manual training and school gardening.

Friday will be Duluth day, and a special train will leave the Union depot at 1 o'clock for Two Harbors. Many are also expected to come up from Duluth by auto. The roads are in fine shape between here and Duluth, and those owning cars should not hesitate to make use of them for the trip.

JURY ACQUITS MAN WHO BEAT OFFICER

First of Three Holman Assault Cases Results in Acquittal.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of Matt Teeporten, who was charged with assault in the first degree, was completed yesterday afternoon, and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty after having been out only five minutes. Teeporten was accused of having been one of the men who "beat up" Joseph Skorich, a policeman, the night of July 4 in the Johnson saloon at Holman. Skorich was badly injured with a stone. Several men were implicated in the melee, three other men and Mrs. Ernest Johnson, the owner of the saloon, having been indicted with Teeporten on the same charge. The cases are being tried separately, and Teeporten's was the first to be tried. County Attorey McOuat handled the state's side, and Ralph A. Stone appeared for the defendant.

Miller Awarded $126.

In the case of Andrew Miller of Hill City, who was suing the Hill City & Mississippi Railway company for $10,000 damages, claimed to have been sustained by Miller by reason of having been put off the train on the railroad of that company for being drunk and disorderly and using obscene language, the jury returned a verdict of $126.

The personal injury case of Gust Williamson vs. the village of Keewatin is on trial. Williamson is suing for $2,465 for damages sustained as a result of injuring his foot on the sidewalks of the village. M. H. McMahon of Virginia and R. A. McOuat are appearing for the village and Philip M. Stone of Keewatin is the attorney for Williamson.

"RECALLED" PAIR WILL RUN AGAIN

Mayor Gleason and Commissioner Brince to Seek Vindication.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Undeterred by the outcome of yesterday's special election which recalled them from their positions Mayor John J. Gleason and Commissioner Joseph J. Brince will seek vindication at the polls, and according to an announcement they made after the result was known last night they will be candidates for re-election at the special election the charter provides must be held thirty days hence. Former Mayor Jacob S. Saari also announces he will be a candidate for mayor.

There was a majority of only thirty-four votes in favor of retiring Mayor Gleason while Commissioner Brince was retired by a majority of 127.

Charges Against Them.

They were charged with extravagance and incompetency in the petition which resulted in the election being called. Partiality in giving out city jobs and other charges were used as campaign material.

Gleason and Brince contend that the fight was clearly between the mining companies and the citizens and that the corporations were responsible for the recall petition.

There was considerable interest in the outcome of the voting as almost 900 ballots were polled in the six precincts. Both the supporters and opponents of the administration marshalled the voters to the voting place.

Hibbing Drill Work.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Layne & Bowler, the contracting company that is putting in the water system, has been drilling since Aug. 1 and in that time has sunk two test wells to a depth of between 250 and 300 feet each. In both of the wells a supply of wholesome water was found. Some trouble was experienced from boulders in drilling the second hole.

DOUBTING THOMAS IS NOW CONVINCED

Itasca County Thresher Admits Grain Can Be Raised There.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Ingersoll of Warba has commenced threshing in this vicinity, using a modern threshing rig with powerful steam engine, self-feeder and blower.

Mr. Ingersoll, though he has been threshing in this section for several years, has not been convinced of the agricultural possibilities of this section until recently.

"This will make a farming country after all," said Mr. Ingersoll. "After going around and seeing what I have seen in the way of what can be grown here, one cannot help but be convinced. One thing, though, that I am surprised at is that more farmers around here do not get sheep to help them with their land clearing. I got a few last fall, and this summer they cleaned up the brush land upon which they were pastured so that it was as clean as that street, and they yield a good profit. With the wonderfully fine roads which this county is building, it should not be long before the whole county is settled."

MESABA ITALIANS ARE TO CELEBRATE

Forty-Fourth Anniversary of Italian Unity to Be Observed.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The forty-fourth anniversary of the completion of Italian unity and the abolition of the temporal power of the pope in Italy will be celebrated by the Italians of the Mesaba range in the city auditorium here next Sunday afternoon. This is the great patriotic day among the Italians the world over, and means to them what the Fourth of July does to Americans.

Much interest is being manifested by local Italians and a large attendance is anticipated. The three societies of Eveleth, Perche Umbria, Vittorio, Emanuelle I and Societa Operaia, will participate. They will form in parade, and headed by the Eveleth City band, march to the auditorium.

The Italian counsel of Duluth, Sig. Attilio Castigliano, will be represented by Sig. F. M. Bocchardi, who will deliver an address in the native language. D. E. Collins, one of Hibbing's well known attorneys, will deliver the address in English. Other brief addresses will be given in English and Italian by Revs. Gaetano Lizzi, Nicola Santella and W. J. Bell. Special music consisting of vocal and instrumental selections has been provided for the occasion. Miss Josephine Bucci will give a reading of a patriotic poem entitled "Un' Ode Di' Annunzio Per la Ressurrezione Latina."

The services will begin at 2:30 and the general public has been invited.

The following committees are in charge of the services: Arrangements—Martino Ciagne, Sabitino Romitelli, Primo Chiodini, Giuseppe Spera, Cesare Capitanelli, Stefano Angerilli, Guiseppe De Giovanni, Rev. Gaetano Lizzi and Frank Lopresti.

Reception—Primo Chiodini, Sabatino Romitelli, Antonio Angerilli and Guiseppe Spero.

LONGYEAR LAKE RULING IMPORTANT

Mesaba Mining Men Interested in Supreme Court's Decision.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The decision of the supreme court overruling the findings of Judge Cant in the matter of the right to mine under the bottom of Longyear lake at Chisholm, is of the widest interest to mining men and mining interests, of the Missabe range, deciding, as it does, a vital matter not heretofore passed upon by any court of last resort.

The supreme court holds that the owners of the shore of the lake may mine between the high and low water marks, providing they do not interfere with any public right of the state, but that the state is entitled to an injunction restraining them from mining under the waters of the lake below low water mark.

The supreme court holds that Longyear lake is a navigable or public body of water, being more than 150 acres in extent and having situated on its banks a city of more than 2,000 inhabitants, also that to be navigable under the meaning of the law it is not necessary that a body of water should be capable of commerce of pecuniary value. If it is suitable for boating, fishing, etc., and of sufficient public demand, it is a nagivable, or in more modern term, a public body of water.

The soil under the water of a navigable or public body of water does not pass with a patent from the United States, declares the supreme court, as the title to such soil vests in the state and not in the national government. Moreover the soil under such waters is held by the state in its sovereign governmental capacity" and not for purposes of alienation.

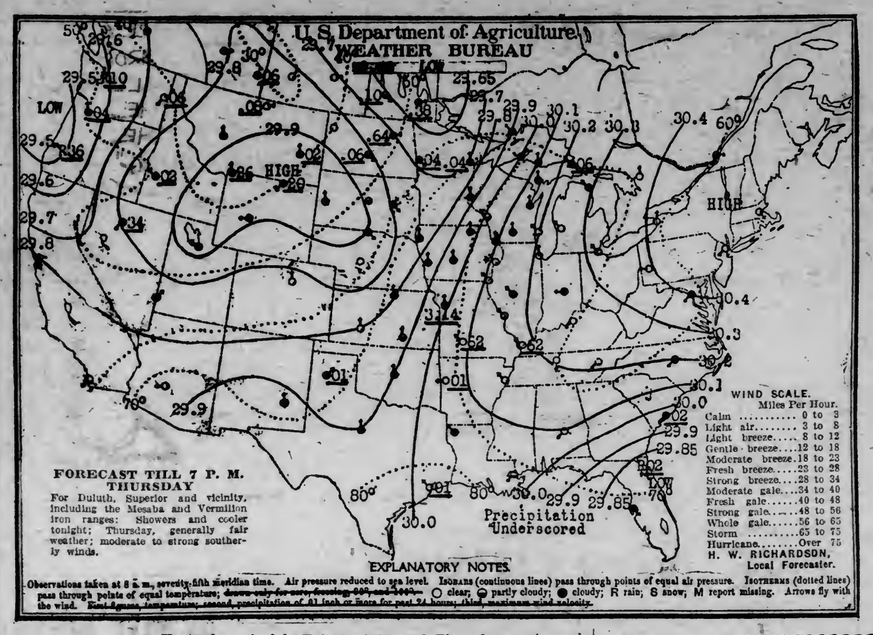

TO CONTINUE WORK.

Hibbing Will Carry Well Sinking Operations Further.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the water and light board held last evening the contractor who is drilling the Penobscot creek well was instructed to continue drilling the 12-inch hole until be strikes a hard, taconite formation. Bids for testing the well and for a concrete power house complete, including a standard pumping system and 1,000,000-gallon capacity reservoir will be called to be opened Tuesday. The estimated cost to test the well and build the power house, which would probably be used as a reserve and would be connected with the municipal water system, is $14,000.

Supt. Waymire of the power plant was instructed to purchase the necessary white cedar poles for the extension to the service line which it is proposed to make to the Ansley and Pritchart properties in and near south of the village.

FAIR

Yesterday held out fine until evening and then the weather man made good his prediction that there would be showers. That is just what they were, but enough to discourage much outdoor evening engagements, and many parties were spoiled, for the day was so fine that the last picnics of the year began to be arranged. The night and this morning were muggy and disagreeable and took the "pep" out of everybody, but there is still hope for the future.

A year ago today was fine. The sun rose this morning at 5:47 and will set this evening at 6:19, giving twelve hours and thirty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Temperatures of 90 deg. occurred Tuesday in the Gulf states, Oklahoma, Kansas and Arizona. Chilly weather continues in Wyoming, Montana, Western North Dakota, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Temperatures have risen somewhat over the Lower Mississippi and Upper Mississippi valleys and Northwestern lake region, during the last twenty-four hours. "PAIN IN THE BACK"

Do not worry about a pain in your back. The worry will do you more harm than the pain. The serious diseases of the kidneys seldom or never produce such pains while the cause of most backache is muscular rheumatism, which is painful but never fatal. Lumbago is a form of muscular rheumatism, so is stiff neck.

Sufferers from any form of muscular rheumatism affecting the joints, should keep the general health at the highest standard by the use of a non-alcoholic tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and eat good nourishing food without too much meat. Proper nutrition and good blood are the best means of fighting rheumatism. Medicines do not control the disease directly but a well nourished system will often throw it off. Rheumatism quickly thins the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and as they build it up and strengthen the system there is an increased resistance to the rheumatic poisons. In this way many rheumatic sufferers have found complete recovery.

A book "Building Up the Blood" which tells about the treatment of rheumatism is free for the asking from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

LAUNCH PARTY HAS VERY CLOSE CALL

Deer River, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—While George Scott of Hibbing took Matt Barnes of Mud Lake, V. L. Schugre of Minneapolis and Fred Potter of Deer River out "joy riding" Monday night in his twenty-five horse power launch on White Oak lake, the boat sank in about ten feet of water and the party was rescued after standing on the prow of the launch about an hour with their heads barely out of the water.

The boat carried no light and when going at high speed ran into a small launch, which was also without lights. It was thought no damage was done either boat. Shortly after this Scott's boat ran onto a "dead head" and one or both of these mishaps caused a hole to be punched into the boat's hull, which was the cause of her sinking. The men swam about for several minutes before discovering the tip of the flag pole on the prow, to which they all clung and shouted for help. After an hour of this, and nearly chilled to death, the man in the launch which had been collided with came to the rescue, as did also a Mr. Smith of Cohasset with a launch which is working on the Mississippi near by. The party seem none the worse for their cold bath.

George Scott is a jewelry merchant of Hibbing and has just completed the erection of a large hunting resort on Leech river which he is conducting for the accommodation of range sports. Mr. Schugre represents a party of Minneapolis hunters who have a lodge on Mud lake, above the Scott place. Mr. Barnes is a pioneer settler on Leech river and Mr. Potter is in charge of the buffet at the Everton hotel here.

COOK COUNTY MAN IS PRIZE WINNER

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claus Monker, a progressive farmer of Cook county, just returned from the state fair where he exhibited some of the products of his farm. Mr. Monker, who lives near Grand Marais, was the only farmer from either Cook or Lake county who had an exhibition of farm produce at the state fair. He won prizes aggregating $200. He states that in almost everything he was exceedingly successful. His potatoes were best on exhibition and other garden truck ranked with the best. In clovers and grasses only one other county in the state had a better exhibition. Mr. Monker is very anxious that other farmers living in Lake and Cook counties get busy and make exhibitions at the state fair. He states that farming in Cook county is not very extensive but states that during the past few years many farmers have purchased land in Cook county with the intention of improving it.

Urges Lake County Exhibit.

Mr. Monker has interview many of the prominent men and officials of the local county fair association with the view of having Lake county place an exhibit at the state fair next year. He also stated that the Cook county farmers intend to do so if possible next year. It is quite possible that Mr. Monker has started something, and that Lake and Cook counties will both be represented at the state fair next year.

GRAND RAPIDS NOTES.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bob Jutras of Cohasset has just sold out his interest in the meat market in Cohasset of which he was part owner. He has not yet decided what he will do, but he may come to Grand Rapids and be associated with his brother, Frank, in the meat market here.

Mrs. John C. McKusick of Marble was a guest of friends and relatives here Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Aiton returned the first of the week from St. Peter, where she spent part of her vacation with her mother, who was quite ill.

Bernhardt Richter, a new settler in the Splithand country, was here patronizing the local merchants. Mr. Richter was formerly a laborer who got tired of working by the day, and he saved enough money to make a payment on a piece of company land, which he is paying for by installments. He says he is not living without working, and working hard, but he says that he is making a better living. He has only a couple of acres cleared, and he expects by next spring to have twice as much more ready for crops.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Constance Lappetti and P. Guoouto, miners working at the Section 30 mine were lost in the woods thirty-six hours near here and were guided out of the woods by the continuous blowing of the mine whistle.

CRIMINAL CASES ARE POSTPONED

Stukel, Chisholm Farmer, Captures First Prize at County Fair.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—By capturing the first prize at the late county fair at Hibbing, J. J. Stukel of this village retains his title of "Potato King" of this section. Last year he was victorious over N. E. Chapman, also of Chisholm, winner of first place in the potato exhibit in New York several years ago, against entries from all over the United States. It is Mr. Stukel's intention to enter some of his prize winning vegetables in the national exhibition later in the year. He also captured first prize for turkeys, first award for turnips, and second place in white turnips. He likewise annexed the blue ribbon for black radishes. Mrs. Frank Pucel of this place was winner of a first prize for fancy embroidery.

TO INSPECT PLANTS.

Virginia to Send Committee to Look Over Other Gas Plants.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of numerous reports that the proposed gas plant will be a source of fire danger and it will emit vile odors, the water and light board last night decided to halt work and get some pointers about other plants of a like nature. Aldermen Harvey, Heritage and Murray were directed to visit a similar plant in Galesburg, Ill., and in Wisconsin to secure ideas before further work is done. The clerk was also instructed to communicate with the state insurance commissioner to ascertain whether or not fire risks in the immediate vicinity of such plants is increased by buildings of that nature.

NOVEL POINT NOW RAISED

Supreme Court's Habeas Corpus Writ in Lifer's Case Interesting.

Does Commutation of Life Sentence Carry Eligibility for Good Time?

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—The granting of a writ of habeas corpus by the supreme court in the case of Frank Murphy, a lifer at the Stillwater prison, who seeks release, makes possible a test of the point brought up by his attorney, Harold Richardson.

Mr. Richardson contends that commutation of a life sentence makes a prisoner eligible for good time. The question had never before been brought up in Minnesota. Assistant Attorney General Weeks, who is handling the matter for the state, said that he could not find any authority governing such a case.

May Release Others.

That the decision of the supreme court, if favorable, may mean the release of several other prisoners from state prison was admitted by C. E. Vasaly, chairman of the board of control.

Frank Murphy was sentenced for murder in the second degree in Winona county district court in November, 1893. Up to the present time he has served twenty-one years. During this time he has a record for good behavior. Under the laws of Minnesota good time is not allowed life prisoners, but prison authorities say he has been a model convict.

In July 14 last the state pardon board granted a commutation of sentence to Murphy. His term was cut to thirty years. Had he been allowed good time he would now be eligible to a full pardon.

Whether the commutation of his life sentence wipes out the original sentence and allows him good time will be decided by the supreme court. The writ is made returnable next Tuesday at 9:30 a. m.

Friday will be Old Settlers' day, and many of the pioneers of Carlton county are expected to be on hand.

NORTH DAKOTA LYNX TURNS UPON HUNTER.

Fryburg, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—It required three shots for J. A. Frank to dispatch the largest lynx seen here in years when he opened fire on the animal, which had been destroying local poultry and pigs. He crippled the animal at the first shot, and it charged. A second shot did not finish the beast, and by the time the third shot dispatched the lynx it was within a few feet of Frank. A few minutes later Frank saw its mate, but it was too far away to be hit.

RESERVATION MAY SOON BE OPENED

Only President's Proclamation Needed to Open Standing Rock Lands.

Shields, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many people apparently have a confused idea as to the conditions of the public lands on the Standing Rock reservation, and especially that part which was recently included in the newly organized Sioux county. They seem to believe that further congressional action will be required. This is unnecessary as congress passed a bill in February, 1912, which was signed by President Taft. All that is now required is a presidential proclamation by President Wilson. That may be made this fall or winter so the opening can be arranged for early next spring. The desirability of opening the lands to settlement is now greatly increased as a result of the organization of the new county.

KAREL FORCES IN COMPLETE CONTROL

Run Wisconsin Democratic Convention Which Is Strong for Wilson.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—The aid of Wisconsin Democrats to re-elect President Wilson was pledged in the resolutions adopted in their platform convention last night, and the present administration was warmly indorsed. The forces of John Karel of Milwaukee, nominee for governor, were in complete control of the convention, although the supporters of John A. Aylward, his opponent at the recent primary, were given representation on the state committee and on the platform committee.

The resolutions approved the Federal income tax law, and the state income tax law, having been upheld by a popular vote two years ago, was accepted as settled policy. The Wilson banking and currency reform, tariff act, and trust regulation plans were endorsed.

Against Eugenics Law.

The abolition of the socalled eugenics marriage law, requiring a physical test from prospective bridegrooms, was demanded, as was the repeal of the second provision of the primary election law. Other planks adopted opposed state life insurance, favored the removal of the state university from politics, and urged the abolition of a state board of public affairs.

The present Republican administration was denounced for extravagance and charged with "maintaining an army of political employes for political machine work." The convention also expresed disapproval of the pending constitutional amendment for the initiative, referendum and recall.

The control of the Republican convention was in the hands of the conservative faction, led by Emmanuel L. Phillip, nominee for governor, and the new state central committee will be conservative. The resolutions committee, however, is Progressive. Its report will be made today.

RURAL POVERTY IS TO BE DISCUSSED

One of Important Themes Coming Up at Charities Meeting.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 16.—((Special to The Herald.)—When the state conference of charities and correction is held here Sept. 26-29, one of the important subjects to be considered will be "Causes of Poverty and Its Relief in Rural Districts." An entire session will be devoted to this subject together with that of "Almshouse Property—The Ideal in Amount and Upkeep" and "The Employment of Inmates of Almshouses." All of the speakers will be county commissioners or superintendents of county farms. On Monday, Sept. 28, a special train will take the delegates to the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Walker, where the afternoon session will be held.

Governor to Speak.

Governor Eberhart is expected to make an address at the opening session. Among other speakers will be Miss Mabel Carney, supervisor of training teachers, state department of education, who will speak on "Social Conditions and the Rural Schools," and Judge E. F. Waite of the Hennepin county juvenile court on "The Need of Revision and Codification of Laws Relating to Children."

Entertainment has been arranged by the people of Bemidji, including a reception, auto drive and trip on the lake.

TOO MUCH LIQUOR.

Not Murder Responsible for Death of Grafton, N. D., Man.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—Ten men, held at Adams, N. D., in connection with the alleged murder of Robert Gilbreath of Grafton, were released yesterday when an official investigation determined that Gilbreath's death was caused by acute alcoholism. Officials supposed it was a case of murder because they found a bruise on Gilbreath's head, but this apparently was caused by a fall from a freight car.

HEALTH OFFICERS TO HAVE MEETING

Minnesota State Sanitary Conference to Convene in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota Public Health association and the Minnesota state sanitary conference will hold an all-day combined meeting at the St. Paul hotel here Sept. 30 at 10 a. m., preceding the meeting of the Minnesota State Medical society. W. Randall of St. Paul, president of the Minnesota Public Health association; Dr. H. L. Taylor of the state advisory commission; Dr. H. M. Bracken of the state board of health; Dr. J. A. Rippart of Chisholm, medical supervisor of schools, and Dr. Frederick J. Schultz of the Minneapolis Infant Welfare association. Discussion will be open to all. UNEMPLOYED ARE HUNGRY FOR WORK

Houghton County Road Work Secures Plenty of "Hands."

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 16.—Houghton county's scheme of carrying on extensive road work to give employment to the unemployed of this section is being tried and it proves very popular as a large number of men applied for work, the first day, in fact more sought employment on the piece of work started on the Hancock-Calumet road than could be accommodated.

Long before the hour set for the commencement of the work men began to gather to look for jobs and in all about 200 applied. Engineer Martin could take on but a small fraction of this number at first, but he took the names of the others and promised to put as many of them as possible to work as soon as the progress of the operations will permit.

Chairman McLean of the road commission would employ two gangs of men on the work and would employ just as many as possible, without hampering the operations.

Mr. McLean cannot announce the taking over of any other roads for immediate construction work. He said the county board had made no suggestions regarding other roads for immediate work, excepting in a general way. Late conferences between the commission and the special committee of the county board may result in the opening of more work.

For Calumet's Idle.

Gen. Frank B. Lyon of Calumet, superintendent of the poor of the Calumet district and secretary of the Houghton county poor commission, in an interview stated that he would establish a free employment bureau for the benefit of the unemployed miners of his district.

Gen. Lyon's office was besieged all day by scores of men seeking work but he had no work to offer.

Blood Destruction Stopped and Rebuilt

Worries Overcome, Evidence Brushed Away. The Skin Cleared.

S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is man's architect. It contemplates the damage done and repairs the damage. It also looks after the possible damage and corrects all tendency to blood eruptions, decay of bones, clogging of joints and any and all of those myriad of destructive effects such as rheumatism, catarrh, swollen glands, sore throat, bronchial affections and the host of infirmities so well known as being caused by impure blood. And now, why should S. S. S. do all this? Simply because it is Nature's antidote, a remedy of searching influence. It contains a powerful, natural ingredient, that sweeps its way to the skin. And in doing this it not only annihilates destructive germs but causes them to be so converted that they are easily and harmlessly voided, expelled or destroyed and then driven out through the natural outlets of the body. Thus let S. S. S. be your safeguard in all blood troubles no matter what they are. It won't fail you. Get a bottle today of any druggist but refuse any and all substitutes.

THREE HIGHWAYMEN TACKLE WRONG MAN

Possible Victim Pulls Gun and Footpads Take to Heels.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Conrad Lund's preparedness for just such, rid him of the attentions of three hold-up men, who accosted him as he was walking along the Great Northern railroad track, shortly after midnight Tuesday.

"Got any money?" demanded one of the holdup artists, as they stepped in front of Lund.

"Who want's to know," replied Lund, at the same time bringing into play his revolver, which he had carried in his right coat pocket, ready for instant action.

The curiosity of the three men as to Lund's financial standing disappeared abruptly—and so did they.

MARSHALL COUNTY FAIR BIG SUCCESS

Display of Corn Notable as Was Boys' Acre Corn Growing Contest.

Warren, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Marshall county fair closes today after a most successful exhibition. The largest number of exhibits ever shown here were exhibited, that of corn being exceptionally fine. Corn of all varieties was shown, fully developed, the principal variety being Minnesota No. 13, which seems best adapted to this locality.

In spite of the high wind yesterday, Aviator Hiene made several small flights. Today he will leave for a cross-country flight to Park Rapids, a distance of 146 miles. The wind also greatly handicapped the races and other sports of the day.

Middle River Club First.

The farmers' clubs of this vicinity put up some very good exhibits, Middle River Farmers' club winning first, Boxville Farmers' club second, East of Warren club third. The Newfolden and Luna club exhibits were also excellent.

The boys' one-acre corn-growing contest exhibit was an eye-opener to older farmers in this vicinity. Over 150 boys were entered in this contest, each showing ten ears of corn. Donald Craine was the winner of the first prize and Paul Johnson was awarded second prize.

THE first requisite of a soap for the toilet is mildness.

Mildness depends upon the quality of the materials used in the making, the absence of free alkali and the absence of bleaches, fillers and other foreign matter.

Ivory Soap is made of the best materials that can be bought. It contains no free alkali. Nothing is put into it to make it white, to increase its weight or to soften water.

A GRACIOUS PROVIDENCE.

Chicago Journal: When the late P. T. Barnum was exhibiting his famous Siamese twins they were, as is well remembered, a wonderful sensation.

A certain divine, accompanied by his daughter, was much interested, and their curiosity was unbounded. The young woman asked where the twins were born. Mr. Barnum told them that they were born in Siam.

"And are they brothers?" asked the clerical gentleman.

"Oh, yes," said the world's greatest press agent.

"Well, well!" said the visitor. "Think of that, Mary! How good and kind of a gracious Providence to allow them to be brothers; and not to have linked a pair of strangers together for life!"

HARRY GUIRL IS CAPTURED

Forger Who Escaped From Sheriff's Office Held in Eau Claire.

Wanted in Many Cities—Also Fugitive From Nebraska Penitentiary.

Harry W. Guirl, 24 years old, the man with six aliases, who escaped from the office of Sheriff Meining on the afternoon of July 6, last, while Deputy Sheriff Frank Carlson, who was watching the prisoner, dozed, and who is wanted in a dozen cities for forgery, has been arrested by the William J. Burns' detective agency and is now at Eau Claire, Wis., awaiting trial. Word of Guirl's arrest was received this morning by Chief Troyer from Charles F. Trotter, manager of the Minneapolis branch of the detective agency.

Guirl, or A. H. Stewart, A. W. Wilson, H. A. Wilson, R. F. Smith, H. A. Stewart and F. W. Cameron, the names he has used in his operations throughout the country, is wanted in many cities. He has served time in the Nebraska state prison and is now wanted there for breaking his parole. He was originally sentenced to serve five years.

Duluth Requisitions Him.

Immediately following the receipt of the letter from the detective agency this morning, Chief Troyer wired the sheriff at Eau Claire asking the authorities there to hold Guirl for the Duluth police. A copy of the warrant for Guirl's arrest on a charge of attempting to pass a forged check on

HARRY W. GUIRL.

R. K. Abraham of the Oak Hall store on June 26, last, was mailed to the Eau Claire sheriff this morning and a requisition has already been put in by the local authorities.

Guirl's Escape.

Guirl's escape from the office of Sheriff Meining on July 6 last, just after Guirl had confessed to the forgery charge and was waiting for the officers to take him back to the county jail, was a spectacular one. Deputy Sheriff Carlson, who was detailed to watch the prisoner, fell asleep, and, without disturbing his guard, Guirl carefully opened a window opening on the rear of the courthouse and disappeared. Guirl escaped about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, but the police were not notified until some time later. By that time Guirl had reached Superior and all trace of him was lost. The police claimed at the time that if the sheriff had notified them of the escape immediately after it happened, the fugitive would have been captured while trying to get over to Superior.

Passed Forged Checks.

Guirl broke into the offices of the North Wisconsin Colonization company in Superior on the evening of June 24 and stole several check books. He passed one of these in Duluth and was in the act of passing another for $50 in payment for some clothes to R. K. Abraham of the Oak Hall store, when the latter suspected the check and notified the police. Detective Irvine was sent to the store and he placed Guirl, who then used the name of A. H. Stewart, under arrest.

Guirl waived examination when arraigned in police court the morning after his arrest and the following week he expressed a desire to plead guilty. He was brought before Judge Fesler on the afternoon of July 6 and confessed to the Superior robbery and the check forgery. He then asked the court for mercy. At that point Chief Troyer intervened and declared that he believed Guirl was a criminal and that he was wanted in many cities, although he had not yet received any definite information. Judge Fesler, in view of this, decided to continue sentence, until Chief Troyer could learn more of Guirl's record.

Guirl was then taken downstairs to the sheriff's office and it was while waiting there to be taken back to the county jail that the prisoner made his escape.

Only two days later Guirl was heard of in Eau Claire, where he broke into the offices of the Automatic Pump company, again stealing some blank checks. He forged the names of L. A. Laursen, president, and W. J. Eberwein, secretary of the company, on two checks and cashed them at the Union National bank. He made the checks payable to R. F. Smith. That evening he left Eau Claire and the next day another worthless check was passed at Madison. This crime is also credited to Guirl.

Since July 9 the police have heard no word of Guirl or his operations, until the receipt of the communication this morning. From what can be learned, Guirl was arrested last week and was brought to Eau Claire yesterday.

Duluth may have the first opportunity to get him, following the disposition of his case at Eau Claire. In the event of the prisoner's conviction, a requisition will be put in with the warden of the Wisconsin state prison at Waupun, requesting that Guirl be turned over to the Duluth police after the expiration of his sentence.

Guirl was first arrested in Denver on Feb. 2, 1913, for forging a check at Omaha. He was later convicted and sentenced to serve five years in the Nebraska state prison. He was placed on parole shortly after, but now faces the remainder of the sentence for violation of that parole. He is also wanted for forging checks at Indianapolis, Chicago, Memphis, Cincinnati, Des Moines, Madison, Sioux Rapids and Villisca, Iowa, Lima, Ohio, and Milwaukee. Guirl gives his home as Memphis, Tenn.

TOO MUCH WAR NEWS FOR BASHAW

Laborer Has Hallucinations of German Army Camped in Bethel and Shooting at Him.

Daniel Bashaw, 42 years old, thinks that the German army is after him.

And worse than that—he thinks that the entire German army is encamped in the Bethel.

Shortly before noon today Bashaw, who is a laborer, was arrested at the Sixth axenue dock on a charge of insanity. He had been acting strangely about the dock all morning, apparently trying to dodge bullets and escape from pursuers. When asked what the trouble was he explained that the German army was coming down from the Bethel and that they were shooting at him.

Several dock employes reported the matter to Patrolmen Callahan and Olson and the officers brought Bashaw to headquarters. He will be brought before Probate Judge Gilpin tomorrow morning.

SAYS BUSINESS HAS TAKEN TURN FOR BETTER

Charles Learned, one of the promtinent insurance men of St. Paul, is a guest of the Holland for the day. According to the statement of Mr. Learned, business generally has taken a turn for the better, and with the developments of the next few months it may be expected that the present feeling of foreboding in the commercial world will give place to a feeling of optimism.

"Business is better and is showing an upward tendency," said Mr. Learned. "This is not true of the insurance business alone, which is rather a barometer, but of other lines of commercial endeavor. With the outbreak of the war the outlook for general business was very discouraging. Money is very tight, but the great movement of wheat has something to do with this. While business is not what it should be or what the vast majority of business men of the Northwest hope it will be, it has taken a decided turn for the better and there are some of the large operators in various commercial lines who profess to believe that the next three or four months will mark a decided change in present conditions."

FIGHT DEVELOPS ON TRUCE PLAN

Miners in Convention Would Refer Decision to Referendum Vote.

Trinidad, Col., Sept. 16.—A fight over a proposal to refer President Wilson's strike truce plan to a vote of the local unions developed at today's session of the convention of the Colorado coal miners. J. F. McDonald, a delegate from LaFayette, offered a motion putting the convention on record in favor of adopting a three-year truce, but leaving the final decision to a referendum vote, the returns to be received not later than Sept. 25.

James Lord, president of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor, urged immediate and decisive action by the convention.

"This is the greatest opportunity that ever crossed the path of the working class," he declared.

Referring to the recent copper miners' strike in Michigan, he said:

"The Michigan people at one time could have had a favorable settlement but they neglected to take advantage of their opportunities. Finally the relief stopped coming in and they were starved back into the mines. Now conditions are 50 per cent worse there than they were before the strike."

At 10 cents a drink the United States liquor bill figures $859,800,000 for the year. And the value of all the bread in the bakeries of the country was only $396,865,000.

ONE MOMENT OF WEAKNESS

And Youth Finds Himself Facing Possible Prison Term.

Raised Postal Money Order—Crude Work Was Easily Detected.

"I must have been crazy, that's all. I don't know why I did it, except that I wanted some more clothes and it looked so easy. I'm sorry now that I ever tried anything like that, for it's the first time I was ever arrested."

That's the explanation given by Charles Carson, 15 years old, who was arrested this morning on a charge of raising a United States postal money order from $1.55 to $31.55. The boy faces a federal charge, but it is probable his extreme youth will save him from a term in the government prison at Leavenworth.

Young Carson's work was very crude and showed that the attempt at forgery was the first in his life. He retraced all the writing on the order, which was sent to him this morning by Chester Campbell of Neenah, Wis., and countersigned by J. P. Keating, postmaster. Even these names were retraced, while the amount of $1.55 was erased and $31.55 written in its stead. Of course, the change in writing would cause anyone to detect the forgery, even if the fact that the amount shown in the corner of the order was not over $2 had not shown it.

Charles came to Duluth this morning from Manitowoc, where he had been working and on calling at the postoffice received the money order, which, he says, is in payment for some articles he bought for Campbell in Neenah. He then went down to the Fifth Avenue Clothing store and purchased an overcoat, giving the money order in payment. The clerk recognized the forgery immediately and he notified Sergeant Youngberg, who brought Charles to headquarters.

At the station Charles admitted his guilt and with tears in his eyes declared that he must have been crazy. He wanted some clothes, he explained, and he just went ahead without thinking. He was sorry, he told the officers.

Just what will be done with Charles is not known. He is being held at police headquarters for the present, as the police are further investigating the boy's record. It is probable he will be arraigned on a federal charge of forging or raising a government money order.

Charles has worked in lumber mills for several years. His home is at Ludington, Mich., where his father is a foreman in a mill and where he worked after leaving school when 12 years of age. He arrived here today and was planning to leave for Virginia in the hopes of finding work there. He had a railroad ticket to Virginia when arrested.

WILL BRING GROVER BACK FROM PORT HURON

Chief Troyer received word late this afternoon that Edward Grover, alias James Collins, who passed several forged checks here last week and who was arrested yesterday at Port Huron, Mich., while attempting to pass a similar check, will not be tried there, nor will he fight extradition.

Detective Irvine will leave this evening for Port Huron and will bring his prisoner back to Duluth Friday. The story of Grover's arrest is published elsewhere in The Herald this evening.

YOUTH CARES FOR HUNGARIAN FAMILY

London, Sept. 16.—Theodore Taperzer, a 9-year-old boy of Philadelphia, arrived at the offices of the American relief committee in London today in charge of a Hungarian widow and her six children, whom he had brought all the way from Budapest.

Young Taperzer had been visiting relatives in Hungary. He started to come out alone. At the railroad station in Budapest he met a forlorn family whose father, now dead, had been a naturalized American citizen. He took the Hungarian mother and her children under his care and brought them out successfully to London. On his arrival here the boy drew a draft on his father in Philadelphia which was promptly honored by the relief committee. He then acted as interpreter for the widow while she told her story and obtained aid from the committee, after which he attended to getting steamship passage for his charges.

OPEN AIR SCHOOLS RECOMMENDED

Associated Charities Starts Campaign for Tubercular Pupils.

Open air school rooms and special lunches for tubercular children in the public schools were enthusiastically indorsed by the Duluth Associated Charities at the monthly meeting of that body at the Commercial club this noon. The meeting took place after luncheon had been served.

The subject of providing open air rooms for such pupils has been discussed for some time in Duluth both by educators and physicians, and Supt. R. E. Denfeld has already recommended to the board of education that such facilities be provided. Miss Edna Meeker, secretary of the Associated Charities, believes that proper food also should be provided for such pupils and the suggestion was heartily indorsed by the other members present.

A committee consisting of E. A. Silberstein, William E. McEwen and G. W. C. Ross, was appointed to work out the best plan for securing such facilities. There are now about 200 children in the city who are either tubercular or come from tubercular families, according to Miss Meeker.

Miss Meeker was appointed as delegate to attend the meeting of the State Board of Charities and Corrections at Bemidji.

The secretary and treasurer made their monthly reports.

G. O. P. PLATFORM IS ABOUT READY

Republicans of Wisconsin Meeting in Convention at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—Adjourning over from last night, the platform committee being unable to make a report, the state Republican platform convention was in session early today. While the platform committee is progressive, the conservatives control the convention and state central committee. Before the membership on the state central committee becomes permanent it must have the indorsement of the convention.

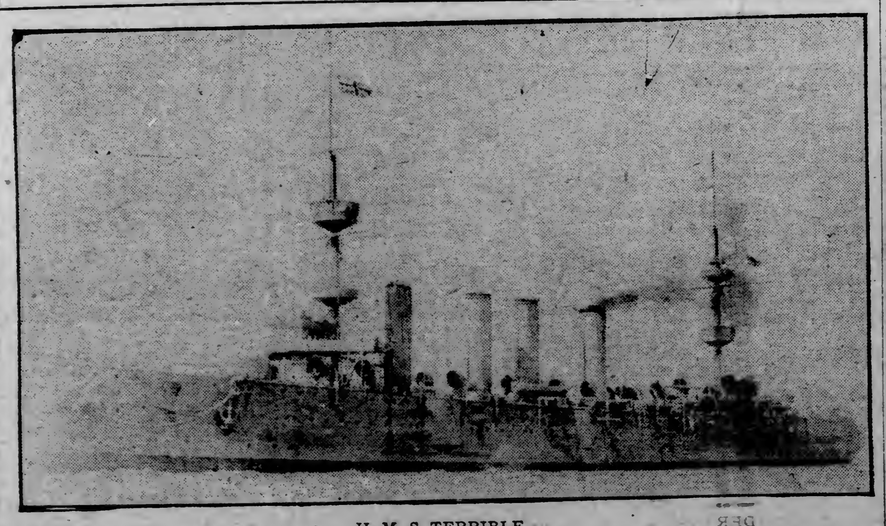

The committee drafting the platform completed the work about noon, but considerable time will be required to transcribe the planks.

A leading member of the committee said without doubt E. L. Philipp, gubernatorial nominee, would come before the convention with a minority report, asking change in the primary law so that a party convention may be held prior to the primary to make nominations. This primary plank was defeated in committee by three to one.

One plank commends the work of the industrial commission and recent legislation fixing the hours of labor for women and children and the minimum wage law. The second couched in general terms, declares for economy in state expenses and the abolition of useless offices and commissions, without naming any specific office. The third plank, on conservation declares against further use of state money for enlarging the forest reserve and for the enactment of legislation that will hasten water power development in the state.

STATEMENT BY BELGIANS

Presented to President Wilson By Commission Sent By King.

Protests Against Alleged Atrocities Committed in Their Kingdom.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The text of the statement of the Belgian high commission presented to President Wilson at the White House today by Mr. Carton De Wiart was as follows:

"Excellency:

"His majesty the king of the Belgians has charged us with a special mission to the president of the United States.

"Let me say to you how much we feel ourselves honored to have been called to express the sentiments of our king and of our whole nation to the illustrious statesman whom the American people have called to the highest dignity of the commonwealth.

"As far as I am concerned, I have already been able, during a previous trip to appreciate fully the noble virtues of the American nation and I am happy to take this opportunity to express the admiration with which they inspired me.

Belgium Neutral.

"Ever since her independence was first established, Belgium has been declared neutral in perpetuity. This neutrality, guaranteed by the powers, has recently been violated by one of them. Had we consented to abandon our neutrality for the benefit of one of the belligerents we would have betrayed our obligations towards the others and it was the sense of our international obligations, as well as that of our dignity and honor that has driven us to resistance.

"The consequences suffered by the Belgian nation were not confined purely to the harm occasioned by the forced march of an invading army. This army not only seized a great portion of our territory, but it committedincredible acts of violence, the nature of which is contrary to the rights of mankind.

"Peaceful inhabitants were massacred, defenseless women and children were outraged; open and undefended towns were destroyed; historical and religious monumentia were reduced to dust and the famous library of the University of Louvain was given to the flames.

Commission Appointed.

"Our government has appointed a judicial commission to make an official investigation so as to thoroughly and impartially examine the facts and to determine the responsibility thereof, and I will have the honor, excellency, to hand over to you the proceedings of the inquiry.

"In this frightful holocaust, which is sweeping all over Europe, the United States adopted a neutral attitude.

"And it is for this reason that your country standing apart from either one of the belligerents is in the best possible position to judge without bias and partiality, the conditions under which the war is being waged.

"It was at the request, even at the initiative of the United States, that all civilized nations have formulated and adopted at The Hague a law regulating the rights and usages of war.

"We refuse to believe that war has abolished the family of civilized powers or the regulations to which they have freely consented.

Respect for Justice.

"The American people has always displayed its respect for justice, its search for progress and an instinctive attachment for the laws of humanity. Therefore, it has won a moral influence that is recognized by the entire world. It is for this reason that Belgium, bound as it is with you by ties of commerce and increasing friendship, turns to the American people at this time to let it know the real truth of the present situation. Resolved to continue its unflinching defense of its sovereignty and independence, it deems it a duty to bring to the attention of the civilized world the innumerable grave breaches of rights of mankind, of which she has been a victim.

"At the very moment we were leaving Belgium the king recalled to us his trip to the United States and the vivid and strong impression your powerful and virile citizenship left upon his mind.

"Our faith in your fairness, our confidence in your justice, in your spirit of generosity and sympathy, all these dictated our present mission."

Mr. Catron de Wiart handed to President Wilson the results of the official inquiry instituted by the Belgian government, showing in detail the destruction in Belgium.

Received By President.

President Wilson said to the commission:

"Permit me to say with what sincere pleasure I receive you as representatives of the king of the Belgians, a people for whom the people of the United States feel so strong a friendship and admiration; a king for whom they entertain so sincere a respect; and express my hope that we may have many opportunities of earning and deserving their regard.

"You are not mistaken in believing that the people of this country love justice, seek the true paths of progress and have a passionate regard for the rights of humanity.

"It is a matter of profound pride to me that I am permitted for a time to represent such a people and to be their spokesman, and I am honored that your king should have turned to me in time of distress as to one who would wish on behalf of the people he represents to consider the claims to the impartial sympathy of mankind of a nation which deems itself wronged.

"I thank you for the document you have put in my hands containing the result of an investigation made by a judicial committee appointed by the Belgian government to look into the matter of which you have come to speak. It shall have my most attentive perusal and my most thoughtful consideration.

"You will, I am sure, not expect me to say more. Presently, I pray God very soon, this war will be over. The day of accounting will then come, when I take it for granted, the nations of Europe will assemble to determine a settlement.

"You are most welcome and we are greatly honored that you should have chosen us as the friends before whom you could lay any matter of vital consequence to yourselves, in the confidence that your cause would be understood and met in the same spirit in which it was conceived and intended."

ATTACKS HAVE BEEN REPULSED

General Position of Allies on Aisne River Said to Be Good.

London, Sept. 16, 5:28 p. m.—The official press bureau today gave out a statement which says:

"The general position along the Aisne river continues very favorable. The enemy has delivered several counter attacks, especially against the first army corps. These have been repulsed and the Germans have given way slightly before our troops and the French armies on our right and left.

"The enemy's loss is very heavy and we have taken 200 prisoners."

WORSE THAN THAT.

Tit-Bits: Corporal Jenkins married "on the strength," and in due course his wife presented him with a son and heir. His pals all flocked round to tender their congratulations and incidentally taste Bill's bitter beer.

Private Jones was on his way when he met Sergeant Brown returning.

"Where are you off to?" asked the latter.

"Oh, I'm going round to see Bill and wish him luck with that youngster of his," was the answer.

"Then you're too late," said the sergeant, solemnly.

"Wot!" exclaimed Private Jones. "Surely it hasn't gone and died?"

"No, the youngster's all right, but the barrel is out!" was the grim response.

NEEDLE NOTES.

Philadelphia Telegraph: With sheer materials in vogue small seams are imperative and some persons have difficulty in making them. Try this way:

Cut the material smoothly and evenly. Hold the edges together and overcast them closely to the end. Turn them over, crease down to make them flat, then sew in the regular French or double seam fashion as close to the edge as possible, thus producing the smallest, neatest seam imaginable. Always use find thread and a fine needle for the second seaming to obtain the best results.

When any very soft sheer material must be stitched on the machine, if it is not properly adjusted for the purpose, it is likely to pucker and cause no end of annoyance. You will have no difficulty if you will cut strips of manila wrapping paper or tissue paper, put it under the material and then proceed with the sewing.

Women are reproducing the patterns and designs on their china fancy work especially on tea cloths, which are thus made to match the cups and saucers.

In some cases the design is drawn by the needle workers themselves, but in other cases patterns of different china are reproduced in tracings on the linens and are worked over in silk or woolen threads.

A fancy with many women just now is to embroider the old willow pattern on tray cloths, tea cloths and doilies.

AUTO PARTY TO LAKE COUNTY FAIR

Twenty-Five Cars Already Promised—Special Train to Barnum.

Twenty-five automobile owners have already agreed to load their cars with their friends or their families and join the Duluth party to visit the Lake county fair at Two Harbors Friday.

E. F. Burg, F. G. Hanson and H. V. Eva, the Commercial club committee in charge of the arrangements, are reaching as many automobile owners as possible. They ask the car owners not to wait for a personal interview, however, but all are urged to make the trip. Each automobile owner is asked to make up his own party from among his friends.

The cars will assemble on First street between Second and Third avenues west Friday morning at 9:45. The start will be made promptly at 10 o'clock and the party will arrive at Two Harbors at noon. The only expenses connected with the trip are such as the individuals may incur.

Each year the Lake county fair draws a good crowd from Duluth, but the number will be unusually large this year. If the weather is good Friday it is expected that many who have so far not made arrangements will take advantage of the weather to make the trip.

The Commercial club party visiting other county fairs is at the Pine county fair at Pine City today. They will go to Barnum tonight and remain there part of tomorrow, going then to Rush City.

A large crowd is expected to go to Barnum from Duluth tomorrow. Many Duluth people are interested in Carlton county lands and are anxious to see the progress made there agriculturally. The Carlton county fair is one of the big fairs in this territory and a visit to it will be well worth while.

A special train to Barnum will leave over the Northern Pacific railroad at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, returning in the evening. It will give Duluth people a good opportunity to go to the Carlton county fair without losing more than one day from business.

ABOUT HOUSE PLANTS.

Harper's Bazar: House plants need cleanly air free from dust. This is also necessary for the household. A room in which sweping is followed by a deposit of dust upon the leaves of the plants is too dusty a room to live in safely. The sanitary sweeping method should be followed. The floor should be sprinkled before sweeping or a damp cloth be tied over the broom so that no dust will rise. Such a change in household methods will keep the plants clean and at the same time preserve the family from the contagion of colds and coughs often caused by germs lurking in the dust. Besides this, the plants should be showered once a week in the sink or the bathtub, turned down on their sides so that the under parts of the leaves, too, are clean. When this is done and the plants restored to their places they will evaporate a deal of moisture into the air, freshening and improving it; and a vessel of water, always filled, on the stove or radiator will aid in keeping the atmosphere fit to breathe both by plants and people.

"Then you must be thinkin' of a new hat," he retorted.

WHEAT UP ON EXPORTS

Wheat Bulges Sharply With Heavy Foreign Business at Seaboard.

Flaxseed Is Still Weak—Offerings and Demand Are Both Light.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 16.—The market was strong up to the close. September wheat closed 4c up; December 4c up and May 4c up. September durum closed 4½c up; October 4c up; November 4c up, and December 4⅜c up.

Oats closed strong 1¾c up at 47½c for on the track. Rye closed 1c up at 87@88c, and barley 4c off at from 52c to 60c.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed 2¼c up at 48⅜c, and December 2⅞c up at 48¾c.

Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at $1.09½ and calls at $1.17½.

The wheat market made an impressive show of strength again today, advances extending up to over 4c being recorded during the first three hours' trading. Operators regard the reaction as natural after the sharp break that has come about. It is believed that weak accounts and stop loss orders were effectually cleaned up during the slump, and that the market is again in strong position.

Export demand at the seaboard, resulting in the working of a large volume of business, was mainly responsible for today's bulge. Dealers also reported an easing up in the movement of grain from farmers' hands at interior points both in the Northwest and the Southwest. Primary receipts were substantially lighter than yesterday, the tonnage showing small change from a year ago.

Inspections at Duluth today mounted up to 815 cars, compared with 485 last year, but Minneapolis arrivals fell off, being 666 cars against 747 a year ago. At Winnipeg, inspections were reported at 1,220 cars, against 815 last year. Stocks of all grains in the local elevators are now reported at 7,350,000 bu, but from that is to be deducted 2,595,000 bu loaded out on steamers during the last three days, but not yet reported out of stocks. Shipments to the East have taken a substantial spurt of late, but new charterings of vessel space are light, and it is said that the rate to Buffalo, nominally at 1¼c for September shipment, is being shaded down to 1c.

Strength in oats was a feature today. There was urgent export inquiry, and quotations were advanced over 2c at the leading markets. Chicago reported sales of oats aggregating over 1,000,000 bu.

September wheat opened 1c up at $1.09, and advanced 3c more up to the closing hour. December opened ½c up at $1.09½, and gained 3½c more.

A heavy export demand developed for durum, advancing prices sharply. September durum opened 1c up at $1.00½ and gained 3c more. October opened ½c up at $1.01, and advanced 3½c more. November opened ¾c up at $1.01¾, and gained 3¼c more. December opened ½c up at $1.03, and bulged 3½c up.

Flaxseed Still Weak.

Flaxseed was weak on a light volume of trading. Some seed was offered, and it was noted that buying by crushers were in evidence on the low spots. The movement at Winnipeg was also on the narrow order, and in line with the whole operators at both markets appeared to go slow in view of the unsettled state of the linseed oil situation.

Final prices showed declines of ½ @ 1½c in the day.

September flax opened ¼c up at $1.52½, and closed ½c off at $1.51½ bid. October opened unchanged at $1.54, and closed 1c off at $1.53. November opened unchanged at $1.56½, and closed ½c off at $1.55. December opened 1c unchanged at $1.57, and closed 1½c off at $1.55½ bid.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 1c off at $1.31½. November closed at $1.33 bid, and December at $1.35½ bid.

At Minneapolis the cash market was stronger, with good general demand from mills and elevators. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at ½c to 1c under December and velvet chaff at 1½c to 2c under December. The mills have made very good sales of flour, both domestic and for export in the last few days. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.11⅛ to $1.12⅛ and No. 2 northern at from $1.07¼ to $1.09¼. Stocks there decreased 1,175,000 bu in the four days.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:: "Wheat opened with a steady undertone and support was more in evidence. Offers were light and values were advanced ½d to 1d. Later there was an additional gain of ½d. Steady American cables, firmer and fewer American offers for shipment, an improved demand from millers here and a steady spot market helped the advance. Supplies are ample but with the acknowledged large requirements of other countries it has had a tendency to cause pronounced firmness in the distant months and some apprehension is felt as to the future course of the market.

"Spot wheat is steady and unchanged; corn quiet and Plate unchanged. European visible of wheat is 65,704,000 bu against 63,344,000 bu last week, an increase of 2,360,000 bu.

"The demand from millers is large and this is serving to reduce stocks and the congestion is being relieved. The food question with Germany and Austria is being discussed in official circles here and it is believed that the scarcity is now pronounced."

Russel's News Bureau, New York, says—"It is intimated that representatives of foreign governments have been in the market for several days past for 100,000 barrels of flour. The buying of flour for France is very persistent. The demand for oats shows very little letup. There have been inquiries in the market within a few days for lots aggregating 1,400,-000 bu in one order."

"T. W. Lewis wired Baker from Minneapolis—"This is one of the best trading markets we have had for years and I believe it is going to continue in the same way. Any market that runs three or four cents each day and five to ten cents a week, cannot fail to offer good opportunities on both sides. I do not think the market will go below $1 or above $1.20 for some time to come, but it will continue to fluctuate between these two limits. There is enough uncertainty in the situation abroad to render good fluctuations in both directions probable, and I think it advisable to take profits on either side if you get 3c to 5c a bu profit."

Price Current says—"Based on conditions reported Sept. 9 to 11, there would seem to be an increase of approximately 10 per cent in the acreage of winter wheat throughout the surplus states. Reports of corn yields indicate an amazing increase as compared with our estimate Aug. 27. The reports indicate a total corn crop for this year of approximately 2,800,000,000 bu. Slaughtering of hogs in the 12 west for the week ending Sept. 12 was 248,000, compared with 381,000 for the preceeding week, and 424,000 for same week last year."

Foreign crop summary—United Kingdom—Weather is more favorable and native wheat is moving freely. An official report places the condition of wheat at 104 per cent and oats at 95 per cent.

France—The crop is gathered and yield is better than expected. The quality as a whole is fair and the weather is now seasonable.

Germany—It is reported in official circles that the outturn of wheat is below expectations.

Russia—Reports are conflicting, but it is believed the yield will be very short and of inferior quality.

India—Beneficial rains have fallen. Shippers still maintain very firm prices and offers are light.

Australia—It is mostly droughty and the crop outlook is unfavorable.

Argentina—Weather and crop accounts are better for wheat.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Advances Sharply on Reports of Foreign Bidding for Flour.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Wheat advanced sharply today principally on account of higher quotations at Liverpool. Reports that representatives of foreign governments were bidding for 100,000 barrels of flour tended also to lift the market. Besides country acceptances of offers from here were notably meager. After opening ⅞c to 2⅝c advance, prices continued to climb.

Reports of successful movements of the German and Austrian forces helped the market to advance rapidly, the inference being drawn that the war will be prolonged. The close was nervous, 4⅛c to 4⅝c above last night.

Corn ascended with wheat. Trade, however, was not large. The opening which varied from ⅛c off to ⅞c up, was followed by decided gains all around.

Assertions that lake vessel charters had been made of sufficient volume to dispose of all the contract corn in store here made the market noticeably tighten. The close was firm, ½c to 1⅞c net higher.

Seaboard demand for oats seemed to have no limit. Values accordingly went steadily upgrade.

Provisions were firm, influenced by the strength of grain and hogs. First transactions ranged from 5c to 7½c higher and further advances ensued.

Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.08@1.10½; No. 2 hard, $1.08@1.10½.

Corn—No. 2 yellow, 79@79½c; No. 3 yellow, 78½@79c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 47¼@48¼c; standard, 48¼@48¾c.

Rye—No. 2, 90c; barley, 63@75c; timothy, $4.00@5.50; clover, nominal.

wouldn't wander around unfamiliar streets looking for "For Rent" signs, selecting his room haphazard, with the risk of getting into an undesirable place or an out-of-the-way neighborhood, nor would he endure the inconvenience of a house-to-house inspection of rooms.

Get a paper recommended as containing the largest list of vacant rooms. Pick those that appealed to him, get acquainted with the location and desirability, and then go directly to the address—no trouble, risk or expense.

The Herald is the recognized room renting medium of Duluth because everyone knows it contains the largest and most reliable list of VACANT rooms, and because of the CERTAINTY of GOOD RESULTS to the advertiser.

VEIL OF MYSTERY IS DRAWN ONCE MORE OVER CONTENDING ARMIES ON EUROPEAN FIELDS

ASSAULT BY FRENCH REPULSED

Berlin Announces Result of Fighting for a Day and Night.

Several Changes Made in the Leadership of German Forces.

Nearly 2,000 Galician Traitors Have Been Brought Into Graz.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—By wireless via Sayville, L. I.—An official report given out at army headquarters at midnight says that the French front remains unchanged. The French attacks on a number of points, Tuesday night and Wednesday were successfully repulsed by the Germans, who made a number of victorious counter-attacks.

Owing to illness, Gen. Von Hausen, former commander of the Second or Saxon army, has been replaced by Gen. Von Einem, former minister of war. Gen. Von Hausen is 68 years old.

Another change in leadership has taken place in the Fourteenth reserve corps where Gen. Von Schubert has been replaced by Quartermaster General Von Stein, the well known editor of the Official War Reports and author of laconic war bulletins.

It is reported here from Vienna that 1,800 Galician traitors have been brought into Graz, Austria, where they are awaiting sentence. They are said to have been paid by Russia to signal

PROGRESSIVES TO ASSIST DEMOCRATS

Join Forces in Fight for Governorship of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—The Progressives having joined forces with the Democrats in the fight for the governorship, leaders of all parties and factions said today that the political campaign in Pennsylvania will be prosecuted with greater vigor than ever. William Draper Lewis, the Washington party nominee for governor, who yesterday withdrew in favor of Vance C. McCormick, the Democrat candidate, has placed himself on record to support Mr. McCormick against Martin G. Brumbaugh, the Republican gubernatorial candidate.

United States Senator Penrose, Republican; Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer, Democrat, and Gifford Pinchot, Washington party, candidates for the senatorship, are making a lively campaign all over the state. Col. Roosevelt will come into Pennsylvania soon and "big guns" of the other parties are expected to speak in the state next month.

CHEERS FOR PRESIDENT

Colorado Miners Accept Proposal for Settlement of Long Strike.

If Accepted By Owners, Will End Labor War for Three Years.

Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 17.—Colorado union coal miners in convention voted to accept the peace plan recommended by President Wilson. The vote, which came after two days of vigorous debate, was 83 to 8. The Colorado mine owners have called a meeting to be held in Denver on Saturday, at which the same proposal is to be considered.

After the convention adjourned, officers of the United Mine Workers of America sent President Wilson a telegram notifying him that the strikers were ready to return to work under the terms of a three-year truce treaty drawn up by Hywel Davies and William R. Wirley, Federal mediators appointed by Secretary Wilson of the labor department.

John R. Lawson, Colorado member of the executive board of the United Mine Workers, and E. L. Doyle, district secretary, both of whom at first had opposed the president's proposal, yesterday urged that it be adopted.

Lawson called especial attention to the provision requiring the enforce-

GERMANS GIVE BACK SLIGHTLY

Reports From Paris Say Their Resistance Is Not Broken.

Official Summary of War Conditions From Standpoint of France.

Fighting Continues Steadily With Undecisive Results Thus Far.

Paris, Sept. 17, 3:20 p. m.—The official report issued in Paris this afternoon on the progress of the fighting northeast of the capital, shows that the great battle is continuing with undecisive results.

The resistance of the Germans has not been broken, although at certain points they are described as giving back slightly. At other points they continue to fortify themselves.

The French have repulsed some of their counter-attacks.

The text of the official communication is as follows:

Enemy Still Resisting.

"First—On our left wing the resistance of the enemy on the heights to the north of the River Aisne has continued in spite of the fact that the enemy gave back slightly at certain points.

"Second — On the center between Berry-Au-Bac, on the Aisne, and the Argonne, the situation shows no change. The enemy continues to fortify himself along the line previously indicated. Between the Argonne and the Meuse the Germans are entrenching themselves in the vicinity of Mont-

STRENGTHENING FORTIFICATIONS

Towns on Rhine Are Preparing for Possible Attack of Allies.

London, Sept. 17, 2:30 p. m.—Telegraphing from Maestricht, Holland, the correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company says that dispatches received in Maestricht from Cologne, Dusseldorf, Wesel and Duisburg indicate that these points are strengthening their fortifications to meet a possible advance of the allies.

The four towns mentioned in the above dispatch are on the Rhine. Cologne is forty-five miles northnorthwest of Coblenz, an important military stronghold; Dusseldorf is twenty-one miles north-northwest of Cologne. Duisburg is fifteen miles north of Dusseldorf and Wesel is thirty-two miles northwest of Dusseldorf.

To the west of this group of cities is the frontier of Holland, from which they are distant from 20 to 35 miles.

RESUME THE OFFENSIVE

Austrians Cross the Dwina River and March Toward Kroupam.

Desperate Battles Have Been Fought for the Past Four Days.

Paris, Sept. 17.—A Nish, Servia, dispatch to the Havas agency says:

"Resuming the offensive the Austrians passed the Drina river to the south and southwest and marched toward Kroupani and Vallevo (Servian towns about ten and thirty-five miles respectively from the Bosnia border).

"On a front of more than sixty miles, comprising Lieubovia, Svornik, Losnitza and Lesnitza, along the Bosnian frontier, desperate battles have been fought for four days.

"The latest news declares that the situation of the Servans is favorable in spite of desperate attacks."

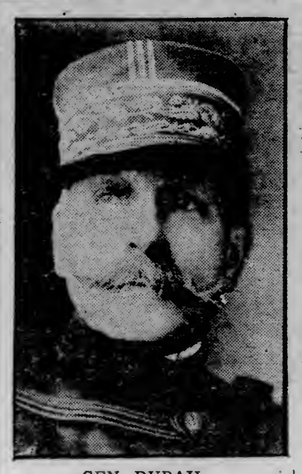

Situation in Galicia.

London, Sept. 17.—A dispatch from Petrograd to the Reuter's Telegraph company gives this outline of the situation in Galicia:

"The position of Grodek, occupied by the Russians, is eighteen miles west of Lemberg and is situated on the heights under which a chain of six almost connecting lakes stretch out towards the Russian frontier, forming a natural defense for fourteen miles running AMERICAN AVIATORS ARE WARNED NOT TO FLY OVER BORDER INTO CANADA.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Areoplanists in the northern part of the United States were warned today to be careful not to cross the border into Canada during the war. This explanation was issued by the state department: "The department has been advised by the American consul general at Montreal that an aeroplane was recently fired upon by Canadian guards while near the Long Sault canal. This was done, the consul general stated, in compliance with a general order of the dominion government regarding the use of air craft in Canada."

AUSTRIA IS TO CALL OUT ALL RESERVISTS.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Rome dispatches from Vienna, says a telegram to the Havas agency, state that the Neue Frie Presse announces the approaching call of all reservists en masse.

According to the Reichpost, Emperor Francis Joseph said to the Archduke Charles Francis, when the latter was leaving to take his place in the army:

"Never in my life has anything cost me so much pain as the duty of making such a grave decision."

United States Also Protests.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Ambassador Morgenthau, at Constantinople, has been instructed to protest to the Turkish government against its abrogation of the capitulations. Secretary Bryan so announced.

THREE ARE KILLED AND ONE WOUNDED

Attempt at Robbery By Tramp Causes Tragedy at Harvard, Neb.

Harvard, Neb., Sept. 17.—Three men are dead and one wounded as the result of a tragedy here. The dead are:

HENRY TRAUT, found murdered in his office.

SHERIFF CHARLES SANDERSON of Clay Center, killed in a running fight with the murderer.

UNKNOWN TRAMP, who took his own life in a field seven miles north of here after he had been surrounded by a posse.

Traut was found dead in his office. Robbery was apparently the motive of the crime. A tramp was located a short distance from here soon afterward and the sheriff and Deputy George Phillips started in pursuit. In a fight with the tramp Sanderson was killed and Phillips wounded. A posse closed in on the murderer and his body was found in a field. He had shot himself through the head.

Germans Abandon Liege.

London, Sept. 17.—A Rome dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company states that it is officially admitted in Berlin that the Germans have abandoned Liege.

Many Deserters.

Rome, Sept. 16, via Paris, Sept. 17.—A report received here from Petrograd says that many deserters are arriving at Russian headquarters, mostly Slavs and Bohemians.

WIRELESS FROM BERLIN SAYS REPORTED VICTORIES BY ALLIES ARE UNTRUE.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The German embassy today received the following wireless from Berlin: "All the French-English reports of victories of battles in France are untrue. The German retreat of the western wing was a practical maneuver not affecting the strategical position. The French attempt to break through the center of the German position was victoriously repulsed. "There is confirmation of German successes at several points of the long-extended battlefield. The Temps reports that the losses of the British army in the recent fighting amount to 15,000 dead and wounded."

URGES ITALY TO TAKE UP ARMS

Rome, via Paris, Sept. 17.—The Giornale d'Italia quotes the Petrograd newspaper Birgewja Wiedomosty as saying that it reflects the view of the Russian government in declaring that Italy must take Trent and Trieste now, with its own arms, or never, for if the Triple Entente is victorious it is not probable that they will indemnify Italy by giving her those provinces as a reward for mere neutrality. Armed intervention by Italy, the Russian newspaper is quoted as saying, would be most useful at the present moment to assist Russia in the campaign against both Austria and Germany.

TOADSTOOLS.

EARLY ALL REPORTS IN DIRECT CONFLICT

Reconciled Only on the Assumption That the Narrators Are Referring to Different Points.

Germans Are in Their Selected Positions With Strong Reinforcements Rushed From Lorraine.

London, Sept. 17, 1:30 p. m.—The world has once more been set the task of guessing how the terrific clash of arms on the heights northward of the River Aisne is progressing.

Berlin claims that the attacks of the allies have been repulsed and that the German counter-attacks have succeeded, while it is asserted officially in London that the German counter-attacks have been repulsed and that the invaders are slowly giving way. Sympathizers with both sides are thus met with directly conflicting statements which can be reconciled only on the assumption that the narrators are referring to different points in the vast field of action.

LINE 150 MILES LONG.

As the crow flies, the front of the opposing armies, which, with the heavy reinforcements that have reached them probably total in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 men, stretches for 110 miles. Making allowances for the deviation north of Laon the line must be quite 150 miles long, so there is ample room for successes on one part of the field and reverses elsewhere. The Germans are in their selected positions, with strong reinforcements rushed up from Lorraine; consequently this great battle may yet prove to be one of the most decisive and momentous of the war.

The British and French armies seem to be attempting to repeat on the Aisne the turning movements carried out so successfully on the Marne and in the present case they have the additional incentive of knowing that should the German right be again turned there are no great defensive positions behind the invaders until they reach the River Meuse.

Pursuing Crown Prince.

The position of the army of the German crown prince making its way toward the Stenay gap remains full of interest. The French army, which barred the exit of the crown prince by Toul, is still hurrying in pursuit of him.

There is no confirmation of the reported German abandonment of Liege, but it would not be surprising, in the opinion of observers in London, to see the Germans quit Belgium altogether if there is any truth in the report that the eastern arena of war has become the decisive position in German eyes, and that Germany will be content for the present to maintain a defensive attitude in the west.

Decisive Action Soon.

Italian and Roumanian activities seem today to point to a decisive action in the near future. Should these countries take the field against Austria-Hungary, it is argued here that Russia would have her hands freed and that Germany would be thrown entirely on her own resources to repel the Muscovite hosts thus strongly reinforced.

Italy seems to have called her reservists to the colors and to be on the point of occupying Avlona in order to safeguard her interests in the Adriatic.

Germans Held at Bay.

London, Sept. 17, 10:15 a. m.—Along a 90-mile front the German armies are at bay and the allies are occupying a ledge across the River Aisne which was won after one of the most spectacular and thrilling river crossings ever made by an attacking force under fire.

For the past two days there have been sporadic attacks from both sides along this line but, according to admissions from the rival headquarters they have not produced any definite results. Both sides have suffered

PRUSSIANS SHOT DOWN BY GERMANS

Mistake of Artillerists Annihilates Regiment During Night Firing.

London, Sept. 17, 11:10 a. m.—In a dispatch from Paris, the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company says a Saxon officer, now a prisoner at Troyos, France, admits that the Germans made serious mistakes during the night fighting which they have indulged in since the beginning of the war.

Near Malines, this officer says, a detachment of German artillery annihilated a Prussian regiment under the impression that it was engaging French infantry. Near a frontier village two battalions of the Twenty-eighth German infantry, mistaking one another for French troops, shot each other down to the last man.

The correspondent says that Gaston Doumergue, the French minister of the colonies, is going to the department of the Marne to inquire into the situation of the local populations, and to organize relief measures.

GIST OF REPORTS FROM WAR

The third day of the battle of the Aisne finds the hosts of the Germans and the allies facing each other along a line of some 200 miles stretching from Noyon, fifty-five miles northeast of Paris, southeast to the frontier.

The battle line proper extends roughly from Noyon to Nancy, about 150 miles. Here between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 men are engaged in a struggle that in ferocity and strategic importance bids fair to rival the battle of the Marne.

Each side claims a slight advantage—and no more. It is known only that the German retreat has been turned into a stubborn resistance. The allies assert that they were so close on the heels of the Germans that the latter were compelled to turn about and fight to escape destruction. German reports represent their armies as reforming in strong positions following the withdrawal from the vicinity of Paris and again taking the offensive.

Thus far death is the only decided victor. It is admitted that his toll already is enormous—so staggering that official sources hesitate to reveal the facts.

Rain continues falling on the battle field and has rendered parts of it impassable for guns and cavalry, while adding greatly to the distress of the men.

This afternoon's official announcement at Paris says that a great battle continues all along the River Aisne and that the Germans are slowly giving way.

Conflicting reports of the situation in the eastern theater of the war are received from official and unofficial sources. The several German army corps sent into East Prussia appear to have pushed back the Russian invaders of that territory with great loss to the Russians. It is thought that a part of the German force may be diverted to Russian Poland. In Galicia the Russian successes seem to be continued with the Austrians and Germans falling back on Przemysl. Enormous losses to the Austrians are admitted at Vienna, to which city thousands of wounded are being brought.

The latest official announcement at Nish claims less for the Servian arms than have earlier statements, indicating that Austria still has considerable forces available to oppose the Servian invasion. The Servians, however, with the aid of their Montenegrin allies, appear to be more than holding their own.

The most recent word from the Far East describes the Japanese troops as struggling through the flooded north of Shan Tung peninsula, trying to reach Kiao Chow. There is no indication of an early investment of that German stronghold.

The Turkish army is reported from Petrograd to be concentrating on the Bulgarian frontier.

The final attitude of Italy is awaited with intense interest. Demonstrations in favor of the allies at Rome and at other places have been suppressed by the military. Meantime Italy is engaged with the serious situation in Albania, where the insurgents have been threatening since the withdrawal of Prince William of Wied. Italian troops already have been landed at Avlona.

LOCAL MART GAINS FAME

Mayor Receives Inquiries as to Method of Conducting It.

One Would Copy—Two Would Contribute—Year-Around Market.

The public markets of Duluth are evidently acquiring merited fame. In the last two days Mayor Prince has received three letters making inquiries relative to the manner in which they are conducted, and the products offered for sale.

One came from Cape Girardeau, Mo., the writer stating that he had heard of the success of the local markets and wishing to secure information which would be of value in establishing a similar institution in Cape Girardeau.

The other two were from men who contemplate selling supplies to the citizens of Duluth through the markets. E. K. Hughes of Superior said that he has a friend who could offer fresh eggs for sale and that he could send in creamery butter which could be marketed at a less price than asked in the retail stores.

The third inquiry came from E. A. Bushy of Malmo, Minn., a small town near Aitkin. He told the mayor that he had been actively interested some years ago in the public market at Kingston, Ont., where he had dressed meats and sold them. He stated that he has been thinking of coming to Duluth and doing the same thing here.

Mayor Prince recently announced that the farmers are considering the advisability of conducting the market the year around, instead of in only the summer and fall months. He said that in that event the city would co-operate with them and would provide ice boxes and storage facilities. The market would then be run along under wider lines and would probably do an extensive business in eggs, meats and butter, in which the Superior and the Malmo men appear to be chiefly interested, as well as in other farm products.

PRILEY CLAIMS CARR DEFRAUDED

Defendant in Civil Suit Files Counter Claim Against Former Broker.

Walter S. Carr, who brought suit in municipal court on Aug. 25 against N. H. Priley for alleged non-paymcnt of a note for $78.04, was this morning made defendant in an answer and counter-complaint filed by Mr. Priley's attorney, in which the latter claims that Carr defrauded him out of $1,080, and as a result asks the court's assistance to secure $1,454.65 from the plaintiff. He also requests that the case be remanded to the district court, owing to the fact that the amount involved is above $200. Priley operates a confectionery store on West Second street.

On Aug. 25 Carr, through his attorney, H. J. Grannis, filed suit with John G. Ross, clerk of court, against Mr. Priley. He claimed in his complaint that the defendant had given him a promissory note on Sept. 1, 1908, for $255.39, and that there is yet $78.04 remaining unpaid. He asks the relief of the court in obtaining that balance with interest.

In his answer, filed this morning by G. W. C. Ross, attorney for the defendant, the latter claims that the $78.04 was paid to Carr with collateral, but declares that Carr defrauded him out of $1,080. He claims that he gave Carr $980 on Sept. 5, 1907, to buy 140 shares of stock in a mine known as the Carman mine. Mr. Priley alleges that the mine was never what Carr had represented to him, and that he did not discover it until 1909. He further alleges that Carr took $100 from him in the same year to buy one share of stock in the Power Consolidated Lead & Zinc company, but that the stock was never delivered.

THE OLD FASHIONED BOY IS PASSING

New Yorker Regrets Coming of Modern "Canned" Youth---"Hog Latin" and "Indian" Games Are Forgotten Institutions.

"The old fashioned boy no longer exists," ruminated W. H. Starfield of Penn Yan, a little village in New York state, as he sat in the lobby of the Spalding hotel yesterday afternoon.

"The modern boys I have seen described as 'canned' boys, and that about covers it. There is no originality to them. They are entertained by society; taught by teachers; exercised by leagues; amused by instructors in games; examined for physical defects by school board inspectors; and brought up on health department bulletins.

"They are scientifically reared on one general plan, and the old fashioned boy is as scarce as the dodo.

"Back in Penn Yan—you probably don't know where Penn Yan is—but it is near Hammondsport, where the trans-Atlantic airboat is being tried out—we have a few of the real boys left. I found one recently who could talk Hog Latin. I'll bet you can't find many boys in Duluth who know Hog Latin. In my youth it was the universal language of boyhood. Every boy learned to talk Hog Latin as soon as he learned to talk English.

Two Fingered Sign.

"Why even the old two fingered sign for going swimming is being forgotten. If you gave that signal to a modern city boy he would think it was the sign of a new high school fraternity.

"What has become of the old time boy's collections?

"When I was a boy we collected postage stamps coins, bird's eggs, tobacco tags, and 'every other useless object we could find. We had almost daily expeditions into the woods during the spring, looking for bird's eggs. It was a rule of honor with us always to leave at least two eggs in a nest, so the birds would not leave it. What modern boy has ever descended a tree with an egg in his mouth, and has had the experience of breaking it and finding it addled? What boy has started out at 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning, with a pair of borrowed climbing irons to walk eight or ten miles, and investigate an eagle's nest which he had spotted? I have done that, and scores of my old playmates did it.

Playing Indian.

"I don't believe modern boys play 'Indian'. Have any Duluth boys ever taken possession of an abandoned barn or ice house, while their rivals surrounded it, and stormed it with catapults, bean shooters and war clubs?

"What Duluth boy has ever manufactured a bow and arrow out of a piece of hickory, and tried to emulato Robin Hood or William Tell?

"Do Duluth boys ever go out gathering nuts? I suppose not, because not many nuts are found around here. That used to be our greatest pleasure in the fall.

"What has become of the boy who began to go barefoot as soon as the snow left the ground, and who fought as long as he could against the confining influence of shoes and stockings.

"And pets? What has become of the pets we used to keep. I was never without a dog. It is a crime to raise a boy without a dog. Generally I also kept a flock of pigeons in the woodshed, a few guinea pigs, rabbits and white rats, and once for a brief period a goat. My mother drew the line at the goat after it consumed part of the family washing, but I substituted some chickens until father found that I had taken to raising game chickens and had a nice little cock fight planned with my next door neighbor's prize rooster. He put his foot down on the chickens then.

Source of Income.

Raising pets was one of the chief sources of income for boys in our day. The boy who had a good flock of pigeons breeding regularly, and some rabbits coming along, was a little capitalist, and could absorb the savings of the neighborhood.

"The only pigeons I have seen in Duluth were those flying around the Board of Trade. We used to ride all day on our bicycles with a cage of pigeons on our backs, to give them time flights.

"I don't believe many Duluth boys have manufactured punts or rafts, but never a summer went by that the output of punts and rafts in our town went into three figures.

"What Duluth boy has been forced to 'chaw raw beef'?

Robber's Cave.

"Where is the boy who would work for days to build a robber's cave. I remember our gang spent a whole week digging a cave in the side of a clay bank, roofing it with stolen planks and concealing the entrance with bushes. It was a wonderfully stuffy retreat, and we kept it a secret for two years, until a spring rain washed it away.

"Where is the boy who played hookey to go fishing?

"Where is the boy who invented wonderful games based on stories he had read, and assigned wonderful names to his companions, like 'Chief Big Wolf' and the like?

"Where is the boy who wouldn't take a 'dare' and stole away from home to visit a 'haunted house' at midnight?

"The modern boy doesn't know what an original game is. We invented all our games. The modern lad, if his parents are rich, hangs around a garage and discusses the new styles of automobiles. The poor boy has his corner lot baseball team, and that about covers the situation. They have forgotten how to play. Their games are all cut and dried and made up for them. Perhaps it is made necessary by conditions in our cities, but it is a fact nevertheless that the old-time boy is passing. Maybe the new type is better, but I can't see it."

And Mr. Starfield of Penn Yan lapsed into a reminiscent silence.

ALL READY FOR BIG SHOW

Final Reports Indicate Curling Rink Will Be Crowded.

Splendid Displays on Hand —Parade Mile and Half Long.

The final meeting of the general committee on the Duluth exposition was held at the Commercial club today. Reports by the committees indicated that everything is set for the big show and that there is a degree of interest abroad that promises the crowding of the big Curling rink every afternoon and evening next week.

Chairman R. T. Hugo of the parade committee reported that the parade, with which the exposition week will open Monday evening, should be about a mile and a half long.

Parade Will Be Long.

The parade will start at 7:45 p. m., forming on First street, with the line of March on Superior street from Fifth avenue west to Eighth avenue east. The procession will be headed by mounted and unmounted police, followed by the Third Regiment band, the three militia companies, two divisions of the naval militia, decorated floats, wagons, automobiles and uniformed employes of wholesale houses and manufacturing firms. Mr. Hugo says that some unique and beautiful floats are being prepared for the parade. The line of march will be brilliantly illuminated and the parade will be quite the biggest thing of the kind Duluth has ever seen.

The special exhibits at the exposition next week will be interesting. Some manufacturers who took space have found themselves unable to use it and they have donated it for educational displays. The Duluth Boat club, Duluth Curling club, Manual Training department, city division of public works, St. James' orphanage, the Children's home and other institutions will have displays, showing what they are doing.

Fine Agricultural Exhibits.

Arrangements are going swimmingly in the agricultural department. About seventy head of pure bred cattle have been arranged for in the dairy department. Demands for space for home and market garden exhibits is such that the filling of every available foot of space on the lower floor of the Curling rink is assured.

The installation of exhibits at the rink began today, and the exhibitors will be busy for the next few days preparing for the opening Monday. Some unusual features are being prepared, and Duluth people will find the exposition interesting and instructive.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE WILL RECOVER

Patrolman's First Aid Said to Have Saved Axel Anderson.

Attendants at St. Luke's hospital said this morning that Axel Anderson, the man who tried to commit suicide yesterday by cutting his throat and wrist at the Saratoga hotel, is slightly improved and will recover. His condition is no longer serious, they said.

When Anderson was found lying in a pool of blood in his room yesterday morning Patrolman Callahan was called who rushed up to the room and there gave what assistance he could. It is learned that the officer tied the man's arm with a rope, stopping the flow of blood and it is claimed undoubtedly saving the man's life, as the hospital attendants say that Anderson would have died from loss of blood if he had not received that first aid treatment.

Anderson told Dr. Murphy last evening that he tried to take his life because he was unable to get along and life had become tiresome to him. Anderson has a brother living in Minneapolis.

NO SHIPS WILL BE SENT TO TURKEY.

Washington, Sept. 17.—President Wilson has no intention at present of sending American battleships to Turkey to relieve the fears of missionaries, according to statements today by officials. He is considering today the question raised by abrogation of treaties by Turkey.

FIND BODY OF UNKNOWN

The police were confronted with a mystery this noon, when the body of an unknown man was found lying in the tunnel below Michigan street at Eleventh avenue west.

The man's skull is crushed and it is believed that he came to his death by having accidentally fallen off the cliff at this point. It is about thirty feet from the street level to the bottom of the tunnel. The man may have been killed some time last evening, although it will not be known how long he was dead until an autopsy is held this afternoon by Coroner McComb.

John Ault, a laborer on a house at Twelfth avenue west, discovered the body and telephoned the police. Patrolman Toewe was sent to the scene and he confirmed the report, later notifying Coroner McComb. The latter went to the scene and after examining the body ordered it removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms.

There was nothing found in the man's clothes to show his identity. He was dressed like a laborer and carried a copy of last evening's Superior Telegram in his pocket. He is described as having been forty years old, about five feet, five inches tall and weighing about 145 pounds. He had a sandy mustache, with dark hair and blue eyes. He wore a pair of gray trousers and khaki trousers over the former and a dark coat over an overall jacket.

GERMAN REPLY NON-COMMITTAL

President Hears From Chancellor and Another Reply Is Expected.

Washington, Sept. 17.—President Wilson announced today he had received from the imperial chancellor of Germany a non-committal reply to his inquiry into the report that Emperor William was willing to discuss terms of peace.

President Wilson said there was nothing to indicate whether the inquiry had been brought to the attention of Emperor William. The opinion prevails in official circles that a further reply is expected.

RYNDAM SEIZED BY WAR VESSEL

Holland-American Liner Is Taken Into Cork By British Cruiser.

Queenstown, Sept. 17, via London, 5:07 p. m.—The Holland-American line steamship Ryndam, which sailed from New York Sept. 8 for Rotterdam, was seized by a British warship and brought into Cork harbor today.

Noordam Case Recalled.

New York, Sept. 17.—The arrival of the Holland-American liner Ryndam at Queenstown instead of Rotterdam, recalls the experience of the steamship Noordam of the same line, which, on her last trip from New York, was seized by a British cruiser, brought to Queenstown and cleared of nearly 200 German and Austrian reservists, among her passengers. This was on Sept. 10. The Noordam after six days detention at the Irish port, was permitted to continue her voyage.

Officials of the Holland-American line in this city said they had received no explanation of the Ryndam's arrival in Queenstown, but assumed that like the Noordam, she had been convoyed there by a British cruiser.

CANADIAN TRAIN IS IN COLLISION.

The mail coach of the limited was completely demolished. Engineer Alfred Bilbe of the passenger train, and the fireman of the stock train were slightly injured.

BROTHER HAD SUSPICIONS

William McAlpine on Witness Stand in Suit Over Insurance.

Made Several Trips to Duluth to Clear the Mystery.

Disclaiming any feeling of bitterness or hatred toward the widow of his brother who was shot and killed in the basement of his East End home in August, 1913, and whose manner of death has been an unsolved mystery since, William McAlpine, an aged Ontario farmer, was a witness today for the defense in the $50,000 suit which Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine has pending against the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York.

Avowing that he had no other object in view in connection with the case other than to detect his brother's murderer, the witness frankly stated that during the investigation he had made himself he had formed some suspicions against the family in which the death occurred. "I have strong suspicions and good reasons for them, too," the witness declared.

Mr. McAlpine during his testimony referred to "the charge of murder" hanging over his brother's widow. The remark was objected to by Attorney McManus, who insisted that the witness was misstating the facts. Judge Cant cleared the matter up by asking the witness to explain just what his attitude toward Mrs. McAlpine was.

During the course of his testimony the witness several times expressed his purpose in making several trips to Duluth from Canada being to detect the murderer of his brother. He said that it would be most welcome news to him to have the matter cleared up and to see Mrs. McAlpine exonerated from the charge which has been made against her by the insurance company.

Informed of Death.

Mr. McAlpine testifed that he was on his farm at McAlpine, Ont., when he received news of the death of his brother, John. The telegram which he received was the one which was introduced in evidence at an earlier stage of the trial while the widow was on the stand. It stated the cause of death to be heart trouble.

The witness stated that as soon as he received the telegram he made preparations to take the first train for Duluth. He arrived here, he said, on Friday night about midnight and spent the remainder of the night downtown at a hotel. The next morning, Saturday, he testified, he went to the residence of his late brother, where he was invited by Mrs. McAlpine to make his headquarters while stopping at Duluth.

Mr. McAlpine also testified that he accompanied the members of the immediate family to Eau Claire to attend the funeral which was held in that city. While in Eau Claire, he said, he was approached by a detective who represented himself to be from the Masonic fraternity and who wanted permission to accompany him back to Duluth and look over the premises at the McAlpine residence with the view of conducting an investigation on behalf of the Eau Claire Masons.

The witness stated that he told the detective that he would have to wait until the widow was consulted. Later he said he spoke to Mrs. McAlpine about the matter, but she would not consent to having the detective employed, stating as a reason that they would be likely "to implicate an innocent party." He also testified that she told him that the local authorities were now working on the case.

On two occasions, Mr. McAlpine testified, the widow had mentioned the fact that John McAlpine was heavily insured. He also declared that she expressed an opinion that either her husband was murdered or was accidentally killed. On cross-examination, Attorney McManus asked Mr. McAlpine if it were not true, when the family came back from the funeral at Eau Claire, that his brother's widow was sick. "I think she was shamming," he said.

Burglar Theory.

The aged brother also told a discussion which the step-son Dale, Mr. McManus and himself had as to the manner of John McAlpine's death, the conversation having taken place in the presence of Mrs. McAlpine. The witness stated that Mr. McManus advanced the theory that Mr. McAlpine had been shot by a burglar after he had shot at the burglar and missed him. Mr. McManus, he said, directed Dale to look for the bullet hole in the basement.

During his examination, the witness turned to the court and remarked that, in view of the fact that he had taken an oath to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth, the technical rules of evidences might be suspended. In that way, he said, he would be fully living up to his obligation. Attorney McManus objected to the remark and asked that it be stricken from the record. The court declined, stating that the mouth of the witness could not be closed from making an honest suggestion.

Mrs. McAlpine, plaintiff in the action, was not in the court room during the morning session of court. She was in the room but for a short portion of the afternoon session yesterday. William McAlpine, who was a witness on the stand at the noon adjournment of court today, has been a most regular attendant of the proceedings.

Charles W. Wilson, second assistant fire chief, and Dan McIver, lieutenant of the fire department stationed at No. 4 house, testified that at 3:19 o'clock on the morning of Aug. 15 a call was received from Twenty-first avenue East and Second street, where a telephone pole was on fire. The fire teams passed the McAlpine residence about three or four minutes later with the gongs ringing.

In her testimony Mrs. McAlpine testified that while she was going down stairs in search of her husband on the morning of Aug. 15, she heard the fire teams pass the house. Dr. Stewart, the first physician to be notified, stated that he received the call about 3:50 o'clock.

E. C. Leidell was called to the stand as a witness to prove that at the time Mr. McAlpine took out his policy with the Fidelity & Casualty company he was already insured with the London, Guaranty & Accident company in the sum of $24,000. Mr. Leidell is an agent of the latter company.

Tender $2,363 in Gold.

A bag of gold coin containing $2,363.52, which covers the premiums which Mr. McAlpine paid to the company and interest was tendered in open court to Mr. McManus, plaintiff's attorney. The coin was poured out on the table before him. Mr. McManus refused the tender on behalf of his client.

M. F. Appel, an attorney representing the insurance company, testified that on May 29, 1914, the same tender had been made to Mrs. McAlpine and to R. B. Whiteside and John McDonald, as executors of the estate of John McAlpine.

Dr. Gilbert Seashore of Minneapolis, coroner of Hennepin county, who was called for the purpose of furnishing statistics on murders and suicides in Hennepin county, was not permitted to give testimony along this line. The court ruled the evidence out as incompetent.

Hour of Shooting.

The hour of the McAlpine shooting, so far as the evidence produced thus far in the case is concerned, is largely a matter for speculation. Physicians who were called to the side of the dead man about 4 o'clock on the morning of Aug. 15, 1913, shortly after the body had been found in the basement by the members of his immediate family, testified that in their opinion Mr. McAlpine had been dead for at least two hours and possibly for more than four hours.

The contention of the insurance company on this point is believed to be that Mr. McAlpine received the fatal bullet wound through his skull shortly before midnight of Aug. 14. This was indicated yesterday afternoon when the defense produced two witnesses who claimed to have heard a sharp report or noise in the neighborhood of the McAlpine house a few moments before midnight of the 14th.

The witnesses were Miss Jennie Johnson, a domestic employed at the home of Mrs. George W. Davis, 1602 East First street, next door to the McAlpine residence, and Benner Carlson whose home is in West Duluth but is now living at the Nopeming sanitarium. Both took the stand yesterday afternoon.

The young man, it appeared from the evidence, took Miss Johnson to a moving picture theater on the evening of Aug. 14. After the show they came directly to the Davis home, reaching the house about ten minutes past 10 o'clock.

As they alighted from the street car at Sixteenth avenue east and Superior street and walked to the Davis house on First street, both remembered having seen Mr. McAlpine walking immediately in front of them. Neither could recollect whether he got off from the same street car or not. He cut across the Davis yard and disappeared from sight as he turned into the front entrance of his home.

Both testified that they sat down on the back porch steps and talked until about midnight. Mr. Carlson said that he fixed the time in his mind because he figured on making connections with a west bound car leaving Third avenue west at 12:30 o'clock and he usually figured on a half hour to get to the transfer point. He had called on Miss Johnson on an average of twice a week for some time before that, he said.

While they were sitting on the steps —neither could fix the time with any definiteness—they were startled by a sharp report or noise. The young man testified that it occurred shortly before he left and that it sounded like the back fire of an automobile on the street. Miss Johnson had some difficulty in describing the sound. She said that it somewhat resembled the striking of a board against a house.

The report, according to Miss Johnson, appeared to her as coming from the direction of the McAlpine house. She said that she got up from the place where she was sitting and walked around the Davis residence a short distance towards the McAlpine house. Seeing nothing that particularly attracted her attention, she returned. She testified that she saw no lights burning in the basement of the McAlpine home. She did not particularly look to see, she said.

Some time before they were startled by the noise both testified as to seeing the McAlpine dog, a black water spaniel. Miss Johnson stated that she had often seen the animal before and that she had fed it on numerous occasions.

She fixed the time as about 10:30 of 10:40 o'clock.

The examination of Dr. A. A. Law of Minneapolis, the medical expert who conducted a series of experiments on cadavers to ascertain the effect of bullet wounds on the human body and who testified yesterday morning that in his opinion the muzzle of the gun from which the shot was fired that killed Mr. McAlpine was either in close contact with his head or within a quarter of an inch away from it, was concluded yesterday afternoon.

During the latter part of his examination, Dr. Law testified that the effects of a bullet wound on a dead body are the same as those when a person is alive, provided the skin is in a normal condition. This was true, he said, on the subjects he used for the series of experiments which he conducted. The stain or discoloration around the bullet hole, he explained, was a product of combustion. If the muzzle of the gun be held in contact with the scalp, the powder grains in the process of combustion are virtually driven into the skin and cannot be rubbed off.

The witness explained that different results would be attained by the use of black powder. The black powder grain, he said, is comparitively large and coarse while the grain of the smokeless or white powder is perceptibly smaller. In black powder, he said, the combustion is not so complete, and hair would be burned by shots fired up to three feet away from the scalp.

MAY CONSENT TO TRANSFER

Possibility That St. Louis Hotel Bar Will Be Reopened.

But Waiters Would Have to Use Street in Serving Liquor.

No move has yet been made by the attorneys of J. W. Irwin, proprietor of the New St. Louis hotel, to carry the action whereby his saloon license was revoked by the city council, to the district court or the supreme court.

But inquiries have been made as to whether or not the council would give favorable consideration to an application for the transfer of another saloon license for the room occupied by the St. Louis hotel bar until closed by the commission.

On being asked today what his attitude would be regarding such an application, the commissioner of public safety stated that he was doubtful whether the penalizing clause of the liquor code would apply to the room and that while there is no new license to grant at this time he would consider a transfer application made by a person meeting the necessary requirements and connected in no way, directly or indirectly, with the present hotel company. He said that this would have to be established beyond a doubt and the room so rearranged that there would be no connection with the hotel, either by doors, or sliding openings or otherwise.

This would cut off every entrance to the saloon except through the Superior street door. Should such a transfer be made, any liquor sold in the dining room would have to be secured by the waiters in the saloon and carried from there over the sidewalk into the hotel through another entrance.

The clause in the Hicken liquor ordinance relative to penalization of buildings, and of which Commissioner Hicken says he doubts would prevent the transfer of another license to the barroom in the St. Louis hotel, reads as follows:

"Provided further, that no license shall be granted to any person to sell intoxicating liquors in any room, in any building, wherein there has been a violation of the provisions of this ordinance or of the laws of the state of Minnesota for which conviction has been had, until more than one year after the date of such conviction has been had, until more than one year after the date of such conviction and until more than one year after the termination of any license for selling liquor in the room in which such violation occurred; provided further, however, that this shall not apply to other rooms in said building wherein the sale of intoxicating liquors was licensed at the time of such violation."

ARMY OF THE ALLIES OPENS FIRE ON THE SPIRIT LAKE DUCK

War Lord Is Chosen and Mobilizes His Forces for a Campaign of Extermination—Mudhen Colony Remains Neutral.

Entrenched along the banks of the River St. Louis, the armies of the allies have begun a heavy artillery fire on the Spirit Lake duck.

For years the duck has squeaked his defiance of Duluth hunters who have made their headquarters at the Spirit Lake branch of the boat club. He has been sighted scores of times, and tons of ammunition have been wasted on him. He was reported shot last fall, but this report, emanating from the camp of the allies, has since been proven false.

Arthur H. Squier, an officer of the regular Spirit Lake army, will be chosen war lord of the allies, and take command of the St. Louis river corps. He plans an aggressive campaign. The heavy artillery will be stationed on the high ground around the clubhouse, and in the swamp and marshes along the river banks he will distribute his sharpshooters, armed with the new rapid-fire guns. The naval forces will reconnoiter from the clubhouse, in an effort to start the enemy from cover. If necessary, the aviation squad will be mobilized to do scout duty, and drop bombs in the reeds and rice beds.

It will be a war of extermination, for it is feared that unless the Spirit Lake duck is surrounded and forced to surrender, his comrades on the northern lakes will have time to mobilize and send reinforcements. The freezing of the northern lakes will send them south, and any day the army of the allies may find a flock of ducks advancing on their rear, confusing the issue.

The mudhen colony which lies along the Wisconsin shore of the river of St. Louis, is said to be neutral. Warlike sounds have been heard from that territory, but no overt act has yet been committed, and the mudhens are expected to preserve their neutrality.

BERLIN ISSUES CASUALTY LIST

Official Statement Shows 4,563 Names and Mentions Hard Fighting.

Berlin, Sept. 17, via London, 2:17 p. m.—An official casualty list published today shows 4,563 names.

Mention is made of the hard fighting on the part of the German Polish regiments in East Prussia. For example three companies of the Fifty-ninth infantry stationed at Soldau lost 356 men. The Forty-seventh infantry with headquarters at Posen suffered 268 casualties. A majority of both regiments are Polish.

A battalion of the 136th infantry stationed at Strassburg lost 346 men, one company alone losing 7 officers and 114 men.

A battalion of the 142nd infantry of Baden-Baden reported the loss of 10 officers and 249 men. Two battalions of the 143rd infantry, stationed at Strassburg lost 13 officers and 498 men.

Despite these losses the organizations rougnt on heroically, the official announcement says.

The total of the published German casualties to date are 35,786 killed, wounded or missing. Since last week the average daily losses are shown by the casualty lists to be 3,200. Among the killed on Sept. 14 was Prince Otto Victor of Schoenburg-Waldenburg, a first lieutenant of the Hussar guards and a brother of the princess of Wied.

Maj.-Gen. Nieland was killed while leading his brigade in a street fight in a French city on Aug. 27. Count Kirchbach, commander of the Tenth reserve corps, died on Sept. 3. Upon being mortally wounded, he gave up his command to Gen. von Eben.

Gen. Hindenberg's advance in East Prussia is described as having progressed to such an extent that a regulation concerning the importation of Russian cattle, which are being used for the army, is being issued.

Experiments made in the manufacture of a new bread, composed of rye flour and potatoes and starch are declared to have had most satisfactory results.

SUPERIOR

TEXANS EXONERATE SLAYER OF ANOTHER

Man Surrenders to Police But Houston Doesn't Want Him.

Ed Gentry, 40 years old, today entered the Superior police station and told Chief McKinnon that he was ready to give himself up and stand trial for the murder of a man at Houston, Tex., which he claims to have committed on Aug. 18, 1913. He said he had been wandering about the country since that time and had been continually in fear of capture by the police.

Chief McKinnon immediately got into communication with the chief of police at Houston and shortly before noon received a telegram advising the local authorities to let the man go. The Houston chief said in his message that public opinion in Houston did not warrant bringing the man back for trial. It appears from the communication that Gentry had killed the man on finding him in his home when returning from work late in the evening. Gentry had at that time been employed in a Houston hotel. He is said to have left the city immediately after the shooting.

Gets Year at Waupun.

James Quigley, who on Wednesday was sentenced to the work farm for sixty days on a charge of being drunk, was brought into court yesterday again on a charge of having stolen a suit of clothes from the Saratoga hotel. In police court he pleaded not guilty and demanded an examination in the superior court. Following the examination he was found guilty and sentenced to one year at Waupun. He left for that place in the custody of the sheriff this morning.

Paving Nearly Done.

The Tower avenue paving will be completed this week, and next week will be thrown open to the public for traffic, according to the contractor. The avenue between Sixteenth and Twenty-eighth streets has been paved with asphalt. Fielding & Shipley have had the contract.

Fish Dynamiter to Jail.

Mott, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The officials declined to release Kasper Polochawski from the county jail. He was convicted for a second offense for dynamiting fish in the Cannonball river and as his case was so aggravated, the court imposed a jail sentence. A petition was circulated to secure his release, but it was turned down.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Hav All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hi , Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from fem le troubles for s.. time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

WITH THE EVANGELISTS

At the Bible Chautauqua tent on West Second street near the Y. M. C. A., Evangelist White will speak again on the great "Seven Seal Prophecy of the Revelation" and "The Binding of Satan for 1,000 Years." Mr. White illustrates these subjects with special hand-painted charts.

Last evening, the evangelist spoke on the "Origin of the Bible," and briefly traced from Genesis to Revelation, the unfolding of the eternal purpose of God through Christ.

"If you went to the book store to purchase a book, you would expect the whole volume," said Mr. White, "and not be satisfied with just the covers. Concerning the Bible, Jesus in Revelations, calls it his 'two faithful witnesses,' and 'in the volume of the book it is written of me' is again declared. Let us not mutilate the word of God by "adding to" or "taking from." These sixty-six books are named in the 'articles of faith' of leading Protestant churches, and God asks us to search all these inspired Scriptures. The Holy Scriptures offer the only rule of faith and practice for the Christian. A starving man would be very foolish to refuse the only nourishment at hand, because he did not know who wrapped up the bread. Let us not strain at the gnat and swallow a camel. God's word is eternal."

The interesting experience of "Paul and Those Bewitched Galatians" will be discussed tonight by Mr. White.

Elder S. Mortenson, the evangelist from Chicago, spoke last night on the subject, "The Christian's Life of Faith Contrasted With the Feeling." In the Scandinavian tent, Twenty-second avenue west and Superior street.

"The Christian Life of Faith," said the evangelist, "is not based on the feelings but wholly on a sure knowledge of the word of God."

Tonight Mr. Mortenson will speak on "When Shall the Socialists, According to Prophecy, Come to World Power?"

CLEAR WAY FOR APPEAL OF FRANCHISE CASE.

Judge Cant of the district court yesterday entered an order denying the city's motion for a vacation of the court's decision and a new trial of the quo warranto proceeding brought in the name of the state to test the validity of the legislative franchise of 1881. The motion and the order denying it were only formal matters preliminary to an appeal of the franchise case to the state supreme court.

The court refused a motion of the city's attorneys to amend the findings of fact and conclusions of law. A similar motion made by the attorneys for the street railway was granted in part.

Badger Postmasters Elect.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 17.—The Wisconsin Postmasters association in annual convention here elected officers as follows: President, Gustave Keller, Appleton; vice presidents, F. W. Kemper, Union Grove; Anna Bartholomew, Delafield; W. H. Friehlich, Jackson, and E. A. Odell, Monroe; secretary and treasurer, R. L. Nash, Grand Rapids; executive committee, F. B. Schutz, Milwaukee; J. W. Moore, Watertown; R. C. Runke, Merrill, and N. O. Maxon, Wallworth.

DOCTOR RECOMMENDED WARNER'S

"I have great faith in your remedy. My first husband's mother, Mrs. Mary C. West, had a bad case of kidney trouble. She was in bed one year. Three doctors attended her, and after a consultation they told her husband she could not live five hours, as one of her kidneys was gone. Then he called an old doctor who had previously attended her. He told her that all he knew to do was to try Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy, and if this remedy did not do her any good, nothing would. So she started to take Warner's and in less than three weeks she was on her feet again and she was thoroughly cured by your remedy." — Mrs. Georgie Armstrong, Lynn, Mass.

The experience of thirty-five years has demonstrated the fact that Warner's acts specifically upon the kidney and liver in such a manner that it establishes a healthy condition of these vital organs. It is sold by all druggists in 50c and $1.00 sizes, or we will send you a free sample if you address Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 375, Rochester, N. Y.

American Ambassador at London Changes Location of Embassy.

Gets More Commodious Offices in a Better Neighborhood.

London, Sept. 17, 205 p. m.—Walter Hines Page will move the offices of the American embassy next week to 4 Grosvenor Square in which neighborhood are located the Spanish and Brazilian embassies and the Danish and Belgian legations. He is renting the building formerly used by the Japanese embassy. It contains forty rooms and is well suited for embassy use. The landlord increased the rent of the old offices at 123 Victoria street while the new offices are more commodious, in a better neighborhood and offered at a reasonable rate.

The offices being used at present by the American embassy will be taken over temporarily by the American residents relief committee and by the American money transfer commission which organization will combine their work and surrender their quarters at the Savoy hotel.

Tourists Well Out of Europe.

Henry S. Brecklnridge, the American assistant secretary of war, is uncertain as to how long the American army officers will be held in London directing the relief work. He thinks the American tourists are now well out of Europe, excepting those in the remote sections of the continent.

Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American Residents Relief committee, and other prominent workers in this field, believe that many German-American and American tourists now in Germany will leave the country when the actual war news reaches them.

Favorable to Germans.

Tourists coming from Germany say that virtually all the news printed there is favorable to the German army and that visitors have no knowledge of the Russian or the allies successes.

Many Americans also are staying in France who contemplated leaving when the Germans were near Paris and who probably would rush to England if the allies were repulsed.

The relief committee workers, the army officers and the diplomatic and consular office, however, feel that in view of the warning that had been given to Americans on the continent the American government should not be expected to maintain a large relief body for tourists who disregard the advice of the United States war and state departments.

north and south. The Austrians abandoned this position after the capture of Lemberg.

"Mosciska, to which the Russians have advanced, is a little over forty miles west of Lemberg, on the main line between Przemysl and Lemberg. The shattered second Austrian army was evidently incapable of staying the Russian advance and took refuge on Przemysl from which the Russians, according to the latest official report, are only nineteen miles away.

"Great enthusiasm continues to prevail throughout Russia and all classes are doing their utmost to help in the present emergency. At Moscow the barbers' guild have offered to shave and cut the hair of soldiers free of charge, while at Vilna fifteen cab drivers have offered their services for the transport of the wounded.

Germans Returning.

London, Sept. 17.—A Petrograd special to the Times says:

"According to the latest information available here the Germans, realizing the futility of the withdrawal of eight army corps from their western front, are returning their first line of troops from East Prussia westward.

"Military writers here are still puzzling over the problem why Germany should have made the blunder of sending such an enormous army to East Prussia where it was bound to remain either inactive or make an attempt to invade Russia with the almost complete certainty of sharing the fate of the Austrian forces in Galicia.

"The real explanation seems to be that when half the population of East Prussia stampeded before Gen. Rennenkampf, carrying the panic to Berlin, Germany felt compelled to reassure the population by sending a great army to the area occupied by the Russians."

Fighting Continues.

New York, Sept. 17.—Col. Golejewski, military attache of the Russian embassy today gave out at the Russian consulate here the following message from Petrograd:

"The fighting against the Austrian rear guard continues all along the line. Reports about prisoners, guns and war stores being taken are coming in from all our armies.

"On the left of the river San we attacked successfully the retiring Austrians. In eastern Prussia in spite of all the efforts of the Germans to surround a part of our retiring force, their plans did not succeed."

CHEERS FOR PRESIDENT

ment of the mining status of Colorado. He declared that this would secure for the miners of the state rights which they never before had enjoyed.

Terms of Agreement.

Under the terms of the agreement accepted by the miners, a three-year truce is to be declared in the labor war in the state. During this time the miners are to waive union recognition, but are permitted to maintain their organization. The workmen are permitted to have grievance committees, with the right of appeal to a commission appointed by the president of the United States, in event the grievance committee is not able to settle disputes with their employers.

Before adjournment, the convention gave three cheers for President Wilson, W. R. Fairley, Congressman Edward Keating and "Mother" Mary Jones.

The telegram to President Wilson follows:

"The Colorado mine workers, in convention assembled, have carefully considered your proposal for a settlement of the coal strike, and after calm and deliberate thought, we have this day decided to accept the proposition you submit. The delegates to this convention convey to you their abiding faith in your integrity and your earnest and patriotic desire to be helpful in the present strike situation.

"Upon notice of the acceptance of your proposition by the coal operators, we will immediately terminate the strike and return to work."

The message is signed by Frank J. Hayes, John R. Lawson, John McLennan and E. L. Doyle, policy committee.

VEIL OF MYSTERY IS DRAWN ONCE MORE

enormously during the past week and the present pause undoubtedly is being used to bring up reinforcements and supplies.

Germans Hurrying Back.

Petrograd reports that the flower of the German corps detached for service in East Prussia are again hurrying back to the western front and Stockholm learns that Gen. von Hindeberg, flushed with victory against the Russians in the East Prussian frontier, has been urgently summoned to command the western army.

Something of the horrors of modern warfare is indicated by the hesitancy with which the authorities discussed the terrible losses marking the progress of the armies from the Marne to the Aisne.

The stories are told with great restraint but with enough grewsome details to make even military men shudder.

The terribly battered second Austrian army is safe under the guns of Przemysl, but with the Russians only nineteen miles away. Desperate efforts probably will be made to form a junction with the fourth Austrian army with the idea of reorganizing with Cracow as the base.

Russians Cross San.

The Russians have crossed the River San and are hammering away at the retreating Austro-German forces. Despite their unprecedented losses the forces of the Germanic allies seem to retain their fighting organization and if they gain Cracow they may prevent the Russian right from making a march on Berlin from Warsaw.

The Petrogard military critics express the belief that the Germans, having recognized the strategic unimportance of East Prussian operations, will detach their army away from that region and begin a march on Warsaw, thus forestalling a Russian offensive on Berlin from that direction.

The position at Crodek, sixteen miles west of Lemberg, occupied by the Russians, is of great natural strength and provides an ideal operating base and, in case of a counter-attack, can be easily defended.

The Servians and Montenegrins, continuing their compaign in Bosnia and Herzegovina, are well within these provinces and are optimistically planing a march on Budapest.

Battle of Aisne.

London, Sept. 17.—The correspondent of the Times at Havre in describing the battle of Aisne says:

"As opposed to the battle of the Marne, which was a battle of rivers and plains, woodlands and high plateaus, the battle of Aisne was a river crossing on a scale such as has never before been seen in the history of the world, a triumph of organization and engineering as much as of courage and fighting power. The time was Saturday evening and the moment had arrived when if the fleeing host was to be saved, some sort of stand must be made.

Gather Hurriedly.

"The enemy gathered hurriedly together for a great effort on the heights which overlooked the river. He has his guns placed and his men ready when the British and French troops reached the south bank of the river. Clearly it was essential to the allies that a crossing should be made if the great prusuit was to be continued, and the hard-won victory pressed home. But the river was swollen, running swiftly after the recent heavy rains; bridges must be built under a withering fire, they must be maintained undamaged, and must be crossed.

"All the vantage points were held by men rendered desperate and fighting for their lives. It was a terrible prospect, but it did not daunt our splendid forces.

Artillery Duel.

"The attack began Sunday morning with all the dash that characterized the great struggle the week before. Our guns were brought up, placed in position and a terrible artillery duel opened, for as long as the German artillery remained unsilenced there was little hope of crossing the river.

"During the fire the engineers brought up great pontoons while the fire decreased their numbers.

"After some hours of this supreme effort the enemy's guns on the north bank are silenced and the troops begin crossing, while the allies' artillery still sweep the heights protecting their passage.

"By sunset, when the cold rain and wind starts, the heights are won, the enemy thrown back and our troops across at three crossing places.

"While this battle is proceeding, a most exciting battle of aeroplanes, German and English, occurred high in the air. It was a great struggle, the machines maneuvering hither and thither until finally the German dropped to the ground."

Rear Guard Action.

Paris, Sept. 17.—The rear guard action, supposed at first to be intended as a check to pursuit and to facilitate the retreat of the mass of the armies of Generals von Kluck and von Buelow, has developed into what will probably be called in history the battle of Aisne. Whether the Germans have found it necessary or advisable to turn and engage in a general action this great battle wages fiercely and rivals in importance the battle of the Marne.

The war office says that the French have not flinched at any point. This sounds as if they were on the defensive and this might be so in view of the strength of the positions the Germans occupy. The official communication Sunday said that the French and English had crossed the Aisne. If so they have the river at their back while the Germans are strongly intrenched on the heights of Laon and Reims with their right protected by the Oise and the Aisne at Noyon.

Pursuit of Crown Prince.

The undetermined element in this fight is the allies' right, which is in pursuit of the crown prince's army. All reports indicate that the latter is quite as demoralized as was von Kluck's army and is suffering equally from lack of provisions and ammunition. While von Kluck has no doubt received what he needs in this respect it is doubtful if the crown prince has.

The issue of the battle may depend upon in what conditions the crown prince reaches the front and whether he can make a stand and prevent the allies from turning the German left.

Some of the military experts still think that the Germans hope by this action only to check the onrush of the allies and that later they will take up the defensive on the Namur line. There was credit even for a rumor current yesterday that Emperor William had ordered Gen. von Kluck not to resist in France and that he was ready to listen to offers of peace through Pope Benedict XV or President Wilson, but the steady stream of wounded coming from the front seems to disprove this and indicates that the battle will be to a finish.

Confirmation.

There is still no confirmation of the report that the Indian cavalry have landed in France and are ready for action. Paris is filled with rumors of the immediate co-operation of these troops as well as of the Russians, but the reports are without definite foundation.

In a dispatch reporting the rout of 3,000 German cavalry between Hooglede and Poperinghe, Belgium, the name of the cavalry forces operating against them is censored. This combat was violent and many automobiles with quick-firts and ammunition and provisions were captured, though the Germans were said to outnumber their opponents three to one.

Cold, heavy rains are falling today throughout the fighting zone in Northern and Eastern France. Military observers are of the opinion that this inclement weather will hamper the Germans in greater degree than the French. It will make the use of their heavy field artillery impossible, except on the best roads and interfere with the progress of the German supply trains, encumbered with men made ill by exposure.

faucon. In the Woevre district, we have come in contact with several detachments of the enemy between Etant and Thiaucourt.

"Third—On our right wing in Lorraine and the Vosges, there has been no change."

Battle Continues.

"Summing up, the battle is being continued along the entire front between the River Oise and the River Meuse. The Germans occupy positions organized for defense and armed with heavy artillery.

"Our progress is of necessity slow, but our troops are animated by a spirit of offensive action and they are giving evidence of vigor and enthusiasm. They have repulsed with success the counter attacks undertaken by the enemy, both during the day and at night. The morale of the French soldiers is excellent.

"The Austrian armies evacuating Galicia are in full rout. Their losses in killed, wounded and prisoners are estimated at several hundred thousand men. The German army corps which went to their succor, are retreating."

ASSAULT BY FRENCH REPULSED

the positions of Austrian troops to the Russian army.

Lieut. Tiedermann of the Fifth Prussian Cuirassiers found twenty-one German recruits lying helpless on a highway in East Prussia. Cossacks had surprised them the day before and had severed their hands or legs and had cut off their ears and noses.

Prussian gendarmes captured a Russian officer who had a woman's finger with a ring on it in his pocket. The commander of the Eleventh army corps reports that the Russians cut the fingers from the hands of German landwehr (reservists). He found twenty killed women with their breasts cut off.

An order issued by the commander of the First French army and found by the German troops regrets the plundering of the French town of Rambervillers.

All Victories Denied.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The German embassy today received the following wireless from Berlin:

"All the French-English reports of victories of battles in France are untrue. The German retreat of the western wing was a practical maneuver not affecting the strategical position. The French attempt to break through the center of the German position was victoriously repulsed.

"There is confirmation of German successes at several points of the long-extended battle field. The Temps reports that the losses of the British army in the recent fighting amount to 15,000 dead and wounded."

SENDS REGRETS TO PRESIDENT

British Ambassador Apologizes for Alleged Interview of Carden.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, called at the state department today and formally expressed his regret for the publication of an interview attributed to Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, criticizing the United States for withdrawing troops from Vera Cruz.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Reply from Sir Lionel Carden, former British minister to Mexico, now en route to England, as to the accuracy of an alleged interview with him published in New York criticizing President Wilson for ordering the evacuation of Vera Cruz, was awaited with interest in official circles here today in connection with revelations as to how the minister was forced to depart from Mexico City by Gen. Carranza, Constitutionalist chief. It was also learned in high official circles that but for the diplomatic intervention of the United States Sir Lionel would have been given his passports by Carranza.

The facts in the latest diplomatic episodes were revealed following the publication of the alleged interview. The British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, has informed Secretary Bryan that Sir Lionel has no authorization to make a statement, and although he doubted its accuracy, he would try to ascertain the facts.

"STARVE WAR AND FEED AMERICA"

Socialists Call Mass Meeting to Further This Propaganda.

Acting upon the request of the national executive committee of the party, Socialists of Duluth will hold a mass meeting at the Auditorium next Sunday afternoon to protest against the war and also to protest against the exporting of products to European countries now engaged in the gigantic conflict.

Socialists claim to be opposed to war at all times, and they have started nation-wide agitation to "starve the war and feed America!"

They call attention to the fact that in the investigation at New York city conducted recently by District Attorney Whitman, a number of well-known financial men testified that the belligerent nations were depending upon this country for food supplies, and in the event of America placing an embargo on foodstuffs, the war would have to come to an end. They assert that food should be kept on this side of the Atlantic, and thus thwart the plans of selfish food speculators who hope to gain at the expense of the American consumers.

The meeting Sunday afternoon will begin at 2 o'clock, and will be preceded by a parade commencing at the postoffice corner, thence to Superior street on Fifth avenue, and along Superior street to the Auditorium.

Morris Kaplan, who is now located at Bemidji, will be the principal speaker. W. E. Towne, Socialist candidate for congress, will also speak.

Home Complexion Peeler Works Wonders

To keep the face, neck, arms and hands truly beautiful and youthful in appearance, the treatment which seems most sensible is one which will actually remove the skin itself immediately it begins to age, fade, coarsen or discolor. The only known treatment which will do this, aside from a painful, expensive surgical operation, is the application of ordinary mercolized wax, which is as harmless as it is effective.

The wax is put on at night, just as you apply cold cream, and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead and half-dead surface skin in almost invisible flaky particles, a little each day, no discomfort being experienced. With the disappearance of the old cuticle, the newer, healthier skin underneath gradually appears, richly beautiful with the flush of youth. This mercolized wax, which you can get at any drug store in original package, is indeed a veritable wonder-worker.

BOYS TAKE ENGINE AND MAKE ESCAPE

Get Away From Reform School and Have Wild Ride to Freedom.

Sedalia, Mo., Sept. 17.—An escape from the reform school at Boonville, Mo., a wild ride through the night on a stolen engine, pursued by detectives in a similar conveyance and in imminent danger of being hurled into a wreck through a dispatcher's orders, was the experience last night of four boys, who were still at large today.

Seven boys were in the party that evaded guards and left the school. Three were captured. According to the authorities, the remaining four made their way to Sedalia. Engine No. 108, one of the largest used by the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, stood in the yards here with steam up. Soon railroad employes noticed it was moving. Another engine was quickly obtained and, with detectives aboard, started in pursuit. But the race was one-sided. No. 708, bearing the fleeing lads, quickly drew away. Orders were given by the train dispatcher here to derail the stolen engine at Pilot Grove, thirty-five miles south of Sedalia. With whistle blowing and bell ringing the engine, traveling sixty miles an hour, reached Pilot Grove before the switch had been arranged and swept through the town. A mile further on it was abandoned and the boys escaped.

TORPEDOES SENT CRUISER DOWN

Crew of Submarine Tells of Effective Work on the German Hela.

London, Sept. 17.—The Harwich correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sends this story of how the German cruiser Hela was destroyed, as told by one of the crew of the submarine E-9:

"In the early hours of Sunday morning two or three British submarines were stalking the Hela about six miles off the German coast. The wind was freshening and the sea was beginning to get rougher. The E-9 came to the surface at 6:30 o'clock and sighted the enemy which was seen to be within range.

"With all possible speed the E-9 dived and at a suitable depth launched two torpedoes at intervals of fifteen seconds. Whether both struck is not definitely known, but one of them certainly was effective as the explosion followed.

"The E-9 remained below about a quarter of an hour and then came to the surface briefly for a survey which showed the Hela listing badly. There were other German ships in the vicinity, but none were active fighting units.

"The submarine prudently dived again at once. After an interval something over a quarter of an hour, it came to the surface again but the Hela had disappeared.

"The submarine got away safely but was unable to make a report of her achievement to the admiralty until today when she first got within her wireless range. The submarine crew say their boat was never seen by the enemy either before or after the blow was struck."

PILOT IS GIVEN TO ROMANCING

Makes Up Story About Sinking of Kronprinz Wilhelm By Cruiser.

New York, Sept. 17.—A circumstantial story of the sinking of the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinz Wilhelm by the British cruiser Lancaster, brought into this port by pilot McCarthy aboard the Norwegian freight steamer Hermod, was proved today to be untrue. McCarthy said the story had been told to him by Pilot Nichols who yesterday boarded the warship off Ambrose Channel lightship. Nichols admitted to newspapermen this afternoon that he had told such a story to McCarthy and several persons. He confessed that he had been romancing.

"There is not one word of truth in the story," said Pilot Nichols. "It is perfectly true that I boarded a British cruiser yesterday and gave the men on board some newspapers. As a matter of fact I do not even know the name of the cruiser. It might have been the Lancaster and it might have been some other warship. I got no news of any kind from the officers and men aboard the ship.

"When I returned from the cruiser I told several persons I had been informed that the Lancaster had met and sunk the Kronprinz Wilhelm. I also said that because I did not wish to appear inquisitive I did not ask the time and place of the sinking. I did not know the story would get into the newspapers."

AWAITING REPLY FROM THE TURKS

Washington Government Will Not Probably Act Further at Present.

Washington, Sept. 17. — The Washington government today awaited the reply of the Turkish government to its protest against the abrogation of the capitulations by the Porte. Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople had been instructed by Secretary Bryan to inform the Turkish government that the United States does not acquiesce in the reported intention of Turkey to deprive foreigners of their extra-territorial rights.

"Furthermore," says Secretary Bryan in a paraphrased statement of the cablegram to Mr. Morgenthau, "this government does not recognize that the Ottoman government has a right to abrogate the capitulations."

The ambassador was further instructed to advise the Porte that the Washington government would reserve for the present discussion of the grounds upon which it based its refusal to acquiesce in the action of Turkey and also reserved the right to make further representations in the matter later.

Its desire not to become entangled in the intricate web of European diplomacy on which the possibility of war between Turkey and other European nations depends, is believed to be the reason for the delay in taking up the matter. Fearing that it might be misunderstood the Washington government will postpone further discussion of the subject until the war is ended. It is believed that meanwhile the protest will cause Turkey to use extreme care in the treatment accorded Americans.

KOOCHICHING FAIR.

It Will Be Held at Northome Next Tuesday and Wednesday.

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.))—The Koochiching county fair will be held at Northome next Tuesday and Wednesday, and an effort is being made to secure a special train from the county seat in order that citizens may be able to go over in the morning and return in the evening.

The Northome Fair association has purchased grounds and erected buildings for the exhibits, so that the fair this year will be better than ever before. It is an institution that will be greatly helpful in the agricultural development of the county.

TO SAVE EYES

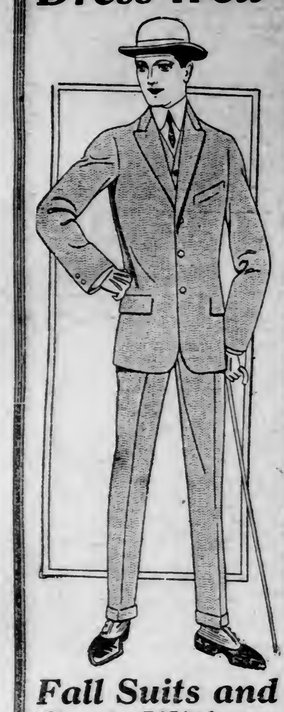

Is the Object of This Free Prescription—Try It if Your Eyes Give You Trouble.

Thousands of people suffer from eye troubles because they do not know what to do. They know some good home remedy for every other minor ailment, but none for their eye troubles. They neglect their eyes, because the trouble is not sufficient to drive them to an eye specialist, who would, anyway, charge them a heavy fee. As a last resort they go to an optician or to the five and ten-cent store, and oftentimes get glasses that they do not need, or which, after being used two or three months, do their eyes more injury than good. Here is a simple prescription that every one should use:

5 grains Optona (1 tablet).
2 ounces Water.

Use three or four times a day to bathe the eyes. This prescription and the simple Optona system keeps the eyes clean, sharpens the vision and quickly overcomes inflammation and irritation; weak, watery, overworked, tired eyes and other similar troubles are greatly benefited and oftentimes cured by its use. Many reports show that wearers of glasses have discarded them after a few weeks' use. It is good for the eyes and contains no ingredient which would injure the most sensitive eyes of an infant or the aged. Any druggist can fill this prescription promptly. Try it and know for once what real eye comfort is.

BOY PRISONER CONFESSES

Charles Campbell, Alias Charles Carson, Already Has Served Term.

Course of Action to Be Taken Here Not Yet Decided.

For several hours yesterday, Charles Campbell, 15 years old, who was arrested in the morning for raising a postal money order from $1.55 to $31.55, had the police believing that this was his first offense, but when Chief Troyer announced in the afternoon that he was going to wire the authorities at Ludington, Mich., the boy's home town, the youth broke down and made a complete confession.

Makes Complete Confession

Campbell declared that his real name was not Carson, as he had given it to the police following his arrest in the morning, and that he was on parole from the Michigan state industrial home at Lansing, where he served a year and three months. He has been out about two years, he said.

Further questioning by Chief Troyer brought out the information that young Campbell has a bad record in his home town and that his father ordered the boy's detention in the state home, because of the lad's incorrigibility. Charles admitted having committed many thefts in Ludington, that he had refused to attend the public schools and that he had violated his parole from the industrial school at Lansing.

Following this information Chief Troyer wired the superintendent at the industrial school, and received a reply late last evening that the institution does not send for its paroled boys. The chief then wired to the authorities at Ludington asking them to get in touch with the boy's father and learn what the latter would like to have done in the matter. Charles claims that his father is a foreman in a lumber mill at Ludington. No word has as yet been received from the chief of police at Ludington and young Campbell will be held at police headquarters in the meantime.

Tells of First Crime.

When arrested yesterday morning Campbell gave his name as Carson and with tears in his eyes, told a tale of how this was his first crime and how sorry he was for having committed it. The police believed his tale and there was considerable sympathy about the station for the youth. After eight hours the boy finally gave in and told the real truth about himself.

Young Campbell received a money order from Neenah, Wis., yesterday morning, for $1.55, and is alleged to have retraced the writing and changed the amount to $31.55. The work was very crude and was immediately recognized by a clerk at the Fifth Avenue Clothing store, where the boy went to purchase a coat, giving the money order in payment. The clerk notified the police and Sergeant Youngberg later placed Campbell under arrest. It is a federal offense, but Campbell's age may save him from a severe prison sentence.

Charles came here yesterday morning and was on his way to Virginia, where he was plannig to obtain work.

POLICE NAB NOTED FORGER

Man Held at Port Huron Proves to Be Edward Graham.

Confesses to Numerous Forgeries; Was Thought a Sailor.

Although the local police believed that two men were operating in the check forgery game here last week, a telegram received this morning by Chief Troyer states that the man arrested at Port Huron, Mich., Tuesday afternoon while in the act of passing a Pittsburg Steamship company check, is in reality Edward W. Graham and that he has confessed to the forgeries, declaring also that he has been working alone since last December, during which time he succeeded in passing more than $1,100 worth of forged checks. The police found $300 among Graham's belongings, the telegram states.

Investigation Made.

It was thought at first that Edwin Grover was arrested and that his accomplice, believed to be Graham, was still at large. The telegram received by Chief Troyer this morning is from Special Detective Nesbitt of the Pittsburg Steamship company, who went to Port Huron yesterday morning, upon hearing of the fugitive's arrest. After investigating for several hours and further questioning the prisoner, Detective Nesbitt obtained the information which he wired to Chief Troyer this morning.

Late yesterday afternoon Chief Troyer received word from Chief Chalmers of Port Huron that Graham would not be prosecuted there and that the prisoner declared he would not fight extradition. Detective Irvine was then detailed to bring the prisoner to Duluth and the officer left last evening. He is expected back Saturday noon and in all probability Graham will be arraigned in police court Monday morning. He is charged with forgery in the second degree.

Graham is charged with having operated here last Wednesday, passing three checks on local saloonkeepers. The descriptions given the police varied greatly, thus giving rise to the idea that there were two men working together. Graham, however, has been known to the police for some time and was even last week under surveillance by Detective Nesbitt of the steamship company. He used that corporation's checks in his forgery game, stamping in addition the steamer "J. B. Nealson" on the side, in this way claiming that he was a sailor and had just received his pay from the master of the vessel.

Ends Long Chase.

The arrest of Graham ends a chase that lasts since he started operating in Great Lake ports last December. At that time the first steamship company checks appeared and from time to time the local police received word of his operations. Last June he passed several checks in Duluth, but got away at the time. Shortly after several checks appeared in Toledo, but again the man made his getaway. Last week Graham, according to his confession in Port Huron yesterday, started on his third trip along the lakes, beginning with Duluth. He admits having made $1,100 at his game. Of that amount the police found $300 yesterday among the prisoner's belongings.

Clever Work by Chief.

Immediately after the forgeries were discovered last Friday, Chief Troyer sent out a two-page circular to every port city along the Great Lakes, urging the authorities to be on the lookout for Graham or Grover. His plan of operation was carefully explained, even a fac-simile of the checks used being included in the circular.

These circulars were so complete that Chief Troyer was positive the fugitive would be captured in a few days. His surmise was correct and the first saloonkeeper Graham met in Port Huron held the fugitive and the man was later placed under arrest. Yesterday morning Chief Troyer received word of the arrest and the prisoner will be here Saturday to answer a charge of forgery in the second degree.

CANOE TRIPS WERE POPULAR

More Than 300 Visitors Have Taken the Vermilion Trips.

Fame of Minnesota's Rivers and Lakes Spreading Rapidly.

It is estimated that more than 300 people have made the canoe trip through the Lake Vermilion or the Burntside lake country, all a part of the wonderful canoe routes of Lake, St. Louis and Cook counties, in the Vermilion range district, during the season that is nearly ended.

That the fame of the beautiful rivers and streams of the northern part of Minnesota, with their picturesque scenery and excellent facilities for fishing and camping, are attracting the attention of tourists and those seeking recreation from many widely scattered points of the continent, is evident from the records in the office of M. M. Hanna of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad.

"Many people were supplied with information in the Duluth office," said Mr. Hanna today, "while scores of others made the trip from the range. Several people from the East, who had heard of the wonderful possibilities of the trip, and a large number of people from the various cities of the West, made the trip this season. It has been the best season in the history of the efforts to advertise the northern part of the state as a tourist resort, and we feel elated with the results."

Many of those making the trip were notably surprised with the arrangements made for information, for the arrangements made to carry luggage and camp utensils, and also at the easy portages. Another surprising and delightful detail to many of the visitors to Duluth were the folders and maps that gave even the most inexperienced camper a clear idea of the streams, lakes and rivers of the northern part of the state.

Among a few of those making canoe trips in the northern part of the state during the season were: J. M. McArthur, Chicago; C. B. Avery, A. J. Butchart, G. W. Wilson, Duluth; E. H. Lundie, W. F. Dobbin, E. C. Murdock, St. Paul; R. B. Perry, Alexandria, Minn.; Dr. C. F. McClintock, Faribault, Minn.; C. D. Carr and party of five, New York; Walter Jordon, Chicago.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Overnight."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and travel pictures.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville and motion pictures.

Amusement Notes.

"Overnight" is one long laugh from start to finish. As soon as the author opens his box of tricks, the audience sits up and takes notice. When the fun of this great comedy gets under way, it seldom lags. It is a human, all American play of fun and youth and the brght side of life and it is sure to be one of the hits of the present stock season.

Next week, the Baldwin Players will present an elaborate production of "The Shepherd of the Hills" a dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's novel of the same name.

The story is one of the Ozark mountains and teaches a lesson of the simple life. It's characters live and act naturally. It is a play that attracts by its simplicity, yet holds the auditor with breathless interest from the first curtain to the last.

Few writers have the number of readers Mr. Wright has and the forthcoming production of his most popular novel will be looked forward to with interest.

"The Red Heads" at the Orpheum this week, are causing more comment than any act ever seen in that theater, with one or two possible exceptions. The act is generally admitted to be the best musical comedy ever seen in the theater, and the expressions of James B. Carson are being heard on all sides. Mr. Carson's impassioned description of his beautiful gowns which he has for sale, and which description ends with the plea "if that's not beautiful, kill me" is one of the funniest bits heard at the Orpheum in many months. One Duluth merchant who heard Mr. Carson's method of handling the buyer of suits, was heard to say that they spoiled a wonderful salesman to make a good comedian. "He could sell furs at Palm Beach in summer," was the compliment he paid Mr. Carson.

The popularity of the act is reflected in the attendance. This has been the biggest week from a box office standpoint the Orpheum has had this season.

This afternoon Mr. Carson and Manager Billings acted as hosts to all red haired women of the city. Any red haired women who applied for tickets were admitted free, and the matinee at the Orpheum had the appearance of a sea of flame. The theater was well filled, and there was a most generous sprinkling of auburn tresses.

Today the New Grand inaugurates Manager Ed. R. Salter's change of booking policy. The forthcoming attractions at the New Grand will in the future be furnished by the Western Managers' Vaudeville association, of which Mort H. Singer is the head and Sam Kahl will be the personal representative booking agent for the New Grand. The new program today opens with Norine Carman and her own minstrel company, most of whom are well known to Duluth theatergoers and include Jimmie Conley, Si Goodfriend, Josh Billings, Sam Carman, Eddie Trent, Hap Ward and the famous Astor quartet.

Another novelty will be Mme. Helene Hardy in an entertaining number depicting famous women of past and present. Her character changes, eight in number, in full view of the audience, are a novelty.

Billie Noble and Jeanne Brooks have a snappy little playlet called "At the Box Office." It gives them a good opportunity for clever sayings and the introduction of some new songs and polite dancing.

"Those two war dogs," Logan and Ferris, will be on hand with a brand new offering, just as pleasing as of yore. George Ade has a "Fable of the Honeymoon" to be exhibited on the Grandoscope. There is a two-reel Lubin subject with a dash of melodrama called "The Twin Brothers Van Zant." The Hearst-Selig weekly news letter will be shown and the usual daily performances from 12 noon until 11 p. m. will be the rule.

Mary Pickford, the celebrated "movie" actress, will make her first appearance at the New Grand theater this afternoon in a special attraction.

Manager Salter has arranged with the General Film company for the appearance of Miss Pickford twice weekly, Thursdays and Mondays. Miss Pickford will appear as an additional feature.

A new show of vaudeville and pictures opens at the Empress today and will continue for the remainder of the week, giving four complete shows each day with five shows on Saturday. Tracy, Goetz and Tracy are a well-known trio and have a standard act. Their songs are new and they keep replacing them from week to week. Their dancing is novel and contains many features in the dancing line. Their piano playing is another big feature. Tracy, Goetz and Tracy are old-timers in the business of entertaining, as they have been seen in Duluth with various musical comedy companies and vaudeville acts.

The Caruso trio consists of singers and instrumentalists. They are Italians and they can sing grand opera as only Italians can. Their selections are limitless and their numbers have proved a big hit.

"Broomstick" Elliott, the "crazy musician," will provide a comedy feature. His antics compel laughter. He is a natural born comedian.

The Marlows offer a novel scenic feature in their contortion act. They do things on a very big scale and amaze spectators by their almost uncanny contortions. They imitate frogs at play.

The usual liberal outlay of motion pictures will round out the bill.

THINKS BUSINESS BOOM IS COMING

W. M. Abrahamson Tells of Growing Optimism in Chicago.

Prominent business men in Chicago are of the opinion that the present European war will come to an end within two months, while business will experience its greatest boom in years, according to W. M. Abrahamson, local theater manager, who returned this morning from a few days' visit in the Windy City.

"It is the general opinion among the business men in Chicago," said Mr. Abrahamson, "that the war will be over by Thanksgiving. They believe that conditions will so shape themselves within the next fifteen or twenty days that one side or the other will sue for peace. They declare that fighting will actually cease within two months.

"While in Chicago I learned that business is improving rapidly. The Pullman car factory, I understand, has placed 6,000 men in its factories to handle the business and the large plant will run at full blast throughout the fall and winter. Recently a large number of men were dropped by the factory, so that the present activity shows a belief that is indeed optimistic."

WAR KEEPS DULUTH MONEY AT HOME

Foreign Postal Money Orders Reduced $11,000 in Month.

During August, the first month of the European war, about $11,000 less was sent abroad in the form of foreign postal money orders from Duluth than in August, 1913. If the same rate of decrease continues during the year, and it is the opinion that the rate of decrease will grow larger as the war goes on, there will be at least 150,000 kept at home this year.

According to the figures submitted to Postmaster McEwen yesterday by Miss Elizabeth Stringer, head of the money order department but 501 international hmoney orders were issued during August. In August, 1913, there were 793 foreign orders issued, with a total of $22,125.30. Last month but $11,373.97 was sent to foreign countries by Duluthians. This makes a difference of $10,751.53.

It has been impossible for many Duluthians to send money to Germany, Austria and Russia, owing to the cancelling of the foreign exchange with these nations, because of the war.

There was an increase in the domestic money order department in August over the same month last year. Last mouth 5,375 domestic orders were issued for a total of $47,481.08, while in August, 1913, 46,170.61 were issued at the Duluth office.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

Work in Duluth Will Be Continued on Broader Scale.

Several Interesting Courses Offered By Lecturers From University.

The university extension course for the coming fall and winter, which will open on Sept. 29 at the Central high school with a lecture by Dr. R. V. Phelan, will be very much more pretentious this year than last.

The university extension course is a hobby of President Vincent of the University of Minnesota, and it has been proving a distinct success, for during last fall and winter the attendance at all points where the courses were given, was far beyond hopes. Duluth was one of the places where the attendance, in proportion, was greatest and many benefited from the plan.

During the course this year, many of the best instructors in the country in their various subjects will conduct classes here. It is believed that the "road-faculty" is one of the strongest yet put out in the work.

In addition to the extension course there will be seven lectures in a regular Lyceum course. Edmund Vance Cook will be the first attraction.

For the extension lecture course those wishing to take it may register at the Central high school or go to the opening meeting and register then. The first lecture will be by Dr. Phelan on Sept. 29 and the others will begin on Oct. 1.

Business law will be taught by W. C. Smiley, an attorney of St. Paul.

Retail salesmanship will be taught by Paul H. Neystrom, a University of Wisconsin man who has spent the summer reorganizing the sales force of Wanamaker's store.

There will be two classes in accounting, one for those who attended before, a sort of advanced class, and another for beginners. This class will be conducted by Clare L. Rotzel of the state university.

Those who wish to take up electricity or shop mathematics will have for their instructor O. C. Edwards of the university faculty. These are given in separate classes of course.

"Social economics" will be dealt with Dr. R. V. Phelan, and those who heard him last year will appreciate the value of his instruction and lectures.

It is believed that the attendance this year will be much greater than that of last for in the interim the value of the work has gained fame from those who have attended the last course.

This Frees Your Skin From Hair or Fuzz

(Toilet Tips)

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick and certain and unless the growth is extremely stubborn, a single application does the work. Make a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water; apply this to the hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To avoid disappointment, be sure your druggist sells you delatone. —Advertisement.

CARE OF FURNITURE.

Good polishers and cleaners can be made at home, says the San Joe Times. Taking the wooden parts of furniture first, there is nothing better for it than a sponging off with cold water. This not only cleanses, but, as wood shrinks, the water supplies necessary moisture. A sponge should be used not too wet for the washing and a chamois wrung out of clear water (never a dry one) for the drying. The cloths should go in one direction. Sometimes the chamois will produce a polish. When it fails to do so rub briskly with a mixture of equal parts of turpentine, linseed oil and vinegar. A large bottleful should not cost more than 10 cents.

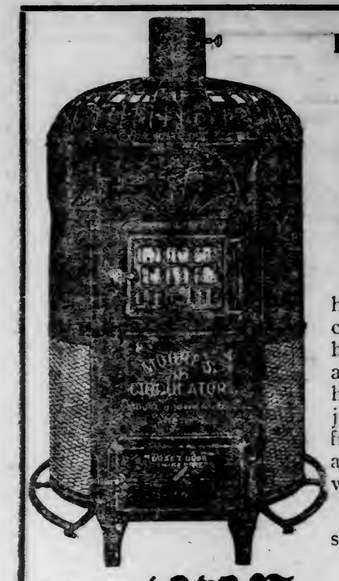

Here is a home-made polish. Mix equal proportions of linseed oil, turpentine, vinegar and spirits of wine; shake the mixture well and rub on the furniture with a piece of soft cloth and polish with a clean duster. Vinegar or oil rubbed in with a flannel and the furniture rubbed with a clean duster produces a very good polish.

"BUY A BALE" IS THE SLOGAN

South Asks Small Investors to Make Market for Cotton.

Urged as Safe Investment and Also as Patriotic Move.

Who wants a bale of cotton?

Dulathians are offered a chance to invest in cotton at the rate of 10 cents a pound, or about $50 a bale.

"Just buy a bale of cotton and stick it away and forget about it for six months" is the advice of the South, "and you will probably double your money. You can't lose, and you will also be helping the South to find a market for its crop."

The "buy-a-bale" campaign has gradually been spreading from the South to the North, and in many Northern cities newspapers are taking up the campaign, in an effort to help the South to market its crop.

It is pointed out, in this country-wide invitation or appeal, that the helping out of the South will be really an investment, for with war conditions ended, the price of cotton is bound to jump and the cotton holder, carrying but a small quantity and tying up a very small sum, will have an asset which he can dispose of at a smart advance.

It is known that 10 cents a pound is exceptionally cheap for cotton, but it means much to the cotton growers to have their crop moved and sold, so that is why they sell rather than to sit back and wait, for with them, having large amounts of cotton on hand and money lacking, the conditions are serious.

The appeal to Dulutnians comes from William Spencer of America, Okla., who was formerly a druggist of West Duluth and well known to many of this city's residents. In a letter to The Herald he says:

"Do you think you could, through The Herald, sell a thousand bales of cotton on the 'buy-a-bale' plan at 10 cents and hold it off the market for a year? The South is up against a market. I inclose a sample of what is going begging."

The Herald is writing Mr. Spencer for particulars and will publish his reply when it is received.

CATARRH OF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Peruna Saved Me

Mrs. Powers, whose address is given below her portrait, is an ardent friend of Peruna. She says:

"I am thankful to tell you that my old trouble has never bothered me any since you received my testimonial. Any one wishing to know the facts in my case, if they will write me I will be glad to answer. Your medicine has saved me, and gave me perfect health. I frequently meet friends that knew me when I was in poor health. They ask me what has made such a change in me. I always tell them that it was the nerve remedy, Peruna. I shall praise Peruna as long as I live."

Catarrh of the Internal Organs

Mrs. A. T. Powers, R. R. 7, Box 121, London, Ohio, writes: "I write to thank you for the wonderful good your Peruna has done for me. I was a sufferer from kidney and bladder trouble for twenty-two years. Two years ago I began to take Peruna, and I only took about three bottles and today I can say I am a well person."

Catarrh is liable to affect any of the internal organs. This is especially true of the bladder, which is very frequently the seat of catarrh. This is sometimes called cystitis.

Mr. James M. Powell, No. 1620 W. Walnut St., Rosedale, Kansas, writes: "About four years ago I suffered with a severe catarrh of the bladder, which caused continued irritation and pain. I was miserable and could not stand up or walk for any length of time without extreme weariness and pain. I began taking Peruna and it greatly relieved me and in eleven weeks I was completely cured, and felt like a new man."

Those who object to liquid medicine can now procure Peruna in Tablet form.

HAMMOND TO BE KEPT BUSY

To Make Complete Tour of First District in Six Days.

Prominent Albert Lea Republican Is for Democratic Candidate.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democratic state central committee has arranged a strenuous program for Winfield Scott Hammond when he returns from Washington, Sept. 28, to open his campaign for governor. Mr. Hammond's speaking dates for the first week were announced today by Secretary R. W. Hargadine of the state committee, and during the six days he is scheduled to make a complete tour of the First congressional district.

Mr. Hammond will not come to St. Paul immediately on his return but will stop at Red Wing where he will deliver his keynote address the evening of Sept. 28. The next morning he will be in Lake City, that afternoon in Wabasha and he will finish the day at Winona where a big meeting is being planned. On Sept. 30, he goes to St. Charles in the morning, Plainview in the afternoon and Rochester people will hear him in the evening.

On Oct. 1 he will speak at Spring Valley in the morning, and then State Senator Cook of Mower county will take him through to Austin, several stops to be made at villages on the way. The evening meeting will be at Austin.

To Cover Freeborn County.

The next morning Mr. Hammond will be met by D. C. Armstrong of Albert Lea, former president of the State Bankers' association and heretofore connected with the Republican party. In an automobile a good part of Freeborn county will be covered and the night meeting will be at Albert Lea. On Oct. 3, Mr. Hammond starts north, making Owatonna in the afternoon and Faribault in the evening.

The active interest of Mr. Armstrong in Democratic success came somewhat as a surprise. The Albert Lea banker is one of the strong men in the First district and his attitude, it is said, only goes to show what other Republicans are doing this year in every section of the state.

To Use Local Speakers.

The Democratic committee has been busy this week arranging for seventeen meetings in the rural districts of Hennepin county next week. Local speakers will be used, among them being H. S. Swenson, candidate for congress in the new Tenth district, and Harry A. Lund. If the meetings prove successful similar gatherings will be arranged by county chairmen throughout the state.

SCHOOL GROWTH IN NEW DISTRICT

Western Part and Hill Sections Show Most of Increase.

Each report from principals of the various schools of the city shows an encouraging increase of the enrollment of pupils, and since the first day of school, which was Sept. 8, up to Sept. 14, the beginning of the second week, there has been an increase of 371 pupils in the total enrollment. The total the first day was 12,547, and that of last Monday was 12,918.

The greatest growth is found in the schools of the western end of the city, and so far the Gary school shows the greatest percentage of increase. The schools in the hill districts also show a good growth, and have been doing so ever since street railway lines have made possible the building of residence centers in these places. WILL RAISE RELIEF FUND

Local Committee Formed to Take Charge of the Work.

Money Will Be Divided Among All Countries at War.

Duluth will participate in the movement which is becoming general throughout the country to raise relief funds for the care of the sick and wounded of the warring nations of Europe.

Largely through the initiative of Col. Charles H. Graves, former minister to Sweden, a local committee has been formed to take general charge of the contributions. Their identification with the plans which have been outlined will make certain that the funds will be directed through proper channels. The members of the committee are: A. L. Ordean, W. G. Hegardt, J. L. Washburn, R. M. Sellwood, A. Fitger, N. Grignon, Dr. J. J. Eklund, J. J. Moe, David Quail, Milie Bunnell, Stillman H. Bingham and A. E. Agatin. Mr. Hegardt of the American Exchange National bank has been chosen as treasurer and any contributions, large or small, may be forwarded to him or to either of the daily newspapers.

Will Relieve Both Sides.

The committee desires to make it clear that the funds will not be used for the relief of one side or the other, but for both. Col. Graves points out that nearly all the men of all the nations engaged are at the front, only the women and the children and the old men remaining behind, causing all industry to come to a standstill. He states that the situation is so terrible as to be beyond comprehension and that it is for that part of the world outside the war zone, particularly the United States, to come to the assistance of those who are paralyzed by the combat that they cannot help themselves. He hopes that the citizens of Duluth will do their share toward ameliorating the sufferings of the stricken soldiers of the European armies. Any contributor may designate the country to which he wishes his contribution sent, and his wishes will be carried out, but otherwise the money will go into the general fund which will be sent to the Red Cross societies or the American ambulance at Paris.

The call for assistance which has been issued by the committee is as follows:

Call For Funds.

"The present war in Europe can only be regarded as a world catastrophe which imposes duties and burdens on all peoples whether of the warring nations or of others. Our fellow men are suffering. To mitigate that suffering there is great need for help to the societies and organizations that are caring for the wounded soldiers in Europe.

"Nations at war must first wage war, then care for the wounded as best they can. Their people will be impoverished and little able to help. The Red Cross societies, the American ambulance in Paris, and other organizations, have a great work to do for the wounded of all nations, with very heavy expenses. These must be met by the voluntary contributions of this country.

"In this work the citizens of Duluth should assist. They will wish to know that their contributions go into safe hands and will be properly distributed and applied, and it is best to act promptly and all together. Therefore a committee has been formed to receive contributions for care of the wounded soldiers of all nations and to distribute the same.

"You are requested to at once send your contributions, large or small, to the treasurer, or to either of the daily newspapers, who will acknowledge the same. The need is immediate and urgent."

CLUB INDORSES MERRITT'S PLAN

Oneota and Hazelwood Men Take Action Regarding City Plant.

The proposed building of the first unit of an electric plant was indorsed by thirty members of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement club at its meeting at the Merritt school, Fortieth avenue west and Sixth street, last night. The arguments for the program of the city commission to build the plant were presented by advocates of municipal ownership with no one present to oppose the plan.

Commissioner Leonidas Merritt of the public utilities department outlined the plans of the commission for the building of the first unit with funds appropriated from the surplus of the water and light department. The first unit, he said, would supply the district in which the club was located as well as the entire district west of the ore docks to Seventy-first avenue.

Dr. D. H. Day also gave a short talk on the plan in which he said that the scheme as outlined appears to be the quickest way in which the city will own a lighting system of its own. This method, he said, would compel the officials of the present corporation to make overtures to the city for selling the plant outright.

A number of the members also took part in the discussion, principally asking questions of the speakers. On calling for a vote of the club on the question nearly all present expressed themselves as being in favor of the plan.

SUBURB SCHOOLS WELL ATTENDED

One-Fourth of Pupils in City in the West End.

One-fourth of the school population in Duluth attends the schools in the West end. The total attendance as registered in the seven schools in the district was 3,176, a gain of 105 over the number entered on Sept. 8.

Each of the seven schools has made an increase in the number of pupils. The greatest gain was made by the Adams school, which registered on the opening day 586 pupils, but which yesterday had enrolled 621. At the Bryant the attendance is 720, Emerson 371, Ensign 271, Lincoln 616, Munroe 435 and the Madison 142.

The four older schools, the Bryant, Lincoln, Adams and Munroe, are the only ones which feel the crowded condition. The attendance this year at each of these schools is in excess of that of last year. The rapidly increasing population in the West end is reflected in the greater attendance.

Each of the schools of this district will be greatly relieved with the building of the proposed junior high school adjoining the Lincoln school building next year. Then the seventh and eighth grades will be moved into that building, giving the grade schools over entirely to the grades below the seventh.

The total attendance in the schools registered up to this morning was 12,918 children.

Arguments on City Plant Plan Will Be Heard.

The West End Commercial club will meet this evening at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, and arguments for and against the municipal building of an electric lighting plant will be heard. It is expected that several speakers will be present to give both sides of the question.

Members of the club are making every effort to bring out a large attendance at the meeting. Commissioner Merritt and a number of supporters of the plan will be present, and it is also expected that H. A. Carmichael and other speakers opposing the plan will attend.

This meeting is expected to bring out considerable opposition to the city's position. It will probably be the liveliest meeting held in the campaign so far.

COURTHOUSE LATER.

When Dunn County, N. D., Settles Its County Seat Fight.

Manning, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be no new courthouse erected in Dunn county until after the voters decide upon the question of the removal of the county seat from Manning to Dunn Center. The commissioners rejected all bids advertised for the building here to take the place of the courthouse burned last January. Since the fire the offices have been scattered around town in a very inconvenient manner, but because of the agitation for the removal of the county seat, the commissioners did not wish to build until that question was settled.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Shiftless Wives Should Be Censured.

I heard a man say that it was nothing short of a calamity that there was no law forcing wives to do their parts by their husbands.

He seemed to think it one of the unequal things of life and marveled that women were struggling for equality when so many things weighed heavily in their favor as conditions exist today. At the rate the world is moving he is sure that there must be some readjustment of the laws governing men and women. As they are, in his opinion, women have a good deal the best of it.

He referred particularly to that phase of domesticity which is first ruffled, then demonstrated and finally destroyed because the wife will not or does not know how to attend to the business of homekeeping. As I happen to know this is a tale of actual experience, not hearsay or observation. He had a wife who wouldn't keep her home in order. All would have been serene and happy had she half attempted it.

Today the law obliges him to support her. They are separated and because there was nothing in her conduct that learned men call immoral she is in receipt of enough money to keep her very comfortably. Said the husband, "I never send her money that I do not grind my teeth in rage and it isn't that I begrudge her the money. Only it seems an injustice that a wife can be wholly responsible for her matrimonial woes and yet oblige her husband to bear the whole brunt of them.

"Do you realize," he continued, waxing very earnest, "that if I fail to send her the money the court awarded her that she can have me summoned into court and subject me to humiliation, if not a jail sentence if I refuse to make the payments. It's preposterous when you consider all that she is permitted to do that is in direct opposition to her vows and what is expected of a life partnership between man and woman.

"She squandered my money until I put a stop to it. She was never in her home and her home was never in condition to receive anyone. Nothing that could be honored by the name 'meal' was ever prepared in our house—yet the law makes me pay, while she goes free to do almost as she pleases."

If women fail to do their part by the marriage contract, which consists of making the means at their disposal produce the best, they should be punished accordingly. Let them be summoned into court when they refuse to exert themselves in their homes, as men are when they fail in the support of a wife. There would be fewer shiftless housekeepers and gadding wives.

IF THE SOUTH HAD WON AND ESTABLISHED A NATION

The West Would Have Given the World Such a Spectacle as It Has Never Yet Seen—All the Beauties and Vices, Generosities and Prejudices Would Have Been Exaggerated, Says Helen D. Longstreet in an Article in the New York Sun.

HELEN D. LONGSTREET, Widow of the Famous Confederate General.

The old South would have reigned in short but brilliant sovereignty. Both the good and the evil of the old civilization would have been exaggerated. The Southern Confederacy would have given agriculture the benefit of partisan legislation at the expense of the manufactory, and free trade would have developed the commerce of the seas at the expense of the American foundry and factory.

The progress of mechanical invention would have been retarded in the Western world by the retention of the institution of slavery.

A boundless and extravagant hospitality, made easy by slave labor, would have illustrated all that was felicitous in the social and domestic circles of the South.

The moral ofrce of a universal public opinion opposed to slavery would have modified its cruelties and in time have brought about emancipation based on an educational and moral fitness for the duties and responsibilities of citizenship.

Slavery Was Doomed.

Slavery was doomed, and with or without the war, Providence had decreed emancipation, which would have been more merciful both to master and slave had it been written in the calm justice of arbitration rather than in the blood and fire of a painful and unnecessary conflict.

The establishment of the Southern Confederacy would have immeasurably retarded the progress of women in the Western hemisphere toward the nobler independence which blesses the new and better day.

The chivalry of the old South comprehended a sheltered position for women protected from competition with men; now relegated to the impracticabilities of a defeated people. Southern chivalry, however, did not preclude woman from the exercise of industrial activities; nor was her influence over men based merely on external beauty, grace and the refinement of a lofty moral standard and poetic delicacy of thought and feeling.

The responsibilities borne by the woman of the old South rendered her capable and made her a companion to her husband, and her influence would have dominated politics at Richmond, influencing laws and measures protective of the home and its environment.

The ancient friendship of the South for France would have resulted in the recognition of the Maximilian empire by the Southern Confederacy despite the Monroe doctrine, and reciprocal trade relations would have grown up between France and the South, all tending to the social power of the Southern aristocrat.

Court at Richmond.

The court at Richmond would have vied with the court of St. James in the pride and beauty of its women and the gallantry of its soldierly men, intoxicated with victory and relieved of financial burdens by opulent lands and underpaid labor.

Under the Southern Confederacy the public school would have been of slow growth, but the college and university education would have been more profound. The poor white man could not have survived in the South in competition with slave labor, and he would have been forced to emigrate to the republic whose capitol was on the Potomac for ful enjoyment of the rights guaranteed by the Declaration of American Independence.

The immoralities which directly resulted from slavery would have been unbridled under the Southern Confederacy and ultimately would have contaminated and degraded the Anglo-Saxon race on the Western continent.

Impetus to Fine Arts.

Had the North decided to allow the wayward sisters to depart in peace in the fair confederation which would have stretched from the Potomac to the Rio Grande mighty impetus would have been given to classic literature, oratory, music, art. A civilization such as mankind has never witnessed would have dazzled the world for a brief day whose morning splendors would have been eclipsed by a chaotic twilight. But in the zenith of her brilliant day the Southern Confederation would have nurtured all that militated to the happiness of her civilization and to the maintenance of her domestic and political honor.

The old South maintained a degree of human responsibility between employer and employe which would be derided in this soulless commercial age, when in the clashes between capital and labor "big business" sometimes finds it expedient to shoot down helpless women and children.

The individual humanitarianism which distigulshed the ante-bellum South was partly due to the care necessary to slaves as valuable property. But it would have formed the poetry and grace of the Southern Confederacy, under the regime of which the tremendous force of a brave and magnanimous people would have measured men and honored them by the standards of justice and generosity.

And at Last.

Under the Southern Confederacy the art of Italy, the progress of France, the spirit of the Latin races would have predominated over the social and political institutions embalmed in the blood of an honored and historic ancestry. A fair dream would have been reared above the graves of those fallen in battle. Suffering would have sanctified the dream; love upheld it; religion blessed it.

But underneath the flower-wreathed columns would have seethed the unforgotten hope of slaves for freedom. The disintegrating principle of secession would have interfered with the stability of commerce, depleting the treasury. The few would have been rendered more arrogant, the many more disconsolate. And at last the states would have returned, one by one, to the Union, and over the broken drama of the Southern Confederacy, Old Glory would have been nailed, just beneath the cross, every star restored to its blue field.

WHERE NAMES COME FROM.

Philadelphia Ledger: Said Johnnie to his teacher: "Where did all the people get their names?"

A teacher properly familiar with Pennsylvania and its residents could have told the inquiring lad that a very large number of Germans got their names from the occupation of an early ancestor. Thus the progenitor of Honus Wagner was a wagoner—significant of the wagon tongue which Honus uses to lam out home runs.

The first Becker was a baker, the earliest Baumgartner an orchard grower, Heilmann a doctor and Kaufman a merchant. We have in Pennsylvania many Metzgers. The first one got his name from his trade, very evidently, and it means butcher.

Instead of having a theater, the original Zimmerman was a carpenter, nor did the first Wanamaker keep a store, but made baskets.

The girls go to Sauter's for ice cream, but once the German girls in the Palatinate went to a sauter, which was a shoemaker.

The well digger took the name of Brunner, the tanner became a Fischer and the barber, quite naturally grew into a Scherer. Some of these proper names are obvious even to one who does not comprehend German, but you'd never guess that the first Schneider was a tailor or the original Ziegler a brickmaker.

We think the Indian names picturesque—"laughing water," "river of sunlight," "dew of June"—but centuries ago the German Albright was "one of distinguished race." Gebhard was a "generous giver," and Bernhard meant "strong as a bear." One could mention scores of others full of meaning which have long since disappeared.

JOKE TURNED ON JOKER.

Pearson's Weekly: A very serious drama was being played, and in one of the principal acts, when the excitement of the piece was supposed to rise to fever heat, a prisoner was required to read aloud a letter which the jailer brought to his cell. To avoid the bother of committing the contents to memory, the actor was accustomed to have the words written out on the paper that was handed to him.

One night, however, the actor who took the part of the jailer decided to have a joke at the expense of his brother player, the prisoner, and so, instead of the letter, he gave him a blank sheet of paper. The prisoner, starting to read it aloud, was for a moment quite unnerved when he saw the blank paper. But he quickly recovered himself.

"Jailer!" he said, calmly.

"Yes."

"I am very much ashamed to be forced to tell you something which I don't like to say to anyone. My parents were very poor, and as I never went to school, I can't read. Perhaps you won't mind telling me what is written down in this letter?"

The tables were turned, but the joker was also a man of ready wit. For a second or two he looked at the paper and then said: "I will certainly do it, but I must go to look for my spectacles."

As might be imagined, he brought back with the spectacles the needed letter.

RELIEF FOR WAR-PLAGUED EUROPE.

Human imagination is incapable of grasping the whirlwind of woe and want that is sweeping Europe in the pathway of war.

The war is making widows and orphans, is impoverishing nations, is breeding famine. Suffering, mental and physical, pervades Europe from east to west, from north to south.

Those who die and leave bereaved families, those who live to shoulder a burden of misery, are, whatever their race, our brothers in God.

The bitter cry of need rises from the war-ravaged continent.

The heart of human sympathy the world around pulses with eagerness to help, and to assuage so far as it can the awful hurt of war.

The United States, never deaf to the cry of want, is appealed to for aid. Duluth, always quick to respond to the exigency of need, will be eager to do its share.

So a committee of local citizens has been formed to receive and distribute contributions.

Gifts are asked for, and the committee will see that they will go where they are needed.

Moreover, those who wish their contributions to go to specific purposes have only to indicate it, and the committee will see that their wishes are heeded.

Gifts may be sent to either The Herald, the News Tribune or to W. G. Hegardt, the treasurer of the relief committee. They will be promptly acknowledged, and sped on their errand of mercy.

ALSACE-LORRAINE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been having a war debate with a German friend. He declares that Alsace-Lorraine was originally German, and was taken by the French only a hundred years ago. I claim they were French until they were taken by the Prussians in 1871. What are the facts?

BRITON.

This is a question not so easy to answer categorically as it would seem.

Alsace was unquestionably German. It was taken by the French under Louis XIV, Louis the Great, in piecemeal between 1648 and 1680, Strassburg being taken in the latter year. It was under France, then, until 1871, or about a hundred and ninety years.

Lorraine (Lotharingia) was an ancient kingdom or duchy of the Holy Roman Empire, of which Austria is a remnant. It was part of Charlemagne's empire, and was constituted a kingdom under Lothair II, a Saxon and king of Germany. It passed to France in 1766. One-fifth of it, now called Lorraine, was ceded to Prussia in 1871. The rest is still French.

They have been both German and French; so it is not surprising that sentiment there is mixed. Yet it is a fact that they have never become so loyally German that Germany has felt it wise to make them an independent unit in the empire, though they elect fifteen representatives in the diet.

Whether they are German or French, their loss embittered France against Germany, kept alive in France for generations the spirit of revenge, and so led to a feeling that kept both nations armed to the teeth and that produced the Franco-Russian alliance and so led indirectly but certainly to the present awful conflict. Looking at it from that viewpoint, Bismarck's seizure of Alsace-Lorraine looks like a costly blunder.

MR. LEE'S MILD ENTHUSIASM.

Careful, very careful, analysis of Mr. Lee's speech at Marshall shows that he did actually declare himself for the reorganization plan of the Eberhart efficiency commission.

It takes shrewd work to find it, so buried is it in generalities and the confusion of other "issues." There is ninety-nine per cent of generalities about "economy and efficiency," "extravagance," "reduced taxes," and the like to one per cent support of this positive and definite plan to promote economy and efficiency, stop extravagance and reduce taxes.

Still, the tiny grain of approval of the plan is there among the chaff, and if you seek hard enough you can find it. The local Lee organ says it is "satisfactory," and does not seem to mind much the lack of positiveness and zeal.

On the whole, though, probably this is doing pretty well—for Mr. Lee. Candidate Lee faces, in this campaign, a very serious test of his caliber. It lies in the degree to which he can dissociate the governmental reorganization plan proposed by the efficiency commission from the origin of the commission itself.

The commission was appointed by Governor Eberhart, whom Lee hates and whom he opposed bitterly and savagely. But the commission was made up of the best men Governor Eberhart could find, it worked loyally, zealously and intelligently, and it has produced a plan for a business reorganization of the state administration that appeals to the average citizen as exactly fitting the state's need. It has so appealed to Congressman Hammond, the Democratic candidate for governor, and he has pledged himself in enthusiastic and unmistakable terms to push it if he is elected.

Mr. Lee's examination of the plan, though, has been made under a handicap. He cannot forget the fact that the man he fought in two campaigns, Governor Eberhart, created the commission that made this plan, and that if it is accepted and made into law it will be a feather in Governor Eberhart's cap.

This fact accounts fully for Mr. Lee's manifest lack of enthusiasm for the plan, and for the fact that he dwells far more largely on vaguenesses about "economy and efficiency" than upon this precise and definite plan to promote efficiency and economy.

THE PUBLIC COST OF PRIVATE HOBBY-RIDING.

A certain element in Duluth has for several years been riding a hobby—the hobby of a municipal electric lighting plant.

It is one of the fruits of this furious hobby-riding that the city commission, at the request of Commissioner Merritt, recently sought to begin the building of a lighting plant without any consultation of the public will, without any regard to the laws designed to safeguard the public treasury against the folly or worse of public officials, without any business analysis of how the project was to be carried out, and without any available information as to what possible public benefits might accrue from it.

It requires sound business judgment and financial ability to go through with a plan involving so much as this.

The business judgment and financial ability of those who are back of this untimely project can be judged by some of their public acts and proposals in connection with it. It is not necessary to go into the question of the character of the private business experience they or any of them may have had.

There are several points on which it is easy to judge of the quantity and quality of the financial and business judgment and ability of those who are behind this movement for a municipal electric plant, and are bent on securing it at any cost and by whatever means are at hand.

First, and perhaps most important, is the proposal to take the money needed for the installation of a local plant in West Duluth from the gas and water surplus.

This is monstrous and unthinkable. It would be a raid upon public utilities of far greater public importance than an electric plant, for funds to carry on a chimerical, unnecessary and undemanded project.

The bonded debt of the water and gas plants is enormous. The cost of paying interest on this debt is by far the largest item on the cost of water and gas, and by far the largest obstacle to cheaper water and gas. It is of far more importance that the existing publicly owned utilities be soundly managed than it is that new ones be experimented with. It is far more important that the cost of water and gas be reduced than that the city embark on the exceedingly questionable experiment of furnishing electricity. Water and gas are necessaries; electricity is not. Water and gas are high. Their cost could be cut in two if the debt on the plants could be disposed of; and yet, instead of using the surplus to meet this debt, to make needed extensions, and to keep up the plants, the hobby-riders propose to raid the gas and water treasury, take this surplus, and SPECULATE with it on an experiment with a city electric plant.

That is one specimen of the financial capacity of the electric light hobby-riders. Here is another:

What the ordinary citizen is concerned in is not the political hobby of municipal ownership, but cheap light and low taxes.

Do the hobby-riders promise cheaper electric light from a city plant? They do not; they do not know even what its rates will be. They declare, vaguely, that competition will force prices down, but if it does it will leave the city plant idle; and as for competition in lighting, the city's gas lighting now and always offers competition to electric lighting, all the competition it needs. Electric lighting never can become high in Duluth so long as anybody who wishes can stop using it and use gas instead.

And here is a third point on which to base a judgment of the hobby-riders:

They can promise no financial benefits to the citizens from a city electric plant; but they have already cost the citizens of Duluth nearly a hundred and fifty thousand dollars—almost twice the estimated cost of building the West Duluth unit!

Here are the items:

Loss in what might have been saved on street lighting, by failure to accept the three-year contract offered by the private company three years ago, $7,250 a year or $21,250 in all.

Loss to the consumers of electric light by the failure to accept this contract, $100,000.

Cost of estimates, valuations, elections, etc., $25,000.

Total, $146,750.

If the proposed city plant promised any advantage in lower rates—which it does not—it would be a very long time before the saving could off-set the fortune already squandered by the hobby-riders.

And one of the hobby-riders—a man who, though he may be well enough for mouth-barbering, you'd never pick for a financial manager of the city—has admitted that the reason the contract of three years ago was not accepted WAS THAT IT WOULD ABATE THE SENTIMENT FOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP!

This is admission enough that all the average citizen seeks is the best service and the lowest rates possible, and that all the hobby-riders seek is municipal ownership at any hazard and at any cost to the public interest.

Hasn't the joke been carried about far enough?

THE WAR FROM DAY TO DAY.

The battle of the Marne has merged by degrees of rearguard engagements into the battle of the Aisne.

North of the Aisne, in a strong position occupied under cover of the rear-guard fighting, lies the German host, from Noyon on the Oise to Bois Forges, north of Verdun, with its left crossing the Meuse and resting upon the fortress at Metz.

Between the Aisne and the German position the allies are hotly engaged, with the British forces at Soissons, flanked on left and right by French. French forces, too, are attacking the Germans in a flanking movement.

The Germans manifestly have ceased their retreat and engaged their pursuers, and they may even have taken the offensive, though on this point the reports are by no means clear.

Reports are meager, but it is clear that the fighting is terrible, and the havoc great. There are grim though vague hints at awful loss of life, of rivers choked with corpses, of fields strewn with bodies of wounded and dead, of ramparts of corpses six feet high behind which corpse-makers shield themselves.

The point of contact between the German right and the allied left has been in constant motion until now; at first a German pursuit and a retreat of the allies, then a pursuit by the allies and a German retreat. Now, however, these forces, both recruited and strengthened, seem to be engaged in a grim struggle that may be the determination of the issue in France.

On the allied right, from Verdun south, matters seem at a standstill, though the French continue in the offensive against the crown prince's force.

The East is bare of news except conflicting and unreliable reports that virtually offset each other; though the advantage still seems to rest with the Russians in Galicia, where the Germans and Austrians are struggling to form on a line of defense from Cracow to Przemysl.

There is a report that the German defense in East Prussia has been strengthened far beyond defensive needs, indicating a possible invasion of Russia with a view to the confusion of the Russian attack by a capture of Warsaw. This report, though, is offset by the further report that General Von Hindeberg, the victor over the Russians in East Prussia, has been summoned to a command in the French field.

A Confounder of Prophecy

New York Evening Post: For a confounder of prophecy, commend us to Gen. Villa. His rapid and steady emergence from the reputation of being the worst of cutthroats and robbers into that of a shrewd, sagacious, and patriotic leader, as well as a military captain of remarkable ability, is one of the most extraordinary phenomena we can recall in the history of any public figure. A year ago, if anybody had said that the people of this country, deluged and sickened with the horrors of a war engulfing the whole civilization of Europe, would be able to find in the doings of "Pancho" Villa a bit of real comfort and solace amid the general gloom, he would have been regarded as the silliest of jokers. Yet that is precisely what has occurred. Those who have not forgotten everything that happened before July 31, 1914, will remember that in the most critical period of the American occupation of Vera Cruz and of the negotiations which finally resulted in the retirement of Huerta, Villa was a great stand-by of the United States through his influence on the Mexicans generally and on Carranza in particular; and, in spite of occasional items of news pointing towards possible trouble, it seems clear that his conduct ever since has been that of a loyal citizen and a friend of peace and orderly government. To crown all, we have today a statement of the plan he proposes for the institution of a permanent Constitutional government in Mexico; and, besides being of a perfectly reasonable character throughout, it includes the provision that "no military man be a candidate for president or vice president, or governor of any state." This doesn't look like the Villa we all thought we knew a twelvemonth back; and moreover it gives substantial reason for the hope that Mexico as a whole will disappoint the dark forecasts that were so generally made without any reservation up to a short time ago.

Wasn't a Charity Game.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The conversation the other night turned to what the summer boarder expects to find down on the farm when this one was recalled by Miss Maude Powell, the violinist.

Some time ago a party from the city went out to engage board for his family in the alfalfa atmosphere, and after looking over the house, the stable and the side porch, including the hammocks, he opened the question of food.

"I presume," said he to Cousin Abner, "that you have plenty of fresh milk, fresh butter and fresh eggs; and that you also have fresh beef, fresh lamb, fresh mutton and tender chicken. I—"

"It's jes' this way, mister," Cousin Abner started to explain, "we—"

"And with regard to vegetables," interjected the summer boarder, "I suppose you have them in abundance. Corn, for instance, tomatoes, potatoes, together with apples, peaches, pears, plums, and also watermelons, cantaloupes and I—"

"No, mister," broke in Cousin Abner, "if we had all them things we would be sellin' truck an' buying auterbiles instead o' takin' summer boarders at $4 a week."

The Day of Prayer.

Baltimore Sun: President Wilson's proclamation calling for a national day of prayer on Oct. 4 for the cessation of war in Europe probably is without precedent in this or any other country. But, if so, it is the most beautiful precedent that has ever been set in any nation. There are prayers for peace in our prayer book, and days of prayer for the speedy termination of wars have been often fixed by official proclamation in countries engaged in them; but for a neutral nation of more than 90,000,000 of people to get down on its knees and pray for peace in other countries will be one of the most impressive as well as one of the most unusual spectacles ever presented on earth. We believe everybody in the United States will offer up a prayer on that day in the earnest spirit of altruism which the president's message suggests. And if anything can make a path for peace "where men can see none," we believe unselfish supplication from the heart of a great country can open the door of divine compassion.

Something Wrong.

Life: With an Anglo-Saxon and Protestant England, a Celtic and Roman Catholic France, and a Slav and Greek Catholic Russia, there is a chance for a very strong Triple Entente with Providence. It would seem to be almost the manifest duty for some one of assurance to call the attention of the various crowned heads of Europe to what must be, though not a strategic, nevertheless certainly a tactical blunder.

Suspicious.

Judge: Knicker—What is the matter with Jones?

Bocker—If he takes a vacation, they wonder how he can afford to; and if he doesn't they wonder if his accounts are straight.

A Layman's Glance

(By Savoyard.)

Washington, Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Everybody is talking about the war and reading about the war. What an awful calamity it is to mankind! But this comfort must come to the reflective mind—that whichever side wins the bayonet must cease to rule and the ballot take its place. Thrones will crumble, the purple will fade, crowns will melt. Certainly Germany, victor or vanquished, will become a democracy, such as England and France, and even Russia will be a republic.

Can Germany win? It is the best army the world ever saw and the best equipped. So far it appears to be better led than the adversary, but Germany and Austria have in the field every available man, whereas England has just begun to raise an army. As for the Russia horde, nobody knows what it is, not even the czar.

Germany is in the fix of Frederick the Great, when that wonderful hero confronted continental Europe. He was a man of destiny and the first military leader of the age. Like Henry of Navarre and the great French marshal, Turenne, constitutionally, he was a physical coward, but like those great captains he proved the stoutest of soldiers in the ranks and a thousand times defied and courted danger on bloody field.

But Frederick had England for an ally. If England had been neutral, Frederick would have been destroyed. Prussia as a kingdom would have been reduced to its former place as a duchy. Napoleon said at St. Helena that his fatal mistake was that, at Tilsit, he did not obliterate the name Prussia from the geography of Europe, as he then could have done.

But Prussia was not what destroyed Napoleon. The British navy struck the crown from his head and stripped the purple from his body. It took fifteen years to accomplish it, but in the end it succeeded. And that British navy is what will beat Emperor William in 1914 if he is defeated. It was the command of the sea by the Federals that beat the Southern Confederacy of 1861-65. Grant did not compel Appomattox. It was the blockade that did the "kitchen work" against the South.

That magnificent army of Germany in the beginning is invincible. So was the army of our South the first twp years of the war between the sections. It looks to me, a layman, that Germany is now in the fix the South was the first year of the war—victorious everywhere. But numbers came to the other side. When Lee lost a regiment Grant could afford to lose a brigade, for Grant could get another brigade to take the lost one's place, and Lee could not get another regiment.

And so Germany is just like the Confederacy. It must lick the enemy to a standstill before the frost flies in autumn or go on the defensive, in which event the British navy will choke her to death by blockade just as the Federal navy choked the Confederacy to death.

Some of the learned strategists say that Marlborough, Frederick and Napoleon would amount to little or nothing in this war; that they were superb and supreme when the battle line was confined to a mile, or less, as at Waterloo. But I am persuaded that if either side has a great captain such as either mentioned, and the other has only a mediocrity to direct its operations, that military genius will prevail now as it ever has. Warfare now is what it was when waged by Hannibal, the greatest soldier profane history gives account of, and it consists of "getting there fustest with the mostest men," as gossip says Gen. N. B. Forrest of the Southern army in our war expressed it.

That Turkey will come to the support of Germany seems assured, but that will enkindle a conflagration in the Balkans, to say nothing of Greece and Italy, that perhaps will neutralize her efforts. So we may set it down that the war is to be fought to a finish by England, France, Russia, Belgium on one side against Germany and Austria-Hungary on the other.

And thus Germany knows that it is quick work with her if the thing is to be done. That is why she is striking so fast and so furiously. If she is to be victor her triumph must come swiftly. Just now time is against her, but when the snow falls Russia will be paralyzed for six months.

Can England rush enough troops from the United Kingdom and the colonies to hold Germany in check till Russia can come again next spring? I still think much depends on the man, unknown though he now be, and on which side it as may be.

Paris Turns to Religion.

Paris correspondence in New York Sun: The war has brought about a great religious revival in Paris. Hundreds of women are to be seen attending early morning masses offered on behalf of the absent ones. More candles are now burned before the statues in the churches than ever before seen.

The great Church of Sacre Coeur on the hill of Montmarte is thronged day and night, as also are the Church of Notre Dame des Victoires, with its famous altar of the Madonna of Victories adorned with all kinds of swords and medals as votive offerings, and the Cathedral of Notre Dame.

Many priests have abandoned the cassock for the uniform of a soldier. Already the cure of Notre Dame de Plaisance has laid down his life on the battlefield. Many priests have offered their services freely as chaplains and have been aided by a fund formed by the Echo de Paris under the management of Comte Albert de Mun.

"The People Made the Calf That Aaron Made."

The people made the calf that Aaron made.
What though three monarchs prattle of God's laws
In language meriting the mob's gufaws,
That well recalls the Pharisee who prayed
Within the temple's courts, full undismayed?
And yet—the people are the primal cause,
Nearer or more remote. And whoso draws
The sword shall perish with the sword, delayed
However long awaits the punishment;
For every lawless wrong shall be full paid.
Think not, ye hordes, whose anger, decades pent,
Pours murderous forth to slay the innocent,
That God hears not and never will upbraid.
The people made the calf that Aaron made.

Governorship Talk

What the State Press Thinks.

It's the Man, Not the Party, That Counts

Le Sueur News (Rep.): It is amusing to read some of the sayings of country editors who criticize other editors for not supporting Mr. Lee. The paper that does its whole duty toward its readers is the one that tries to support the best man for office. The days of self-constituted "Republicans" and "Democrats" are of the past. This is particularly true this year of the Republican nominee for governor. Two years ago he was not a member of that party. It is men, not parties, that count with the voters.

Should Help the Man That Blackguarded Him.

Princeton Union: Governor Eberhart has been delivering campaign speeches in Maine. As yet he has not signified any intention of aiding in the Minnesota campaign. Governor Eberhart has been honored by the G. O. P. in Minnesota, and it would not be amiss if he took his coat off for the party nominees, even if he is not directly interested.

The Ruse Is Discovered.

Gilbert Herald: That Mr. Lee pulled down many a Scandinavian vote at the recent primaries because of the adroit and secret circulation of the story that he was a Norwegian will likely avail him little at the fall election. In fact it may have the reverse effect. Word comes that the ruse has been discovered and given wide publicity among the Norwegians of the state. Mr. Lee was born in Illinois in 1852. Both of his parents are English, having come to America from Bridgewater, England, in 1851. While Mr. Lee has never repudiated his birthplace or his ancestry, his backers were not so conscientious. The name Lee is both English and Norwegian, but the candidate happens to be of English descent, just like the General Robert E. Lee.

State Good, Not Party Good, the Object.

St. Peter Herald: Followers of W. E. Lee are preaching party regularity. Good government, and not party welfare, is the thing sought for by the average voter.

Looking Without Naming.

Heron Lake News: The Slayton Gazette says some people prefer an out-and-out Democrat to a "Republican" who has done his level best to disrupt the party. The Gazette did not call any names but was looking straight at Mr. Lee.

Discretion Is the Better Part of Valor.

Albert Lea Standard: There is considerable talk of a series of joint debates between Candidates Hammond and Lee, which would, of course, add materially to the excitement of the campaign. However, we predict that Mr. Lee will find some very good reason for not taking part in the debates, and those who are acquainted with the relative abilities of the two men won't blame him in the least.

That's What Most Citizens Believe.

Albert Lea Tribune (pro-Lee): When Frank A. Day, the stanch Democratic editorial writer of the Fairmont Sentinel, turns on Mr. Hammond with his prod as he has been doing in the past and supporting the Republican candidate, Mr. Lee, it demonstrates that party lines cut but little show in this age. It's the man best qualified for the governor's chair, not so much the political party, that concerns the voters today.

He's for Wilson, Anyway

New York Evening Post: Roger Sullivan's smashing victory in the Illinois Democratic primaries is not much of a surprise except for the size of his plurality.

It is, of course, an extremely unfortunate choice, especially when we remember that his Democratic colleague in the senate, if he wins in November, will be that picturesque rather than statesmanlike figure, James Hamilton Lewis. This is a fine pair of senators for the Democracy of Illinois to send to Washington!

Yet it is easily possible to overrate the significance of Sullivan's triumph. The contest was not a straight-out fight between bossism and decency. On the contrary, the issue was confused by the activity of the unspeakable Hearst-Harrison alliance. Forced to choose between an admitted politician of the old type and a candidate who, whatever his personal qualities, had the support of the most sinister political combination in Chicago, the voters elected to risk the lesser evil.

Nor was this negative argument the only one in Sullivan's favor. His declaration, "I heartily indorse every public act of President Wilson," repeated in every section of the state, undoubtedly made its impression upon persons who have not forgotten that Sullivan threw his strength to Wilson at Baltimore at a critical moment.

In this view, the result is an indorsement of Wilson.

Nevertheless, it is unfortunate that this nomination means the probable addition of one more to the list of unworthy men who have ridden into power on the rear seats of the president's wagon.

There Are Men That Don't Fit In.

There is a race of men that don't fit in,
A race that can't stay still,
So they break the hearts of their ken
And they roam the field and they ride the flood,
And they climb the mountain crest;
There's the curse of the Gipsy blood,
And they don't know how to rest.

If they just went straight they would die,
They are strong and brave and true;
But they're always of things that are,
And they want the strange and the new.
They said, "Could I find my proper groove
What a deep mold I would make;"
So they chop and change and each fresh move
Is only a fresh mistake.

And each forgets as he slips and drowns,
After a brilliant, fitful pace,
It's the steady, quiet plodding ones
Who win the life-long race.
And each forgets that his youth has fled,
Forgets his prime is past.
Till he stands one day with a life
That stands in the glare of truth at last.

He has failed, he has failed, he has missed his chance,
He has just done by chance;
Life has been a jolly good joke on him
And now is the time to laugh.

Ha, ha, he is one of the legion lost,
He never meant to win;
He's a rolling stone, and it's bred in the bone,
He's a man who can't fit in.

TAXING FREIGHT.

To the Editor of The Herald: :

Have followed your several articles about the 3 per cent war tax on freight bills. On the surface it looks feasible and fair, but is it?

Take, for example, a ton of coal. Say the freight is $1.50. Three per cent on that is 4½ cents. But the miners' margin above cost is, we will say, 18 cents per ton. This 3 per cent tax of 4½ cents per ton, therefore, represents 25 per cent to the mine operator and that will be his tax, not 3 per cent. OPERATOR.

Dickinson, N. D., Sept. 14.

Since Operator wrote the foregoing the proposed tax has been withdrawn. —Editor.

It is something that counts if one can safely point to his work as his best recommendation.

There is no installation we have been connected with but has turned out superior to any other ventilation used in that particular line.

This is simply because our work is right and our method intelligent and scientific.

Our finely working installations in the Grand theater and the Patrick factory are instances. The effective ventilation in the city jail is another. The Jackson billiard hall and bowling alley in Superior is still another. Go and see for yourself.

BREACH IS MADE WIDER

Eberhart Faction Is Disgruntled By Part of Lee's Speech.

Claimed Credit for Starting State Efficiency Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—The Pioneer Press says: When William E. Lee, Republican candidate for governor, endeavored at Marshall Monday night to claim credit for inaugurating the movement for state administrative reform resulting in the appointment by Governor Eberhart of the economy and efficiency commission, he apparently only made wider the breach between his followers and the party faction headed by the governor.

This, too, politicians say, at a time when it appeared as if the sore places caused by the recent primaries were about to be healed.

Governor Eberhart, it is understood, has promised Charles P. Craig, chairman of the commission, to make several speeches in support of its reorganization plan during the campaign. He also sent word to the people who heard Mr. Lee at Marshall that he would support the ticket from top to bottom and it was assumed in political circles that this meant he would speak a good word for the nominee for governor.

Look Up Records.

But when Governor Eberhart found out that Mr. Lee was taking credit for the appointment of this commission, he instructed his clerks to look up the records in order to controvert the statement of the Long Prairie banker, which was as follows:

"My disclosure in 1912 that Minnesota had a complicated and antiquated governmental organization and that there was imperative need of a complete overhauling and reorganization of the administrative machinery of the state, at first discredited, was developed to a point where public opinion demanded some action; and as a result a commission was created which had taken up the whole question of reorganization. Its preliminary report shows beyond any question that my contention was right and the alarm sounded none too soon."

Eberhart the Advocate.

It was found that in 1911, Governor Eberhart in his message to the legislature first called attention to the reorganization of the state system of government as outlined in detail by the commission's report.

In this message he discusses his "contemplated changes in the administrative affairs of the state with reference to four great subdivisions or bureaus, those of public domain, public health and safety, education and revenue and accounting." Most of the document is taken up with the governor's views on reorganization which tally closely with the conclusions reached by the commission he appointed.

No action was taken by the 1911 legislature and in 1912 Mr. Lee blamed the governor for the lack of administrative unity in state affairs.

The latter's message to the 1913 legislature contained a similar recommendation, but nothing was done and finally in the fall of that year, the commission of citizens, a voluntary organization serving without pay and without power of investigation, was appointed.

Eberhart's Friends Sore.

To have Mr. Lee now claim the credit for the appointment of this commission is galling to the friends of Governor Eberhart.

The governor is also said to be peeved, although he will not make any public expression of his feelings except to say that he alone is responsible for the reorganization movement. He thinks also that Mr. Lee is trying to steal some of the credit belonging to others.

It is pointed out by the Eberhart faction that before the primaries, Mr. Lee failed to indorse the commission's plan, that such supporters of his as Senator Ole Sageng and Former Attorney General Edward T. Young ridiculed it in frequent public addresses, and that the nominee did not make any move until after his Democratic opponent, W. S. Hammond, had issued a strong and popular statement favoring the report as a whole.

What the outcome of this contest for the honor of being the father of the reorganization scheme is not known, of course, but politicians say that it will not help Mr. Lee win over the disgruntled members of the Eberhart faction.

WOULD POSTPONE OPENING DATE

Movement to Have Legislative Session Open Month Later.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—When William E. Lee in his keynote speech in the gubernatorial campaign at Marshall Monday night suggested that the governor be inaugurated at least one month before the legislature convenes, he adopted one of the recommendations which the economy and efficiency commission will make in its final report.

In this connection Mr. Lee said:

"I feel that it is a mistake that the governor is not permitted to take his office at least a month before the legislature convenes to enable him to better familiarize himself with the details of every department and the merits of every appropriation that will be demanded from the incoming legislature."

The commission has been working out this problem for some time. From Attorney General Smith it has been ascertained that there is no constitutional objection to postponing the opening of the legislative session from the first week in January to the first week in February, or any other date for that matter.

The only objection that would be made to such a change would come, it is believed, from the members of the senate and house. The sessions last 100 days and this brings the adjournment late in April. The supposition is that the farmer members might protest against remaining here until May 25 as it might hinder them in their spring work. The commission, however, is of the opinion that such personal objections can easily be overcome should they develop, and it feels with Mr. Lee that the advantages to be gained by giving a new incoming governor a chance to look about a little before the legislature meets would more than compensate the members for any personal inconveniences to which they might be put.

The problem is generally considered a live one at this time and even if Mr. Lee should be defeated members of the commission think his advocacy of the change will have some effect.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: SEPT. 20.

Matthew xxv, 31-46: The Judgment of the Nations.

CONNECTION.

It is the last lesson we shall have from that stirring Tuesday. The Master closes the talk He gave them, as they sat on the Mount of Olives, with this account of the coming judgment. He draws aside the curtain and allows us to look in and see the principles on which the decisions shall be made. It all centers on Him, their attitude toward Him as it is expressed in their treatment of their fellowmen.

THE LESSON.

I.

Classification. 31-33.

"When the Son of Man shall come in His glory, and all the holy angels with Him, then shall He sit upon the throne of His glory. And before Him shall be gathered all nations; and He shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats; and He shall set the sheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left."

1. RULER.—The judgment is a fact. There is a judge, Jesus—savior now, but ruler then. Notice three names or titles He gives Himself in this statement—Son of Man, a title that lifts Him above all other men and puts Him in a class by Himself; King, in His relation to all men. The one whom we call Jesus is to be the Judge of all the earth. He says that He will be; His character suits the position; His work for us is a natural basis for such a work. Notice, too, the splendor of it all, indicated by several terms: "His glory," "throne of His glory," "with the angels" and "all nations." The first indicates the radiance of His character together with some other halo; the second, His authority; the third, His retinue; the fourth, His field of authority, "all the nations," which meant the Gentiles, though Jews are also under His jurisdiction.

2. SEPARATION.—It is really not necessary that "He shall separate" them, for they naturally divide. Sheep and goats sometimes feed together, but they don't flock nor fold together. The two classes of people will separate, each going, as did Judas, "to his own place." Let a gambler, a saloon keeper, a teacher and a pastor alight from the same car in a city where neither of them knows a soul, and where would you find them in twenty-four hours? Each one would classify himself by going to his own place.

II.

Rewards. 34-40.

"Then shall the King say unto them on His right hand, Come ye blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: For I was an hungred, and ye gave Me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave Me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took Me in; naked, and ye clothed Me: I was sick, and ye visited Me: I was in prison, and ye came unto Me. Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we Thee an hungred, and fed Thee? or thirsty, and gave Thee drink? When saw we Thee a stranger, and took Thee in? or naked, and clothed Thee? or when saw we Thee sick, or in prison, and came unto Thee? And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these My brethren, even these least, ye did it unto Me."

1. APPROBATION.—He will approve of three things—their relation to His Father; their deeds; their spirit, so self-forgetting in their ministry to His people. This is not a trial; they are not on the witness stand; the judgment has been going on all the time. This is a recognition of a state that has been in the making all their lives, the bestowment of rewards that have been assured by their previous lives. They have had the right view of Him as their Master who overshadowed every thought of self, the right view of their fellow men whose needs they answered with a sense of brotherly obligation and the right view of themselves, claiming no credit for doing their duty and obeying the promptings of their unselfish hearts. So completely had they kept selfish thoughts out of it, so completely had they had Christ in mind all the time, so conscious were they of the disparity between their ideals and their achievements, they were surprised at the encomium He pronounced on them. They had served others for His sake, with His power, for His glory. They had ministered to Christ Himself.

2. INHERITANCE.—It was something more than mere words of approval. It was first a place in God's home; it was second a place of authority and honor, just as it was to Jesus. He says that He shares all He has with us—the glory which He had with the Father before the world was; a place beside Him on His throne. See Rev. ii: 7, 17, 26; iii: 5, 21, to learn what Christ has in store for the faithful. It was third a place prepared for them specially, with a foresight eternal, with a love unfailing, with a care that was only matched by God's efforts to get them ready for that home while it was being made ready for them.

III.

Punishment. 41-46.

Then shall He say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from Me, ye cursed, into the eternal fire which is prepared for the devil and his angels: for I was hungry, and ye did not give Me to eat; I was thirsty, and ye gave Me no drink; I was a stranger, and ye took Me not in; naked, and ye clothed Me not; sick, and in prison, and ye visited Me not. Then shall they also answer, saying, Lord, when saw we Thee hungry, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto Thee? Then shall He answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of these least, ye did it not unto Me. And these shall go away into eternal punishment; but the righteous into eternal life.

1. DESCRIPTION.—The first element in the punishment of those on the left hand is a description of their real characters. They are accursed, before any curse had been pronounced on them. From every standpoint they had reached that state and it was a part of their punishment to have it told to them plainly. They had denatured themselves. It was not a question of what they thought of Him but how they had treated the ones who represented Him, the hungry, thirsty, naked, imprisoned—the ones who needed them. He is in them. They are His care, His heart. "In all their afflictions He is afflicted." It was not that they had no opportunity, for the needy had been all around them, crying, praying, pleading, starving, dying, their bodies rotting by the roadside. Not only that, but they were satisfied with it as the righteous who had cared for the needy were not satisfied with their work. Stupidity contrasted with the watchfulness of the righteous. They not only failed to see the appeal of Christ in the requests of the needy but cruelly and stupidly failed to see the appeal of a fellow human being and were surprised to be told that they had failed in anything at all. Those who love their fellow men aright are "implicit Christians." Kindness to the needy was not in itself the ground of the approval of the righteous, but it was evidence of their right state of mind toward God as shown in Christ.

2. SEGREGATION.—It was something to have their own natures and motives laid bare to them and to the assembled nations, but something more is necessary to make the punishment just. It must be just to others as well as to them. Perhaps it is a kindness to them to put them in the moral penitentiary, where they will not always be tortured by the sight of those whom they might have helped and of Him whom they have rejected. It was a kindness to the others not to have them around.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

He who on earth veiled His glory, took no higher title than the Son of Man, was content to stand before an earthly judgment seat and be doomed to die—shall come with power and great glory. He shall come, as we are told in one place, in His own glory; as we are told in another, in the glory of the Father. With all the essential glory which He had with the Father before the world was—with all the additional glory of His triumph over death and hell for us men and for our salvation, shall He be then visibly invested.—Butler.

The fact that good works are made so prominent in this passage does not conflict with the doctrine that no man can enter the kingdom of God unless he is born again; but it recognizes love to man as the best outward evidence of the new birth (I John iv, 7). It does not conflict with the doctrine that all men are saved by Christ; but it recognizes the truth that they may be saved by a Redeemer whose redemption they did not understand. But observe, that it is not the works, as such, but the love which prompted them, that are commended.—Abbott.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Have you an adequate sense of the majesty of Christ, the Son of Man?
2. How is His judgment of you going on this minute?
3. How is it true that Christ is in the poor and needy of today?
4. What are your opportunities to help them as compared with others?
5. How can we serve Christ in connection with the European war?

CONFESSES TO MURDER.

Kentucky Boy Admits Killing Man at Rexton, Mich.

Escanaba, Mich., Sept. 17.—Crusoe Burton, aged 18, recently from Kentucky, was arrested here and confessed that he killed John Mitchell at Rexton last Saturday during a drunken brawl.

He said he arrived recently at Rexton and secured work at piecemaking in the woods. He told of how he had gone to a dance at Rexton Saturday night and how he had drank considerable with his pals and how a fight developed in the dance hall.

On the road home the fight turned into a real battle and suddenly he was struck in the breast with a stone. In retaliation he pulled his gun and shot three times, one bullet passing through the victim's lung, another through his arm and the third through the hips.

HEALTH TALKS

By William Brady, M.D.

Food and Endurance

DOCTORS nowadays are exceedingly fond of telling patients they eat too much. Our patients are apt to smile and wonder how much the doctor eats. They sometimes doubt the doctor's sincerity when they have occasion to observe his internal capacity for good things. But doctors are not expected to take their own medicine. Imagine a doctor trying to lead a regular life and sleep eight hours every night! His patients would think him a failure.

Horace Fletcher has proved that the ordinary diet of the American workingman is about twice as rich in protein as it should be. And how has he proved it? By demonstrating that a man of 58 years living on a diet which contains about half the protein of our ordinary daily ration, has greater endurance than the best college athlete in the height of his training.

What Fletcher Did to Yale.

In 1907 Mr. Fletcher underwent physical tests in the Yale gymnasium, being at the time not in training in any sense of the word. Mr. Fletcher lifted 800 pounds 350 times without reaching the limit of his endurance, and the result of the same test on eighteen Yale students, most of them in training, showed an average of 87.4 lifts—the best of them reaching only 175 lifts.

At the completion of the tests Mr. Fletcher was as fresh as a posy; he held a brimming glassful of water in either hand without spilling a drop—proving that his nerves enjoyed the little stunt. Moreover there was not the slightest evidence of soreness or stiffness in his muscles during the six days following the tests. This was a great showing for a man 58 years old.

"During the thirty-five years of my experience in physical training," wrote Dr. Anderson of the Yale gymnasium, "I have never tested a man who equalled this record."

Fletcher's record disposes of the old idea that a man doing hard work needs a large quantity of meat. This idea is more firmly fixed in the mind of the American workingman than anywhere else in the world, and it tends to decrease his endurance and his efficiency. But the man of sedentary life, the office man, the merchant, the man who works with his mind and not with his muscle, suffers many things from his excess of protein food.

That great group of ailments collectively called "autointoxication" depends in large measure upon excesses of diet, particularly upon too much meat. The strain on heart, arteries and kidneys, caused by the toxins or by-products of protein decomposition in the alimentary canal, has much to do with the increasing prevalence of apoplexy, Bright's disease, arteriosclerosis and heart failure.

Remember Fletcher's showing: double endurance on half ration.

Questions and Answers.

Mrs. L. H. writes: I have little puffs under my eyes. Is that a sign of kidney trouble? Would it be safe for me to visit a friend who has tuberculosis? I am anaemic and have some bronchial trouble.

REPLY.

1. It is not necessarily a sign of kidney trouble. 2. It would be safe if the friend is in a sanitorium or hospital where medical asepsis is practiced. It would not be safe under any conditions if the patient or his attendants do not carry out strict sanitary precautions. Are you quite sure you have no tuberculosis yourself? Have you had an examination recently?

Epictetus 2nd asks: Are not most cocaine and morphine habitues indebted to doctors for their habit? Should not doctors be compelled by law to write poison on prescriptions calling for poisons?

REPLY.

1. No. It is a notorious fact that these degenerates peddle the drugs and teach their friends to use them. 2. This would be an excellent law, provided it includes all the deadly poisons in patent medicines, too.

C. T. asks: Would a high altitude or sea level be better for an anaemic invalid?

REPLY.

High mountain.

R. D. F. inquires: What is the explanation for the use of buttermilk for patients with digestive troubles?

REPLY.

Drinking buttermilk rejuvenates or reimplants the soil with lactic acid germs, which cause the souring of milk and are supposed to discourage the growth of colon bacilli in the bowel. The colon bacilli are active factors of putrefactive and fermentative changes in the food. In other words you crowd out the bad germs with good ones.

Just Between You and Me

By BRUCE

LEACH Cross was standing in front of the hotel at Hudson. He was garbed in a big gray sweater and his hands were wrapped in bandages. The little New York Hebrew was about to fight Johnny Tillman and you would have thought that he was about to step out and have his picture taken. Unconcerned? Yes; the most unconcerned person in the world.

"I have the largest personal following of any boxer in the world," Leaches led at your correspondent. This does sound like the mountain heights of egotism, but Leach isn't such a chesty little fellow. He is sincere and earnest, and he believes that he is saying and does not talk merely to hear the sound of his own words.

"Most of the people that come to see me box in New York City are personal friends of mine," continued Leach. "It is a boxer's own fault if he doesn't have friends. I have never done a wrong act in my life. I am married and have a little baby, and most of the fighting I do and most of the money that I make, is for the wife and kid.

"You see after I got through the public schools I went to a sort of high school and then went on to the New York city college. I am a graduate dentist, so you can figure out yourself just how much time I have had to bum around. Another little thing—I am twenty-eight years of age and am fighting better today than ever before in my life, so you see I could not have dissipated.

"A professional fighter should realize that his vitality is one of his greatest assets. My vitality is one of the reasons why I beat a lot of the present day boxers. Health is to me what the credit of a mercantile firm is to its progress—and yet there are some boxers who still seem to think that they can bum around and be good.

"Once I was knocked out cold in New York in the second round. The gong rang when eight seconds of the count had been tolled off. My seconds dragged me feet first to my corner. I went out in the next round and put over the kayo. It was only health and recuperative power that enabled me to perform that feat.

"When all the boxers of the ring learn to lead clean and decent lives, and the opponents of the game—not the followers—learn this fact, I believe one of the chief objections against the game will have been removed."

As to Cross and Tillman.

TAKE it from us, John Tecumseth Tillman received one thorough licking at the capable hands of Cross. Covered and running all the time, Cross failed to score a kayo; but to one impartial follower of the bout it was apparent that had Tillman mixed at all, he would not have lasted the scheduled ten rounds.

Cross has a deadly right cross. Once he clipped Tillman on the side of the chin. The blow was a sort of grazing one, failing to land square, but Tillman went down clean. For a majority of the distance Tillman had his back turned to Cross—and it is rather a difficult task to put an opponent out who is on the run.

Leach Cross is a real fighter—one of the realest of the lightweights. He will trade wallops with any of them. It is to be hoped that he can be secured for a match with Brown in these parts, for a meeting with Pal would in all probability serve to show the class of the range battler, just as the meeting with Tillman very well served to show the class of Tillman.

Like Dear Old Jonah.

EITHER some philospher or a prominent business man declared that it was difficult to keep a good man down. This expression may have originated in the incident that had to do with Jonah and the whale. Be that as it may, we have wish at this time to make direct reference to Jack Curley.

This gay impresario has accumulated—and spent—several fortunes. When some of the febrile observers of the world of sport are of the opinion that Curley's star is waning, he appears in effulgent clothing of shining success and dazzles the eye with his splendors of sporting accomplishment.

Jess Willard is to pass, rumor rants, from the management of Tom Jones to the general management of Jack Curley. Back of the broad and rotund figure of Curley is aligned the syndicate that desires to put over the proposed Jack Johnson—Jess Willard scrap. Curley, they believe, is the one promoter who can put the thing over.

Turning to the next booth, let us for the moment consider Jess Willard.

Tall and angular and sinewy, as opposed in sheer antithesis to the earlier forms of the white hope, Willard is the largest white fighter in the ring.

Charley Cutler had Willard and lost him—therefore Cutler has no reason to love Willard.

"Willard," says Cutler, "is perhaps the greatest white fighter in the ring. He can box and he is a terrific hitter—but he is yellow. At times he gets desperate and then he hits out with force born of sheer desperation—and he will beat any man he can hit."

Johnson is beginning to show the effects of age. A terrific hitter who would carry the fight to the dinge might beat him. With all of his crudities and some of his faults, it is generally believed that Willard stands the greatest chance of dethroning the man who has proved a decided menace to the sport of boxing. Therefore the hectic, not to say febrile desire upon the members of the sporting syndicate to consummate the match.

FAMOUS FRENCH PUGILIST MAY INVADE THE U. S. A.

GEORGES CARPENTIER.

Georges Carpentier is coming to this country, according to rumors current in the fight world. Pressure is being brought to bear to secure the release of Carpentier from the French army, and in that event it is said the famous French fighter is to come to the United States for a pugilistic tour under the direction of Billy Nolan. Carpentier is the most famous fighter in the world. The adulation paid the youngster in La Belle France, coupled with his truly sensational ring record, has served to advertise him far and wide. The romantic side of the pugilistic game is well exemplified in Carpentier, a handsome and dashing youth, who lives in the regal manner of a king.

Leaders Still Winning.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 17.—Timely batting and brilliant fielding enabled Boston to win from St. Louis yesterday. The visitors secured a lead of 3 to 1 in the first five innings, but the Braves tied in the fifth on three hits and two errors. Devore, who drew a pass, came home when Schmidt tripled, and the latter scored on Smith's sacrifice fly. Evers was presented with a silver service by his club associates, a timely gift, as Evers' home in Troy was robbed last night, and his silver service, another gift, stolen. Score: R. H. E.

GETTING READY FOR HAND BALL

Series With St. Paul Will Be Played This Season.

Plans are under way for the most active handball season in the history of the Y. M. C. A. physical department. Included in the list of activities is a game with the St. Paul Y. M. C. A. handball team on the local courts. It is also planned to arrange a series of games with several additional outside teams.

While St. Paul is generally admitted to have one of the greatest handball teams in the entire country, it is also generally believed that Duluth has one of the strongest aggregations in the Northwest. With more experience some of the followers of the ball game believe that the Zenith City players stand a very excellent chance to defeat St. Paul this season.

Tournament play will start early this season. Physical Instructor Olson is mapping out the schedule. There is expected to be a very large list of new players to compete in class C games.

NO PLACE FOR A JAPANESE

Nipponese Billiard Player Makes Exit From Germany.

New York, Sept. 17.—Koji Yamada, the champion billiard player, who was caught in the whirlwind of the European war and for several weeks was cut off from communication with the outside world, has been heard from.

Yamada is due to arrive in this city this week on the S. S. Potsdam, which sailed from Rotterdam. This will be in ample time for him to begin his engagements as a member of the Champion Billiard Players' league, of which organization he is a member.

For weeks the friends of the famous young Jap were anxious for his safety and the efforts of the Japanese consul-general in this city, Takashi Nakamura, were enlisted to locate the champion billiardist. The first word from the refugee was a delayed cable which came to President Mank of the league early this week, it read: "Leave Rotterdam tomorrow by steamer Potsdam," and was signed Koji Yamada.

Yesterday President Mank was in receipt of the following letter from Yamada from Amsterdam, as follows: "I am now in Holland and expect to leave here for New York by the ship Potsdam. Everywhere in Europe is war and terrible; everything very expensive and very few steamers for America, so it is very difficult to go to America, but I am fortunate. With my very best regards to all.

"KOJI YAMADA."

This letter was dated Aug. 27.

Yamada became widely known in this country as a billiard player in the tournament last spring at the Hotel Astor, and also made numerous friends here on account of his gentlemanly conduct. He went to Berlin to take part in the international billiard tourney, which was being held in that city when the great war began. He was at that time leading in the contest for the championship of Europe.

Yamada's escape from Germany was made the more difficult after Japan declared war on the kaiser. The fact that it took Yamada more than four weeks to make his way from Berlin to Amsterdam is proof of the many difficulties which he must have met with and the hardships which he certainly encountered. His escape is attributed by the Japanese consul-general of this city to the fact that he was educated at Heidelberg and was widely known in the German capital. His friends in the war-waging coun-

Why Should I Smoke TUXEDO?

Tuxedo is the logical smoke for the economical man because there are 40 pipefuls in a ten-cent tin—making the average cost per pipeful only one-fourth of a cent!

NORTHLAND AND CITY TOURNAMENTS NEAR END

Mrs. Gardner to Play Winner of Ritchie-Merrill Tennis Match in City Play and Davis Will Play Gardner, Smith or Fraker in Northland Tourney.

Play in men's singles of the Northland country tournament has progressed nearly to the finals. Davis defeated Hawkes in the lower end of the card and the winner of the Smith-Fraker contest is to meet Gardner to determine who will go into the finals against Davis.

The quality of play in the tournament has been uniformly good. Some of the stars of the city have competed and the general grade of the tourney has surpassed the general grade of tennis played in any of the previous tournaments held under the auspices of the club.

The Ladies' Tournament.

In the ladies' tournament of the city tournament the winner of the Miss Ritchie-Miss Merrill contest, which is scheduled for today, will meet Mrs. J. E. Gardner in the finals, which may be played on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Gardner has been playing a strong and consistent game in the city tournament and the final contest is expected to prove one of the feature matches of the Head of the Lakes tennis year.

Will Windup the Season.

The completion of play in the city and Northland tournaments will windup the tennis activities for the season. This has been one of the best seasons in the history of the game hereabouts and one that has been marked by a general high average of play.

Following is the standing of the players in the Northland and ladies' singles city tournament:

GRADS "TRAIN" FOR CONTEST

One Night's Rest and Shave for Football Stars.

A strong football team will be placed in the field by the Central grads for the game against the hilltop institution. The contest is scheduled for Saturday and because of the short practice period enjoyed by the high school team there will be little advantage in condition to either side.

Manager Whitney Wall, Jr., of the alumni team announced today that his team would be heavy and strong, though possibly not so strong as the aggregation of last season, which defeated the high school eleven.

Elmer McDevitt may possibly play. "Monk" is to coach the graduate players, and if his assistance is needed, which will possibly be the case, the famous Yale player is expected to get into the game. In that event spectators would have the opportunity of seeing one of the most famous players in the land in animated and highly excited action.

The first practice of the grads will be held this evening. The second practice will be held tomorrow evening. Two practices are deemed sufficient to put the old stars on edge. Whitney Wall, Jr., says strict rules will be observed for two days. A good night's rest and a shave should put the alumni boys in shape. It doesn't require a great deal to put the old ones in condition—or much to put them out of condition.

High School Is Fast.

Kerr, O'Brien and Walsh will be in the high school backfield and all of these boys are fast. It is expected that the high school team will be light but very fast. In the matter of weight and experience the graduate players will have a decided advantage over the hill-top boys.

The game will be called for 3 o'clock and is expected to give the followers of Central a line on the prospects of the high school for the present season.

Following is the announced lineup of the alumni team:

Left end.....Wharton, Scanlon
Left guard.....Dunn, Helmer
Center .....Oscar Solheim
Right guard.....Rex St. Clair
Right tackle.....Smithies, Currie
Right end.....Lawrence, Frick
Quarter .....McLaren
Left half.....Stevens, Lawrence
Fullback .....Bill Stevens
Right half.....Joe Boyle, Wharton

THREE NEW RECORDS.

Close and Fast Racing at Detroit Track Events.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 17.—Three new world's records were established at the Michigan state fair races yesterday when the Philadelphia gelding, R. H. Breat, won the sixth and deciding heat of the 2:04 pace in which five heats were raced Tuesday. Breat beat Peter Stevens in 2:03¼, being a new sixth heat mark. The race also was the fastest six-heat race ever paced, averaging 2:03¾, and Breat's time, 2:03¼, is the best ever made in a race by a 4-year-old gelding.

The $5,000 Aitken stake for 2:15 trotters was won in straight heats by King Clansman, driven by Dick McMahon, who also piloted The Assessor to victory in the 2:13 pace.

Jay Stone won the unfinished 2:10 pace in which three miles were raced Tuesday. Anna Hal easily took the 2:23 pace in straight heats.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 17.—Over a fast track, the races at the Wisconsin state fair yesterday afternoon were won in good time. The results:

2:12 trot, Alice Arcon won; best time, 2:12¼.

2:13 pace, San Jacinto won; best time, 2:05¾.

2:13 trot, the Comet won; best time, 2:10¼.

FEDS ASK TO PLAY FOR WORLD'S TITLE

Gilmore Wants to Get Team in on Big Final Series.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—A chance for the Federal league to participate in the world's series, was asked yesterday in a letter from James A. Gilmore, president of the Federals, to members of the national baseball commission.

In a plea for truce in the interests of the supporters of the game, Mr. Gilmore declared that the national agreement does not prohibit the clubs in organized baseball playing an outside club, outlined the claims of the Federals to be regarded as a major league, and contended that no club could rightfully claim the world's championship until it had met the pennant winners of the Federal league.

"Our organization is backed by business men of high standing, who stand for every principle which tends to the improvement of the game of baseball," he wrote. "The Federal league has on its roster many stars of world-wide fame and has gathered about it as splendid an aggregation of baseball players as is possible for any league.

"While it may be true that in your national agreement we are classed as an enemy to organized baseball, the phrase can not survive the force of time and the demands of the sport-loving public. Your national agreement contains no provision prohibiting you from an honest contest with any ball club you may see fit to meet and before the teams who win pennants in their respective leagues can claim the world's championship, they must, in some manner play the winner of the Federal league pennant.

"We therefore suggest in the interest of the game that at least for the time being, we forget our differences and our acts of war and peacefully, in keeping with the spirit of American business men, arrange a schedule for a world's championship between the three leagues."

Copies of the letter were sent to August Herrmann, chairman of the commission, Ban Johnson and John K. Tener.

Gilmore's world's series challenge is accepted here as merely completing the records of Gilmore's campaign to receive official recognition of his organization as being of major league caliber.

That the challenge would be sent was announced a month ago, and, while President Johnson of the American league and President Comiskey of the White Sox could not be located here today, it was recalled that both of them at the time of the announcement vigorously asserted they would have no relations with the "outlaws" except on a distinctly unfriendly basis.

This attitude has not been changed, which is no surprise to Gilmore. Anticipating that his challenge would be ignored, he said a month ago that in event of refusal he would play a series within his own league and declare the winner world's champion.

EX-CHAMPION BOWS TO YOUNG PLAYER.

Glen Cove, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Easily the features of yesterday's play in the women's national golf championship tournament at the Nassau Country club here, was the decisive victory of Miss Elaine V. Rosenthal, a young Chicago player in her match with the former champion, Miss Georgiana M. Bishop of Bridgeport, Conn., 6 up and 5 to play. The winner took three of the four holes and held this advantage at the turn. Coming back, the Chicago player won three straight and finished the match on the thirteenth which was halved in fives.

Miss Caroline Painter of the Midlothian club, scored another win for Chicago when she defeated Mrs. R. H. Stockton of Plainfield, N. J., 3 and 1.

BIRMINGHAM WINS SOUTHERN PENNANT.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 17.—The Birmingham, Ala., club of the Southern association won the pennant for the 1914 baseball season, which ended today. Mobile finished in second place and New Orleans third.

NOW THE CIGAR BAND MUST GO

"Made in Germany" Given as Cause By the Dealers.

Europe's war is making another inroad. This time it is to be the elimination of the cigar band, because that article is manufactured in Germany.

Prominent cigar dealers throughout the country are announcing that within a short time the cigar bands will disappear, as it is impossible to obtain any more bands from warring Germany.

The elimination of the cigar band will not only be missed by those smokers who never know the difference between cigars, except by the bands, but by those who won't buy a cigar, unless it has the dainty circlet. That time-worn joke about how a good cigar can be recognized by the noise its band makes will also be finally laid at rest.

One bright feature is the fact that young women will not be able to save the bands for decoration purposes.

Just how long Duluth manufacturers will be able to place the bands on their cigars, they are unable to tell. They still have a supply on hand.

E. A. Cudahy to Retire.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—E. A. Cudahy, Sr., president of the Cudahy Packing company and son of the founder of the organization, has announced that he would retire as head of the concern Oct. 1. He will be succeeded by his nephew, Joseph M. Cudahy. E. A. Cudahy has been president of the company since the death of his father in 1911. He declared his retirement was to permit him to devote more time to other interests.

"NATIONAL HERO SERIES" NO. 10

Kossuth—Greatest of Hungarians

THIS noble lover of Liberty was to his beloved Hungary what Patrick Henry was to American Independence. "Give me Liberty or give me death" meant to Kossuth all that made life worth the living. He lived for ninety-two years, and his long and honorable career was devoted solely to secure for Hungary National Independence. For it he suffered imprisonment and exile. For it he worked as few men have ever worked. His fiery soul was expressed in his writing, and his impassioned oratory thundered across the two continents. All the world read and listened to this high-souled Hungarian Patriot. When exiled our government sent the U. S. Steamer Mississippi to Turkey and brought him to our shores as the guest of the Nation. To-day we have millions of Hungarian citizens, each one a lover of Personal Liberty. To secure it they sought our shores, and to a man they will fight to the death to keep forever alive the spirit and letter of our immortal Declaration of Independence. They make good citizens, and like Kossuth detest prohibitory enactments which make the many suffer for the faults of the very few. For centuries Hungarians have as a nation been moderate users of barley brews and light wines. Their votes are always registered against any legislation which proposes to regulate human diet by law. "Thou shalt NOT eat this—thou shalt NOT drink that"—to those of brave Hungarian blood is insufferable tyranny. For 57 years Anheuser-Busch have been proud to serve their Hungarian patrons. They have helped to make the sales of their great brand Budweiser exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles. Seven thousand, five hundred people are daily required to keep pace with the public demand for Budweiser.

NEW LIGHT ON FALL OF MAN

Flood Preceded Fall, According to Newly Discovered Tablet.

Says It Was Noah Who Ate From Tree of Life.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—The flood preceded the fall of man, according to Prof. Stephen Langdon's literal translation of the newly discovered tablet concerning the Sumerian account of these events.

Prof. Langdon, who is connected with Jesus college, Oxford, has just delivered this translation to the University of Pennsylvania museum. He discovered part of the tablet when he was here a year ago, but translated it only recently. Then he sent to the university for the remainder of the tablet, and this was found agreeing with the version of the earlier translation, which said that Noah had eaten the forbidden fruit. In the Bible it was Noah who drank too much wine and became tipsy.

Land of Primeval Bliss.

"The tablet," said Prof. Langdon in his summary, "begins by describing the land of primeval bliss, which it locates at Dilmun, an island in the Persian gulf, and probably connected with the mainland in prehistoric times. In this paradise dwelled mankind, whom Nintud, the Creatress, with the help of Enlil, had created. In what way is not said, but the verb employed in one passage suggests a fashioning with the hands of some sort. From other passages we might infer that men were born as the natural offspring of Nintud and the Earth-God Enlil. But Semitic tradition, as we have it in Babylonian legends, and Greek historians, represents man as fashioned by the gods, although here, too, the verb 'banu' means both 'to beget' and 'to build.'

"In paradise Enki, the Water God and Lord of All Wisdom, rules over mankind with his consort, Damkina or Ninella. After a long period Enki became dissatisfied with man because 'he did not come unto him,' which I take to mean that man did not render unto the gods the homage due them, for we know from Semitic sources that the gods created man that they might have some one to render them homage. For this reason Enki sends the flood and frail man dissolved like tallow in the deluge. But the king of Dilmun and certain pious ones are summoned to the shores of the river by Nintud, then embark on a ship.

Tagtug, the Divine.

"After the deluge this king is called Tagtug, the divine, a name which is most probably rendered into Semitic by 'Muhu' (God's wrath) is appeased. And this Tagtug lives in a garden, is himself a gardener, and the wise Enki reveals unto him wisdom. The Greek historians, too, preserve this legend in the story of Oannes, who rose from the Persian Gulf to teach men wisdom in primeval times. And so Tagtug, as in the Hezrew story of Adam, plants a garden, names the trees and plants and is permitted to eat of all but the Cassia tree.

"The Cassia in Sumerian documents is the herb of healing par excellence, as well as in Semtic and Greek medicine. The legends in regard to it probably fold of its being the plant which bestowed absolute immortality. Of this plant Tagtug was not to eat, for thereby he would attain eternal life. Mankind until this time possessed extreme longevity, but not immortality. Tagtug, however, on his own initiative takes and eats. He is cursed by Nintud and becomes a prey to disease and ordinary mortality. Thus in the original Sumerain story Noah, the survivor of the flood, is the one who eats from the tree of life. No woman is concerned in this disobedience, which resulted in our loss of perfect health, peace and countless years.

A Serpent Tempter.

"From certain grammatical sources which connect the Cassia with the serpent and the curse I infer, however, that the Sumerians had a tradition regarding the serpent tempter, which induced a man to eat from the tree of life. It is possible, too, that from some other source we may yet obtain evidence that in Sumerain tradition a woman, too, figured in this infinite sin. Our document, however, mentions no wife of Tagtug.

"After the loss of eternal bliss the state of man evidently became painful and troubled. Therefore, the gods sent them eight divine patrons to heal disease, to care for the fields and preside over the various arts."

PIMPLES ON HEAD ITCHED AND BURNED

Baby's Head Covered. Kept Spreading. Would Scratch and Fret. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

Tell City, Ind.—"My baby's head was covered with sores and the top was a solid scab. It began with pimples and he would scratch his head until it would bleed and then scab over and keep spreading. He would claw his head and fret it itched and burned so and I was afraid he would never have any hair on top of his head again.

"A friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I asked our family doctor and he said, 'Yes, go right ahead and use them.' We got one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and they healed him from the first. I would wash him with Cuticura Soap and warm water and then rub the Cuticura Ointment on his head with my fingers and great drops of sweat would come out. The scabs would become soft. In a few days his head did not seem to itch or bother him in the least and before we had used one set he was healed and he has a fine growth of hair. It was worth many times the cost." MAKING CHANGE ON STREET CARS

CONDUCTORS REQUIRED TO BE ACCOMMODATING WHEN POSSIBLE

We desire to respectfully call the attention of our patrons to the necessity of providing themselves with change before boarding cars.

Conductors are required to be prepared to furnish change up to the amount of $2.

Some persons appear to have the idea that the offering of any piece of "good money" on a street car is "legal tender" and that upon making such tender they have the right to be carried whether the conductor is able to make change for it or not. This idea is erroneous, as the courts have held that the tender of a $5 bill in payment of a 5-cent fare upon a street car is unreasonable and therefore not a legal tender. It will therefore be seen that a person who gets aboard a street car with nothing less than a $5 bill is in the same position as if he had no money at all, so far as paying his fare is concerned, and that in such cases it is not as unreasonable as it may at first appear for the conductor to politely ask him to step off the car, procure change and take the next car.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS

But while conductors are not required to furnish change for any sum in excess of $2, they are instructed by the company to do so as an accommodation to passengers when possible. A conductor is required to have $10 in change when first starting out, and it can easily be seen that the changing of $5 bills from two passengers would exhaust this supply. If he accepted two such bills he would be compelled to stop the car and seek change himself while all his passengers waited.

MISTAKES IN CHANGE

When a conductor takes a piece of money from you from which you expect change, and passes on without returning change or audibly calling out the denomination of the money, you should not rely upon his having correctly read it and upon his returning your chance to you later, but should call him back at once.

In order to prevent mistakes in change, misunderstandings and short change complaints, our conductors have been instructed to call out audibly the moment they receive a piece of money from a passenger, the denomination of the coin or bill, the number of fares which they understand are to be taken from it, and the change to be given in return, and to at once count out the change audibly as they hand it to the passenger. Co-operation of our patrons in insisting upon our conductors observing this rule will be greatly appreciated and will greatly assist us in preventing mistakes regarding change.

THE DULUTH STREET RAILWAY CO.

INTEREST IN COUNTY FAIRS

Nearly Fifty Autos Promised for Two Harbors Trip.

Special Train Takes Big Crowd to Barnum Exhibit.

Duluth's interest in the agricultural development of Lake county will be manifested tomorrow when a big crowd of Duluth people will go by auto to Two Harbors to visit the Lake county fair.

The Commercial club committee making arrangements for the trip has stirred up the interest of Duluth automobile owners. Nearly fifty auto owners have agreed to load their cars and fall into line for the trip. Each owner is urged to make up his own party, taking his family or friends.

Two Harbors Trip.

The cars will meet on First street between Second and Third avenues west, and the start will be made from that point promptly at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The run to Two Harbors should take about two hours. The return trip will be started in time so that the drivers will have day light all the way.

Reports from Two Harbors are that the fair is the best in the history of Lake county. Agriculture is making rapid strides in the territory along the lake shore, and the conditions will be reflected at the fair.

A number of Duluth people went to Barnum this morning to attend the Carlton county fair. A special train was run by the Northern Pacific railroad. The party which is touring the northern part of the city under the direction of the trade extension committee of the Commercial club, visiting county fairs, was also at Barnum this morning and went later in the day to Rush City to attend the Chisago county fair. They will visit the Mille Lacs county fair at Princeton tomorrow and return to Duluth Saturday morning.

Many Duluth retail merchants took an auto drive to the Jackson Farmers' club exhibit this afternoon. Another party from West Duluth also took in the exhibits. The merchants met in front of the Burgess Electric company's offices at 1:30 p. m., where autos had been provided. A visit to the work farm is planned during the return trip.

WAR RELIEF FUND BY METHODISTS

Will Act Through Foreign Mission Board of the Church.

New York, Sept. 17.—The opening of a war relief fund for the stricken millions in Europe was announced yesterday by the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church. Through the columns of its denominational press an appeal will this week receive wide publicity. This document, signed by the president and corresponding secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions, reads in part as follows:

"The present war disaster is the most stupendous in the history of mankind. The men of the warring armies are counted by millions. Already the dead and wounded number tens of thousands. In countless homes prosperity and contentment have given place to penury and misery. Famine and desolation are following fast.

"The burning question of the hour is, 'How can Christendom give relief?'

"In other great wars more or less adequate steps have been taken by the churches for relief work and for spiritual ministry. During our own Civil war the Christian commission was organized. In the Japanese-Russian war, in addition to the Red Cross work, the Young Men's Christian association sent a strong staff of workers with the armies to the front.

"It is reported that in France 250 Protestant pastors have shouldered their rifles and marched to the front. Nearly all the Methodist preachers in Germany are bearing arms. Men who might be performing spiritual ministries are forced to serve in the ranks of opposing armies. The churches are disorganized and Methodist communities are torn and impoverished.

"That the Methodist Episcopal church, through its board of foreign missions, may be in a position to act promptly, a Methodist war relief fund has been opened."

INCESSANT ROAR OF ARTILLERY

Great Battle Has Been Raging Near Braine for Four Days.

Near Braine, on French left center, Wednesday, Sept. 16, via Paris, Sept. 17, 3:46 p. m.—There is an incessant roar of artillery along the entire line of battle in the vicinity of Braine where, for the last four days the great forces of the allies and the Germans have been in close grip.

The field where the armies are fighting is broken, consequently there is comparatively little visible evidence of the terrific struggle in progress, although hundreds of thousands of men are engaged in this vicinity. Detachments of artillery from the allied front fire shells with great rapidity at the German positions.

Overhead French and British aeroplanes are flying hither and thither endeavoring to locate the positions of the big German guns. These have been so well concealed that the emplacement has not yet been discovered and they continue to launch projectiles in the direction of the allied forces. German aeroplanes appear to have been vanquished from the scene of action.

For about a week past none has been observed and British sharpshooters declare they have destroyed so many that the others now hesitate to take to the air. Many dashing incidents are being recorded of the extraordinary relentless bravery of the French troops.

AFTER ONE OF THE EARLY BATTLES IN BELGIUM

BELGIANS GATHERING TROPHIES.

In their first battles with the Germans the Belgian troops were successful and the fleeing Germans threw away their accoutrements so that their movements should be less hampered. The Belgians went over the field gathering them up for future use. This picture, made after one of the early battles, shows two Belgian soldiers with a load of German haversacks, etc.

STRANGE PEOPLES.

New York Independent: What was the shape of the original tobacco pipe? On the plains it would seem that it was originally simply a straight tube, generally made of soapstone; while curved pipes came from the Eastern districts and were possibly imitated from the curved pipes which the white men evolved, soon after they discovered the charms of tobacco.

Capt. Rawling found, among other strange things in New Guinea, a race of pygmies among the hills who very closely resemble the dark pygmy races of the Philippines, of the interior of the Malay peninsula and the Andaman islands. These are fragments of an once widely distributed race, now driven to remote fastnesses of the impenetrable tropical forests. These New Guinea pygmies are in every way well formed and normal except for their small size, between four and five feet high.

A curious story comes from the people of the Niger. A very rich man died, leaving the vast fortune, for Nigeria, of 20,001 cowries. It fell to the lot of the king to divide them among three sons, and he was at his wits' end to know what to do with the one cowrie. A wizard was called in, who gained boundless credit by doling out the cowries one by one, until only six remained. These he divided into three lots of two each and gave a lot to each son. The king to this day attributes this very satisfactory outcome to conjuring.

When guests arrive at a Seminole camp in the Everglades of Florida, if they are permitted to land, they are taken to the dining hall. Women timidly bring pots of steaming cornmeal, turtle meat or venison, and set them on the platform on which hosts and guests alike squat on their heels. If there are several guests, the most important among them eats first; then the oldest Seminole, then the second guest, then the second in rank or age among the Seminoles and so on, like a game of battledore. Each one dips into the common kettle with the common spoon, usually a large wooden ladle.

ANYTHING TO OBLIGE.

Lippincott's Magazine: "Not long ago," relates ex-Speaker Cannon, "a young couple came in from the suburbs to New York city, to see the Hippodrome. They arrived very early and decided to have lunch. They visited a tea-room and had the place all to themselves.

"In serving them the waitress omitted to supply a teaspoon, and the fair young bride whispered the fact to her husband.

"Summoning the waitress, the young man asked:

"'May we have a spoon?'

"'Why, certainly,' replied the girl. 'I am just tidying up, and you can have the whole room to yourselves in a minute or two.'"

A BRITISH WARSHIP AT TARGET PRACTICE

Big Guns Tear Holes in a Small Target Miles Away Every Thirty Seconds.

From Answers, London: The gray battleship seems strangely deserted and bare, for its decks are denuded of men, while all rails and other upstanding incumbrances have been laid flat on deck.

The gun turrets, five of them, are trained round with the long, lean muzzles of their twin weapons pointing out over the sea, and every now and then one of the guns twitches ever so slightly or a turret revolves a little, as the gunlayers keep their sights aligned on the distant target.

The ten big rifles the ship carries are powerful weapons. Each one of them is over fifty feet long and weighs close on eighty tons, while their 1,250-pound shells can be hurled to a distance of fifteen miles. The enormous projectiles, too, leave the muzzles at the rate of 1,800 miles an hour, and can penetrate the thickest armor afloat at a range of 5,000 yards.

No Signs of Life.

But now, as the ship moves on through the water, with its sharp bow sending up two little cascades of spray on either side of the stem, it looks like a great mastodon uncontrolled by man. There are no signs of life on board—nothing except the twitching gun turrets and the black smoke rolling from the squat funnels, which tells of the men laboring below. But every man on board is at the station he would occupy in action, and before long the uproar of the guns will have begun.

In the conning tower, with its 12-inch armor, stands the captain, his navigating officer, a junior officer or two, and several other men. The small circular erection, barely ten feet in diameter, seems very cramped for all it has to contain.

Above the conning tower is another armored erection, containing a range finder, and inside this is the gunnery lieutenant, with half a dozen more officers and men. He is surrounded by strange looking instruments, while the man at the range finder, with his eyes at its rubber eye pieces, is monotonously chanting out the distance of the approaching target.

Target Miles Away.

To the naked eye the target itself—a great, lattice work structure, towed by another battleship—looks absurdly small and insignificant at its six-mile range. But the gun layers in the turrets are provided with telescopic sights, and these, with their powerful lenses, serve to counteract the difficulty.

Inside the turrets themselves the expectant men are grouped round their guns. The great projectiles and the cordite charges behind them have already been pushed home by the hydraulic rammers, and, since their weapons are thus fully loaded, the gun's crews are idle for the time being.

But the gunlayers—the men who aim and fire the guns—and the trainers—those who keep them pointing in the right direction—are anxiously keeping the sights on the target, and every now and then, as they move their small brass handles, there is a wheezing of machinery, and the great breeches rise and fall ever so slightly, while the whole armored structure containing them revolves an inch or so at a time to keep the sights on.

"Ready"—"Ready."

A minute or two later, after an order has come from the control position, the lieutenant in charge of the foremost turret suddenly raps out the order: "Bring both guns to the ready!"

The men standing by the breeches flick over their small levers. "Right gun ready! "Left gun ready!" they report in rapid succession.

The range, meanwhile, is decreasing rapidly, and about ten seconds later there comes the strident rattling of an electric bell.

It is the signal to open fire. The gunlayer holds his breath, sees the cross wires of his telescope cutting the lattice work of the target, and then presses an innocent looking brass thumb-piece. As he does so, there is a roar, and, with a blaze of orange flame and a pall of brown smoke, a projectile weighing more than half a ton is sailing through the air on its way towards the target.

Outside the turret the concussion is terrible, but inside it is barely felt, and the only means the gun's crew has of knowing their weapon has gone off is by the rocking of the turret and the recoil of the gun.

The men, meanwhile, are working like demons. Someone, by moving a small lever, has opened the breech. A cloud of acrid cordite smoke fills the turret; but another man, turning a tap, sends a jet of water spouting into the chamber to extinguish any still burning fragments.

Chaos Only in Seeming.

Everything seems chaos, but everyone knows what to do—they have done it time after time, and in less than thirty seconds we hear a sharp order: "Right gun—load!"

A man moves an upright lever, and a miniature lift climbs into view through the floor. It has come up from the shell-room below laden with the new charge and projectile, and stops dead in the rear of the gun.

Reposing in a tray is the shot itself. Another lever is worked, and a flexible chain hydraulic rammer, looking like a snake, darts out of its resting place and pushes the shot before it into the breech of the gun.

It is driven home with a dull thud. The rammer is withdrawn, another handle is pulled, and two enormous brown cylinders of cordite fall into the tray just vacated by the projectile. They, too, are rammed home, and, before we quite realize what has happened, the rammer and lift have disappeared, the breech of the gun has been swung home, and the great weapon is ready for firing.

In the fire control position the gunnery lieutenant has seen the first shot tear a jagged hole in the target, and promptly whispers an order to a man at his side. The latter moves a small handle, and thirty seconds later there is another discharge.

In about ten minutes it is all over, and the ship is approaching the target to see the result of its shooting. The structure is badly battered, but most of the lattice work is still standing, and is riddled with holes.

The captain and gunnery lieutenant are both on the bridge, with telescopes to their eyes.

"Very good shooting!" murmurs the former.

"Not so bad, sir," agrees his junior.

RED CROSS.

The ship Red Cross was sent by the Red Cross of America to Europe to help in the work of caring for the wounded in the great war. She was the Hamburg of the Hamburg-American line. She has been painted white with red stripe and with red crosses on her funnels. CONSERVATION VS. DESTRUCTION

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON,
Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

The involvement of the larger portion of the civilized world in warfare, the frightful destruction of human life due to modern arms and the vastness of the operations has focused the attention of our entire nation upon the events occurring across the seas and has cast a gloom over the minds of all thinking men.

Within a generation phenomenal strides have been made toward the conservation of mankind throughout the world. We have begun to learn how to preserve the weak and protect the strong from disease. Already the efforts along these lines have resulted in enormous economic savings and have made possible gigantic monuments to the constructive ability of mankind such as the Panama canal.

When the great nations of the world are sending the flower of their manhood to destruction it is almost natural to feel that efforts to conserve life are ephemeral. However, when the work of destruction has ceased, the work of re-building must begin. The economic struggle for existence will be keener than ever before in the history of the world and the conservation of the health of the peoples struggling to recuperate will be a still greater factor in their efforts to regain their physical and economic equilibrium.

As a nation we are in a unique and important position; to maintain which we will need sound bodies and sane minds.

Let us continue with redoubled vigor the work of improving individual and public health.

NO HUMAN EYE IS PERFECT.

Journal of the American Medical association: Measurements of human eyes demonstrate that there is probably no such thing in the world as an absolutely perfect eye. That would be a miracle which Nature with all her infinite ingenuity has never performed. No human face among all the world's 1,600,000,000 may be held perfect, either artistically or physiologically. To the owner of the face this is relatively an unimportant matter, but to the owner of the pair of eyes an error of one three-hundredths of an inch in the curvature or dimensions of the eyeballs may make their all important function abnormal, resulting in eye strain with its attendant physical ills.

The eye responds to the slightest physical force in the world, that is, light waves which are hundreds of millions of times more infinitesimal than sound waves. The eyes are the hardest worked of all organs, and the safety and existence of human lives frequently depend directly on their accurate working. The harmful results of eye strain, never wholly absent throughout life, may begin very early in childhood, even in the second year.

Many little children, for instance, are constantly tearing their clothes, hurting their feet and legs, stumbling and falling, because their eyes are so faulty that their estimates of the size, location and nature of objects are not correctly made. Adults who have been blind and are suddenly given good vision, require years to learn to see with accuracy or safety in action. Probably 6 per cent of children are left handed, left eyedness causing left handedness. From 6 to 10 years of age many children show an incomprehensible "nervousness," twitching of the hands and face, fickle appetite and various disorders, all usually due to eye strain.

Yet almost all of these cases of eye strain can be relieved, and should be relieved in early childhood. The importance of correcting this condition early in the child's school years, and the influence of the child must be apparent to every parent and teacher.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MAYOR JOKES OVER RECALL

Retiring Eveleth Officials Both Take Defeats Without Feeling.

Gleason and Brince at Final Council Meeting Count Own Votes.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—What was probably the last meeting of the city council as constituted during the past six months was held last night, as the terms of Mayor Gleason and Commissioner Brince came to an abrupt close as the result of the recall election. There is some question as to whether they retire before successors are named, but the meeting last night was probably the close of their official connection with the city, for the present at least.

The vote was canvassed and the two officials declared recalled. The motion declaring the offices vacated was made by Mr. Brince and put to the council by Mayor Gleason. The putting of the motion was the last official act of the retiring mayor.

Mr. Gleason and Mr. Brince entered the council room ahead of the other members, both smiling. The mayor joked about being a pallbearer at his own funeral, and complained because the other "corpse" left the room for a moment.

Levy Not Acted On.

The most important business was the introduction of a resolution making a levy of $304,810.34 for the ensuing year. A motion for the adoption of the resolution was made by Commissioner Brince but it received no second. It is probable that some reductions will be made before the levy meets the approval of the council.

In the proposed levy the most important items were: $29,000 for storm sewers; $16,000 for renewing defective water mains in the swamp near the pumping station and the completion of the new pumping plant and building; $50,000 for the paving of Jackson street from Grant avenue to Roosevelt avenue, and four other streets between Grant avenue and Adams avenue; $30,000 for a septic tank; $12,000 for the library; $12,000 for the parks; $5,000 for the completion of the cemetery, and $2,500 for a receiving vault; $4,000 for road and bridge fund; $10,000 for curb and gutter replacement made necessary because of faulty engineering in the past; also an appropriation for an auto sprinkler. Other items are the usual ones for general expenses, salaries, interest, sinking fund, etc.

The Gardner-McDonald company, through Otto A. Poirier, notified the council that something must be done to stop the flowage of contaminated sewer water through their land. The communication was referred to the city engineer. Piping the water through the property will only carry it to some other party's land, and a septic tank is said to be the only solution of the difficulty.

The Missabe Railway company asked permission to erect a shelter for a waiting station on the street at the station near the Fabiola hospital; referred to the commissioner of streets and alleys.

The Lawrence-McCann company was awarded a contract for the laying of 1,150 feet of storm sewer. The bid was for $2,782.95, $23.55 lower than the proposal submitted by the C. C. Butler Contracting company and about $300 less than a bid made by Ephraim Johnson.

HEADLONG FLIGHT OUT OF POLAND

Russian Victories Send Germans Away From Many Districts.

London, Sept. 17.—A Petrograd dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says:

"The news of the Russian victories, say correspondents at the front, has caused a headlong flight among the Germans in the districts of Czenstochowa, Klobucko, Sieradz and Kalisz, Russian Poland. Long transports of munitions and stores are moving and every day loaded trains leave Czenstochowa for Kruezburg, Silesia.

"Russian patrols are constantly widening their radius of action. The inhabitants of Zdunskawola, southeast of Kalisz, have been given notice to evacuate the town in three days as it is to be fortified. A special train is being provided for those who wish to go to Germany."

It is expected to be ready for occupancy in three weeks.

SECOND DAY DRAWS WELL

Large Crowd Visiting Successful Fair at Two Harbors.

Duluth Day, Friday, Expected to Bring Banner Crowd Out.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This, the second day of the Lake county fair, brought out a banner attendance, the splendid weather making up for the disagreeable brand of yesterday and a good-sized crowd being on hand early to view the many exhibits. As the day advanced the attendance increased and early this afternoon it was evident the attendance would be very large.

Tomorrow is Duluth day and a large crowd is expected to come on the special Iron Range road train, leaving the Union depot, Duluth, at 1 p. m. and returning in the evening. Many are also expected to come from Duluth by autos and other private conveyances.

Although the bad weather kept down the attendance yesterday during the day, there was a good-sized attendance during the evening.

Because many, especially farmers, could not get to town with their exhibits yesterday on account of the rain, the officials of the association decided to lengthen the time allowed to get their exhibits entered, and exhibits were received up to 10 o'clock this morning. The limit originally set was 6 p. m. Wednesday.

To Beat Previous Fair.

There is no question but that this will surpass any fair ever held in this county. This year it is at least one-third larger than last year. Each year it grows with surprising rapidity. The first Lake county fair held eight years ago was held in a vacant store building, while today it requires five large buildings and then there is not sufficient room. Regardless of the fact that the society constructed a stock building, with nearly fifty stalls in it, for this fair, there is not sufficient room to hold all the stock at this fair, and consequently the old building and an old ice house was forced into use. The officers are delighted in the manner in which the owners of livestock turned out. This year over thirty heads of pure bread registered cattle are on exhibition, while last year the society was required to borrow pure bread cattle from the Jean DuLuth farm in order to make a respectable showing. The exhibitions of horses, sheep and hogs are in quality and quantity, far above that of any other show.

The poultry department is far above expectations. The total entries in the poultry department are in the neighborhood of 300, against only 160 last year. Fred D. W. Thlas, a local chicken fancier and official of the fair association, has 94 entries in the chicken department and all of these are first-class birds. The poultry department is a show in itself.

The agricultural department also shows a big increase over last year. The exhibits of L. D. Rose, S. Jensen and George Watts attract particular attention, while all other exhibits are better than ever before.

Women's Department.

The women's department is the main attraction for the women folks. The art department has increased almost double what it was last year and the superintendents are having some trouble finding room for all the exhibits.

The judging of the exhibits commenced this morning after all the entries were made. The following are the judges:

Livestock—Mark Thompson, superintendent of the Northeastern development farm.

Agricultural department—L. A. Larson, manager of industrial farm at Duluth; E. A. Daniels of this city will assist Mr. Larson.

Horticultural department—A. A. McPheeters, superintendent of agriculture in the city school.

The poultry jjudge will be decided upon later.

PETROFF SENTENCED.

Slayer of Ely Man Must Pay $500 or Go to Jail.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seman Petroff, convicted of a charge of manslaughter in the second degree, at the present term of the district court, was sentenced by Judge Hughes yesterday afternoon to pay a fine of $500 or spend eight months in the county work farm. He will probably serve the time. Petroff accidentally shot L. S. McDonald at Ely on the night of July 4.

A motion for a new trial for Macton Stanley was granted by the court. County Attorney Boyle subsequently moved for dismissal. He told the court it would be impossible to get witnesses here from Canada to convict Stanley, who at his first trial was found guilty of securing payment on a worthless draft at the First National bank.

Judge Hughes will preside here at a special term of the district court Saturday for the naturalization of citizens, when 108 petitions for second papers and full citizenship will be considered. In the number of petitions to be considered the term is one of the largest ever held on the range.

The prospective citizens number many range Italians and Finns, who, if they pass the necessary examination, will be eligible to cast their first vote at the general election this fall.

Federal Naturalization Examiner R. K. Doe is making a trip over the range. He will attend the special term in Virginia Saturday.

MANY BUYING LANDS NEAR TO HIBBING

Great Northern Putting Lands on Market Gives Farming Boom.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since the Great Northern Land company has placed its lands south of the village on the market, a number of forties have been sold, and are being settled. In the last few weeks nine forties were sold at an average of from $10 to $30 an acre. Land values have increased over 400 per cent in parts of the community and land which it was almost impossible to sell for $6 an acre four years ago, is now valued at from $10 to $30 an acre.

Agriculture in this part of St. Louis county what was considered a new venture a few years ago has received great impetus. As a result of the settlement of the land out of the ore belt, the road system out of Hibbing has been greatly improved. A present plan in road work is to connect Hibbing directly with the Miller trunk road.

Woul Lessen Distance.

The proposed road, which would cut off eighteen miles between Hibbing and Duluth, is from Hibbing to Dupont, to Little Swan school, to where the steel bridge spans the St. Louis river, to Wallace and the five miles southeast to the Miller trunk road. At the present time there is only two miles of the proposed road that is not developed. All the country tapped by this proposed road is excellent for farming and many farms have been opened. Some of it is clear of rock and stumps and the soil is very productive.

Those that have purchased farming land near Hibbing thus far are in most cases local or range people. In many cases foreigners, who tire of working in the mines, buy a forty and earn a good livelihood from it. The European war has had no noticeable effect, either one way or the other, on land sales in this community.

TRANSACT NO BUSINESS

But Range Municipal League Members Enjoy Hibbing Banquet.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The business meeting of the Range Municipal league was called off yesterday after having been postponed from the afternoon until the evening, when it was to have been held in connection with the banquet. An elaborate banquet was given the visitors and a number of instructive and elequent talks made. Mayor V. L. Power was toastmaster.

An illustrated lecture by Robert E. McDonnell preceded the banquet. The time or place of the next meeting was not settled. Visitors were invited to make use of the Elks' Club rooms during their stay here.

KILL 244-POUND BEAR.

Two Men Trail Bruin From Wolf Station and Dispatch Animal.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A big, black bear measuring nearly eight feet in length and weighing 244 pounds was killed by two men near Wolf this week and brought here to market. It was shot within a few rods of Wolf station while charging at the hunters, who had wounded it.

Dan Beaudrie first saw the bear and he secured his high-powered rifle and wounded the animal. He obtained the assistance of Leo Butler before taking up the trail, and the hunters' experience when they came upon the enraged bruin justified this precaution.

The bear charged at the hunters, and both fired. The two bullets struck almost together in the animal's head and checked its rush. The bear fell almost on the railway tracks.

AIR DOES WONDERS WITH GRAY HAIR

When you looked at yourself face to face in the mirror last night and saw the gray strands that streak your hair, didn't you secretly wish that you knew of a way of GETTING RID of them?

There are two ways of meeting this gray hair problem. You can temporarily change the color by chemical staining with dye, or bring back the NATURAL color with Hay's Hair Health.

Hay's Hair Health performs this miracle with the aid of AIR—harmless, but absolutely sure and effective. It contains a wonderful element which, when applied to the hair, causes that hair to come back to its natural color by the action of the oxygen.

Yet so effective is it that every strand of gray now marring your appearance will disappear—must disappear. Other gray hairs will be kept from coming—and your whole head of hair will be made strong, lustrous, beautiful.

Dandruff will disappear. The scalp will be clean and healthy. And no one will know you are using Hay's Hair Health.

NEW CHISHOLM HOSPITAL.

Work Delayed on Building Structure Has Been Resumed.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work on the Webber hospital on First avenue and Chestnut street, which has been held up for several weeks on account of delayed millwork, is now under full swing. The brick work is now reaching the top of the windows on the first floor, and with no further delays of material, the building will be ready for occupancy by Nov. 1. The building will represent, when completed, an investment of $20,000. Dr. E. E. Webber, the owner, will spare no expense, and will install all the latest equipment.

CHISHOLM EAGLES' SOCIAL.

Given as Farewell for Minister Member Leaving Village.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eagles last evening in their lodgerooms held a social for a departing member, Rev. Ralph C. Jones of the Methodist church, who recently announced that he would leave this field. The program included music, toasts, refreshments of coffee and sandwiches, and a general good fellowship entertainment. Rev. Jones returned recently from a trip to Oklahoma, but could not say definitely that his work will take him to that section. He will announce later what charge he will have next year.

Mr. Jones has been in charge of the church work here for the past three years, and has given general satisfaction, and his departure with his family is greatly regretted by their many friends. The committee in charge of the program this evening was composed of Fred Williams, N. D. Beaton and Mike Anda.

PLAINTIFF MISSING.

Fails to Show Up to Prosecute Case at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of Mike Bremsak vs. the Oliver Iron Mining company was dismissed by Judge Moylan of the municipal court Wednesday when the complainant failed to appear. The suit was for $500 personal injury damages which Bremsak claimed to have received at the hands of the Oliver police when he was arrested some time ago. At that time he paid a fine for drunkenness.

A warrant was issued for his arrest on a charge of assault and battery and it is thought that the outstanding warrant was the cause of his non-appearance. The warrant was sworn out by John Plasnik, keeper of a boarding house, who alleges that his wife was assaulted by Bremsak.

EVELETH NOTES.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Margaret Lasota, the 2-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lasota of the Adams location, died early Monday morning from meningitis. The funeral was conducted Tuesday by Rev. Father Culligan at the Holy Family church.

A telephone pole on the Miller trunk road near the farm of H. L. Burns between the city and Ely lake was struck and reduced to splinters by lightning during the storm Wednesday noon. Other poles on the line were damaged by the bolt and the line was put out of commission.

Two cows and a dog were killed yesterday afternoon by a passenger train at the Iron Range crossing on the Miller Trunk road between this city and Ely lake.

A "Mulligan" is to be given by the Eveleth Eagles Sunday at Eagle Grove, between this city and Genoa. The receipts will go to the fund which is being raised for the entertainment of the Eagles of the state at a convention next June.

The Commercial club will hold a meeting Monday, Sept. 21. The club has been inactive during the summer and there is much accumulated business.

The enrollment at the high school this year has reached 190, far above the highest attendance ever attained before. The increase is particularly noticeable in the senior class where there is a prospect of a graduating class of 29. The largest class ever graduated numbered 19, who received diplomas three years ago.

"Gets-It" for Corns Sure as Sunrise

New Plan. Corns Shrivel, Vanish.

Until "GETS-IT" was born nobody was ever sure of getting rid of a corn. Corn treatments nearly all contained the same ingredients, only some were liquid, some plasters, some "wrappers" and some in salve form. Now comes "GETS-IT" with a newly discovered formula—the corn cure on a new principle and a simple plan that never fails. This is why "GETS-IT" has grown in three years to be the biggest-selling corn cure the world has ever known.

There's no more need of fussing with corns, no more digging or cutting. There's nothing to press down on the corn, nothing to inflame the flesh, to "pull" the corn or cause pain. Put two drops of "GETS-IT" on in two seconds. That's all. For any corn, callus, wart or bunion.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

CLOUDY

With the donation of a remarkably heavy shower, accompanied by a few flashes of vivid lightning and a few peals of thunder yesterday afternoon, the weather man abolished the disagreeable, enervating, sticky weather that prevailed, and brought on a glorious evening, followed by the present ideal day. For the sufferings of yesterday humanity in Duluth is now getting its pay. It is hoped that the regular unrivaled fall weather of Duluth is setting in for a long stretch; and then the really fine days will be here.

A year ago today was also fine. The sun rose this morning at 5:48 and will set this evening at 6:17, giving twelve hours and twenty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Moderate temperature was the rule during the last twenty-four hours, except that the thermometer registered 90 degs. or higher throughout the southwest during Wednesday, and rather cool weather prevailed last night over the greater portion of the Northwest. Showers fell during Wednesday or last night over North Pacific districts, the Upper Mississippi Valley, Northwestern lake region and South Atlantic states. Very heavy rain fell at Des Moines, Iowa."

WOMAN ARRESTED; MAY BE DEPORTED

Mesaba Range Clairvoyant Alleged to Have Deserted Husband.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Rebecca Itakovich, who has been a clairvoyant on the Mesaba range, also reading palms and otherwise casting horoscopes, was arrested in Eveleth last night of the charge of deserting her husband and children, living in Winnipeg, and being an undesirable. The immigration authorities took her to International Falls today where she will have a hearing and probably be deported on the grounds on being an undesirable alien.

She was once licensed to read futures here, but the council subsequently revoked the privilege. She claims her husband is a drunkard and abuses her and says she would rather be dead than go back to him.

She gave the name here of Mme. Heine Smith.

GILBERT DAMAGE CASE IS SETTLED

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The damage case of Mrs. L. Godleski of Gilbert against August Benson, a saloonkeeper of that village, to recover $2,500 that was to have been tried here today, was settled out of court, on what basis is not known.

The woman claims the defendant sold her husband liquor injudiciously and her spouse fell and was injured depriving her of his support.

Another civil action of a minor nature is being tried today.

GETS JUDGMENT AGAINST VILLAGE

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The district court jury in the damage case of Gust Williamson vs. the village of Keewatin to recover a judgment for $2,465 for personal injuries due to a defective sidewalk after being out since 3 p. m. yesterday today reported a verdict of $125 for the plaintiff.

Manslaughter Case On.

The court is now trying the case of the state of Minnesota vs. A. G. Scannell of Marble. The charge against Scannell is manslaughter in the second degree. Scannell is accused in the indictment of causing the death of Mrs. John Bush of Marble on July 19, last, by careless driving of his automobile. Mrs. Bush was riding in the auto of D. Butler of Marble with Mr. and Mrs. Butler and their car was met by Scannell, who, it is alleged, was driving on the wrong side of the road and ran into them, tipping the Butler car over and inflicting injuries to Mrs. Bush which caused her death a few hours later. The testimony of D. Butler, the complaining witness, has been heard and Mrs. Butler was on the stand this morning. The case will be ended today.

Following the acquittal of Matt Teeparten, on a charge of assault in the first degree for assaulting a policeman on the night of July 4, at Holman, County Attorney McOuat today moved the dismissal of the other defendants in the same matter, Mrs. Erneest Johnson, owner of the saloon in which the assault occurred, Joseph Miller, Dominic Peronne and Dominic Balli. The case were dismissed.

SLIVER MINE HAS QUIT FOR SEASON.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Sliver mine here has closed down for the season, stopping all mining and shipping. About 150 are affected.

The property shipped about 200,000 tons of ore during the season.

The contract for a municipal incinerator was awarded to C. E. Hunter, who submitted a low bid of $4,650.

A bond of the Range Lumber company in the sum of $11,000, to insure delivery of cement paving supplies, was received.

CAUSED BY OVEREATING

Deficient gastric secretion, meaning a lack of the fluids necessary for digestion, is a prevalent condition. You may have it now and not know it because you are able to get along without actual discomfort even with your enfeebled digestion.

But if you overeat—then you are in trouble. You have indigestion because you have given your weakened stomach too much to do. The deficient gastric secretion was what doctors call the pre-disposing cause, the overeating was the exciting cause. It is easy not to repeat the overeating but the predisposing cause must be corrected if you are to be well.

The secretions that digest the food come from glands that are nourished directly by the blood. When these secretions are insufficient the only way to restore their healthful condition is by building up the blood. This can be done by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the non-alcoholic tonic that assists nature in keeping the body in health. Proper attention to diet and the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be tried in cases of disordered digestion because it is the simple and natural way to correct the trouble.

Send today for a copy of our free diet book "What to Eat and How to Eat." Address the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

FIRE DESTROYS EVELETH AUTO.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A five-passenger auto owned by the Gilbert livery was entirely destroyed by fire yesterday morning at the south end of St. Mary's lake on the Miller Trunk road. The fire is thought to have started from backfiring or a short circuit. It burned off the gasoline feed and the gas generated by the heat furnished fuel. The machine was a total loss, even the tires burning in front and the heat from the burning gas warping the engine and frame.

VIRGINIA COMMITTEE HAS GONE SCOUTING.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Heritage and Murray, the council committee selected to visit gas plants in Illinois and other states before the city builds its proposed municipal plant, left today for Duluth and the south. They will not tell where they are going. One of them stated they would get all the information possible as to the dangers alleged from the proposed plant and if these were not justified the plant would be built at once as everything is ready to proceed.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of complaints by residents of the north side that blind pigs flourish there and that here are various disorderly acts perpretrated, the police commission today decided to place a special officer there.

NERVOUS MEN

Men That Suffer From Nervousness Restored to Normal Health and Strength.

Every normal and healthy man has a natural and abundant endowment of potential Energy, and electro-magnetic Nerve Power. Units of Nerve Energy are drawn from the blood and stored in the celular substance of the Brain and the different Nerve Ganglia, for use in the performance of the involuntary function and voluntary actions of the Nerves.

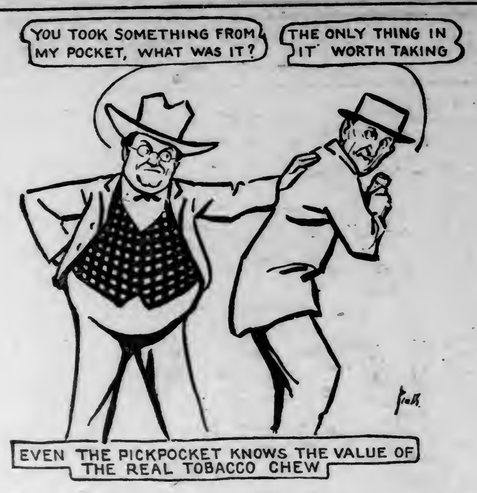

In health these reservoirs of Vital Power are so abundant that the whole physical and mental being is filled and thrilled with the triumphant consciousness of power, of vitality. Such men possess personal magnetism, and unconsciously inspire those who come into social or business relations with them.

It's different with the man that suffers from ailments caused by weak, impoverished Nerves, the man that is "up in the air" from the least disturbance. Such men have little mastery or self-control, they "feel weak" and "run down," are "nervous" and have "lost ambition." If you suffer from frequent Headaches, loss of sleep and have spells of despondency, it probably means that your Nerves are starving for lack of energy, such as you derive from correct treatment with Organo-Therapy and Electro-Therapy. In the opinion and experience of the Progressive Medical Doctors there is nothing else that will equally restore suffering men so quickly to Health and Happiness.

We have made diseases of men our life study, and we have been eminently successful. The effect of the treatment is to cure those diseases and to restore men to the full enjoyment of nature's best gifts to the normal physical and mental conditions that characterize health.

Our offices are open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., at No. 1 West Superior street. All consultations are free.

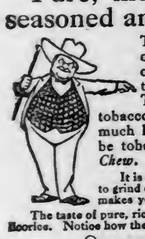

PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL DOCTORS

YOU know, all tobacco users know what is the matter with ordinary chewing tobacco!

Everywhere men are saying to their friends that "Right-Cut" is the Real Tobacco Chew.

Pure, mellow, full-bodied tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

WHERE THE GERMANS HOPE TO WAGE BATTLE

PARIS FORTIFICATIONS.

The successes of the Germans in Belgium and France caused the French to man the fortifications of Paris, which is the objective of the German army of the north. They are regarded as among the strongest fortifications in the world.

COMPLAINTS UNFOUNDED

Stories of German Atrocities in Belgium Branded as False.

Correspondent Says Allegations of Torture Dissolve Into Myths.

New York, Sept. 17.—An Associated Press staff correspondent of American birth and antecedents, who was sent from New York office and was caught in Brussels at the time of the German invasion, held as a prisoner for several days, and finally escaped to Holland, has sent by mail the following story of his experiences:

"The night before the Germans entered Brussels when the Belgian civil guards and refugees began pouring into the city from the direction of Louvain, they brought stories of unspeakable German atrocities, maltreatment of old men and children and the violation of women.

"The Belgian capital reeled with apprehension. Within an hour the gaiety, the vivacity and brilliancy of the city went out like a broken arc light. The radiance of the cafes was exchanged for darkness; whispering groups of residents broke up hurriedly and locked themselves into their homes, where they put up the shutters and drew in their tricolored Belgian flags.

Dissolved Into Myths.

"In less than twenty-four hours the Belgian citizens were chatting comfortably with the German invaders and the allegation of German brutality and demoniacal torture dissolved into one of the myths which have accompanied all war.

"Neither in Brussels, nor in its environs was a single offensive act so far as I know, committed by a German soldier. In a city of more than half a million of people, invaded by a hostile army of perhaps a quarter of a million of soldiers, no act sufficiently flagrant to demand punishment or to awaken protest came to my attention.

"The frightful reports that had preceded the German army into Brussels included the disemboweling of old men, and the impaling of children on lances, just outside Louvain. Investigation not only failed to substantiate these rumors, but I could not even discover anyone in the immediate vicinity who credited them. An eye witness of unimpeachable veracity told me that the worst behavior he had observed during the first German entry into Louvain (Aug. 19) was that of a German soldier who leaned from his horse and kissed a pretty Flemish girl who brought him a glass of beer.

Saw No Mistreatments.

"With this one possible exception, I did not encounter in Nivelles, in Binche, Buissiere or Soire-Sur-Sambre or any of the other towns I visited a single incident of mistreatment of any sort by German officers or soldiers.

"Buissiere—particularly the lower part of the city—had been virtually destroyed by a cross fire from French and German artillery. Tops of newberries had been hurled bodily to the ground, and the wall had either disappeared or become grotesquely dislodged. The whole city lay in smoking ruins, with only its drawbridge across the Sambre and a few marble statues and boathouses towering above the debris. But here two days after the battle, women and children were moving comfortably about the town and not a single complaint was uttered against German conduct.

"The history of the absolute destruction of the historic city of Louvain with its cathedral and its university is by this time well known. The German version of this is that the inhabitants under the direction of the burgomaster, established themselves in the church where they also installed a machine gun. They proceeded to greet the Germans with a deadly fire.

Made Serious Mistake.

"The Belgians say, on the other hand, that part of the German army, mistaking their own retiring divisions for the enemy, opened fire upon them whereupon, deluded into thinking this an assault, by Belgian civilians, the Germans razed the whole city.

"I have not been able to acquire any direct evidence in regard to those last two instances, but the explanation generally credited by disinterested persons is that the Belgians, who had laid down their arms, according to the burgomaster's proclamation on the entrance of the enemy, took them up again when it looked as if the Germans were retreating, from the town and opened fire from their windows upon a retiring German train.

"The most authoritative German denial of German offenses comes from Major General Thaddeus Von Jarotzsky, military governor of Brussels, who informed me that in numerous cases he had been received with a pretense of friendliness by Belgian civilians, who later fired upon the German soldiers from windows and from between the roof tiles. This was done, he said after a declaration of surrender by the burgomaster and a proclamation warning the citizens against resistance.

Punished Offenders.

"In such violations of the rules of war, the general said, he punished the offenders by burning the houses from which the shots were fired.

"This explanation of the burning of villages is given with such perfect unanimity by all German officers and men, that to go into separate instances is unnecessary. It seems to serve as a sort of blanket extenuation for all German severities.

"I have actual knowledge of the sniping by Belgian civilians at Manage and other towns, and even the Belgians admit that in a few instances they have been guilty of this. This furnishes a provocation for the only German severity which I have had an opportunity to observe, the burning of houses.

STATES POSITION OF UNITED STATES

President Wilson Says It Cannot Take Part in War Controversies Now.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Formal notice was given to the world by President Wilson that the United States at this time cannot pass judgment upon or take any part in controversies between the warring European nations over alleged violations of the rules of civilized warfare. He said settlement of these questions would have to wait until the end of the war, which he prayed might be very soon. The president announced the position of the American government first in an address to the commission sent to him by the king of Belgium to protest against alleged atrocities committed by the German army. Later he sent a cable message along similar lines to the emperor of Germany replying to the latter's recent protest that the allies were using dum-dum bullets.

The Belgian commission was received at the White House with formal ceremony. The president, accompanied by his military aide and several high officials of the government, greeted the visitors in the east room and listened with grave attention to their address, setting forth in detail charges that German soldiers invading their land had killed and tortured men, women and children destroyed art treasures and sacked cities.

Mr. Wilson read his prepared reply.

"It would be unwise, it would be premature," he said, "for a single government, to, would even be inconsistent with the neutral position of any nation which, like this, has no part in the contest, to form or express a final judgment."

WILL NOT MIX IN CONTROVERSY

President Makes Reply to Protests of Kaiser and President Poincare.

Washington, Sept. 17. — President Wilson has replied to the message recently received from Emperor William protesting against the alleged use by the allied armies of dum-dum bullets. He had read the communication with the gravest concern, but said it would be unwise and premature for the United States to express any final judgment in the controversy.

A cablegram replying to the protest of President Poincare of France, which charged that the Germans were using dum-dum bullets, was also prepared. It was not made public, but was known to follow closely the text of the president's message to Emperor William, which was as follows:

"I received your imperial majesty's important communication of the 7th, and have read it with the gravest interest and concern. I am honored in that you should have turned to me for an impartial judgment as the representative of a people truly disinterested as respects the present war, and truly desirous of knowing and accepting the truth.

"You will, I am sure, not expect me to say more. Presently, I pray God very soon, this war will be over. The day of accounting will then come, when I take it for granted the nations of Europe will assemble to determine a settlement. Where wrongs have been committed, their consequences and the relative responsibility involved will be assessed. The nations of the world have, fortunately, by agreement, made a plan for such a reckoning and settlement. What such a plan cannot compass, the opinion of mankind, the final arbiter of all such matters, will supply. It would be unwise, it would be premature, for a single government, however fortunately separated from the present struggle; it would even be inconsistent with the neutral position of any nation, which, like this, has no part in the contest, to form or express a final judgment.

"I speak thus frankly because I know that you will expect and wish me to do as one friend should to another, and because I feel sure that such a reservation of judgment until the end of the war, when all its events and circumstances can be seen in their entirety and in their true relation, will commend itself to you as a true expression of sincere neutrality.

IS YOUR HAIR RIGHT FOR THE NEW FALL STYLES?—By Lois

You will delight in arranging your hair in the new and interesting modes of this season if you are among those who keep their hair perfectly soft and appearing naturally heavy by use of a shampoo that makes it very fluffy. Do not take chances with some makeshift or unknown soap mixtures. I have tried many in search of the best, cheapest and easiest to use and finally have decided to always use canthrox, which is made for shampooing only and is so beautifying in its effect upon the hair. I get it at any good drug store and one package lasts so long that it is the most economical shampoo I can get and my first trial convinced me that it was the most easily used. In clearing the scalp and hair of all dandruff, dirt and excess oil, its delicately perfumed lather gently permeates to the hair roots and not only takes loose dirt, but dissolves all the oil accumulations so they are rinsed out instead of being rubbed and scoured out, as with soap and so many cheap washes. My hair is now so fluffy that it seems much heavier than it is naturally.—Advertisement.

HOW BIG GERMAN SHIP WAS SUNK

British Officer Tells of Fate of Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

London, Sept. 17.—An officer of the British cruiser High Flyer has given the following account of the sinking of the North German Lloyd trans-Atlantic liner Kaiser Wilhelm de Grosse off the coast of Africa the latter part of August, by the cruiser:

"While we were coaling at Las Palmas, Canary Islands, we heard that two colliers had left for Rio de Oro, West Africa. We followed and sighted the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse within twenty miles of Rio de Oro, with colliers alongside. We opened fire at 3:10 o'clock and finished at 4:25. The Kaiser Wilhelm sank at 5:10. Our lyddite shells soon settled things. Our ship was struck ten times."

HOW RELATIONS WERE SEVERED

British Foreign Office Issues Report on Breaking of Diplomacy.

London, Sept. 17.—The foreign office issued this evening in the form of a White Paper the report of Sir Maurice De Bunsen, late British ambassador to Vienna on the rupture of diplomatic relations with Austria. The ambassador declares that Austria and Russia had about reached an agreement on the Austro-Servian dispute "when their conversations were cut short by the transfer of the dispute to the more dangerous ground of a direct conflict between Germany and Russia."

The ambassador says that Count von Berchtold, the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, on July 30, although Russia had been partially mobilized, agreed in a most friendly manner that the conversation should be continued between Russia and Austria.

"From now on," says the ambassador, "the tension between Germany and Russia was greater than between Austria and Russia, as between the latter an agreement seemed almost in sight, and on Aug. 1, was informed by Count Shebeko, the Russian ambassador, that Count Szapary, Austrian ambassador at St. Petersburg, had at last conceded the main point of issue by announcing to M. Sazonoff, the Russian foreign minister, that Austria would consent to submit to mediation the points in the note to Servia which seemed incompatible with the maintenance of Servian independence.

"M. Sazonoff had approached this proposal on condition that Austria would refrain from actual invasion of Servia. Austria, in fact, had fully yielded, and that she, herself, at this point had good hopes of a peaceful issue is shown by the communication made to you upon Aug. 1 by Count Mensdorff, Austrian ambassador at London, that Austria had neither 'banged the door on compromise nor cut off the conversations.'

"Germany intervened on July 31 by means of her double ultimatum to St. Petersburg and Paris. These ultimatums were of a kind to which only one reply was possible, and Germany declared war on Russia on Aug. 1 and France Aug. 3.

"A few days' delay might, in all probabilities, have saved Europe from one of the greatest calamities in history."

GERMAN WOUNDED IN NEED OF NURSING.

Paris, Sept. 17.—The pitiable state of most of the German wounded is explained by some of the prisoners as due to a lack of nursing. They say the Germans were so convinced that they would cross France and take Paris at the double quick that they did not provide for wounded. When the famous "75" gun of the French began to make ravages the German commanders took from the ranks men best qualified for the work of caring for the wounded, but their services were quite insufficient.

Germany's New Plan.

Rome, via London, Sept. 17.—The Tribuna states that the German headquarters staff has adopted a new plan of campaign which consists of maintaining the defensive against the allies in the west while undertaking an offensive movement against the Russians, in which twelve German army corps will be employed.

CHOOSES DULUTH AS GRAIN CENTER

Buffalo Man Tours World and Then Joins Duluth Board.

John D. Shanahan, president of the recently organized Shanahan Grain company, was today elected a member of the Duluth board of trade. He was for many years connected with the grain inspection service at Buffalo and for eight years, from 1898 to 1906 inclusive, he was chief grain inspector at that port. In 1904 he organized the grain weighing service of the Buffalo market which he directed as chief weighmaster in connection with the grain inspection department.

Mr. Shanahan entered the department of agriculture in October 1906 when he organized, and for four years directed the office of grain standardization of the bureau of plant industry. In carrying on that work, laboratories were established at many of the grain markets and other vantage points in various parts of the country and as a result a quick method of determining the moisture in grain was introduced. In carrying through that work he found it necessary to frequently visit all of the grain markets and other points at which the investigations were carried on, besides spending the summer of 1908 in a tour of the grain receiving ports and grain markets of Northern, Western and Southern Europe.

Mr. Shanahan resigned from the government service in December 1910 to enter the service of a prominent linseed oil manufacturing concern. In connection with his duties, he made a number of trips to all parts of the world, investigating the various phases of the industry and studing the methods employed by foreign competitors. In the course of his investigations he spent some time in India, and made a tour of the West through England, Germany, Belgium and Southern France.

He finally determined to re-enter the grain business, and after looking about for several months, he determined to locate in Duluth as the point in his opinion having the greatest potential possibilities in the trade.

DEAN SUMNER IS ELECTED BISHOP

Chicago Man Chosen to Bishopric of Oregon By Episcopalians.

Portland, Or., Sept. 17.—Rev. Walter T. Sumner, dean of the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, Chicago, was elected Episcopal bishop of Oregon early today. Balloting for a successor to the late Bishop Charles Scadding continued all yesterday afternoon and night.

Sumner Surprised.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—His election to the Episcopal bishopric of Oregon came as a surprise to Dean Walter T. Sumner when the news was given him by newspaper men here today.

Dean Sumner recently declined calls to Cleveland and to the pastorate of an important North Side cathedral on the ground that he had work in his present field to occupy him for several years.

"The Oregon call," he said, "is important and I cannot announce my decision until I have given the subject careful consideration."

Dean Sumner is one of the most popular ecclesiastics in Chicago and for years has been in the van of the campaign for political and social reform.

IRREGULARITIES IN ELECTION CHARGED

North Dakotan, Seeking Legislative Nomination, Alleges Unlawful Acts.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Leu, who hopes to gain the Republican legislative nomination in Griggs county, against Hugh Montgomery, the present nominee, charges loose election methods, in his pleadings argued before the supreme court yesterday.

That irregularities prevailed in three election precincts, is charged by Leu. In one district, it is maintained that an election judge indulged in the practice of marking ballots for the voters; in another instance, the polls were not opened till late in the day, while in another precinct corrupt campaign methods are charged.

FORMER BANKER'S HEARING AT RUGBY.

Rugby, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The preliminary hearing of Chas. R. Verry, the former Park River, N. D., banker, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was begun here today.

O. Egeland, a Rugby farmer, complains against Verry, charging that the latter collected a note, given by him to the Northern Fire & Marine Insurance company, and that such note was not canceled, and no accounting was made by Verry.

The defendant alleges that the note was in his hands for collection, and that it was not for him to make an accounting to the Farmers' Security bank of Park River, which now seeks to make a collection on the original note from Egeland.

President Not Disturbed.

Washington, Sept. 17.—President Wilson is not disturbed by reports that Americans and other foreigners will be in danger in Mexico after the withdrawal of the American troops from Vera Cruz. Officials said today the president compared such reports with predictions that wholesale killings would follow the entry of Carranza at Mexico City.

TO ENCOURAGE IMMIGRATION

North Dakota Anticipates Many Settlers Coming After European War.

Governor Hanna to Urge Legislature to Send State Agents Abroad.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The employment of immigration agents for active work in Europe, after the present war, will be urged by Governor L. B. Hanna upon the coming legislative assembly, as he believes there will be an immigration to this county, when the war ends, that will exceed all previous records.

"On my recent return from Europe," said Governor Hanna, "I talked with the immigration officer at Boston, who expressed the belief that there would be a great movement to this country at the close of the war similar to that following the Franco-Prussian war, when there was a great immigration to the United States.

"Many homes are bound to be broken up and many will find it to their advantage to seek new homes in a country not ravaged by war.

North Dakota's Chance.

"North Dakota should at once begin preparations for sharing in the immigration by obtaining desirable immigrants from the rural communities. Avoid the city people and make the strong bid for the rural immigrants and the state will benefit greatly as a result.

"The immigration movement will not be from one of the countries at war only, but will be marked by the removal of many from other countries as well. The Scandinavian countries will, among others, furnish its full quota of new residents for the United States.

"If proper steps are taken, I see no reason why this state should not skim the cream from this stream of immigration which may be expected to flow across the ocean."

BURIED AT DICKINSON.

Funeral of J. A. McGregor, Pioneer Resident Is Held.

Dickinson, N. D., Sept. 17.—There were many friends of the late J. A. McGregor here for his funeral held under Masonic auspices.

Mr. McGregor came to the Northwest in 1873, settling in Iowa, moving from there to Minnesota. He went to the Black Hills in 1876, notwithstanding the fact that the Indians were making a great deal of trouble in that vicinity at that time. Mining did not pan out very well for him, and he trapped and shot for a time, and then drifted down the Little Missouri to what is now Medora, in 1880.

In 1886 he came to Dickinson and was manager of the Dickinson Mercantile company until 1895, when he went to Beach and took up ranching. He prospered, held county offices, was prominent in church and society and in the Masonic order in Dickinson and Beach.

NORTH DAKOTA NOW BOASTS APPLE KING

Joseph Gjer, Near Fairmont, Has 640 Acres of Fruit Trees.

Fairmount, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This section boasts of the apple king of the state in Joseph Gjer. He has an orchard of 640 trees of the leadiog varieties, and they are so heavily laden with fruit that he has been compelled to place supports under the branches to prevent their breaking off. His father in the old country was a fruit grower and when Mr. Gjer acquired his farm here a number of years ago he began experiments and continued them with such success he has developed a most remarkable orchard that attracts the attention of people for miles around. He has fully demonstrated the possibilities for fruit growing in North Dakota. In addition to the apples, he grows many other varieties of small fruits.

YIELDS OF GRAIN IN NORTH DAKOTA

Some Threshing Results Gathered in Various Parts of State.

Lisbon, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wheat yields ranging from eleven to twenty-five bushels have been reported from the threshing machines in Ransom county. The oats run from forty to eighty, and corn is the best crop for years. Early wheat was best and the largest yields were secured from durum and Marquis varieties. The latter has come into high favor because it seemed to mature earlier than the other kinds and to escape damage by the rust.

Twenty-eight Per Acre.

Center, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Price reports the Marquis wheat on his farm in Oliver county went twenty-eight bushels per acre, while the other varieties yield twenty. His excellent results with Marquis has resulted in many other farmers of this section securing supplies of seed for next year.

Thirty-five Per Acre.

Flasher, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thirty-five bushels per acre of Marquis wheat is the yield reported by Charles F. Schick, while his other wheat went nineteen. Oats went sixty and speltz forty.

Yields Around Hettinger.

Hettinger, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wheat yields of eighteen, barley fifty and oats eighty have been reported in this section of the state. The general average of wheat seems to be between fifteen and eighteen bushels, where the grain was properly put in and seeded early.

FRIEND OF SPURGEON.

Funeral at St. Paul of Pioneer Northwestern Missionary.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—Funeral services were held to day for Rev. Henry W. Parsons the pioneer congregational missionary and pastor of the Northwest who died here at the home of his daughter. A native of England in his early church days he was a frend of Spurgeon, Joseph Parker, Hugh Price Hughes, F. B. Meyer and other leading preachers, and served several parishes in Devonshire and other south England counties, notably Ottery St. Mary, the home of the Coleridges.

In 1876 he came to America, a missionary to the southern negroes. In North and South Carolina he held meetings among these people when it was extremely dangerous to do so. Later he came into the Northwest as a missionary.

Mr. Parsons served as pastor of churches in Sun Prairie, Wis.; Lake Benton, Stewartville, New Brighton and St. Paul (University Avenue Congregational church). His last work was to institute a series of cottage meetings in the newly opened Morningside addition in 1907. These with other help, developed later into the Morningside Congregational church.

HUGE RIVER DRIVE.

About 60,000,000 Feet Going Down Mississippi River.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 17.—Sixty million feet of lumber is the amount estimated to be the big drive which is coming down river now and which is at present just above Brainerd. The first part of this drive has already gone down, but this was a very small portion and the main drive is still up river.

Edward Lavoie went to Brainerd Tuesday afternoon to make arrangements for bringing the logs down to Little Falls, where they will be tied up until spring, as it will be impossible to take as large a drive as this down to Minneapolis this fall. Mr. Lavoie estimates that it will take at least thirty days to get the logs to this city.

This is probably the largest drive that will ever go down the Mississippi and is the last one which will be taken through this season.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17. — The funeral of Col. Charles S. Bunker, prominent Civil war veteran and commander of the Governor's Guard in the famous "Blueberry War" of 1872, took place today at 2 p. m., at the New Jerusalem church.

Reports of an Indian uprising near Brainerd were received in 1872, and Col. Bunker led a company of about fifty men into the woods north of that place. Reaching a swamp supposed to be a scene of the outbreak, the soldiers found only a bevy of squaws and children picking blueberries, and the revolt was turned into a joke. Col. Bunker was 77 years old, a native of New York, and had been employed in the Northern Pacific general offices.

MARKET HAS A REACTION

Wheat Trading Is Nervous, and Close Lower on Day's War News.

Flaxseed Operations Quiet and Narrow; Closing Prices Are Slightly Off.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 17.—The market turned weak again at the close. September wheat closed 1¾c off; December 1⅞c off, and May 1½c off. September durum closed 1¾c off; October 1⅝c off; November ½c off, and December 2c off.

Oats closed 1c off at 46¼c for on the track. Rye closed 1c up at 88@89c. Barley closed unchanged at from 52@60c.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ⅝c up at 49c, and December ⅞c up at 49c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at $1.07¼, and calls at $1.11½ bid.

The wheat market moved sharply up and down today on the varying war rumors. Fractional weakness was shown at the opening as a result of the heavy receipts at the primary markets, amounting to 3,174,000 or 1,400,000 bu more than last year. Then on the intimation that the kaiser had expressed himself as willing to consider offers of peace mediation conditionally, quotations receded around 2½c. Later on a denial of that story, the market rebounded to around its opening figure in the near option.

The strong milling demand was a feature of the trading, there being advices to the effect that the Northwestern mills are buying wheat liberally in the Southwest to cover export contracts booked during the last couple of days. Foreign inquiry for oats was on even a more extended scale. Chicago operators reported sales on that market aggregating 1,500,000 bu in the last two days, and big business was also advised at the seaboard.

While no export sales of wheat were reported by Duluth operators, that trade at Winnipeg was said to have been on an extended scale. It is said that dealers up there are endeavoring to force as large a tonnage as possible out before the close of navigation, and consequently some concessions are being made. Winnipeg quotations now range about 2c under Duluth, whereas last week they were on a parity.

Receipts at Duluth, Minneapolis and Winnipeg today aggregated 2,637 cars, or an increase of 661 cars from last year.

Loading at the local elevators is now fairly brisk, there being steamers under the spouts today for 805,000 bu of grain, while in addition 1,276,000 bu have been loaded but not yet reported out of stocks during the last few days.

September wheat opened unchanged at $1.13 and at the noon hour it stood ½c higher after having sold off to $1.09¾. December opened unchanged at $1.13, sold off to $1.10¾, and recovered 1¾c of the decline. May opened unchanged at $1.19½ and weakened ⅝c.

September durum opened unchanged at $1.04 and sold off ¾c. October opened unchanged at $1.04½, and declined ⅜c. November opened unchanged at $1.05, and weakened ½c. December opened ⅛c off at $1.06¾ and declined ¾c more.

Quiet Flax Trading.

Flaxseed trading was again dull and narrow. With the light receipts, offerings were limited, and crushers were only in the market for small lots. The trade is said to be sitting tight pending developments in the linseed oil situation and to enable them to gain a better estimate as to the effect of the war upon the consumption of flaxseed products. Final prices showed recessions of ½@1c in the day.

September flax closed ½c off at $1.51 asked. October opened unchanged at $1.53, and closed ⅜c off at $1.52½. November opened unchanged at $1.56, and closed ½c off at $1.54½ bid. December opened unchanged at $1.55½ and closed 1c off at $1.54½.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 1⅛c off at $1.30⅛ bid. November closed at $1.32½ bid, and December at $1.34½ asked.

Lewis wired Baker from Minneapolis: "I hear there is a better demand for flour from abroad. Cables the last two days are coming equal to 4c a bu higher for wheat, with prospects of good business on any decline."

At Minneapolis the cash market was firm with good local and outside milling demand. Elevators were good buyers. No 1 northern blue stem sold at ½c to 1c under December with a few choice cars at the December price. Velvet chaff sold at 1½@2c under. Flour sales were reported just fair by mills, but shipping directions are improving. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.09 to $1.10½ and No. 2 northern at from $1.05 to $1.07½. Stocks of wheat have increased 1,600,000 bu in the last five days.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Steadiness in America and firmer American and Canadian wheat offers stimulated renewed firmness here and opening was ½d to 1d higher; following the opening there was a further hardening, and prices gained another ½d. There is a better general inquiry and Canadian offers are very firm, and it is evident that all offers are being more firmly held. There continues a good demand from millers and absorption is on a large scale.

"Corn opened with a steady tone, and offers were lighter. Spot wheat was firm, 1 to 1½d higher. Corn was steady with Plate ½d higher."

A Liverpool cable said: "The principal reason for the hardening tendency of foreign markets is due to the large demand from millers and the diminution in the offers from North America. American farmers will not be disposed to sell freely from now on, and when the demand from these countries which have been backward in purchasing commences, it will militate for an upward movement in prices."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Recover After Early Dip Resulting From Selling Drive.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Wheat prices recovered today from an early dip that resulted from a selling drive by pit speculators. Resting orders from commission houses absorbed the offerings and when shorts attempted to cover it was found that the market was virtually bare of any floating supply.

After opening ¼c up values declined all around, but then made a recovery in full.

Subsequent reports that the German emperor had conditionally accepted President Wilson's second offer of mediation led to a decided break. Rallies later failed to hold. The close was unsettled ⅛@2c under last night.

Corn swayed with wheat. Business was of only a scattering character. The opening which ranged from 1⅞c off to ¼c advance, was followed by an upturn that offset most of the loss.

Renewal of peace talk brought about fresh weakening of the market. The close was nervous at 1⅜@1⅝c net decline.

Oats trading was not nearly as broad as the rule has been of late. The curtailment of demand led to a moderate setback in prices.

Higher values for hogs lifted the provision market. There was a rise of 5c to 25c but not all of the gains were held.

MINING, BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL NEWS

MAY REOPEN RATE CASE

Railroads Think War Conditions Warrant New Request for Advance.

Cost Holds Roads Off—Trying Also to Advance Passenger Rates.

Steps to reopen the freight rate case are now being taken by the fifty-two Eastern railroads interested.

Railroad managements consider that the outbreak of the European war and the consequent disarrangement of export shipments, affords them an opportunity to make out a case that the interstate commerce commission would be unable to ignore. It is contended that with the prospective tariff increase which was given as one of the reasons for refusing the application of the Eastern trunk lines deferred, the roads have a strong plea for consideration.

Unoer present conditions, hopes are entertained in some quarters that the commission might be persuaded to accept a petition on the 5 per cent basis of advance on the schedules already filed. It is claimed that if 5 per cent was necessary as a flat advance three years ago, 10 per cent would not be too much now.

The cost of filing new schedules, would, it is estimated, cost the fifty-two roads interested in the recent rate case approximately $1,600,000. Officials are endeavoring to find a way of getting their case before the commission again without going to that expense. In the meantime efforts are being made to advance passenger rates wherever state laws will permit it.

As has been previously intimated, Western railroads hope to have their petition for a freight advance before the interstate commerce commission within a short time. It is thought improbable that a straight advance of 5 or 10 per cent will be asked for, but that a request will be preferred for a revision of the rates on certain commodities in which the schedules are believed to be unduly low. An effort will be made to secure the cutting out of free switching and other services now being accorded [illegible] interests.

JOBBERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Duluth Wholesalers' Trade Is Showing Improvement in All Lines.

Quotations in Most Staples Have Steadied Down After War Flurry.

Conditions in Duluth wholesale and manufacturing circles are regarded as exceptionally promising. All the local establishments are said to be obtaining a good volume of business as a result of covering their grounds more closely.

With the high grain prices ruling this fall, it is said that the returns for the season's crops promise to be so liberal that the business outlook in the Northwest is regarded as distinctly optimistic. Considerable money has been distributed as the result of grain marketings so far, and that is being reflected in improved collections.

Grocery Prices Steady.

Trade in grocery staples and features is being well maintained, according to the Barthe-Martin company of this city, and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior. No special price changes have come about during the last few days, and while the market is steady in most products, it is to be noted that there have been some recessions from a number of the quotations set immediately after the outbreak of the war six weeks ago. Sugars are unchanged with $7.25 per 100 pounds the ruling jobbers' figure at New York. Rolled oats are now selling on the highest basis in several years. They are up again this week, 25 cents in cases or 40 cents a barrel in bulk.

Canned and dried fruits have shown a weak tendency all through this season, due to the good yields of fruits in all sections of the country. A heavy call for the cheaper grades of canned fruits is reported, making it difficult to dispose of the more expensive products. New canned vegetables are beginning to come in, and figures in some lines are up slightly. It is mentioned for example, that string beans are estimated to be only about a 70 per cent crop in the East. Coffees are still weak, following the increased dumping of the Brazilian product on the American markets owing to the marked cutting off of the European demand. Supplies of teas in the hands of the large jobbers are said to be heavy and their quotations are also weakening.

Big Drop in Rubber.

A heavy drop in many lines of rubber goods is a feature of the hardware trade this week. That has resulted in the offering down of Para raw rubber in this country through the cutting off of the demand from Europe where the bulk of it had been previously marketed. Raw rubber is now selling in the East at 77 cents a pound, whereas the normal figure for it had been around $1.25 and $1.30.

The two Duluth jobbing establishments, the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and the Kelley-How-Thomson company, aver that price lists in iron and steel products are firm, with the prospects thought to favor a higher range in some lines. That is leading retailers through the West to anticipate their requirements as far as possible. The demand for linseed oil is said to be about normal for the season, and prices in it are steady. Outside of lumbermen's supplies in which there has been a falling off in demand, hardware jobbers sales are bulking up satisfactorily.

Drygoods Trade Active.

Trade in drygoods was reported good all round by F. A. Patrick & Co. Current business is bulking up nicely, and salesmen who are now on the road with their new samples are booking good orders for spring delivery. Shipments of woolen are now going out freely to all sections of the west and some orders for additional lines are coming to hand.

Furniture Sales Increase.

"Business has shown marked improvement with us during the last ten days," said C. E. DeWitt of the DeWitt-Seitz company. "The gain from over North Dakota and the Western ground has been the most noticeable. In order to cover the territory more closely, we have put an additional salesman on in North Dakota. We have found the Duluth & Iron Range railroad ground, and sections of Northern Michigan good of late. The Northern Wisconsin field is also developing rapidly. The company's shipments both of general furniture and mattresses are showing an increase over last year at this time, Mr. DeWitt averred.

Shoe Factory Busy.

The Northern Shoe company advised that its travelers are booking a gratifying volume of orders in footwear over the entire territory through to the far west. Current orders are good, and taken on the whole, the outlook for the season is regarded as satisfactory all round. Its factory is working to capacity and more operatives are being employed than a year ago.

NEW YORK BOND MATTER IS HELP

Financial World Will Benefit From the Proposed Payment.

Leading Eastern financiers consider that the arrangements, now practically completed to pay the New York city bonds amounting to $100,000,000 in full at maturity, have already had a remarkable influence in improving the foreign exchange situation. It is thought that the payment of these bonds at this time will attract foreign investors to American securities more strongly than anything that has taken place in a generation.

Hopes are now entertained that means will be found to reopen the New York exchange and considerable pressure is being exerted towards that end. A committee of seven, representing large bond houses, has been appointed and it has now under consideration a plan whereby trading in securities under certain restrictions, may be permitted. It is contended that there is no reason why the domestic side of the investment situation should be forced to suffer indefinitely.

Discussing the general outlook, Heydon, Stone & Co. of Boston say:

"Various plans, several of them quite plausible, have been suggested for the reopening of the exchange. As a matter of fact, an advance in railroad rates would go farther toward permitting the reopening of the market than any other one thing, after, of course, international financial conditions become normal. Railroad stocks constitute much the largest of any one class of American securities held abroad, probably a majority of the whole. If the exchange were to reopen now, undoubtedly there would be great pressure to sell these railroad stocks, largely because of the severe decline in earnings and the consequent doubt of the ability to continue the present rate of dividends indefinitely.

"On the other hand, if action were taken to secure these dividends, this, together with the example of the payment of the New York city bonds, would minimize the desire to sell. After all, these stocks are held mostly by individuals, and if the dividend rate is assured, where could they place the money to better advantage after selling these stocks?"

FARMERS HOLDING FOR BETTER PRICES

Even Big Bulge in Wheat Did Not Tempt Many to Sell.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports of bankers of the state show lower deposits now than at the corresponding period a year ago, the condition being due, it is maintained, to the fact that farmers are not selling their grain freely at the present high prices, but are holding for even a higher figure, which they believe will come with the continuance of the European war.

Threshing Well Along.

The bankers report that the farmers have their threshing nearly completed, but that they show little disposition to sell. This week's slump in wheat, followed by the strengthening in the price during the last two days, had a tendency to cause the unloading of a portion of the holdings, but the movement is not very extensive.

RAILROADS

INCREASE IN SOO STOCK

Road's Stockholders Authorize Provision for More Extensions.

Stock to Issue as Work Progresses—Two Extensions Financed.

Two important extensions of the Soo road have been made possible by the stockholders of the system at the recent annual meeting, approving the change of capitalization of the road from $42,000,000 to $63,000,000, and giving the directors a free hand as to the disposition of the new issue by sale and as to amounts as the work progresses. The extensions thus made possible are known as the Flaxton-Whitetail and the Plaza-Fairview. No stock will be sold at present, but President Edmund Pennington, in an interview, pointed out that the constructive policy of the road, which has been a feature for ten years, is far from being abandoned. Continued new construction, he assures the public, will make the road still more of a prominent figure in the Northwest and its development, as the latest action would indicate.

The Thief River Falls to Kenmare line, the new line from Minneapolis to Duluth and the connection from Plummer to Moose Lake, were followed by the announcement of the western extensions from Plaza and Ambrose. The Ambrose line will run parallel to the Canadian boundary and across Montana just below the international line to Whitetail, which is as far west in Montana as Miles City. Fifteen new stations are to be operated between Flaxton and Whitetail. The Plaza extension will start, not from Plaza, but from Makoti, will cross the Missouri and go west to the Yellowstone and across that river to Fairview. The Ambrose extension plans are complete but the details of the Makoti extension have not been so fully worked out.

No Change in Policy.

Notwithstanding the conditions of the last year, which have been unfavorable for railroad building, and the European war and unsettled money markets, the constructive policy of the company has not been changed. The pushing of work aggressively for completion of the Makoti and Ambrose extensions will begin at such time as conditions warrant.

The Ambrose extension will make possible a connection with the Canadian Pacific at some point north of Whitetail or further west, in addition to the existing connection at Portal, N. D. A map attached to the annual report shows the importance of these two extensions and the new country they will open.

DUNN COUNTY NOW IS ON RAILROAD.

Halliday, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dunn county at last has a railroad. The extension of the Northern Pacific branch into this county makes a railroad into every county of North Dakota. McKenzie got a railroad last year and the steel has just been laid into Dunn county. There was a great deal of rejoicing among the residents of the county over the arrival of the road. It will be extended as far as Dunn Center the proposed new county seat, and may possibly be built eight miles further to Killdeer. A proper celebration of the completion of the road will be made by citizens of Dunn county some time this fall. An effort is being made to have representatives of the state government here for addresses. Head officials of the Northern Pacific will undoubtedly be present.

WILL PROBE CAUSE OF HUNTER'S DEATH

Friends of Carl Anderson Demand Grand Jury Investigation.

The grand jury now in session at the courthouse will begin an investigation tomorrow into the death of Carl Anderson, who was killed while hunting near his home at Tower about a year ago. Anderson was found dead having been shot through the head.

Two inquests have been held in Anderson's case, but some of his friends are still unsatisfied and demand an investigation by the grand jury. Several witnesses will be on hand tomorrow to offer testimony, and it is said that some of them will try to prove he was the victim of foul play.

The jury is expected to make a report on several cases tomorrow, which it has been considering for the last few days. An unusually large number of cases have been brought before the jury during the present session, and it is believed that the number of indictments will break all previous records for St. Louis county.

CONTRIBUTE $100 TO CANADIAN RELIEF FUND

Clan Stewart last night voted to appropriate $100 as its share of the fund being raised by the royal clan as a donation to the Canadian National Relief fund for families of Canadian soldiers who have gone to the European war. Collections of funds from individual members will also be made by Clan Stewart officers. A committee, headed by Simon Clark, was appointed at last night's meeting to wait on Harry Lauder, when he comes to Duluth, for the purpose of making him a member of the clan. He will be here the latter part of October.

Seventeen watch charms were distributed among the members of the clan who took part in the recent contest in which the clan won the membership prize from the royal clan for the first six months of the year. The clan also received a cash prize of $60, the money and the watch charms coming from the royal clan. Past Royal Chief Simon Clark made the presentation.

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE.

Eva McGillivary Declares Husband Has Deserted Her.

Charging desertion, cruelty and habitual drunkenness against her husband, Albert McGillivary, Eva McGillivary brought action for divorce and the custody of their child in district court today.

The plaintiff declares in the complaint that she was married to the defendant Oct. 23, 1909, at Butte, Mont., and that they lived there together as man and wife until July, 1913, when the defendant without reason deserted her and went to Alaska.

She declares that her husband is unfit to care for their child, and asks to have him placed in her custody and care.

Wants Estate Probated.

Elizabeth Gray filed a petition in probate court yesterday afternoon asking letters testamentary and admission of the last will and testament of her husband, James M. Gray. She states that her husband died Sept. 5, leaving an estate in St. Louis county valued at $15,000. The widow, a brother, a sister, and a niece of the deceased are named as devisees in the will. All of the legatees live in Rice Lake town.

ONE PUBLIC; ONE "B. C. D."

Public Meeting of Commission Lasts But Five Minutes.

Private Meeting Lasts Better Part of the Morning.

The city council had two meetings this morning. One was a star chamber session behind the closed doors of the mayor's office which consumed the better part of the forenoon and the other was a public meeting which lasted about five minutes.

During the private meeting a number of people waited about the city hall to see various commissioners but at the public meeting no one was present, those who had come to the building having tired of waiting.

The public meeting was called to pass the payroll of the men who are engaged in paving West Michigan street, Piedmont avenue and West Superior street between Twelfth and Fifteenth avenues. It amounted to $2,221.09. An ordinance appropriating $128 from the revolving fund to pay for a sewer easement across lot 230, block 60, Duluth proper, Second division, was started. The ordinance appropriating $85,800 for the construction of the West Duluth unit of the lighting plant was given its second reading.

What transpired at the B. C. D. (behind closed doors) meeting is unknown, except what was gathered in a general way afterwards. The commissioners said that most of the time had been spent in considering public improvements coming under the direction of Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the division of public works. They stated that they pertained to the street paving program for next year, including Oneota street and West Third street, but that no definite conclusions were reached. It was stated that no mention was made of the electric lighting question. But whatever topics were being discussed they were of sufficient importance to engage the consideration of four of the five members of the city council until 11:30. Commissioner Merritt was absent.

RAPID STRIDES OF THE "MOVIE" BUSINESS.

Henry W. Lanier in The World's Work: The business aspect of the motion picture has changed considerably with the sudden increase in cost of studios and accessories, the higher prices paid authors and actors, the exacting public demand for absolute realism at any price. A few years ago, the "plant" represented only a very few thousand dollars; authors who got $35 for a scenario or play were the "best sellers" of the profession; and regular actors would starve rather than make a couple of dollars a day before the camera. Now a producer would be hopelessly handicapped without a studio costing, when completely fitted up, $10,000 to $20,000 (the Edison building alone is 100 feet long, has a tank for aquatics holding 130,000 gallons of water, and cost $100,000—a wonderful contrast to the crude little "Black Maria" in which their first films were made), prices of $200 for plays are not rare any more—and the new element of 10 per cent royalty, especially on novels, is coming in; and John Bunny, the star actor of the Vitagraph, gets a salary of $15,000 a year for his motion picture work, with enough time left to himself to draw big sums from the vaudeville houses.

City clerk submitted affidavit showing service upon J. W. Irwin, of resolution of the city council passed Sept. 8, 1914, citing him to appear at this meeting of the council to show cause why his license to sell intoxicating liquors at No. 320 West Superior street should not be revoked.

The attorneys for Mr. Irwin submitted the following objections to the sufficiency of the notice as served upon him, citing him to appear to show cause why his license to sell intoxicating liquors at No. 320 West Superior street, Duluth, Minnesota, should not be revoked.

First. That the grounds of revocation stated in said notice are not sufficient to sustain the revocation of said license of respondent, under the laws of the state of Minnesota and ordinances of the city of Duluth, or either of the same.

Second. That there are no facts indicating want of good moral character alleged in paragraph number 1 of said notice.

Third. That want of good moral character as attempted to be defined and limited in paragraph number 1 of said notice is not such as is contemplated by the ordinances of said city of Duluth, as a ground of a revocation of a liquor license.

Fourth. That the allegations contained in paragraph number 2 of said notice are insufficient to charge or constitute the keeping of an unlicensed drinking place within the meaning of the ordinance referred to in said paragraph.

Fifth. That in any case the violation of the ordinances mentioned in paragraph 2 of said notice is not legal cause for the revocation of a liquor license.

COMFORT.

Popular Magazine: Mike, who was out of a job, sat under a tree and smoked his pipe, as he watched Jerry O'Toole wielding a pick under the blaze of an August sun. Jerry was using the pick on a railroad cut, and the watchfulness of his foreman was such that he found few opportunities to interrupt the ceaseless rise and fall of his implement.

Mike watched and smoked, thinking with pride of the industry of the Irish race.

"Holy Mother!" Jerry exclaimed, taking advantage of a momentary lapse in the foreman's attention. "This is the hardest job I ever tackled."

"G'wan!" said Mike, leisurely blowing out a wiff of smoke. "Sure, and it's an easy job."

"Easy!" shouted Jerry. "It's hard and it's hot! Bedad, the thermometer's a 112 in the shade!"

Mike let another whiff of smoke curl from his sensitive lips.

"What's that to you?" he asked carelessly. "You don't have to work in the shade, do you?"

AMERICANS ARE HEAVILY INSURED.

Philadelphia Record: That Americans carry a total insurance on their lives of $34,000,000,000 was the statement made by Charles Nesbit, superintendent of insurance, in an address before the Young Men's Christian association. Nesbit said there were two divisions of life insurance companies. He said the old-time companies have outstanding 24,552,343 policies, while the fraternal concerns have outstanding certificates numbering 7,594,981.

"Insurance is a social co-operative provision for individual provision. Technically this substitution of social effort for individual effort is known as the theory of distribution of losses and the subsequent elimination of risk. The importance of insurance may be measured somewhat by its extent."

REPORTS INDICATE THAT GERMAN ARMIES HAVE AGAIN BEGUN AN OFFENSIVE MOVEMENT

PRESIDENT WILSON HAS LITTLE HOPE OF PEACE AT PRESENT

Unofficial Exchanges With Warring Nations Leads to This Belief.

Executive Feels His Hands Are Tied Under Present Conditions.

Anxious to Avoid Entangling United States in Any Way.

Washington, Sept. 18.—President Wilson sees little prospect of peace in Europe reflected in the unofficial exchanges which American ambassadors have been conducting with Germany, Great Britain, France and Russia.

This was learned today at the White House following a careful study of the message which Ambassador Gerard cabled giving his recollection of an informal conversation with the imperial German chancellor.

Hands Are Tied.

Until something more tangible and more definite in the way of overtures comes from the belligerents the president feels that his hands are virtually tied. To undertake to elicit terms from Great Britain, France and Russia, as Germany suggested, would place the president, he believes, in a delicate po-

GOVERNMENT CAN CONTROL WIRELESS

Attorney General Makes Report on Legality of Case.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Censorship of wireless mesages by the Federal government is legal, according to an opinion by Attorney General Gregory, received today by Secretary Daniels. The attorney general gives several citations of law to back up the opinion, but his main contention is upon the right of the government to use every means at its command to preserve neutrality in war times. To preserve neutrality, the opinion says, the government has the right even to make use of the armed forces of the United States.

The legal right of the government to exercise a censorship was raised by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company of America. All wireless plants are affected by the opinion.

HORSESHOES BY THE MILLION FOR EUROPE.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 18.—Six million horseshoes packed in 100 cars are being prepared in Pittsburg mills for shipment early next week to France and Russia. With them will go a large consignment of horseshoe nails and toe pieces. One mill has been working day and night to fill its part of the order, and other mills are preparing to fill demands made upon them by Austrian customers, a direct result of the European war.

PARLIAMENT IS PROROGUED

Unusual Enthusiasm Displayed in the Staid Legislative Chambers.

Cheers Greet Notice of Royal Assent to Irish Home Rule.

London, Sept. 18.—Enthusiasm unusual in the staid legislative chambers of Westminster palace was displayed today when the two houses of parliament were prorogued.

While King George was absent inspecting the troops, his speech was read in the house of lords by Viscount Haldane, the lord high chancellor, and in the house of commons by John H. Whitley, deputy speaker.

When the announcement was made in the house of lords that the royal assent had been given to the Irish home rule and the Welsh church disestablishment suspensory bill and to a number of emergency measures, cheers were given for the passing of the Irish and Welsh bills.

Break Into Cheers.

On the announcement of the passage of the Irish home rule bill, in the house of commons the Nationalists and Liberals broke into loud cheers

BIG TRAINING SHIP FOUNDERS AT SEA

Twenty-One Members of Crew of the Fishguard II Are Drowned.

London, Sept. 18.—The admiralty announces that the training ship Fishguard II, formerly the battleship Erebus, foundered during a gale in the English channel and that twenty-one members of her crew were drowned. At the time of the disaster the Fishguard II was being towed.

The Fishguard foundered off Portland as she was being towed by tugs through a heavy sea. Forty-four of the crew were rescued by the tugs.

The sailors were landed here. The crew was composed mostly of dockyard workers. The vessel was outward bound from Portland, when she struck rough weather. In the storm some of her heavy equipment became loosened, giving her a heavy list.

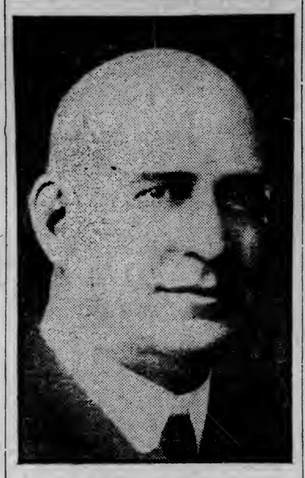

The Fishguard turned back in an effort to make port but rolled over in sight of hundreds of spectators ashore when she reached Portland Race. Rescue work was hampered by heavy seas.

GERMANS SLOWLY GAINING GROUND

Report From Berlin Says Enemy's Resistance Is Relaxing.

Berlin, Sept. 18, via London, 12:12 p. m.—The following official announcement was made at headquarters of the general staff, the evening of Sept. 17:

"No decision yet has resulted in the battle between the Oise and the Meuse, but certain signs indicate that the power of resistance of the enemy is relaxing.

"The endeavor of the French troops to break through the German right wing collapsed without any great effort on the part of our troops.

"The center of the German army is gaining ground slowly but surely.

"On the right bank of the Meuse the allies from Verdun have been easily repulsed."

GERMANS ATTACK AN AFRICAN POST.

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Sept. 18, via London, 1:15 p. m.—A force composed of 250 Germans, together with three Maxim guns, attacked the British post at Nakob Thursday. The garrison consisted of seven policemen, who fought until their ammunition was exhausted. Those who had not been killed were taken prisoners.

CRY FOR HELP COMES FROM BELGIANS WHO ARE VICTIMS OF WAR

HIGH PRAISE FOR WILSON

President Warmly Indorsed By Illinois Democrats in Convention.

Republicans and Progressives Are Also Holding State Meetings.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 18.—Indorsement of President Wilson for a second term was expected at the Democratic state convention here today.

Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic candidate for the United States senate from Illinois, and Governor Edward F. Dunne, defended the policies of the Wilson administration and sounded the party slogan of "Peace, Prosperity and Progress."

In his speech Mr. Sullivan advocated the merchant marine, pledged his aid for good roads improvement and the passing of laws to "stop the criminal practices of 'big business'." He asserted that the United States was at peace because of "the vision, the justice and the courage" of Woodrow Wilson.

Governor Dunne, J., accepting the chairmanship of the convention, pointed to the tariff act, the currency law, the income tax law as accomplishments of the national administration. Of its attitude toward Mexico he said:

"It has given the finest exhibition of national restraint under provocation that the world has ever seen."

Speaking of the new peace treaties he referred to Mr. Bryan as "our great secretary of state," and added "We Democrats here in Illinois are now faced with the duty of sustaining that splendid administration in its splendid work."

Congressman Rainey, as temporary chairman, predicted continued political victories for the Democrats because of the party's administrative and legislative record.

The orator asserted that Mr. Wilson was the greatest president in half a century.

Republicans Gather.

Wife of Belgian Minister Reaches New York to Appeal to Americans.

Thousands Are Without Homes or Clothing and Become Wanderers.

Lands Ravished By Horrors of War Without Fault of Their Own.

New York, Sept. 18.—Mme. Vandervelde, wife of the Belgian minister of state, reached New York today aboard the Cretic with an appeal to the men and women of America for aid for the people of Belgium, whose homes have been laid waste by war.

Mme. Vandervelde was ill when the vessel docked and declined to see interviewers, but from her cabin she sent the following statement:

"Mme. Vandervelde, wife of the Belgian minister of state, has come to the United States from Antwerp to appeal to the generosity of the great American democracy on behalf of her countrymen—men and women—whose land has been ravished by the horrors of war through no fault of their own, and thousands of whom are now destitute. Thousands have lost all they had, land,

JAPS DROP BOMBS ON GERMAN SHIPS

Reconnoiter Made Over Kiao-Chow Bay By Officers in Seaplane.

Tokio, Sept. 18.—Vice Admiral Sadakichi Kato, commander of the second Japanese squadron, it is officially announced, reports under date of Sept. 17 that in a reconnoiter by seaplane over Kiao-Chow bay, the day before, bombs were dropped toward the enemy's ships in the harbor, the wireless station and the electric motor house. One bomb was seen to strike a large ship from which smoke curled up.

ADVANCE IS SAID TO HAVE BEEN REPULSED

As Usual, Public of Germany, France and England Has Only Meager News From Front.

Battle Raging With Great Fierceness All the Way From Near Noyon to Fortress of Metz.

ADVANCE REPULSED.

Paris, Sept. 18, 3:09 p. m.—The allies have progressed somewhat on their western wing and are repulsing a vigorous German offensive movement, according to an official announcement made this afternoon by the French war department.

London, Sept. 18, 1 p. m.—As has been the case heretofore, when the struggle along the vast battle line in France has been most acute, the public in Germany, as well as in France and England, has been forced to content itself with the most meager news of the progress of military operations. Experience has shown that extended statements are issued only after the retirement or the temporary defeat of one army or the other.

The information this morning sets forth laconically that the battle is raging with great fierceness along the whole front, which extends, roughly speaking, from the river Oise near Noyon, to the German fortress of Metz; but, barring a slight retirement of the German right wing at certain points, no decided advantage is credited to either side.

AIM OF ALLIES.

Presumably the efforts of the allies have been divided into three supreme struggles; first, to dislodge the Germans from the heights of the Aisne; second, to break through the fourth and fifth German armies at the center; third, to outflank the German right under Gen. von Kluck. The position of the fourth and fifth German armies is considered not so strong as the remainder of the line, while if the flanking movement is successful, the railroad lines on which the Germans depend would be cut.

While the next move of either army is a matter of speculation, the press of London dwells today upon the possibility that the Germans are striving only to hold the strong positions they have now assumed with the view of keeping the allies at bay and thus affording Emperor William opportunity to rush more troops to his Eastern frontier.

Another Aggressive Movement.

On the other hand it would be no surprise if the Germans, now reinforced, should attempt another aggressive movement similar to the one which the allies inaugurated so successfully after the invaders had exhausted themselves in the avalanche-like rush toward Paris.

The German losses are estimated here at 3,200 daily for the last fortnight. This totals more than 44,000 since Sept. 4. As the losses of the allies are known to have been tremendous and adding the terrible losses suffered by the Austrians in Galicia, some idea may be gained of the extraordinary sacrifices of men during the first few weeks of the modern world's greatest war.

No confirmation has been received here of the reported Servian evacuation of Semlin, nor have the brief dispatches bringing this rumor told whether the Servian retirement was due to strategic reasons, or a result of the onslaughts of the Austrians, aided by the gunboats which are reported to have bombarded both Semlin and Belgrade. All Servian advices insist that the Serbs are continuing their vigorous forward movement.

Talk of Peace Resented.

Even preliminary talk of peace seems to be resented by the British public. While the pact recently signed by the allies insures concerted action, when it comes, in the direction of peace on their part the dispatches from Washington relative to the attitude on peace of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor, as conveyed through the American ambassador at Berlin, together with dispatches from Rome, saying that Austria-Hungary desires peace, have aroused considerable discussion here and editorial articles already have appeared saying that peace on any terms is out of the question until what is styled "the menace of German militarism" is crushed.

The earlier impatience of the British public for news from the front seems now to be more or less reconciled to the enforced necessity of awaiting the official bulletins given out by the press bureau. Dispatches from Berlin say that the German public has been with-

ENDEAVORING TO OUTFLANK GERMANS

Picked Troops From France Have the Task, Says Report.

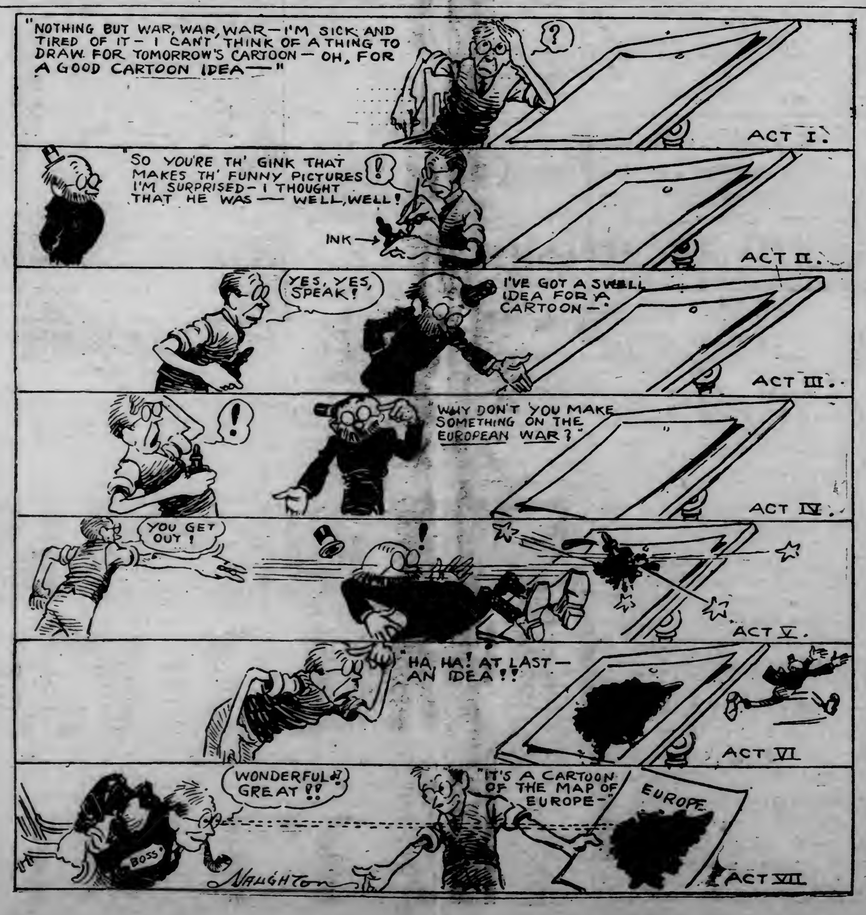

London, Sept. 18.—Describing the battle along the Aisne, a Soissons dispatch says:

"French picked troops with heavy guns are endeavoring to outflank the German positions. A French officer said that the position of the allies was exceedingly good and that the enemy, consisting of three army corps, was in a practically hopeless position, unless they found a way to escape to the northeast. But he admitted that the German position was a strong defensive one.

"The spirit of the men is excellent, despite the heavy rains, continuous marching and the heavy shelling.

"The effect of Gen. French's address to his troops recently when he rode along the whole front was excellent. Words from a silent general have a double value. The troops appreciate deeply his praise and encouragement."

STRENUOUS DAYS FOR THE CARTOONISTS.

CANADIAN STEAMER RAMMED BY COLLIER; FOURTEEN DROWNED

Government Ship Montmagny Sent to Bottom in St. Lawrence River.

Collision Occurs in Dense Fog Twenty-Six Miles From Quebec.

Quebec, Sept. 18.—The Black Diamond collier Lingan rammed and sank the government steamer Montmagny this morning during a fog at Beaujeu banks, below Crane island, in the St. Lawrence river and twenty-six miles from Quebec. Fourteen persons, members of the Montmagny's crew, and the families of two lighthouse keepers aboard the Montmagny, lost their lives.

Second Officer Lachance of the Montmagny was among those who perished. He died with two children in his arms in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue them.

Four More Children Lost.

Mrs. La Vallee, wife of the lighthouse keeper at Flower island, and her four children were lost.

Mrs. Richards, wife of a lighthouse keeper at Belle Isle, and her seven children were aboard the Montmagny. How many of them were saved was not known this morning.

Survivors were picked up by the steam collier Potana and taken to Grosse Isle. The government boat Alice was ordered to bring them from Grosse Isle to Quebec.

The Montmagny was on her way from Quebec to the gulf of St. Lawrence and the straits of Belle Isle, Nfld. She had aboard a cargo of coal and provisions for wireless stations and signal service stations along the coast.

CONDENSED NEWS OF THE WAR

An official statement issued at Berlin says the battle between the Oise and Meuse rivers continues with sure indications that the allies are failing back. It is declared that the French attempt to cut through the German right wing failed and a sortie from Verdun on the right bank of the Meuse was repulsed. The German army is said to be advancing slowly but surely. This statement evidently was issued late yesterday, as the substance of it was received in this country under date of Sept. 17.

It was announced officially in Paris at 3 o'clock this afternoon that the allies had progressed somewhat. The western wing was declared to have repulsed a vigorous German offensive.

In proroguing parliament today, King George said he was compelled to go to war for the protection of the public law of Europe and the vital interests of the empire, and that, fighting for a worthy purpose, Great Britain would not lay down her arms until that purpose had been fully achieved.

Austrian advices report that the Servians have evacuated Semlin, the town which they seized when they began their invasion of Hungary. Servian reports are to the effect that their successes continue.

The Germans, successful in driving the Russian invaders from East Prussia, are reported pushing their way into Russian Poland. The Austrian armies, following their disastrous clash with the Russians in Galicia, are believed to be attempting to reform at Cracow.

A dispatch from Cettinje says the Montenegrins have been received with enthusiasm by the inhabitants of the Austrian province of Bosnia.

EGYPT WILL BE CROWDED

No Vacant Houses in Egyptian City at Curling Rink.

Last Booth Disposed of and Exhibits Are Being Installed.

All buildings in the Egyptian city, the setting for the industrial division of the exposition at the curling rink next week, have now been assigned. The Egyptian city is like the modern city of Duluth—no vacant buildings.

With comparatively little time for a difficult work, the exhibitors' committee, headed by C. A. Graves, has conducted a whirlwind canvass and has obtained occupants for all of the sixty-one buildings. Some of the space will not be utilized by the purchasers, having been donated to public institutions for displays of their work, but those exhibits will be fully as interesting as those made by the manufacturers.

From now on exhibitors and the exposition committee will work night and day getting the big building in shape for the opening next Monday noon. When the doors are thrown open, everything will be in shape. Duluth people will find many surprises in the big exposition building.

The Tower of Light, one of the decorative features that is certain to attract great attention, is about in place. It will tower from the floor to the beams of the exposition building, and will be lighted by 2,000 incandescent globes and will vie with the arc lights in illuminating the scene. Charles Josten, the installer of the setting, has about completed the primary work and is now assisting exhibitors in placing their decorations.

In the agricultural department some of the exhibits are being put in place. Perishables will not arrive at the rink until Monday morning, and the livestock will be put in place at the same time. Indications are that the agricultural exhibit will be the most complete ever assembled in Duluth and will be a reflection of the progress made in agricultural development in the vicinity of Duluth.

Chairman R. T. Hugo of the parade committee is one of the busiest men in town. He is out to make a record for industrial parades and he has the able assistance of several other members of the general committee. If the weather man is kind, the parade will be one long to be remembered and it is expected everybody in Duluth will be out to see it.

RURAL PUPILS DID GOOD WORK

Prize Winners for County Fair Exhibit Are Announced.

N. A. Young, superintendent of schools for St. Louis county, is very well pleased with the results obtained by pupils who sent exhibits to the county fair at Hibbing. The work this year was far better than ever shown on a similar occasion in this county and in many instances it is believed that the rural pupils excelled pupils of the city schools in painting, drawing and industrial work.

So well pleased is Mr. Young with the result that he is urging every school in the county to have an exhibit next year. The prize winners for different departments follow:

VOSS WILL VOTE "NO"

Opposed to Plan of Constructing a Competing Light Plant.

Would Acquire Property of Edison Company By Condemnation.

Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss is opposed to the program for acquiring a municipal electric light and power plant as proposed by Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utility division, and indorsed by the majority of the council.

The ordinance appropriating $85,800 from the public utility fund, being money of the water and light department, for building the first unit of a competing plant, is due to come up for its third reading and final passage at the regular council meeting next Monday afternoon. If it comes to a vote the finance commissioner will vote "no."

He explains that in his opinion the wrong course is being pursued. He believes that every effort to acquire the plant of the Duluth-Edison company should be made before resort is had to the construction of a competing plant. He says that even though condemnation proceedings could be drawn out in the courts he does not see any serious objection to the loss of a reasonable amount of time. In his estimation the price which would be fixed by the courts would not be much greater, if any, than the sum offered the company by the city. And when the city did secure the property it would have a clear field with all competition eliminated.

In the event that the price might be fixed so high by the courts that the city could not consider it, the finance commissioner points out that the city could then proceed with the construction of a competing plant upon the unit system outlined by Engineers Rittenhouse and Pillsbury, building one at a time. He states that the original plan of the council was to acquire the plant by condemnation proceedings and that it was with that in view that engineers were employed to make a complete valuation of the property of the Duluth-Edison company. He asserts that the more he considers the situation the more he is convinced that no stone should be left unturned to secure the Edison plant, with the unit competing proposition as a later alternative. Commissioner Voss declares that he is in favor of municipal ownership, but that he is obliged to take a position opposed to that of the other commissioners as he is satisfied that the best interests of Duluth would be conserved by proceeding in a different manner.

The utility division is having printed 500 copies of the reports prepared by W. B. Rittenhouse and C. L. Pillsbury, the city's valuation engineers. These will be for general distribution and more can be secured if they are needed. From these reports the public can fully acquaint itself with the valuation figures of the Duluth-Edison property and ascertain the many details entering into it. The engineers made two reports. The first dealt with the physical values and the second with the intangible, or "going values," such as good will and allowance for building up the business. The valuation of the physical property was placed at $907,940.54, while $200,000, or over 20 per cent, was allowed for "going value."

New Autumn Millinery for Young Women

Hundreds of very smart new hats in the autumn fashions at $7.50 to $12.50. Saucy little hats with unexpected quirks and turns and curves. Large hats with sweeping lines that are surprisingly becoming. Smart black velvet hats by hundreds to go with tailored costumes.

Wonderful Showing of Women's New Fall Suits

Moyen Age tendencies are quite definite in the new basque coats, but there are other completely new lines that every woman will want to know.

Just to mention a few—full-skirted coats, 52 inches long, shorter Godet coats, straight box-pleated jackets, broadcloth used for tailored walking suits, furs used with charming effect, high pleated collars and half-long tunics.

They are all copies of French models and the materials are all imported, so that they are authoritative new fashions for Fall. Russian green, Tete de Negre, Copenhagen, navy and black are the leading shades.

First of the Fine Fall Suits for Young Women

Not only are they in charming and fresh array, but they are full of the spirit of Paris and the oncoming season, for their maker is one who catches every breath of fashion as it flies to this side, and puts it most successfully into the kind of clothes that young women like.

Broadcloth in satiny, beautiful shades predominates among the smooth materials used; but there are plenty of rough kinds, too. Tete de Negre, chocolate brown, Russian green and French, navy and Corbeau blue are some of the pretty colors.

Tiered skirts in several new forms, coats short and long, the use of braid in trim, tailored style here and there. All these points give a very distinguished and attractive air to the group. All the materials are imported, which just now makes them important. No two suits are alike. Prices ranging from $18.50 to $48.50.

New Fall Street Dresses—Redingote style and of crow's blue serge, combined with black charmeuse. They have the new basque, buttoning down the front, giving the long, straight silhouette line; and many have charmeuse sleeves, hip girdles or belts, with V necks, relieved with white collars.

Lovely Afternoon Gowns—In black, navy and other popular shades in charmeuse, crepe de chine or taffeta silk. Prices ranging from $18.50 up to $35.00.

S & B Corsets $1.49 (Main Floor.)

BOYS' DEPARTMENT Y. M. C. A. ACTIVITIES

The boys' department of the Young Men's Christian association is making plans for its circus, which is to be staged in the near future, and the boys will rehearse for their clown stunts tonight. Laurence Duby is in charge of the fun-makers, and each boy has been given something definite to do.

The music committee, also, will meet tonight to plan the work for the coming year. The Knights of Sir Galahad will begin their Sunday meetings next Sunday. All boys in Duluth from 12 to 15 years of age are invited. Mr. Lauterbaugh of the central Y. M. C. A. will speak and a musical program has been arranged.

The camp and outing committee met this afternoon and arranged for many enjoyable trips.

DULUTH MEN ATTEND FAIR

The interest of Duluthians and their willingness to co-operate with surrounding towns and communities in promoting agricultural and industrial development was shown again today when the Commercial club sent a delegation by auto and the Duluth & Iron Range road ran a special train from this city to Two Harbors, where the Lake county fair is in progress.

The members of the Commercial club turned out in good numbers for the auto trip and the mayor and other members of the city commission took occasion to attend the fair while transacting business for the city in Lake county. The special train was well filled with Duluthians who were anxious to see the exhibits.

County Agricultural Agent Larson, who attended the Two Harbors fair yesterday, returned filled with enthusiasm over the exhibits and the general makeup of the displays.

Mr. Larson has been to the Minnesota state fair and many smaller fairs this year, but he says the Two Harbors fair compared favorably with any of them in so far as arrangement and proper display was concerned. He was especially well pleased with the fine exhibits of thoroughbred Holstein cattle and the grade Jerseys and Guernseys, which show that the dairy interests of this part of the state are being rapidly and wisely built up. Garden produce of every description and other farm products, he says, were in abundance and of excellent quality. The grain exhibits were small, but this fact was more than offset by the fine exhibits of potatoes, showing that Lake county is forging ahead rapidly in the production of tubers.

DULUTH PEOPLE AT TWO HARBORS.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Iron Range railroad's fair special train from Duluth arrived at 2 p. m. today, bringing seventy-five people to attend the county fair. Twenty automobiles arrived during the day with other Duluthians. The weather this afternoon is cloudy, cool and threatening rain.

COURT OFFICER WILL BE PENSIONED AFTER TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' SERVICE

Edward Jensen, who has been court officer at the central station since March 1, 1894, and who was a member of the West Duluth police force until that section of the city was annexed to Duluth in Jan. 1, 1894, will retire on a pension on Oct. 1. He has been in ill health for some time, and his retirement from active service comes as a result of his inability to attend to his duties. Sergeant David Butchart is slated for the office.

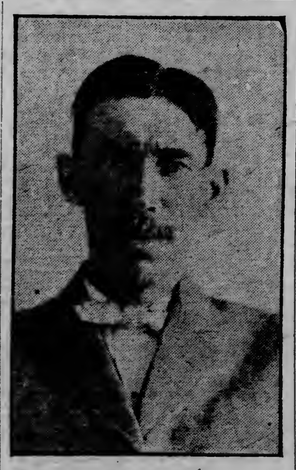

Court Officer Jensen has already made application to Chief Troyer for a pension, and the pension board, which consists of Mayor Prince, Chief Troyer, Gus Lahti, secretary of the Duluth Police Relief association, and two members of the police department, will take the matter up next week. The board is expected to retire the veteran officer on Oct. 1, with a pension of $40 a month until his death.

Chief Troyer has taken no action as yet regarding the vacancy that will occur with Officer Jensen's retirement, but he will appoint Sergeant Butchart to assume the duties of the retired officer. Court Officer Jensen has been ill at his home, 314 South Sixty-first avenue west, for some time, and his duties have been attended to in the meantime by Sergeant Butchart.

With the appointment of Sergeant Butchart as court officer, a vacancy will occur, and as a result Chief Troyer will ask the civil service board to announce a competitive examination for the sergeancy and also one for patrolmen, as the eligible lists have been depleted. The last eligible patrolman was John Hunter, who was appointed sergeant last June.

Court Officer Jensen was first appointed patrolman in the village of West Duluth in March, 1890, and court officer there on March 1, 1892. When West Duluth was annexed to Duluth proper on Jan. 1, 1894, he was appointed patrolman at the central station and three months later was made court officer, which position he has held ever since. He was born on Dec. 11, 1859, in Norway.

Sergeant Butchart was appointed patrolman on Sept. 25, 1899, and on March 1, 1912, was promoted to the sergeantcy.

EDWARD JENSEN,
Court Officer.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Overnight."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and Travel Pictures.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.

Amusement Notes.

Three more performances of "Overnight," the funniest play of the season will be given by the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum theater tonight, tomorrow matinee and tomorrow night.

Next week, the Baldwin Players will present an elaborate production of Harold Bell Wright's "The Shepherd of the Hills."

Occasionally some play strikes a note that rings out clear and true in the midst of the commonplace and impresses its auditor with the thought that it was written not for gain, not for a pastime, but because some man had something to say to other men and he took this means of expression.

"The Shepherd of the Hills," Harold Bell Wright's dramatization of his novel of the same name, is this kind of a play. Mr. Wright had felt the peace and beauty of the hills and he wished to set odown their meaning. He made a play that in plot is compelling, one that never fails in sincerity.

There is the shepherd, the man who came to the hills to learn, and remained to teach; Old Mat, who cherished the memory of a wrong that could never be righted; Young Mat, a Hercules of the hills country, whose strength of heart and soul equalled the strength of his body; Sammy Lane, bright and buoyant with the youth of the hill country, and the other characters that enliven the play with humor.

The scene of the play is in the high hills of the Ozark mountains. The mists of the valleys, the glories of the sunsets, the magnificent vistas from the summits have been brought out by the wonderful ingenuity of the scenic artist.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" will be the attraction all next week, commencing with a matinee Sunday.

Miss Marie Moshier red headedly resents the suggestion that she does not work. Miss Moshier is the red haired leader of the orchestra, who conducts for the red haired chorus of "The Red Heads" at the Orpheum this week. At the special matinee for "red heads" yesterday afternoon, Miss Moshier was the reddest haired red head in the red haired audience, for she takes Mr. Bradbury's place while the red headed headliner is being presented.

Miss Moshier "got red headed" primarily because she bought a wig, but also because somebody intimated that she was only a "picture" in the orchestra pit. For be it known that Miss Moshier is a union musician, and carries a "card" from the Buffalo local, which says she is a duly qualified leader, and has paid her dues in the union to Dec. 1. She plays the organ and piano also, but her business is leading orchestras and bands. She had had her own band, which toured the country, and she is planning to organize another for the Panama exposition. "I can get a women's band easily" said Miss Moshier. "It has already been offered me, but I want to lead a men's band. Men are easier to manage, and know how to obey orders better. So many people think a leader, and especially a woman leader, is just a figurehead. You might as well try to run an engine without an engineer, as an orchestra without a leader."

This week's bill has proven the most popular of the season to date. Elphye Snowden will be next week's headliner.

Lew Dockstader, George Evans and George Primrose would not play at the New Grand on account of the very low charge for admission, but it is doubtful if these high priced minstrels pleased their audiences more than did Carman's minstrels at the New Grand yesterday. For entertainment of this nature it would be hard to beat the work of Jimmy Conely and Sam Carman as end men. Eddie Smith has a sweet tenor voice and Al Trent won much applause for the old song "Hush-a-by Baby." Norine Carman is a stately interlocutor. One of the novelties introduced is a number calling for all the members to walk among the audience. Mme. Helene Hardy in a work called "Great Women, Past and Present," proved to be one of the entertaining acts. Mme. Hardy has a most pleasing personality and is presenting an act that is a pronounced novelty. Her eight characters, the changes, and scenes from the great plays, together with speeches uttered by great women of past and present are an interesting novelty.

Logan and Ferris are two real comics and their work as "Two Old War Dogs" causes hilarious laughter. Their act is very apropos in these times of real war. Billie Noble and Jeanne Brooks do some singing and introduce a smart line of talk of the kind that keeps their audience in very good humor. Manager Salter sprung a surprise on his patrons by introducing the famous photo-play star, Mary Pickford in a play called "Sweet Charity." Her first appearance on the Grandoscope called forth as much applause as though Mary was in the real flesh and blood. Mary Pickford will be seen in two plays each week at the New Grand. George Ade had a corking good fable called "The Honeymoon." The two reel feature was a Lubin play, "The Twin Brothers Van Zant." The Hearst-Selig weekly news events was full of war news and another surprise was the exhibition of twenty-five slides showing some of the army forces of all the nations now engaged in the awful European slaughter. These slides are a fresh importation from Europe and caused much comment. The same program will continue until Sunday night, performances being given daily from 12 noon until 11 p. m. In the future the program at the New Grand will change on Mondays and Thursdays.

The Caruso Trio, suggesting by its title something of the nature of its work, opened the Empress bill yesterday and won no small degree of applause. Arias from the great operas and a large variety of musical numbers were presented by these singers, all of which were pleasing.

The Marlowes put on a contortionist act in an original manner. In addition to a lot of clever stunts, the players have a very attractive setting for their act. Dancing of a clever variety was also introduced.

"Broomsticks" Elliott got a big reception during his stay on the stage. Everything he does is funny and playing on a broomstick fiddle gets the audience going.

Tracey, Goetz and Tracey presented a hodge-podge of funny stunts in the line of dancing and piano playing. Their dance steps were new and cleverly done and their musical stunts called forth roars of laughter.

The motion pictures were good, having plenty of thrills and laughs. "The Broken Barrier" is probably the best of the pictures and proved a big feature.

The present bill will continue at the Empress for the remainder of the week.

GUIRL NOT TO COME TO DULUTH.

The local authorities will not have an opportunity at present to prosecute Harry Guirl, the self-confessed forger, who escaped from the sheriff's office on July 6, last, and who was recently arrested by the William J. Burns detective agency.

Chief Troyer has received word that the prisoner will be tried at Eau Claire, Wis., where he is now in custody, charged with having passed two forged checks there on July 7, the day after the prisoner made his escape from Sheriff Meining's office. A requisition for Guirl has already been made, but the much-wanted fugitive will not be brought to Duluth unless the authorities at Eau Claire fail to convict him on the forgery charge. In that event, he will be turned over to the Duluth police.

Should Guirl be sentenced to the Wisconsin state penitentiary at Waupun, Chief Troyer plans to put in a requisition for the prisoner with the warden, asking that Guirl be turned over to the local police at the expiration of his sentence.

GREAT FIGHT IN PROGRESS

Battle Now Raging of Vital Interest to All the Armies.

Germans Strongly Fortified in Mountains North of the Aisne.

London, Sept. 18.—Another great battle, even more vital for the countries concerned than those which have preceded it is now in progress on a line extending from the region of Noyon, on the river Oise, northwest of Paris, to the river Meuse, north of Verdun. The front is somewhat shorter than was the case in the battle of the Marne but this will result only in a more fiercely contested battle, with masses of troops throwing themselves at each other and every available piece of artillery concentrated in a determined effort of the armies to break through the lines.

The Germans, who, a fortnight ago had to abandon their first swift endeavor to destroy the armies of France and Great Britain and capture Paris, have now fortified themselves on the mountains north of the river Aisne, through the plains of Champagne and in the Argonne mountains through which the Meuse flows. They are in stronger positions than they were for the battle of the Marne and have been strongly reinforced with fresh troops from the north and east. They have attempted some counter-attacks against the allied troops, which flushed with victory, have been trying to prevent them from entrenching themselves.

Opposite Claims.

According to English and French official reports, these attacks have been repulsed and the Germans compelled to give way at certain points, but the German general staff claims the opposite result.

It is certain, however, that the hilly country north of the Aisne offers good ground for such tactics. It would appear that these western wings of the two armies, the German right and the allies' left, are again to bear a heavy part in the fighting. Upon the armies of Gen. Von Kluck and Gen. Von Buelow depends the safety of the rest of the German army, should retreat be decided upon or forced upon them. Besides holding the front, they have to be prepared to withstand another attempt on the part of the allies to outflank them. These German forces hold a position from a point near Noyon on the Oise, along the district north of the Aisne to the junction of the latter river with the Suippes. Behind them are splendid lines of railway running in all directions which facilitate the movement of troops from St. Quentin, Guise and Mezieres. In this respect, therefore, they are well placed.

Bringing in New Troops.

The allies, on the other hand, can, and it is believed they are, bringing in new troops through Rouen and Amiens to threaten the Germans' flank. In fact nearly the whole of Northwest France is now open to the allies, the Germans having withdrawn most of their scattered troops eastward toward the Oise.

Field Marshal Kitchener, secretary of state for war, speaking today with full knowledge of the situation at the front, declared:

"The tide has turned."

So that he, although telling the public that the war will be a long one, appears to be hopeful of the outcome.

The little British army that has fought so long and so hard is looking forward to support from the Indian troops, which should soon be at the side of the Englishmen, if not for the present battle, then for the one which must soon follow it, no matter how it goes.

The French troops, who also occupy a valuable center of occupation at Soissons—the engineers having closely followed the army and repaired the railways—are being reinforced and on the whole, both as to positions and strength of forces, the opposing armies appear evenly matched except for the advantage of the allies in having an army to threaten von Kluck's flank.

Situation Much the Same.

The situation along the rest of the line is much the same. In the center, between Rheims and the Argonne, the Germans continue to fortify themselves, while between Argonne and the Meuse, they are entrenching themselves at Montfaucon.

The French officials warn the public that as the Germans occupy positions prepared for defense and are supported by heavy artillery, any progress must be slow.

The Germans are preparing for every eventuality and are maintaining a force superior to that of the Belgian army in Belgium to cover the retirement of the main army should that become necessary. They are reported to be strengthening the fortifications on the Rhine, where, if necessary, they could continue a long defensive.

All reports from Petrograd and such independent sources as Rome and Bucharest tend to confirm or paint in glowing colors the critical position of the Austrian armies in Galicia. These armies, which set out to arrest the advance of the main Russian army in Germany, have had the tables turned on them by the Russian generals, Ruzsky and Brussiloff, and are threatened with envelopment. Having abandoned Lemberg, they are now leaving Prezemsl behind them and retreating to Cracow. It is said by Russian correspondents that the Austrians have lost all discipline, the aim of the men being to get across the Carpathians. If this is true, their commanders are likely to have difficulty in leading them over 200 miles to Cracow, where they might find support from newly formed German corps, which have assembled there. Besides, they are in danger from the Russian army coming from the north.

Austria Calling More Men.

Austria is calling to the colors all men available for military service, including those previously rejected as unfit. But this can hardly help the army in Galicia, which has, according to Russian reports, suffered terrible losses.

From East Prussia, nothing new has come except a report that the Russian general, Rennenkampf, has frustrated the attempt to outflank him, and that he has taken up positions in line with the fortresses on the Russian side of the border.

In Belgium there has been a continuation of skirmishes which have been a feature of the war since the Germans advanced into France, with advances and withdrawals as daily occurrences. For example, the Germans yesterday reoccupied Termonde, only to leave it this morning.

Besides the eastern portion of the country, the Germans hold the line almost to Tournai, in the department of Hainaut, thus preventing the Belgians from going too far in their harrying tactics on the German troops proceeding into France. Thus far, however, the Belgian army has fulfilled its allotted part by keeping at least one division from going to the assistance of the army on the Aisne.

In Italy the agitation for the participation of the country in the war seems to be on the increase. Italy's position is described as one of armed neutrality to prevent the war from causing her damage and to shape the new situation in conformity with her interests.

Roumania is in much the same position. She does not want to go to war, but at the same time, does not want to lose any share of the spoils that might fall to her.

CRISIS FACED BY GERMAN METHODISM.

New York, Sept. 18.—Methodist congregations in Germany face the necessity of closing nearly one-half of their churches and selling property for whatever it will bring, declares Bishop John L. Nuelsen in a letter received yesterday by the board of foreign missions. "Methodism in Europe," adds the bishop, "has never faced a crisis like this. Unless American Methodists come promptly to the help of their German brethren, great distress may be expected."

HORRIBLE SCENES ON BATTLEFIELDS

Piles of Dead Awaiting Burial or Cremation.

London, Sept. 18.—"The newspaper correspondents describe horrible scenes on the battlefields abandoned by the Austro-German forces last week," says the Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent.

"Streams, they say, were choked full with slain men, trodden down in the headlong flight till the waters dammed and overflowed the banks. Piles of dead are awaiting burial or burning. Hundreds of acres are sown with bodies and littered with weapons and battle debris, while wounded and riderless horses are at large in the abandoned country. An ammunition train captured at Janow, eleven miles northwest of Lemberg, was German, while the guns taken include thirty-six of heavy caliber belonging to the German Sixth army corps.

"The line of retreat of the Austro-German forces was blocked with debris of every kind—valuable military supplies, telephone and telegraph installations, light railway and other stores, bridging material, in fact everything needed by a modern army, was flung away in flight. Over 1,000 wagons with commissariat supplies were captured.

"The Bourse Gazette, which is apparently inspired, declares that Russia will enter into no peace negotiations, direct or indirect, until Prussian militarism is completely crushed."

"ALIEN ENEMIES" IN GREAT BRITAIN

Vast Majority Are Gathered Into Various Detention Camps.

London, Sept. 18.—The number of "alien enemies" in the United Kingdom, which is estimated at from 50,000 to 80,000 including women and children, daily becomes a matter of more concern.

Most of the better class have received police permits to remain at liberty, reporting at stated times to the police stations. Of these many continue in employment, but the discharging of clerks, teachers, governesses and servants of German or Austrian birth is becoming more common as the war feeling grows. The women, who are required to register with the police, are supported by charitable funds or out of the 200,000 marks appropriated by the German government for the relief of subjects in England. But the vast majority of unemployed and penniless, who are a charge on society and a source of concern to the police, have been gathered into various detention camps.

At one of these camps at Aldershot there are over 2,000 inmates. They live in a tent city within a barbed wire enclosure. As an extra inducement to remain inside the barbed wire, the prisoners are deprived of their shoes. Other large camps are at Liverpool and Manchester. It is expected that the prisoners will soon be put to work in the fields, just as all the detained aliens have in Germany.

In the great steel and glass pavilion known as the Olympia, where fashion and nobility gathered for the annual military tournament and the horse show recently, some 600 Germans, Austrians and Hungarians are detained.

The prisoners have plenty of space for exercise, which takes generally the form of children's games. They run after each other and shout like boys in a play yard.

Although the prisoners look the worse for lack of baths and laundries, they are, for the larger part, of the foreign riff-raff of London and are anything but discontented at having a day of liberty with three meals included.

ATTEMPTS MURDER THEN KILLS SELF

Negaunee Man Shoots Sister-in-Law and Commits Suicide.

Negaunee, Mich., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Nesbith, an old resident, shot his sister-in-law, wife of Richard Nesbith, with a rifle here yesterday then killed himself with the same weapon. The brothers had a difference and it is said Frank entered Richard's saloon a few months ago and tried to kill him, but the latter escaped through a rear door. For this act Frank was sent to jail for three months. Since returning he has had a grievance toward his brother and during the latter's absence at Milwaukee yesterday, he fired at his wife with a rifle from a barn, hitting her in the right thigh and the right hand with the same shot. Thinking that he had killed her he then shot himself through the heart. Mrs. Nesbith is in a local hospital in a very critical condition.

OPERATIONS OF BRITISH

Account for Period From Sept. 10 to 13 Is Made Public.

Army Said to Have Made Steady Progress Driving Back Enemy.

London, Sept. 18.—An account of the operations of the British army in France and of the French armies in immediate touch with it during the period of Sept. 10 to 13, written by an officer attached to Field Marshal Sir John French's staff, was issued by the official press bureau. The account says in part:

"Since Thursday, Sept. 10, the British army made steady progress in its endeavor to drive back the enemy in co-operation with the French. The country across which it had to force its way, and will have to continue to do so, is undulating and covered with patches of thick wood.

"The enemy held the line of the Marne river, which was crossed by our forces on Sept. 9, as a purely rear guard operation.

"On Friday, Sept. 11, but little opposition was met with along any part of our front. The day was spent in rushing forward and gathering in various hostile detachments. By nightfall, our forces had reached a line north of the Ourcq river, extending from Ouichy-Le-Chateu to Longpont.

General Advance.

"On this day there was also a general advance of the French along their whole line which ended in a substantial success.

"It was only on this day that the full extent of the victory gained by the allies on Sept. 8 was appreciated, and the morale effect of this success has been enormous. An order dated Sept. 6 and 7, issued by the German commander of the Seventh corps, was picked up. It stated that the object of the war was about to be attained since the French were going to accept battle and that upon the result of this battle would depend the issue of the war, and the honor of the German armies.

"On Saturday, the 13th, the enemy were found to be occupying a very formidable position opposite us on the north of the line at Soissons.

Gain High Ground.

"Working from the west to the east, our Third army corps gained some high ground south of the Aisne, overlooking the Aisne valley to the east of Soissons. Here a long range artillery duel continued until midnight.

"The movement of this army corps was effected in co-operation with the French Sixth army on our left, which gained the southern half of the town during the night.

"At Braisne the First cavalry division met with considerable opposition from infantry and machine guns holding the town and guarding the bridge. With the aid of some of our infantry it gained possession of the town about midday.

"On our right the French reached the line of the river Vesele. On this day began an action along the Aisne which is not yet finished.

"On Sunday, the 13th, extremely strong resistance was encountered along the whole of our front, which was some fifteen miles in length. Some of the actual crossings of the Aisne were guarded by strong detachments of infantry and machine guns.

Cross River.

"By nightfall portions of all three corps were across the river, the cavalry returning to the south side. By night, or early next morning, three pontoon bridges had been built and our troops also managed to get across the river by means of the bridge carrying the cannon over the river.

"On our left the French pressed on, but were prevented by artillery fire from building a pontoon bridge at Soissons. A large number of infantry, however, crossed the railway bridge.

"During the last three or four days many isolated parties of Germans have been discovered hiding in the woods a long way behind our line. As a rule, they seemed glad to surrender.

"Villers Cotterets was abandoned by the Germans Sept. 11 in such haste that they left behind a large amount of the bread requisitioned.

"Reims was occupied by the enemy on Sept. 3. It was reoccupied by the French after considerable fighting, Sept. 13."

sition in view of what Sir Edward Grey has told Ambassador Page.

British Position.

The British foreign secretary recently took the position that the war had been forced on Great Britain, that the neutrality of Belgium had been disregarded and that it would be necessary to crush German militarism before the allies could feel safe against new attacks and before a treaty of peace could be worth a "scrap of paper."

Sir Edward spoke of the earnest wish of the Triple Entente for peace, but said they could make no comment until they had received a definite statement of terms from Germany and Austria. Substantially the same position was taken by France and Russia and communicated through the American embassy as well as their ambassadors here.

Each Blames Other.

On comparing the expressions from the allied powers and that of the Imperial German chancellor, the president found that they took almost an identical position, each charging the other with responsibility for the war and neither giving suggestions of any basis for peace.

The president, it is understood, feels that in view of the neutral position of the American government, it would be unwise to press either side to make overtures to the other. He hopes, however, that as the war progresses, one side or the other will make known its terms in some definite form, so that the American government can act as a medium of transmission and forward the peace movement without embarrassment.

The president is not disposed to take any action as a result of the unofficial exchanges because of their informal character, all of them having been conducted orally, and is anxious to avoid entangling the United States in the intricacies of European diplomacy.

DIPLOMAT WHOSE TONGUE NEARLY CAUSED TROUBLE

ALI RUSTEM BEY.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Ali Rustem Bey, the Turkish minister to the United States, like the parrot in the story, has talked too much. Hence Secretary Bryan has felt it necessary to pluck a few of his tail feathers. He has been warned by the administration that he will not be wanted in Washington any longer if he discusses purely domestic matters so freely again. Rustem Bey's offense was a comparison of Turkish atrocities against Christians with the lynching of negroes in the South.

which were repeated again and again.

Will Crooks, the labor leader, asked if it was in order to sing "God Save the King." Without waiting for permission he started the first verse himself and then broke down with emotion. The anthem was taken up by the spectators in the gallery as well as by the members, and the singing was heard in the palace yard.

As the members filed out of the chamber Mr. Crooks cried: "God save Ireland!"

John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, replied: "God save England!"

Parliament will sit again Oct. 27.

King's Speech.

In his speech King George said:

"My lords and gentlemen: I address you in circumstances that call for action rather than for speech. After every endeavor had been made by my government to preserve the peace of the world, I was compelled, in the assertion of treaty obligations deliberately set at naught and for the protection of the public law of Europe and the vital interests of my empire, to go to war. My navy and my army have with unceasing vigilance, courage and skill, sustained, in association with our gallant and faithful allies, a just and righteous cause. From every part of my empire there has been a spontaneous and enthusiastic rally to our common flag.

Commons Thanked.

"Gentlemen of the house of commons: I thank you for the liberality with which you have met a great emergency. My lords and gentlemen, we are fighting for a worthy purpose and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved.

houses, farms, money and the very tools with which they got their daily bread. Thousands are even without clothing and have become wanderers and outcasts at the gates of the earth.

Seen Many Disasters.

Mme. Vandervelde wishes to tell the American people what she herself has seen—the stream of refugees leaving Malines, the bombardment, the murderous raids of the Zeppelins, and the story of the burning of Louvain. She wishes to tell them also of the sublime courage of the Belgian people.

"A few hours before she left Antwerp, King Albert of Belgium sent his secretary to Mme. Vandervelde to wish her good luck and to tell her that the king approves her intention of appealing for help for the Belgian refugees to the people of America.

"She brings with her the following letter from Queen Elizabeth:

Letter From Queen.

"'Her majesty, the queen, wishes to tell you that she approves your project of putting before public opinion in England and the United States, the sufferings which the German invasion has inflicted upon our peaceful population. Five of our provinces are devastated and thousands of families driven out of their houses at this moment without homes. It is deserving well of one's country and of humanity to try to help them. Best wishes of the queen accompany you to these two countries which love to give help to those in distress.'

"Mme. Vandervelde implores the American people to help Belgium to repatriate all these poor people, to start them again in life in new homes. Their sufferings are unutterably terrible and hundreds of the bread winners, fathers, husbands and sons, have been killed in the war.

"Is it not right and fitting that those who can help should do so at this moment? Mme. Vandervelde is convinced that her cry for help will be heard, that it is not in vain that she is appealing to the American people."

ernor Charles S. Deneen, chairman of the state central committee, and William B. McKinley arrived last night and preliminary plans for the opening session of the convention this morning at 11 o'clock were drawn up. Senator Borah was to make the keynote speech.

Predictions last night and early today pointed to Former Governor Deneen as the dominating influence in the earlier sessions of the convention. It was believed he would be chosen temporary chairman.

Garret De Forest Kinney of Peoria, was elected chairman of the new Republican state central committee by unanimous vote at a lively session of the body this morning. The Sherman faction insisted this action was merely preliminary and that the regular meeting of the committee must be held in Springfield thirty days after a formal call is issued.

L. L. Emerson of Mount Vernon was made temporary chairman of the state convention as a harmony move. There was no indication that the original plan of placing Ex-Governor Deneen in the permanent chairmanship had been abandoned.

Progressives Meet.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 18.—Progressives of Illinois held their second state convention here today to adopt a platform which, it was predicted, would contain the constitutional convention plank as one of the chief issues.

Medill McCormick of Chicago, as temporary chairman, was prepared to sound the keynote, reflecting the views of Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Full woman's suffrage, the initiative and referendum, the short ballot, and criticism of the Democratic administration in nation and state were among the issues promised. National legislation on child labor, a non-partisan tariff commission, and a Federal employment bureau also would be urged, it was said.

Among the delegates were Mrs. Raymond Robins, Mrs. Medill McCormick and Miss Marion Drake.

Frank H. Funk was slated for permanent chairman. Mr. McCormick called the convention to order and in his address said:

"In every nook and corner of the state the progressive citizens of whatever party know that this struggle is between Roger Sullivan and the Progressive candidate, Raymond Robins."

The speaker declared that both of the old parties have shown a common and almost equal indifference to the demand for fundamental reform.

"At Washington," he said, "Mr. Mann upholds the hands of Mr. Underwood; at Springfield the Republican representatives, under Senator Sherman's guidance, elected a Sullivan Democratic speaker, and by a like combination organized the state senate."

REPORTS INDICATE THAT GERMAN ARMIES HAVE AGAIN BEGUN AN OFFENSIVE MOVEMENT

out actual news of the situation in the western area of the war for two weeks.

To Manage in Eastern Zone.

There was nothing today to indicate a change in the situation in the eastern zone. Presumably the armies of Austria are still trying to unite at Cracow, while the Russian army under Gen. Rennenkampff is holding the Germans at bay along the frontier of Poland.

While public opinion and the press in Italy and Roumania are apparently still in the dark as to the course these nations will pursue as the struggle continues, a semi-official assurance came from Denmark today from the newspaper "Politiken" that that country would remain firm in its neutrality. The Politiken says:

"Nothing can induce us to change the policy of neutrality, which Denmark has declared she will follow."

German Statement.

Berlin, Sept. 18, by wireless by way of Sayville, L. I.—The following official statement has been given out by the headquarters of the German general staff:

"The battle between the Oise and the Meuse rivers still is continuing but there are sure indications that the enemy's force is failing.

"The French attempt to cut through the German right wing was broken down without notable exertion on the German side.

"The German army is advancing slowly but surely.

"A sortie from Verdun on the right bank of the Meuse was most easily repulsed."

Another official statement issued by the German general staff says that all the German airships came up to expectations after undergoing long and dangerous flights. Some of the air craft were damaged but now all of them have been repaired. None has been destroyed or captured by the enemy.

Continues a Draw.

London, Sept. 18.—As far as the public knows the great artillery duel along the line of the River Aisne continues to be a draw. In the pause of the thunder of the huge guns the infantry and cavalry units scattered along the line of battle are being flung into the fray without appreciable effect on its outcome.

An official statement, written by a staff officer who has been on the scene of the operations and which is authorized by the British war office, gives details of the actions closing with the crossing of the Aisne, but only the most meager communications have been issued concerning the fighting of the last two days.

Roughly speaking the line of the advance of the allies is threaded by six rivers, four of which have already been crossed. The crossing of the Marne, marking the assumption of the aggressive by the allies, was purely a rear guard action in which Gen. von Kluck cleverly kept the German right from being outflanked. So far as the British were concerned the passage of the Ourcq was not contested. The Vesle river was only lightly defended by the Germans, while it is now well known the resistance of the Germans at the Aisne was and still is of the most stubborn character on both the French and British fronts.

Two More Rivers to Cross.

If the allies hold the shore across the Aisne which they gained despite the heavy artillery fire from concealed German batteries on the heights above the river, two more rivers, the Ailette and the Oise, remain to be crossed. The country between the Aisne and the Ailette is ideal for defensive purposes and if the German army holds the Aisne heights for a few days defensive works can be constructed along the other two rivers which may delay the allies' advance on German territory for a long time.

On the other hand, if the Germans resume the offensive the country now occupied by them affords an excellent operating base.

Has Moral Effect.

It is clear from reports coming from the allies that the victory in the battle of the Marne and the assumption of the offensive had a tremendous moral effect on the Franco-British armies.

Berlin acknowledges that while Gen. von Hindenberg's brilliant and daring movement across the border lake was successful in driving back Gen. Rennenkampff's forces, the Russians were not completely outflanked and the previous East Prussian victory against the Russians was not duplicated as the Russian general retired in good order, saving his artillery.

There is a lull in the operations of Galicia, where the victorious Russian armies evidently are moving in an effort to cut off the retreat of the Austrians toward Cracow.

On the Defensive.

Berlin, via Rotterdam, Sept. 17, via London, Sept. 18, 5:30 p. m.—The Berliner Tageblatt prints the following regarding the operations in the west:

"We are standing on the defensive on a 125-mile battle line and because we have been spoiled by a rapid series of victories many are unable to realize that a defense, under certain circumstances, is as justified as an offensive.

"We have learned little concerning the situation, but we can point to some successes such as the repulse of the French night attacks and the fact that the French have succeeded neither in outflanking the retiring right nor breaking through the front.

"The abandonment of our original positions between Paris and Verdun for strategic reasons is in itself nothing momentous. In many days of battle and shifting positions final results alone are important. So long as the battle continues undecided with the possibility of throwing in fresh troops drawing nearer, while the enemy has exhausted himself by repeated attacks, the German chances are better than those of the Anglo-French."

Say Germans Are Yielding.

Paris, Sept. 18.—The great battle of Aisne continues. All that is known officially of its progress is that the Germans are yielding slightly at some points on the left. Though the communication of this fact was given out officially by the French yesterday, it evidently refers to the situation on Tuesday, since it accords with the English press statement of Wednesday. The many wounded prisoners coming in from the front indicate that the Germans give ground, the latter leaving their wounded behind.

The army of Crown Prince Frederick William has finally turned on its pursuers at Montfaucon, to the northwest of Verdun, encouraged no doubt by advices of reinforcements coming from the Rhine garrisons, and the line of defense is now clearly established from Noyon, sixty-seven miles northeast of Paris, to Montfaucon.

Troubled About Rear.

In addition to the difficulty of reorganizing their forces to withstand the attack on the new line the Germans are no doubt troubled about their rear. The resumption of activity by the Belgians means more than that its troops have had time to rest and no doubt there is good foundation for the many rumors that King Albert's forces have been reinforced, though from where is only a matter of conjecture.

Some experts still think that the battle is only intended to insure the safety of the crown prince's army, which had great difficulty in disengaging itself from the defiles of the forest of Argonne and is not yet, according to opinion here, by any means safe.

Digging Many Trenches.

Bordeaux, Sept. 18, via Paris, 12:10 p. m.—Intelligence received here from the front concerning the trench work done by the Germans throughout the region to the north of Chalons indicates that these protective works have been constructed in a most extensive manner. The infantry trenches are from three to four feet deep and have been arranged in parallel lines with connecting cuttings. The artillery is protected by double lines of embankments twenty yards apart, and earth shelters have been constructed for the protection of the men while they sleep. These extended works make the advance of the allies slow.

SIX KILLED IN R. R. WRECK IN ALABAMA

Train on Alabama & Great Southern Derailed Near Livingston.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 18.—Six persons were killed and fifteen injured seriously today when passenger train No. 2 of the Alabama & Great Southern railroad was derailed at Klondike switch near Livingstone, Ala. All of the dead were passengers. The engineer is probably fatally injured.

The engine was derailed at a switch and crashed into a gondola on a side track. The mail and baggage car, two coaches and three sleepers were wrecked. Three other sleepers remained on the track.

Three of the sleepers left New Orleans at 7:30 o'clock last night attached to a New Orleans and Northeastern train and bound respectively for New York, Cincinnati and Birmingham.

In the belief that a switch had been tampered with, authorities have sent bloodhounds to Livingston. A strong effort will be made trail the alleged wreckers.

WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

"Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve-building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Bisurated magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and antacid known. It has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stomach with drugs instead of getting rid of the acid—the cause of all the trouble. Get a little bisurated magnesia from your druggist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the bisurated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right."

BROKEN IN THREE WAYS

Game Wardens Arrest Three Settlers on Different Charges.

Three men were arrested for three different kinds of game law violations yesterday by Deputy Game Wardens Thomas J. Storey and Archie Boyd.

The three of them were caught red-handed while in the country near the Blackhoof river in Carlton county along the Soo Line. One was shooting partridges, another was fishing brook trout and the third had just killed a deer.

They were Otto Sorenson, who was found with freshly-killed venison in his possession; Emil Sears, who was picked up with five partridges in his possession, and Mike Doran, who had taken half a dozen large speckled trout from the Blackhoof. All of them are said to be settlers living in that vicinity and will be arraigned in the justice court at Carlton next Tuesday. This is the first time in the history of St. Louis county, so far as known, when arrests have been made the same day for three different kinds of violations of the game laws. The trout season closed Aug. 31. The partridge season does not open until Oct. 1 and the big game season does not open until Nov. 10.

Warden Storey said today that he agrees with the proposal of many sportsmen in this part of the state that the season for ducks, partridges and prairie chickens ought to open the same day. The date most favored is Sept. 15, which would be striking an average before the opening of the seasons for prairie chickens and ducks, which is Sept. 7, and partridge, which is Oct. 1. The game warden states that this would be additional protection to the prairie chickens and probably would not materially endanger the partridges. He explains that the prairie chickens and partridges closely resemble each other and that it is difficult for the average hunter to distinguish between them. He asserts that many well-intentioned hunters shoot partridges unintentionally, mistaking them for prairie chickens. He also adds that some people will run across partridges while out for ducks and prairie chickers and seem unable to resist temptation to shoot them or determined to take chances of killing them without being detected. If the season did not open until Sept. 15 they would not be in the woods at that time. The prairie chickens are coming to this section of Minnesota in increasing numbers and the later opening of the season would materially increase them.

PRESIDENT WILL HEAR OPERATORS.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The Colorado coal operators today asked President Wilson to receive them next Wednesday to discuss the tentative basis for settlement of the strike already accepted by the miners. The president immediately wired his consent.

Baldwin for Senator.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 18.—Governor Simeon E. Baldwin was nominated for United States senator at the Democratic state convention here today, defeating on a roll call vote, Congressman Bryan F. Mahan, of New London, 377 to 225.

LEARNING TO BE THRIFTY

Six Thousand Duluth School Children Have Bank Accounts.

Despite the fact that summer vacation has intervened since the school children of Duluth were in full stride of thrift in the way of depositing their savings, they do not seem to have lost the habit. William Wells, assistant cashier of the First National bank, says that the youngsters—and the word embraces those of all ages in the grades—resumed their depositing in a business way just as soon as the first deposit day came around when school opened.

Almost every school in the city both public and parochial, is included in the savings business. Two young women from the bank make calls on the schools, reaching the schools on scheduled "savings deposit" days, and the children come to them by grades, a short recess being given for the purpose, and make their deposits. The school board has entered into the spirit of the thing, and in fact, gives it the strongest encouragement, believing that it not only gave the children an immediate nest-egg, but inoculates them with the habit of thrift and of saving.

There are about 6,000 such depositors with a total deposit of about $49,000. This gives each of the 6,000 children depositing a per capita of almost $8.20, and the per capita is increasing.

Mr. Wells says that the first year that the system was started, which was three years ago, was a very distinct success. The next year showed a growth and this year bids fair to outstrip that. The schools whose pupils are so depositing are:

Adams, Christian Brothers, Cathedral, Cobb, Ely, Emerson, Endion, Ensign, Fairmont, Franklin, Irving, Jackson, Jefferson, Lakeside, Lester Park, Lincoln, Longfellow, Lowell, Madison, Merritt, Monroe, Munger, Nettleton, Oneota, St. Peter's Polish, Radisson, St. Clements, St. Jean De Baptiste, Salter, Washburn, Washington, Webster and Whittier.

PROSECUTOR IMPRESSED BY WIDOW'S COHERENT STORY

County Attorney Tells of His Interview With Mrs. McAlpine.

Only Thing She Forgot Was Mention of Revolver.

Former Wife of Dale McAlpine Tells Her Story.

When Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine, widow of the late John McAlpine, who was mysteriously shot and killed in the basement of his own home some time during the night of Aug. 14, 1913, gave the authorities her first statement of what she knew in connection with her husband's death, she told a coherent story without a single interruption.

This rather impressed Warren E. Greene, county attorney, who interviewed her, as a rather unusual circumstance, according to testimony which he gave today when he was called as a witness for the defense in the $50,000 suit which the widow is pressing against the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York in which she is seeking to recover on an accident insurance policy.

Mr. Greene, accompanied by C. H. Troyer, chief of police, and Dr. J. J. McAuliffe, deputy county coroner, visited the McAlpine house on the morning of the McAlpine tragedy, for the purpose of making some investigation into the matter before an inquest was conducted. While at the house, Mr. Greene testified, Dr. McAuliffe and he visited the widow in her bedchamber. Dale was the only one else present.

After she had been requested by the county attorney to tell what she knew about the matter, Mrs. McAlpine started in and without a single interruption related in chronological order the events which took place, up to and after the finding of the body. The story which the witness stated Mrs. McAlpine told him was substantially the same as that related by the widow on the witness stand last week with the exception she made no mention of a gun.

"She told her story without a single question or suggestion from me," testified Mr. Greene.

An Unusual Story.

The county attorney also stated that this circumstance rather impressed him as being an unusual one. He stated that in his experience as an attorney and prosecutor he could not recollect hearing a story told in that manner and without a single interruption or suggestion. After she had related her narrative, he testified, he thanked her and withdrew from the room. As he stepped outside the door to go downstairs, it occurred to him, he said, that the widow had made no mention of the gun.

Returning to the room, he said: "Now, Mrs. McAlpine, there is one thing I want to ask you about. Where was the gun?" He testified that she did not appear to hear him and that he repeated his question. Her answer, according to the county attorney, was, "Oh, the gun was by his feet." The widow then explained, he said, that the gun was lying between Mr. McAlpine's feet and the laundry door through which she passed. He testified that she told him she "picked it up and threw it to one side."

The county attorney testified that he asked her if the gun had a case and that she replied that it had. He stated that he asked her where the case might be found and she directed him to a closet. He looked in the closet, he said, and found a case in which was found another revolver. Dr. McAuliffe, he said, then pulled the gun which Mr. McManus had given him as coming from Dale, from his pocket and asked her if that was her husband's gun. The latter gun was later identified by the widow as the gun which was foound by her husband's side.

When shown the second gun by Dr. McAuliffe, Mr. Greene testified, she appeared confused, finally stating that she believed that it was Mr. McAlpine's gun, that it was the one he usually kept in his desk at the office and which was given to him by a man named Titus.

In describing what he observed in the basement that morning, Mr. Greene stated that he found small spots of blood on the floor within a few feet from where the body had been lying and which the former coachman, John Hovers, had not cleaned. He did not attach any particular significance to this, he said, his theory being that it had been caused in removing the bloody clothing.

The Open Window.

The county attorney also testified as to the examination of the open basement window and told of conversations which he had with Mr. McManus, who was present at the house at the time. He related the sequence of events leading up to the visit to the bed chamber of the widow. When he stepped into the room Mrs. McAlpine sent for Dale, he said. Mrs. McAlpine was in bed. She then told Dale that Dr. McAuliffe had told her that Mr. McAlpine had been shot through the head. The county attorney testified that he gave the doctor a queer look.

P. E. McCormack, general agent for the defendant company, testified that when the original policy on which the suit was brought was taken out by Mr. McAlpine he discussed the matter with Mrs. McAlpine for about an hour. This had been previously denied by Mrs. McAlpine during her cross-examination.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Alice Spaulding, Dale's former wife, took the stand. Her testimony was taken by deposition at Big Rapids several weeks ago, but owing to the fact that her connection with the case was an important one, it was deemed advisable to have her appear and testify in person. The young woman was a member of the McAlpine household at the time of the tragedy.

Miss Spaulding's Story.

The story of what occurred in the McAlpine house on the morning the body was found as told by Miss Spaulding differed in many important respects from that which has been related by Mrs. McAlpine. The young woman proved to be a most interesting witness. The court room was crowded with spectators, a large portion of whom were women.

An insight into the young woman's early life was gained from the first part of her story. This she was asked to relate in order to show how she happened to become a member of the McAlpine household at the time of the tragedy. The witness was examined by Attorney A. G. Briggs, chief counsel for the defense.

Miss Spaulding testified that she was born at Beaver, Mich., twenty years ago and that her home is now with her parents at Big Rapids, Mich., where her father is employed as a locomotive engineer for the Pere Marquette railroad. She told of her early schooling and of her training at the Bay City conservatory of music.

Dale McAlpine, step-son of John McAlpine were attending school together at the were attending schoo ltogether at the Ferris Institute at Big Rapids in 1912, she said. She met Dale while he was attending school there and in March 1912 they became engaged to be married.

Was Guest Here.

At Dale's solicitation and at the invitation of his mother, she came to Duluth during the summer of 1912 and was a guest for two weeks at the McAlpine home. While a guest of the McAlpines on that occasion, she says, she accompanied the family as their guest on a trip to the McAlpine summer home at Grand Rapids, Minn.

Coming back to Duluth from Grand Rapids, Minn., on the train Miss Spaulding testified that Dale told his mother in her presence that they were engaged to be married. The witness said that Mrs. McAlpine smiled but did not make any reply at that time. On her cross examination, Mrs. McAlpine denied that Dale had told her of the engagement on that occasion.

After the visit at the McAlpine home she returned to Big Rapids to resume her schooling, she said Dale returned to school in January and on the 21st of the month they were married. The McAlpines were notified of the marriage by a telegram.

Miss Spaulding testified that they received telegrams and letters from Mr. and Mrs. McAlpine stating that Dale "had divorced himself from the family by marrying her." She identified the telegrams introduced in evidence earlier in the case as the ones which Dale had received from his step-father. She said that he had also received a letter from his mother on the subject, but that this had been destroyed.

Dale Looks for Work.

Dale, she said, went to Grand Rapids, Mich., to secure work. He found employment, but the job only lasted two weeks. His mother came to Grand Rapids to see them. "She was very nice to me," said Miss Spaulding, "only she was sorry that it had happened."

She then told of Dale's attempts to get a job in Chicago and his failure to do so, and of her coming to Duluth. She stated that she came to the McAlpine house in this city at the invitation of Mrs. McAlpine. Dale, unsuccessful in holding his job at Grand Ledge, Mich., the last place he had worked, followed her to Duluth a month later.

Alice came in July and Dale some time in August, according to the former's story. During the month before Dale came, Mrs. McAlpine was very kindly in her attitude towards Alice, gave her some clothes and treated her with consideration.

After Dale's arrival, the witness testified, Mrs. McAlpine changed front and began to become disagreeable. She then told about the quarrel about Dale marrying out of his sphere, the witness admitting that she had told Mrs. McAlpine that she had never "been obliged to associate with hairdressers" and that "there were no divorces in her family."

After the quarrel, she said, Mr. McAlpine called Dale aside and induced him to ask her to apologize to Mrs. McAlpine. She did so, she said. "What did Mrs. McAlpine say?" asked Mr. Briggs.

"She said she thought I had every reason to be sorry?" replied the witness.

Bringing her story down to the night of Aug. 14, 1913, the last occasion Mr. McAlpine was seen alive, Miss Spaulding stated that at the supper table that evening just after the meal, Mrs. McAlpine spoke up:

"John, you know what I told you."

Long Talk With Dale.

Mr. McAlpine, she said, answered "Oh yes, Dale, I want to speak to you." Dale went to a room with Mr. McAlpine and she went to her room on the third floor. After Dale and his father had talked for an hour, she said, the witness testified that she and her husband left the house returning in about an hour. On arriving home about 9 o'clock she went directly to her room on the third floor. Dale, she said, stopped to talk with his mother about ten minutes and then joined her.

She testified that later in the evening, she heard Mr. McAlpine come in and that she remembered Mrs. McAlpine calling to him and that he said something about he was "waiting for the kids to come in," and she said that they had been in for some time. She did not hear anything said about putting out of the dog. She heard Mr. McAlpine came upstairs and that was the last she knew until she was awakened in the morning by the fire teams passing the house.

She got up and looked out of the windowv, she said. She saw the fire apparatus traveling east. After the teams had passed she testified she heard someone moving about on the second floor downstairs. The door of her bedroom was open she said.

The first she heard from Mrs. McAlpine, she said, was her calling to Dale, telling him that she could not find his father and asking him to hurry down. Mrs. McAlpine in her testimony declared that she was going down stairs the first time she remembered hearing the fire teams go by. She then went to the kitchen and called loud enough so that she thought her husband could hear her in the cellar. Miss Spaulding testified that she did not hear her call and that in her opinion she was in a position where she might have heard it.

She next heard Mrs. McAlpine crying and moaning, she said. By the time she got down stairs, she said, Dale was telephoning. Mrs. McAlpine, she said, was almost frantic and insisted that she call Dr. Stewart. She took the telephone from Dale, who was crying, and called the physician.

Goes to Basement.

The witness then told how she went into the basement with Dale. She passed through the laundry room, she said, into the furnace room. The light in the laundry room was lighted and shone through an open door into the furnace room. Just inside the door leading from the laundry into the furnace room, the prostrate form of Mr. McAlpine was found lying face downward, she said. The left arm, she said, was extended out with the hand near the head. The right arm was under the body. His head was lying in a pool of blood near the furnace and his feet near the laundry room door.

Dale, she said, went back upstairs to get some pillows and she attempted to raise the head so that a pillow might be placed underneath it. Stiffness had set in, she said, and she was unable to do so.

Miss Spaulding, both on her direct and cross examination insisted that she went down to the basement before Mrs. McAlpine did. She also asserted that she did not observe the gun which was described by the widow in her story as lying in the doorway between the laundry room and the furnace room. Mrs. McAlpine testified that she kicked the gun with her foot as she was passing through the doorway. Miss Spaulding insisted that she saw no revolver on the floor.

Mrs. McAlpine up to that time, she said, as well as herself, was dressed only in her nightgown and wore no slippers on their feet. Later both put on more clothes. After Alice had made her first trip to the basement, she stated, Mrs. McAlpine went down. On that occasion she said she overheard Dale say, "He's in here, mother." The witness credits Mrs. McAlpine with saying, "I won't go in there unless you take that instrument away."

The witness also testified that Mrs. McAlpine after having come up from the basement the first time turned to Dale and herself and said:

All Your Fault.

"This is all your fault, Alice: You and Dale troubled him so, he has done this!"

Miss Spaulding stated that she said, "Don't desecrate his memory by saying such a thing as that; he was too good a man."

She also testified that Mrs. McAlpine moaned: "Why did he do it! Why did he do it!" and that in the presence of herself and Dale remarked:

"I suppose that the insurance companies will make a big fuss about this."

Alice also testified as to the presence of another gun in the house. She said that one night there was a noise on the stairs, and that she called to Mrs. McAlpine that she was afraid, and that Mrs. McAlpine told her to come down and stay with her. On that occasion Mrs. McAlpine told her that she always kept the door to her bedroom locked when Mr. McAlpine was away, and a gun on the table. In case anything should happen she would shoot out of the window to alarm the neighbors, she said.

A juror asked if the doors were locked that night she slept with Mrs. McAlpine. Miss Spaulding answered that they were not.

Miss Spaulding testified that Mr. McManus first called her attention to the fact that the basement window was open. She testified that on her first trip to the basement she was clad only in her nightgown, but that she did not notice that the room was cold. She declared that later when she went into the basement she had her clothes on and noticed that it was chilly.

The witness also told of an incident after the inquest and funeral. She said that Mr. McManus came to the house one day and in the presence of herself and Dale told Mrs. McAlpine that he suspected the authorities had placed a dictaphone somewhere in the house, because confidential messages which had passed between Mrs. McAlpine and himself had leaked out. The conversation which took place on that occasion, she said, was written on slips of paper and passed, instead of being spoken. She stated that she saw one of the slips, which was afterwards destroyed. It was written by Mr. McManus, she said, and stated, "No one suspected anyone in the house at this time."

At the morning session of court today, Miss Spaulding testified that while she was a member of the McAlpine household, Mr. McAlpine's attitude towards her was a pleasant one. "He was very kind to me," she said.

She also testified that at the time she married Dale, she knew that he was not the son of John McAlpine and that Dale did not expect to share any part of the estate in accordance with the terms of the will which was left by Mr. McAlpine.

In her suit for divorce against Dale which was brought in the Michigan courts last December, she stated that she did not ask for any alimony and that none was allowed her by the court.

William McAlpine stated today that his testimony had been incorrectly reported in The Herald last evening, in that he had arrived in Duluth Sunday night instead of Friday, and after registering at the Lenox hotel, had spent the night at the home of his sister-in-law, instead of at the hotel.

PRESIDENT DECLINES TO HEAR PROTESTS.

Washington, Sept. 18.—President Wilson today declined to receive Horace L. Brand of Chicago, who came to present messages from several German-American organizations protesting against the charges of atrocities made by the Belgian commission against the German army.

The president took the position that he had already refused to permit natives of other belligerent countries living in the United States to discuss the war with him and that the messages of the German-Americans were not of the same nature as those brought by the Belgian commissioners. He planned to write a letter to Mr. Brand explaining that his recent statement on neutrality addressed to the American people should apply equally to all living in this country.

The president is understood to be deeply disappointed over what he feels is disregard of his neutrality statement. He is determined to check, so far as possible, continued efforts of natives of European countries living in America to take sides.

Relief Work Well in Hand.

FALL STYLES FOR MERE MAN

Not Loud, But Less Conventional Is the Keynote.

Shirts With Detachable Sleeves for Business Wear Are Here.

Extreme—not loud, but less conventional—is the description of the styles for men during the coming fall and winter. The vogue of bright and fancy colors has affected the whole country and the onward march is assurance of another season of gaiety in dress.

Among the extreme novelties announced for this fall, which will interest Duluthians, is the new dancing suit, the downward brim on silk hats, dress shirts with attached collars, "mushroom pleat" collars to match shirts, shirts with detachable sleeves for office wear, Maxixe ties, vivid-colored cravats and Balmacaan hats to match coats of the same make.

But the biggest change in dress for men is included in the announcement that canes are to be worn more and more this year. In the East a man is "half-dressed" without a cane, and indications point to a similar belief in Duluth. Already a number of young men are wearing sticks and the fashion may soon spread to those not so ultra-fashionable.

Happy Medium.

However, it can all be summed up by saying that to be well dressed one must not be too solemn nor too progressive. A happy medium should prove very popular.

Beginning with the head and going down, here are some of the styles announced for this fall and winter.

Black derbies are again in style, although they will be much higher than those worn recently. In fact, the low hats are out of fashion altogether. The feature in hats is the new silk top hat, with a brim that goes downward. It is directly opposite to those now worn and may prove popular in time to come. It sounds funny, but really looks exceptionally well. Blue and brown soft hats are to be the general style in headgear this fall, while Balmacaan hats for rain and knock-about wear will also be popular. Of course, Balmacaans are again in vogue, while the overcoats for the winter are also built in a similar manner.

Suits are to remain the same in style, although the fashion will be plaids, checks and silk-line stripes in dark suitings. Plain colors will also be worn to a great extent.

The New Collars.

The newest thing in collars is the one-piece affair, which is soft, except where there are button holes. In those places the collar is starched, thus causing it to always remain straight and not become baggy, as soft collars usually do. Another novelty is the dress shirt with collar attached. It is not probable that this shirt will ever become popular with the man who has to count the cost of laundry.

The long-pointed collars, so popular last year, are doomed. There is not a sign of them this fall. The popular collar promises to be the customary fold collar worn throughout the past summer. It is made with straight and round edges. These are also made with stripes and in colors. The extreme novelty is the "mushroom pleated" collar to match the dress shirts of the same make.

Plain and striped silk shirts are to be very popular, while a novelty will be the crepe shirts, which made their appearance last summer. Vivid colors will be popular, especially violet and cardinal, while tans and creamy yellows are also to be in vogue. Soft shirts will not be out of fashion, especially during warm weather this fall, while the "mushroom pleated" shirt for evening wear will still be stylish. The extreme novelty is the business shirt, with detachable sleeves. This shirt will be made with the sleeves attached with buttons fixed just above the elbow. A business man can detach the sleeves and thus not soil them while at work in the office. They should prove very popular.

The New Ties.

Ties show the greatest extremes. These include the maxixe tie, which is plain on one side and fancy on the other. It is a four-in-hand and is made especially for informal affairs, while college colors are used in the designs. For instance, there are maroon and gold for Minnesota, cardinal and white for Wisconsin and blue and white for Yale. There are also "sport" ties for races and yachting. These are very wide and have figures of horses and yachts beautifully arranged. The new dance tie, is split at the end, showing a white lining. It is not very formal, however, but will do for dancing. There is also another new tie with a patent catch, which is fixed to the front collar button and will never allow the bow to slip.

Fancy handkerchiefs, with wide borders are to be in style.

In socks many dressers will be glad to learn that the "emotional" colors are gone forever. Plain blacks are always safe and very dressy. White are not out of place, but should not be worn with full dress. They are all right in the summer, but will never do in the winter.

Plain white gloves for evening wear will be worn, while the black ribs in the back will be out of place. They were very stylish this past summer, but seem to have been dropped by fashion designers. Chamois or grey suede will be popular for afternoon wear, especially with a cane. Men should never wear silks. They are too effeminate, fashioners say, also the dressers.

Low Heeled Shoes.

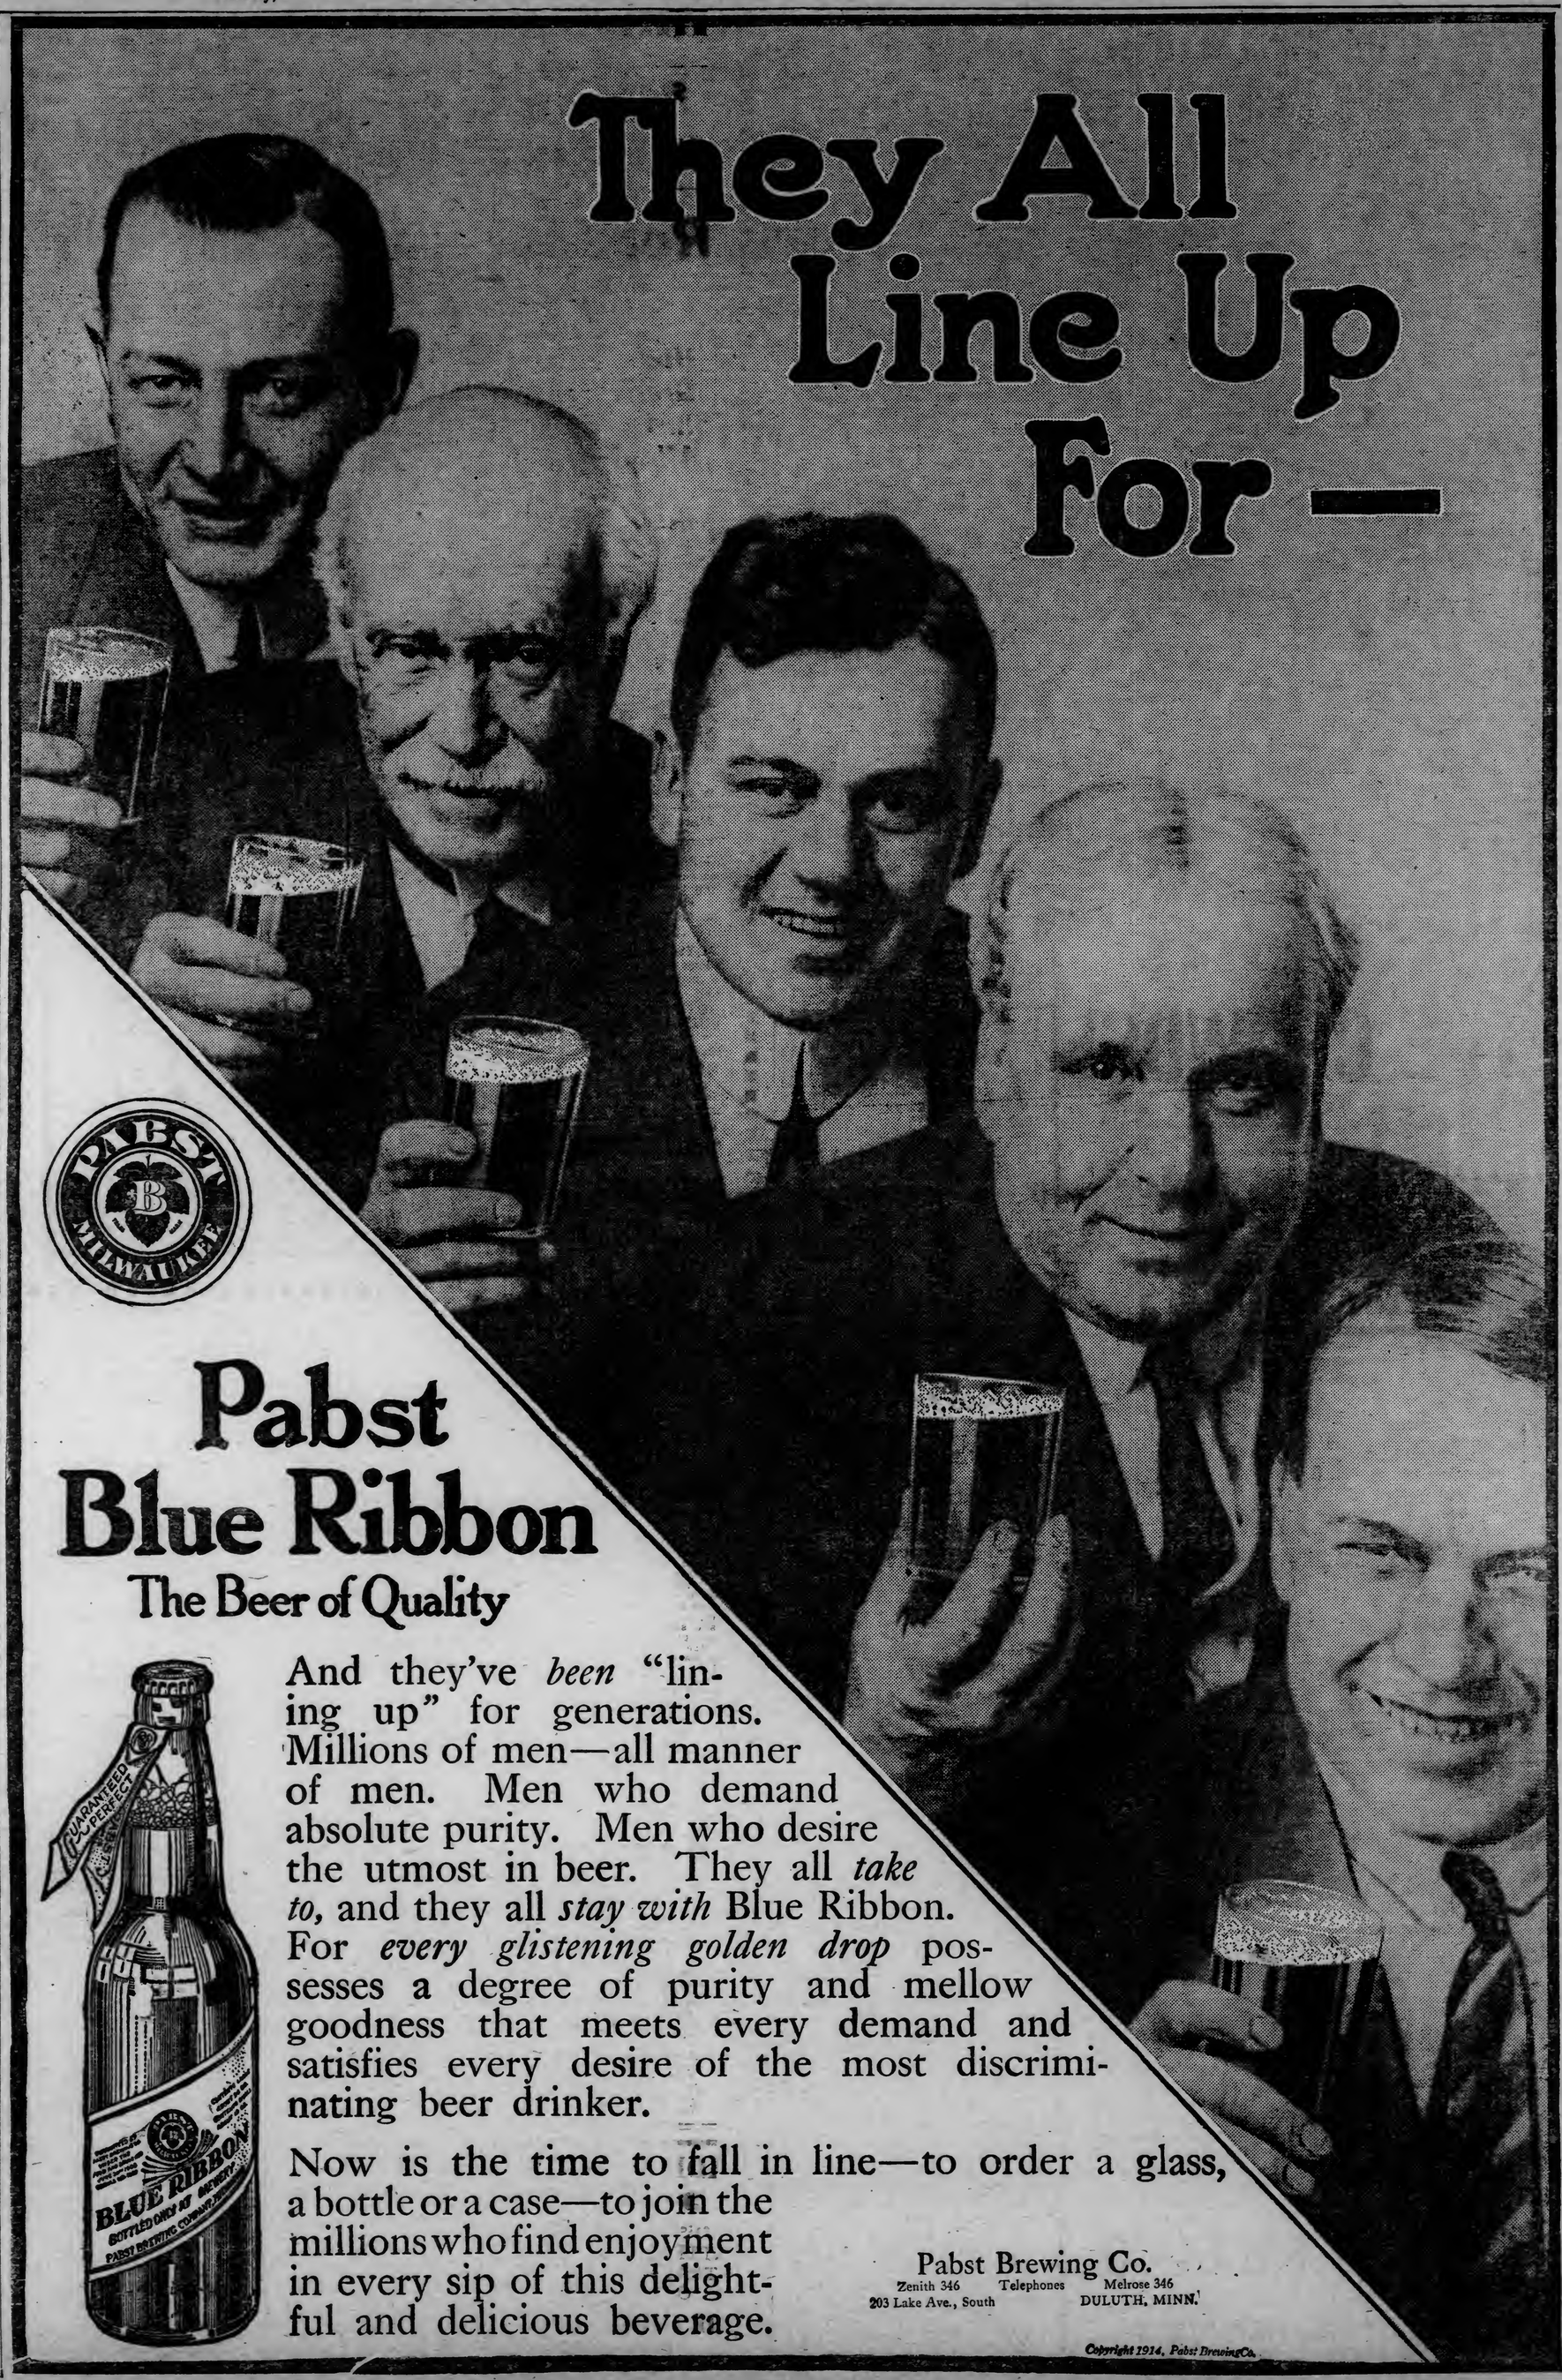

Shoes with low heels and tapering toes are to be the fashion. Tan leather for business is to be generally worn, while pumps for dancing are still in vogue.

And now comes the very last and latest thing in dress. It is the dancing suit for fall wear, or during warm weather. Of course, Duluthians need not worry about this suit, but it is well to know the fashion. There is a "mushroom pleated" shirt, with a low collar and a waistcoat without a back. Sashes to match the tie will be worn in place of waistcoats altogether. This will give the man an opportunity to dance more freely and execute the various dips and turns of the new dances more gracefully. Then comes a regular dinner jacket, with white flannel trousers. White hose with black clockings are worn, with black pumps.

MISSIONS IN FAR EAST NOT AFFECTED.

New York, Sept. 18.—That there is no cause for anxiety regarding conditions in the Orient is the opinion of Bishop M. C. Harris, supervisor of the work of the Methodist Episcopal church in Japan and Korea. The bishop informs the Methodist board of foreign mission as follows:

"While the great war in Europe has affected both the business and the religious world in general, there has been no interference with the work of missions in the Far East. The churches of Japan and Korea are undisturbed and regular activities continue as though the Angel of Peace were hovering over the whole world."

And they've been "lining up" for generations. Millions of men—all manner of men. Men who demand absolute purity. Men who desire the utmost in beer. They all take to, and they all stay with Blue Ribbon. For every glistening golden drop possesses a degree of purity and mellow goodness that meets every demand and satisfies every desire of the most discriminating beer drinker.

Now is the time to fall in line—to order a glass, a bottle or a case—to join the millions who find enjoyment in every sip of this delightful and delicious beverage.

MR. VOSS, AT LEAST, IS RIGHT.

Commissioner Voss, in announcing his intention to vote against the Merritt ordinance to take money from the gas and water funds to build the first unit of a competing electric lighting plant, says that he bases this decision upon the belief that the method of acquiring a city electric plant now being pursued is decidedly unbusinesslike.

There can, surely, be no question about that.

It is unbusinesslike, in the first place, to push a municipal ownership project without first exhausting other means of redressing whatever evils there may be—if there are any of importance—in the present situation.

It is unbusinesslike to weaken existing municipally owned public utilities that are of known value, for a speculative experiment in one of doubtful value.

It is unbusinesslike to go about municipal ownership by the construction of a competing plant when the way to municipal ownership by purchase or condemnation has been made clear by legislation procured by municipal ownership advocates.

Mr. Voss shows that if the people wish to own their own electric light plant, and if no satisfactory arrangements as to price can be made by negotiation, the law provides for acquirement by condemnation.

The only answer of those behind the present plan is that condemnation means delay. Is it a matter of life and death that Duluth shall have a city electric plant by day after tomorrow? What's the rush? Surely with financial conditions as unsettled as they are now, a little delay, such as the few months required for condemnation proceedings, should be welcomed, not avoided.

It is encouraging to know—though it is no news so far as Commissioner Voss is concerned—that there is at least one man on the commission who is using business sense in the consideration of this project.

HOME RULE A LAW.

Let us pause just a moment in the din of the world-convulsion of war to utter three cheers for free Ireland—free at last after many years of pathetic submersion.

King George yesterday signed the bill—a perfunctory operation of little more importance than the attest of a clerk since it has been long since a king of England dared use the royal veto—and it is now a law.

Ireland is free, and the coveted home rule that has been so long withheld, and that will make her more loyal to the empire than she ever has been in all her history, is hers.

Now that home rule is law, doubtless it will be possible to arrange a second home rule for the Orangemen; and let's hope that they all will live happily ever after.

THE WAR FROM DAY TO DAY.

Behind a cloud of battle-smoke and censored mystery north of the Aisne river a tense struggle, the tensest of the war and perhaps the most vital, was in progress this morning—an artillery duel varied from time to time by fierce clashes of infantry and cavalry.

The line of battle now stretches from the Oise to the Meuse, a battle-front a hundred and fifty miles in length, with the issue hardest fought in the west of the line. The German line manifestly is on the defensive. Moreover, it is well situated and has had fresh troops and ammunition. The allies, too, have been strengthened, perhaps more than the Germans; and their victories in the battle of the Marne have vastly revived their spirits.

It is a terrific and titanic struggle, with three million men involved. From it come the ugliest hints of dreadful slaughter that have yet been heard. On the left the armies of the German right and the allied left, which have been battling almost without pause for a month, are hotly engaged. While the Germans are well placed and determined, still they must face here not only a frontal attack but a spirited assault upon their right flank.

In the northeast, the crown prince's army, which has been retiring from its position fronting Verdun, has turned at Montfaucon to resist the French attack; so that the battle line now stretches its grim chasm ot death from Noyon on the Oise to Montfaucon.

From the Eastern field, little new. The Austrian debacle grows worse, and Austria's straits are illustrated by the pathetic last resort call for her last reserves. The attempt to establish the line of defense on Przemysl seems to have failed, and it is now forming on Cracow—the last stand against an invasion of Germany by way of Breslau in Silesia. From the position before Przemsyl to Cracow it is a hundred and twenty miles—a long road to lead a defeated and harrassed army. The position at Cracow, when it is established, will be menaced both from the east and from the north.

THE BATTLE OF THE MARNE.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: The battle of the Marne may be the Gettysburg of 1914.

The battle of Gettysburg ended July 3, 1863. It was not intrinsically a technical victory for the North, though it might have been if Meade had followed up his success. But the Confederate invasion of the North was checked and ended. On the 5th Lee began his retreat, and with it vanished whatever menace there was of the possibility of a Confederate invasion of the loyal states.

The Confederacy reached its high tide in the invasion of Pennsylvania that preceded the battle of Gettysburg. The recession of the tide began with the close of that battle July 3, 1863, and was hastened by the fall of Vicksburg before Grant the next day. It was the beginning of the end.

The doom of the Confederacy was sounded at Gettysburg, though it was two years before the states in rebellion admitted their defeat, and the painful work of knitting together a war-sundered people began.

The battle of the Marne was the high tide of the German invasion of France.

The magnificent sweep of the German right from the border to Paris ended when it crossed the Marne and, finding itself in a pocket with flanking dangers and facing a reinforced enemy, was compelled to retire. The battle of the Marne began at that point, and continued until it merged, seventy miles north, into the battle of the Aisne.

Future events must decide whether the battle of the Marne was the Gettysburg of 1914. And even if it was, between Gettysburg and Appomattox were Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge, the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor and Cedar Creek.

THAT BRIDGE CONTEST.

For some months, now, St. Louis county has been trying to get a bridge thrown across the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac to link up a very important interstate wagon road project. To do so it had to get permission from congress, of course, and Congressman Miller introduced a bill granting this permission.

Superior, opposed to this road project because it does not run through its territory and concerned in having the city of Duluth compelled to build an approach to the steel plant bridge, fought this measure bitterly, and finally, as a last resource, saddled it with a companion bill requiring the Interstate Railway company, instead of the city of Duluth, to complete the Duluth approach to the steel plant bridge.

This bill, inadvertently of course, was reported out of the house committee on interstate commerce and passed, along with the Fond du Lac bridge bill. The error discovered, this action was reversed, and the two bills referred back to the committee.

The committee, we have no doubt, will quickly perceive the situation, and will pass out the Fond du Lac bridge bill again and let the other bill die, as it deserves.

The committee certainly will do this when it realizes that this bill requires the Interstate Railway company to do something that its franchise does not require, and something that it cannot legally do.

The railway company, in building its bridge in accordance with the law, built two approaches on each side of the river—one for street car lines and one for wagons. Each of these approaches has been carried as far as the law would let it go—to-wit, to the edge of the company's right of way. Beyond that right of way it could not go without further condemnation, and of course the law does not authorize a railroad to condemn a right of way for a wagon road.

The fact is that both Duluth and Superior always have assumed—rightly—that the work of building these wagon approaches fell upon them.

Superior has proved that it so assumed, because it has already built the approach on its side.

Duluth always has assumed it without question. The Fond du Lac bridge is a part of a state and county highway, and the county of St. Louis will build it. The Duluth approach to the steel plant bridge will be a part of a Duluth highway, and Duluth always has expected to build it.

It has not been built because there has yet been no traffic to call for it. It is not being built now because the city's finances will not permit it; there are other and more important municipal projects that call, at present, for every dollar the city can spare. When it becomes financially able to do it, the city of Duluth will build that approach.

The house committee on interstate commerce will be forgiven its error, and will earn the gratitude of Duluth and St. Louis county, if it will clear this Fond du Lac bridge matter of the entanglement of the Superior scheme to force Duluth beyond its financial capacity, and will pass the Fond du Lac bridge bill and leave to Duluth the duty of building its approach to the steel plant bridge as soon as traffic demands it and it can afford it.

It is understood that Superior has set up some claim that traffic now demands this approach, and that it is needed to relieve congestion at the present interstate bridge. There isn't a man in Duluth or Superior who does not know that there is no congestion at the interstate bridge, and that if there were it could not be relieved by a crossing nine miles away, the use of which would involve a nineteen-mile side-trip.

THE COST OF KILLING A MAN.

According to figures compiled by General Percin in La Science et la Vie, it costs so much to kill a man in war that it hardly seems worth while.

Poison would be cheaper, if killing were the only object.

The cost of killing a man in war is obtained by dividing the total cost of a war to any of the belligerents by the number of men killed in the other side.

The Franco-Prussian war cost France $600,000,000 and France killed 28,600 Germans. This was at the rate of $21,000 per man.

The Russo-Turkish war of 1877-78 cost Turkey $400,000,000, and Turkey killed 16,600 Russians, or $15,000 per Russian killed.

The Russo-Japanese war of 1905 cost Russia $1,200,000,000, so it cost Russia $20,400 to kill each of the 58,600 Japs who were slain.

The rate varies, obviously, and no fixed rate for killing can be figured. Besides, when the present war is over there will be an entirely new set of figures.

The only certain deduction that can be made is that the cost is excessive, and that it would be much more economical to distribute germs of typhoid fever, say, and kill your men that way. It would be quite as decent, quite as civilized, as killing them by the means of war.

Civilization—1914.

For the glory of the living weep the millions of the dead;
For the happiness of hearts that beat their broken hearts have bled.
So the paean of the ages shrills a tragedy of praise
To the multitude of martyrs, and the sighing, grief-swept days
That reached piled high to heaven from the mysteries of the past;
And the first dread soul in torment cries in anguish to the last:

"We are the human hatreds, the ambitions and the greed,
The lies that make men monsters, the death thought and the deed;
We are the lusts primeval; we are the sin and shame
That have chilled the fire of charity and snuffed the Christ-like flame.
We are the deep foundation of the civilized advance;
We make fact the dreams of horror that the drug Ambition grants;
We have stripped off flowing vestments; we have dropped the cap of state;
We writhe, naked, in the frankness of uncovered human hate—
A hate for other's happiness that checks the march of power.
We have made the Modern Nation; and our curse is all its dower."

But the glory of the living may not halt to hark the dead;
The heart that goes in gladness shall not cease for one that's bled,
Through the ages in their sequence e'er will sing a paean of praise
To the martyrs by men murdered for the love of fortune's ways,
And though prayers go up to heaven from the yet unborn past,
The world is ever building a new ruin on the last.

—E. Eiwell in the Boston Evening Record.

No Ray of Comfort.

London Economist: It is perhaps the greatest tragedy of human history. We have watched the increasing rivalry of armaments with consternation, we have implored our government to convene the nations of Europe and seek to arrest the mischief before it was too late. It is now to late. The explosion has come. Look where you may you can see no ray of comfort. Death, anguish, starvation and despair are written over Western Europe. As if the Balkan wars had not been enough, hell has been let loose among the most civilized nations of Europe. It is the triumph of diplomacy over common sense, of force over reason, of brutality over humanity.

The Brute.

Buff: Two weeks after the wedding she burst into her mother's home crying like a child.

"John and I have quarreled," she explained between sobs.

"What's the trouble?" inquired the mother-in-law, soothingly.

"Why, I—I said I thought it would rain today, and the brute said, 'I don't believe it will.'"

How Goschen Was Sung Out of Germany

Robert Crozier Long, Berlin correspondent of the Westminster Gazette, in Collier's Weekly, written in the British ambassador's train between Oldenzaal and the Hook of Holland.

"The most awful thing in war is the singing." So wrote the dead novelist, Paul Heyse.

Having reached the Dutch frontier, after twenty-five hours' railroad traveling through a tempest of war songs, I say that Heyse is right. I heard how seven Russians of the frontier patrol were burnt to death near Wirballen; and it made no impression on me. But I shall remember to my dying day how Germans sang their war songs while the train of Ambassador Goschen, the leader of their foes, steamed slowly toward the neutral frontier of Holland.

This is the most marvelous thing of the Armageddon. For six hours after leaving Berlin I saw few signs of war.

I first believed that there was no war when the Germans began to sing. They sang first, I think, at Hanover. Our train drew up at a platform crowded with reservists in civilian clothes. Each man carried a neat cardboard box with his effects and food.

The news spread like fire that here was the British ambassador. "Der Botschafter Goschen!" the envoy of German's latest, greatest, most inexorable foe. Then the reservists, pale faced shopmen and clerks, began to sing as only Germans sing. They sang "The Watch on the Rhine," the most terrible of war songs, which to France's "Marseillaise" is as a steel bar is to a rapier. After Hanover, Germans sang all the way.

At Wunstorf, our next stopping place we were sung to by Red Cross girls. This was more terrible still. It was pitch dark. Behind the barrier inclosing the platform crowded the whole Wunstorf population. On the platform, so close that they breathed against the windows, were 200 girls. The car in which I was dining with the Standard correspondent stopped opposite the middle of the singing group. At first the girls made no demonstration. Then a whisper passed round "Der Englische Botschafter!" ("The English ambassador!")

The girls began to sing. For half an hour they sang, "Germany, Germany Over All," to Haydn's heartsearching music. Plain repetition without taking breath. They changed to "The Watch on the Rhine" and sang it thrice. Then our train left. The girls waved their hands ironically. They kept perfect order. But the drilled singing, the spiteful, sardonic faces, and the last contemptuous movement of the hands! I shan't forget it. All that night, whenever we stopped at wayside stations, we heard from disciplined throats that Germany would be "over all in the world," and that "The Watch on the Rhine" was "honest and true." Ehrlich und treu! I began to wish that the crowds would throw stones or raid the train. But every half hour instead rang out the tremendous singing.

The exception was the last station we passed before the Dutch frontier. Here there was hardly a soul in sight. Only a sentry, a station master, and a small boy. A little attenuated, spider-like boy swinging a vast wooden sword, on his head a ridiculous toy Pickelhaube helm. The boy looked at us, asked the sentry a question and began to cry. Then for a moment he straightened himself, held out his sword, and began in the thinnest of squeaky trebles to whine "The Watch on the Rhine." After the martial chanting through the black of the past night, it seemed a whimsical imp's mockery. So we were sung out of Germany.

England In Unjust War?

Keir Hardie in the London Labor Leader (Socialist): Speaking for the moment for myself I repeat, what will be universally acknowledged twelve months hence, that we are in this war without justification, reason, or excuse.

Let anybody take a map of Europe and look at the position of Germany: On the one side Russia with her millions of trained soldiers and unlimited population to draw upon (its traditional policy for over a hundred years has been to reduce Prussia to impotence, so that the Slav may reign supreme), on the other side France, smarting under her defeat and the loss of her two provinces, Alsace and Lorraine, in 1870.

For a number of years past these two militarisms have had a close and cordial alliance. What was it that brought the czardom of Russia into alliance with the free republic of France? One object, and one alone, to crush Germany between them. German armaments and the German navy were primarily intended to protect herself and her interests against these two open enemies.

If this reasoning be correct, it follows that our being in the war is a matter of free choice of our rulers who appear to prefer that Russia should become the domineering power of Europe. I don't write these lines in order to say that we should now withdraw from the conflict. That is clearly an impossibility at present.

But, if we can get these facts instilled into the mind and brain of our own people, and of the working class generally, we shall be able to exert a much greater influence in bringing the war to a close much more speedily than the military element contemplate at present.

When the war is over it will be Russia that will carry the laurels, and, probably, a good installment of German militarism will have become part of our own national institutions.

Some British Socialists are, unfortunately, ranging themselves on the side of militarism, and we shall require to take the strongest possible action to make it clear to our comrades on the continent that the hands of the Independent Labor party, at least, are clean, and that when the conflict is over and we have once again to meet our German, French, Belgian and Russian comrades, no part of the responsibility for the crime which has been done in Europe can be laid at our door.

Still Climbing.

New York World: "Have you ever heard Jimkins relate about the time he got half way up Mont Blanc with one of his little nephews and no guide?" asked one man to another.

"How long ago did he tell you about it?" was the evasive reply.

"Last March, when he'd just got home," said the first man.

"Well," said the other, "in eight months since then he has climbed the rest of the way, succored a fainting guide and sustained a snowstorm on the summit, resuscitated two benumbed strangers on the way down and guided the entire party to the foot where a group of frantic relatives were waiting."

Why Uncles Have No Friends.

Philadelphia Ledger: The New Mamma—Jack, run for a doctor—hurry! The baby has swallowed your diamond stud!

Bachelor Brother—Doctor, nothing! I'll get a surgeon.

The British Radical View

From the Nation (London.)

The moral of the catastrophe is clear as daylight, and it will be clearer still when it has been written in blood across a continent. The system of the two armed camps has issued in its natural consequence. The folly of maintaining peace by preparing for war is once more demonstrated, if a further chapter of human history were needed to make it clear. The theory that alliances secure peace has gone with all the rest of the baggage of delusion. Alliances are not at all times equally strong or equally secure, and that is the fundamental reason why a balance can never be secured. It is clear from these papers that Sir Edward Grey, for all his untiring efforts to mediate, regarded himself throughout as a member of the Triple Entente, and intended to stand by his friends if the issue became European. He strove, indeed, to form a concert. But between the theory of the balance and the theory of the concert there is an absolute contradiction. Respected by the Germans, transparently sincere, manifestly friendly, his voice when it spoke for peace was still a voice that came from one of the armed camps. In the last fatal hours of the crisis he seems to have perceived that at the root of all the difficulty there lay neither the Servian nor the Belgian issue. We find him on July 30 making to Germany a remarkable offer. He had hesitated to make it before and felt that it might be regarded as "Utopian." It was the promotion of "some arrangement" to which Germany should be a party, "by which she could be assured that no aggressive or hostile policy would be pursued against her or her allies by France, Russia and ourselves, jointly or separately." We are not quite sure what this means in detail, but its spirit is clear. It is an offer of permanent peace between the two groups. It meant, in a word, the constitution of a concert and the fusing in it of the group system.

The proposal came too late. One cannot transform the European system while every power is watching in alarm the mobilization of its neighbors. The heavy balance of criminality in this last crisis only too clearly lies with Germany. But she in her turn had gone through the sensation of being "penned in," and her fears of the Russian mobilization may possibly have been a reflection of the complacency with which French and Russian experts had discussed the recent Russian military reform. The whole world had been told that Russia was henceforth in a position to take the offensive. Germany, indeed, has brought down upon Europe all the latent terrors of the system of the armed peace and the balance of power. But for the system itself, every power is responsible. If this war is to bring in the end anything better than a curse of ruin and hatred in Europe it must be so conducted and terminated that it shall result in the formation of a concert. Victory—complete and unquestioned—there must be for our arms, but the conflict need not be prolonged by one superfluous hour. A German hegemony in Europe, if ever that had been possible, would obviously have been a crying evil. Russian hegemony would be still a greater mischief. Temptation there may come, as Russia's slowly gathered forces are available, to prolong the war for a general remodeling of the map of Europe.

We may see repeated by Russia the egoism by which Bulgaria prolonged the Balkan war, after its real object was attained. We are thinking today of the imminent, and to us most repugnant, danger to Belgium and France. We believe that that will pass. There may come a moment when the issue will be the crushing of Germany and the partition of Austria. Our weight has been thrown into one scale. It is being at this moment used for purposes of defense. Our statesmen would, we believe, pause if victory should bring with it the opportunity of passing from defense to conquest and sweeping partition. With the German people we have still, in spite of war, no indivdiual quarrel. Our duty to civilization is so to act that they may resume their place among the family of nations. The politics of the balance are bankrupt. This war began with a failure to improvise a concert. It must end with realization of Sir Edward Grey's nascent idea of the permanent creation of a European system, freed from the menace of group rivalries and solid only to repress the egoisms and compose the feuds of its equal members.

Policy of Watchful Waiting

The Independent: It is a double triumph—for President Wilson and his unspectacular policy of watchful waiting, for the A B C powers and their public-spirited service of mediation. If the United States had not refused to recognize Huerta, if President Wilson had not persisted in his policy of patience and aloofness, would Huerta be gone and Carranza in the president's chair? We do not believe it. If Argentina, Brazil and Chile had not made their offer of mediation would peace have come in Mexico so soon, and without war with the United States? We do not believe it.

It had become the fashion to speak jeeringly of "watchful waiting." What other policy could have hoped for better and quicker success?

But is this a lasting peace? It looks doubtful. Villa, holding his forces together in the north, seems to be sulking in his tent. But if a second revolution comes and Constitutionalist fights Constitutionalist, it will not be the first time that fellow-soldiers have fallen out over the fruits of victory.

The troubles of Mexico are too grievous, its problems too vex, to be likely to be resolved by any single event or series of events. The birth pangs of popular government are wont to be protracted and severe.

Meanwhile the duty of the United States is plain—an attitude of watchful waiting, of warm friendliness to the people of Mexico, of stern opposition to tyranny and bloodshed, of persistent encouragement to the cause of constitutional government and popular rule.

Work Has Left the Home and Women Must Follow.

From "The Autobiography of a Happy Woman," published by Moffatt, Yard & Co.: Women are today what they have been throughout the history of the race—good wives, good mothers, good pals, good sweethearts, good sisters. Women in industry are no new thing. Women have been in industry since time began, and the women who have gone out to factory, to office, to schoolroom, to hospital, to clinic, to platform are but doing, outside the home, what their mothers and grandmothers did inside the home. To take three-quarters of woman's vocations outside the home, and to leave her with manacled hands inside the home would be to let her beat her life out against the cave wall of a prison cell in an idleness that would be madness.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Get It Over With.

Tower Weekly News: It is claimed that the Germans are using dum-dum bullets. Well, what of it? That's the idea. Why not shoot log chains and a keg of drift bolts? Why not? Poison 'em. Blow 'em up! Why not? It is war. Anything goes in war. The idea is death. The more dead, the better. War is not a Sunday school picnic or a booya party. The sooner they are all dead the sooner they will quit. When a man is dead what does he care whether he was stabbed with a blueberry pie or shot out of a cannon at Jasper Peak?

A Blessing in Disguise.

Detroit Herald: That American business was forced to trim ship during the pendency of the Wilson revision of business laws has been proved to be an exceedingly healthy thing. The United States necessarily became involved in the financial derangement which accompanied the outbreak of the European conflict; and it is clear that we will not be able to rely upon European capital for domestic enterprises for a long time to come. Hence, as many financial journals are now saying, it is most fortunate that for many months prior American business had been adjusting itself in the absence of foreign capital.

And a Mighty Poor One.

Fairmont Sentinel: A correspondent of a Twin City paper says he will not vote for Hammond for governor because he is "an old batch." Fiddlesticks! That's an excuse; it is not a reason.

About the Size of It.

Mahnomen Pioneer: The Democratic party is claiming no credit because of the present high price of wheat. Neither is the Republican party giving them any credit, although when the price was low the party in power was supposed by their opponents to be the sole cause. But these machine editorials on the great wrong done the American farmer by the new tariff law have disappeared entirely.

To Be Expected, However.

St. Hilaire Spectator: With loud acclaim, the Republican standpatters are pointing to a loss of customs revenue under the Underwood tariff. Not even a word about the income tax, however—not a word. Not a syllable about the transfer of the burden of taxation from the soulders of the poor to the shoulders of the rich—not a single syllable.

A Rout Is Imminent.

St. Peter Herald: Even though the political armistice has not expired and real hostilities have not begun, Minnesota Republicans are in disorder and face defeat and disaster.

Minnesota Can Lead the Way.

Sandstone Courier: The report of the state efficiency commission is attracting wide attention throughout the Union. Whether Minnesota adopts it or not, it is likely to become the basis for reform movements in a number of other states.

The opportunity is open to Minnesota to show the way into a better form of administration, a better system of legislative appropriations, a better organization of the civil service.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Things Worth Doing.

Smiling.
Speaking kind words.
Showing respect for the aged.
Lending always a helping hand.
Telling the truth under all circumstances.
Choosing only the good for daily companions.
Reading books that instruct and inspire rather than excite.
Forming the habit of close observation and careful study.
Spending less than one makes so as to provide for emergencies.
Accepting the Bible as the only true guide for this life.

A beautiful life brings a beautiful death.

God has so arranged things in this life that no one can sincerely try to help another without helping himself.

The idea of being good, of keeping life pure, and of making it useful, is most noble.

Living a life that has in it beauty and usefulness is difficult, but the rewards for such a life are rich and everlasting.

We should always strive in every possible way to keep sweet in spirit and avoid all manner of petty anger.

The example of Christ should be our example. If we follow Him we shall not fail in living a noble life.

Little Miss Selfish and Lend-a-hand

On Lend-a-hand the sunshine smiled;
The wild flowers bloomed for the happy child;
Birds greeted her from many a tree;
But Selfish said: "No one loves me."

And sucked by priestly cannibals.

I dreamed of Freedom slowly gained
By martyr meekness, patience, faith,
And lo, an athlete grimly stained,
With corded muscles battle-stained,
Shouting it on the fields of death.

I turn me, awe-struck, from the sight,
Among the clamoring thousands mute;
I only know that God is right,
And that the children of the light
Shall tread the darkness under foot.

I know the pent fire heaves its crust,
That sultry skies the bolt will form
To smite them clear; that Nature must
The balance of her powers adjust,
Though with the earthquake and the storm.

God seigns, and let the earth rejoice!
I bow before His sterner plan,
Dumb are the organs of my choice;
He speaks in battle's stormy voice,
His praise is in the wrath of man.

Yet, surely as He lives, the day
Of peace He promised shall be ours,
To fold the flags of war, and lay
Its sword and spear to rust away,
And sow its ghastly fields with flowers.

—John Greenleaf Whittier.

The One-Piece Bathing Suits at Ostend.

E. S. Martin in Scribner's: Ostend is entirely different. Our errand there, as by my instructions, was to inspect the bathers. Cousin Felicia pretty much skipped the errand, but Jane and I were faithful to it. We walked down on the beach, and the first bather we noticed was sitting in the sun, on the back steps of a bathing-machine, taking the air. She was a lady bather, and it seemed to me that at least 60 per cent of her was handsome, bare, white legs. Jane thought 70 per cent. We went on, very much encouraged, to where the bathing was still active. It was just as you have so often read or seen in pictures. One very much abbreviated garment such as men bathers wear here, is what most of the women wear there. The effect is interesting and cheering. Jane and I both liked it very much, and hung about till lunch time, getting lessons in civilization. It was very improving. You can't tell what you admire until you have seen it. Here at home we have been working along up from pantalettes, and have come, after some generations, to a convention that lets men into water fairly free from excess of raiment, and has shortened the bathing-skirt of women. But it still prescribes the skirt and stockings for women. But at Ostend, and I guess all up and down that shore from Scheveningen to Gibraltar, the bathing girls and women are emancipated both from skirts and stockings. And they look very nice and quite proper, because propriety is all convention. A girl in tights in the water at Ostend was more conspicuous, and therefore seemed less modest, than her bare-legged sisters, and the women in skirts and stockings (there were a few) seemed conspicuously prudish and less suitably clad than the rest. "Proper" really means suitable, and the single-piece suits the girls wore were certainly suitable and therefore presumably proper.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 200 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHO HAS THIS POEM?

To the Editor of The Herald:

Today marks the twenty-fifth year I have been a subscriber to your good paper, so I will ask a favor. Will you please print the poem about James Root, composed when he saved 300 people from the Hinckley fire? I will be very glad to see it again.

MRS. JOHN TILSETH,

Duluth, Sept. 16.

THAT $100 OFFER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In yesterday's Herald, "A Subscriber" from Two Harbors declared that Brother White's $100 offer is surely safe. We knew that all the time, but it would not be safe for anyone to offer $100 for one Bible verse in which one is commanded to observe the seventh day of the week, which is the Sabbath of the Lord, for he would be bombarded at once with many plain texts which anyone could read in every Bible translation in the world.

Our brother, "Subscriber," quotes Col. ii, 16-17, in which Paul refers to the "meat offerings," drink offerings" and movable, annual, shadowy, typical feast days of the ceremonial law as fully described in Lev. xxiii. This very verse our brother quotes says they are "a shadow," and this ceremonial law of Moses was added because of transgression of the moral law, until the seed should come (Gal. iii, 19), and at the death of Jesus, as told in Matt. xxvii, 50-51, the veil of the temple was rent in twain from top to bottom. Paul, the converted Pharisee, of course taught this, but kept the law of God and the Sabbath of the Lord as well. Acts xiii, 14, 42-44, xvi, 13, xvii, 1-2, xviii, 1-4.

With malice toward none, but charity for all, let us "preach the Word."

Very respectfully,
EVANGELIST STEMPLE WHITE.

HAVE COME THROUGH FIVE INVESTIGATIONS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

We are in receipt of a clipping from your paper of the 10th and 12th inst. in which you issue a warning against a children's tuberculosis society. The warning is issued by a Miss Edna Meeker, secretary of your bureau of charities, on the ground that we are not affiliated with an association located in New York. This society, being of a national character, pleads guilty to doing its own thinking without having the gentleman in New York do it for them. Although this gentleman feels highly grieved because we do not consult him, he is fair enough to admit our integrity.

Since the warning issued against our society would be construed by most of your readers as an insinuation against our honesty we request that you publish the above statement. At the same time we challenge Miss Meeker to come out in the open and make a straight charge rather than a veiled insinuation. It seems that the work of a charitable society should not consist of mud-slinging, even to advance local work.

All that the Children's National Tuberculosis society asks is that it be judged on merit. We have been investigated five times, including the Chicago police department, the Illinois legislative committee, newspapers and commercial associations and every investigation has left us without a blemish. We therefore appeal to the people of Duluth to give our work a fair hearing before condemning it. Cordially your,

THE CHILDREN'S NATIONAL TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETY,
PAUL BURMASTER,
Secretary.

NORWAY AND PROHIBITION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your paper of Sept. 9 you quoted what I had said about prohibition being enforced in Norway since the European war started for the purpose of preventing the working people from squandering their money.

Another reason for this prompt action on the part of the Norwegian parliament was to prevent the use of grain and other nutritious foodstuffs to any great extent in the distilleries and breweries. However, the abolishment of fermented and ardent spirits have been under serious consideration by the Norwegian parliament for some time and I am of the opinion that the present prohibition is there to stay, as far as ardent liquor is concerned.

I will further state that this present ban on intoxicants does not include several kinds of lighter grades of beer. For example, Lansdale and Wurterale containing a very small percentage of alcohol, Lansdale containing a trifle over 2 per cent and Wurterale none at all. They are considered by scientific students as harmless drinks.

Norway has also, since July, 1913, adopted a system which tends to substitute such milder drinks for the more ardent ones by exacting a tax in conformity with their alcoholic strength.

Different nations follow different customs. Yours truly,

JNO. HOGAN.

FIRE DRILLS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I dreamed last night that our great high school burned in the middle of the day. The nightmare was so horribly realistic that I write to inquire through your Open Court if there is no sentiment in town in favor of fire-drilling at the high school, as I understand that the fire drill is not a monthly or weekly practice as at similar institutions in other cities. Signed:

A. M.

PLAN ACCEPTED BY COAL OPERATORS.

Denverfl, Colo., Sept. 18.—Acceptance of certain features of President Wilson's proposal for a three-year truce in the coal miners' strike was announced by J. F. The announcement contained the further information that some of the operators had asked for a conference with the president to discuss these provisions which they were not prepared to accept.

"MALICIOUS FALSEHOOD"

Hillsiders Resent Merritt's Intimation That Meeting Was Packed.

Both Sides of Lighting Question Were Discussed Freely.

The Hillside Commercial club at its meeting in Gonska hall, Fifth avenue east and Fourth street, last night, passed a resolution characterizing the statement of Commissioner Leonidas Merritt that the mass-meeting held under its auspices last week to consider the electric lighting question was packed in favor of the Edison company, as a malicious falsehood.

At the meeting, which was held in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., both sides of the lighting situation were discussed by various speakers and at its conclusion, when about forty or fifty persons remained, a motion indorsing the action of the commission in starting the construction of a competing plant, was voted down. The next day, in accepting an invitation to appear before the New Duluth Commercial club, Commissioner Merritt referred to the meeting as having been packed by friends of the Duluth-Edison company.

Last night, Thomas H. Sexton, president of the Hillside club, called the attention of the organization to the assertion of the commissioner of public utilities. He explained that he had requested J. A. (Bert) Farrell, who acted as chairman, to give all who desired to speak on the question an opportunity to do so, that all phases of the issue might be laid before the gathering. The club felt that this had beeen done in the fullest degree and approved the resolution declaring that the declaration that the meeting had been packed was a falsehood.

A resolution was passed directing the secretary to ask the city engineer to prepare estimates for enclosing Brewery creek from Mesaba avenue to the lake, transforming it into a sanitary sewer with flushing tanks at the upper end and septic tanks at the lower end. The committee appointed to investigate the Seventh avenue sewer between Ninth street and Twelfth alley reported that Commissioner Murchison gave assurances that the sewer would be built in the near future.

The committee on the "white way" reported that bids from the electricians of the city for erecting standards and fixtures would be ready for consideration at the next meeting on Oct. 1.

North Dakotan Appointed to Position By Government.

New Rockford, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. H. Burns, agent of the North Dakota Better Farming association in Eddy county, has been appointed to a position in the Federal bureau of agriculture, in charge of an investigation into the sugar beet industry in the Northwest.

Mr. Burns' work will try to determine the possibilities of growing beets on a commercial basis; determine the best conditions for growing the beets, and to compile such information as may be available at the hands of the farmers who already have had a measure of success in this line of agricultural endeavor.

BUTTER COSTS ARE HIGHER

Prices of Dairy Products Advance on Good Eastern Buying Here.

Fruits and Vegetable Quotations Are Lowest in Several Years.

Fruits and vegetables are offering in good supply and in a wide range on the produce market today. With few exceptions, changes in prices are only nominal, but in the main they are lower.

Butter has advanced a cent, with creamery quoted at 31@33 cents, the lower figure for 60-pound tubs, and the higher for jars. The market is strong in the East and as the make is decreasing, still higher figures are predicted in the near future. A strong call is being still met with on this market from Eastern points, and the Bridgeman-Russell company, and the Victor Produce company both report that the demand is still far exceeding the available supplies.

Egg Prices Unchanged.

Egg quotations are unchanged at 25@27 cents a dozen. Though the consumption is much larger than a year ago, the raising of poultry in Northern Minnesota has increased to such an extent that supplies are proving sufficient to cover the current demand, leaving storage stocks intact. Montreal buyers are said to be picking up butter and eggs on an extensive scale in this country for shipment to Liverpool to fill the shortage brought about through the reduction of receipts from the Scandinavian countries since the war started.

The cheese market is strong in sympathy with butter. The demand is also said to have increased substantially of late, and it is now regarded as heavy for the season.

Apples Plentiful This Fall.

Michigan Concord grapes are a feature in the fruit line today, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Culbertson Bros. company. They are selling at 18 cents a pound, and a strong call is being met with for them. Apples are to be had in much better variety. New York state, Michigan, Wisconsin and Missouri barrel fruit is offering, and quotations are off 25 cents all round. Apples are much cheaper than at this time last year, and comparatively low prices are predicted for them throughout the winter.

California lemons have slumped sharply, and are now quoted at $6.50 a box, a decline of $2 this week. The yield of the fruit is said to have been exceptionally heavy this season. New York barrel pears are coming to hand and other varieties are in liberal supply, with the quality better than has been the case in several seasons back. The height of the season is over in Colorado peaches, and their quotation is up to 75 cents a box today.

Vegetables Are Cheap.

Home-grown vegetables of all kinds are said to be coming to hand in vastly improved quality and variety this season and prices are regarded as reasonable through the list. The movement is slow at present, but it is thought certain that there will be a rush of marketing with the first appearance of cold weather. Minnesota cabbage is 50 cents a crate lower, due to the present liberal receipts.

Meat Figures Firm.

In meats, mutton and lamb are both strong. The former is up ½ cent a pound, and the latter from ½ cent to 1 cent. Beef, veal and pork are firm on the same price basis as a week ago.

Receipts of live poultry have not increased of late to any extent. Quotations in spring chickens are up around 2 cents a pound and their market is regarded as likely to remain about where it is for the next couple of weeks.

PRESIDENT IS CHEERED

Mexicans Honor Wilson at Celebration of Independence Day.

Enthusiastic Demonstration Follows Speech at Mexico City.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Congratulatory messages from Mexico and from Mexicans in the United States poured in at the White House on the withdrawal of American forces from Vera Cruz.

Gen. Carranza expressed great satisfaction through American Consul Silliman and said he would send a formal note of thanks later.

Administration officials reiterated that the statement attributed to Sir Lionel Carman, British minister to Mexico, reflected his personal attitude toward Carranza. They declared no complaint had come from any foreign governments and the state of unrest alleged to have been described by Sir Lionel had not been reported in any official message.

Significant of Sentiment.

A speech made in the presence of Gen. Carranza, his cabinet and the diplomatic corps at the official celebration of independence day in Mexico City, was received here and regarded as significant of Mexican sentiment. It was made by the principal orator of the day, and in part follows:

"I am sure, gentlemen," said the orator, "that the much discussed question of Vera Cruz is the only motive which has caused all good Mexicans to appear reserved and not to manifest the immense sentiment of gratitude felt to the man who has slain evil and who has demonstrated in the midst of problems most difficult and profound that the only policy worthy of the age in which we live is the policy of honor and truth.

Cheer For Wilson.

"The last shadow, the darkest of all, having vanished from our national life, we render homage to a great and sincere man, the great representative American. I call upon you that from this favored land in the name of Hidalgo, of Morelos of Guerrero, of Juarez, of Madero, of Bolivar and of Washington, let us give a hearty cheer for Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States."

Official reports say an enthusiastic demonstration of cheers in which Carranza and his cabinet joined, followed the utterance. The celebration took place on the balcony of Chapultepec castle.

President Wilson told callers he saw no reason to doubt that the Mexicans would form a government acceptable to the United States and that the question of recognition had not yet been taken up. He explained the withdrawal of American troops from Vera Cruz by saying he wanted to show his recognition of the fact that the Mexicans were in charge of their own affairs. He has not been informed whether Carranza will be a candidate for the presidency.

STRANDED INDIANS PUT ON FEATHERS

Able to Establish Identity and Get Through War Zone.

London, Sept. 18.—The assorted company which presents itself at the headquarters of the American residents' relief committee resembles a congress of nations. Negroes, Japanese, Chinese, Hindus and Arabs are among those who show papers proving themselves citizens of the United States and who are trying to get home.

The first rush of applicants for aid was made up chiefly of tourists, but later began the stream of Americans who had resided in Europe for some time and were employed in the various countries affected by the war. Many negroes who had been engaged as musicians and entertainers were instantly thrown out of work and sought the help of the American government. Actors, circus performers, vaudevillians and all sorts of entertainers found themselves in a similar plight.

Chief Lewis Deer of the Cheyenne Indians and his company of braves, who were delighting Austrian crowds with their reproductions of "Custer's Last Stand," came to grief at Libach, where the circus with which they were engaged was forced to disband, and after several weeks of interviews with German and Austrian officials, who were suspicious of the redmen, they finally made their way to London with tales of hardships which rival the stories of pioneer days in Wyoming. Only by putting on all their feathers and war paint were the Indians able to establish their identity thoroughly and make their way through the war zone. In ordinary clothing they had nothing but trouble and merely progressed from one jail or compound to another. But buckskin suits decorated with beads and crowns of turkey feathers stamped them as real Americans and speeded their passage.

The first Chinese daily newspaper in New York city has made its initial appearance and is printed entirely by electric power.

HEALTH TALKS

Liniments and Faith

ANGLEWORM extract and rattlesnake oil still bring a good price in some parts of our glorious country where "the rheumatiz" is exceeded in perversity only by the weather. Genuine dyed-in-the-wool skunk oil, too, has considerable vogue with "borned doctors."

When a faith healer sits around and thinks—at about a dollar a minute—or goes away off somewhere and gives you $40 worth of absent treatment, while Old Doctor Nature is making a cure, you give the testimonial to the faith healer and not to nature. But that is all right. A regularly qualified M. D. will paint a swollen joint with iodine and watch the swelling disappear with great satisfaction, if not with much profit, attributing the improvement to the change of color he has given the skin.

Not All Faith, But Works.

Liniments serve several good purposes in medicine. They often relieve pain. You can't "rub it in" without employing more or less massage, which is a very effectual remedy for local soreness. Liniments also keep the patient contented in the thought that something is being done for him.

In these days of elegant pharmacy the good old turpentine and croton oil mixtures have been superseded by various refinements—liniments put up in neat, collapsible tubes, with parlor-car titles, liniments dispensed in solidified form packed in attractive jars, liniments guaranteed not to blister (as long as they are kept in the original container), and liniments warranted to cure man or beast of any incurable affliction either victim may happen to have.

Local Effects Are Feeble at Best.

No oil, no opiate can have any particular effect when locally applied. These things do not enter through the skin, no matter how well you "rub it in."

Certain drugs do possess more or less local action. Menthol and its derivatives, salicylic acid, aconite, belladonna, chloroform, the irritant essential oils, and some of the coal tar derivatives are absorbed through the skin in amounts sufficient to have a general influence, or else act as local sedatives or stimulants.

Liniments relieve pain, then, by their local action and by the massage their application demands. But no one liniment is suited to all requirements, any more than one medicine will help all diseases. Odor and appearance cut some figure if you are easily impressed. In fact the odor and color of many liniments seems to be about the whole extent of their remedial virtues.

Questions and Answers.

Miss A. L. C. wishes to know whether olive oil will increase one's weight if taken in doses of a teaspoonful three times a day.

REPLY.

It will increase one's weight at the rate of about half an ounce a day. Butter does better.

* * *

K. R. asks: In case of an outbreak of scarlet fever in the home, what precautions can we take to protect the other children?

REPLY.

With the permission of the attending physician, remove the other children at once from contact with the patient—if possible remove them to another house. Beyond this there is no other precaution except the general sanitary conduct of the sick room.

* * *

Adelaide observes: So many mothers permit children with whooping-cough to go about in company with others on the street. Can nothing be done to prevent this crime?

REPLY.

If your local health department cannot stop the abuse you ought to start a war of extermination on the health department. It is a crime and the health department is accessory.

* * *

Mrs. F. E. P. writes: One of your recent talks urged certified milk for the babies. We have no certified milk in our city, but we have pasteurized milk. Is that good?

REPLY.

Pasteurized milk is the next choice. It is safer than ordinary market milk.

* * *

R. W. B. asks: Is there any truth in the allegation that a dog can carry diphtheria?

REPLY.

We once took a culture from the throat of a mastiff in the hospital and sent it to the health department. Next morning the bacteriologist reported diphtheria germs present. The dog was isolated and the epidemic ceased. Dogs and cats are probably common carriers of contagion.

* * *

J. O'H. F. inquires: Can a man have a valvular heart trouble and yet live a fairly active life and feel perfectly well?

REPLY.

Many men do. The heart muscle undergoes a compensatory development sufficient to keep the circulation about normal, so long as the patient is subject to no serious strains. Life insurance examiners often discover valvular heart trouble in applicants who are ignorant of the condition.

Experienced Women Advise Mother's Friend

Because it is so perfectly safe to use and has been of such great help to a host of expectant mothers, these women, experienced in this most happy period, advise the use of "Mother's Friend."

Applied externally to the abdominal muscles its purpose is to relieve the undue tension upon the cords and ligaments resulting from muscular expansion. Beneath the surface is a network of fine nerve threads and the gentle, soothing embrocation, "Mother's Friend," is designed to so lubricate the muscular fibres as to avoid the unnecessary and continuous nagging upon this myriad of nerves. Applied to the breasts it affords the proper massage to prevent caking.

There is scarcely a well-stocked drug store anywhere but what you can easily obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" and in nearly every town and village is a grandma who herself used it in earlier years. Expectant mothers are urged to try this splendid assistant.

Mother's Friend has been prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 310 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for nearly half a century. Send for valuable little book to expectant mothers.

WHAT AILED THE SENATE.

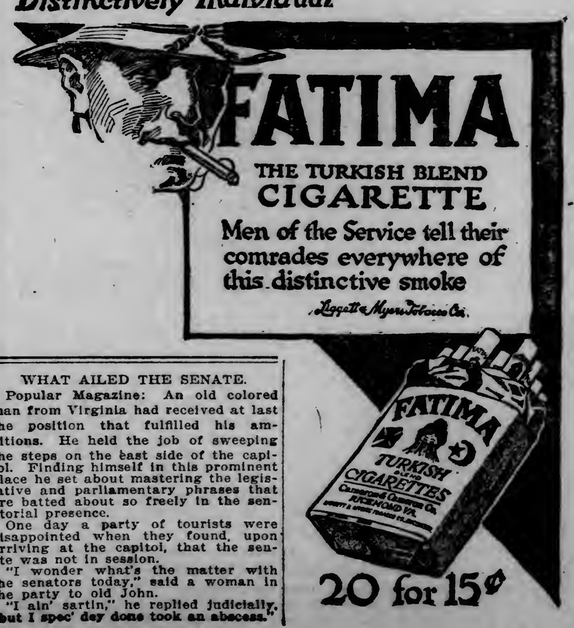

Popular Magazine: An old colored man from Virginia had received at last the position that fulfilled his ambitions. He held the job of sweeping the steps on the east side of the capitol. Finding himself in this prominent place he set about mastering the legislative and parliamentary phrases that are batted about so freely in the senatorial presence.

One day a party of tourists were disappointed when they found, upon arriving at the capitol, that the senate was not in session.

"I wonder what's the matter with the senators today," said a woman in the party to old John.

"I ain' sartin," he replied judicially, "but I spec' dey done took an abscess."

KILLED UNDER MOTOR TRUCK

John Erickson, Contractor, Thrown From Motorcycle on Boulevard.

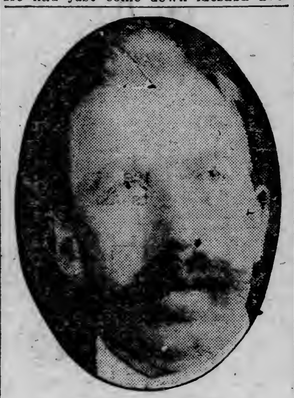

Loses Control of Machine and Falls—Truck Driver Held Blameless.

Falling from his motorcycle under the wheels of a heavy motor truck, John Erickson, aged 55, a contractor, was instantly killed shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the intersection of the Boulevard, Second avenue east and Mesaba avenue. The truck, loaded with rock, passed over Erickson's head.

About a year ago Erickson, on his motorcycle, ran directly into a westbound Piedmont avenue car at First avenue west and Fourth street. He was coming down the hill and failed to hear the oncoming car, into which he crashed, damaging his motorcycle and injuring his head. He recovered after several weeks.

Tries to Avoid Truck.

The accident yesterday happened when Erickson, driving east along the Boulevard, suddenly came onto the motor truck, driven by John Ekstrom of 1212 North Seventeenth street, Superior. Ekstrom owns the machine, and was hauling crushed rock from the reservoir to a paving job on Victoria street for D. H. Clough & Co. He had just come down Mesaba avenue and had made the sharp turn east on the Boulevard and was going westward on the latter thoroughfare.

JOHN ERICKSON.

Ekstrom saw Erickson coming in front of him and he immediately shut off his power. According to Ekstrom, his truck was slowing down when Erickson, apparently putting the brakes on his motorcycle, lost control of his machine and fell directly underneath the front wheels of the motor truck. The front wheel passed over his head, crushing it.

Nobody to Blame.

Coroner McComb was immediately notified of the accident and he ordered the body removed to the Grady & Horgan undertaking rooms. After an investigation he declared that he could find no evidence of negligence or carelessness on the part of any one and that Erickson's death was purely an accident.

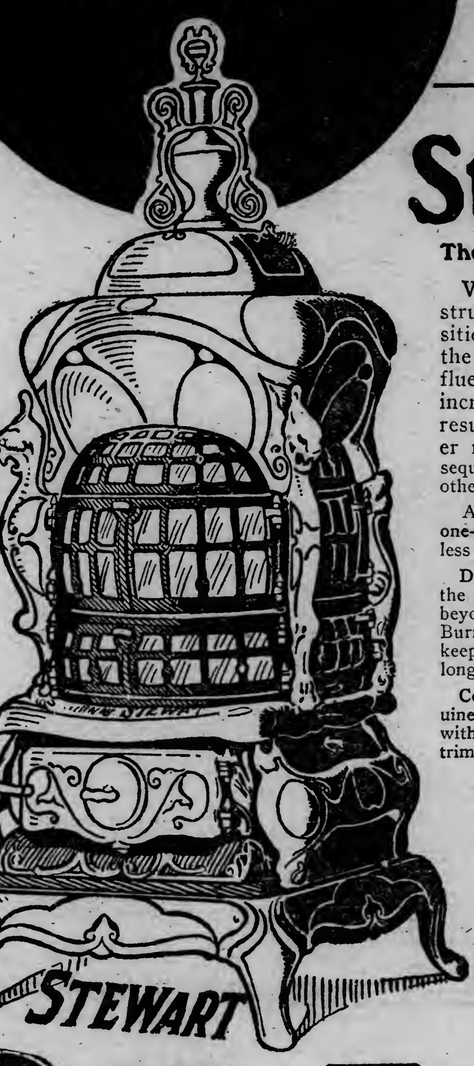

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the First Swedish Lutheran church, Sixth avenue east and Third street. Rev. Carl G. Swan will officiate and interment will take place in the Park Hill cemetery.

Mr. Erickson came to Duluth about thirteen years ago and entered the employ of Dixon & Lowry, with which company he remained five years. After that he formed a partnership with his brother-in-law, Axel Lindrose, with whom he remained for two years, at the end of which time he took the entire business over himself. He had no office and conducted his business from his residence, 215 West Seventh street.

Besides a widow, Mr. Erickson is survived by three small children, the youngest being only 3 months of ago.

HIS INITIALS WERE "J. K."

Tattoo Marks Only Clue to Identity of Accident Victim.

Little Ground for the Belief That He Was Murdered.

The initials "J. K." tattooed in red and blue ink on the right arm of the unknown man found with his skull crushed in the tunnel below Michigan street and Eleventh avenue west yesterday noon may prove a clew as to his identity. The discovery was made yesterday afternoon by James L. Crawford, undertaker, during the autopsy conducted by Deputy Coroner McAuliffe.

There was nothing else found on the dead man's person to disclose his identity, but the initials "J. K." may solve the mystery.

The police scout the murder theory that has been advanced, and believe that the unknown man met his death by falling off the cliff into the tunnel, a distance of about thirty feet. The report that the man's pockets were turned inside out, thus giving rise to the robbery and murder theory, is explained by the police with the statement that the man's clothes were searched after the discovery of the body and that the pockets were left turned out.

The body was discovered yesterday noon by John Ault, a workman employed on a new building near Tenth avenue west. He immediately informed the police and the body was later ordered removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms, where an autopsy was held yesterday afternoon by Deputy Coroner McAuliffe. He declared later that the man came to his death by a fractured skull, caused by a fall.

Unless the man is identified before tomorrow noon, he will be buried in the afternoon at the Park Hill cemetery as a county charge. The man is described as being about 40 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing 145 pounds and having dark hair and a sandy mustache. He was dressed as a laborer, and when found had a copy of Wednesday evening's Superior Telegram in his pocket.

SOCIALISTS AS WORLD POWER

Evangelist Sees in Them Fulfillment of Prophecy of Revelations.

Evangelist S. Mortenson from Chicago spoke last night to an attentive audience in the Scandinavian tent, Twenty-second avenue west and Superior street, on the subject, "When Will the Socialists, According to Prophecy, Come to World-Power?"

The speaker based his arguments on Rev. xvii, and from this he pointed out that many great events in the world are foretold. The last one of these is the coming up of a world-power, with a new policy which is when compared with the last of Rev. xvii, very much like the policy of the Socialists.

"The majority of them have no faith in the Bible," said the speaker, "and no confidence in the popular churches of today, neither have they much confidence in the present forms of governments among the nations. And according to their own platform, they plan to set up better government whenever they get a chance."

The speaker said further that the main characteristics of the last world-power compare closely with the policy of the Socialists in the following three points:

"1. Under the symbol of a mighty head, assisted by ten kings, the last world-power will war against the lamb (the true religion).

"2. It will also hate and destroy Babylon, the fallen church.

"3. The fact that it is a new head coming up after the other, indicates that there is going to be a change in the form of government in the last crisis of this world's history.

"In past ages the followers of Christ have often been persecuted by the worldly governments, but in this last crisis the worldly church will also come in great disfavor," said the speaker in closing.

Mr. Mortenson will speak tonight on the subject, "An Angel's World-Wide Message Today, the Most Important of the Age."

STIRS THE WRATH OF EX-DULUTHIAN

Statement of John Ross Arouses Patriotism of A. H. Smith.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Referring to an interview, published in The Duluth Herald of Sept. 9, with John Ross, clerk of your municipal court, would say that a number of ex-Duluthians have read this article with the utmost surprise, indignation and contempt. The whole interview as published in your paper is a contemptible misrepresentation of military affairs in Canada and the writer, who has known Mr. Ross for a number of years and has always considered him one of the best, together with all the rest of these old Duluth people, cannot conceive what was the matter with him when he gave that interview.

In the first place he says that the people of Canada on account of the war are becoming disheartened. Now, sir, there are no more patriotic people living in the British empire than the Canadians. They are not disheartened, they are enthusiastic and the only fear of the fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers is that the war will be over before our boys have had a chance to demonstrate what Canadians are willing to do for the flag. Mr. Ross says that the cream of Canada is "T-A-K-E-N" away for the battlefield and the whole countryside now mourns the absence of these young men. This is rot absolutely. Canada boasts a population of 8,000,000 and up to this moment only 30,000 troops have been mobilized at Valcartier out of this 8,000,000. Everyone of these troops is a volunteer, not one has been "taken." Even our volunteer regiments who could be called as a unit were not called, but members were asked to volunteer for this active service and it is needless to say they did, and we can raise 250,000 young men and old men who are willing and ready to sacrifice anything to go to the front, out of pure patriotism.

Mr. Ross says that in his home town nearly every young man has left for Quebec. He tells an untruth and he knows it. He says that mothers and wives are bemoaning their fate, but again he used the truth very carelessly. The mothers are proud to have their sons go. Young married men have not been accepted for volunteer service unless with the written consent of his wife and we have many cases on record where the wife has said to her husband, "Go."

Mr. Ross says it is heartrending to see the departure of whole companies for the front. is nothing of the kind. Winnipeg has furnished a larger contingent than any city in Canada and instead of it being heartrending it has been one simple joy to see the boys go and no tears have been shed and while we all know that if our Canadian boys get to the front many of them may not return, still when the boys left here, and I may say in every other city when they entrained for Valcartier they were accompanied by bands and their wives, mothers and sisters were singing patriotic songs instead of shedding tears.

Mr. Ross' whole interview is a libel on the people of Canada and the writer is willing to say this, that if Mr. Ross will return to Lucknow, Ont., from where he gives this interview and take a trip to Valcartier and advertise himself as the publisher of such an interview that he will return to Duluth with a face on him that looks like a piece of liver that has been run over by a steam roller. A more abominable travesty on the patriotism of Canadian people has never been published in print and never will again.

Four regiments have left Winnipeg and we have four more ready to go and no weeping, wailing or gnashing of teeth either. No family of any volunteer will suffer for one minute during the absence of the young men or the fathers who have gone or who stand ready at this minute to go. Money to take care of these families is pouring into our treasuries in millions and without casting any reflection whatever on our people will say that many families during this coming hard winter will probably be better off than they have been otherwise.

As stated before the writer has known Mr. Ross for some over twenty years and, unless Mr. Ross will apologize for this abominable item on the Canadian people, wishes to know him no more and I also add that the whole curling fraternity of the city of Winnipeg, amongst whom Mr. Ross is known to many, are also thoroughly disgusted with his unsportsmanlike interview.

Apologizing for using so much of your valuable space, but could not resist repudiating such a scurrilous article. Yours very truly,

A. H. SMITH.

EVANGELIST SPEAKS ON LAWS OF MOSES

Speaking last night at the Bible Chautauqua tent on West Second street, near the Y. M. C. A., on "Paul and Those 'Bewitched' Galatians," and illustrating with map, charts and chalk-talk the subject, Evangelist Stemple White said in part:

"Amid great and intense persecution, in which Paul was at one time stoned and dragged out of the city for dead, he and Barnabos raised up in the Galatian country the churches of Iconium, Lystra and Deibe, ordaining local elders at each place, and passed on to aggressive work in more needy fields.

"Unbelieving followers of the Pharisees from Judea, who had rejected Jesus, and who were still following along in many rites and shadowy services of the law of Moses (ceremonial not moral law) had, during Paul's absence from Galatia, traveled through Antioch, Cilicia and Galatia, teaching that 'except one is circumcised after the manner of Moses' and keep the 'law of Moses,' he cannot be saved. And it was to correct this very thing that Paul, five years later, wrote from Rome to the Galatian brethren, who had been induced by the Judean apostates to go back to observing the 'days, months, times, years' and other shadowy rites and ceremonies of the law of Moses. Paul told them that this law (ceremonial) had been 'added because of transgression until the seed should come' and that circumcision was nothing, (Gal. v., 6), and to 'stand fast therefore in the liberty' of Christ and 'not be entangled again with the yoke of bondage.' Paul, the former Pharisee, never served the ceremonial law after his conversion, but did plainly declare that 'with the mind, I myself serve the law of God.' (Rom. vii., 25.)

"The law of Moses with all its shadowy rites, ordinances and ceremonies, annual shifting rest days as described in Leviticus xxiii, perished by limitation at the death of Christ, and we read that 'the veil of the temple was rent in twain from top to bottom.' No wonder that Paul wrote the Ephesians and the Colosians telling them the 'handwriting of ordinances' was nailed to the cross, (Eph. ii., 15) and that the meat offerings, drink offerings, annual holy days and annual sabbath days (not the eternally weekly fixed sabbath day of creation) 'which are a shadow,' are not to be observed. The Galatians were thus established as commandment keepers of God's law by faith in Christ, and many of them will be among the redeemed in the new earth where, from sabbath to sabbath, all the Israel of God will worship before the Lord. (Isaiah lxvi., 22-23.)

"The gospel is to save us from sin and not in sin. It is the sinner that God calls to repentence, not the righteous. Obey God."

Tonight Mr. White will speak on "Health and Temperance."

BELTRAMI COUNTY FAIR IS SUCCESS

Fine Exhibits of Products of County Are Being Made.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the big day of the Beltrami county fair. The fair began Wednesday and there is every indication that when it closes tonight, it will have been the most successful exhibition of the kind ever held here.

The new exhibit hall is filled to overflowing with the prize products of Beltrami county, some of the exhibits being the best ever shown here. The Summit Better Farming and Port Hope Farmers' clubs have exhbits that are attracting much attention.

Dubois to Speak.

The program of sports this afternoon, together with a public address by Dr. J. A. DuBois of Sauk Center, Democratic candidate for congress, the present representative from this district, is expected to bring out the largest crowd of the fair. Dr. DuBois will be the only outside public speaker.

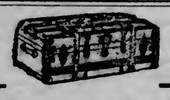

C. E. Brown of the Crookston agricultural school, judge of the poultry, expressed gratification at the individual exhibits and had special praise for the exhibits of the school children which he said were as large and as fine as any that he has seen in the state.

The corn that is being shown is fully matured and is positive evidence that corn can be successfully grown in this latitude.

The public schools are closed this afternoon and the teachers and pupils will be admitted to the fair free. The stores will also be closed, in order that the employes may attend Beltrami's biggest fair.

DYNAMITE IN STOVE; GIRL BADLY HURT.

Sheboygan, Wis., Sept. 19.—Lorma Roepke, aged 13, of Sheboygan Falls, was probably fatally injured when an explosion wrecked a cook stove. The girl was seated at a table ten feet away and the stove door was blown against her chest. The authorities believe that dynamite was placed in wood for revenge and expect to make an arrest soon.

Woman's Realm

Tonight at the Spalding the brilliant Eighteenth century will catch a breath of modern life in the picture pageant and ball given under the auspices of the Drama league with masterpieces of art portrayed by living models. The program offers every variety of portrait. The new Craig-Rhinehart idea of an open stage will be one of the features of the affair.

No little curiosity has been aroused over Queen Marie Antoinette. Is she a matron or a debutante, dark or fair, tall or short? Her identity will not be known until tonight when she will enter with her suite that will include Miss Isabel Patrick and Miss Barbara Rupley, ladies in waiting; Harvey Williamson and George Wells, pages; Ellwood Matlock and Robert Barnes, trumpeters, and Helen Dancer, Margaret Ames, Florence Draper and Phyllis Shaw, flower bearers. Miss Josephine Cotton will be the usher to the queen.

The royal danseuse will be Miss Berta Schmied, who will be gowned as was the wonderful La Camargo in the heyday of her glory. She will give an interpretive dance to a "Bacchanale."

The La Brosse orchestra will furnish the music for the portraits and for the dancing that will follow.

Tomorrow the children's art matinee and dance will be given. All the decorations will be left intact and many of the pictures from tonight's program will be shown again. Miss Gertrude Collins will portray "A Young Princess," by Netscher; Miss Vera Lindahl, "Jeune Fille et Chien," by Levy; Miss Martha Wall, "L'Innocence," by Greuze, and "A Young Cavalier," by Master Stewart Peyton.

PEACE LETTER.

Woman's Club of Minneapolis Asks for Protest Against War.

At the meeting of the executive board of the Woman's club of Minneapolis, held last week, it was decided to send a peace letter and peace stamps to all clubs in the state and to all state federations in the country. The peace stamps bear the words, "America's Appeal! In the name of one God and universal humanity, let this war end war." The letter is:

"The Minneapolis Woman's club is appealing to you to assist it in a national movement of protest against war madness. The vast correspondence of Earl Gray with the chancelleries of Europe before the outbreak of the present wasteful and inhuman war makes constant reference to 'public opinion.' According as public opinion in these United States is mad or sane shall we be involved or free from the same entanglements. But it does not do to wait until the moment of irritation before expressing public opinion. The wise thing is to let it flame up in no uncertain words from a myriad sources. And who ought to bear a part in this if not the women? We, who know the preciousness of human life from its very beginnings, ought to be the first to protest against its wanton waste. Can we not bend all our energies to creating a peace sentiment in this country that shall guard our nation and help to strengthen the wiser feeling in other lands, whose present sufferings move us to pity and terror?

"Will you not send out an appeal to your state or your individual club to voice its peace-desiring sentiments and keep voicing them?

"We are inclosing a sample of a peace stamp which our club has adopted and shall send out to club women by the thousand. If you should care to use them, we can help you to secure them. They can be used on envelopes except in the upper right-hand corner."

Mrs. T. G. Winter, president of the Woman's club, has been appointed chairman of the department of literature and library extension of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs to fill the place left vacant by the death of Mrs. Frances Squire Potter. Miss Josephine Brower of St. Cloud is vice chairman of this department, upon which many clubs throughout the country depend for their programs.

INVENTORY OF U. S. COMPANY'S FLEET.

Since the United States Steel corporation has offered to put forty or fifty of its ships at the disposal of the government, the fact has been brought out—not generally known—that the corporation has four ocean-going steamers and a larger number on the Great Lakes and the Ohio river than most people supposed. The corporation's fleet consists of the following, aside from the ocean-going steamers:

Great Lakes—Steamers, 77; steel barges, 21; tugs, 2; one scow.

Ohio river—Steamers, 2; steel barges, 51; wooden barges, 51.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

It is Difficult to Obtain Household Help.

It seems incredible, with girls and women needing work, that there is such a dearth of females willing to give of their strength and ability to help keep other women's houses in order. It becomes increasingly difficult all the time, even with shops and mills working half time or less, and other forms of business reducing their staffs of workers. It hurts me to think of the good homes and the fair wages going begging, while somewhere in the world are, no one knows how many, young women who would like it and fill it satisfactorily.

The right kind of young woman could be a foster-daughter, or something akin to it, to many women in search of household helpers. She would have a nice home, good food and good wages, compared with the average in a store or shop, and better than all else, she would have the companionship and interest of people who might think of her future, and old age.

Not to be too glowing in my account of the advantages many a young woman would find in domestic service, I am prepared to say that in all probability every such position has its drawbacks. I cannot tell what those drawbacks may be; only a trial will divulge them. This much I do know, though, and that is, that there are not any more imperfections, humiliations and all-around disadvantages in doing other people's housework than there are for working for another person, no matter what the line of endeavor.

I have a friend, an intelligent, helpful woman, who has a son and daughter not unknown to fame, one as an engineer in the West, the other as an educator in an Eastern city. She lives on a great farm in New England. Most of the year she is alone, save for her animals and the men she employs. She would like a woman companion, a younger woman, one to assist her and be her right hand, yet she must be companionable and not in any sense a servant.

Would you believe that this woman would have any difficulty in securing such a person as a helper and housemate? She has a beautiful home, with every comfort and modern convenience, all the magazines, and living a queen might envy, yet it is quite impossible to find a woman who is willing to work, who will not abuse confidence or privilege and who can be companionable. Three years have discouraged my friend in her quest; still I am confident that the world holds many who would appreciate such a home.

ON THE IRON RANGES

LOUIS D. ROSE PRIZE WINNER

Makes Best Display of Farm Produce at Lake County Fair.

Duluth Day Winding Up Successful Fair, Many Duluthians Attending.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Regardless of the threatening weather today, many people attended the county fair this morning. This is Duluth day, with many Zenith City people present, and the last day of the largest and most successful fair ever held by the Lake County Agricultural society. The fair will close at 11 o'clock this evening.

Last night about 2,000 people crowded the fair buildings, until it was almost impossible to get around. The attendance this evening is expected to be equally as large. About thirty automobile loads of Duluthians arrived here about 11 o'clock today and the Duluthians were given a royal welcome by officers of the society.

The special train from Duluth arrived here about 2 o'clock bringing more Duluthians. On account of the exceptional stock exhibit on hand this year, the officers of the association decided to have a stock parade at 3 p. m. today. All the down-town streets will be paraded, and according to officials there will be in the neighborhood of 200 head of live stock in the parade, which will include about thirty head of pure breds. The Two Harbors Marine band will head the parade.

The judging in all the departments took place yesterday afternoon. Competition in every department, especially in the livestock, was very keen, and it required considerable time and energy to complete the work before night. Everyone appears to be well satisfied with the judgment of those in charge of the work.

Wins Iron Range Prize.

The competition for the special Duluth & Iron Range road prizes were very keen. Louis D. Rose won the prize of $25 for the best display exhibition of farm produce. Mr. Rose had on exhibition for the Iron Range display over 200 varieties of farm produce. S. M. Jensen of Silver Creek won the Iron Range second prize, amounting to $15, for the second best display. The other four special prizes amounting to $5 each for farm displays were awarded George Waldron, Mrs. August Marker, Frank De Fuy and Mrs. Mayfield. The Lincoln Boys' club won the prize of $5 for the best display of garden truck exhibited by any club, and the Stewart River Girls' club won the prize offered for the best display of garden produce exhibited by any girls' club.

George Watts of this city won first prize of $5, offered by the Iron Range road for the best bushel of potatoes, and E. E. Cavalin of Waldo took the $5 prize for the best collection of stock roots.

In the homecroft department, Fred D. W. Thias won the first prize of $10 for the best collection of garden produce raised on two or less city lots. Mrs. John LeClair won second prize of $8. George Watts won the prize for the best collection grown on over two lots.

Waldo Man Wins.

The special prizes offered by the Lake County Farmers' club, were won as follows: Best collection of stock roots, E. E. Cavalin, Waldo. The prizes for the best collection of garden produce and best display of alfalfa hay were both won by Ernest Cavalin. The total entries in the agricultural department was 379, or an increase of 33 per cent over last year.

The entries in the women's departments run away above last year. The total entries this year were over 1,200. The total displays or entries in all departments are in the neighborhood of 2,500. If the show increases in the future as much as it has in the past, the officials are sure that they will have to provide one or more buildings for next year. The stock department alone passed all expectations and is in itself a show well worth seeing. The department has attracted particular attention during all three days of the fair; hundreds of people could be counted gazing at the stock at any time of the day.

In the poultry department, Fred D. W. Thias, a chicken fancier and member of the fair association, won all the more important prizes.

The band will play this afternoon and evening.

PAL BROWN, FARMER.

Range Boxer Developing Quite a Farm Near Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pal Brown, the range lightweight boxer, is quite an agriculturist. His farm, eleven miles north of this village, is being developed along scientific lines and intensified farming and thoroughbred stock raising are two of the branches of farm work which Pal is giving his personal attention. He owns three O. I. C. pigs, which, in addition to being pedigreed stock, made a very creditable showing at the St. Louis county fair, two sows winning first and second prizes in their class and the boar, in addition to winning first prize in his class, won the sweepstakes over all boar pigs entered. These pigs are about 3 months old and weigh 100 pounds each and were recently procured from a Cleveland, Ohio, breeder.

Mr. Brown is also giving much attention to special grains and vegetables with a view to increasing the yield, etc. He is building several new buildings on his farm preparatory to getting ready to care for this stock this winter and next year will embark on a still larger scale. He finds the exercise of farm work beneficial to his training.

SAYS SULPHUR IS SURE TO RELIEVE ITCHING ECZEMA

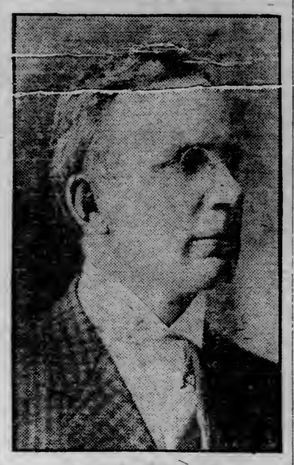

Get An Ounce of Bold-Sulphur Cream and Heal Skin Eruptions Right Up.

Any breaking out or irritation on the face, arms, legs or body when accompanied by itching, or when the skin is dry and feverish, can be readily overcome by applying a little bold-sulphur cream, says a noted dermatologist.

He informs us that bold-sulphur instantly allays the angry itching and irritation and soothes and heals the Eczema right up leaving the skin clear and smooth. Bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position for many years in the treatment of cutaneous disorders because of its parasite-destroying property. Nothing has ever been found to take its place in treating the irritable and inflammatory skin affections. While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails to subdue the itching irritation and drive the Eczema away and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

Those troubled should obtain at any pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur cream which is applied to the affected parts in the same manner as an ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded, particularly in itching Eczema, proves very welcome.

BAD COLDS? TAKE CASCARETS FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No Headache, Constipation, Bad Cold or Sour Stomach by Morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

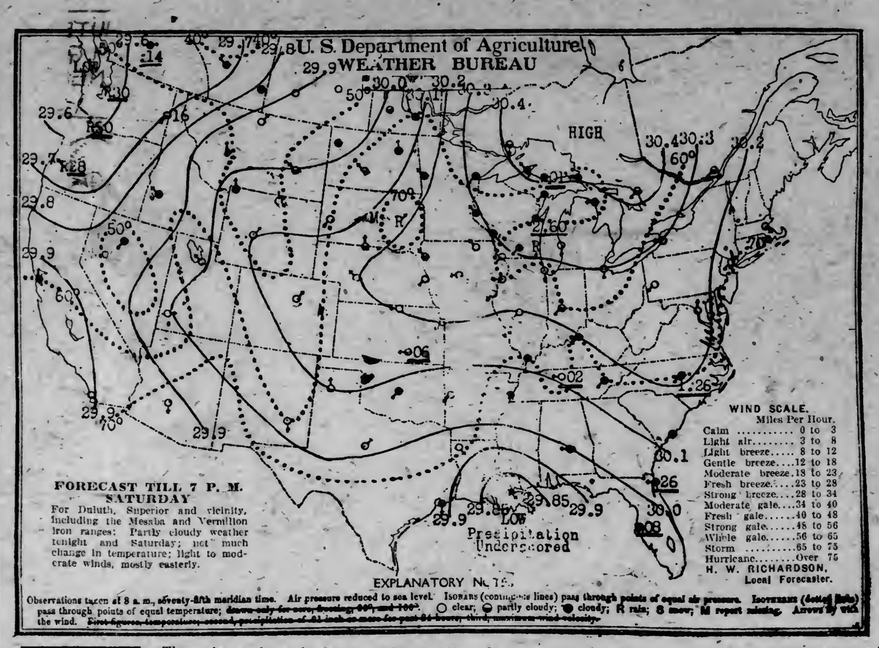

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

CLOUDY

There is such a thing, evidently, in boasting about weather that in doing so, one should knock wood. This column said all kinds of nice things about the weather yesterday and they held good up to some time during the night. Then the clouds were slipped over on Duluth and today is gray, cheerless and cold.

A year ago today was fine but cool. The sun rose this morning at 5:50 and will set this evening at 6:12, giving twelve hours and twenty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Hot weather continued Thursday throughout the greater portion of the Southwest. Compared with Thursday morning the temperature has risen somewhat over the Northwest. Showers fell during Thursday or last night over North Pacific districts, Eastern South Dakota, Kansas, Southeastern Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, Central Tennessee and South Atlantic states. Heavy rains fell at Green Bay, Wis., and Raleigh, N. C."

ALLEGE ROBBERY WAS ALL FRAME-UP

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Hakkonen and William Salmela were taken from the local jail to Gilbert today to have a preliminary hearing before Judge Walsh on the charge of highway robbery. It is alleged they robbed Mrs. John Niemi, wife of a Gilbert miner, of $405 in gold representing her husband's savings of many months.

According to a reputed confession made by Salmela, Hakkonen and Mrs. Niemi were infatuated with each other and they planned to elope. It is said he confessed that Hakkonen made arrangements with the woman recently to meet him at their trysting place, near Gilbert and bring all her husband's savings.

Woman Brings Money.

The woman appeared with the money and while the two were discussing their plans to leave Salmela burst in upon them and in the guise of a robber held the pair up getting away with the $405. Then, according to the report, Hakkonen and Salmela, according to agreement, met at the depot and took the train for Duluth, being arrested in the Zenith city while enjoying the money amid the bright lights. They were brought here where, after much "sweating", Salmela is alleged to have exposed the whole conspiracy to rob the woman.

Dandruff Surely Destroys the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

AFTER YOU ARE FORTY

Forty years is middle age or should be. People who squander their youth are old at forty; everybody needs to give a little more care to health and careful living after passing the fortieth milestone.

The reserve of strength is not what it used to be. Nature needs a little help if we are to continue the work and worry of modern life. To most people Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, non-alcoholic, but a supporting tonic, gives just the necessary assistance.

These pills make the thin blood rich and red, carry nourishment to weak and inflamed nerves, increase the appetite and make digestion normal, correct sleeplessness and most forms of headache. Try them for any trouble caused by thin blood or weak nerves such as anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, indigestion, sick headache or St. Vitus' dance. It is surprising how many diseases are due to thin and impure blood, how quickly they yield when by proper treatment the blood is built up and the starved nerves nourished. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no poisonous or habit-forming drugs and cannot do harm.

Pamphlets on the treatment of diseases of the blood and nerves will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

BURIED WITH HIS DAUGHTER

John B. Heimick Called Following Death of His Child.

Well Known Duluthian Passes Away After Long Illness.

John B. Heimick, 41 years old, secretary-treasurer of the Union Match company and one of the well known business men of Duluth, who died yesterday afternoon of tuberculosis at his residence, 2526 Greysolon road, will be buried tomorrow afternoon with his 7-year-old daughter, Mary, who died last Sunday at Milwaukee. The double funeral will take place at 2:30 o'clock from the residence and interment will be in the Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. C. N. Thorp of the Pilgrim Congregational church will conduct the services.

Mr. Heimick had been in ill-health for the last four months and recently spent two weeks at a tuberculosis sanitarium at Stevens Point. His condition became worse during the last few weeks and he finally succumbed yesterday afternoon. His little daughter died at Milwaukee last Sunday, but the knowledge of it was kept from Mr. Heimick until a short time before his death yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Heimick was born on Nov. 16, 1872, and came to Duluth in July, 1892. He left the city after a few months, but returned twelve years ago, and has resided here since that time. He was secretary-treasurer of the Union Match company at the time of his death, although he had taken no active part in the management of the factory since he was taken ill four months ago. He was a member of the Ionic lodge of Masons for many years.

Besides a widow Mr. Heimick is survived by three children, John, Florence and Virginia. Mary was the fourth child. His mother, two brothers, Frank and Philip, and one sister, Miss Helen Heimick, all of Duluth, also survive him.

RUNAWAY BOYS ARE BROUGHT HOME

Alvah Burt, 13, and Harvey Bourgeric, 15, who disappeared last Tuesday afternoon, were last evening found by a section foreman at Palmer's Siding, where the boys were attempting to go to sleep in a shed. The police were notified and the boys were later brought to their homes.

John Sundberg, section foreman at Palmer, saw two boys from Duluth, and as the descriptions in the press tallied with those of the boys, he watched them during the evening. After the pair had crawled into a shed for the night, Sundberg telephoned police headquarters and Detective Schulte was sent out after them.

After being brought to the station, the boys told the police that they had walked to Two Harbors last Tuesday, spending the night there in a shed and the following night in a caboose. They were glad to get back, they said, and were eager to be taken to their homes.

Alvah lives with his sister at 5103 London road, and Harvey's parents live at 927 East Fifth street.

FIVE ROBBERS MAKE RICH HAUL OF GEMS

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 18.—Diamonds and other jewelry valued at $60,000 were obtained early today by five masked robbers at the home here of Mrs. Nellie Clark.

The robbers in an automobile forced entrance to the house where they cut the telephone wires and compelled Mrs. Clark to open the safe where she kept her valuables. They then bound her and Margie Miller, a companion of Mrs. Clark, and drove away. Mrs. Clark's chauffeur later in an automobile followed the robbers to the outskirts of Momence, where he found their abandoned machine overturned in a corn field.

STEEL PLANT SUBURBS

SUBURB EXHIBITS OF PRIZE QUALITY

Garden Produce Will Be Big Feature at Exposition.

New Duluth, Fond du Lac, and other suburbs in the western end of the city will be well represented with garden truck at the Duluth Industrial exposition which will open at the Duluth Curling rink next Monday. R. L. Taylor, secretary of the New Duluth Commercial club, announced yesterday that the display would exceed the expectations of many members of the club.

Almost every resident of New Duluth has had a garden this year. Vegetables of fine quality have been raised and have been a big factor in reducing the cost of living for the residents.

"If we do not have one of the biggest exhibits, we expect to take the prize for the best," said Mr. Taylor. "We shall have a dray load of produce to take to the exposition, and all that is taken will be of prize quality. The display will put this end of the city on the map as a gardening center."

WILL ORGANIZE FOR WINTER SPORT

Steps are being taken by sportsmen in the suburb for the organizing of a central club which will have control of varied winter sports this season. The club's activities, according to plans outlined, will include hockey and skating, curling, skiing and a number of other outdoor sports.

If sufficient support in the enrolling of membershipp can be secured, it is planned to lease ground for the building of a rink as well as a ski slide. Another scheme advanced is to secure the old Atlas building at the foot of Commonwealth avenue, arrange this for a skating rink as well as curling.

A hockey team will be organized and several rinks for curling. A ski slide could be cheaply erected on the hall, say the promoters.

Among those who are said to be back of the proposed club and who intend taking an active part in its work are Walter L. Dash, Frank Wache, Louis S. Zalk, Fred Damkroeger, L. R. Taylor, L. A. Root and others who were members of the two baseball teams representing this end of the city during the past summer.

SPLIT FEES ARE SCORED

President of North Dakota Bar Association Raps Practice.

He Also Advocates Doing Away With Traditional Delays of Law.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The practice of "splitting" fees, alleged to be indulged in by some members of the North Dakota Bar association, came in for a scoring by John Knauf, of Jamestown, the newly elected president of the association at the meeting being held here. He also urged devising means to expedite judicial work by doing away with delays.

Fargo was given the next meeting, and H. J. Sellor was re-elected secretary.

As to Juvenile Courts.

Judge C. W. Buttz was one of the principal speakers today, dealing with the question of the juvenile court. His remarks had to do largely with the supervision of juvenile matters in the thinly populated districts, where, Judge Buttz says, there is just as much need for close attention to the children, as there is in the thickly populated districts.

Prof. Wilgus of the University of Michigan spoke on corporations, while Dean Vance of the University of Minnesota discussed primary election laws.

Last night the visiting barristers were given a banquet by the Grand Forks Bar association, Tracy R. Banks being the toastmaster.

Secretary Sellor, in his annual report, showed the membership to have made great gains during the past year, and he was hopeful for a total of 500 enrolled members before the next meeting is held.

MUCH IS INVESTED IN STATE ASYLUM

North Dakota Institution More Valuable Than Seats of Learning.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota has invested more money in the state asyum than in its university, according to the report of State Auditor Jorgenson, filed with Governor Hanna.

The asylum for the insane is valued, according to Mr. Jorgenson's figures, at $20,000 more than the state university, and $100,000 more than the state agricultural college. It also has a value greater than the combined value of the three state normal schools, and one or two other smaller state schools thrown in.

The asylum for the insane is listed at $957,049; it has an equipment of thirty-six buildings, greater than that of any other state institution, and it owns 1,197 acres of land, all under cultivation.

The university is valued at $935,338, and the state agricultural association is listed at $858,674.

Cost More Than Either.

In the matter of buildings only, values of equipment, etc., being deducted, the state asylum has cost the state about $300,000 more than either the university or the agricultural college.

Coupled with the present estimates of the values of the institutions, there is the report of the estate board of control, which will show the need for further investments at the state asylum for the insane aggregating about $200,000 to $300,000—and possibly even greater.

The total value of all state institutions, penal and reformatory institutions is $6,323,329. About $200,000 of this sum is represented in equipment.

STRUGGLE FATAL FOR CROSBY BOY

Heart Trouble Claims Youth Trying to Support His Family.

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Ingis, the eldest son of Mrs. C. Ingis, died yesterday of chronic heart trouble, after an illness lasting over two years. The father died last spring, and the boy, who was but 19 years old, was the mainstay of the mother, as there are four smaller children in the family. When the father died and left the family in destitute circumstances, the boy spurned the offer of the village to help pay for the funeral expenses, saying he would work and repay it all, but he was only able to continue work for a short time owing to the heart trouble.

Mrs. Thomas Thomas, the wife of an Austrian miner, died Wednesday morning of heart trouble, from which she suffered for nearly a year. She leaves a husband and an infant child of 6 months.

ASSAILANT OF COOK IS FOUND GUILTY

Bemidji Man Is Convicted of Manslaughter in Second Degree.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manslaughter in the second degree was the verdict of the jury in the case of the State of Minnesota vs. John Hoffman, who, it was alleged, shot at Paul Peterson, cook in a local hotel, with intent to kill, last July, after the two men had quarreled.

The jury deliberated on the evidence less than three hours. Following the Hoffman case, the case of Swift & Co. vs. Mrs. C. E. Flatley, for an alleged bill of $300 for meat purchased in 1909, was tried. The evidence was in in a few hours, and in ten minutes after the case went to the jury a verdict was returned for the defendant.

Decide for Defendants.

The case of Emma Campbell vs. Martin Aarstad and Lauritz Ask, all of Clearwater, which was retried here this week, after having gone to the supreme court, was decided in favor of the defendants, the jury being out from Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock until Wednesday afternoon at 5:45. Mrs Campbell sought to recover $6,000 for an alleged assault by the defendants following a quarrel over rights to the hay on a certain piece of meadow land in Clearwater county.

Owing to the fact that the jury in the Campbell case required so many hours in their deliberations, two special venires were issued before a jury could be secured to hear the evidence in the Hoffman case.

There are still several cases on the calendar, and the present term of district court will probably not be completed until next week.

If it is eczema, pimples, boils or worse—your safeguard is S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. It is always lined up to attack diseased blood. And it always does the work. It does the work after disappointment, after alleged specialists, mercury, iodides, strychnine, arsenic and other destructive drugs that have reaped a harvest of mistakes and left a host of invalids guessing as to what is to come. S. S. S. is not such a drug as the cupidity or ignorance of man would be able to produce. It is Nature's wonderful contribution to our necessities. It is wonderful because it can not be imitated; can not be made any other way than to assemble Nature's products and produce what a host of men know as S. S. S., the world's greatest medicine. There are people everywhere that had an old sore or ulcer that defied all the salves known. And yet S. S. S. taken into the blood just naturally put into that old sore the elements that made new tissue, new flesh, and covered it with a new coating of healthy skin. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist and be on the way to perfect blood health. But beware of substitutes. For special advice consult the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 55 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. DO not think that a soap must be perfumed to be suitable for the bath and toilet.

This is true of some soaps. It is not true of Ivory.

There is no perfume more pleasing than the clean, natural odor of Ivory's high grade materials. Ivory Soap is so sweet and pure that to add a perfume to it would be like "painting the lily."

Just Between You and Me

By BRUCE

ABE ATTELL sat in a pair of brilliant pink pajamas in the Holland hotel and discussed fighters. Attell and Johnny Kilbane are going to fight—therefore the conversation of Attell is conveyed back to us in a through special of the memory route.

"Kilbane," said Attell, as he languorously dangled one pajamaed limb over the other pajamaed limb, "is one of the cleverest fellows in the world—but he can't hit hard enough to knock your hat off.

"I tried to box with him and lost. He almost cried when I nearly gave him a black eye. I called him a baby and told him to come out and fight. If I ever get him in the ring again—" * * * and here an intent and civilized murderous look shot across the swarthy countenance of Attell—"I'll murder him!"

This conversation took place last summer. Maybe some of the readers of this column will recall the time, as they took their wives to see Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw.

Time passes and brings lots of events in its wake. Attell, once one of the greatest fighters of all time, one of the few fighters of the immediate past that can honestly be accused of having class—Attell the discard of Time's shuffled pack of cards, is to get the longed for chance at the title.

"Kilbane," said a famous sporting writer to us one time, "beat Attell at three ways of fighting. I don't know whether everyone in the Vernon arena got it, but the exhibition of brains upon the part of Attell was one of the greatest exhibitions of the modern prize ring.

"Attell was outboxed and outfought and out outroughed. Attell tried to box with Kilbane and was outclassed. He tried to rough Kilbane and the little Irishman beat him here. In the final round of the twenty Kilbane came through and used his right and outfought the former champion of the world."

Time leers at the puny efforts of man and overthrows the greatest of institutions, of which man is at the head. Napoleon fell; so did John L. Sullivan. Attell is less a champion today than when he first entered the ring to battle Kilbane. If Attell wins he will have achieved the pugilistic miracle of the age. It will be the Napoleonic return from Elba. You can write your own ticket—old Nell Precedent points a long and bony forefinger at the shining and crowned head of Kilbane.

Comparisons Are Odious.

ONE of the delicious pink papers of the Pacific coast compares Jack Johnson with Consul, a trained Chimpanzee. While this no doubt will please Darwinians, it's kind of tough on Consul.

Viewing the Angles.

THE Boston Nationals are classed as the smartest baseball team in the National league. Also, another little thing—the Boston Nationals have one of the smartest managers in the majors.

But Chief Bender has not lost a game since May 26—and Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, John Franklin Baker and Jack McInnes are feeling in excellent condition.

Viewing the situation from the angles presented in this pressing day of judgment, it rather occurs to us that the majority of the baseball sharps will string along with the Mack machine, no matter who the opposing brigade may happen to be.

The Cautious Cornelius.

CONNIE MACK is taking no chances—already he is studying the dope in the strange and rather sudden case of Boston. It is quite safe to say that Connie knows what each member of the Boston team eats for breakfast, his superstititions, his strength and weakness at bat and some traits of family history. While some of the followers of the game have stated that it would prove a psychologically impossible fact for the Giants to win, it may prove quite a prodigious battle for the Bostonese to cop the larger per cent of the world's series money.

Giants Again Winners.

New York, Sept. 18.—New York won another easy victory from Cincinnati yesterday. Douglass was very wild, walking eight men and hitting another, so that the champions scored with little hitting. New York's three runs in the fourth were scored without a hit. Burns drew three passes and on his last time up hit a home run with two on bases. Matheweson was strong throughout and allowed only six hits. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Yingling, Douglass and Gonzales; Matheweson and Meyers, Johnson. Umpires—Byron and O'Connor.

Goes Ten Innings.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Chicago won from Brooklyn yesterday in ten innings. It was a pitchers' battle between Vaughn and Reulbach for nine innings. In the tenth the Brooklyn twirler lost his effectiveness, allowing a double to Schulte and singles to Fisher and Sweeney, Good and Saier. Chicago's other run came in the seventh on Zimmerman's single and Fisher's triple. Brooklyn's lone tally, in the second, resulted from a pass to Egan and singles by McCarty and Daubert. Fisher was spiked in the wrist by McCarty in sliding home in the tenth. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	5	11	1
Brooklyn	1	8	1

Batteries — Vaughn and Archer; Reulbach and McCarty. Umpires—Klem and Emslie.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

GALAHAD TO PLAY HERE

Central Schedules Game With Well Known Wisconsin School.

It was announced today that the crack Galahad school football team of Hudson, Wis., will play Duluth Central high school at Duluth on Oct. 3.

Coached by J. P. Inglis, a former Wisconsin man, and having this season some of the crack high school players of the Northwest, Galahad's prospects for this season are said to be the brightest in the history of the school.

With a backfield made up of players who have been "courteously" solicited by Chicago, Minnesota and Wisconsin as well as Michigan, and a star punter who is said to rival the sensational punting executed in 1912 by Gilette of Wisconsin, Galahad will bring to Duluth what is rated as one of the crack high school grade teams of the Middle West.

The game was secured after over a week of dickering and communication between the representatives of the two schools. For several seasons efforts without avail have been made to secure a game between the two teams. Interest in Galahad is largely increased in Duluth from the fact that the Hudson school numbers many graduates among Duluth young men.

It was largely this graduate influence that was responsible for securing what promises to be one of the biggest games on the schedule of the local team. The contest with Galahad should be one of the big events of the high school football season.

YOUR HAT, MR. B. B.! HOWDY, MR. FOOTBALL!

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 18.—Michigan's only chance of football success this year lies in building up a strong line. This is the opinion of coaches and players, and while Coach Yost and his assistants are as pessimistic as usual, the player are more than confident. The backs and ends are good, according to Yost. The game with Harvard overshadows all other association games.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 18.—Badger football practice will begin soon under Coach Bill Juneau, who is endeavoring to build a championship team with but one regular "back" Bellows, in the back field. A new assistant coach will devote himself to the line, and there are others to strengthen special positions. Hoy Clayton, oarsman, is regarded as a likely candidate for fullback.

HUGE SQUAD ON THE FIELD

More Than Sixty Candidates Out for High School Team.

Alumni Stand Excellent Chance of Winning First Game.

Coach Glyer of the Central high school football team had sixty-three candidates on the field yesterday. This is one of the largest squads that the high school has had in some years. While the squad is numerically large, the material is light, and it looks as if the present season's team will be pounds lighter than the husky hilltop aggregation of 1913.

Scrimmage practice was indulged in by two picked teams. As yet no real attempt has been made in the direction of team work, most of the time being spent in teaching the new men the essentials of the game. Catching and running back punts took up a large part of the practice period of yesterday.

Last evening the grads held the first practice for the high school-alumni game of tomorrow. The other practice periods will be held this evening. Two baths, one shave, no smoking, five signals, and a lot of good resolutions will compose the preparation of the stalwart alumni team for the contest with the high school.

From the present look of things, the alumni team stands an excellent chance of winning. Capt. Kerr has only a few of last years D men to throw into the breach against the alumni team, and the game coming so early in the season will rob the high school boys of the advantage of team work and good condition, that would stand in good stead before the game scheduled for a later date.

Alumni Will be Strong.

The majority of the members of the alumni team have played together for several seasons. While it is not expected that the team work of the grads will be smooth and flawless, nevertheless the experience of playing together in the past will serve to smooth out a lot of rough spots.

While Coach Glyer has a prodigious task ahead of him in the molding of an average team, it is generally believed that the high school will be represented by a light and fast eleven of real scoring ability.

LEACH MAY MEET BROWN

Cross Offered Inducements to Meet Range Boy.

Negotiations were entered into today between representatives of the Twin Ports Boxing club and Sam Wallach, looking toward the arrangement of a boxing contest between Leach Cross of New York city and Pal Brown.

Sam Wallach is the manager of Brother Leacie and looks after all of the business of his famous relative.

While the original terms named by Wallach are considered prohibitive by the officials of the club of the other side of the bay, it is believed that Cross may descend somewhat in his demands and listen to reason in the matter of a guarantee.

The negotiations entered into today are the result of a conference held with Cross after the defeat of Johnny Tillman, when the little New York dentist told one of the Abrams boys that he would come to the Head of the Lakes and battle Brown, should he be assured of a substantial guarantee.

At the present time the opinion of Cross and Brother Sam Wallach and the Superior promoters as to the amount of a "reasonable" guarantee, is widely different. It is to be hoped that the hiatus of dissenting opinion may be bridged, as Cross looks like one lightweight who would give the fans a return for their money. The New Yorker is a tough battler and of the style eminently fitted to test the capabilities of Brown.

DIRECTUM ALMOST TIES THE RECORD

Wonderful Pacer Makes Great Attempt Against Minor Heir's Mark.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—Directum I paced an unusual mile here yesterday in a trial against his record of 2:00, as an exhibition in connection with the state fair races.

Driven by Ray Snedecker and accompanied by a runner, driven by Tom Murphy, the chestnue stallion paced the first quarter in 30 seconds, the half in 1:01, the three-quarters in 1:30 and then paced the last quarter in 28¾ seconds, making the mile in 1:58¾, next to Minor Heir's mark of 1:58½, which is claimed to be the fastest mile ever paced in the open.

Lord Dewey, in another exhibition trial, failed to beat his trotting mark of 2:03¾. He made the distance in 2:04¼. Besides the exhibition trials, three races were on the program. Brighton B. won the last three heats and the race in the 2:12 trot, after Bertha Cary had taken the first two heats. Marta Bellini was an easy winner in the 2:10 trot and King Couchman won the $5,000 pace after it had gone five heats.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 18.—Excellent time was made in the state fair races yesterday. Sienna, winner of the $10,000 Hartford stake, featuring the day by winning the 2:16 trot in excellent time.

DOWN TO SEMI-FINALS.

Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago Players in Women's Golf Tourney.

Glen Cove, N. Y., Sept. 18.—As a result of yesterday's play for the women's national golf championship the issue lies between the Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago players who will meet in the semi-finals today on the Nassau Country club's links.

Miss Lillian B. Hyde, on whom the Metropolitan section depended, lost yesterday to Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, the Philadelphia champion, who played splendidly from the thirteenth green, where Miss Hyde seemed to have a winning lead of three up. On the next four holes, Mrs. Barlow outdid the local champion, who putted very poorly, the Philadelphia player winning the match on the home hole, which was halved in fives, by 1 up.

Miss Eleanor V. Rosenthal, the young Chicago player who represents Ravisloe Country club, won a hard match from Miss Florence McNeeley of Philadelphia. They had to play an extra hole before the match ended in favor of the Chicago girl, who will be the sole representative of the Western divisions in the semi-finals.

Miss Caroline Painter, also of Chicago and twice winner of the Western championship, went to defeat in her match with the Eastern champion, Mrs. Arnold H. Jackson, Oakley, Mass., who won by 4 and 2, and incidentally equaled the record of 82 for the course, when the pair played out the bye holes.

WILLIAMS AND CHURCH MEET

Settling Intercollegiate Tennis Singles Title—Doubles Final Saturday.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 18.—R. Norris Williams, II., national champion and member of the Davis cup team, will defend his inter-collegiate title today against George M. Church, captain of the Princeton team and state champion of Delaware, in the final singles match of the intercollegiate tennis tournament on the courts of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford.

Both Church and Williams won their semi-final matches yesterday with ease, the former defeating his team mate, A. M. Kidder, in straight sets, while Williams was vanquishing L. Vandevander, also of Princeton, even more swiftly and effectively.

Only two matches were played in the doubles, but as Ball and Hopkins, one of the Yale teams, defaulted, owing to Ball twisting an ankle, only one contest remains to be settled in the semi-final round. This will be disposed of after the final single match today, leaving Saturday free for the championship battle for the doubles title.

The feature event of the doubles was the match in which Williams figured, and which was watched by a gallery that completely surrounded the court. The international star and his partner, Richard Harte, also of Philadelphia, won the match in also record time, defeating Law and Harvey of Princeton, three straight sets in a little less than three-quarters of an hour. The losers won only three games.

MORE PLOTTING AMONG MEXICANS

Reports of Counter Revolution Come From Southern Republic.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 18.—Reports of a counter revolutionary plot in Mexico were received by Constitutionalist agents here. It was reported from various points on the eastern border that former officials of the Huerta government combined with the old Cientificado party, were plotting against the Carranza central government.

According to reports to Carranza officials here the plotters had begun operations in New Orleans and San Antonia.

From the California border came reports that persons representing themselves as agents of Josa Maria Maytorena, the insurgent governor of Sonora, and Felipe Angeles, in command of Gen. Villa's artillery, have secured the surrender of Tia Juana, opposite San Diego, Cal.

Reports, however, have reached the local consulate of extensive armament of both the Sarranza and Villa troops since the lifting of the embargo by the Washington government. It was reported from Galveston that a large shipment of arms and ammunition has been sent to Mexico City by way of Tampico. A consignment of 6,000 rifles was reported on the way here to be transmitted to Villa's headquarters at Chiahuahua city.

SPORTS IN TABLOID

A defi has been issued from the camp of the swarthy Hoosier to all of the 158 pounders in the world. To show that he is serious in regard to the proposition of settling the middleweight title, Dillon has posted $1,000 as a guarantee of weight.

The Adams club will have a team and it is rumored that Superior will come in with a strong aggregation this season, the Bradleys, Buchanan and others enlisting with the team of the other side.

Sandy McDonald, a former Duluth newspaper man, was here yesterday and gave forth the information that Virginia would have one of the greatest independent teams in the Northwest. According to Sandy, Dorias, the wonderful Notre Dame quarterback of last season, will be in the lineup of the range team.

With the Marines and Beavers of Minneapolis in the running, there should be competition in plenty to make the season a highly successful one.

MARSHALL ISLANDS IS RENDEZVOUS

German Merchant Marine and Navy Are at That Point.

Honolulu, Sept. 18.—Two German merchant captains from the China seas have brought word that the German merchant marine and navy are making the Marshall Islands their rendezvous in the Pacific. Five German cruisers, two steam oil tankers and twelve German passenger and freight steamers are said to be there now.

Capt. Mellhoff of the little Hamburg-American trader Loongmoon, which arrived here last night from the blockaded port of Tsing Tau, forty-three days out, told the story first. Capt. Vogeler of the Gouvernor Jaescbo also of the Hamburg-American freight service, which arrived today from the China seas, corroborated him.

Neither skipper said where he got this information, nor did they explain why they did not put into the harbor at Jaluit island themselves, but preferred to seek refuge here. There are now six German vessels here, which probably will remain until peace with Germany is declared.

The Marshall islands were acquired by Germany in 1885, in form the last important German possession in the Pacific not seized by Great Britain. At last reports they supported a native population of more than 16,000, and a European population of between 160 and 200.

Sixty Thousand Persons Needlessly Brought Into Court Yearly.

The report of an investigator, Miss Edith Abbott, shows that 60,000 persons are needlessly brought into court every year in this city, and that these arrests cost the city $8,000,000.

A comparison of the number of arrests to each 1,000 of population follows:

Chicago	4.78	42.05	46.83
New York	3.71	19.32	23.03
London	2.07	22.03	24.10

FIERCE FIGHTING AND MANY KILLED

German Officer Says That French Cannon Is Butchery Cannon.

Paris, Sept. 18. — The principal sources of really graphic information of operations at the front are, for the moment, accounts given by returning wounded and prisoners and by private letters.

They all go to show that the worst predictions as to the bloody character of the war are being realized.

The ravages of the German ranks are due in part, it is declared, to furious charges with the bayonet, but mostly to the 75-millimeter guns.

A German officer, interviewed on his way to one of the interior military prisons, declared "The French cannon isn't a war cannon, it's a butchery cannon."

One of the latest battles at Rambillers in the Vosges was fought on the edge of the forest between two regiments of infantry supported by artillery, and so fierce became the fire on both sides that the two regiments were obliged to retire at the same time, leaving the field to grape and canister.

Flying Machines Destroyed.

From Sergeant Aviator Decaen it is learned that six German flying machines succumbed to musketry fire at the Luxemburg frontier. "We are in France for the moment," he writes, "and the Germans are retiring, burning Belgian villages as they pass. Gastinger, on a Belgian aeroplane, came back from the frontier with a ball in his back; fortunately the German bullets don't seem to do much damage; this one was stopped by a loaf of bread. Our squadron's going ahead, and very soon a letter dated Berlin."

The following letter from a brigadier of dragoons is a specimen of a certain class of letters that have begun to arrive in Paris:

"My dear parents: If you receive this letter it will be because I have been killed, but don't weep for me, since my fate will have been the noblest a Frenchman can dream of—to die for his country on the eve of victory. We shall be the victors because we have right and confidence on our side. I shall have done my duty to the end, and I hope my death will have been useful to my country. My last thoughts will be for you."

Surprised By Ambush.

With this letter there came another from the cure of a little Belgian village, giving the details of the death of the writer of the above. It was in a Belgian forest that a party of dragoons were surprised by an ambush and all shot down excepting three, and on these three the Prussians rushed to complete their work. The brigadier, already wounded in the leg, managed to master his pain and charged alone; and the cure adds that there was other than French blood shed upon the field.

"His body is not lost," the cure continues; "it reposes in the little cemetery of our village, where you will come to visit his tomb after the war."

A letter from a wounded soldier to his wife in Paris reads:

"We were in the first rank, with our lieutenant, Jean Ebrard, at the head. He received six bullets. First wounded in the thigh, he got up again, collected his men and went on ahead. Another ball struck him in the shoulder and four others were stopped by his knapsack. He found another later in his belt. 'Precious souvenir,' he said. He went to have his wounds dressed on returning to the place of assembling. There's a sample of the conduct of our officers."

WEST ENDERS DELAY ACTION ON LIGHT PLANT PLAN

Opposition to Merritt's Scheme Develops at Mass Meeting.

Methods of Water and Light Department Are Attacked.

Opposition to the building of a first electric light unit was displayed at the meeting of the West End Commercial club last night following the addresses by advocates of both sides of the controversy, when the question of indorsing the project came up at the close of the meeting. The opposition voted to table the resolution of indorsement until the next meeting of the organization.

Charges of inattention and disrespect on the part of the employes of the water and light department as well as unbusiness-like methods of handling its business were made by Sanford W. Hill and George M. Jensen. These constituted sufficient reasons, they claimed, why the city should not embark on further ownership ventures at present.

The speakers charged that agitators are continually harassing the people to place additional burdens on the taxpayers. Mr. Hill said that recent reductions in water charges have not benefited the workingmen, who constitute the greater percentage of water rate payers and that in spite of the claim of the directors of the plant that water is cheaper the average man is paying the same amount now as formerly.

He also attacked the proposed pensioning of city employes as ridiculous. Most of these, he said, are now receiving salary far beyond their usefulness and, he asserted, the scheme is only another method for adding to the burden of taxation of the property owners.

Commissioner First Speaker.

Leonidas Merritt, commissioner of public utilities was the first speaker. He made a few remarks relative to his election on a platform of municipal ownership and declared that he was only following out the expressed wishes of the people.

H. A. Carmichael, representing the Duluth-Edison Electric company, contended that the issue of the advocates of municipal ownership during the campaign for voting on the issue of $700,000 for the buying or building of the plant had been on the theory that the people of the city would have to again vote on the question before any step to build a competing plant would be taken. He quoted addresses made by some of the speakers, among whom was E. M. Morgan, in which the latter was said to have stated that the bond issue was to be used as a club over the electric company in order to hammer down its rates or secure the plant at a low price.

Mr. Carmichael contended that the question of municipal ownership had not been raised during the election of commissioners in 1913. He said that this question had not been touched on the platform by any of the speakers.

Heckle the Speaker.

Following Mr. Carmichael's talk the speaker was put through a course of cross-examination and questioning by Dr. D. H. Day, Richard Jones and other supporters of the plan to build a municipal system of electric lighting and power.

Mr. Carmichael, during his examination, brought out that had the city council accepted the company's offer three years ago the city would have saved over $160,000. He said that the estimate of such saving published in an editorial in The Herald last night was far too conservative. He also compared the proportion of rates as paid by the consumers for water and gas and electric light. For gas he said the city is receiving 87 per cent more than the actual price paid and paying only for the amount consumed as read in the meters of the consumers, while the Zenith Furnace company was standing the loss of all leakages. The city is charging 75 cents per hundred cubic feet, for which it pays the Zenith company 40 cents. The 35 cents difference is being used for carrying on the business. He quoted from records of cities in Ohio where natural gas was being purchased in a similar manner in order to show that such cities were charging only from 9 to 15 cents for similar work.

Cost and Charge.

In the water department he said that it cost the city 1 8-10 cents to pump water, for which it was charging the small consumer 15 cents or an average price of 9 cents to all consumers. In this department he said there was little loss of water from leakages. In comparison he cited charges of the electric company in which he showed that the company was paying 1 cent for its power, sustaining all losses through transmission and its highest selling price being 3 cents and its average price to consumers being less than 4 cents.

Bonds Not Needed.

Commissioner Merritt acknowledged that the water and light department had sold the remaining $100,000 of the department's bonds when it was not necessary. He said that this had been done on account of being ill-advised by the superintendent then in charge of the department. This money, he said, was drawing 1 per cent interest in the bank, while the city was paying 4½ per cent to the bond holder. It is a part of this money that it is proposed to use in the building of the first unit of an electric plant at West Duluth.

The charges made by Mr. Hill and Mr. Jensen were replied to by Commissioner Merritt, who said that he was not there on trial. He showed comparison in charges of water and gas between that charged in Duluth and that in Superior, where the plant is privately owned. During the latter part of the discussion the commissioner, evidently not liking the charges being made, left the hall for home.

During the meeting it was pointed out that the water and light department had still outstanding $3,400,000 in bonds paying 4 per cent or more in interest. It was contended that if the city would bend its efforts in paying off this debt instead of assuming new obligations, taxpayers would be better off.

Among the other speakers were Dr. Day, William Bernard, Charles Mork, Richard Jones and Conrad Wicklund, favoring the ownership of a plant.

RETURN FROM MONTH'S VACATION ON COAST.

T. W. Cameron of Cameron-Johnson-Horgan, has returned from a month's visit in the West. Mr. Cameron, after purchasing fall stocks for the firm he represents from manufacturers in the East, joined his wife at Vancouver, B. C., where she had been visiting her brother in that city for some time. Speaking of their return trip, Mr. Cameron said they met many Duluthians in Portland, Seattle and Spokane. Business conditions on the coast are fairly good, he said, with the exception of the Canadian coast. Vancouver and Victoria are very quiet owing to conditions caused by the war. Mr. Cameron noticed a great change in the West since his last visit nine years ago. Mr. Cameron and family lived in Los Angeles eleven years ago. The population of Los Angeles at that time was 101,000, and today they claim 500,000. He said they were glad to arrive home as the coast was very dry, there having been very little rain in that section of the country since last May. "Duluth looks good to those accustomed to plenty of moisture the year around, after seeing other parts of the country in their dry season," said Mr. Cameron.

Planning Bazar.

The Orpheus Singing society will hold its annual bazar this year during the week of Oct. 12. Plans were made at the meeting of the society last evening. It will be held in the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

West End Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Potvin returned yesterday from a two weeks' wedding trip to the Twin Cities and Southern Minnesota cities. Mrs. Potvin was formerly Miss Emely Harkwall of the West end. They have taken up their residence at 324 North Twentieth avenue west.

RELIEF WORK STARTS WELL

Fund of $177.50 Raised During the First Day.

Money Will Be Used to Help Wounded on Battlefields.

Plans for the raising of a relief fund for wounded soldiers of all the warring countries in Europe as outlined by Col. C. H. Graves has met with a hearty response and $177.50 was contributed by five Duluthians yesterday. A. L. Ordean contributed $100; C. H. Graves, $25; W. G. Heggardt, $50; H. Cleveland, $2.50; W. H. Dreves, $5.

This fund is not being raised for the wounded of any one country, but will be used regardless of nationality or other affiliation, Col. Graves says. The committee will use the money wherever it is thought to be of the most service, but if any contributor specifices that his money is to be used in any one country his wishes will be followed.

It is not known yet through just what channels the money will go to relieve the suffering soldiers in Europe, but the committee will work out the details as soon as possible. It is planned to use the money where it is most sorely needed.

It has been announced that the committee has not decided upon making any further appeal for funds than that announced through the newspapers. All who wish to contribute are asked to send their money to W. G. Hegardt, treasurer of the committee, at the American Exchange National bank. The Herald will also receive and acknowledge contributions.

The members of the committee are C. H. Graves, A. L. Ordean, W. G. Hegardt, J. L. Washburn, E. M. Sellwood, A. Fitger, Napoleon Grignon, Dr. J. J. Eklund, John J. Moe, David Quail, Millie Bunneli, Stillman H. Bingham and A. L. Agatin.

Mr. Fitger suggested at the meeting last night that a mass meeting be held with Col. Graves as the principal speaker to stir up interest in making contributions. This idea had to be abandoned temporarily as Col. Graves will be out of the city for a time. Mr. Fitger said that he believed that nearly all those who had contributed to the German-American fund in Duluth will make contributions to the new fund.

The British vice consul here, David Quail, who is raising a fund for the English soldiers wounded in the war among those of British birth or parentage in compliance with the request of the Prince of Wales, sent letters to many Englishmen in Duluth yesterday. He expects to have considerable money in this fund by the end of the week, he said last night.

About $1,300 has been received for the German-Austrian fund in Duluth for the Red Cross work and it is expected that this will reach the $2,000 mark next week.

The daily average of telephone conversations in this country last year is estimated at 26,310,000.

CHASED BY BULL.

Hunter Escapes By Inches, But Falls Into Thorny Bush.

Presenting the appearance of having recently escaped from the firing line and being sadly in need of the services of a corps of Red Cross nurses, Arthur Wigdahl, 406 South Sixty-fourth avenue west, returned home yesterday afternoon from one of the most exciting hunting trips he has had in a number of years.

Arthur said last night that he would remember the trip for years to come. Reluctantly he told of his experience in chasing the elusive prairie chicken through a pasture, the sudden appearance of a bellowing "gentleman cow" and his hurried exit to the nearest point of the friendly fence over which he tumbled into a thorny bush.

"I beat the shorthorn to the fence," he said, when asked how much assistance he had been given in getting over the barrier, "but the margin was narrow. My injuries are due entirely to the brush I fell into. You see I didn't take much care in how I landed and most of me fell head first. I was not taking any chances of allowing the bull to end my career and I considered that a hasty retreat was the better part of valor."

Wigdahl had been hunting near Wrenshall without a dog and when he entered the pasture he failed to notice any cattle. He came upon the bull unawares, he said, and dropped his gun in making his escape. He said he had to sit around near the place for nearly two hours before he would venture into the field to regain possession of the gun.

FACE WAS HIS MISFORTUNE

Ashland Police Officer Saw Fellow Townsman's Picture in Gallery.

The arrest of Hugo Nelson at Ashland, Wis., yesterday for the authorities at the St. Cloud reformatory, where he is wanted for breaking his parole and the return of the prisoner to the state institution yesterday, brings to light how he was captured through the medium of the Bertillion department at local headquarters.

Two weeks ago an officer on the Ashland police force visited in Duluth and spent one morning at headquarters. During the morning he visited the Bertillon room and was being shown the gallery by Bert Lahti, Bertillon expert, when the former recognized a photograph of Hugo Nelson.

"That fellow is a saloon keeper at Ashland," said the officer. "He's been there two years."

"Why, he is wanted for breaking his parole from the St. Cloud reformatory, where he was given an indeterminate sentence of from two to fifteen years, but was placed on probation after serving two years. He was sentenced from Duluth."

With this information the officer went immediately to Ashland and got into communication with the authorities at the St. Cloud reformatory. He learned that Lahti's statement was correct and yesterday Parole Officer Knickerbocker arrived in Ashland from St. Cloud and took his prisoner back with him in the evening. Nelson will serve the remainder of his sentence.

PETTY GAMBLING IS WIPED OUT

Dice boxes, slot machines, punch boards and every gambling device known to cigar and candy stores and saloons have disappeared since Chief Troyer issued his order last Tuesday to commanding officers to put a stop to petty gambling, betting on baseball games and bookmaking propositions.

The police report that they are experiencing no trouble with store proprietors, and that all machines and devices have already disappeared. Capt. Fiskett is constantly besieged with requests to explain the chief's order and to state just what kind of slot machines are allowed. He has explained that only those that give a buyer his money's worth can remain in use. These are the machines that contain matches or gum.

As the chief's order has been sent throughout the city and all storekeepers have received due warning, violations in the future will mean the arrest of the proprietor, besides the confiscation of the machine or device used for gambling.

The order follows:

"To commanding officers:

"You are hereby instructed to cause all gambling devices, such as dice, dice boxes and the like, to be removed from cigar stores and other places where they are used for purposes of gambling. Also stop all bookmaking propositions where tickets are sold on ball games, prize fights and election contests, etc. Also keep a sharp lookout for all gambling shot machines, candy boxes or other prizes which are hung up in places of business for the purpose of promoting the business of gambling, and you are to instruct the officers under your command to notify all persons having any such gambling devices in operation to immediately discontinue their use, and after such has been given, and such devices are found in use, they should be seized by the police with a view of prosecuting the persons permitting their use, and with a view of confiscating them.

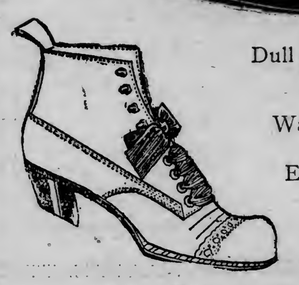

"C. H. TROYER, Chief of Police."

"MOVIE" MEN OBEYING LAW

Make Changes in Theaters to Carry Out City's Order.

The various moving picture theaters in the city are making changes necessary to comply with the state laws and city ordinances governing them, according to reports which have been made to Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken by the men who have been checking them up. They are City Electrician F. E. Hough, Fire Warden John J. Schinlaub and Building Inspector S. M. Kielley.

About two months ago the officials reported to the safety commissioner that some of these theaters were in such shape that they were a positive menace to the public. Some of them had improper wiring, some did not have ample exits, some did not have sufficient pilot lights and others lacked in different respects. The safety commissioner wrote each of the managers a letter calling attention to the reports which had been made to him and informing them that if these irregularities were not corrected he would take steps to compel them to close.

Since that time many of the improvements have been completed and the others are under way. Commissioner Hicken said this morning that he is well satisfied with the progress which has been reported and that it is unlikely that it will be found necessary to take any action against any of the theaters.

DRUNK; FALLS TEN FEET.

Man Sustains But Slight Injuries in Fall Down Stairs.

Losing his balance while seated on the railing above the stairway leading to the basement entrance of the Holland hotel, Michael McGahon, 29 years old, fell a distance of about ten feet last evening, sustaining slight injuries to his head. The accident happened about 11 o'clock.

McGahon was picked up by pedestrians and Patrolman Kreager, who happened to be passing, rushed the injured man to St. Luke's hospital, where it was discovered that McGahon was drunk and that his injuries were slight. He was taken to police headquarters, where Police Surgeon Murphy dressed his wounds and where he was locked up for the night.

In police court this morning McGahon pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness and was given a suspended sentence by Judge Windom.

NO WORD FROM PARENT.

Police Delay Action Against 15-Year-Old Boy.

Unless Chief Troyer hears very soon from the authorities at Ludington, Mich., where Charles Campbell claims his parents reside, the boy will be brought before the Federal court next week to answer a government charge of raising a United States postal money order.

Following young Campbell's arrest Wednesday morning, Chief Troyer wired the authorities at Ludington, asking them to get in touch with the boy's father. Charles is only 15 years of age and it was planned to have the father's opinion before any action was taken. Up to this afternoon no word had been received from Ludington.

Chief Troyer said this morning that if no word is received by Monday, a complaint will be drawn and young Campbell will have to face the United States commissioner. Charles was arrested while in the act of attempting to pass a postal order, which he had raised from $1.55 to $31.55. He has confessed his guilt.

MARKET IS STILL STRONG

Wheat Sells Higher With Heavy Export Sales at the Seaboard.

Flaxseed Slightly Easier on Small Inquiry From Crushers' Interests.

Duluth, Sept. 18.—The wheat market was strong up to the close. September wheat closed 1⅜c up; December 1⅜c up, and May 1⅜c up. September durum closed 1¼c up; October 1¼c up, November unchanged, and December ⅞c up.

Oatsc losed ⅛c up at 46⅜c for on the track. Rye closed unchanged at 88@89c, and barley 2c off at from 50c to 60c.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ½c up at 49½c, and December ⅝c up at 49⅝c.

Puts on Minneapolis wheat closed at $1.00½ bid, and calls at $1.14½ bid.

The wheat market held strong throughout today's session, with moderate advance in evidence.

Bullish influence came in liberal export business at the seaboard, and continued substantial milling inquiry. Operators also reported a tendency on the part of growers through the West to refrain from marketing on the dips, and it is believed that when threshing from the shocks is completed receipts will drop off substantially. A considerable curtailment is expected within the next thirty days, based on reports being received from the interior elevators.

Primary receipts today showed a falling off, being 2,537,000 bu, or just 700,000 bu heavier than last year. Export shipments were well maintained. Receipts at Duluth, Minneapolis and Winnipeg aggregated 2,263 cars or 139 more than last year. Arrivals here, taking the week through, have been liberal, and in spite of a large volume loaded out from the elevators, stocks in store are estimated to have increased 1,750,000 bu in the week.

Heavy demand for all grains was reported at Southwest points and a large tonnage is said to be moving forward to the gulf ports and Baltimore.

A big inquiry was again met with for oats at all the markets, and quotations in them gained moderately. Locally there was a good demand for everything coming in, and a fair tonnage was bought to arrive.

September wheat opened unchanged at $1.10¾ and gained 1⅛c up to the noon hour. December opened ⅛c up at $1.11¾ and advanced a cent more. May opened unchanged at $1.18 and gained ⅛c.

There was fairly good bidding for durum, but the market in it was not as strong as in spring wheat. September durum opened unchanged at $1.02¼ and gained ⅜c. October opened ⅛c up at $1.03 and gained ⅛c more. November opened unchanged at $1.04½ and held there. December opened unchanged at $1.04⅞ and gained ⅜c.

Flaxseed Easy Again.

Operations in flaxseed were again quiet and featureless. Offerings and inquiry were both in the smallest proportions and with the lack of interest on the part of the trade, further moderate recessions were recorded. Final prices showed declines of ½@⅝c in the day.

September flax closed ½c off at $1.50½ asked. October opened ¼c off at $1.52 and closed ½c off at $1.51¾ asked. November opened unchanged at $1.54 and closed ⅜c off at $1.53¾ asked. December opened unchanged at $1.54½ and closed ½c off at $1.54.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed ½c off at $1.29¾ bid. November closed at $1.32¼ asked and December at $1.34 bid.

Corn—Receipts, 322,000 bu, last year, 1,000 bu; shipments, 281,000 bu, last year, 463,000 bu.

The Modern Miller says: "Conditions are favorable for seeding winter wheat. Farmers in Kansas show pronounced tendency to hold wheat. In the Northwest a heavy movement from the Dakotas was stimulated by a good demand in Minneapolis and Duluth. There is a sharp recession in the movement of the best grades of wheat from North Dakota and farmers show a tendency to hold. Much thin light wheat from South Dakota is being marketed."

Bradstreet's estimates world's clearances: Wheat and flour 7,300,000 bu and corn 97,000 bu.

North America shipped 11,500,000 bu of wheat and oats during the last week, almost wholly to Western European points. Supplies are looked for in large measure this week from first hands at both Canadian and United States points. "The unfavorable outlook from wet weather in Argentina causes the holders of wheat in this country to believe that they need not hasten to dispose of the 300,000,000 bu surplus at good values. It is estimated that by the end of the present month 100,000,000 bu of wheat will either have been shipped or under contract for export.

At Minneapolis the cash market was strong. There was an excellent general milling and terminal elevator demand for top grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at the December price to ½c under December and velvet chaff at 1c to 1½c under. There was some improvement in flour sales. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.09⅞ to $1.11 and No. 2 northern at $1.06⅞ to $1.08⅞. Stocks in Minneapolis elevators increased 2,160,000 bu in the week.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Easier American cables and a declining tendency in Paris served to temper the wheat firmness which is prevalent here and the opening was unchanged to ½d lower. On the decline there was some support due to the continued strength in spot and especially American grades, firmer over-night American offers for distant shipment and talk of smaller world's shipments this week. It is noted that the demand is becoming more pronounced from outside sources and countries other than North America are offering practically nothing. Wheat cargoes are firmly held. The spot market is firm with soft winter in good demand.

"Corn opened with a steady undertone 1d higher. September was quoted today at 6 shillings 3 pence. Argentine shipments are under expectations and the Argentine market is very firm with weather there unfavorable. After the opening wheat showed a firm undertone with prices ½d higher from the initial prices with offers light."

The present visible of wheat in New South Wales and Victoria amounts to 3,464,000 bu, against 4,741,000 bu last year.

Heavy rain fell yesterday in Argentina and continues today. The corn market is strong, both in Buenos Aires and Rosario. Cold, dry weather is wanted for wheat, and also for conditioning of corn.

Argentine shipments of wheat this week were 24,000 bu, against 128,000 bu last week and 104,000 bu last year; oats, 10,000 bu, against 380,000 bu last week and 60,000 bu last year; corn, 2,202,000 bu, of which 277,000 bu was to America, 3,120,000 last week and 4,831,000 bu last year.

T. W. Lewis wired Baker from Minneapolis: "A canvass of the receiving houses shows interior points in Minnesota and South Dakota selling practically nothing. North Dakota has been the biggest shipper, but advices from there indicate there will be a falling off of receipts, as farmers will not sell on these breaks. There is a great deal of stuff in transit, but it is being cleaned up rapidly. The demand for cash wheat has improved considerably during the last few days, some of the off-grades are selling 5c to 7c better."

Russell's News Bureau says: "A bid for 30,000 bbl of first clear flour was made to Minneapolis on Sept. 11 to go to Norway. France has bought from 60,000 to 70,000 bbl of flour at New York and to arrive, according to best opinion on the produce exchange, for September shipment. There is no interest in flour for October shipment for France as yet, the need has been immediate supplies."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Meet Varying Changes From Open to Close of Pit.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Strength of prices at Liverpool tended today to lift the wheat market here. Buying power, however, seemed dormant and it took but little selling by commission houses to cause a quick reaction. Offerings though, were soon absorbed and when shorts tried to cover they found the market bare. After starting ¼@1c higher values suffered a decided setback, but then rallied completely.

Reports that France was bidding for wheat gave additional help to bulls. The close was nervous, 1½c to 1⅝c net higher.

Corn appeared to be governed wholly by wheat. Trade was light. The opening, which varied from the same as last night to ¼c higher, was followed by a general decline. All of the losses were subsequently wiped out.

Some European inquiry for small lots counted against the bears. The close was unsettled at a net advance of ⅜c to 1⅝c.

Oats had no independent action. For the time being, export inquiry seemed at a standstill.

Lower quotations for hogs made the provision market easy. First transactions were 2½@5c down but later the action of grain had a steadying effect.

GREAT ARMIES ARE BECOMING EXHAUSTED

RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL WILL BE CUT

President Favors Abandoning Present Measure Carrying $53,000,000.

Would Substitute One to Provide Only for Projects Under Way.

Day and Night of Filibustering Brings About Change in Program.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The day and night fight on the rivers and harbors bill in the senate showed signs of a break today with victory for the filibustering Republicans, when it became known that President Wilson favored abandoning the bill and substituting a new resolution to appropriate $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 to continue only those projects under way. The original bill proposed $53,000,000.

Officials said the president believed the bill should be abandoned in its present form, because government revenues, already falling because of the European war, must be supplemented by a war tax. The economy measure will extent all along the line, even in increases in salaries to officials will be abandoned.

It was a red-eyed, bedraggled senate that sat in solemn silence and listened to interminable criticisms of the measure. For the senate was suffering from the effects of an all-night session. Democratic leaders, ably supported in point of numbers, had brought to bear every parliamentary check they could find in an effort to break the continuous flow of river and harbor information imparted by Senator Burton. Matching parliamentary strategy for strategy, Senator Burton however held the floor through

IS IMPOSSIBLE TO ESTIMATE LOSSES

Casualty List Will Be the Largest in World's Record of Wars.

Paris, Sept. 19.—The official communications issued thus far have neglected the question of losses which, in a fight such as the battle of the Marne, covering a front of 130 miles, are almost impossible to estimate even approximately.

Some unofficial reports have placed the allies losses at 50,000 and those of the Germans at 100,000 in the series of engagements comprised in the great clash of arms. How near these figures are to the truth no one will know until the official figures are compiled. Individual accounts of wounded soldiers and from prisoners, indicate that these estimates are conservative.

The losses certainly are the greatest on record and perhaps the proportion for the Germans is greater than two to one in dead at least.

If the press bureau communications are silent on this subject the order of the day for the army gives eloquent hints of sacrifices made to gain advantage.

GERMANS ARE CONFIDENT OF FINAL RESULT

General Staff in Private Conversation Express Belief in Victory.

Army Growing Stronger and Lines of Communication Adjusted.

Say French Show Signs of Having Fought to a Standstill.

Berlin, Sept. 19, via Rotterdam and London.—Members of the general staff here, in private conversation have manifested absolute confidence in the outcome of the battle in France as their own army is steadily growing stronger and the lines of communication have been adjusted to permit of a more efficient supply of provisions and ammunition, it having rather outrun its supply arrangements in the rapid advance on Paris.

The French army, according to the night bulletin, is showing signs of having shot its bolt and has fought itself to a standstill, being unable to fill its depleted ranks like the Germans. The Germans, according to last night's bulletin, are slowly but surely gaining ground in the center.

No Definite Location.

The headquarters announcements still give no definite information regarding the position of the battle line, contenting themselves with speaking of it generally as located between the Oise and Meuse rivers but not men-

RAIN SLACKENS ARTILLERY FIRE

Combat on the Aisne Has Been Heaviest of the War.

Paris, Sept. 19.—Fragments of news from the front confirm the serious character of the combat on the Aisne. Some of those wounded on Thursday, who have arrived here, declare that the fighting was even more violent than on the Marne, and say the losses on both sides must be heavier. The English, as on the Marne, are bearing the brunt of the counter-attacks and are conducting themselves brilliantly.

After a four-days' constant hammering, the German artillery slackened its fire last evening during a heavy downpour of rain which lasted all night. The trench must have been nearly filled with water, diminishing greatly the advantage of the defensive works prepared by the Germans, and at the same time adding to the sufferings of the wounded.

Returning confidence is shown in the return to Paris of many who took refuge in Bordeaux and other provincial towns on the approach of the Germans. Some of the newspapers temporarily at Bordeaux are getting ready to publish in Paris again. The Daily Mail comes back today. The government, however, will probably remain until the war is practically ended.

RATE CASE TO BE REOPENED

Interstate Commerce Commission Grants Request of Railroads.

Hearings Will Begin in Washington on Oct. 19.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The interstate commerce commission today decided to reopen the Eastern advance rate case and will begin hearings here on Oct. 19. A formal order to that effect was prepared.

The decision is the result of an application of the railroads made after President Wilson had received a representative committee of railway presidents. It was said at the time that the railway men asked the president to appeal to the country to treat the railroads in a spirit of co-operation and the president responded by sending a sympathetic letter to Chairman Frank Trumbull of the Chesapeake & Ohio.

The railroads also asked the commission to modify its recent decision which granted increases west of Pittsburg and denied all increases between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic sea-

DAY'S OFFICIAL WAR STATEMENTS

GERMAN.

Berlin, Sept. 19.—(By wireless by way of Sayville, L. I.)—The following official statement from the German headquarters was issued today:

"It is reported that a decisive attack is being made by the 13th and 4th army corps and parts of other German divisions south of Noyon, with loss.

"Beaumont has been stormed and 2,500 French prisoners captured.

"Attacks along the entire battle front are being easily repulsed.

"Many guns and prisoners have been captured, though the number is not yet available.

"The invasion of the Alpine riflemen over the Vosges into the Breisach valley has been repulsed.

"The German Eastern army continues its operations in Suwalki province and is advancing against the Russian forces.

"Dispatches from Agram report that the victory over the Servians was far greater than at first believed.

"The Servians were completely routed and were driven in flight across the Save river. Many were drowned."

FRENCH.

Washington, Sept. 19.—An official Bordeaux dispatch to the French embassy today says:

"The battle continued on the whole front from the river Oise to the river Woevre during the 18th, without any important change in the situation at any point.

"At the left in the battle of the Oise, we occupy Menarqueglise, Carlepont and Cuts. On the heights to the north of the river Aisne, we have advanced slightly in a few places. The attacks attempted by the Germans against the English army have been checked at Troyon between Soissons and Craonne. From Craonne to Reims we have repulsed the counter-attack executed during the night. The enemy tried, but has not succeeded, in taking the offensive against Reims.

"At the center from Reims to the Argonne mountains, the enemy is reenforcing his situation by important fortifications and taking an attitude merely defensive. On the East of the Argonne and in the Woevre valley the situation is unchanged.

"At the right in Lorraine and Vosges the enemy occupy positions defensively organized close to the frontier."

VIOLENT SCENES OCCUR IN VIENNA.

London, Sept. 19.—In a dispatch from Rome the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company says advices have been received there from Vienna describing violent scenes said to have occurred last Thursday outside the Austrian ministry of war. All the windows in this building were broken.

Die Zeit, a Vienna newspaper, declares that the Holy Synod at Petrograd has proclaimed a religious war against Germany and Austria.

AUSTRIANS BOMBARD MONTENEGRIN PORT.

London, Sept. 19.—In a dispatch from Rome the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company says that six Austrian torpedo boats have bombarded Antivari, a fortified port of Montenegro. They made a special but fruitless effort to destroy the French wireless station. No damage was inflicted on the town.

MEN LIE IN TRENCHES FILLED WITH WATER

Allies Awaiting An Opportunity to Drive Wedge Through the Lines of the German Forces.

Both British and French Admit It Will Take Almost Superhuman Effort to Accomplish Purpose.

London, Sept. 19, 1 p. m.—If reliance can be placed on the British and French assertions that the right wing of the German armies which stretch across Northeastern France is slowly yielding, then the battle of the Aisne seems likely to follow the course of the battle of the Marne, for there it was the German right which first fell back across the river.

TRENCHES DEEP WITH WATER.

Along the 150-mile front, the rear of which is scarred with graves of thousands already sacrificed, two armies, comprising millions of men rapidly approaching exhaustion and standing in trenches deep with water, await an opportunity to drive a wedge through the opposing line and thus end the terrible strain which must last as long as Emperor William's troops hold their now strongly entrenched positions and as long as the allied forces can face the murderous hail of projectiles from the hidden batteries of their opponents.

Both the British and the French admit that it will take almost a superhuman effort to win, the strength of the German position being emphasized in almost every dispatch from the front.

MAY ENVELOP RIGHT WING.

Those in London closely following the war, base the chief hope of the allies in a possible envelopment of the German right wing under Gen. von Kluck, who heretofore has shown himself a master of strategy. Renewed activity on the part of the allied cavalry and a significant movement of allied troops to the north and west of the German line of communication, together with a possible advance of fresh allied troops from the northwest through Amiens, gives expression to these hopes.

Witnesses and surgeons testify to a paradox on the modern battlefield—the recurring frequency of hand to hand fighting which so many military men said was a thing of the past. Bayonet wounds and other cumulative evidence, however, show that the soldiers have been engaged in a death grip during which they resorted to their side arms and in cases to their hands.

TREMENDOUS LOSSES.

Another fact which stands out among the varied accounts of the hostilities is the utter prodigality with which the Germans throw forward man after man in close formation in an attempt to carry a position. The tremendous losses they have suffered seem not to have changed these tactics.

Dispatches received from Paris late last night referring to a lull in the struggle are taken here to refer to the artillery only, and today perhaps may see the most sanguinary infantry fighting since the start of the battle of the Aisne one week ago.

Burial of the dead on the battlefield goes on steadily. German prisoners are being forced to perform this task behind the allies line, where thousands of their comrades lay after the French and British advance.

News from the eastern theater continues to be of the same character; that is to say, further reports of overwhelming Russian victories against the Austrian in Galicia and of the stubborn pressure on the Russian frontier to the north where the Russians, however, appear to be holding their own.

Supreme Conflict.

London, Sept. 19, 10:28 a. m.—The battle of the Aisne, now in its sixth day and beginning as a rear guard action, has developed into the supreme conflict of the French campaign.

The latest official news sets forth that there has been a lull in the titanic duel. This is taken to indicate that today's struggle may be marked by a tremendous advance of infantry, such as made the battlefield of the Marne a scene of indescribable horror and desolation.

The news from Berlin concerning the position of the German forces has a more confident ring. The admission has been made that the German army was short of ammunition but this shortage has been rectified and supplies and reinforcements are being sent forward without trouble.

A French officer, who has just returned from the battle front, is authority for the statement that the strain on both sides of the line in France promises soon to get beyond human endurance. He likens the antagonists to two exhausted pugilists and says that soon they will be unable to inflict further punishment on each other.

May Be Winter Campaign.

If this situation develops the only possible way for the allies to prevent a weary and disheartening winter campaign, it is argued here, would be a successful assault on the German communications. Such an assault, it is admitted by the allies, will not be an easy matter.

The Belgian army, in harrying the invaders, probably prevents the dispatch of any great part of the German army now occupying Belgium to reinforce their countrymen in France, but the Belgian forces are not strong enough seriously to interfere with communications, while the allies must break through some part of the line or turn the German right before they

ROOSEVELT DISCUSSES RELATIONS OF CAPITAL AND LABOR IN KANSAS

Combinations of Capital Are of the Highest Economic Value.

Says Employes Are Entitled to Fair Share of Profits.

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 19.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, reaching here today, expected to begin a rapid tour through Kansas in the interests of the Progressive party.

Three addresses were to be made, one here today, another in Hutchinson tonight, and a third in Kansas City, Kan., Monday night. Further speeches in the state have been forbidden by the colonel's physician. From Kansas City, Kan., Roosevelt will go to Lincoln, Neb., to speak.

It was planned to ask Roosevelt to make short speeches in several of the towns through which the special carrying the party was to pass.

Address at Wichita.

In addressing a state-wide meeting of Progressives here today he elucidated his position on important subjects of legislation. He discussed the relations of capital and labor at some length, pointing to the Colorado labor troubles as illustrating the failure of national and state governments to enact and enforce effective laws, and pointed to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad scandal as an example of capital gone wrong in the absence of proper governmental control.

Business, he asserted, is entitled to its profits, and we must learn to accept the principle of combinations of capital as of the highest economic value. But this acceptance, he insisted, must carry with it a fair share of the profit to the employe. The industrial situation has greatly changed in the last twenty-five years, he said, for whereas at the beginning of the period mentioned only about 25 per cent of the people were employes, at this time, he said, half of them live on their wages. He quoted "Dooley" in illustration, "Jefferson was a good man," said Dooley, "but he lived before the days of open plumbing."

Reform Measures Blocked.

Congressmen erred in defeating reform measures proposed by Progressives, the speaker asserted, mentioning the Murdock trust bills, the tariff commission bill, the Federal employment bureau bill and the bill for the abolition of child labor, as measures which he said were blocked by opponents of the Progressives.

This opposition, he said, emphasized "the need of our demand for a reform of the political machinery, notably the reform of the presidential nominating system. Expanding the labor theme, Col. Roosevelt said:

"There must be full participation in the industry of the three big factors—adequate capital, successful manage-

DAILY DIGEST OF WAR NEWS

A report from the German army headquarters made public in Berlin today announces German and Austrian successes in all theaters of the war. It is declared that in France a decisive attack is being made north of Noyon; Beaumont has been stormed and 2,500 French have been captured, while counter attacks of the allies along the entire front have been repulsed easily.

In the east the Germans continue their advance upon the Russians and the Servians have been routed by the Austrians, it is said.

Unofficial advices from the German capital say that members of the general staff manifest implicit confidence in a favorable outcome of the fighting in France. Their armies are being reinforced and their lines of communication reformed, it is stated.

Dispatches from Vienna report officially that the Austrians and Germans in Galicia have formed a new defense line and are awaiting a Russian attack on the strong fortress of Przemysl, fifty miles west of Lemberg.

News dispatches from London reflect the popular belief that the German line in France has been reinforced and that the reported shortage of ammunition and supplies has been met.

An official statement issued in Paris at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon states that the Germans are strongly entrenching on the River Aisne and have been reinforced from Lorraine.

News dispatches from Paris report a continued optimism there and at Bordeaux. Many who deserted Paris upon the approach of the Germans, are returning to that city.

News dispatches report London as regarding the present battle as the supreme conflict of the campaign in France.

Some observers attimate that the total casualties of the Germans and allies to date are in the neighborhood of $150,000.

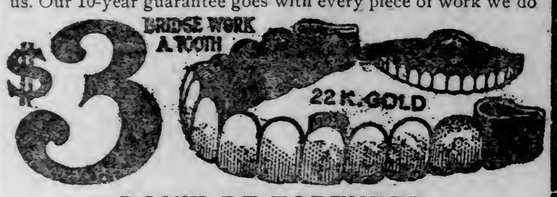

It is officially announced from Tokio that Japanese troops were landed yesterday at Laoshan bay. Laoshan is neutral territory forty miles north of Tsing-Tau.

GRIEF DID NOT IMPRESS HIM

Chief Troyer Testifies He Believed Mrs. McAlpine Was Shamming.

Second Week of Trial Concluded—Postponed Until Monday.

Grief which Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine exhibited at the inquest conducted by the authorities over the body of her husband, John McAlpine, more than a year ago, did not impress C. H. Troyer, chief of police, as being genuine. Chief Troyer so testified yesterday afternoon when called as a witness in district court for the defense in the $50,000 insurance suit which the widow is pressing against the Fidelity & Casualty Company of New York.

The chief testified in answer to a question put by Attorney A. E. McManus on cross examination that he observed Mrs. McAlpine's appearance at the inquest.

"She looked very much distressed," said the witness.

Attorney Theodore Hollister then asked him if the grief exhibited appeared to be genuine or otherwise. He testified that she gave him the impression that she was shamming.

Chief Troyer's story of what he found at the McAlpine house coincided with the testimony on this point given by County Attorney Warren E. Greene. The chief testified as to what examination was made of the premises and of certain conversations which were had with Mr. McManus, who was present at the McAlpine home at the time.

The witness testified that when he inquired for Alice, Dale McAlpine's wife, he found her in the kitchen with Mr. McManus. The attorney, he said, had his finger up and was saying to Alice "I want you to tell the truth." He said that he did not hear any more of this conversation.

Chief Troyer Testifies.

Chief Troyer also testified that last April he was called to the McAlpine home to investigate what had been reported to him as a burglary. He found some evidence pointing to a burglary, he said. In the coachman's room in the basement, things had been disturbed and a fur-lined coat had been reported stolen.

While at the McAlpine house on that occasion, the chief testified, Mrs. McAlpine told him that the revolver which was found in the basement on the morning her husband was shot was the one which Mr. McAlpine had carried with him in a handbag to International Falls two days before his death. The handbag was brought back to the house the day before his death. Chief Troyer said that the widow expressed regret that she had not taken the gun from the grip. If she had, she was credited with saying, she might have averted her husband's death.

John Cashin, a West Duluth lumber dealer, who knew Mr. McAlpine during his life time and occasionally secured loans of money from him, testified that shortly before the lumberman's death he visited him at his office to try to borrow $240, offering some land as collateral. The loan was not negotiated. During his conversation, he testified, Mr. McAlpine told him, "When you sell that land reserve the mineral rights; they may not be worth anything in my time, but they may be valuable to you." The witness stated that in view of the fact that there was little difference in their ages, he considered the remark a rather peculiar one.

Concerning Land Titles.

W. G. Bonham, former judge of probate, was called by attorneys for the insurance company to testify that he had examined the titles to certain lands in St. Louis county which figured in the case. The title to certain descriptions in section 14, 67-19 had been examined and it was found that Mr. McAlpine was a stranger to the record of title. This was the land for a half interest of which Dr. R. R. Chase of Eau Claire, Wis., a close friend of the dead lumberman, testified that he had paid Mr. McAlpine $3,400. Mr. Bonham also testified with reference to other lands which Mr. McAlpine had tried to sell to the Backus-Lumber company, in which the title was in bad shape.

William McAlpine, a brother of the dead man, was recalled by Attorney McManus for further cross-examination. The witness in response to questions put by Mr. McManus, denied that he had a conversation with David Williams, vice president of the First National bank, in which he is alleged to have stated a belief that his brother's will was a forgery and in which he asked the banker's assistance in proving the same.

"Others told me they believed it to be a forgery," he testified, "but I did not so state to Mr. Williams."

The second week of the trial was concluded yesterday afternoon. Judge Cant adjourned the proceedings to Monday morning. The case is one in which considerable public interest has been manifested. This is evidenced by the large crowds which daily fill the spectator's quarters in the court room.

ROOSEVELT DISCUSSES RELATIONS OF CAPITAL AND LABOR IN KANSAS

ment, and highly paid and highly efficient labor. There must be full and ungrudging recognition of labor's rights in industry, and on the other hand no less recognition by labor of its responsibility as to output and its share in the responsibility to the public for stability and peace in industry.

"Not only must we now insist on certain types of legislation but we must take the lead in educating the public, in educating our people as a whole, because there can be no legislation until we have an intelligent and roused public opinion. Often the difficulties come not so much from a conflict between right and wrong as from a conflict between one right and another.

Where Both Sides Are Wrong.

"On the other hand we often have to face a situation in which both sides have done wrong, although one has done more wrong than the other. In such cases, government authorities should interfere, doing impartial justice to both, and exacting justice from both."

In relation to the latter, Col. Roosevelt cited the case of conditions in Colorado in connection with the strike of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company. "These conditions," he asserted, "are primarily due to our failure as a nation (following the failure of the people of Colorado as a state), to provide the kind of remedy and to adopt the kind of attitude that I advocate, and that all of us who feel as I do are endeavoring to bring home to the national conscience and to the national understanding. In the case of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company we see the absolute negation of the principle of industrial democracy."

Col. Roosevelt declared the men responsible for the management of the company insist on their selfish and autocratic rights to manage the business as they seem best, and that it had been conducted exclusively for their profit without regard to the rights of the public or the wage workers.

Must Put Down Lawlessness.

Referring to the violence accompanying the strike, "certainly on the part of the employes and probably on the part of the agents of the employer," he declared:

"Such lawlessness and brutal violence must be put down by the strong hand of the law and obedience to the law must be exacted not as a favor but as a right.

"Every one should belong to the party of law and order. But there can be no permanent reign of law and order unless it is based on and results on the reign of justice. It is the duty of the state, the duty of the government to put down rioting, lawlessness and violence, whether by the strikers, or agents of the corporations.

"The testimony taken before the congressional committee shows that the managers and stockholders of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company have not the slightest sense of their real obligations to their employes and to the community at large. This testimony shows as clearly as the exposures in connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad the folly and worse than folly of those who believe that there must be no overseeing—or as our enemies call it—no 'policing' of big industries, or big business, by the government.

Must Be "Policed."

"When employers show themselves as callous to public needs, as short-sighted and as greedy of their own profit without regard to the welfare of the wage-worker or of the people at large, as has been the case in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railway company, it is essential that the people of the country shall be able, through the exercise of their collective power, to remedy the wrong-doing."

The colonel said he believed in full recognition of the corporation as well as the trade union, but did not believe in imposing responsibility upon unions in such a way as to cause them to lose the power they have.

"I do not believe," he said, "in trading power for responsibility, or if that form of word seems objectionable, then to insist that with the growth of power there shall go hand in hand growth of responsibility, so that, for example, the union that has the right to elect some of the directors in a corporation (and I earnestly wish that such provisions for the election of directors could be brought about), or a union that has some power in connection with shop discipline, must accept responsibilities to the government, to the capitalists, and to the public at large. We ought not to be content with any solution which leaves labor all on one side and capital on the other."

The colonel emphasized his belief that every wise employer or corporation should recognize the right of men working for wages to bargain collectively, whenever and so far as they desire, and in the form which they desire.

No Discrimination.

"I believe no less emphatically in the right of a non-union man to work side by side with a union," he said. "I will no more stand for tyranny by labor union than for tyranny against a labor union. But the so-called open shop, in which there is discrimination against union men, is one of the vicious types of closed shops.

"We must turn the laborer into a capitalist, giving him a share in the profits, and management of the industry. We must give, not nominally but genuinely, the wage workers the same right to combine which business men obtain through corporations."

Col. Roosevelt, in touching on the tariff question, referring to the German tariff commission as a "real non-partisan business commission of continuing action concerned in business-like fashion with the welfare of the wage worker and of the farmer, no les than of the business men," he asserted that it was "a reflection upon the good sense and ability of our political leaders that they do not now put through such a program."

GERMANS ARE CONFIDENT OF FINAL RESULT

tioning what part of this large region the Germans occupy.

Lieut. Wercer von Baeulieu, one of the best known German aviators, has been killed. He was mortally wounded while reconnoitering a hostile position on Sept. 4, but clung to the steering gear until he and his observer had safely landed within the German lines. He then collapsed. As a result of the trip the observer was able to deliver a valuable report.

The well known sculptor, Friedrich Pfannschmidt, captain of the Fourth foot guard, was killed in the battle near Chalons. Herman Wendel, the Socialist member of the Reichstag, who caused a sensation during the budget debate by closing his speech with the words: "Long live France," has volunteered in the Frankfurter Landsturm battalion and has seen service in Belgium. He writes to the Socialist organization that he could not sit quietly before the fire while the whole nation was fighting for its existence. He said he wished during his service to work by word and deed for the cause of humanity which was sadly neglected in war time.

Shower of Steel Arrows.

A shower of steel arrows, released by French aviators over a mile high in the air, is the most modern terror of war according to accounts of German wounded, printed in the Munich Medical Weekly. The arrows which are of pressed steel, from 4 to 6 inches long and a quarter of a inch in diameter, have a heavy pointed head and a skeletonized shaft. The arrows seem to have caused more surprise than actual damage. Only one man was killed by a head wound in the attack described, the others causing mostly flesh wounds.

The regiment to which the wounded belonged, resting in close battalion formation, paid little attention to two aviators circling a mile overhead until the novel projectiles suddenly rained down, scattering far and wide. Men were wounded in three companies. The battery in the rear, at first nonplussed, later realized the source of the missiles and as many as possible crawled under the wagons and escaped another shower of them.

Crown Prince George and Prince Frederick Christian of Saxony have been awarded the Iron Cross.

Says She Is Hypnotized.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming she had been under the hypnotic influence of some St. Paul woman, whom she says she met in that city several weeks ago, Mrs. Mary Taylor Brown of Northwood, N. D., was brought to Grand Forks yesterday by an attendant from the Minnesota asylum at Rochester, where the woman had been held several days pending the establishment of her legal residence.

board. Under the law the commission cannot modify that order without hearings; the decision to reopen the case brings the whole question up again for review in which the railroads will press for the 5 per cent increases throughout the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

Reason for Request.

The railroads asked for a reopening not upon the showing they made at the hearings prior to the decision, but upon conditions which the managers say have become apparent since. The showing of the roads for June which was not available when the case was before the commission last time and the exigencies which have been thrust upon them by the European war with the attendant difficulties of getting new capital and the falling off in export traffic, were cited as the principal reasons why the case should be reopened.

Shippers' organizations which fought the increases previous have given notice that they will oppose further advances on the rehearing. They will be represented by counsel and will have an opportunity to oppose new increases as they did before.

The increases the railroads ask are identical with those which were denied. Although described as 5 per cent advances, the commission's recent decision declared some of them ranged as high as 35 per cent. The principal heavy commodities west of Pittsburg, Buffalo and Charleston, such as coal and coke, which constitutes more than half of the total traffic of the railroads, will be affected.

All class and commodity rates east, for which the commission denied increases entirely, will be affected by the new case.

Western railroads are already preparing applications for increases in freight rates, so that when the commission begins the rehearing it will have substantially before it applications for increased freight rates from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

can effectively threaten the communications of the invaders.

Stops German Advances.

Petrograd reports that Gen. Rennenkampff has definitely arrested the German advance. This movement has been assisted by river excursion boats changed into what the soldiers termed a "one-horse navy" and had driven the Russians back into the marsh country along the border.

The Austrians in a persistent effort to save the remnants of their army and re-establish it as a fighting force, have, according to reports from Vienna, fortified their extended new defensive front from Drohobyez, southwest to Lemberg, to Cracow, with the center on Przemysl. An attack on the Przemysl fortress is expected at once from the Russians under command of Generals Ruzsby and Brussiloff. One report, which reaches London from Galicia, declares that the Austrian cavalry has been entirely wiped out. This may account for fortification of the Austrian line instead of its continued retreat toward Cracow.

Disquieting Reports.

From many points in the dual monarchy come disquieting reports. Pola, the naval base on the Adriatic, is said to be in revolt, while the people of Vienna, refusing longer to have their attention diverted towards the west, are demanding news of the situation in Galicia, from which district hordes of refugee Poles and wounded Austrian soldiers are pouring into the capital daily. Violent scenes outside the ministry of war building at Vienna are reported.

The most critical aspect from the British standpoint of the terrible battle now raging in the western arena of the war is the dreadful apprehension with which the British public awaits the publication of the casualty list of last week's fighting. Many of Great Britain's most famous regiments are reported to have been mowed down in the terrific assaults on the heights held by the Germans above the River Aisne. The German public may also expect a shock in this regard, for the battlefields already swept over give evidence, according to reports received here, that the famous Prussian guard corps has been virtually wiped out.

Fighting Is Terrible.

Bordeaux, Sept. 19.—There has been given out officially here information concerning incidents of the fighting and personal experiences, furnished by German prisoners or obtained from documents seized by French troops. The information relates particularly to the fighting around Reims between the eleventh and the sixteenth of September.

A German artillery officer wrote:

"Modern war is the greatest of follies. Companies of 250 men in the Tenth army corps have been reduced to seventy men, and there are companies of the guard commanded by volunteers of a year, all the officers having disappeared."

The following is taken from a letter written by a German captain of infantry:

"We were surprised by the French, and I lost my company. Searching for it in a village I was made a prisoner. Now my fate is in the hands of God."

Another German officer who was captured at Reims said:

Guard Had to Retreat.

"For tactical reasons the guard had to retreat. We had many killed and 800 injured. The First battalion of the First regiment of the guard has not another officer. The French artillery defiled so well that we could not discover its site. Gen. von Schack and the colonel of the Second regiment of artillery of the guard are among the killed.

"With what grief we learned each evening of the death of our comrades," this officer continued to one of his captors. "It is necessary to have lived the battle and to find oneself in the evening without food and with only the hard earth for a bed to appreciate the truth of the words 'warm' was the day and bloody the battle; cold is the evening and calm is the night.'"

The following is from a letter written by a lieutenant of the Twenty-sixth German artillery:

Want Decisive Battle.

"The Tenth corps has been constantly in action since the opening of the campaign. Nearly all our horses have fallen. We fight every day from 5 in the morning till 8 at night without eating or drinking. The artillery fire of the French is frightful. We get so tired that we cannot ride a horse, even at a walk. Toward noon our battery was literally under a rain of shrapnel shells and that lasted for three days. We hope for a decisive battle to end the situation, for our troops cannot rest. A French aviator last night threw four bombs, killing four men and wounding eight, and killing twenty horses and wounding ten more. We do not receive any more mail, for the postal automobiles of the Tenth corps have been destroyed."

An officer of the Prussian guard regiment said:

"My regiment left for the front with sixty officers; it counts today only five. We underwent terrible trials."

Heaviest Guns Hidden.

London, Sept. 19.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail describing the great battle says:

"The Germans have held their ground three days, their heaviest guns hidden in the woods, and the French artillery has not yet obtained a mastery of fire over them.

"The German infantry is entrenched along the edges of woods in which the batteries are concealed. It is being attacked alternately by artillery fire and by infantry assaults, the French charges being driven home right into the heart of the woods.

"At night the Germans make counter attacks, but these have always been repulsed.

"The stronghold of the German position is the height of Nogent l'Abbesse, three miles due west of Rheims. There the Germans occupied the site of what used to be the forts of Rheims and from there they are bombarding the town of Rheims which was on fire in eight different places at 4 o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon when I came down from the tower of the cathedral, where I had been watching the fierce battle since morning."

SKIN TROUBLE ON HANDS AND FEET

Similar to Ringworm. Tiny Clear Blisters. Skin Rough and Cracked Open. Could Scarcely Use Hands. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Completely Rid of Trouble.

Cassville, Mo.—"My hands and feet were affected with a trouble similar to ringworm for a number of years. It first appeared as tiny clear blisters and in places the blisters were so close together that they almost formed one large blister. The skin was rough and cracked open. At times it was so bad that it disabled me; my hands became so sore that I could scarcely use them.

"I used every remedy that I could find but nothing seemed to do any good. Finally I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I then got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment which completely rid me of the trouble." (Signed) Ray Bryant, Mar. 14, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail

A generation of mothers has found no soap so well suited for cleansing and purifying the skin and hair of infants and children as Cuticura Soap. Its absolute purity and refreshing fragrance alone are enough to recommend it above ordinary skin soaps, but there are added to these qualities delicate yet effective emollient properties derived from Cuticura Ointment, which render it most valuable in overcoming a tendency to distressing eruptions and promoting skin and hair health. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL WILL BE CUT

the night and spoke some time to almost empty chamber, and whenever he could, to a full attendance brought by a carefully engineered demand for a quorum.

Bring in Members.

Several times a roll call failed to bring enough senators to do business, and a squad of deputy sergeants-at-arms, bearing writs of arrest, started out in taxicabs to bring in the absent members.

Senator Burton took the floor shortly before 6 o'clock last night, after the Democrats had determined on a continuous session. Despite all efforts to dislodge him, he continued to talk.

At 3 o'clock Senator Burton, who during the resting spell had discarded his frock coat for an alpaca house jacket and had donned bedroom slippers, was plodding up and down, pointer in hand, before a series of charts which he had placed on the wall of the senate chamber.

Senators Slumber.

The cloakrooms and nearby committee rooms were filled with slumbering senators awaiting the summons of the quorum bell.

Senator Ashurst, who then occupied the chair, was forced to call Senator Williams of Mississippi to order for whistling "How Dry I Am" in the chamber. Senator Burton betook himself to a couch in the cloakroom to rest.

Shortly after 6 o'clock today, when Senator Burton had occupied the floor more than twelve hours, Senator Kenyon relieved him and immediately succeeded in forcing a roll call on a point of no quorum. Senator Burton left the chamber to get some sleep.

Few Senators Return.

About 9 o'clock this morning a few senators returned from their homes. A deputy sergeant-at-arms reported that the only absent senator who had refused to obey the order for attendance was William Alden Smith of Michigan. When awakened at his home by the officer, Senator Smith declared he would not respond because he had learned that a quorum was present and his presence was not imperative.

Majority Leader Kern returned after a brief rest and Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee took up the task of presiding officer.

Senator Burton refreshed by one hour's sleep and some coffee and eggs, which he declared he "had to fight for" in the senate restaurant, returned to the chamber. About the same time Senator Smith arrived and made his peace with the sergeant-at-arms.

"Handicapped as we are we will fight on all day and all night and Sunday if necessary," said Senator Burton.

"Senator Bristow is away. Senator Norris is sick. Senator Borah is not here. But I am still on my feet and I am going back to take up the struggle."

"ONE-HORSE NAVY" DOES GOOD WORK

Berlin, Sept. 18, via Rotterdam and London, Sept. 19.—According to the latest dispatches from the war area in East Prussia the Germans, during the latest great battle there, developed a navy on the Mazurian seas in the form of a small pleasure steamer, which was provided with field pieces and machine guns and manned by infantry. It served principally as a means of communication between the right and left wing of the army.

The soldiers referred to it as a one-horse navy, but it did excellent service, landing a Howitzer battery on an island which did good work in disabling the heavy Russian artillery posted near the village of Tiergarten. The navy skirted the banks of the Mazurian lakes, surprising a Russian reconnaissance on one occasion with its effective fire. Later the navy was dismantled and is now back in its old business as an excursion boat.

The twenty-eighth casualty list just published shows 1,036 dead, 4,039 wounded and 1,029 missing. The total losses as given by all the lists is now 7,483 dead, 28,584 wounded, and 9,900 missing. The list just published seems to include the casualties from the recent battle at Tannenberg, East Prussia.

Count Anton Sigray, lieutenant of the third Hungarian Hussars, and who is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Gerard, wife of the American ambassador, is believed to be a prisoner of the Russians, and it is rumored that he has been taken to Odessa.

KAISER VISITS SON OSCAR IN HOSPITAL.

London, Sept. 19.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Rotterdam telegraphs that dispatches from Vitron, near Longwy, describe a visit of Emperor William to his wounded son, Oscar, at that place. The visit was a surprise and the garrison barely succeeded in turning out to welcome the emperor, who, after a brief talk with his son, inspected the grenadiers. Addressing the regiment, he said:

"The fighting around Longwy will be inscribed in letters of gold on the roll of history, but all our successes we must ascribe to the God of our fathers, who is above us."

HOTTEST FIGHTING IS ON LEFT FLANK.

London, Sept. 19.—A dispatch to the Times from Bordeaux dated Friday says:

"Throughout yesterday the whole front was engaged, the fight again being hottest on the left flank, where the turning movement is becoming defined. The enemy made a series of vigorous counter-attacks.

"General French's army has again been signalled out for the enemy's particular attention, but their three attempts to get home upon it have been in vain.

"While the fighting is hard on the eastern half of their front the Germans are digging hard in the center from Reims to Argonne and this probably will form the pivot of the battle."

GRIEF DID NOT IMPRESS HIM

Chief Troyer Testifies He Believed Mrs. McAlpine Was Shamming.

Second Week of Trial Concluded—Postponed Until Monday.

Grief which Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine exhibited at the inquest conducted by the authorities over the body of her husband, John McAlpine, more than a year ago, did not impress C. H. Troyer, chief of police, as being genuine. Chief Troyer so testified yesterday afternoon when called as a witness in district court for the defense in the $50,000 insurance suit which the widow is pressing against the Fidelity & Casualty Company of New York.

The chief testified in answer to a question put by Attorney A. E. McManus on cross examination that he observed Mrs. McAlpine's appearance at the inquest.

"She looked very much distressed," said the witness.

Attorney Theodore Hollister then asked him if the grief exhibited appeared to be genuine or otherwise. He testified that she gave him the impression that she was shamming.

Chief Troyer's story of what he found at the McAlpine house coincided with the testimony on this point given by County Attorney Warren E. Greene. The chief testified as to what examination was made of the premises and of certain conversations which were had with Mr. McManus, who was present at the McAlpine home at the time.

The witness testified that when he inquired for Alice, Dale McAlpine's wife, he found her in the kitchen with Mr. McManus. The attorney, he said, had his finger up and was saying to Alice "I want you to tell the truth." He said that he did not hear any more of this conversation.

Chief Troyer Testifies.

Chief Troyer also testified that last April he was called to the McAlpine home to investigate what had been reported to him as a burglary. He found some evidence pointing to a burglary, he said. In the coachman's room in the basement, things had been disturbed and a fur-lined coat had been reported stolen.

While at the McAlpine house on that occasion, the chief testified, Mrs. McAlpine told him that the revolver which was found in the basement on the morning her husband was shot was the one which Mr. McAlpine had carried with him in a handbag to International Falls two days before his death. The handbag was brought back to the house the day before his death. Chief Troyer said that the widow expressed regret that she had not taken the gun from the grip. If she had, she was credited with saying, she might have averted her husband's death.

John Cashin, a West Duluth lumber dealer, who knew Mr. McAlpine during his life time and occasionally secured loans of money from him, testified that shortly before the lumberman's death he visited him at his office to try to borrow $240, offering some land as collateral. The loan was not negotiated. During his conversation, he testified, Mr. McAlpine told him, "When you sell that land reserve the mineral rights; they may not be worth anything in my time, but they may be valuable to you." The witness stated that in view of the fact that there was little difference in their ages, he considered the remark a rather peculiar one.

Concerning Land Titles.

W. G. Bonham, former judge of probate, was called by attorneys for the insurance company to testify that he had examined the titles to certain lands in St. Louis county which figured in the case. The title to certain descriptions in section 14, 67-19 had been examined and it was found that Mr. McAlpine was a stranger to the record of title. This was the land for a half interest of which Dr. R. R. Chase of Eau Claire, Wis., a close friend of the dead lumberman, testified that he had paid Mr. McAlpine $3,400. Mr. Bonham also testified with reference to other lands which Mr. McAlpine had tried to sell to the Back-us-Lumber company, in which the title was in bad shape.

William McAlpine, a brother of the dead man, was recalled by Attorney McManus for further cross-examination. The witness in response to questions put by Mr. McManus, denied that he had a conversation with David Williams, vice president of the First National bank, in which he is alleged to have stated a belief that his brother's will was a forgery and in which he asked the banker's assistance in proving the same.

"Others told me they believed it to be a forgery," he testified, "but I did not so state to Mr. Williams."

The second week of the trial was concluded yesterday afternoon Judge Cant adjourned the proceedings to Monday morning. The case is one in which considerable public interest has been manifested. This is evidenced by the large crowds which daily fill the spectator's quarters in the court room.

ROOSEVELT DISCUSSES RELATIONS OF CAPITAL AND LABOR IN KANSAS

ment, and highly paid and highly efficient labor. There must be full and ungrudging recognition of labor's rights in industry, and on the other hand no less recognition by labor of its responsibility as to output and its share in the responsibility to the public for stability and peace in industry.

"Not only must we now insist on certain types of legislation but we must take the lead in educating the public, in educating our people as a whole, because there can be no legislation until we have an intelligent and roused public opinion. Often the difficulties come not so much from a conflict between right and wrong as from a conflict between one right and another.

Where Both Sides Are Wrong.

"On the other hand we often have to face a situation in which both sides have done wrong, although one has done more wrong than the other. In such cases, government authorities should interfere, doing impartial justice to both, and exacting justice from both."

In relation to the latter, Col. Roosevelt cited the case of conditions in Colorado in connection with the strike of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company. "These conditions," he asserted, "are primarily due to our failure as a nation (following the failure of the people of Colorado as a state), to provide the kind of remedy and to adopt the kind of attitude that I advocate, and that all of us who feel as I do are endeavoring to bring home to the national conscience and to the national understanding. In the case of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company we see the absolute negation of the principle of industrial democracy."

Col. Roosevelt declared the men responsible for the management of the company insist on their selfish and autocratic rights to manage the business as they seem best, and that it had been conducted exclusively for their profit without regard to the rights of the public or the wage workers.

Must Put Down Lawlessness.

Referring to the violence accompanying the strike, "certainly on the part of the employes and probably on the part of the agents of the employer," he declared:

"Such lawlessness and brutal violence must be put down by the strong hand of the law and obedience to the law must be exacted not as a favor but as a right.

"Every one should belong to the party of law and order. But there can be no permanent reign of law and order unless it is based on and results on the reign of justice. It is the duty of the state, the duty of the government to put down rioting, lawlessness and violence, whether by the strikers, or agents of the corporations.

"The testimony taken before the congressional committee shows that the managers and stockholders of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company have not the slightest sense of their real obligations to their employes and to the community at large. This testimony shows as clearly as the exposures in connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad the folly and worse than folly of those who believe that there must be no overseeing—or as our enemies call it—no 'policing' of big industries, or big business, by the government.

Must Be "Policed."

"When employers show themselves as callous to public needs, as short-sighted and as greedy of profit without regard to the welfare of the wage-worker or of the people at large, as has been the case in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railway company, it is essential that the people of the country shall be able, through the exercise of their collective power, to remedy the wrong-doing."

The colonel said he believed in full recognition of the corporation as well as the trade union, but did not believe in imposing responsibility upon unions in such a way as to cause them to lose the power they have.

"I do not believe," he said, "in trading power for responsibility, or if that form of word seems objectionable, then to insist that with the growth of power there shall go hand in hand growth of responsibility, so that, for example, the union that has the right to elect some of the directors in a corporation (and I earnestly wish that such provisions for the election of directors could be brought about), or a union that has some power in connection with shop discipline, must accept responsibilities to the government, to the capitalists, and to the public at large. We ought not to be content with any solution which leaves labor all on one side and capital on the other."

The colonel emphasized his belief that every wise employer or corporation should recognize the right of men working for wages to bargain collectively, whenever and so far as they desire, and in the form which they desire.

No Discrimination.

"I believe no less emphatically in the right of a non-union man to work side by side with a union," he said. "I will no more stand for tyranny by labor union than for tyranny against a labor union. But the so-called open shop, in which there is discrimination against union men, is one of the vicious types of closed shops.

"We must turn the laborer into a capitalist, giving him a share in the profits, and management of the industry. We must give, not nominally but genuinely, the wage workers the same right to combine which business men obtain through corporations."

Col. Roosevelt, in touching on the tariff question, referring to the German tariff commission as a "real non-partisan business commission of continuing action concerned in business-like fashion with the welfare of the wage worker and of the farmer, no les than of the business men," he asserted that it was "a reflection upon the good sense and ability of our political leaders that they do not now put through such a program."

GERMANS ARE CONFIDENT OF FINAL RESULT

tioning what part of this large region the Germans occupy.

Lieut. Wercer von Baeullieu, one of the best known German aviators, has been killed. He was mortally wounded while reconnoitering a hostile position on Sept. 4, but clung to the steering gear until he and his observer had safely landed within the German lines. He then collapsed. As a result of the trip the observer was able to deliver a valuable report.

The well known sculptor, Friedrich Pfannschmidt, captain of the Fourth foot guard, was killed in the battle near Chalons. Herman Wendel, the Socialist member of the Reichstag, who caused a sensation during the budget debate by closing his speech with the words: "Long live France," has volunteered in the Frankfurter Landsturm battalion and has seen service in Belgium. He writes to the Socialist organization that he could not sit quietly before the fire while the whole nation was fighting for its existence. He said he wished during his service to work by word and deed for the cause of humanity which was sadly neglected in war time.

Shower of Steel Arrows.

A shower of steel arrows, released by French aviators over a mile high in the air, is the most modern terror of war according to accounts of German wounded, printed in the Munich Medical Weekly. The arrows which are of pressed steel, from 4 to 6 inches long and a quarter of a inch in diameter, have a heavy pointed head and a skeletonized shaft. The arrows seem to have caused more surprise than actual damage. Only one man was killed by a head wound in the attack described, the others causing mostly flesh wounds.

The regiment to which the wounded belonged, resting in close battalion formation, paid little attention to two aviators circling a mile overhead until the novel projectiles suddenly rained down, scattering far and wide. Men were wounded in three companies. The battery in the rear, at first nonplussed, later realized the source of the missiles and as many as possible crawled under the wagons and escaped another shower of them.

Crown Prince George and Prince Frederick Christian of Saxony have been awarded the Iron Cross.

Says She Is Hypnotized.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming she had been under the hypnotic influence of some St. Paul woman, whom she says she met in that city several weeks ago, Mrs. Mary Taylor Brown of Northwood, N. D., was brought to Grand Forks yesterday by an attendant from the Minnesota asylum at Rochester, where the woman had been held several days pending the establishment of her legal residence.

RATE CASE TO BE REOPENED

board. Under the law the commission cannot modify that order without hearings; the decision to reopen the case brings the whole question up again for review in which the railroads will press for the 5 per cent increases throughout the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

Reason for Request.

The railroads asked for a reopening not upon the showing they made at the hearings prior to the decision, but upon conditions which the managers say have become apparent since. The showing of the roads for June which was not available when the case was before the commission last time and the exigencies which have been thrust upon them by the European war with the attendant difficulties of getting new capital and the falling off in export traffic, were cited as the principal reasons why the case should be reopened.

Shippers' organizations which fought the increases previous have given notice that they will oppose further advances on the rehearing. They will be represented by counsel and will have an opportunity to oppose new increases as they did before.

The increases the railroads ask are identical with those which were denied. Although described as 5 per cent advances, the commission's recent decision declared some of them ranged as high as 35 per cent. The principal heavy commodities west of Pittsburg, Buffalo and Charleston, such as coal and coke, which constitutes more than half of the total traffic of the railroads, will be affected.

All class and commodity rates east, for which the commission denied increases entirely, will be affected by the new case.

Western railroads are already preparing applications for increases in freight rates, so that when the commission begins the rehearing it will have substantially before it applications for increased freight rates from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

can effectively threaten the communications of the invaders.

Stops German Advances.

Petrograd reports that Gen. Rennenkampff has definitely arrested the German advance. This movement has been assisted by river excursion boats changed into what the soldiers termed a "one-horse navy" and had driven the Russians back into the marsh country along the border.

The Austrians in a persistent effort to save the remnants of their army and re-establish it as a fighting force, have, according to reports from Vienna, fortified their extended new defensive front from Drohobyez, southwest to Lemberg, to Cracow, with the center on Przemysl. An attack on the Przemysl fortress is expected at once from the Russians under command of Generals Ruzsby and Brussiloff. One report, which reaches London from Galicia, declares that the Austrian cavalry has been entirely wiped out. This may account for fortification of the Austrian line instead of its continued retreat toward Cracow.

Disquieting Reports.

From many points in the dual monarchy come disquieting reports. Pola, the naval base on the Adriatic, is said to be in revolt, while the people of Vienna, refusing longer to have their attention diverted towards the west, are demanding news of the situation in Galicia, from which district hordes of refugee Poles and wounded Austrian soldiers are pouring into the capital daily. Violent scenes outside the ministry of war building at Vienna are reported.

The most critical aspect from the British standpoint of the terrible battle now raging in the western arena of the war is the dreadful apprehension with which the British public awaits the publication of the casualty list of last week's fighting. Many of Great Britain's most famous regiments are reported to have been mowed down in the terrific assaults on the heights held by the Germans above the River Aisne. The German public may also expect a shock in this regard, for the battlefields already swept over give evidence, according to reports received here, that the famous Prussian guard corps has been virtually wiped out.

Fighting Is Terrible.

Bordeaux, Sept. 19.—There has been given out officially here information concerning incidents of the fighting and personal experiences, furnished by German prisoners or obtained from documents seized by French troops. The information relates particularly to the fighting around Reims between the eleventh and the sixteenth of September.

A German artillery officer wrote:

"Modern war is the greatest of follies. Companies of 250 men in the Tenth army corps have been reduced to seventy men, and there are companies of the guard commanded by volunteers of a year, all the officers having disappeared."

The following is taken from a letter written by a German captain of infantry:

"We were surprised by the French, and I lost my company. Searching for it in a village I was made a prisoner. Now my fate is in the hands of God."

Another German officer who was captured at Reims said:

Guard Had to Retreat.

"For tactical reasons the guard had to retreat. We had many killed and 800 injured. The First battalion of the First regiment of the guard has not another officer. The French artillery defiled so well that we could not discover its site. Gen. von Schack and the colonel of the Second regiment of artillery of the guard are among the killed.

"With what grief we learned each evening of the death of our comrades," this officer continued to one of his captors. "It is necessary to have lived the battle and to find oneself in the evening without food and with only the hard earth for a bed to appreciate the truth of the words 'warm was the day and bloody the battle; cold is the evening and calm is the night.'"

The following is from a letter written by a lieutenant of the Twenty-sixth German artillery:

Want Decisive Battle.

"The Tenth corps has been constantly in action since the opening of the campaign. Nearly all our horses have fallen. We fight every day from 5 in the morning till 8 at night without eating or drinking. The artillery fire of the French is frightful. We get so tired that we cannot ride a horse, even at a walk. Toward noon our battery was literally under a rain of shrapnel shells and that lasted for three days. We hope for a decisive battle to end the situation, for our troops cannot rest. A French aviator last night threw four bombs, killing four men and wounding eight, and killing twenty horses and wounding ten more. We do not receive any more mail, for the postal automobiles of the Tenth corps have been destroyed."

An officer of the Prussian guard regiment said:

"My regiment left for the front with sixty officers; it counts today only five. We underwent terrible trials."

Heaviest Guns Hidden.

London, Sept. 19.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail describing the great battle says:

"The Germans have held their ground three days, their heaviest guns hidden in the woods, and the French artillery has not yet obtained a mastery of fire over them.

"The German infantry is entrenched along the edges of woods in which the batteries are concealed. It is being attacked alternately by artillery fire and by infantry assaults, the French charges being driven home right into the heart of the woods.

"At night the Germans make counter attacks, but these have always been repulsed.

"The stronghold of the German position is the height of Nogent l'Abbesse, three miles due west of Rheims. Since the Germans occupied the site of what used to be the forts of Rheims and from there they are bombarding the town of Rheims which was on fire in eight different places at 4 o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon when I came down from the tower of the cathedral, where I had been watching the fierce battle since morning."

SKIN TROUBLE ON HANDS AND FEET

Similar to Ringworm. Tiny Clear Blisters. Skin Rough and Cracked Open. Could Scarcely Use Hands. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Completely Rid of Trouble.

Cassville, Mo.—"My hands and feet were affected with a trouble similar to ringworm for a number of years. It first appeared as tiny clear blisters and in places the blisters were so close together that they almost formed one large blister. The skin was rough and cracked open. At times it was so bad that it disabled me; my hands became so sore that I could scarcely use them.

"I used every remedy that I could find but nothing seemed to do any good. Finally I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I then got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment which completely rid me of the trouble." (Signed) Ray Bryant, Mar. 14, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail

A generation of mothers has found no soap so well suited for cleansing and purifying the skin and hair of infants and children as Cuticura Soap. Its absolute purity and refreshing fragrance alone are enough to recommend it above ordinary skin soaps, but there are added to these qualities delicate yet effective emollient properties derived from Cuticura Ointment, which render it most valuable in overcoming a tendency to distressing eruptions and promoting skin and hair health. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL WILL BE CUT

the night and spoke some time to almost empty chamber, and whenever he could, so a full attendance brought by a carefully engineered demand for a quorum.

Bring in Members.

Several times a roll call failed to bring enough senators to do business, and a squad of deputy sergeants-at-arms, bearing writs of arrest, started out in taxicabs to bring in the absent members.

Senator Burton took the floor shortly before 6 o'clock last night, after the Democrats had determined on a continuous session. Despite all efforts to dislodge him, he continued to talk.

At 3 o'clock Senator Burton, who during the resting spell had discarded his frock coat for an alpaca house jacket and had donned bedroom slippers, was plodding up and down, pointer in hand, before a series of charts which he had placed on the wall of the senate chamber.

Senators Slumber.

The cloakrooms and nearby committee rooms were filled with slumbering senators awaiting the summons of the quorum bell.

Senator Ashurst, who then occupied the chair, was forced to call Senator Williams of Mississippi to order for whistling "How Dry I Am" in the chamber. Senator Burton betook himself to a couch in the cloakroom to rest.

Shortly after 6 o'clock today, when Senator Burton had occupied the floor more than twelve hours, Senator Kenyon relieved him and immediately succeeded in forcing a roll call on a point of no quorum. Senator Burton left the chamber to get some sleep.

Few Senators Return.

About 9 o'clock this morning a few senators returned from their homes. A deputy sergeant-at-arms reported that the only absent senator who had refused to obey the order for attendance was William Alden Smith of Michigan. When awakened at his home by the officer Senator Smith declared he would not respond because he had learned that a quorum was present and his presence was not imperative.

Majority Leader Kern returned after a brief rest and Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee took up the task of presiding officer.

Senator Burton refreshed by one hour's sleep and some coffee and eggs, which he declared he "had to fight for" in the senate restaurant, returned to the chamber. About the same time Senator Smith arrived and made his peace with the sergeant-at-arms.

"Handicapped as we are we will fight on all day and all night and Sunday if necessary," said Senator Burton.

"Senator Bristow is away. Senator Norris is sick. Senator Borah is not here. But I am still on my feet and I am going back to take up the struggle."

"ONE-HORSE NAVY" DOES GOOD WORK

Berlin, Sept. 18, via Rotterdam and London, Sept. 19.—According to the latest dispatches from the war area in East Prussia the Germans, during the latest great battle there, developed a navy on the Mazurian seas in the form of a small pleasure steamer, which was provided with field pieces and machine guns and manned by infantry. It served principally as a means of communication between the right and left wing of the army.

The soldiers referred to it as a one-horse navy, but it did excellent service, landing a Howitzer battery on an island which did good work in disabling the heavy Russian artillery posted near the village of Tiergarten. The navy skirted the banks of the Mazurian lakes, surprising a Russian reconnaissance on one occasion with its effective fire. Later the navy was dismantled and is now back in its old business as an excursion boat.

The twenty-eighth casualty list just published shows 1,036 dead, 4,039 wounded and 1,029 missing. The total losses as given by all the lists is now 7,483 dead, 28,584 wounded, and 9,900 missing. The list just published seems to include the casualties from the recent battle at Tannenberg, East Prussia.

Count Anton 'Sigray, lieutenant of the third Hungarian Hussars, and who is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Gerard, wife of the American ambassador, is believed to be a prisoner of the Russians, and it is rumored that he has been taken to Odessa.

KAISER VISITS SON OSCAR IN HOSPITAL.

London, Sept. 19.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Rotterdam telegraphs that dispatches from Vitron, near Longwy, describe a visit of Emperor William to his wounded son, Oscer, at that place. The visit was a surprise and the garrison barely succeeded in turning out to welcome the emperor, who, after a brief talk with his son, inspected the grenadiers. Addressing the regiment, he said:

"The fighting around Longwy will be inscribed in letters of gold on the roll of history, but all our successes we must ascribe to the God of our fatners, who is above us."

HOTTEST FIGHTING IS ON LEFT FLANK.

London, Sept. 19.—A dispatch to the Times from Bordeaux dated Friday says:

"Throughout yesterday the whole front was engaged, the fight again being hottest on the left flank, where the turning movement is becoming defined. The enemy made a series of vigorous counter-attacks.

"General French's army has again been signalled out for the enemy's particular attention, but their three attempts to get home upon it have been in vain.

"While the fighting is hard on the eastern half of their front the Germans are digging hard in the center from Reims to Argonne and this probably will form the pivot of the battle."

WORK OF THE UHLANS OF MOST DANGEROUS NATURE

Efforts in Locating the Enemy Usually Result in Death for Riders.

Never Retreat, But Move Along Until the Last One Is Shot Down.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Rotterdam, Sept. 7.—Of the German Uhlans of whom so much has been heard in the European war, Luigi Barzini, a widely known Italian war correspondent, says in the Corriere della Sera:

"As we neared a small station and the train lessened its speed, we saw a small troop of cavalry guarding the railroad crossing—a patrol of Uhlans. Their demeanor was calm. Though they were in the enemy's country, their carefree attitude gave the impression that they merely were in a maneuver camp.

"The swarms of cavalry which the Germans send out ahead of their advance are to be found everywhere on any highway, on any path. It is their duty to see as much as possible. They show themselves everywhere and they ride until they are fired on, keeping this up until they have located the enemy. Theirs is the task of riding into death. The entire front of the enemy is established by them and many of them are killed—that is a certainty they face. Now and then, however, one of them manages to escape to bring the information himself (which otherwise is obtained by officers in their rear making observations).

"The fire with which the Uhlans are received permits of a fair estimate of the strength of the enemy, for they know that usually all the soldiers shoot as soon as the cavalry of the enemy shows itself.

"At every bush, every heap of earth, the Uhlans must say to himself: 'Here I will meet an enemy in hiding.' He knows that he cannot defend himself against a fire that may open on him from all sides. Everywhere there is danger for the Uhlan—hidden danger.

"Nevertheless he keeps on riding, calmly and undisturbed, in keeping with German discipline."

The German Uhlan is employed entirely for reconnoissance purposes and what is known as "screen" and contact work. In the first of these capacities he endeavors to locate the enemy without running into his fire, doing this usually in groups of from twenty to thirty, which move with vanguard, flankers and rear guard.

Their "Screen" Work.

In "screen" work the Uhlan is used to cover infantry or artillery advances, taking a position on the flank as soon as this has been accomplished.

In contact work, as the task is described by Barzini, the Uhlan rides in small bodies until he has drawn the fire of the enemy. Instead of retreating, as he may do in ordinary reconnoissance work, he endeavors to trace the front of the enemy, riding parallel to it—usually until the last man is shot down. The contact action has, meanwhile, been closely observed from the German front and the advance and attack of the infantry is governed by the information gained at the expense of the Uhlan, for whom there is no hope as soon as he is detailed for this duty, but who, from all accounts, does not seem to mind this part of his work.

FIFTH PART OF LOUVAIN IN RUINS

Most of the Public Buildings, However, Have Been Preserved.

Berlin, Sept. 19.—The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung publishes official dispatches from the German administration of Louvain, stating that though from a fifth to a sixth part of the city is in ruins, most of the public buildings have been preserved, including the beautiful city hall, regarding which there has been so much discussion.

The dispatches say that the damage to St. Peter's Cathedral was such that the building can be restored easily and the art works were protected by German soldiers. The German officers did everything possible to check the fire. Many of the residents are returning and some of the shops have been reopened. Trains are being operated on the railway between Louvain and Brussels.

The courts of justice have resumed their sessions at Louvain.

FURIOUS ATTACK BY THE GERMANS

Dense Masses of Troops Hurled Against Allies, But Are Repulsed.

London, Sept. 19.—The Exchange Telegraph company's Paris correspondent in a dispatch says a comprehensive account of the five days' battle on the Aisne river, which he described as the fiercest in the western theater since the beginning of the war, was given by a French officer who arrived in Paris today.

"On the morning of the fourteenth, the officer said, the Germans called a halt, but by afternoon the battle had become general. All the next day the battle was of a ding dong nature, the Germans evidently awaiting reinforcements. During the night, however, they delivered a furious attack on the extreme left, but the British and French troops gallantly met the onslaught, repulsing the Germans, no fewer than ten times with fearful losses.

"The Germans still came on, however, seeking to pierce the French line. There had been nothing like it since the beginning of the campaign. The enemy hurled dense masses of troops at us in a supreme endeavor to check our forward progress, but when dawn came we still held the position and even had gained ground slightly.

"The artillery duel was continued through the next day. The morning of the seventeenth again saw desperate fighting. This time we threw the Germans back some ten kilometers, capturing 600 men and a lot of mitrailleuses."

COMMITTEES ON MOURNING SUPPLY

Distinctive Form for Relatives of the British Killed.

London, Sept. 9.—The proposition of instituting a distinctive form of mourning to be worn by the relatives of British soldiers and sailors killed in the war has attracted much attention. Several titled ladies have interested themselves in the subject, but the form which the mourning should take is still undecided.

A Red Cross worker writing to Queen Mary's Needlework guild suggested that all towns and villages organize local committees of women to gather black clothing, used, but in good condition, to be distributed among poor mourners who lost relatives in their country's service. To dispense with mourning at such a time as this would add a sting to the horrors of death," she suggested that mourning supply committees furnish men and children relatives with a black band bearing a miniature Union Jack.

PAU'S MODESTY NOW RECALLED

Admirers Wanted to Present Sword of Honor Year Ago.

Paris, Sept. 19.—The French papers are recalling an interesting reply which Gen. Pau made a year ago when his admirers proposed to present him with a sword of honor upon the occasion of his giving up command of the Twentieth army corps. "I certainly should not accept the sword of honor that you and other well meaning patriots think of giving me," he said. "Such a recompense must be reserved for the man who shall lead our victorious armies beyond Metz and Strassburg, beyond the Rhine, into the very heart of the German empire. As for me, modest worker in times of peace, enemy to publicity and popularity, it is sufficient that I have the confidence of those who have served under my orders, and the suffrages of good people such as you."

PRINCE OF WALES IS KEPT FROM FRONT.

London, Sept. 19.—The Prince of Wales was very anxious to go to the front, according to a statement issued by the official press bureau, and tried to get Lord Kitchener's consent to do so. But as he had not completed his military training Lord Kitchener submitted to the king "that for the present it is undesirable that his royal highness should proceed on active service."

GERMAN AEROPLANES SHORT OF GASOLINE.

Bordeaux, Sept. 19.—The Troyes correspondent of the Temps has sent the following dispatch:

"According to wounded prisoners, the German aeroplanes have been put out of action through lack of gasoline. The French aviators, on the other hand, have been doing excellent work. One French airman succeeded in dropping bombs at an important railroad junction, with the result that ten trains filled with retreating Prussians, were stalled.

"In the last convoy of prisoners brought to Troyes were seventeen imperial guardsmen who were captured in the woods near Vitry-Le-Francois (department of Marne). Attached to their sleeves by pins were red cross insignia to which, it is suspected, they had no right. They have been sent to a French ambulance corps where their qualifications may be tested."

LOOKS LIKE ROYAL SEAT OF GOVERNMENT.

Paris, Sept. 19.—Bordeaux, the city to which the French government has been removed, has the aspect of a royal seat of government, rather than Republican. It resembles Versailles. The desire to build a grandoise city is everywhere in evidence. The streets are broad, the squares spacious, yet the buildings of large proportion, yet the 250,000 inhabitants of the city are insufficient to give it the appearance of a populous center. Bordeaux could easily shelter a population three times as large.

Bordeaux is situated on the left bank of the Garonne, which forms a magnificent harbor some sixty miles to the southeast of the mouth of the river. It is 389 miles from Paris. Not only is it easy of access, but it is favorably placed for communication with other parts of France and with Spain. For the second time in its history it now becomes the provisional capital of France. During the Franco-German war of 1870-71 the government was transferred thither from Paris, and remained there until the conclusion of peace.

DENTISTS IN ENGLAND HAVING BUSY TIME.

London, Sept. 19.—So many men who want to enlist in the army have been refused because of defective teeth, that fifty American and English dentists have volunteered their services to remedy conditions. Each of the fifty dentists has agreed to treat without cost the teeth of fifty men whose physical condition is such that they will be acceptable as recruits when their dental short-comings are removed.

FAMOUS WOMAN PUBLISHER DEAD

Widow of Frank Leslie Succumbs to Attack of Heart Failure.

New York, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Frank Leslie (the Baroness de Bazus) died last night in apartments in an uptown hotel here. She was the widow of Frank Leslie, the publisher, who died in 1880, and has herself since been prominent in the publication world. An acute attack of heart trouble was the cause of Mrs. Leslie's death.

Mrs. Leslie, whose maiden name was Miriam Florence Folline, was born at New Orleans in 1851, of an old French Huguenot family. She was educated at home by her father, who gave her a wide knowledge of French, Spanish, Italian, German and Latin literature. At the age of 13 she began writing for publication.

Subsequently she married Frank Leslie, the publisher. After the death of her husband in 1880 she succeeded to his business, straightened out the affairs of the Leslie publications and made them financial successes.

In 1902 she sold her publishing interests and resumed the family name of the Baroness de Bazus, a French title which had belonged to her ancestors for many generations. Of late years she had confined herself exclusively to writing books and contributing to European magazines.

An Eight Cylinder Cadillac

The matchless mode of motoring reserved to only a few privileged persons in the Old World (at an almost prohibitive price) developed by the Cadillac Company for American Motorists!

Serious minded motor car manufacturers have sought the ideal power principle for fifteen years.

The Cadillac Company has never relaxed for a month, a week, or a day, its patient pursuit of that underlying principle which would prove to be ultimate and final.

In the course of that long journey toward perfection, the Cadillac Company has given serious consideration to every reputable type of motor—endeavoring to scrutinize with scientific impartiality the virtues and the limitations of each and every one alike.

Building and experimenting in turn, with every type from the single cylinder to the six, and from the poppet to the rotary and to the sliding valve, we have been carried forward irresistibly, by the impetus of our own research, to the highest form of frequent-impulse motor—the V Type Eight Cylinder.

It is admitted, we believe, that this company produced in the four-cylinder field, a succession of cars which earned the title "Standard of the World."

Beyond that, loomed for us only one hope and possibility—the promise of a motor in which there would be no lapse, no pause, no hesitation between impulses, but an overlapping of strokes so compete as to produce a flow of power almost literally liquid in its continuity.

We sought the medium by which the Cadillac would be endowed, not with approximate freedom from gear shifting, or approximate hill-climbing ability on high, or approximately swift acceleration, but with the highest possible form of these three characteristics.

The Cadillac already possessed those qualifications in an extraordinary measure, but we wanted them developed to a point beyond which it was not possible to go.

This requirement pointed straight to an Eight Cylinder Cadillac with four power impulses during every revolution of the fly-wheel.

How fully these luxuries of travel have been achieved, nothing but your first memorable ride in the new Cadillac can reveal.

As the Cadillac softly speeds along under the almost magic influence of this new power-principle, you become oblivious to the wonderful mechanism which gives you motion. The sensation is as unique as though you had never motored before—the sense of floating through space comes to you as it never came to you before.

It is useless to try to depict in words, thrills which you have never felt—or to portray a degree of ease which you have never experienced.

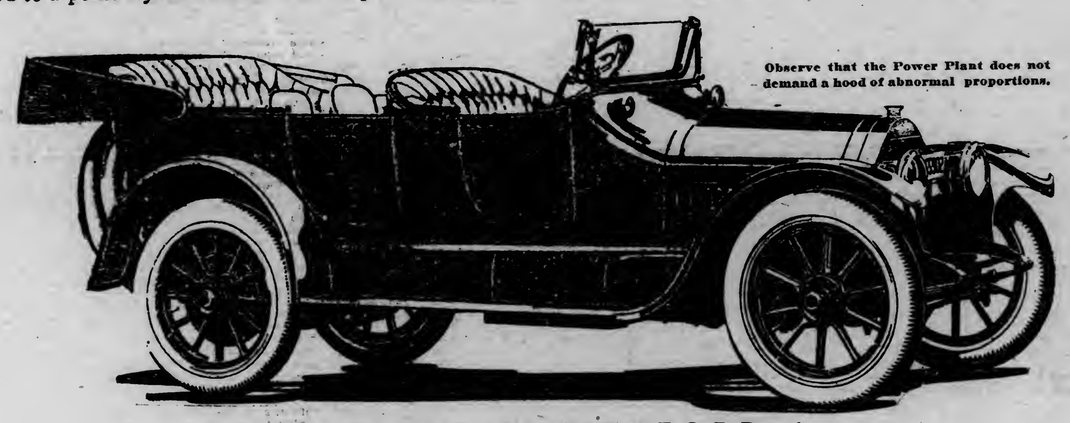

Good roads yield up a velvet quality of travel undreamed of.

Bad roads lose much of their terror, and hills seem almost to flatten out before you—so easily, so quietly, and with so little effort does the car surmount them.

In operation, you enjoy the extreme of flexibility—from less than three miles an hour in crowded city streets and congested traffic to more than sixty miles an hour on the open highway, without change of gears.

Comfort is subserved in the highest degree by the absence of vibration and the pronounced flexibility—and, again, by the yielding springs; the ease with which the car is handled and controlled; the smoothness of the worm bevel driving gears, the soft clutch action and the exceptional sense of rest and relaxation.

The supreme motoring experience of your life awaits you when you take your first ride in this truly remarkable car.

Observe that the Power Plant does not demand a hood of abnormal proportions.

EXPO. WILL OPEN MONDAY

Parade Will Be Greatest Ever Held in Duluth.

Displays and Decorations Excel All Previous Attempts.

The third annual Duluth Industrial, Dairy and Agricultural exposition will open at the Curling club Monday and continue through the week.

The doors of the Curling club will be thrown open at noon Monday, and many will view the exhibits during the afternoon, but the grand opening will take place in the evening, following the industrial parade.

The parade, according to R. T. Hugo, chairman of the committee that made arrangements, will be the biggest thing of the kind ever seen in Duluth. It will be headed by a platoon of mounted and unmounted police and the Third Regiment band, and will include in the procession the three companies of the National Guard stationed in Duluth, the two divisions of the Minnesota Naval Militia, Aad Temple patrol and drum corps, from seventy-five to 100 floats, and the employes of a large number of Duluth wholesale and manufacturing firms.

"If the weather is good and all who have promised to do so turn out, it will make a parade three miles long," said Mr. Hugo today.

The exposition at the Curling club consists of three main divisions with various departments to each. They are the industrial, dairy and agricultural departments and a great amount of time, thought and effort has been given to the arrangement of the displays in each.

Industrial Department.

The industrial department occupies the entire second floor of the Curling club as it did last year. The setting is a reproduction of an Egyptian city, the product of seven months' work by Charles Josten on his ranch at Fowler, Mont. The setting alone will draw thousands of people to the exposition. It is a work of art, infinite in detail, and far and away above anything of the kind ever done in the Northwest.

There are sixty buildings in the Egyptian city and all will be occupied by exhibits. A few have been assigned to charitable and public institutions for displays, but in the remainder the products of Duluth industries and the processes of manufacture will be shown. Some unique exhibits have been arranged, the manufacturers vying with each other from year to year to obtain originality in exhibits that will cause their display to stand out among the others.

The industrial department will offer a brilliant scene Monday evening. The roof has been gaily festooned with bright colored bunting in unusual colors; the chandeliers have been decorated in striking effects, thousands of electric lights will add to the brilliance and the Egyptian city itself is gay in color and light.

Besides the industrial exhibits, there will be displays of the work of the children in the Children's home and St. James' orphanage, the products of the manual training department of the city schools, the trophies won by the crews of the Duluth Boat club at Kenora and Philadelphia, the materials and methods of the paving work conducted by the city division of public works, and of the activities of the Duluth Curling club.

Agricultural Department.

In the agricultural department, about $450 has been offered in prizes for potatoes, home, market and school gardens, and flowers. The number of entries already made insures the complete filling of the large space devoted to that department and Duluth people will have an opportunity to see the greatest display of the agricultural products of the surrounding country ever brought together.

The St. Louis county exhibit as it was shown at the state fair by the Duluth Commercial club has been installed in the agricultural department with the premium tags of the big show at Hamline attached to the prize-winning products. The collection of potatoes that won the grand prize at the state fair is well worth seeing.

Two tables extending the entire length of the curling rink have been assigned to home garden displays from the various sections of the city. Lakeside, Woodland and Hunters Park, East end, West end, West Duluth, New Duluth and Fond du Lac, Park Point and Duluth Heights have been entered. The home garden displays will be entered separately for prizes and the representation of each section of the city will be judged for the grand prize, a trophy to be engraved and set up in the Duluth Commercial club rooms.

Market gardeners from all around Duluth have entered into competition for the market garden prizes and they will all have good displays of products.

The potato competition will bring out an unusual display for the prizes are large and there is the further incentive for farmers having potatoes for sale to exhibit in the fact that potato buyers have been attracted by the Duluth exposition and are expected to be on hand. The potato premiums include the Dr. Wallace sweepstakes, prizes of $25, $15 and $10 for the three best bushels of potatoes shown; the Louis W. Hill $50 cup for the best sack of 150 pounds of potatoes exhibited from Great Northern territory and the Northern Pacific cash prizes aggregating $50 for the best sacks of 150 pounds of potatoes exhibited from Northern Pacific territory.

Dairy Department.

In the dairy department nearly 100 head of the finest pure bred dairy cattle in this territory will be exhibited. They will include Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey and Red Poll cattle, the varieties that are best known in this territory. George P. Grout, superintendent of the Jean du Luth farm, is in charge of the dairy department and has spent several weeks in obtaining the cattle for exhibition.

In addition there will be a display of approved machinery for use on the farm or co-operative creamery.

Health Department.

The Duluth health department will have an exhibit that will fit in with the dairy department. It will show the methods of testing milk for purity and cleanliness and the results of the tuberculin test for cattle. The Duluth health department has reached a high degree of efficiency in protecting the milk supply of the city and Duluth people will find the exhibit interesting.

Horticultural Exhibit.

For the first time in its history the Northeastern Minnesota Horticultural society will make a showing of the fruits grown in this territory. A large space has been assigned to the society and President J. Kimball and Secretary S. George Stevens have been hard at work obtaining a collection of fruits. There will be some surprises in the horticultural show for Duluth people who do not believe this is a fruit-growing country.

Canning Demonstration.

The agricultural extension department of the University of Minnesota and the United States department of agriculture have combined to give a canning demonstration each afternoon and evening during the exposition. Duluth housewives will be able to learn something of profit in the demonstration, for the best methods of keeping fruits and veegtables to obtain a maximum of nutriment and flavor from them out of season will be shown.

Parcel Post Exhibit.

An interesting exhibit will be that of the United States postoffice, showing the uses to which the parcel post can be put. Postmaster W. E. McEwen is arranging an interesting exhibit, showing primarily the uses of the parcel post as a means of communcation between the farm and the city home and store.

The exposition will be open every day from noon to 5:30 and from 7 o'clock until 11 o'clock. The Third Regiment band will be in attendance every evening. The attendance of school children has been restricted to the afternoons, and tickets will be furnished them through the schools. Supt. Denfeld has made out a schedule for the attendance of various schools on each of four afternoons so there will be no undue crowding.

The parade committee today issued a request to automobile owners to park their machines on the upper side of Superior street during the parade Monday night, and the police will keep the lower side of the street clear in order that traffic may not interfere with the procession. The parade will form on First street at 7:45, and will swing into Superior street at Fifth avenue west at 8 o'clock. The line of march will be to Eighth avenue east, where the floats will drop out, the marchers to continue to the Curling rink.

The white way on East Superior street will be lighted for the occasion by the Duluth-Edison Electric company, and extra illumination will be furnished all along the line of march. Special light standards have been erected east of the Superior street white way and down Fourteenth avenue east to the rink.

SAYS VILLAGE OFFICIALS HAVE $12,500 MELON TO CUT

Hibbing Taxpayer Would Air Deal for City Hall Site.

Property Recently Sold for $3,500 Will Cost Village $16,000.

Charging that Victor L. Power, mayor, and D. D. McEachin, treasurer, and other officials of the village of Hibbing have violated the trust which has been reposed in them as public servants and will, unless restrained, put through an already authorized deal for the purchase of a courthouse and city hall site in pursuance of a design to fraudulently appropriate to their own use approximately $12,500, William S. Hardy, a taxpayer of the village, yesterday afternoon filed an injunctional suit in district court to block the move.

Judge Cant on Sept. 9 last signed a temporary restraining order directed against Mayor Power and other village officials named as defendants in the action. The restraining order forbade them from taking any steps to close the deal for the purchase of the site until a return was made on an order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue until the action came to trial on its merits. The order to show cause was returnable before Judge Cant at 3 o'clock last evening. Judge Cant continued the matter until the special term session of Saturday, Sept. 26.

The defendants in the action are the Village of Hibbing, Victor L. Power, as mayor, D. D. McEachin as treasurer, D. D. Haley as recorder, B. J. Purrows, R. L. Geiselman and John Curran as trustees of the village, G. L. Train and his wife Mabel Train, as individuals and the First National bank of Chisholm, a bank through which the deal is being handled. Mr. Hardy, the plaintiff, brings the action as a taxpayer of the village.

History of Deal.

The history of the transaction which is made a basis for the suit began a year ago, according to the complaint on file. During the year 1913, it is claimed, the Pacific company, the owner of four lots in block 22, town of Hibbing, negotiated with Mayor Power and Treasurer McEachin for the purchase of the property for $3,500. Subsequently a deed was executed by the company in blank, this being done, it is alleged, at the request of Mayor Power and the village treasurer. The understanding, it is claimed, was that the grantee's name was to be inserted later and that the space was to be filled by a person to be designated by the officials. The deed was executed on Dec. 12, 1913.

The grand jury at the April term of the district court, this year, went on record as declaring that the present quarters where court is conducted at Hibbing are cramped and inadequate and that the petit jury room is too small and the ventilation throughout the building is bad. In accordance with the grand jury's recommendation, the village officials subsequently negotiated for the purchase of a site. The grand jury's recommendation, however, is not mentioned in the pleadings which are on file.

The deed which is claimed to have been executed to Mayor Power and Treasurer McEachin in blank during the month of December, 1913, was recorded with the register of deeds on May 6, 1914. The name of G. L. Train appeared as grantee. Shortly thereafter, it is alleged, Mayor Power appointed a committee consisting of H. P. Reed, B. J. Burrows, R. L. Geiselman to select a site for a joint courthouse, fire hall and jail and report to the council.

H. P. Reed, it is claimed, offered in writing to sell the village three lots across the street from the property described in the deed to the city for $6,500. This offer, it is alleged, was ignored by the mayor and that a proposition by G. L. Train to sell the city the four lots which stood in his name for $16,000, was accepted. Mayor Power and all members of the village council, excepting one, voted in the affirmative.

On May 16, 1914, Mr. Train executed a deed to the village, the instrument being placed on record four days later. It is claimed that the transaction was in pursuance of a conspiracy to defraud the taxpayers and a design on the part of certain of the defendants to appropriate the difference between $3,500 and $16,000 to their own use.

In his prayer for relief the plaintiff asks the deed be cancelled of record and the village restrained from paying over the $16,000 which has been authorized by the council.

BOYS DISAPPEAR AGAIN.

Runaways Placed on Train Fail to Reach Home.

Placed on a train for Blue Earth a week ago today, Walter Ziegler, 13, and Herbert Quantz, 12, who were picked up by the local police two days earlier, have not yet arrived in Blue Earth, according to advices received this morning by Chief Troyer and the police believe the two runaway boys got off before destination and have again disappeared.

Walter and Herbert were found selling newspapers here on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 10. They said they ran away from home, but were tired of adventure and willing to go back.

Chief Troyer wired the parents and Saturday morning the runaways were taken to the Union station and placed aboard a train.

This morning Chief Troyer received a communication from H. L. Bullis, county attorney at Blue Earth, asking what has become of the youngsters.

STARVE THE WAR FEED AMERICA
Meeting at Auditorium Sunday, Sept. 20th, 2 p. m., auspices of Socialist party.

SAYS DETROIT HAS NOT FELT THE WAR.

John P. Hemmeter, a wealthy business man of Detroit, at the Spalding today declared that Detroit was one of the few cities in the country that has not been affected by the European war and hard times.

"While the export trade of the automobile has been affected a trifle," he said, "in general the business of Detroit is normal. Over 75 per cent of the automobiles of this country are made in Detroit. The general automobile trade is so great that the lessened export business is not noticed."

Mr. Hemmeter is a manufacturer and also a banker. He predicts that the business methods of Henry Ford will show a remarkable increase in business for the Ford plant during the coming year.

OSTEOPATHS CAN CURE DEAFNESS

Not All, But Majority of Cases Yield to New Discovery.

The osteopaths claim to have discovered a new cure for deafness. This is the first announcement of the discovery. Up to this time there has been no sure cure for deafness. There are many kinds of ear trouble interfering with hearing, some of which recover spontaneously, others get progressively worse, and others continue in a chronic state without change. The osteopaths do not pretend to cure all cases, but claim instead that this new method is applicable to the largest class of cases, those known as chronic catarrhal deafness, constituting the vast majority of these unfortunates.

Thousands of cases have been submitted to treatment and the results have been more than successful, it is claimed, than ever known before in the history of this condition.

Hearing is produced by vibration of the ear drum in response to sound waves striking upon it from without, but only when the drum is intact and at normal tension and freely ventilated by air on both sides. The laymen unacquainted with anatomy might easily be ignorant of the fact that air is as requisite on the inside of the ear drum as on the outside, but this is a very important fact. One without technical knowledge might also forget the public school physiology of boyhood which taught him that the inside of the ear was connected with the throat by means of a little air tube.

This tube is lined with a mucous membrane which is continuous with that of the nose and throat. It has long been recognized that neglected colds and sore throats and catarrhal conditions tend to produce a chronic inflammation which spreads upward into the little air tube. The result of of this is a lessening of the caliber of the tube because of increased secretion or catarrhal discharge or swelling and thickening of the mucous membrane. Sometimes this causes even a temporary or prolonged closure of the tube. The result of this is a complete defeat of nature's scheme of equal aid pressure on the two sides of the ear drum; in other words, a change in the tension of that organ, always resulting in some degree of impairment of hearing. This important little air tube is only an inch and a half long, but it is important to understand that it is not perfectly straight like a chimney. If it were, there might be less deafness. It is somewhat hour-glass in shape. Realizing the angles of this tube, it is easy to see that a catarrhal inflammation may readily cause adhesions between the folds and interfere with the normal drainage. Owing to the fact that the cartilaginous part of the tube is movable, any adhesion in the throat near the outlet of the tube, resulting from sore throat, could easily, from their contractions, draw the tube from its normal position, thus changing its angles and interfering with drainage by gravity. When gravity drainage is interrupted, the discharges retained in a mucous cavity change in character and become more dangerous. The little muscle with the long name which governs the opening and closing of the tubal opening is very often attacked by these adhesions and its functions interfered with.

This discovery is another of those feats of bloodless surgery which were made so famous by Lorenz, the great orthopedic surgeon from Vienna, and Still of Kirksville, Mo., the founder of osteopathy. Instead of burdening the patient with various trumpets and telephones and other external devices to try to make a deaf ear hear, the osteopath goes right at the root of the matter and applies his treatment according to the basic principles of osteopathy itself; that is, to the cause instead of the effect. Without the use of the knife or any surgical instrument, the operator, by means of his fingers alone, explores in the back of the throat and in the vault between the throat and the nose, breaks down the tiny adhesions which twist the tube out of its normal position, and he actually inserts the tip of his finger into the opening of the tube itself. By this method he is able to replace the tube in its normal position and to drain it of its accumulation of diseased material, so that nature may have an opportunity to effect a cure.

Dr. H. M. Stoel, osteopathist in the Torrey building of this city, attended the national osteopathic convention held in Philadelphia last month, and had special clinics under Dr. T. W. Ruddy, professor of the ear, nose and throat department of the Los Angeles, Cal., School of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, one of the discoverers of the above method of treatment, and with Dr. William Fitzgerald, ear, nose and throat department of the Providence hospital, Hartford, Conn., discoverer of pressure anasthesia, and Dr. James Edwards of St. Louis, Mo., who demonstrated the treatment at the convention, and of which the Philadelphia newspapers of Aug. 6 made much favorable mention.—Advertisement.

LA FOLLETTE MAY RUN FOR GOVERNOR.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 19.—Senator A. W. Sanborn, who has returned from Madison, where he attended the Republican state platform convention, is quoted as saying that Senator La Follette will return from Washington and run independently for governor. He says the Progressives are apposed to the primary law, claming it works an injustice against them and they propose to carry the state against the Republicans and Democrats. It is claimed the Aylward Democrats, also dissatisfied with the primary, will support La Follette if he can be prevailed upon to run independently for governor.

COOK ENJOYING PROSPEROUS PERIOD

The town of Cook is now experiencing real prosperity, according to O. J. Leding, postmaster of the village, who is in Duluth today on business. Mr. Leding also operates a store at Cook.

"We recently opened up the Balliet addition to Cook," said Mr. Leding yesterday, "and ten residences are now under construction. Two large store buildings were recently built and the village is having its greatest growth at the present time.

"During the past year a large number of farmers have settled just outside of Cook and last summer we started a rural free delivery. The country is rapidly being populated and from present indications, another delivery route will have to be established very soon.

"The crops are exceptionally good, especially oats and potatoes. We expect a record year in the country surrounding Cook."

Cook is just twenty-seven miles north of Virginia and has a population of 200.

EXTEND STATE FAIR TIME

Many Duluthians Believe Week Too Short for Exposition.

The consensus of opinion among those who attended the state fair this year, and especially among those who have been attending regularly for the last few years and have seen the attractions and the attendance grow, is that it is time for the board of managers to extend the time of holding the fair to ten days instead of confining it to one week as it has been from its beginning.

"The time now allotted," said one, "is far too short for the attraction as it now exists. In the old days when the fair was still in its swaddling clothes and was not much more than an augmented county fair, a week was enough and, perhaps, sometimes too long. But it is a good many years since that condition existed. The Minnesota state fair is the largest on the continent and has developed into an attraction which draws not only from Minnesota people, but has become interstate in its scope, and is far more than an agricultural exposition. In that particular it is international and of world-wide value.

"Why then confine it to a week? This is too short anyway, and particularly when there are two or three rainy days which interrupt the attendance. The board of managers expends months of time and over $250,000 on the fair, all to be wiped out except the buildings and grounds in one week. It does not seem right and almost seems like a waste of money."

This appears to be the sentiment of almost everybody who has been at the fair and is asked about it.

On Monday morning it is expected to begin tearing up the lower side of Michigan street between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues, which is now the only remaining part of the job which has not been started.

It is expected to close the lower half of Michigan street to traffic while this work is in progress. Cars will also be run on only one track between Twelfth and the Point of Rocks.

BETHANY CHURCH'S PASTOR HERE SOON

Rev. Charles A. Eckstrom of Great Falls, Mont., who recently accepted a call to the pastorate of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, is expected to arrive in the city the latter part of next month to assume charge. His family will move here in November.

Mr. Eckstrom has been field missionary for the Augustana synod of the Swedish Lutheran Church of America for the past four years. He had charge of the Montana district and has, during that time, established quite a number of churches and missions in that state.

REV. CHARLES A. ECKSTROM.

The pastor is a graduate of the Augustana theological college at Rock Island, Ill. He was pastor for a few years in Detroit, Mich., before assuming charge of the Montana district.

The pulpit of Bethany church of the West end has been vacant since the resignation of Rev. C. G. Olson, who left in June to take charge of another church in Nebraska.

FORTY WILL GO TO CONFERENCE

Swedish Baptist Churches Will Send Delegates to St. Paul.

About forty members of the Swedish Baptist churches of Duluth will leave next week for St. Paul to attend the annual Swedish Baptist conference, which opens at the First Swedish Baptist church of that city on Tuesday evening. A large delegation of West end people, headed by Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, will leave Monday afternoon.

Among those who will go with Rev. Mr. Nelson will be Mrs. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Person, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bergquist, Louis Bergquist, Mrs. Anna Magnuson, Mrs. Charles Shogren, Mrs. O. J. Hegberg, Mrs. A. Thoren and Mrs. Ida Hammerbeck. Rev. J. W. Lindor of the Swedish Bethel Baptist, Rev. F. Jonason of Virginia and Rev. M. Johnson of Eveleth will also go with this party.

On Tuesday several others will leave. Among these will be Rev. K. A. Lundin of the Third Swedish Baptist church of West Duluth, and Mrs. Lundin. The convention will not close until Sunday evening, Sept. 29.

One of the principal matters of business to be taken up by the conference will be the consolidation of the Morgan Park Theological school with that of the Bethel academy of Minneapolis. The conference last year decided on the consolidation of these institutions. A number of improvements to the Minneapolis property are to be made, including the erection of new buildings, and these matters are to be discussed by the conference.

LEAVES FOR COLLEGE.

Anton Sjolund Given Farewell Reception By Church.

Anton E. Sjolund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sjolund, 2215 West Eleventh street, will leave next week for Minneapolis, where he will enter the Bethel Swedish Baptist academy for the purpose of taking a preparatory course for entry to the ministry. He will complete his theological course later in the denomination's consolidated school at Minneapolis.

A farewell reception was given in his honor by the young people of the First Swedish Baptist church last evening in the parlors of the church. The gathering had been intended as a "book shower" for the church, but this was later turned into a reception. Mr. Sjolund was presented with a handsome remembrance by the society.

MORE THAN 500 CHILDREN'S EXHIBITS

Prizes Valued at $100 Will Be Given Young Gardeners.

More than 500 individual exhibits of produce grown by West end children will be displayed during Exposition Week at the Duluth Curling rink next week. James Maghan, a member of the exposition board, who is chairman of the West End Commercial club's garden committee, says he has promises of nearly that many from the children of the schools and expects the number to be exceeded by others who have not taken part in the garden contest.

Arrangements have been made by Mr. Maghan to have the produce taken from a point in the West end to the curling rink by drays. The exhibits are to be ready early in the morning for this purpose. The displays will be judged for prizes offered by the West End Commercial club during the Exposition Week, and the cash prizes will be awarded at the first meeting of the club following.

Prizes for best gardens and lawns and the special prizes for the schools will be announced at that meeting. The meeting at which the prizes will be awarded will be at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. Invitations will then be extended to all residents of the West end.

There are in all thirty-three prizes, with a total valuation of about $100.

CONDEMN HASTE OF COMMISSION

Club Members Say Any Discussion of Lighting Plan Is Useless.

That it would be useless for civic clubs of the city to take any action on the letter addressed to such clubs by Commissioner Merritt of the public utilities department requesting the organizations to give their stamp of approval on the proposed erection of a municipal plant, was the contention of members of the French Naturalization club at its meeting last evening at the French hall. Members stated that the commission had already taken action prior to the club being given an opportunity to express its wishes in the matter.

"The communication might as well be thrown into the waste basket," said John Cartier. "The commissioner by his action of bringing the resolution before the commission has left the indorsement or rejectment of the letter useless as far as any action of this club is concerned."

Several other members expressed similar opinions and a motion to file the letter away without any action carried.

WILL DESCRIBE TRIP.

Rev. F. O. Hanson Will Speak of Work in the West.

A description of the recent trip through Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Western Montana made by Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street, will be given by the pastor from the pulpit tomorrow evening. The pastor spent four weeks in the West in organization work for the English branch of the synod of the Lutheran church.

The pastor returned early this week. He will also preach at the services to be held in the church tomorrow morning.

Funeral of Laura Rudd.

Interment was in Park Hill cemetery. Rev. J. H. Nervig officiated. The young woman leaves one brother. She had made her home in the West end.

West End Briefs.

G. K. Anderson, a divinity student, will have charge of services at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, tomorrow. He will speak at the Hermantown mission tomorrow afternoon.

Harold Harkman of Minneapolis, who has been visiting West end relatives during the week, will leave for his home this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barwith of La Crosse are spending a few days visiting relatives in the West end.

Andrew Okeson of Mandan, N. D., who has been spending a few days visiting in this end of the city, left yesterday for a short business trip to Chicago before returning home.

In its account of the meeting of the West End Commercial club last evening, The Herald stated that Conrad Wicklund was one of the speakers favoring municipal ownership of the lighting plant. It should have been his brother, A. O. Wicklund.

CAN NOW OBTAIN DIVORCE IN CHINA

United States Court at Shanghai Has Granted First Decree.

Shanghai, Sept. 19.—American citizens residing in China may now obtain divorces there. The necessity of citizens of the United States residing in China taking a 10,000-mile trip to a state court in order to institute divorce proceedings has been obviated by what is considered one of the most important decisions handed down in the United States court for China. The decision, made recently here by Judge Charles S. Lobingier in the case of Tabaim Hashimoto Cavanagh vs. S. D. Worden overrules that of the former judge who had declared the court—which ranks as a United States district court—lacked jurisdiction. The new judge granted a decree of divorce to the plaintiff, the first since the founding of the court. He based his decision upon the case of Biddle vs. the United States, Oct. 28, 1907, which held that the United States court for China could go to legislation which congress had enacted for Alaska and the District of Columbia and assume the same jurisdiction as granted by congress to courts in these territories.

HER HUSBAND WELL BUT TOO LOQUACIOUS.

Paris, Sept. 19.—An instance of the censor's pitiless treatment of letters from the soldiers at the front to their wives and sweethearts in Paris, is the case of a wife who received the following note from the censor as a substiting note for the long letter her husband had written:

"Madam," he said "your husband is well but is far too loquacious."

FATHER BURIED WITH DAUGHTER

Father and daughter, both claimed by death within the week, were buried side by side in the Forest Hill cemetery this afternoon.

Last Sunday Mary Helmick, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Helmick, 2526 Greysolon road, died at Milwaukee, where she had been in a hospital for several weeks. Her father had been in ill health for some time, but he was not told of his daughter's death until a short time before he passed away Thursday afternoon. It was felt that the knowledge of his daughter's death would be a great shock, but when it was seen that the end was near the father was told by members of the family. Mr. Helmick was 41 years of age.

At 9 o'clock this morning the body of Mary arrived in Duluth and at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon funeral services for Mr. Helmick and his daughter were held at the home of the family, 2536 Greysolon road. Rev. Charles N. Thorp of the Pilgrim Congregational church officiated and the father and daughter were laid to rest in the Forest Hill cemetery.

NEW SOCIAL CENTER.

Miss Culkin Will Start Work at Munger School.

Miss Margaret Culkin, local social center director, has announced that social centers will be started in the new Munger school. She states that the assembly room is well adapted for that purpose, it being unnecessary to pass through or by other rooms to enter it. Several alterations will be made so that the room may be used as a gymnasium. Among others the windows will be equipped with rolling screens so volley ball may be played. The meetings will be held once a month.

GREAT BRITAIN IS ASKED TO EXPLAIN

United States Makes Formal Inquiry Concerning Carden Matter.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The United States government has sent a formal note to Great Britain inquiring if the recent interview attributed to Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, criticising President Wilson for withdrawing American forces from Vera Cruz, was accurate in any part.

An indication of the displeasure of the American government over the incident is understood to have been conveyed in the note. Just what is expected to be the outcome of the representations was not explained by high officials, but it would occasion no surprise here if a complete repudiation of whatever views Sir Lionel may have expressed would be issued by the British foreign office. It is also considered possible among diplomatists that Sir Lionel may not be accredited to Brazil, his new post, because of the incident.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador here, already has expressed his own regret for the incident, apologizing personally to the state department.

President Wilson is constantly receiving reports of the rapid reconstruction of affairs in Mexico, contradicting the statements of disorder alleged to have been made by Sir Lionel Carden.

NORTHERN LEAGUE SWAT HONORS COPPED BY BOND

Duluth Boy Leads Field By Rather Wide Margin--- Winnipeg First in Team Batting and Grand Forks in Team Fielding.

Northern league averages issued today show Harold Bond the slugging demon of the league. In the race for premier batting honors of the Burmeister organization Bond maintained a rather expansive lead, his nearest competitor being Col. Robert Unglaub, the kaiser's representative in the Northern league. Brackett was the other player of the Dooks to be well up in the magic circles of the .300 hitters.

Winnipeg leads in team batting, with Duluth second. Eddie Wheeler's Grand Forks aggregation proved the class of the league in team fielding. In the matter of fielding the Dooks are down in fifth position.

Barnes told of the activities of the club and claimed for the West Duluth club the fathering of many much needed improvements for this end of the city.

H. H. Phelps struck a popular chord when he said such gatherings should be held oftener.

A vocal duet was given by Miss Irene Michaud and her brother, Ray Michaud, following which M. M. Forbes gave the principal address.

Honors at cards were won by Mrs. T. F. Olsen and R. L. Hughes, Mrs. W. A. Pond and C. E. Wilson.

The New Home Treatment for Ugly, Hairy Growths

(Boudoir Secrets)

Here is a simple, yet very effective method for removing hair or fuzz from the face, neck or arms: Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. Leave this on for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attends this treatment, but results will be certain if you be sure to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

"EVERYONE'S PICKIN' ON ME," RECITED LITTLE GIRL AND THEN INSPECTOR PICKED ON MANAGER

Little Audrey Benando is bashful and her mother wanted to break her of that habit. So she decided to bring Audrey to the Echo theater last night and have the child take part in the "amateur night" program.

And as a result Gabriel P. Mistachkin, 17 years old, who runs the playhouse for the owners, was arrested this morning.

Mrs. Benando came here recently from Calumet, she told young Mistachkin at the theater early last evening, and asked if she could not put her daughter on the stage. The child was very bashful, she said, and it was her desire to make the little girl more self-confident. So it was arranged to have Audrey go on the stage and "speak a piece."

After Audrey had finished reciting "Everyone's Picking on Me," Miss Victoria Ericson, state factory inspector, who was in the audience, came up to Mistachkin and asked if she could talk with Audrey. The little girl was wearing short skirts and appeared to be too young to be on the stage, she explained.

This morning Mistachkin was arrested on a warrant made out by Miss Ericson accusing him of allowing a child to act at the theater without a permit. Mistachkin pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Windom and his trial was set for Monday afternoon. He is out on $50 bail.

Young Mistachkin claims that the girl was receiving no pay and that he violated no law, because the girl's mother was with her back on the stage.

The defendant's brother, I. Mistachkin, who managed the Echo, recently left for Chicago.

WAS BAD DAY FOR CHARLEY CAMPBELLS.

Today was a bad day in the divorce court for the Charley Campbells.

Through a singular coincidence two men, claiming the same name lost their wives by court decree this morning.

Charles Campbell, 32, a cook, was cruel, according to the story of Emily May Campbell, 26, who testified before Judge Fesler that she had been his common law wife for the past ten years and was the mother of his two children. They started to live together as man and wife in Superior, she said. The court granted the divorce.

Charles Campbell, 47, who married Emily Campbell, 36, also at Superior in 1895, has been an habitual drunkard for years, according to the story Mrs. Campbell told to Judge Cant, who this morning gave her a clean matrimonial slate. The last named Charles Campbell is now a resident of Virginia.

STEAM SCHOONER GOES TO BOTTOM

Astoria, Or., Sept. 19.—Two survivors from the steam schooner Francis H. Leggett which was reported last night as having sunk off the Oregon coast were picked up twenty miles south of the Columbia river mouth, according to a wireless message received here today. Two steamers were standing by the spot where the schooner went down. Bits of wreckage furnished the only trace of the vessel.

The Leggett carried thirty-seven passengers and a crew of twenty-five. She sailed from Portland Sept. 12 for Hoquiam, Wash., to load lumber for California. She left Hoquiam last Thursday morning.

CONFERENCE MAY AUTHORIZE UNION

The proposed consolidation of the Asbury Methodist and Merritt Memorial M. E. churches may be brought up at the meeting of the Minnesota conference to be held at Montevideo on Oct. 1 and 2. It is probable that consent of the conference will be secured to this scheme if indorsed by members of both local congregations.

Rev. Grant Fritz, pastor of the Merritt church, and Rev. W. H. Farrell of the Asbury church will leave on Sept. 30 to attend the conference. It is probable that both pastors will be returned to the local churches.

METHODS OF WARFARE SUBJECT OF DEBATE.

"Resolved, That the methods of warfare in the time of Washington and Lincoln were better than those of the present day," will be the subject of a debate Wednesday evening by members of the Edda lodge, No. 15, Daughters of Norway. The debate will be held at the West Duluth Commercial club.

Three members of the society have been chosen to defend each side of the question. The debate will be one of the features of a social gathering planned for the evening. Following the discussion, musical numbers and informal dancing is planned.

We present to our readers this week the first of the Colonial series. The house has a number of peculiar characteristics. The house as shown here is designed for a building to cost $12,000, but by reducing same in size it can be brought down to $7,000 and $5,000 respectively without in any way hampering the effect of the design in detail. The first floor is finished in birch, white enameled with mahogany doors and panel trim. The house would cost to build, complete, in Duluth, about $12,000.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING BRINGS THE DOLLARS!

Nearly all advertising is good but some is better than others. Newspaper advertising is best of all because it produces the best immediate results for the least expenditure of money.

People regard the newspaper as timely.

An advertisement in a newspaper suggests quick action and generally brings it.

Manufacturers are finding the newspaper the best gateway to immediate results.

It is a two-edged weapon for sales victory. It stimulates both the consumer and the local dealer.

People believe in newspapers, believe in dealers who advertise in newspapers, and believe in manufactured products brought to their attention through the advertising columns of local newspapers.

A CITY LEARNS A LESSON.

It's an ill wind indeed that blows nobody good; and the city of New York has been taught by war a valuable and much-needed lesson in city financing.

Its experience ought to be valuable to most of the other cities in the country, not excluding Duluth.

New York had fallen into a slovenly go-as-you-please system of city financiering. Whenever a debt fell due or the city wanted something new, it was easy to borrow money on bonds and push the job of paying on to some future generation. And so that's precisely what New York did, and the burden of bonded debt went on mounting higher and ever higher.

And then came the war, with a prompt freezing up of financial liberality, just when New York needed a hundred million dollars to meet maturing obligations, eighty millions of which was owed abroad.

The old way was simply to issue new bonds, to borrow from Peter to pay Paul, and thus to add a new load to the burden to be passed on to generations yet unborn.

But the war made this impossible. Europe wanted its eighty millions, and the New York banks were forced to be careful.

New York faced bankruptcy! The war had brought its financial chickens home to roost!

The city officials appealed to the banks. The banks had their own troubles, but they couldn't let New York plunge into bankruptcy. Neither could they encourage the reckless public financiering that had brought New York into its fix.

So they agreed to help the city out, but ONLY ON ONE CONDITION: That New York go on a cash basis, abandon its old go-as-you-please system, and adopt a rigid pay-as-you-go plan.

Perforce, New York accepted the condition. It got its money, sent the eighty millions in gold to Europe, and then faced the task of reorganizing its finances. The bankers insisted that the city make provision to pay off its "corporate stock notes" in fifteen annual instalments; that it absolutely discontinue the plan of refunding old debts with new; and this, hard though it is, the city will do—because it must.

This country has had a veritable orgy of bond-issuing. So long as bonds could be sold, hardly any community has bothered about sinking funds. When the bonds came due they could be met with new bonds, and the debt passed on to the generations to come. It was very easy financiering. An individual who could manage it would never need to work, but could live like a prince and always pay his old debts by making new and ever greater debts.

New York managed it that way till the shock of war brought it face to face with bankruptcy; and now it must, whether it wishes to or not, put itself on a cash basis. Duluth owes more than three million dollars on its water and gas plants and has practically no provision to meet it.

Though it may hurt now, this experience will be a blessing to New York, and it ought to be a lesson to many other cities, where the problem of expense is always light-heartedly answered by the offhand advice: "Issue bonds."

THE WAR FROM DAY TO DAY.

Still are the fortunes and the future of Europe bound up in an undecided and hard-fought battle—the battle of the Aisne. Three million men are in a death-grapple, swaying now this way, now that; each side now offensive, now defensive; with more men killed and wounded in this one battle than participated in any except one or two of the world's greatest battles of the past.

There seemed this morning to be no change. The soldiers are fewer and wearier. Human endurance must be reaching its limit; though with three million men engaged it is impossible to have them all fighting at once.

The Germans are gallantly holding their strong line of defenses north of the Aisne.

The British and French are gallantly continuing the attack, and gallantly standing their ground against the occasional German offensive.

The slaughter is terrible.

No weak points have developed in either line; no definite tactical purpose has been discovered in either side. It is simply that the German invasion, driven back from the Marne to the north bank of the Aisne, has turned and given battle to the pursuing forces; and there they stand, in a tense death-struggle of artillery, cavalry and infantry with all the cunning and deadliness of modern war machinery working its evil ends.

To forecast the issue on news as scant as that which comes from the battlefield, news which can be summed up in the words "the battle is still on," would be to arrogate powers of prophecy. The outcome is on the knees of the gods; and the gods, as always, are fighting on the side of the strongest battalions and the keenest wits.

In the East, the situation is not changed. The Austrians are still retiring on Cracow, and the Russians are pursuing them and getting ready to assail the fortresses at Przemysl and Jaroslau. There are new reports of mighty Russian armies, still gathering from the remoter regions of Russia, that are to march against Berlin between the battlegrounds of East Prussia and Galicia; reports which agree with the early predictions that it would be close to the first of October before Russia could complete her mobilization.

DULUTH ON EXHIBITION.

The Duluth Industrial Exposition, now expanded into a "Duluth Industrial, Agricultural and Dairy Exposition," will open at the Curling rink Monday, and will continue there all the week.

Every citizen of Duluth, great and small, young and old, should be there to see the show, and to realize what a town he lives in and what a fruitful and busy and prosperous region surrounds it.

This is the third annual exposition, and the greatest. It is not alone that Duluth has grown, that its industries have expanded, that its agricultural and dairying industry has developed. Besides these things, the committees in charge of the exposition have learned their business better, have discovered how to get out the exhibits and how to arrange them.

The show will fill the mighty Curling rink from basement to galleries. Artist Josten has been busy for several weeks working out in the decorations the attractive and artistic schemes he has been months in planning. They are new, original and striking—in themselves worth the price of admission. The exhibitors have had ample time to plan their displays, and they should be an epitome of the greatness and glory of Duluth.

The main floor will house the industrial exhibit, the displays of local manufacturers. Here will be shown not only what is made in Duluth, but in many cases how it is made as well.

On the floor below will be the agricultural and dairy exhibits—of the products of Duluth soil in a bewildering variety of vegetables, fruits and flowers; of the aristocracy of Duluth dairy herds, which include some of the queenliest cattle in the country.

Go see this show! Go see what Duluth can do—what Duluth is. No matter how great a booster you are, no matter how fervid your arguments for the town you live in, the show will make you a greater booster still, and will add strength to your arguments.

The show will be worth seeing; seeing it will be a liberal education in the growth and prosperity of your home town.

FOOLISH CAMPAIGNS OF FALSEHOOD.

The Herald has the utmost respect for the forestry enthusiasts of this state, and it sympathizes with their attempt to pass the constitutional amendment that proposes to enable the state to buy non-agricultural lands and use them for reforestation.

The Herald has the utmost respect for the Minneapolis Journal, one of the leading supporters of this amendment.

But The Herald does not believe that it is necessary for the forestry enthusiasts to libel Northern Minnesota in order to carry their point, and it does not believe that the Minneapolis Journal will gain anything by deliberate and fraudulent misrepresentation in its attempt to put over William E. Lee, its candidate for governor.

Moreover, if it IS necessary to libel Northern Minnesota in order to pass the forestry amendment, then it had better not be passed; and if the libels upon Northern Minnesota that are being uttered in its behalf continue, it will have to be passed without the votes of Northern Minnesota.

How these two matters became involved is a thing that ought to be made clear for the enlightenment of the voters.

The forestry enthusiasts are asserting that there are fifteen million acres of land in Minnesota unfit for agriculture, and giving the impression that this gigantic area is all in Northern Minnesota. This is not true.

The forestry enthusiasts are also asserting that of the two and a half million acres of land still owned by the state, a million acres are unfit for cultivation. This, too, is a falsehood. State Auditor Iverson declares that the amount is not to exceed two hundred or two hundred and fifty thousand acres.

Where the Journal and the Lee campaign of misrepresentation come in is here:

In his recent "keynote" letter Congressman Hammond called attention to the importance of forest-growing, and incidentally used this statement that there are fifteen million acres of land in Minnesota fitted only for forestry purposes.

The Minneapolis Journal has challenged his statement, charged him with carelessness, and attempted to make political capital against him in Northern Minnesota on the strength of it.

Now the facts are that Mr. Hammond in making that statement drew upon the repeated official reports of William T. Cox, the state forester, AND THAT THE JOURNAL WHEN IT THREW THE BLAME UPON HIM KNEW THAT HE HAD BEEN INNOCENTLY MISLED BY THE FALSE OFFICIAL REPORT.

W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, while not opposing Amendment No. 9, has criticized some of the methods used in its behalf. When he found this statement in Mr. Hammond's letter, he wrote Mr. Hammond at Washington to tell him that the statement is wrong, and to ask him the source of his information. Mr. Hammond replied as follows:

> Replying to your letter of Sept. 10, I would refer you to the annual report of the state forester of Minnesota, Dec. 31, 1913, page 18. The statement there is as follows: "There are approximately twenty-eight million acres of forested land in Minnesota; of this fifteen million acres are non-agricultural land which should be devoted entirely to the raising of timber."
> Should you find this statement to be inaccurate I wish you would let me know.
>
> Very truly yours,
> W. S. HAMMOND.

This letter, and proof that the forestry advocates were using these false and damaging statements, had been laid before The Herald by Mr. Mackenzie. When the Minneapolis Journal, instead of attacking the forestry enthusiasts, attacked Mr. Hammond and sought to injure him in Northern Minnesota, The Herald called Mr. Mackenzie on the long distance telephone and asked him if he had laid Mr. Hammond's letter before the Journal before the publication of its attack. He declared that he had, just as he had laid it before The Herald.

When the Journal, instead of attacking its friends the forestry zealots, attacked the man who stands in the way of its plan of putting over William E. Lee, it was unfair, unjust and untruthful in its inferences, and it knew that it was.

Minnesota needs an enlightened forestry system. It needs Amendment No. 9. But there is no surer way to beat Amendment No. 9 and to set back forestry measures for years than to libel Northern Minnesota by bad campaign methods.

And if William E. Lee cannot be made governor by a campaign of honesty and candor, surely he cannot be made governor by a campaign of falsehood and misrepresentation.

GERMANY, THE GERMANS AND AMERICAN SENTIMENT.

As we sense it, public sentiment in this country is not anti-German. Neither is it pro-Germany.

It is considerably anti-kaiser, it is true; but not so much that, either, as anti-kaisership.

The wish of the American people, if we judge it right, is about like this:

That Germany will succeed—in saving her national and territorial integrity (except perhaps Alsace-Lorraine, the hate-breeder), in ridding herself of Prussian militarism and Prussian absolutism, but—

That Germany will fail—in her purpose of world-domination, of England-crushing, of Belgium-taking.

The American people want Germany to lose because to win too much would fix as a dominant factor in the world affairs the militarism in which she had been the leader.

The American people want Germany to win, because for her to lose too much would be to sacrifice priceless world-benefits from German civilization and culture.

The American people want Germany to lose because for her to win might prosper Prussian plans of conquest, to the harm of France, England and Belgium.

The American people want Germany to win because for her to lose would be to break down civilization's greatest barrier against Russian aggression and Russian Pan-Slavic dreams.

For German militarism and absolutism the American people can have neither respect nor affection; only distrust and dismay.

For the German people America has respect, affection and a profound appreciation of their splendid contributions to science, art, music and letters.

THOSE "GERMAN ATROCITIES."

Every lover of fair play will rejoice in the accumulating proof that the early reports of "German atrocities" in Belgium were utterly false—an evil by-product of the bitterness of war.

James O'Donnell Bennett, one of the ablest and squarest newspaper men in the country, cables to his paper, the Chicago Tribune, a denial of the charges as categorical, as emphatic and as sincere as words can make it.

"I never sat down to write," he says, "with a more sincere belief that I could say something that ought to be known. * * * We have been within a hundred feet of the Belgium-French border on the south and we have crossed the Belgium-German border on the east. We have shared the food and wine and the straw beds of German soldiery. We have sung songs with them in the posts of the rear guard at night, and we have talked with scores of Belgian peasant men and women across whose fields and through whose villages the German host has passed. And amid all we have heard and all that we have seen in ten tumultuous, wearing days, we have neither heard of a single 'atrocity' that our investigations verified nor seen a single atrocity perpetrated.

"The rigors and the shocking waste of war we have seen.

"We have seen burning villages and women weeping over their desolated homes.

"We have seen miles of highways strewn with the caps, coats, bloody shoes, bloody bandages, smashed rifles, empty knapsacks, and wine bottles of the retreating French.

"We have seen new-made English graves in the lonely fields.

"We have beheld the wreck and the grime and the squalor of war's passing, but we have been spared the sight of outraged women and tortured children.

"Why is this?

"We firmly believe that it is because no such atrocities have been committed by the German soldiery."

Mr. Bennett also joined in a "round robin" of similar tenor recently sent from Belgium, signed by such men as John T. McCutcheon, Samuel G. Blythe and Irwin Cobb of the Saturday Evening Post and Roger Lewis of the Associated Press—examples of the highest type of newspaper men, men whose word is as good as the word of a president of the United States because it is their priceless stock in trade.

It was hard to believe these tales in the first place, even when they were yet undenied. Such things are not characteristic of Germans as we know them, any more than they are of Frenchmen or Englishmen as we know them. It is pleasant to know, therefore, not only that they are utterly unverified, but that unbiased Americans of the highest reputation for veracity have flatly denied and refuted them.

"WAR IS HELL."

Almost daily for many years somebody has quoted General Sherman's famous saying that "war is hell."

And now comes one of those painfully exact persons who demand accuracy though cherished traditions fall, to declare and prove that Sherman never said it.

One H. J. Hoffman, in a letter to the New York World, asserts that what Sherman said was that "war is cruelty, and you cannot refine it," which is a very pale reflection of what everybody supposed that he said.

This sentence appears in a reply of Sherman's to a protest from the non-combatant population of Atlanta against his order to them to leave the city. This order aroused great indignation through the South, and General Hood hotly denounced it in a letter to Sherman.

To the mayor of Atlanta, speaking in behalf of his people, Sherman replied, according to Mr. Hoffman, as follows:

> You cannot qualify war in harsher terms than I will. War is cruelty, and you cannot refine it. You might as well appeal against the thunder storm as against these terrible hardships of war. They are inevitable.

Mr. Hoffman says he remembers hearing this reply read in general orders before Atlanta, but that he has verified it from the official records.

Says the New York Times: "How did the current misquotation start on its round? According to Mr. Hoffman, from an article in which occurred the sentence, 'As Sherman said to the women of Atlanta, "war is hell."' It was this unknown writer who saddled the phrase on our memories, and not Sherman, who said nothing at all to the women of Atlanta; just as it was some unknown misquoter in the employ of the Democratic national committee who impressed forever on the mind of the American people the erroneous opinion that Grover Cleveland once said, 'Public office is a public trust.' What Cleveland said was, 'Public officials are the trustees of the people.' We get most of our quotations at second hand, and seldom verify them."

The man who misquoted Cleveland vastly improved his epigram.

The man who misquoted Sherman did him the same service.

And at that, even if Sherman did not say it to the mayor of Atlanta, who can prove that he did not say it elsewhere?

And whether he said it or not, he was right.

War IS hell!

A FRIEND OF MAN.

Let me live in a house by the side
of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban—
Let me live in a house by the side
of the road
And be a friend of man.

—Sam Walter Foss.

Thus might Uncle Sam declare himself in this day of all but universal war.

Our ambassadors to the embattled nations are busy caring for the interests of the countries at war.

When one fighting nation, for instance, wishes to send money to a hostile capital to take care of its people there, our representative handles it.

In France the American ambassador is representing Austria and Germany.

In Berlin and Vienna the American ambassadors are representing France, England, Japan and Russia.

When Belgium enters a protest against what she regards as inhumanity, she sends a deputation to this country.

Germany tells us her troubles about dum-dum bullets, and France confides in us the fact that Germany lies when she charges French soldiers with using ammunition forbidden by the rules of war.

And in the meantime, this country is busy arranging treaties with the warring nations and all others, under which it is agreed that when any dispute arises the difficulty shall be submitted to an unbiased tribunal for investigation and report, and thus that a year for thinking it over shall intervene before there is war—which means that there will be no war.

Uncle Sam is indeed, these days, a friend of man. May it always be so.

When the quarreling nations of Europe have had enough blood, when they have robbed industry of enough men and made widows and orphans enough to satisfy them, may ours be the influence that shall bind them together again on terms of peace and harmony. And may this country, always as now, continue to set a standard of national honor, of strict observance of treaties, of consideration for others, that shall revolutionize diplomacy the world around and lay the foundations for an enduring peace under the egis of human brotherhood and the democracy that is its expression.

Let us hope that in the ages to come Uncle Sam's ideal will still be that which is thus expressed:

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn
In the peace of their self-content;
There are souls like stars that dwell apart,
In a fellowless firmament;
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
Where highways never ran;
But let ME live by the side of the road
And be a friend of man.

New Honor for Cyclops.

Kansas City Star: Some time ago the teacher in a public school was giving a talk on classic mythology. Little Willie was not very attentive, and when it came to the questioning part of the game he was lost in the wilderness. "Willie," said the teacher, closing the book and looking impressively at the youngster, "can you tell me who Cyclops was?"

"Yes, ma'am," was the prompt answer of Willie. "He was the feller what wrote the cyclopedia."

He Was Descendant.

"Something of the sort."

"Then why do you hold yourself so aloof?"

How to Manage Europe

Edward S. Martin in Life.

It is evident that the European method of running a continent is behind the times; so obviously and fatally behind that it come to terrible smash and involved everyone concerned in it in an incalculable disaster. The principle of this collapsed method has been every nation for itself with such help as it could attract, and the devil take Europe. There have always been combinations, but they have been temporary. There have been concerts of the powers and ententes and alliances to preserve the balance of power, but nothing effective enough to allow her powder to run low or miss the latest thing in guns and war material.

Think what life in these states would be if they all had to arm and drill and carry guns against one another! Think of New York setting up to be boss of the family and maintaining a fleet in coalition with Connecticut and Rhode Island in rivalry with Massachusetts and Maine! Think of the ambitions of Illinois to control the waterway to the Atlantic, and the anxiety of Missouri to keep clear the way to the gulf! Think of Texas with separate interests, of California with still another set of needs and rivalries and an army and navy to back them! Think, for short, of hot water, and then hotter water, and more of it, then of immense quantities of boiling water under pressure, and you will have an idea what this country would be if run on the European plan.

Incidentally you will get a notion of what the American Civil war was fought to avoid, and of what the Monroe doctrine was contrived to avert, and of the value to peace of the disposition that left Cuba her autonomy; that seeks now to open a path to independence for the Philippines, and that has held off with scruples that have been so much criticized from every sign of land-hunger in Mexico. If a great, preponderant power is to keep the peace in a continent it must not be selfish and it must be truthworthy, and it must respect minority representation. Moreover, it must not be too free with its neighbors' landmarks. Napoleon tried to rearrange the landmarks of Europe, and they were too much for him. Bismarck took Alsace and Lorraine and Schleswig-Holstein; Austria grabbed Bosnia and Herzegovina and abolished the Sanjak of Novibazar. Behold the fruits of those larcenies!

Enterprising European autocrats and their boards of managers must be broken of their propensity to change the map and insist on blue or green peoples living in yellow or red districts. The European mind must learn the lesson that the American mind is born to—the lesson of a continental family made up of diverse individuals, actively competitive, but submissive to such limitations of individual action as the integrity and prosperity of the family require.

Autocracies, not peoples, have got Europe into its present fearful mess. Autocracies and their narrow selfishness and their frightful blunders have fastened militarism on her and brought her to the brink of hell. She will come back, but how can they come back? Surely they are all riding to a fall—Hapsburgs, Hohenzollerns and Romanoffs—for though Russia's lot is cast in with the democratic governments and their success may seem to promise that her present government will stand, she cannot escape a salvation that has become epidemic in Europe. She will get her share.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man.

"Let the peace of God rule in your heart." There is a peace that will enter there if you do not thwart it; there is a Spirit that will take possession of your soul, provided that you do not quench it. In this world we are recipients, not creators. In obedience and in gratefulness, and the infinite peace of God in the soul of man, is alone to be found deep, calm repose.

God supplies the wants which he has created. He will feed the ravens; He clothes the lilies. He will give peace and feed with His Spirit the craving spirits of His children.

I am quite certain that all our expectations of peace in this world are delusive, except so far as we resolutely address ourselves to duty as it unceasingly presents itself in form after form. Otherwise all soon gets disordered and our hearts run rapidly down to discord.

Some men tell us that they don't have time to pray; but if any man has God's work lying deep in his heart, he will have time to pray.—D. L. Moody.

Sin is the absence of a controlling will.

Do not stop too long to weep over spilt water. Forget your guilt, and wait to see what eternity has to say to it. You have other work to do now.

Distrust is the sin of sins, which makes sin sin.

Progress and War

Harper's Weekly: After the war the countries in Europe will take big jumps in political and industrial change. But what of the United States? We stand apart, favored by destiny, with measureless business opportunity beckoning to us. The young men of the country will be considering these fields. They will wish to go out and conquer them. For a time after the war, relatively more energy will be given to business expansion and relatively less to corrective criticism and legislation. Hence, in a sense, and for a while, the progressive tendencies of the time will be slowed up. They need not begrudge a pause, since on the foundation of an enlarged prosperity it will be possible later to do all the more in any needed modification of our institutions. Happily, the record of the administration, in quickly acting on the tariff, currency and trust conditions that have annoyed the country so many years, has put the principal grievances to sleep in the nick of time, and we can enter on our new industrial expansion without political complications. In this autumn's elections, the voter will be asked:

1. In view of what is happening in Europe, are you glad or sorry the president kept out of Mexico?

2. In view of the splendid business opportunities now open to the United States, are you glad or sorry that tariff abuses have been removed, the currency system rendered more elastic, and the trade commission agreed upon, as a basis for orderly solution of our large ethical business difficulties without further political agitation?

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Moral Uses of a Dark Thing.

Years ago a great thinker, Horace Bushnell, wrote a sermon that has become classic, entitled, "Moral Uses of Dark Things." It was dedicated to the proposition that righteousness is often advanced by events apparently full only of pain and of loss.

Certainly no event more full of pain and loss than war is known to modern society. Can it be said to have any moral use whatsoever? Aside from great economic readjustments that may mean material gain for one country, with something quite the opposite for another, does war make any helpful contribution to the thought and the moral experience of a people? Is the philosopher's contention at all justified, for instance, as regards the present cataclysm devastating Europe?

Thoughtful observers may be able to detect on the black cloud some suggestion of a silver lining. In the first place there is the focusing of attention on grave instead of on trifling matters. For the last six weeks the world has been thinking serious thoughts. Our reading has been of a different character. Newspapers that have magnified and inflated trivalities, scandals and the like have swept these things off the first page in favor of mighty events that are making history. Chattering and gossip cease. Men cultivate a world outlook. They read history, study geography, enter into the character and ideals of allies and enemies. Here is a moral level higher than the common one. Frightful as is war, is it as bad as that moral slough into which individuals or nations may sink in pursuit of sordid pleasures, selfish interests and paltry admirations?

Faith in the essential heroism of our race revives when the tocsin calls all men to the colors. Human nature has its sublime possibilities after all. The usual traits, manifest in piping times of peace—our love of ease, our fear of pain, our dread of death, these the soldier despises and puts behind him. All that a man hath will he give for his life, and yet eight out of every ten soldiers are only begging to be sent to the front. It is equally true of the Black Watch and the Imperial Guard, of Zouave and Cossack.

One cannot help glorifying these men of different races, not because they are shooting down their fellows, but because they expose their own bodies to the enemy's shot and shell; not because they kill others, but because they themselves are willing to die.

When nations pour out their treasure in a golden tide, when men leave their unreaped fields and abandon their busy shops and offices for intangible things like honor and justice we may know that idealism has not perished from the human heart.

In war, moreover, countless thousands learn to take account of that "power not ourselves that makes for righteousness." War is an appeal to the supreme Arbiter in human affairs, by no means always to be found, as Napoleon declared, "on the side of the heaviest battalions." We are forced to a recognition of other agencies than those material ones named dreadnoughts and machine guns.

Franklin and Lincoln, skeptics both in earlier years, were driven to faith and hope during anxious years of two wars on which the destiny of America depended. Today, king, emperor, president and czar claim Divine aid. Fervent prayers are offered, not all of which can be answered. Man proposes but God disposes. The Almighty's will works itself out, while even the wrath of men is made to praise Him.

Oh, the joy of early rising
No one ventures to deny,
For the beauty is surprising
When the dawn is in the sky.
There is brisk exhilaration

Where the early sunbeam creeps—
Well, to tell a truthful story
You have had some fine old sleeps.
Early morning's charm—don't doubt it
Though you never got a look,
You can always read about it

Orders Is Orders

WILSON FOR 1916

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Vice President Marshall has hit the nail on the head and driven it home. The American people are resolved that Woodrow Wilson shall have a show to prove his policies. The war in Europe has made it impossible to test them on a fair field. Nobody of any sense believes, and nobody of any honesty will say, that the Wilson policies can have a fair show while Christendom in Europe is engaged in cutting throats. But everybody, without regard to party, is agreed that the way our president is handling that situation is the very best that human wisdom and exalted statecraft could imagine. How calm he is; how strong he is!

Let us see. John Quincy Adams was the candidate in 1828 of his party, if we call it "party," for re-election. He was defeated. Gen. Jackson was the candidate of his party, and we can call it a party, for re-election in 1832 and he was successful. Martin Van Buren was renominated in 1840 but beaten for re-election. John Tyler failed for renomination, which, doubtless, would have received the approval of the country and resulted in election. Polk was not renominated and his party lost the election of 1848. Pierce was put aside for Buchanan in 1856, but his party succeeded, and as I now recollect, except in the case of R. B. Hayes, who don't count, that is the first instance where a party succeeded after rejecting its head. Arthur would have been elected had he been nominated in 1884, but he vetoed a river and harbor bill and made Blaine the candidate. Cleveland was renominated in 1888 and would have been elected but for the slush fund raised by John Wanamaker—$400,000—and expended by Matt Quay, through Dave Martin.

Harrison was renominated, but his party was hors de combat. McKinley was renominated but his party had no formidable opposition in 1900. Roosevelt was renominated in 1904, for it amounted to that, and Harriman says his election was bought. Taft was renominated, but Roosevelt declared that he was "every man himself" in that combat against the Democratic party. That brings us to date.

After a tremendous scuffle between profound sagacity and fatuous folly, at Baltimore in 1912, the former won and Woodrow Wilson was nominated and elected president of the United States. What did he do? He served notice on the American people that an election meant something. He then went before congress, met senators and members face to face, and declared in ringing tones that his election meant certain things. Theretofore congress had not held an election by the American people to be a thing of serious import.

But here was a singular man who put it up to congress that an election elected, that ours is a government of the people, and that unless our people could have their will embumed in the law the thing was a mockery, not worth the devil's fetching. The old regime scratched its head and shook it. There was a murmur of invasion by the executive of the legislature. We heard some nonsense about the king going down to parliament and making orders.

All Wilson did was to say that the election in 1912 elected. That's all he did. Well, after a terrific fight he got from congress a rather decent tariff, and he extorted that as the leader of his party and the head of the nation. The congress—a Democratic congress, mind you—was on its head to get out of this town. They did not quite understand how an election by the people could elect, and they were simply astonished that they had performed a work of Hercules dealing with one great question, the tariff, and in many respects reduced it from a levy for the interests to a tax for the treasury.

And so they wanted to go home. But Wilson said them nay, that something else was to be done, that our banking system was defective and must be amended. The Republicans had filibustered for months against the tariff, and now they filibustered against the bank bill. They said Wilson was a school master, a visionary, a boss; but the public was behind him and after a tremendous struggle we got a bank system that everybody now applauds.

• • •

Here came the Mexican question. Old Sam Johnson, the autocrat of the language, in an age of politer letters than ours, defined the word "patriot" thus: "The last resort of a scoundrel." How Hearst's "yallers" and the other depraved press did reek with that sort of patriotism. Did you read the interview with Villa in the New York World the other day? His warfare was a pink tea compared with scenes in Belgium. But even Democrats were avaricious for a war against that unfortunate folk, that unhappy people, south of the Rio Grande. If any other man of all our citizenship mentioned for president by any party except Woodrow Wilson had been president, that war would have come.

And that is one of the things that are going to elect him president in 1916—only one of many other things.

HEALTH TALKS

By William Brady, M.D.

Figures That Do Not Lie

STATISTICS are mighty dry reading unless they happen to have a bearing on your own personal welfare. If there were any way to make mortality statistics interesting to the general public much more might be accomplished in the way of improving the public health.

For instance, have you any idea how many deaths occurred in the United States during the year of 1912? And do you know whether the death rate per 100,000 population is increasing or diminishing each year?

In the "registration area"—that is, the 63 per cent of the population residing in states sufficiently concerned with public health to keep reliable statistics—there were 838,251 deaths from all causes. But don't worry; the death rate per 100,000 is steadily and surely diminishing every year, thanks to careful vital statistics and public health work based thereon.

Of the 838,251 deaths among 60,427,000 people 90,000 were due to tuberculosis, 80,000 were due to pneumonia, 46,500 were due to cancer. This accounts for one-fourth of the total deaths, but by no means frees the community from the responsibility of preventable disease.

Smallpox caused 165 of these deaths in 1912, while that infinitely worse and more prevalent plague, gonorrhoea, caused 219 of the reported deaths; you may imagine how many thousands of unreported cases were really due to the "black plague."

We are quoting hard facts, not estimates. The United States census reports (mortality statistics) contain these facts. Figures do not lie.

Typhoid fever caused 9,987 deaths in 1912. The typhoid deaths per 100,000 population were 16.5. This is the lowest death rate from this preventable disease ever recorded. It means that sanitation is gradually gaining control of the public health. However, the rate fell off more rapidly in the past three years than ever before, and this is undoubtedly due to anti-typhoid vaccination which is now established as a certain preventive measure.

One more abstract fact from the statistics is worthy of contemplation. Of the 838,251 deaths from all causes in 1912, over 200,000 occurred in children under 5 years of age. At least half of these valuable young lives should have been saved by intelligent care.

If we know, as individuals or as corporate groups of individuals, that hundreds of thousands of deaths are preventable by scientific measures, yet fail to apply those measures by reason of indifference and penury, what extenuation shall we offer for our sin of omission before the court of last resort?

Questions and Answers.

Mrs. E. P. J. asks. What is the cause of duodenal ulcer? Can it be cured without operation?

REPLY.

The cause is not positively known. Some cases can be treated successfully by special feeding and long continued rest in bed.

J. J. asks: Kindly advise what can be done for a paraffine injection put in four years ago, and which now seems to lump together and force its way outward.

Anxious would be obliged for a treatment for body lice.

REPLY.

Bake all your clothes in an oven. Boil all underclothes, sheets, pillowcases, towels. Powdered sulphur may be sprinkled in all the seams of clothing. Apply not oftener than once in twenty-four hours a 5 per cent ointment of carbolic acid to the affected areas of skin. Bathe at least once in twenty-four hours. If the parasites are in the hair, soak the hair in kerosene. This will kill the lice. To remove the ova ("nits") pull the hair through a cloth saturated with vinegar. Also make liberal applications of the fine-tooth comb.

REPLY.

High blood pressure accompanies various functional and organic diseases. The high pressure may always be relieved, if that is deemed necessary or wise, but as for a cure, this must depend on the conditions which have brought about the symptom of high pressure.

Moderation the Recipe for Long Life.

OLD AGE DEFERRED. By Arnold Lorand, M. D., Karlsbad, Austria. Translated by the author, with additions, from the third German edition. Philadelphia: F. A. Davis company. $2.50 net.

With the motto from Shakespeare, "Man does not die, he kills himself," this distinguished European physician, who is also the author of "Health Through Rational Diet," treats of the causes of old age and its postponement by hygienic and therapeutic measures.

"Whoever takes up this book," says Dr. Lorand, "with the idea that the aged can be transformed into sprightly adolescents will be disappointed. But it is quite within the bounds of possibility to prolong our term of youthfulness by ten or twenty years. In other words, we need no longer grow old at 40 or 50; we may live to the age of 90 or 100 instead of dying at 60 or 70."

And whoever takes up this or any similar book with the idea that he will discover therein some magic formula for holding back the hands of the clock and keeping himself young and healthy without effort and self-denial, will also be disappointed.

But those who realize that excesses waste strength and shorten life and who are sensible enough to be willing to adopt a sensible and reasonable system of living that will increase mental and physical efficiency, lessen illness and postpone senility, can get good out of this volume, providing—

And that suggests a point that should be emphasized in this book and in all similar treatments of this subject: the danger that lies in ignorant handling of drugs, and in self-treatment.

This book should be divided by the reader into two parts: that which deals with the very attractive and interesting theory that impairment of the ductless glands causes much of our illness, and with the use of gland extracts as curative agents; and that part whtch tells us how to treat our bodies so they will last longer and be more serviceable.

The first element in the book should be skimmed over, neglected or turned over to your physician; the second should be studied and digested and, so far as possible, followed.

For instance, there are passages where Dr. Lorand, with the zeal of the propagandist, tells of the excellent results that often follow the taking of thyroid gland extracts. These reports are accurate; but the usual lay reader is likely to overlook the very important fact that while thyroid gland extracts may work wonders with those whose thyroid glands are impaired, they may also work incalculable harm to others whose glands are intact. To be sure, Dr. Lorand warns against any use whatever of these extracts except under professional direction; yet it is quite possible that many, misled by the reports of beneficent results following such treatment, might make the mistake of applying it to themselves. Nobody should do that, either with thyroid gland extracts or with any other drug or nostrum.

In fact, it will pay the lay reader well if he disregards this aspect of the book entirely, and confines himself wholly to the excellent hygienic advice with which it abounds.

The formula laid down here can be crystallized into two words: Right Living. The advantage of this book is that it gives sensible and thoroughly scientific advice on how to live rightly, and so to keep from committing slow suicide by wrong living methods.

It is noteworthy that Dr. Lorand uses the American business man frequently as a "horrible example" of unhygienic living; and it is not for us to say that he is wrong.

Space will not permit even a synopsis of Dr. Lorand's advice. It covers diet, bathing, care of the skin, the proper functioning of various organs and how to maintain them in health, etc.

It is interesting to note that while he dwells on the harm of too much meat, he is strongly opposed to a strictly vegetable diet. He thinks highly of milk as food, and speaks of favorable results to himself and others from substituting milk and eggs for meat. On the whole, however, he advises meat once a day but no more. He approves of drinking a moderate amount of water with meals, providing it is not used to wash down unmasticated masses of food. He sees no harm in the temperate use of alcohol, but much harm in the excessive use of it. And his idea of a harmless use of alcohol would seem to come to a glass or so of light wine or mild beer per day; a level of consumption which very few are able to maintain.

In the same manner, while he frowns on tobacco, coffee and tea—he thinks tobacco harder even on the circulatory system than alcohol—he does not forbid the temperate use of either. It is interesting to note that while many drink coffee clear, thinking it less injurious so, he advises the invariable use of milk or cream.

Dr. Lorand also declares that married people grow old slower than single people; so he advises marriage as a hygienic measure.

"The greatest maxim for long life," he says, "is moderation in all things;" and if he thought for a decade he could not say more.

With the caution already urged, the book has great value to those who will heed its precepts. They cannot fail to benefit by the course of living he prescribes. When men and women grow old at 40 or 50, it is, in nine cases out of ten, evidence of a misspent life. If it is a life misspent through ignorance, this book will dispel the ignorance. If it is misspent through heedlessness, only the warning of outraged nature will dispel the heedlessness; and to those who have had such warnings, the judicious mixture of this book and a sensible doctor's advice is earnestly recommended.

A Delightful Romance.

BAMBI. By Marjorie Benton Cooke, author of "Dr. David," etc. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday, Page & Co.

Here's richness, of a light and pleasing sort. "Bambi"—who is not an American chieftainess, as you might imagine, but a real American girl—is a marvelously clever, volatile and fascinating little lady; a heroine so "different" as to make the difference startling. In the beginning, she married Jarvis because he was mooning around over his play-writing, and seemed utterly incapable of taking care of himself. Jarvis continued to moon and to write plays, failing mostly because he took himself and the world too seriously. Moreover, he mooned so continuously that he was long in realizing what a great gift fortune had made him in giving him Bambi for a wife. Indeed, he hardly realized at all that he had a wife.

Meanwhile Bambi wrote pieces for the magazines, and presently a story that took the world by storm. Frohman wanted a play from it, and Bambi insisted that Jarvis be given the commission of writing it, though, mind you, Bambi was an anonymous author and Jarvis had no idea that she was the creator of the novel he was making into a play. Moreover, Bambi helped make the play—almost made it herself, indeed. And Jarvis, vaguely realizing Bambi when jealousy of the editor who helped her in her work stirred his latent emotions and becoming vaguely aware that relations between this queer husband and queer wife are not all they should be, sought comfort in a clandestine correspondence with this unknown author of the book he and Bambi were dramatizing. No sooner does he become aware that he loves his wife than he falls in love with this unknown correspondent—not knowing, of course, that she and his wife are one. The plot is exquisite, and it is exquisitely worked out. Bambi, Jarvis and the Professor—Bambi's absent-minded father—are a trio of real creations who marvelously lighten the never-dry pages of this abundantly readable and altogether charming romance.

The Land of Girlhood.

EVERYBODY'S BIRTHRIGHT. By Clara E. Laughlin, author of "Everybody's Lonesome," "The Gleaners," "The Lady in Gray," etc. New York: The Revell company. 75 cents net.

Miss Laughlin has made a study of the enchanted land of girlhood, which is unknown to the world in general. She knows girls and can therefore tell their stories in a frank, ingenious and original manner.

In "Everybody's Birthright" she tells a tender heart-reaching story of the aspirations of the average young girl. And in doing this she has given exceptional color and charm to the story by using the tale of Jeanne d'Arc, the sainted heroine of France. The lofty ideals of the French heroine, together with the delightful romance, are both pleasingly interwoven into the latest work of Miss Laughlin.

Miss Laughlin not only understands girls and shows it in her story, but she provides something in her latest work for girls to feed on. It is therefore doubly interesting.

This third of the Wellworth College series is a lively and fascinating story for boys, which deals chiefly with the athletic side of college life. It has for its hero a manly boy with brains. A Timely Oppenheim Novel.

THE VANISHED MESSENGER. By E. Phillips Oppenheim. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.30 net.

Mr. Oppenheim, though lightly thought of by the highbrows, is an "old reliable" as an entertainer, and he grows in his grasp of the technics of thriller-making. In this tale of international intrigue, with a real villain for its central character, he returns to the type of novel that has proved most popular with his many readers. A conspiracy of the powers against England to separate her from her colonies is the underlying theme; and the existing state of war in Europe makes the atmosphere appropriate. The plot centers around Miles Fentolin, a helpless cripple who lives in a marvelous estate on the North sea coast where he does his best to throw England into war for the pure lust of bloodshed. He is a many-sided villain who captures secret navy wireless messages and conveys the information to another world power. When an American representative to The Hague falls into Fentolin's hands the latter detains him against his will and threatens death unless the American reveals a most important secret. There is the usual romance, the heroine being Fentolin's niece, Esther. It goes without saying that this skilled mechanic of thrills works the reader up to a high pitch of interest.

One Kind of History.

NATION-FAMOUS NEW YORK MURDERS. By Alfred Henry Lewis. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.25 net.

There isn't always a woman in the case, if we are to believe the accounts of ten nation-famous killing affairs of New York city as set down by Alfred Henry Lewis. Political troubles are not unknown as breeders of crime. Neither are professional jealousies. Even plain business affairs have been known to figure in the development of the criminal instinct.

One wonders as one reads, just why so able a writer as Mr. Lewis should have turned his attention to such a theme as this. Before the end of the book is reached there comes to mind as a possible explanation, the theory that he had some things on his mind that he wanted to work off, and saw in this the most ready opportunity to make them seem apropos. For instance, some pertinent remarks about the conduct of the press, the morals of the New York police force, and on morals in general. It must be said for him, however, that he keeps remarkably well away from the sordid side of these ten killings, and gives them a historical setting that makes the accounts have a certain value to the student of American affairs.

The killings that are here recounted include these titles: "The Girl in Green," "The Bill Poole Killing," "The Draft Riots," "The Bond Street Mystery," "The Burnings in City Hall Park," "The Vengeance of Scannell," "The Slaughter in Astor Place," and "The Broadway Central Tragedy."

In Lighter Vein.

YOU SHOULD WORRY. By George V. Hobart, author of "Boobs," "John Henry," etc. New York: G. W. Dillingham company. 75 cents net.

If you liked "John Henry" you will certainly like "You Should Worry." The two are in much the same semi-narrative, pseudo-philosophical vein, with the vagaries of American every-day conversation played upon to the nth degree. It is but the application of an old idea to modern subjects such as the tango, automobiles, auction bridge and others, but the adaptation is sufficiently good to get by with the reader who cares for the lightest of light reading. Jerome once wrote that one of his books "wouldn't elevate a cow." "You Should Worry" would not even elevate a plaster of paris animal intended for mantel decorations. But it is amusing, and so fills the requirements.

Melodrama in Black and White.

THE SILVER KING. By Alfred Wilson Barrett (adapted from Henry Arthur Jones' play). New York: G. W. Dillingham company. $1.25 net.

It isn't the rule that the innocent man himself believes he murdered the victim, though occasionally such a case is found in fiction, a notable example being Muff Potter in Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn." But the scene of "The Silver King" is not in a Missouri village, but in London. Wilfred Denver's love for gambling and drink got the better of him, and he finally flees the country under the impression that he has murdered a man. This impression is shared by everybody but the murderer and his pals, and Denver's wife and children had to bear the disfavor of society on account of it. Denver headed straight for the Nevada silver mines (significant field in the fiction world), and four years later he went back home so inordinately rich that he was called "the silver king." Of course the story ends happily, though there are some rather interesting details in the working out of the ending. The story is vividly told, and reading it amounts to the spending of a few hours at a melodrama.

Among the Magazines.

Mrs. Burnett, as soon as she finished her novel, "T. Tembarom" a year or more ago, began on a new book for children which she has had in mind for a long time and which St. Nicholas Magazine has secured for serial publication. It has for its hero a boy, who is the descendant of an heir to an European throne, who vanished 500 years ago. In the guise of a stalwart little tramp this "lost prince" makes his way through Europe secretly carrying a message and a sign to all he meets, he himself ignorant of everything but that he must obey and pass on.

Women's Stories has adopted the long-standing policy of The Popular Magazine, and in the October number presents its readers with a complete book-length novel. Each number hereafter is to contain a book of equal length and interest. The first exponent of this new policy is a book by John R. Coryell, called "Sallie Drew's Vocation," the story of a girl who, with her own intuitions and high spirit to guide her, successfully meets some very difficult situations. Her position of nominal shelter and real lack of protection is not such a rare thing. Plenty of girls whose families have given them no way of being independent are quite as circumscribed as Sallie Drew.

The October number of Scribner's Magazine contains an impressive and illuminating article, "Armageddon—The Forging of a Great Peace," by Sir Henry Norman, M. P. Beginning with a consideration of the causes that led to the war, he quotes from the official diplomatic correspondence of the powers, and seems to make it very plain from his point of view where the real responsibility lies. There is a most dramatic picture of the scene in the house of commons when Premier Asquith closed a great speech of dignity and reserve, by referring to the attack on Belgium as "infamous." The article will make clear to many the conditions that made the war inevitable, and the positions of the nations involved. Sir Henry was present at the exciting scenes in parliament. He is the author of "All the Russias," "The Real Japan" and other books which have made him an authority on international questions. Col. Roosevelt describes the start and the early stages of his journey down "The River of Doubt." The canoes were rude dugouts, loaded to within a few inches of the water, and from the very beginning dangerous rapids made progress both hazardous and difficult. He could form no idea of the time it would take to reach civilization—"whether six weeks or three months." It was a plunge into the unknown, with the possibility of starvation and disaster in many forms. The narrative is one of ever-increasing hardship, of uncertainty, of narrow escapes, of indomitable perseverance. It was on this part of the journey that Kermit Roosevelt so nearly lost his life by the upsetting of a canoe. An article of especially timely interest is by Rear Admiral Schroeder, U. S. N., on "The Fleet"—the story of the organization, immense power, and duties of a great modern battle fleet. "Never in the history of the world have more vital consequences hung upon the issue of one decisive battle upon the sea than today."

One of the special features of the October Woman's Home Companion is a call to American women to support American industries. The idea is that in the past American women have preferred imported goods and that in the present crisis they have a splendid chance to show real patriotism by supporting our American industries. The author of the article is Ida M. Tarbell. Another special war feature of great interest is a French woman's personal recollections of the siege of Paris at the close of the Franco-Prussian war. The new dances are also described with illustrations in color by Troy Kinney; Ralph Waldo Trine writes entertainingly under the title, "When Is Youth—What After Youth?"; Laura Spencer Portor gives splendid advice under the heading, "How to Start Your Library"; Anna Steese Richardson, director of the Better Babies Bureau of the Woman's Home Companion, contributes news of the movement and suggestions under the heading, "What Every Mother Wants to Know" and a minister of the gospel goes on with his series of articles relating his pastoral experiences with women.

The crusade of the last ten years against corruption in politics has worked encouraging improvement in both our state and national politics, but there are still certain people who believe that every man has his price. A $10,000 bribe was offered a congressman to vote a certain way. The temptation came at the moment when he was least able to resist it. How he met the temptation is told in a story called "The Bribe," by Hastings MacAdam in the first September issue of the Popular Magazine. A dramatic story that gets under the skin of the professional politician.

The October Popular Mechanics magazine contains, all told, 278 articles and 385 illustrations. While the European war is the topic of prime interest, there is much else in the October magazine worthy of consideration. Page views or groups of views depict enforced sanitation in the Panama canal zone; the great cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York, which is building under the "guild system" used in the Middle Ages; making ammunition for naval guns at Iona island; Sikh military forces of India; working the marble quarries of Vermont; an aquatic city built on stilts; odd music makers of the Eastern hemisphere, etc. An article on "Training Boys for Real Life," by Frank Parker Stockbridge, describes an ideal school in Indiana where "academic instruction goes hand in hand with the practical work of farm, gardens and shops." A project somewhat similar in character, though altogether different in motive, is the colony of "Little Landers" in California, also described in the October magazine. These people work a small amount of land for all there is in it both in the way of health and profit, and meet many modern problems by combining their interests.

Prof. Bliss Perry's article upon "American Criticism" in the July Yale Review attracted wide attention throughout the country. In the October number, he continues his sane and penetrating review of current conditions, answering fully and satisfactorily the question which was raised by many of the critics of his first essay: "What are we going to do about it?" This number is rich in articles on public affairs and literary criticism. Sir Edwin Pears, the leading authority on the politics of the Near East, makes clear the underlying causes of the jealousy between Austria and Russia, from which the present European war took its rise. George McAneny, president of the board of aldermen of New York City, and one of the most efficient servants in the United States, analyzes our methods of city governments, and offers remedies based upon his important experiences in New York. Ex-President Taft discusses with his usual perspicuity the office of the president of the United States, its true powers and its actual limitations. The Yale Review is endeavoring to publish the kind of authoritative, illuminating literary criticism, the absence of which in America authorities like Prof. Perry have deplored. In this number, Charlton Lewis presents a penetrating, sympathetic study of Francis Thompson, whose poetry has perhaps aroused as much interest and curiosity as that of any English writer since Browning, Tennyson and Swinburne. Hugh Walker, an English critic of distinction, discusses the relation between insanity and "genius," with the work and lives of two remarkable English poets as illustration.

The October issue of Woman's World offers to readers a generous number of good stories, interesting editorial comment, departmental features and reliable instruction and advice. Of fiction there is the "Disappearance of the Regent," by Robert Carleton Brown, the first of a series of clever mystery stories, in which the reader is asked for a solution. "Whispering Tongues," by Agnes C. Hayward, is the unknown chapter of the life of a man of generous impulses, misunderstood and misjudged by the "very good" people of his town. Readers of the story, "When History Repeats Itself," by Dorothy Whitney, will be charmed with the keen insight into child nature displayed. "Love and the Needle," by Maude Radford Warren, tells of a woman who built a monument to her dead husband's love, through her cleverness in the use of her needle.

ASKS MERCY FOR HIS SON

Father of Chester Campbell Believes Injury Caused Criminal Tendencies.

Is Trying to Save Money for Operation on Boy's Skull.

That Chester Campbell, the 15-year-old boy, who was arrested here Wednesday morning is criminally inclined because he sustained an injury to his head when a child and that an operation can probably save him, is the belief of J. A. Campbell, the boy's father, according to a letter received from the latter this morning by Chief Troyer.

Following the arrest of young Campbell Wednesday morning, the chief wired the authorities at Ludington, Mich., where the boy claimed his parents reside, and this morning Chief Troyer received a letter from the boy's father. The latter states that he and Mrs. Campbell are heartbroken and they ask the local courts to show mercy to their son.

"Chester is our only son," writes Mr. Campbell, "and we are heartbroken, his mother and I. The boy fell down a flight of stairs when a child and the fall made a hole in the forehead, even the healed wound still being visible. We believe that Chester's brain is being pressed against a bone and that as a result of this he is criminally inclined. I have been trying my best to save money enough to take Chester to Ann Arbor for an operation on his brain, which I think will make him normal again and save him from becoming a real crook.

"Please give the boy a chance. I know he has been bad, but there is some good in him, of that I am sure."

Stole a Bicycle.

This morning Chief Troyer also received a telegram from the chief of police at Ludington, stating that Chester had stolen a bicycle there recently and that he sold it to a bridge man at Manistique, using the money with which to purchase a ticket to Duluth.

Chester was taken into custody Wednesday morning following an attempt he made to pass a postal money order on a clerk at the Fifth Avenue Clothing store, the boy having previously raised the order from $1.55 to $31.55. The boy came here early in the morning and was on his way to Virginia.

Unless the authorities at Ludington take Chester back there, Chief Troyer will turn the young prisoner over to the Federal authorities.

"J. K." IDENTIFIED AS JOHN KINGSLEY

The body of the man with the initials "J. K." tattooed on his right arm, who was found with his skull crushed in the tunnel below Michigan street and Eleventh avenue west Thursday noon, has been identified as that of John Kingsley, while Mrs. Erickson of 6019 Wadena street this morning identified the man as one who came to her home last Wednesday afternoon and asked for a meal.

Mrs. Erickson told the police this morning that Kingsley came to her home and asked for something to eat. She claims that Kingsley had declared he had just returned from the Dakotas, where he was unable to find work and that he had also found it impossible to secure employment in Duluth. She gave Kingsley a meal, she said.

Coroner McComb and the police are positive that Kingsley was no murder victim and that he came to his death by falling off the cliff into the tunnel, a distance of thirty feet. Kingsley will be buried at the Park Hill cemetery Monday afternoon.

SACKS OF POTATOES MUST SHOW WEIGHT.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—Representative Steenerson has been advised by the department of agriculture that sacks in which potatoes are shipped must be labeled to show the net weight of the contents, under the new "net weight" amendment to the pure food law. The department states that an effort is being made to secure a modification of this view by the committee in charge of the enforcement of the law, so that when potatoes are sacked for convenience in loading cars, the railroad's statement of the weight shall be accepted. The inquiry was made by Representative Steenerson at the instance of potato growers in Western Minnesota.

CITY MARKET EXHIBIT IS EQUAL TO THAT OF FAIR.

The public market in the armory, Second avenue east and First street, has as good a display of vegetables every market day as those constituting the exhibits at the county fair at Two Harbors, good as that was, according to Mayor Prince, who accompanied other members of the city council to Two Harbors yesterday.

He declared that the vegetables and farm products offered for sale by the farmers coming to Duluth are among the best in the country. Despite the threatening aspect of the weather twenty-one farmers attended the downtown market this morning and had a ready sale for their products.

Mayor Prince said this morning that the farmers will shortly hold a meeting of the Federated Farmers' clubs to take action relative to maintaining the market the year around. The farmers appear to be strongly in favor of the idea and believe that it could be operated the first year with Saturday as the market day. Later the number of market days in the week could be increased.

GRAIN SHIPPING IN FULL SWING

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The wheat movement from Northern North Dakota is well under way, and the railroads are experiencing little difficulty in shipping grain. In practically every station in the state, according to reports received here, grain shippers are being cared for in good shape.

The grain movement, while not started as early as usual, will be heavy from now on. The railroads are adding men to their crews daily, and will soon be entirely on a grain moving basis.

STEENERSON IS BACK FROM EUROPE

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Having gone abroad as a delegate to the interparliamentary union at Stockholm, but not having gone further than the British Isles, because of the war, Representative Steenerson returned to Washington today.

While in England and Ireland, Mr. Steenerson witnessed many pathetic scenes connected with the departure of volunteers for the scene of war. He found that Ireland has forgotten her home rule difficulties and is standing shoulder to shoulder with England. "The entire nation is grim and determined to fight the war through to the end, and to the extent of the last man and the last penny," said Mr. Steenerson.

The congressman commended President Wilson's attempt to bring about peace through mediation, and regretted that it was not successful. As to the outcome, Mr. Steenerson said: "I am convinced that the common conscience and judgment of the civilized world will in the near future compel the abandonment of the militarism that now burdens the old world and is the cause of the present awful war."

SAY LAKE TO RIVER CANAL IS FEASIBLE

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 19.—George H. Sullivan of Stillwater and E. F. Ackley of Chippewa Falls, representing the Minnesota and Wisconsin Mississippi river-Lake Superior canal commissions, respectively, have submitted a supplemental brief to the river and harbor board of the war department in which they urge that the proposed canal is commercially feasible. They declare that by the time the canal can be completed there will be upward of 9,000,000 tons of freight available for transportation through it at the average rate of 2 mills per ton mile, and the revenue will be sufficient to operate and maintain the canal and effect a great saving to shippers. Another reason given for the construction of the canal is that it will break up the railroad monopoly of lake shipping.

Girlish, Wrinkle-Free Skin Easy to Have

Since its remarkable astringent and tonic properties became known, clever women all over the world have been using the saxolite face bath to "tone up" their faces, remove wrinkles and draw flabby cheeks and neck back to normal. After using the solution, the face immediately feels much firmer. The skin tightens evenly all over the face, thus reducing lines and sagginess. The formula is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pint.

Another wonderful facial beautifier and rejuvenator that has become quite a rage in the United States, as in Europe, is mercolized wax. Druggists report a great demand. The wax literally absorbs a sallow, freckled, blotchy or withered complexion, giving the fresh, vigorous, healthy-hued young skin underneath a chance to "breathe" and to show itself. Applying the wax at night, like cold cream, washing it off mornings, will completely renovate a poor complexion in a week or ten days. One ounce usually is sufficient. —Advertisement.

DULUTH WILL SEND CHRISTMAS CHEER TO CHILDREN IN EUROPE

Duluth "kids," and others, too, will help to make Christmas happier for the hundreds of thousands of small boys and girls living in the countries which are now at war.

Late in November, or early in December, a ship under two flags, one the stars and stripes and the other the white flag of truce, will sail from the United States for Europe, laden with all sorts of things dear to the hearts of children. These will be distributed by willing hands which will place them so that thousands of youngsters will know that old Santa Claus has not forgotten them in the times of hardships and trials.

Miss Margaret Culkin, director of social centers, has taken charge of the movement in Duluth. She stated this morning that she will start it first through the social centers of the city and will take it up with other clubs and organizations of the city. She has already spoken to various Duluthians of the project, which they heartily indorsed. A general campaign is being conducted throughout the United States to raise funds for relief work in the war zone but this movement is intended principally for the benefit of the youngsters who otherwise would have no Christmas.

The contributions will include clothing and other useful garments, as well as toys and dolls and the thousand and one things which "kids" look forward to receiving at that time of year. The garments will all be new, as it is not proposed to send a large quantity of wornout clothes in the gift ship.

CIGAR TRADE CUT IN TWO

What effect petty gambling has on the public may be partially estimated by the fact that the receipts at cigar stands have fallen off nearly 50 per cent in Duluth since Commissioner Hicken stopped dice shaking and other gambling. The element of chance involved in shaking the bones is said to have been the biggest factor in stimulating sales. The gambling itself, it is claimed, returns little or no profit, but serves only to increase sales.

It is now common talk that the tobacco habit will be reduced 50 per cent by the cutting out of gambling for cigars, cigarettes, etc. It is figured out this way. If a man pays cash for cigars, he will buy only enough for his immediate wants. On the other hand if he shakes dice for cigars, he will try his luck until he wins and perhaps keep on shaking until he has his pockets full of cigars. With this supply he either treats his friends or smokes on steadily until they are gone.

The matter was well summed up this morning by a former habitue of a prominent cigar stand. "Smoking now is a business proposition," he said.

SALTER LEAVES THE NEW GRAND

Ed R. Salter, who came here last May to superintend the construction of the New Grand and who has been its manager since the opening of the playhouse on Aug. 20, has resigned his position and last evening Charles Phelps of New York arrived in Duluth to take charge of the theater.

Many local theatergoers will hear with regret the announcement that Mr. Salter is leaving the New Grand. He has made a number of friends during his stay in Duluth and was already enjoying a large patronage because of his pleasing personality. Mr. Salter has not yet made any plans for the future.

Last May Mr. Salter came to Duluth, while the new theater was in the process of construction. He superintended the building and also had complete charge of equipping the playhouse for the opening last month. Before coming to Duluth he was with the Western Vaudeville association and at one time was road manager for W. H. Crane, May Irwin and other noted stars. He was with the Wallace circus for seven years.

Mr. and Mrs. Salter and their son have been making their home here since last May.

"THE COUNT" ABANDONS DULUTH AND BARBERING

"The Count" is about to shake the dust of Duluth from his feet and to bid good-bye to the city as a place of residence.

Everybody knows The Count. Should The Herald announce plainly that Hugo Gustafson is about to leave the city it would mean nothing to most people and, in fact, very few would know who was being mentioned. But when it is announced that The Count is about to leave, there will be many of the leading men of the city sincerely sorry to learn it, for they will know that they are losing a good friend and an artist in his line.

For twelve years The Count has run a barber shop in the city, and there has shaved and shorn, counselled and cajoled many of Duluth's business and professional leaders.

Now Minneapolis has lured him, and The Count says that never again will he trim the hirsute adornments of mankind—the breezes may waft through them at will for all he cares. He has abandoned the business of masculine beautification for the larger life, as it were, and has entered other business. He has several things on hand which he hopes will make him a fortune and his ex-customers join most heartily in that hope.

PETITIONS FILED.

Probate Court Asked to Give Letters of Administration.

Philip B. Seymour, 18, is the sole heir named in the will of his father, the late Philip H. Seymour, who died in this city July 25, last, aged 57. James S. Lynn of this city nominated in the will as executor, petitioned the probate court today to admit the instrument.

The estate consists of lands in the mineral belt nominally estimated to be worth of upwards of $5,000 and personal property, the value of which is given as upwards of $300.

Karen Sophie Otterson today petitioned the court to appoint her son, A. J. Otterson, 802 Twenty-second avenue west as administrator of the estate of her daughter Ellen Olive Bergetta Otterson, who died at her home in this city on Sept. 5 last. The estate consist of a $500 life insurance policy. The parents are heirs.

Magdalena Michiak petitioned for letters of administration on the estate of her husband, Valentine Michiak, who died, aged 58, on July 6 last, leaving an estate of $550. The widow resides at 2325 West Fifth street.

DELAY WORK IN THE WOODS

Heavy Rains Make Conditions Unfavorable for Early Logging.

Heavy rains in Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin are causing considerable delay in the opening of operations in the big woods. The opening of camps, which usually begins about Sept. 1, has, in most cases, been postponed indefinitely.

"But few camps are being opened yet," said a prominent lumberman today, "and whatever work is being done, is on high ground. The lowlands are submerged in water, and everything now depends upon the weather. If we have a dry fall camps in the lowlands can be opened soon, but if rain continues, nothing can be done there until it freezes up."

Lumbermen were never in such an uncertain state of mind as at present. Most of them seem to be marking time until the effects of the war in Europe take more definite form. If the war should end in a short time it is expected that lumbermen will be encouraged to make a big output this winter in order that they may be able to take advantage of the big construction boom that is expected to follow the adjustment of financial difficulties. Most lumbermen say that it is still too early to make predictions.

The advance contingent of the army of harvesters is already coming back to the Head of the Lakes. Some of them are "broke" already, and they declare that too many men and low wages made the Dakotas "poor pickins" this season. Heavy rains also have handicapped threshing, and the men have lost considerable time when the machines were idle. Many of the men, however, will remain in the Dakotas until winter.

BELGIAN TOWNS ARE EVACUATED

Antwerp, Sept. 19, via London, 2:30 p. m.—The Telegraaf reports that the towns of Dendermonde (Termonde) and Londerzeel have been evacuated by the Germans. This is the first time that these places have been free of the invaders since the removal of the Belgian capital from Brussels to Antwerp.

The street lamps of Antwerp are lighted every evening from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Dendermonde is a fortified Belgian town in East Flanders, sixteen miles east of Ghent. Londerzeel is eleven miles northwest of Brussels.

Many Hunting Licenses.

With the open season for partridges still nearly two weeks off more than 2,000 licenses for hunting birds have so far been issued to hunters residing in the county, according to reports from the county clerk's office. More than 1,000 of these were issued prior to the opening of the season for duck hunting. The record for the issuance of licenses is expected to be reached before the opening day, Oct. 1.

Tag Day in Superior.

This is "tag" day in Superior. Groups of women and girls with boxes and tags are ready to stop those who are unmarked for donations for the Orphans' home. The committee in charge hope to raise considerable money for the institution during the day. The headquarters of the tag day committee has been established at the Superior hotel.

FORTRESSES INEFFECTIVE

War Shows Day of Immense Fortifications Has Passed.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Sept. 4.—It is still too early to base general predictions concerning war in the future upon the engagements of the present great European struggle. One prediction, however, does seem fairly justified already. It is that the day of fortresses has passed. The new 42 centimeter (16.8-inch) siege gun of the German forces appears to have demonstrated its ability to demolish the strongest fortifications ever made. Pictures of the demolition at Liege bear striking testimony to the power of this new arm. A single projectile demolished utterly walls of reinforced cement and steel, ripped open steel towers and piled the mass upon the forts' defenders.

Surprise of War.

This new siege gun has been the surprise of the war. It has been repeatedly asserted that no nation has any military secrets that are not in possession of all other important nations, but events have proved not only that the existence of this terrible weapon was not known to foreign nations, but that only a limited number of high German army officials themselves had so much as heard of it. A member of the Reichstag, whose name is not given, is quoted as follows in a German paper:

More Guns Ready.

"A number of the guns are already at the front and others are in the arsenals. Six weeks ago, as member of the commission on arms, I was in a gun factory, and was informed that any number of tubes and projectiles for the guns can be finished in a very brief time, not to mention the great supply on hand. I asked whether these guns wore themselves out quickly, and was assured by an expert that there are not enough forts in the world to wear out a single gun."

JAPS LAND AT LAOSHAN BAY

Tokio, Sept. 19.—The Japanese imperial troops, co-operating with the Japanese fleet, landed at Laoshan bay Sept. 18, according to official announcement made today.

The cavalry on Sept. 17 captured Kiao-Chow station and seized a train. Among the passengers was the president of the Shan-Tung railway, who was made a prisoner.

The Shan-Tung railway, the president of which was made a prisoner by the Japanese, is German-owned and was opened in 1904. The main line extends from Tsing-Tau west to Tsinan. The capture of the station at Kiao-Chow was early reported in news dispatches.

TOBACCO FOR THE WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

London, Sept. 19.—The Blue Cross society which has been established at the suggestion of Sylvia Lathrop, the 14-year-old daughter of Ben Lathrop of California, and which is composed entirely of children, has the collection of tobacco for convalescent soldiers as its particular mission. Already the children have obtained enough smoking material to supply 200 soldiers in one London hospital and the work is constantly expanding.

SEND FOR THIS FREE BOOK ON RUPTURE

And Become a Perfect Man

RUPTURE Is a handicap. If you don't realize it now you will sooner or later. It never gets well of itself, but gets worse from time to time. It will eventually unfit you for work and life's battles. It positively grows dangerous—think of the hundreds of people that yearly sacrifice their lives to strangulation.

The past has proven that the old-fashioned antiquated truss and appliance won't help you—it can't; its construction is all wrong. A new star of hope has arisen for the ruptured — a natural outcome from the deficiencies of the past. There is hope, joy and comfort awaiting you.

The "Schulling Rupture Lock"

is a wonderful invention for rupture—the outcome of years of study, hard work and diligent research. It is away from the old lines of truss construction, and holds the rupture exactly the way Nature intends, so that she may heal the opening without interference.

Guaranteed to Hold
Sent on 30 Days Trial

In wearing my Rupture Lock you have absolute protection at all times. You may do any kind of work and get in any position under any condition.

We will prove this, by a 30-DAY TRIAL. That's the length of time you should have. A few days' trial can never bring out the merits of any article. Thirty days is the only fair way. That's why we insist, to give it the full, real test so you may appreciate what a perfect Rupture holding Lock it really is. If it does not prove all we claim after the required test, it will not cost you a cent.

The Real Secret of Healing Rupture

To successfully co-operate with Nature in the work of healing, the supporting device must be so constructed that the rupture retaining part overlaps and draws together the breached opening instead of pressing directly into it.

The trusses of today are sadly lacking in this quality. They nearly all give that direct pressure into the opening, which can not help but enlarge it, making it that much harder to retain the bowel later on, resulting in uncontrollable rupture with serious complications.

The Schulling Rupture Lock was invented to overcome just such faults. It is made to comply with Nature's laws and reach the objective point by the safest and shortest possible route. That it has succeeded is best told by the thousands who are now singing its praises in every corner of our land. This is the Rupture Lock that you get on a 30-Day Trial.

Write for My Free Book at Once

It tells you all about getting rid of your rupture. It teems with interesting experiences of former rupture sufferers. It tells why physicians are recommending this Rupture Lock instead of advising dangerous operations. It tells you why the U. S. War Department orders this Rupture Lock for the gallant boys of '61. It gives you much advice and many facts about rupture that you never heard or read about, also tells you how to order the 30 Days Trial.

MORE ARE ATTENDING CHURCH IN ENGLAND.

Manchester, Sept. 19.—Greatly increased attendance at church services is one of the marked effects of the war which has been noted by Manchester clergymen, one of whom discussing this subject in a Manchester paper says: "It is surprising to see as large an attendance at a week-night service as at a Sunday service. It is the instinct of those left at home to find fellowship at such times. But the outstanding factor is that the war is bringing us as a nation into the presence of the realities of life and death."

TRAINING THE FIELD GUNS UPON THE SPORTING FIELD OF ACTION

Football Coaches East and West Raised the Annual Early Fall Wail of Anguish—Michigan and Harvard One of the Season's Big Games—The Adams Club's Activities—General Comment.

BY BRUCE.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., (Special to The Herald.)—"Prospects are rotten," said Coach Fielding H. Yost. "All of the old men have gone and the new material is the worst in years. There isn't a chance in the world to defeat Harvard. If Michigan has a fair team we will be more than surprised."

Cambridge, Mass., (Special to The Herald.)—Coach Haughton of Harvard scratched his head where hair once grew, and let loose the following sentences:

"The Michigan game will be one of the hardest in years. Harvard's prospects are not of the best. Brickley's toe has become so calloused in kicking goals that it has lost its super sensitive sense of direction. Also the fear that the members of the Michigan team will use ungrammatical language on the field is worrying the Harvard players."

South Bend, Ind., (Special to The Herald).—The move to restore the Gaelic language is receiving great impetus here. It is proposed to have the Irish members of the Notre Dame football team use this weird offense against the Yale players on Oct. 17 at New Haven. Coach Harper declared that this would be the greatest offense he could think of. Outside of this the coach declared the chances of his team looked punk."

New Haven, Conn., (Specially censored to The Herald.)—"We haven't a —— chance in the world, is the consensus of opinion of the coaching committee of Yale. Brickley's toe, Notre Dame's Irish, the Princeton luck will probably defeat Yale, believe the committee. Theodore Roosevelt is cited as an instance of Harvard luck. Things look blue."

These be the days of the bear tales. None of the coaches will admit that one ray of sunshine permeates the stygian darkness of the football outlook. It is as natural for the football coach to be pessimistic as it is for a flea to get energetic.

The day before the various contests herein alluded to, the interviews giving forth to the press will be impregnated with glowing confidence and sweet faced victory will be anticipated in words of flowing rythm. Maybe it is the way of the world, or maybe the instructor of the football youth of the land sees so much ornery human nature that he becomes calloused to the standards of optimism unless inspired by the grim prospects of grim blood and battle.

Be that as it may, along in the approaching ides of October and the rambling days of November the papers will reek of the optimism of coaches that are at this drear period predicting most of the cataclysms that have usually been held in reserve by high priced lecturers for the millennium.

The Case of the Adams.

This merry season the makeup of the Adams football team promises to be territorially limited to this side of the bay. Impresario John Geistman, who has guided the destinies of the Blue and White outfit for years and more years, declares that there are players in plenty in Duluth to put forth a strong team.

Some of those who haye observed the increase of the number of promising players on various teams of local habitat, candidly agree with the view point of Impresario Geistman, and also believe that a team made up of Duluth players can generously and artistically lick anything in the shape of a gridiron aggregation that the territory upon the other side of the bay can turnout, Mickey MacDonald to the contrary notwithstanding.

Why Yell About the War?

Some able and possibly unprejudiced statisticians have figured out that golf costs the people of the United States—the persons—the people don't play—$50,000,000 annually. The caddies receive $12,500,000. No wonder the price of cigarettes is increasing.

Edison Should Attend College.

Fielding H. Yost states that a football player's head is 90 per cent of his efficiency to his team. Some of the rich alumni members of Michigan should try to persuade Tom Edison to take a course at Ann Arbor.

Joseph Is Very Unfortunate.

Joe Jackson has lost $8,063.74 by forsaking the Athletics. Add to this lamentable fact that Joseph has been with the Cleveland team during all these luscious melon cutting world's series years, and the total damage should be placed at about $108,963.74.

This Is Discriminating.

Coach Harper names a long list of reasons for the success of Notre Dame in athletics. He forgot to mention the Irish, which in the opinion of some is a libelous and careless performance.

The Great Contest.

On Oct. 31 Harvard, representing the football class of the effete East, and Michigan, richly sharing with Notre Dame the distinction of the Western gridiron, will clash at the Havard stadium in what is being looked forward to as one of the great tests of the East and West; as one of the basic conclusions of the systems in vogue in the two sections of the land.

Harvard has Brickley, O'Brien, Mahan and others of the conquering horde of last season. The graduate loss of Michigan has been a heavy one. The loss of Jimmy Craig has been a well nigh irreparable one. They don't manufacture players of the type of Heston and Craig in one season, or in ten—and therefore the regret and the dull and anguishing doubt of some of the loyal and ardent supporters of the representative of the West.

Had Harvard and Michigan met last season on the field of battle, the game would have been one fairly testing the merits of the two teams and the efficacy of the systems of the opposing sections of the country. There is grave doubt as to whether Yost, with all his wizardy, can put forth a team that will rank at all with the splendid scoring machine of 1913.

In many clashes between East and West the breaks have been against the rugged Western section. While not looking in advance for a defeat for Michigan, the outlook at this time is assuredly not the brightest in the world.

CULLUM LEADS PLAYERS IN NORTHLAND GOLF EVENT

Country Club Captain Is in Finals of the Club Championship Event---A. L. Ordean Leading Field in Fall Handicap Play.

Dr. M. B. Cullum is leading the field of Northland golf players in the play in the club championship event. The doctor is already in the finals, with Walter Croze the only man in the fours.

Dr. Cullum has won from W. W. Walker and Cam Rust, two of the best players of the club.

R. S. Patrick, state champion and the acknowledged star of the club, won his initial game from John Mullin and is expected to meet Elmer Whyte in the play of today.

As the club championship is one of the most interesting events of the season and as the best players of the club are competing for the titular event, the finals should bring out some fine play.

The Fall Championship.

Raley, Moore, Crosby, Ordean and O'Brien are the winners in the early play of the fall handicap, with A. L. Ordean the first player to go into the fours.

A mixed foursome medal play handicap is scheduled for Northland today. The official season at the club will end on Oct. 17, when the annual match between the president and vice president's teams will be played.

It is expected that playing over the Northland links will continue long after the close of the season. Several golf games were played on the Northland links last Christmas.

Following is the standing of the players in the club championship and fall handicap events:

WOLGAST-MANDOT FIGHT GOOD DRAW

New Orleans Lad Carries Battle to Michigan Bear Cat.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19.—Ad Wolgast and Joe Mandot fought ten fast rounds to a draw last night before a big crowd of fight fans.

The first round was even, and Wolgast followed with a shade in the second, third and fourth. The fifth was even, with the sixth to Mandot. The seventh was even, and the last three rounds were in Mandot's favor, by a shade.

Mandot carried the fight to Wolgast all the way from the fourth round, the Michigan boy being content to protect himself and land occasionally. No severe fighting was carried outside the eighth and tenth when Mandot seemed to have a shade. Mandot was the aggressor throughout, but Wolgast's superior defense saved him from more than a draw.

ROUTINE BUSINESS ON THE MAGNATES' DOCKET

No Important Matter to Come Up for Consideration at the Monday Meeting of the Northern League---Circuit Likely to Be Changed at Annual Gathering in December.

BY BRUCE.

Here are some of the possibilities of execution at the Monday meeting of the magnates of the Northern league, which is scheduled for this city: The awarding of a franchise to Port Arthur and St. Boniface, the disfranchising of Winona, the granting of a franchise to another new town, the adopting of resolutions looking forward to the raising of the league to class B classification, the official awarding of the pennant and the transaction of official business, including the re-election of John Burmeister as president.

If the unofficial assertions of several of the magnates are to be believed, Winona will not be a member of the Northern league in 1915. Not only was the attendance of the southern city worse than usual, but the situation of the city beautiful makes the league a lop-sided affair and increases the mileage expense of the teams.

St. Boniface May Come In.

Rumors persist in couping St. Boniface with the Northern league circuit of 1915. With a ball park in the central portion of the French city, men who have seriously investigated the situation are of the belief that baseball would prove a thoroughly paying proposition and would, moreover, make the circuit more compact.

Should St. Boniface be taken into the league, along with Port Arthur, the Northern league circuit for 1915 would be one of the most compact little leagues in the country. Railroad fare last season amounted to a single item of expense of approximately $16,000—therefore the deep and burning anxiety to make the league more compact.

The possibilities of action are named first. What will probably be transacted Monday in the settling of the financial business of the year, the official awarding of the pennant and a general discussion of the affairs of the strenuous season of the past and also a discussion of some of the plans for the forthcoming year.

The annual meeting of the Northern league is scheduled for December, and at this time it is probable that some of the radical changes of the league will be made.

Cantillon Is Dissatisfied.

Mike Cantillon wants to get away from Fargo and Fargo is not exactly imploring Michael to remain. It is said that the eagle orb of the Cantillons is turned in the direction of Port Arthur. Another story has it that Minneapolis capital stands ready to back a club in St. Boniface.

However, outside of the pooling of holiday receipts and the transaction of routine business, most of the undercurrent rumors that are the life of the winter game of baseball will remain untouched and the real work of shaping the circuit for 1915 will probably await the December meeting of the magnates.

W. J. Sommer is to represent the Superior club at the meeting and in this connection is is stated that Will J. is extremely desirous of disposing of the franchise.

As the league controls all of the franchises there seems little likelihood of the Superior franchise being sold to interests outside of Superior.

PAL BROWN TO BOX CHAMPION

Negotiations Almost Closed for Match With Freddy Welsh.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pal Brown came down from his homestead today and admitted that his chances for having a bout with Freddy Welsh at Winnipeg at some future date were very bright. Inquiries have been received by Colin Monroe, his manager, and a counter proposition immediately telegraphed to the Canadian promoters. The only condition on which the match hinges will be the division of the receipts. Brown believes that he is entitled to a better percentage of the gate receipts than the promoters offer. A reply is hourly expected to his proposition. Pal has been before the fight fans across the Canadian line in Ontario, Manitoba and Calgary so often that he needs no introduction and his clean conduct outside and in the ring is so well known that he is one of the best drawing cards in that section. His Chisholm friends have long believed that he is entitled to a chance with the topnotchers and are anxiously awaiting news of the bouts. A large delegation will go to Winnipeg from here if the match is made.

OPENING FOOTBALL GAMES IN THE EAST.

New York, Sept. 19.—The opening games of the Eastern inter-collegiate football season will be played today with the Carlisle Indian school and the Albright college elevens meeting at Carlisle, Pa.

In this city the football rules committee will go over in 1914 code and clear up any doubtful points in the regulations due to uncertain phraseology. The committee also will be prepared to pass upon rule or playing problems that may be submitted by football team coaches, a number of whom will be present.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 19.—It took the varsity football team an hour to score two touchdowns in the first scrimmage practice with the scrubs yesterday. There was much loose handling of the ball and the varsity lost much ground through fumbles. James, an end man, played with the scrubs. He is a veteran. Bushnell looked good at half. Bastian, scrub halfback, was knocked unconscious during the play. Splawn proved one of the best ground gainers in the squad.

STONE-ORDEAN TEAMS TO DECIDE TITLE.

Goes to Front of 300 Hitters After Hard Contest.

New Figures for Big League Stars Show Few Changes.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Ty Cobb, the slugging Georgian of the Detroit club, batted himself to the front during the last week according to figures published here today. He is now leading his nearest rival in the American league by 27 points and at the rate he is going at present there is little likelihood of his being headed. The averages as published here show eleven hitters in the .300 class. They are:

Cobb, Detroit, .375; E. Collins, Philadelphia, .348; Jackson, Cleveland, .347; Hoblitzel, Boston, .347; Speaker, Boston, .328; Cree, New York, .327; Crawford, Detroit, .321; Baker, Philadelphia, .319; McInnis, Philadelphia, .316; C. Walker, St. Louis, .307; M. Mitchell, Washington, .306.

Philadelphia and Detroit continue to lead the league in club batting with figures of .272 and .255. The home run honors remain with Baker, Philadelphia, who has nine. Maisel of New York leads in base stealing, with 62, while E. Collins of Philadelphia is pressing him with 55.

National's Hitters.

The Brooklyn club of the National league is still honored with the leading hitter. This is Tex Irwin, who heads a list of thirteen hitters in the .300 class with an average of .348. The others in this select group are Dalton, Brooklyn, .328; Daubert, Brooklyn, .324; Becker, Philadelphia, .321; Wheat, Brooklyn, S. Magee, Philadelphia, and Connolly, Boston, tied with .311; C. Miller, St. Louis, .308; Stengel, Brooklyn, .305; Paskert, Chicago, and Wingo, St. Louis, tied with .304; Grant, New York, .302, and G. Burns, New York, .300.

Club hitting honors go to Brooklyn with .270 with New York next with .264. Vic Saier, Chicago, leads as the home run king, with 17, while the honors for base stealing go to G. Burns of New York, who has 52.

American league pitchers who lead their league are Bender, Philadelphia, with 12 and 3; Leonard, Boston, 19 and 5; Plank, Philadelphia, 15 and 6.

The Boston club of the National league has the leading pitcher. He is James, with 24 and 8. Rudolph, his teammate, is next with 22 and 8, while Doak of St. Louis is third with 16 and 7.

Hinchman Heads Association.

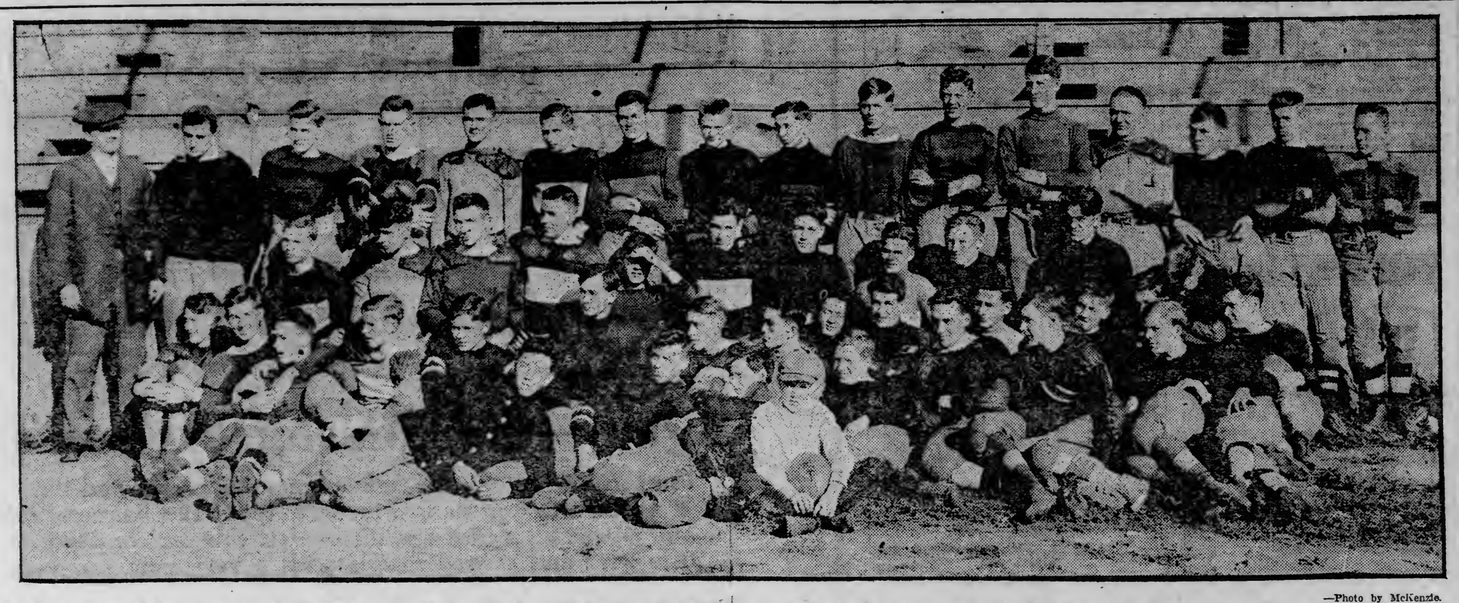

Manager Hinchman of Columbus remains at the head of the batters in the American association with .364, closely followed by Kirke of Cleveland with .349. Then come Titus, Kansas City, with .345; Killifer, Minneapolis, .344; Altizer, Minneapolis, .339; Griffith, Indianapolis, .338; Rath, Kansas City, .332; Lake, Minneapolis, .330; V. Clemons, Louisville, .328; while Severeid of Louisville and Livingstone of Indianapolis are tied with .322. Felch, Milwaukee, leads in homers with 17 to his credit. The leading base stealer is Compton, Kansas City, who has 51. The three leading pitchers are Northrop, Louisville, 23 games won and 9 lost; Laroy of Indianapolis, 12 won and 5 lost; Gallia, Kansas City, 23 won and 10 lost. Minneapolis leads in club batting with .278, with Kansas City next with .273.

Bennie Kauff is the dare-devil of the Federal league in both batting and base stealing. He leads the batters with .369, with Evans of Brooklyn pushing him hard, one point behind. Kauff's base stealing mark is 61. Home run honors go to Zwilling, Chicago, with 13 circuit drives. Indianapolis leads in club batting with .285. The leading pitchers are Hendrix, Chicago, with 26 won and 9 lost; Ford, Buffalo, 17 and 6; Kaiserling, Indianapolis, 15 and 8; Seaton, Brooklyn, 22 and 12.

The leading batters in the Western league is Le Jeune, Sioux City. Denver leads in team hitting with .297. W. Fisher, Denver, has tied W. Jones of Denver for the home run honors, each making 19. Nicholson, continues to lead the base stealers with 54.

In the International league Kritchell, Toronto, leads the batters with .346.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL'S BIG FOOTBALL SQUAD

Members of one of the largest squads that has answered the call of any high school coach in years will be seen in action today at Athletic park in the game against the former stars of the school. There are many light men in the list of contending candidates and it is generally believed that this year's high school team will have to rely mainly upon speed.

THREE HEARTY RAHS! FOOTBALL IS AT HAND!

Football will be officially ushered in for the 1914 season with the games of today. Most of the high school teams of the country have practice games scheduled and several of the colleges throughout the country will start their schedules with the games of today.

The Carlisle Indians meet Albright at Carlisle and the University of Maine is scheduled to meet Fort McKinley at Orono. Bucknell college plays the Hillman team at Lewisberg.

These are the advance games of the season. Next Saturday the schedule is full, with virtually every team in the country in action.

NEW YORK FIGHTER MAY MEET BROWN

LEACH CROSS.

CHAMPIONSHIP NOT EXPECTED

'Varsity Squad Will Be Composed Mostly of New Men.

Board of Athletic Control Will Meet—Athletes All Active.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Football practice will begin next Wednesday, and the next few weeks will disclose whether or not Minnesota university is to have a winning team. At the present time predictions are impossible. Coach Williams will be far from disconsolate if he can have his pick of the men who turned out at the spring workouts. Minnesota will not have a championship team, as such a thing would be almost a miracle in the face of the present situation. A team composed of at least nine new men, a schedule including five of the best teams in the country and the first game less than three weeks away is the situation which confronts Coach Williams.

Makeup of Team.

At this time, the only man absolutely sure of a place on the team is Capt. Rosenthal, the veteran center. Solon is the only other veteran in sight. The two quarter backs, Tollefson and Fowler Sawyer, High school. Three half backs, Bierman, Mattern and McAlmon are gone, as well as full back O'Shaughnessy. Ostron, the pillar of last year's team, will not return this fall. Sawyer, Barron, Forniea and Aldworth are all missing. Robertson, last year's center, was graduated, and Snyder, a promising sub-tackle, is ineligible. The results of the ravages of last week's condition examinations are not in yet, but some of the most promising new men are Mundy, Townley, Erdahl, Dietrich, Huedge, Bierman, Quist, Snyder and Anderson. The tentative line-up, as disclosed by Dr. Williams Wednesday, is: at the end, Harry Sholtes; left tackle, Frank Myers; left guard, Sinclair; center, Rosenthal; right guard, Dunningan; right tackle, Townley; right end, Mundy; quarterback, Erdahl; left half, Hamilton; right half, Hedge; fullback, Solon. This combination will be strong, fast and fairly heavy. They are new at 'varsity football, but they have had plenty of experience in high schools and colleges. Sholtes is a second team man of 1902. Myers from East Grand Forks is a heavy experienced lineman. Sinclair played with the scrubs last year. Dunningan was a line substitute last year and got in the line-up in several games. Townley was star on the 1913 second team and is a promising tackle. Wallace Hamilton, one of the best backs Carleton ever had, who covered the full back positions on the scrubs last fall, is expected to be a strong contender for backfield honors, as is Carl Haedge, the former St. Thomas star half and punter. There are besides these, a goodly number of men who have had training on the gridiron and would be a valuable addition to Dr. Williams' camp. Some are hampered by conditions and flunks, but most of them will be out to make up a scrub team, from which the coaches will select the first team men.

New Assistant Coach.

At the first meeting of the board of athletic control Wednesday afternoon, Bill McAlmon of the last year's eleven, was engaged as assistant coach for the coming season, giving Dr. Williams three assistants this year. McAlmon will probably have charge of the freshman team. Sig Harris will take care of the scrubs, and Leonard Frank will work with the varsity linemen. The date of the special election for the vacancies on the athletic board of control was discussed, but no final action taken. The places to be filled are those of Emmons, Sawyer, who graduated last spring; David Glitsman, the engineering representative, who failed to return to school, and Bee Lawler, president-elect, who left school in the spring. Lawler may return this fall.

Cross Country Team.

The first call for candidates for the Minnesota cross country team was issued Thursday by Coach Leonard Frank. This year it is expected that Minnesota will be a strong contender for the conference championship in the branch of athletics. The team is composed of a squad of five or six men and with such a valuable and experienced leader as Fred Watson, and men like Rapacz, Wallace, Dunnell and Montgomery for a nucleus, there will be a warm fight for places. Around Watson, the holder of the conference cross country record, the team will be built. Rapacz, also an "M" man, who finished second to Watson last fall, is expected further to increase the strength of the squad. Wallace and Montgomery, who made their "M's" as sophomores, have signified their intention of running this fall. A big addition to the squad is Herbert Griffin, the big miler, from last year's freshman team. Dunnell is an experienced distance man from last year's team. Coach Frank is optimistic and hopes to have his team in excellent shape before long. Some of the men have been doing light work all summer, and are in good condition now.

TWO HARNESS RECORDS MADE; ONE IS TIED.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—Frank Bogash, Jr., a probibitive favorite, won the free-for-all pace at the closing state fair harness races yesterday, and traveled the second heat in 1:59¼, the fastest heat ever paced in an open race. Directum I, an original entry, did not race, having been sent to Grand Rapids, where he meets William in an exhibition contest next Thursday.

The 2:17 pace went to Baron Marque, after a four-heat duel with Nelda Schnell. Peter Pearl won the 2:17 trot. Burt Axworthy took the first two heats, but the brown colt claimed the next three.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19.—William, in an exhibition yesterday equaled his record of 2 minutes flat for the mile, but failed to win the special purse for a clipped record.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 19.—The world's mile record for a 3-year-old trotter on a half-mile track was broken at the state fair grounds here yesterday when Hugh Miller, owned by E. R. Little, Mt. Sterling, Ky., went the distance in 2:11¾.

BADGER MEN BEGIN PLAY

Work of 'Varsity Team Is Encouraging to "U" Forecasters.

Coming of New Coach and Good Line-Up Buoys Up Team.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The football season at the University of Wisconsin began in earnest this week, when Captain Tubby Keeler and the members of the team arrived and began active work. Inasmuch as the conference regulations forbid the use of the coaches before Sept. 21, which is Monday, the squad was in charge of Captain Keeler, but began work in an active manner that forecasts much for the coming season, despite the fact that the team will be composed almost entirely of new men, nine of last year's regulars having graduated in June.

Coaches, Not Idle.

Though the coaches did not take charge of the squad this week, they were not idle, for while Keeler was working with the men, Coach Juneau was holding long daily conferences with his assistants, laying out the strategic moves for the entire season and methods of play. Juneau has three fine assistants this year in Wilson, Jones and Driver.

The first three days of work this week was in the nature of a "limbering up" process to get the men in shape to stand the more strenuous work which will come next week under the supervision of the coaches.

At the present time the most interesting thing about the opening of the 1914 football season will be the coming of the new line coach, Tom Wilson of Princeton. Wilson is a new man to Westerners, who are acquainted with his work only in so far as his excellence is known to followers of the game in this section. He was for three years a member of the Princeton eleven, and in his final year he was given a position on Walter Camp's All-American team. He also assisted in the coaching of the 1913 Princeton squad. With such giants as Captain Keeler, Gelein and Buck, for the last year's team, and McMaster, Schmidt, Ambler, Kennedy, Mucks and Gardner, last year reserves and freshmen, in the harness, the Badger line should again be a topnotcher this year. Arlie Mucks, the Oshkosh giant, and a member of the Olympic team which represented America at Stockholm, is expected to fill a big hole in the Wisconsin line, and "Moose" Gardner, a freshman last year, is also being counted on to play in the line. Both Mucks and Gardner cleared their scholastic difficulties by attending summer school. With this array of material now at its, it would not be surprising to find Wisconsin with another stone wall forward line.

Backfield Not so Good.

The coaches are not quite so optimistic in regard to the backfield positions. Only two members of last year's backfield will be back in school—Bellows and Cummings. With the advantage of last year's varsity experience much more can be expected of "Buck" Bellows at quarter. Last year he was the object of much undue criticism, but as the season advanced he worked into favor as a general, and in the last game of the season at Chicago put up a good exhibition.

His only competition will come in the presence of Taylor, sub-quarter last year, Booth, and McCrory, the latter directing the plays of the freshmen last year.

Leo Cummings, who played a half in most of the games last season, will be back. The other half and reserves will undoubtedly be selected from Weimer, the La Crosse boy who kept out of the game last year on account of an injured knee, and Finn, Glavers, and Schrum from the ranks of the 1917 team. As candidates for the end position the first practice will find Stavrum, Mitchell and Tomasek, 1917 men, in suits.

The real problem will come in the filling of Tandberg's place at fullback; Mike Davies, the most likely candidate, is ineligible which leaves the position open to Kreuz, a youngster from Menominee, Mich., and Hoyt Clayton, sub-fullback on the 1912 team.

CHURCH BEATS R. N. WILLIAMS

Princeton Tennis Player Defeats National Champion Brilliantly.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—George M. Church, captain of the Princeton tennis team, and state champion of Delaware, surprised the tennis world yesterday and wresting the inter-collegiate championship from R. Norris Williams II, the title-holder, and national champion.

Church defeated Williams three heats out of four in the final match of the thirty-fourth annual tournament of the Inter-Collegiate Lawn Tennis association, played on the courts of the Mexican Cricket club at Haverford. It was a thrilling battle from start to finish and save in the third set, when he was obviously very tired, Church outplayed and outwitted Williams.

Church's victory gives Princeton a "leg" on the new challenge cup, first put up for competition last year, when Harvard won both the singles and doubles events.

With only ten minutes' rest, Church returned to the courts and, paired with A. M. Kidder of Princeton, won a semi-final round doubles match from Rowland and Disston of the University of Pennsylvania. This victory entitles Church and Kidder to meet R. Norris Williams II, and Richard Harte of Harvard in the final match for the doubles championship today.

NORTHERN STARS HERE.

Metropoles to Meet Pike Lake Team at Desmond Park.

Those who have not as yet received their fill of baseball will have the opportunity to witness a game today between the Metropoles, an aggregation composed of Northern league stars, and the Pike Lake team at Desmond park.

Withers, Ford, Croake, Ward, Brokaw, Persch, McGraw, Matts and Cy Dahlgren are some of the players with the Northern league aggregation. Darby O'Brien will umpire the contest. The Pike Lake team is said to contain some real ball players.

PINE RIVER CALCIMINES FAST BRAINERD TEAM.

Pine River, Minn., Sept. 19.—The fast Brainerd ball team was shut out by the Pine River team at Pequot yesterday. Score 8 to 0. Victor for Brainerd, was batted out of the box in the seventh, and was replaced by Cook. Bowman for Pine River, pitched wonderful ball, holding Brainerd to three hits. Brainerd's only chance to score, in the ninth, was cut off by a fast double play, pitcher to first, first to home. Each team is now credited with a shut-out against the other.

Nerve-Racking Match.

Glen Cove, N. Y., Sept. 19.—In the most exciting match of the week's play of the woman's national golf championship on the Nassau Country club's links, Miss Elane V. Rosenthal of Chicago defeated Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, champion of the Philadelphia district, by 1 up yesterday. A missed putt of scarcely three feet at the home hole by Mrs. Barlow lost her the match after a nerve-racking round. Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson of Boston outplayed Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia and won rather easily by 2 and 1 in the other semi-final.

The Motor World

SMALLER MODEL BY WILLYS' FIRM

Five-Passenger Touring Car Will Be Offered for $850.

While the news has been circulated in the automobile trade that the Willys-Overland company would build a smaller model in addition to the Model 80 during the coming season, the detailed information comes as a distinct surprise to the public.

Apart from the general characteristics of the Overland Model 81, as this most recent achievement of John N. Willys is known, the feature most calculated to draw attention to the car is its price, $850. But of hardly less interest is the fact that at this price is offered a big five-passenger touring car which is electrically lighted and started, has four-inch tires and high tension magneto ignition, and is completely equipped in every respect. The roadster of the same model is $795.

That it follows in every essential detail the well known characteristics of Overland construction is a point in its favor. It is quite on a structural par with the larger model, details of which were announced a short time ago. The tremendous production of the large Overland factory, coupled with standardization of the car throughout has enabled the company to offer an unusually high value for this exceptionally low price.

The body is of the fashionable streamline design. The radiator shell consisting of a single stamping, joins its curve admirably to the gradual slope of the engine hood and cowl. Concealed hinges and inside handles of the doors eliminate all unsightly projections and leave the exterior of the car entirely smooth. The doors have been made extraordinarily wide while the roomy seats have high, comfortable backs. Deep upholstering adds materially to the riding comfort and appearance of the body, which is finished in a rich Brewster green with striping of ivory white.

The Model 81 Overland comes complete in every detail. The standard equipment includes electric starter and generator, storage battery, electric head, side, tail and dash lamps, electric horn, wind-shield, of the double ventilating, rain-vision type, top, top cover, tool kit, speedometer, demountable rims with one extra rim, tire carriers, jack and pump.

KISSEL KAR "SIX" NOT ADVANCED

Agent Says Price for 1915 Will Not Be Higher.

"The Kissel Kar 48-'six' is the only one of the leading medium weight 'sixes' first introduced last year that has not been increased in price for the 1915 season," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the Kissel Kar.

"Yet the latest series of this car has many more expensive features, including a wonderful new 4 by 5½ Kissel-built motor, a new and original body design, a new type of spring guaranteed against center breakage, a new vacuum fuel feed system, a new automatic spark advance installation and a lot of other refinements.

"Here is, in my mind, the conspicuous value among so-called medium weight 'sixes,' and I am willing to have it compared point by point with higher-priced cars to test my opinion. I cannot conceive of a man wanting any more car or getting any more car, no matter what he pays, unless he wants an extremely high-powered car such as the Kissel Kar 60-'six.'

"The 48-'six' is furnished with the popular two-door body and the detachable sedan top for winter use, just as in the case of the 36-'four,' which, by the way, is establishing a new Kissel record for fall sales."

WAR LORDS SEE VALUE OF TRUCK

Willys Says Rulers Supplied Themselves With Proper Equipment.

Interesting light is thrown on the methods adopted by the French and German governments to subsidize motor trucks for military uses, by John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company and builder of the Garford and Willys utility trucks. Mr. Willys has just returned from London, Eng., where he remained several weeks after leaving the continent shortly before the actual opening of hostilities.

"The war lords of Europe early foresaw the superiority of the motor truck over horse-drawn vehicles as a means of transportation," says Mr. Willys. "This statement is verified by the precautions they took to reserve the right to use large batteries of heavy duty vehicles purchased for commercial use by private individuals or corporations. They realized that in case of war the manufacture of automobiles on their side of the Atlantic would be at a standstill. Consequently they adopted measures to assure themselves of the proper motor equipment even under such straits.

"The German army administration was induced to take up the question of motor truck transportation with a dual purpose in mind. The authorities desired to secure an efficient method of hauling supplies in the event of war and of preventing the blockading of military roads with horse-drawn vehicles when they desired them open for the movements of troops.

"It was practically impossible for the army authorities to maintain a sufficiently large quantity of uniform motor trucks, not because of the initial cost of the vehicles, but also because of the impossibility of keeping under the flag in times of peace a large enough number of skilled chauffeurs to operate the trucks.

"These considerations led to the tender of subsidies of such substantial importance as to encourage the purchase of motor trucks by private concerts under conditions which would enable the government at any time to draft them for army purposes with the certainty that in the meanwhile they would be kept in perfect running condition and provided with a properly trained chauffeur."

THERMO-SYPHON SYSTEM.

Haynes Agent Discusses Process Sometimes Used By Autoists.

"The thermo-syphon system of cooling is used in some cases when an attempt is made to cut down the selling price of a car, but it seems to be that it is not the most reliable system to meet all the conditions that the motor car is subjected to," said M. W. Turner, distributor in this territory for the Haynes, America's first car. "The thermo-syphon system depends directly upon the difference in temperatures of the water at different points of the system. As the motor warms up, the hot water rises to the top and flows to the highest point of the system which should be the top of the radiator, and the cooler water flows in from the bottom of the radiator and up through the water jacket of the motor to take the place of the hot water.

"This action is due to the difference in density of warm and hot water—hot water is lighter and rises to the top, while cold water is heavier than warm water and sinks to the bottom. Of course, this system is the cheapest to use, but it is not positive, and the warmer the water becomes, the less effective it is. Extremely large pipes and passages must be provided for any success.

"The system using the centifrugal pump to force the water through the passages around the motor is the most satisfactory. Water is drawn from the bottom of the radiator by the pump, and actually driven through the water jackets regardless of the temperatures of either the water or the external air.

"The centrifugal pump is used in the cooling system of the Haynes Light Six cars in connection with a full cellular radiator. The water is spread out in thin films through the radiator so as to have the mavimum surface exposed for cooling. The cooling system is one of the important features that should be investigated before a car is purchased, for, if the cooling system gives trouble, little service is to be had from the car under any condition."

NEW MODELS ARE SHOWN

Styles of Cars for Next Year Now in the Salesrooms.

Although all American motor car manufacturers have not issued announcements as yet, those 1915 models now seen in local salesrooms give the motorist a fairly good line on the trend for the new season.

Light fours, light sixes, streamline bodies, one-man tops and more complete equipment throughout are the features predominating in the various offerings so far on the market, and it may reasonably be assumed that the lead of these early birds will be followed for the most part by the others. That a few surprises may still be sprung in 1915 models, however, is probable, as among those who have not announced their plans are several well-known manufacturers. There is a belief, however, that with one or two exceptions nothing radical is proposed.

One exception, at least, is a sufficiently startling departure to merit special notice at this time. This is an eight-cylinder motor to be produced by the Cadillac people. Two sets of four cylinders each in V-shape it is rumored, will be used. European makers have found the eight cylinders successful, but on the American market they will be an innovation.

The whole state of affairs this year is rather exceptional in that an extraordinary increase in the number of light fours of comparatively low price points toward, rather than away from, a simultaneous increase in light sixes. The trend toward the light four is brought about as a direct result of the growing popularity of the light six, to which indications have been pointing for several years.

This can be shown by tracing the demand insofar as number of cylinders and weight are concerned for the last five or six years. Not many years ago the popular demand from owners and dealers was for a four-cylinder car, equally strong for heavy high-priced fours and the cheaper lighter ones. Then the six was introduced and the dealers must have a six or a four.

Of all the features of mechanical equipment the one that has taken hold most rapidly is the new combination of vacuum and gravity fuel feed system, by which the fuel may be carried in a tank at the rear, but no pressure system needed to get it to the carburetor. This is particularly noted on the Cole.

Cantilever springs have shown a healthy gain in popularity, while right drive has received another blow in the announcement of the 1915 cars. Such steadfast supporters of the right-hand location of the steering wheel as Hupmobile and Overland have switched to the left side, as has the Stevens-Duryea, while the Locomobile has definitely abandoned its right-drive models.

TRADE HAS RAPID GROWTH.

Minnesota Makes Gain of 217 Per Cent in Four Years.

Minnesota made a gain of 217 per cent in automobiles during the last four years. Although this is not a record for nation, this state ranks sixteenth in automobile growth as compared with other states.

The following is the percentage of gain shown by each state since 1910: New Jersey, 35; California, 44; Wyoming, 44; Indiana, 62; Idaho, 81; Rhode Island, 85; South Dakota, 91; Massachusetts, 97; New Hampshire, 106; Maine, 111; New York, 112; Pennsylvania, 112; New Mexico, 115; Colorado, 117; Connecticut, 121; Arkansas, 130; Louisiana, 130; Vermont, 141; North Dakota, 155; Ohio, 161; South Carolina, 161; Delaware, 165; Alabama, 170; Georgia, 170; Utah, 170; District of Columbia, 176; Montana, 187; Missouri, 189; Nowa, 196; Mississippi, 200; Michigan, 201; Virginia, 201; Kentucky, 214; Minnesota, 217; Wisconsin, 220; Oregon, 238; Illinois, 240; Tennessee, 240; Nebraska, 252; Nevada, 271; Oklahoma, 274; Washington, 302; West Virginia, 308; Arizona, 350; Florida, 350; North Carolina, 356; Maryland, 398; Texas, 452; Kansas, 520.

MAKES 1,000 CARS DAILY.

Ford Company Has Enormous Average for Working Year.

Detroit, Sept. 19.—A thousand cars a day for 306 days. Excluding Sundays and holidays, this constitutes the "working year."

This is the production schedule of the Ford Motor company.

That is a production of 306,000 Ford cars for the year. That promises the minimum production of 300,000 cars upon which the Ford Motor company insures each purchaser of a Ford car, between Aug. 1, 1914, and Aug. 1, 1915, a share in the company's profits to the extent of $40 to $60 per car.

The surprising and the unprecedented feature of the Ford schedule, to most people, is that any automobile company can calmly and confidently plan its daily production a year, or even three months, in advance—much as if it were bread or some other staple that is being made and sold.

"The Ford is not subject to the condition and laws of the rest of the automobile industry," said an officer of the Ford Motor company. "Unlike all other cars, the Ford car is not considered as just a luxury. It is considered an economic necessity. I suppose no more bread is sold and eaten in April than in October. The demand for bread is constant. So is the demand for Ford cars. In periods of business depression we economize in our luxuries. It is the market for high—or higher—priced cars that falters then. The citizen, moved to economizing, buys less expensive clothes, cigars, hats, gloves, candy and motor cars. But he goes right on buying bread and shoes and clothes and Ford cars—because these are necessities. These are staples.

"For such reasons the Ford Motor company, the only one among the motor car manufacturers of the world which can safely plan a daily production a year in advance, simply because the demand for Ford cars and the market for Ford cars are unchanging."

CARS GO TO GREECE.

Consignment of Fifty Kissel Kars Leaves the Factory.

Fourteen freight car loads of one and one-half ton Kessel Kar trucks left the plant of the Kissel Motor Car company at Hartford last Thursday, consigned to the government of Greece.

This was the first installment of an order for fifty of these vehicles, placed by the Grecian minister to the United States, Agamemnon Schleimann.

It has been persistently rumored that these trucks are not really intended for the Greeks, but were bought for one of the present active combatants in the European war. This is denied by those who are best informed in the matter, and strong color is given to the denial by the presence at the Kissel plant for several days of Lieut. E. Pappayanni of the Greek army, who, with an American engineer, made some final tests over the Wisconsin hills.

Each of the trucks had to be boxed for export, and it is estimated that the amount of lumber required to enclose the whole order would build three ordinary frame houses.

It is understood that the Kissel Kar trucks are but a part of an entire shipload of American goods bought by the Greeks. Speculation is current as to whether Greece is getting ready for a war of defense against Turkey, which in turn is declared to be getting ready to join Germany and Austria against the Tripie Entente.

ALL DAY ON LOW GEAR.

Franklin Dealers Will Make Severe Test Sept. 24.

All day on low gear! To drive a motor car all day on low gear is a severe test for the engine, and of course it is a trying experience to the driver and the passengers. The engine speed is necessarily very high in order to make any car speed whatever. Due to this high engine speed, there is a very great inertia of the reciprocating parts, which puts a heavy load on all bearings of the engine which are stressed. The most severe work, however, comes on the cooling system.

If anyone has tried to drive on low gear for any length of time, they will realize that the general result is that the motor gets very warm. The reason for this is the fact that the motor is developing large power, and no cooling effect is being obtained from the speed of the car. All the cooling must come from the cooling system itself. The heavier the road, the bigger the power required and the harder it is on the engine and cooling system.

On Sept. 24 Franklin dealers throughout the United States and Canada will make a 100-mile demonstration on low gear. It will be a non-stop contest and officially observed and certified to. More than 200 different cars, in as many different sections of the country, will make the test. It is a broad commercial method of showing what direct air cooling does.

ALL DAY ON LOW GEAR.

Franklin Company Will Make Test Run Sept. 24.

Individual laboratory tests of motors under the supervision of skilled engineers, and road tests with special drivers, have all been used to prove the value of different constructions and other features of automobiles for a long time.

A broad commercial demonstration.

All Day on Low Gear

Franklin Nation-Wide 100-Mile Low Gear Non-Stop Cooling Demonstration

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1914

RULES OF THE RUN

Another nation-wide demonstration of Franklin superiority.

A simultaneous 100-mile low gear non-stop cooling demonstration by Franklin dealers, throughout the United States and Canada.

This is the second nation-wide test by Franklin dealers. The first was the National Economy Run on May 1, 1914, when 94 stock Franklin Six-Thirty touring cars averaged 32.8 miles on one gallon of gasoline.

The whole automobile world will watch this test, for wherever automobiles are used it is admitted that direct air-cooling, if it cools, is the one desirable system.

Saves money working but one hour daily

A motor truck ordinarily proves its value through ability to keep going, but here is a case where a 1500 lb. KisselKar Truck is operated only one hour a day and still proves an economical substitute for horses.

The truck below is in the service of the Citizens Telephone Exchange of Sheboygan, Wis. Six installation and repair men start out on it every morning. These men work in two, and often in three squads, and the truck has made it possible for them to average 7½ hours actual work every day regardless of the time spent in coming and going. With horses doing but four miles an hour, it took three rigs to take care of the same haulage duty, besides entailing a much greater loss of time in transit.

KISSELKAR TRUCKS

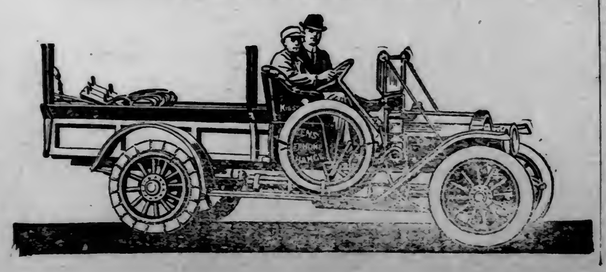

Solves the Distance Factor—A KisselKar Truck will work twenty-four hours. In taking the place of horses it substitutes precicion for uncertainty. Weather conditions will not affect it—no exhaustion from heat, no ills from exposure to cold. It solves the distances factor, widening trade territory and increasing customer-satisfaction. It is a token of progress, the best possible advertisement of up-to-dateness, permanency and reliability. Six sizes in 1500 lbs., 1, 1½, 2½, 3½ and 6 tons.

KisselKar Service—KisselKar Trucks are sold under a guarantee that specifies just what KisselKar Service Stations are pledged to do to relieve owners of mechanical detail and keep down running costs.

Pleasing, Distinctive Lines

When you see the "Master Six" Touring Car you will be struck by its unusual but pleasing lines. Along the gracefully curved upper edge of the body is a wide, decorative band extending all the way round. The bonnet tapers gently forward to the handsome rounded radiator. The filler cap has been hidden under the bonnet.

Doors are very wide and fit flush, without moldings. The tonneau is exceptionally roomy, with collapsible Pullman seats.

Mechanically this car is a new model of the "Master Six" that made the most noteworthy success of the 1914 season. With 1915 refinements, it offers even more than ever the limit of luxury in motor car manufacture.

The 1915 model will have the same power plant and practically the same chassis features which gave the 1914 "Master Six" the reputation of being one of America's greatest motor cars.

The price of the 7-passenger "Master Six" for 1915 has been increased to $2400, the additional charge representing the actual cost of the added features and increased quality.

Like all Chalmers cars this new model is designed for lasting and satisfactory service. They are heavy where weight is needed; but do not carry a superfluous pound. In proportion to power, as economical as any. Heavy enough to be safe in any emergency, comfortable on any road.

such as has now been decided upon by the Franklin Automobile company, is a great averaging of all conditions of cars, drivers, roads, weather, etc. They propose on Sept. 24 to run all day on low gear, the demonstration to be made by all Franklin dealers throughout the United States and Canada. They are to run for 100 miles without stopping the engine, and each test is to be officially certified to by prominent automobile and press officials. A stock car will be used in each case, and the regular lubrication. The oil and gasoline are to be measured, as well as the time taken to make the run.

From the standpoint of averaging conditions, this type of demonstration shows the real value of any particular car or device more than any other method of testing.

This severe test is being made to show what direct air cooling will do.

MOTOR CAR HELPS IMPROVE ROADS

Federal Bulletin Shows Remarkable Progress During Year.

The big part played by the motor car in developing the roads of the country is apparent from a recent bulletin from the United States department of agriculture.

"If anyone has doubted the beneficent effect of the automobile on the roads of the nation, he has only to study this report," says H. H. Pinney, vice-president of the Chalmers Motor company.

"For instance the 1913 contribution of the motor car to good roads was $7,320,895. This was by direct taxation on cars. In Michigan, over one-half the entire state expenditure for better roads came from the motorists. Alabama automobile revenues were over half the state investment in good roads. In Delaware they were 80 per cent. In Illinois about 60 per cent. nearly half the states did notable road improvement and still retained a working fund for 1914 on what the motorists paid.

"The government report shows that 1913 expenditure for better roads is more than two and one-half times as great as in 1904. This wonderfully increased interest in better roads is plainly attributable to the widespread use of motor cars. The government bulletin shows a direct proportion between the use of motor cars and road improvement. New York, for example, is the only state deriving over a million dollars revenue from motor cars—and 21.5 per cent of all New York roads are improved. New Jersey has 30.3 per cent of all roads improved and stands high in automobile revenues, $636,543. Western states do not rank quite as high but their good roads work increases in direct ratio to the increased use of motor cars.

"And this promotion of better roads which follows the motor car is by no means selfish. At a recent convention of the American Good Roads Congress, Mr. Chalmers made the point that good farms and good towns are usually on good roads. The two seem to go together. And the reason is that good roads so greatly reduce the cost of hauling that the greater building up of the territory and better profits from farming are natural results.

"It has taken the motor car to stimulate interest in good roads in this country. The United States is a peaceful nation, and peaceful nations are slow to recognize the economic necessity of good roads. The warring nations almost invariably have good roads, at least between all principal centers of population. That is because good roads are necessary to the rapid handling of troops. It has taken a long time to find an agent of peace which was effective in showing the need of better roads. But the motor car has accomplished that purpose as is evident from the department of agriculture bulletin showing the vast increase in good road work in this country since 1904, the time when automobiles began to stand high in the public favor.

"Experts in transportation and road building are agreed that good roads work will increase steadily each year, along with the wider use of motor cars. In fact, the department of agriculture estimates a 10 per cent increase in expenditures for good roads in 1914, based, I believe, largely on the wider use of automobiles."

NO CHANGES IN FORDS.

Cars Will Be Same in 1915, But $60 Cheaper.

In construction and equipment no change has been announced for the Ford car of 1915, the makers looking to the present sturdy growth and high efficiency of their output to maintain the popularity it has won, but a $60 cut in price has been announced that will doubtless do much to increase the already enormous sale of Ford cars throughout the country. This reduction makes the touring car $565 and the roadster $515.

The profit-sharing plan announced by the Ford factory has also occasioned considerable comment among automobile dealers. The offer is this: If 300,000 Ford cars are sold within the next year, between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, the factory will pay as a share of its profits between $40 to $60 to every Ford purchaser.

Many dealers are inclined to scoff a this offer, declaring the Ford people know they will not make such gigantic sales, but study of past increases in the sales of the Ford company show this not only possible, but probable. For instance, in 1912 there were 76,150 Ford cars sold, in 1913 186,000 and this year 221,888 cars were sold. The increase in 1915 to bring th number up to the 300,000 mark is but a nominal one considering the record increases of former years, and Ford agents are eager to wager that mark will be reached.

What makes one scoff at the possibility of the company being called upon to make good its offer is the fact that in case that nnmber of cars is sold the profits to be distributed throughout the country will amount to practicaly $15,000,000, and yet in view of the fact that the company would receive on such a sale $120,000,000 or better this rebate is not so big as it appears. The advertising worth of this offer must also be considered.

1915 MODELS DISPLAYED.

Distributers Usher in Motor Car Season This Week.

Displaying their many new and attractive models, the majority of the automobile distributers of this city are ushering in the 1915 motor car season this week.

Show rooms have been rearranged and in many cases especially decorated for the festive occasion; prompt and courteous salesmen are on the alert ready to show and explain the new features that the new year has introduced, and outside of the various establishments a well-oiled demonstrating car with a tank filled with gasoline is standing ready to give any and every kind of a demonstration that the most reasonable or most unreasonable "prospect" can demand.

Prospects Are Bright.

There is an extremely optimistic feeling around Duluth's automobile row and it is the consensus of opinion among the managers of the different motor car firms that the 1915 season will be an even better one than the one just closed.

Several facts are pointed out to prove this. In the first place, the models are much more attractive in appearance, as is to be expected, and offer a greater value than ever before. In the second place they have arrived early, which will permit of as brisk a fall selling season as could possibly be enjoyed in the spring of other years when the new models did not begin to arrive until after the rainy season set in.

This is only the middle of September and three months of touring can yet be had by purchasers of the new cars before the roads become too muddy, so there is no reason why they should wait until spring. By buying now, they can use their car until this time next fall before there will be any depreciation in the car's value due to it being a year-old model.

Then again, those who first intend to dispose of their old cars before purchasing new ones can do so easier now than during the winter months for their buyer will also have the additional time this fall to enjoy his machine.

AUTO SCHOOL OPENS EARLIER THAN EXPECTED

The Y. M. C. A. automobile school will reopen next Monday night at Healy's garage, 309 East Michigan street. The opening is earlier than was intended, but the requests for the course have been coming in so insistently that it was decided to hurry the beginning. The number of students admitted to this class is limited in order to give each man ample personal instruction, and the full quota is almost reached despite the fact that no notice has been given of the coming opening until now.

It is noted in this connection that every man who completed his course last year, aside from auto owners—of whom there was a large number—and who sought a position, has one. Several have written A. L. Turner, educational secretary of the Y. M. C. A., regarding their new positions, one saying that he was a laborer before he took last year's auto course, and is now a chauffeur getting double his former wages.

The course is a thoroughly practical one, the students dismantling and reassembling cars under the personal direction of a mechanical expert.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

Will R. Pitman, commonly known throughout the world of motorcycledom as "Happy Days" Pitman, is to be the guest of honor at an old-timers' motorcycle dinner on Sept. 26 in Little Hungary, N. Y.

Perhaps no one man has done more for the sport of bicycling and motorcycling than Pitman. Attracted to the possibilities of the bicycle when the industry was in its infancy, he was one of the first to learn to operate the two-wheeler, and won one of the first bicycle races ever staged in this country. This was in 1869. He was also a member of the first bicycle club and was the first bicycle salesman. When the gasoline propelled bicycle put in an appearance, Pitman was among the first to ride. He was also a charter member of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, an organization which in ten short years has attained a membership of more than 29,000.

A. B. Coffman, newly elected president of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, expects to go from Toledo to New York to attend the dinner, and many other men well known in the motorcycle and bicycle world will be present.

Plans are being made in Baltimore for the formation of a state motorcycle militia company. There are about 3,000 motorcyclists in Maryland, the majority of which are in Baltimore, and it is believed that a full regiment of 1,200 riders could be furnished. While arrangements for the organization are not completed, it is the plan that the cyclists will wear regulation khaki suits for actual service, but have special uniforms for reviews and parades. It is also expected that each company will have its own motorcycle mounted band, the musicians riding on the rear seats of the two-wheelers.

• • •

A lone motorcycle officer of Los Angeles recently frustrated a plot to smuggle into this country a party of Chinese. John Wicklund, the motorcyclist, saw the Orientals landed from a launch, and when they entered an automobile and started for the city, Wicklund immediately gave pursuit. He succeeded in arresting eighteen of the Chinese and two members of a supposed smuggling syndicate.

Jack Leonard of Caledonia, Can., has enlisted in the Canadian motorcycle corps, which is planning to go to the aid of England.

Henry N. Martin of Los Angeles has started on a motorcycle trip, in which he expects to cover 20,000 miles.

Probably the oldest motorcyclist in Canada is W. M. Greenwood, who has been an enthusiastic rider for the past ten years.

Motorcyclists of England are willing and anxious to turn over their machines to the defense of their country. A recent picture taken in London shows long lines of motorcyclists waiting to enlist as dispatch riders in the English army.

NATION-WIDE LOW GEAR TEST

Franklin Dealers Will Hold Eyes of Auto World Thursday.

Another nation-wide demonstration of the Franklin car is planned for next Thursday.

A simultaneous 160-mile low gear non-stop cooling demonstration by Franklin dealers throughout the United States and Canada is planned.

This is the second nation-wide test by Franklin dealers. The first was the national economy run on May 1, 1914, when ninety-four stock Franklin Sixthirty touring cars averaged 32.8 miles on one gallon of gasoline.

The whole automobile world will watch this test, for wherever automobiles are used it is admitted that direct air-cooling, if it cools, is the one desirable system.

The rules of the demonstration, which will be in charge of Joseph Peacha, Jr., local agent for the Franklin car, follow:

Run to be made in the Franklin Sixthirty touring car, roadster, sedan, coupe, or limousine, the roadster and coupe will be used only where impossible to obtain other cars, as but one observer can be carried.

Run to be made Thursday, Sept. 24, regardless of weather and road conditions, and to start at 8 a. m.

The run to be supervised or observed by two or more disinterested persons, one or more to be representatives of the press, and one to be an officer of the local automobile club if possible.

The run to be attested before a notary public per form herewith.

Record to be made of time run starts and ends.

Car to be absolutely stock and have no special attachments, adjustments or arrangements of any kind.

Engine to be kept running throughout the demonstration.

Cooling system is not to be touched or supplied with anything during the run.

Engine to depend entirely on normal lubrication. No oil to be supplied during the run, and no oil to be put in the gasoline.

Check speedometer reading and set trip register at zero at the beginning of the run in order to be sure of making 100 miles.

Hood not to be raised during the run.

Drain out all the oil before the run and measure the oil you put in. Then measure the oil left at the end of the run and report amount used.

Fill the gasoline tank full. At end of run drain tank and report the amount used.

Run to be accomplished within ten hours from the start.

Speed to average for the 100 miles not less than ten miles per hour. To do this, maintain a speed between ten and thirteen miles all the time.

A time limit of ten hours is made in order that there can be no charge of favoring the engine by slow running. In going 100 miles on low gear in ten hours, each cylinder fires the same number of times as in going 336 miles on high gear.

GERMAN RESERVISTS TAKEN FROM VESSEL.

New York, Sept. 18.—The Dutch steamer Commewijne, from Cartagena and other ports in South and Central America, was stopped and searched off Ambrose channel lightship this forenoon by the British cruiser Lancaster. Twenty-seven men whom the British officers decided were German reservists were taken off the ship and transferred to the cruiser.

The prisoners were informed that they would probably be sent to detention camps in Canada.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

School Year Opened at All-University Convocation Wednesday.

Early Reports Indicate an Increase in Registration Figures.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 19.—(Special to the Herald.)—The school year of 1914-15 was officially opened at the All-University convocation held Wednesday noon in the armory. Three thousand students gathered together, representing each college of the university, from the hundreds of the academic college to the mere handful from the graduate school, which is still in its infancy. The program was opened by Dr. Freeman of St. Marks church with the invocation, which was followed by the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." Following immediately President Vincent rose and presented President Emeritus Folwell, who was the first president of the university. Next came the roll call of the different colleges, with the presentation of Dean Johnston and other new members of the faculty. President Vincent then delivered an address of welcome to the new students, and Dr. Powell closed with a word of prayer.

New Buildings Opened.

The start of the university year is marked by the opening of one new and two remodeled buildings, and the laying of the foundations of a fourth. The new home of the chemistry department started last fall, and now occupied, but not entirely completed, is ranked as one of the finest and most completely equipped buildings in the country devoted entirely to chemistry. The College of Education has moved into its new location in the remodeled mines building on the river bank, back of the law building. The Men's union, now housed in the old chemistry building, is occupying the other remodeled building. Work has started on the big hole beside the chemistry building, between it and the river, and foundations have been started for a new mines building, which will be a model of its kind.

Grades of Fraternity Men.

In pursuance of the usual plan of the inter-fraternity council, the registrar has compiled a table of grades of all fraternity men. The general level of standing seems to be somewhat higher than last year, and it is believed that the publication of standings has brought forth greater endeavor on the part of the fraternity men. Acacia, Delta Upsilon and Delta Kappa Epsilon are the leaders in scholastic attainment.

The sororities have a much higher average than their Greek brother. In this group Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Gamma Delta and Gamma Phi Beta are the leaders.

Increased Attendance.

Early reports from the registrar's office seem to indicate that the registration figures are going to show considerable increase over last year in all colleges and classes of the university. Approximately 1,000 students will be enrolled in the freshmen class, the academies leading the other colleges in number.

An innovation on the campus that gave the men students more intense pleasure than any other of the opening day, was the serving of the first lunch in the new men's building. For the first time in the history of the university, provision has been made for giving meals to men students in a campus building under university supervision.

The university cadets, who have been in camp for a week at Fort Snelling, returned to the university Tuesday for the opening of the school year. The camp ended the connection of the commandant, Lieut. Woolnough of the regular army with the university, and he leaves next week to rejoin his regiment at Vancouver barracks. He will be succeeded at Minnesota by Maj. Butts, who had charge of the cadet corps for the three years preceding Lieut. Woolnough's regime.

Symphony Orchestra.

Due to the long felt need of some orchestra organization at the university, the department of music has instituted a symphony orchestra to be composed of students, graduate students and members of the faculty. Prof. Donald Ferguson, instructor in theory of music and piano, has been given charge of the organization. Further it has been announced that the administration of the academic college will aid the movement by allowing all juniors and seniors of that college one credit for the symphony work. The formation of such an orchestra calls for sixty instruments, including sixteen violins, four violas, four cellos, and four double bass.

Lee Giddings of Duluth has pledged Alpha Delta Phi.

PROGRESSIVES END CONVENTION

Illinoisans Adopt Platform in Harmony With Views of Roosevelt.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 19.—The Progressive state convention adopted a platform yesterday in harmony with the views of Col. Roosevelt and the party leaders in Illinois, and closed with an impassioned address by Raymond Robins, the party's nominee for the United States senate. Robins, speaking rapidly, but with evident feeling, discussed political, social, and economic conditions as they have impressed him from the varied angles of his career as bricklayer, coal miner, business man, lawyer, Klondike fortune hunter, economist, settlement worker and lay missionary. Early in his address he brought his remarks up to date by a resume of what he considers the political situation today. Discussing the Republican party first he said:

"Barnes is in full command in New York. Penrose has just won the primary in Pennsylvania, Harding in Ohio (the same Harding who seconded Taft's nomination in the stolen convention) is at the helm. Reactionary Curtis has just beaten Progressive Bristow in Kansas; Standpat Burke has beaten Crawford in South Dakota; Conservative Fredricks has just defeated Liberal Keesling in California; the Watson-Fairbanks machine is in full control in Indiana, while here in Illinois the revolving standpatter Showan, flanked by Cannon and McKinley and backed by Rodenburg, is the leader of the Taft Republicans. Out of forty-eight states in the Union the master machinists of the stolen convention are in full control of what remains of the Republican party."

NAME TRUSTEES FOR UNIVERSITY

Democrats of Illinois Also Adopt Platform at State Convention.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 18.—The Democratic state convention was held here yesterday for the purpose of adopting a party platform and nominating three candidates for trustees of the University of Illinois.

Speeches were made by Temporary Chairman Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton; Governor Edward F. Dunne, permanent chairman; Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic nominee for United States senator, and State Senator W. Ruff Piercy of Mount Vernon. Each praised the national administration and urged united support to the entire ticket this fall.

The platform, the result of joint efforts of Governor Dunne, Roger C. Sullivan, and Congressman Rainey praised the national and state Democratic administrations and indorsed President Wilson for renomination.

Enactment of initiative and referendum, regulation of private banks and abolishment of the state board of equalization and the substitution therefore for a state tax commission, are planks in the platform.

For trustees of the state university the following were named:

Robert R. Ward, Benton; Henry W. Huttman, Chicago; and Robert F. Carr, Highland Park.

WILL LOOK AFTER PUPILS' HEALTH

Three Doctors and Three Nurses Will Inspect Schools.

Drs. Grawn, Andres and Nicholson will have charge of the medical inspection of Duluth's public schools this year. They will be assisted by three nurses, Miss Gamble, Miss Beckman and Miss McIntosh. The schedule of inspection has been so arranged that the large schools will be visited frequently while the smaller ones will be inspected at longer intervals. The schedule that has been prepared is as follows:

Dr. Andres and Miss Gamble on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, will visit the Lincoln, Jackson and Irving schools, respectively; on alternate Thursdays they will visit the Ely and Emerson, and on alternate Fridays the Lakeside and Nettleton. Once a month they will conduct an examination in the Cobb, Lowell and Whittier, and once a year in the Radisson, Gary and Kruger schools.

Inspection in the Washington, Jefferson and Franklin schools will be conducted on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, respectively, by Dr. Grawn and Miss Beckman. The Washington and Endion will be visited by them on alternate Thursdays, and the Ensign and Salter on alternate Fridays; the Munger, Oneota and Webster, once a month, the Bay View, Colbyville and Fond du Lac, once a year.

Dr. Nicholson and Miss McIntosh will inspect the Adams, Lowell and Bryant schools on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, respectively; the Merritt and Monroe on alternate Thursdays; the Lester Park and Fairmont on alternate Fridays; the Kenwood, Smithville and Morgan Park, once a year, and the New Duluth and Madison once a month.

TEMPERANCE AN ASSET TO HEALTH

Evangelist White Says Nature's Laws Must Be Obeyed.

"Health and Temperance" was the subject last night at the Bible Chautauqua tent on West Second street near the Y. M. C. A., where Evangelist Semple White spoke.

His text was: "Beloved I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth." "The laws of nature are as inviolate," said the speaker, "as the laws of God; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. One can no more violate the laws that make for health, and still remain immune from its penalties, than could one wilfully jump from the top of the aerial bridge to the stone below and not get injured."

After speaking of the blessings of pure air, pure water, wholesome food, proper, warm and comfortable dress, active and legitimate employment, with the proper amount of needed rest, Mr. White spoke of the world-wide evils of liquor and tobacco.

Mr. White will speak Sunday night on "Disarmament, in the Light of the Holy Scriptures."

TRIP UP GREAT RIVER OF CHINA

Interesting Expedition By Two Gunboats of American Navy.

Shanghai, Sept. 19.—Destined for one of the most interesting expeditions taken by vessels of the American navy, the two little sister gunboats, Palos and Monocacy, commissioned on June 25 at Shanghai, left here recently and are now at Hankow, 600 miles up the Yangtsze river. This fall, after performing patrol duty on the Lower Yangtsze, they will start upon a trip which will take them above Chunking, almost 2,000 miles up China's great river and almost to the borders of Thibet, where the American flag flying over an American ship has never been seen before. The trip will be taken at "middle water" when the jutting rocks of the dangerous Yangtsze gorges have been submerged and before the river swollen by the rains has developed its great whirlpools and eddies which add great risks to navigation.

The gunboats—alike as two peas—are the first of the type built for the United States government. They have 190 tons designed displacement and a designed draft of 2 feet and 5 inches. They make 15 knots an hour, and with their four rudders answer their helm with remarkable alacrity. The ships were completely built at the government navy yard at Mare island, California, "knocked down" and erected at Shanghai. There are odd economies such as the shower bath on the forward deck and the cupboard under the Stars and Stripes astern, but the whole adaptation is for difficult river work and for defense. Numerous rifle loop holes peep from the armored cabins on deck, and the "heavy" armament consists of two six-pounders one fore and the other aft. A set of long bamboo poles is a unique part of the defensive equipment. Their intended use is the repelling of pirates, who have a way of drifting down upon a ship in their unwieldly junks and swarming over the sides upon the surprised crew. The ships carry crews of fifty men. In command of the Monocacy is Lieut. A. F. Carter, and of the Palos Lieut. Rohershef. It is the intention of the officers to gather hydrographic and topographic data on their trip up the Yangtsze.

CAPT. BARTLETT AND PARTY ARE AT NOME.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—J. S. Desbarats, deputy minister of naval affairs, today received a telegram from Capt. Bartlett, who was in command of Stefansson's lost Arctic exploring ship Karluk, announcing that he and the eight members of the crew, who were rescued and transferred to the United States revenue cutter Bear, had arrived at Nome, Alaska.

The rescued men are John Munro, Robert Williamson, W. McKinley, F. W. Maurer, John Hubley, H. Williams, E. F. Chafe and R. Tepleman.

Capt. Bartlett said he would leave Nome with the party on Sept. 25, aboard the steamship Senator for Vancouver, B. C. From there they will proceed to Ottawa.

Central and Alumni Teams Clash on Gridiron—Two Central Players Badly Injured in Scrimmage—Agriculture Students Plan Work for the Year—Pupils Settle Down to Steady Work.

This week was given over to the rearrangement of conflicts in studies by Principal Leonard Young and Miss Taylor. Next week will be devoted to adjustment of classes. All changes of program must be authorized by both.

Absences will be recorded from now on. Excuses must be brought from home before a student can make up his work.

The Girls' Glee club, to be formed by Mrs. Vincent, will meet for the first time Monday after school.

Senior class meetings will begin next Monday.

A weakened football team will be sent against the alumni today. Practice last night robbed the high school team of the services of Taylor, center, and Capt. Kern received an injury that may slow him up if not put him out of the game altogether.

In making a tackle Taylor received a bad gash over the eye. "Locky" is a good man and his loss will leave a big hole in the line.

Whitney Wall, manager of the alumni team, gave a short talk in chapel yesterday morning. He said he expected his team to beat Central, but forgetting he was an alumni for a minute, he said he wished the team the best success.

The lineup follows:

Central—Craig or Taylor, center; Hoopes or Osman, left guard; Peterson, Kearns, Rasmussen or Sullivan, right guard; Neff, left tackle; Warner, right tackle; Jentoft or Bartlett, left end; Mann, right end; Comstock or MacIntyre, quarter; O'Brien or Melander, fullback; Walsh or Lamson, left half; Kern or Lewis, right half.

MISTOOK DEPEW FOR ENGLISHMAN

French Soldiers Cheered Whenever They Saw His Sidewhiskers.

New York, Sept. 19.—Chauncey M. Depew, former United States senator for New York, arrived from Liverpool today on the Baltic.

"I was in Geneva when the trouble began," he said. "One morning I went to the bank and found I could get no money. I tried all the banks with the same result. I went back and told Mrs. Depew and her sister who was with us that something was pending and we had two hours to get a train. We got the train. It was the last that left Switzerland for three weeks.

"Twenty minutes after crossing the border into France we stopped at a station. There was a sign there about two feet square calling the troops for mobilization. The station agent said the notice had been posted about twenty minutes. We picked up men joining the colors on the way to Paris until our train could hold no more.

"Whenever I stuck my head out into a corridor the soldiers would set up a cheer on seeing my side whiskers. They mistook me for an Englishman and cried, in French, 'Long live the Entente Cordial.'

"We stayed in Paris a week and then left for Boulogne. We were obliged to crowd into a coach as best we could. I sat on the running board all the way."

EXPEDITION OFF FOR SOUTH POLE

Sir Ernest Shackleton and Party Leave London in Two Sections.

London, Sept. 19.—Sir Ernest Shackleton and the members of his trans-Atlantic-Antarctic expedition left London yesterday in two sections for the south polar regions. One half of the party headed by Sir Ernest Shackleton departed for South America, the other half of the expedition left for Ross Sea, on the New Zealand side of the Antarctic by way of Tasmania.

Sir Ernest hopes to meet the Ross Sea contingent in April of next year, or, failing in that by March of 1916.

The Shackleton section will have seventy dogs and also motor sledges. The other party will have twenty-six dogs.

One great difficulty that confronted the expedition was the lack of scientific instruments. These had been ordered in Germany but had not been delivered because of the war and it was necessary to replace them in England.

The Ross Sea party will board the exploration ship Aurora at Hobartstown, Tasmania.

Sir Ernest Shackleton hopes to leave Buenos Aires Oct. 18, by the ship Endurance, which is now en route to South America.

SPECIAL TRAIN IN NINTH DISTRICT

Hammond to Cover Northern Minnesota in Record Time.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 19.—The Democrats of the Ninth congressional district have promised to furnish the state committee with a special train to take W. S. Hammond, candidate for governor, and other party nominees through that section on a campaign tour.

This announcement was made by Senator Samuel D. Works, treasurer of the state organization, on his return from Crookston yesterday. The trip will be taken late in October.

Crookston to Warroad.

The special will start at Crookston and run through to Warroad on the Great Northern, stopping at all towns. Returning to Thief River Falls, a night meeting will be held, and the following day the train will be switched to the Soo line, running north through Karlstad and at St. Vincent the Great Northern main line south will be used through Hallock to Crookston, where a big night meeting is planned.

May Cross State.

From there it is hoped that arrangements can be made to continue over the Great Northern east across the state to Grand Rapids, stopping at Erskine, McIntosh, Fosston, Bagley, Bemidji, Cass Lake, Bena, Deer River and Cohasset.

From Grand Rapids the tour through the iron range will begin, and twenty-two towns in this district will be visited.

SOUTH DAKOTANS WANT FRENCH HORSES

Bordeaux, France, Sept. 19.—An American horse exporting firm of Sioux Falls, S. D., is trying, with the aid of John W. Garrett, minister to Argentina, who is now with the French government here, to have France remove the prohibition preventing shipment to the United States of Percherons for which the French army has no need. It is expected that the government will allow the shipment.

APPLE CROP FAR IN EXCESS OF LAST YEAR.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Present indications are that the commercial apple crop of the United States this year will be far in excess of that of last year, but less than that of 1912 by several million barrels, according to announcement made today by the department of agriculture. Department officials say the problem of distribution will be somewhat complex owing to conditions resulting from the European war.

To Visit Universities.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The Belgian commission which presented a petition to President Wilson protesting against alleged German atrocities, having finished its mission in Washington, will return to Belgium after visiting Columbia, Harvard, the University of Chicago and some other American universities.

The World's Telephones

More than 64% of all the world's telephones are in the United States. There were, on January 1, 1913, exactly 8,729,592 telephones in operation in the United States and only 4,821,282 in all the rest of the world.

Here are the latest telephone statistics:

Country	Population (Estimated 1913.)	Telephones (Jan. 1st, 1913.)	% of World's Telephones
United States	97,402,000	8,729,592	64.32
Germany	66,000,000	1,302,672	9.60
Great Britain	46,123,000	738,738	5.44
France	39,610,000	293,195	2.16
Sweden	5,604,000	217,544	1.60
All other nations	1,480,000,000	2,289,133	16.88

The wonderful telephone development has been built up in the United States because the people here get the most efficient telephone service in the world and get it at a less cost than the people of any other nation.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

It Is Difficult to Save Money.

While discussing the subject of money-saving with a friend, we both agreed that we ought to lay aside a little each week, considering that entire families were supplied with the necessities of life on an amount much less than our combined earnings. We had no one dependent on us and were forced to admit that it was not to our credit that we had no bank accounts.

We asked each other if either one considered the other extravagant in any particular, and invited criticism and suggestions for the betterment of our financial conditions. None were forthcoming, for it was quite apparent that we could save little if we attempted to hold our own with those in the same position in life.

We agreed that you must keep yourself presentable to earn your living; you must eat nourishing food in order to maintain your health, and your own self-respect demands that you have comfortable lodgings that are sanitary. But everyone of these costs money, and are becoming more and more expensive every day.

A fair average would save money if they could see their way clear to do so. But how to do this when it takes practically all you earn to keep you in a condition to appear in your place of business is the important question. It is all very well to talk about economizing, but whatever your position, you must maintain a certain standard of appearance. If you once become slovenly your place will most likely be filled by one who considered the matter of appropriate dressing of more importance than saving money. You cannot stint your food, as your health depends to a great extent upon proper food and comfortable surroundings.

I believe thoroughly in the virtue of saving money. I believe that more than half the people of this world could get along with very much less than they believe they need, and be better off now, and immeasurably better off in the future. I also know that there are thousands who would like to save money, who are naturally frugal and thrifty, by instinct and training, who only have enough to carry them along from week to week. It is not their fault that they cannot save money.

It is not so much that a man is not disposed to save money, and does not take the future into account in a great many cases, as if truthfully is that he has no opportunity to save.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

It Is Difficult to Save Money.

While discussing the subject of money-saving with a friend, we both agreed that we ought to lay aside a little each week, considering that entire families were supplied with the necessities of life on an amount much less than our combined earnings. We had no one dependent on us and were forced to admit that it was not to our credit that we had no bank accounts.

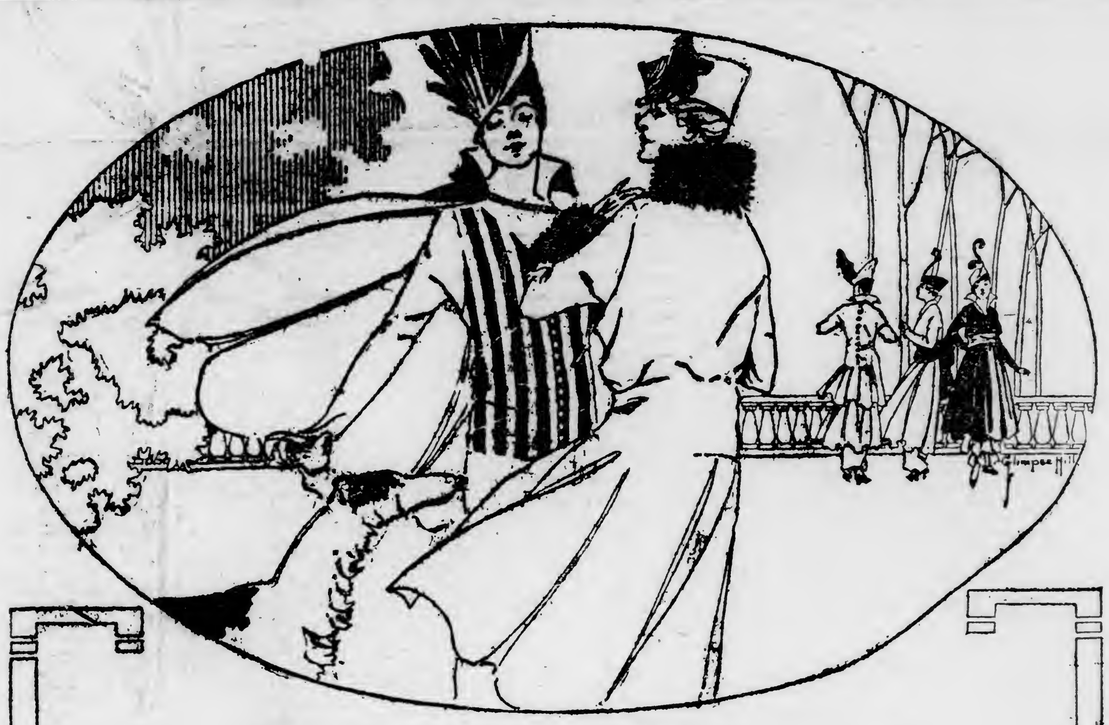

We asked each other if either one considered the other extravagant in any particular, and invited criticism and suggestions for the betterment of our financial conditions. None were forthcoming, for it was quite apparent that we could save little if we attempted to hold our own with those in the same position in life.

We agreed that you must keep yourself presentable to earn your living; you must eat nourishing food in order to maintain your health, and your own self-respect demands that you have comfortable lodgings that are sanitary. But everyone of these costs money, and are becoming more and more expensive every day.

A fair average would save money if they could see their way clear to do so. But how to do this when it takes practically all you earn to keep you in a condition to appear in your place of business is the important question. It is all very well to talk about economizing, but whatever your position, you must maintain a certain standard of appearance. If you once become slovenly your place will most likely be filled by one who considered the matter of appropriate dressing of more importance than saving money. You cannot stint your food, as your health depends to a great extent upon proper food and comfortable surroundings.

I believe thoroughly in the virtue of saving money. I believe that more than half the people of this world could get along with very much less than they believe they need, and be better off now, and immeasurably better off in the future. I also know that there are thousands who would like to save money, who are naturally frugal and thrifty, by instinct and training, who only have enough to carry them along from week to week. It is not their fault that they cannot save money.

It is not so much that a man is not disposed to save money, and does not take the future into account in a great many cases, as if truthfully is that he has no opportunity to save.

The climax of the functions given under the auspices of the Drama league was the picture pageant and ball given last evening in the ballroom of the Spalding hotel. Duluth matrons and debutantes, representing characters of eighteenth century portraiture of both French and English schools, made their appearance on the stage, where they remained until the grand march.

Entering from the opposite ends of the ballroom and proceeding down the aisle to the stage were the queen and her attendants. It was only at the last minute that the identity of Queen Marie Antoinette was made known, as only very few persons knew before that time that this part would be taken by Miss Margaret Craig. She made a most queenly and charming picture and her gown was a wonderfully accurate reproduction, in both art and color, of that worn by the pictured queen.

Miss Berta Schmied, who impersonated "La Camargo," gave an interpretive dance she composed after reading the life of La Camargo. The dance typified the light, gay life of the court of Louis XV and the melancholy aspect of the threatening revolution.

The costumes were followed with great faithfulness to the style and color of the original portraits and were charming in their brilliancy or delicacy, according to the pictures portrayed.

The audience was very generous with its applause as the participants marched down the aisle, and the applause seemed about equally distributed. If there was any discrimination shown it was in favor of Mrs. A. B. Wolvin, who made a most regal figure as "Lady Sheffield," and of Miss Margaret Craig, whose youthful hauteur as the queen was delightful.

The portraits and those portraying them were:

Followed By Dance.

The art pageant was followed by dancing in the beautiful ballroom of the Spalding, which has just been remodeled. The new white floor, the indirect system of lighting and the decorations combined to make it a charming setting for the artistic portraits and for the brilliant dance. The stage was arranged in the new effect achieved by Rheinhart in Germany and Craig in London. The color idea was in old blue. The arrangements reflected much credit on the new management of the hotel.

The stage and decorations were left intact for the "Children in Art" matinee, which was given this afternoon. At this afternoon's affair Queen Marie Antoinette and her court were present and the following portraits were presented:

"Children of Marie Antoinette".....
..... Le Brun
Princess Royal.....Frances Sellwood

DULUTH CLUB WOMAN TELLS OF WORK DONE AT CHAUTAUQUA

MRS. W. S. WOODBRIDGE, who spent part of the summer at Chautauqua, N. Y., gives an interesting account of the Woman's Club of Chautauqua that had a membership of 700 from thirty-nine states last season. The club is open for the summer to any guest of the Chautauqua grounds upon the payment of 25 cents.

The club was organized in 1888, having for its first president Mrs. Emily Huntington Miller, the St. Paul writer, who held the office until 1895 when she was succeeded by Mrs. B. T. Vincent, wife of the Methodist bishop of Colorado. Mrs. Vincent, who has been in the office ever since and has wonderful executive ability, is 84 years old.

The daily meetings of the Woman's club embrace subjects of such a wide range that everyone could find something to interest her. Among the subjects taken up this year were library work, the college girl, household labor saving devices, the care of children, Y. W. C. A. work, W. C. T. U. work and others too numerous to mention.

Among the women on the morning programs were Mrs. Anna S. Duryea, who is a member of the World's Peace society, Dr. Mabel Ulrick of Minneapolis, who talked on social hygiene, a member of the committee on immigration, a representative of the Travelers' Aid society, a member of the national committee of motion picture censorship, and Bertha Kunz Baker, the dramatic reader, who gave "The Tumbler of Turraine."

"At a reception," Mrs. Woodbridge said, "I met a woman who when she heard my name said, 'You are from Duluth.' She was Mrs. Samuel Semple, the wife of Dr. Semple, who was at one time pastor of Glen Avon church at Hunter's Park. Mrs. Semple is now president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs She gave an address at a meeting of the Woman's club on 'The Soul of the Club Movement.'"

MRS. W. S. WOODBRIDGE.

Music Is Featured.

Music always occupies an important part of Chautauqua amusements. This summer the Victor Herbert orchestra of 100 pieces played and there was a choir of 500 trained voices. It was no unusual thing for someone to start a national song that would be taken up by all the persons in the great auditorium that seats 800 comfortably and 1,000 by crowding.

The fortieth anniversary of the founding of Chautauqua was celebrated this summer. There was a great deal of special music at that time.

The Chautauqua salute, Mrs. Woodbridge explained, consists of waving handkerchiefs. This salute is given only when led by a director on the platform and is considered a great honor. As a sign of grief at memorial meetings handkerchiefs are dropped at a signal.

There were 50,000 visitors at Chautauqua this summer, 35,000 at one time. It is a great place for blind and crippled persons as the blind have the advantages of lectures and music and wheeled chairs can easily be rolled into the auditorium for there are no walls to it, the roof being supported by columns.

The grounds are surrounded by a fence and no one is allowed to enter without a ticket. If a person goes for even a boat ride he is not readmitted to the grounds without the presentation of his passport. This gives the guests a great feeling of security. Life there is very informal and hats that are often the badge of formality are almost unknown.

"DULUTH DANCES BEAUTIFULLY," SAYS MRS. SAVAGE—"NO 'ROTTEN RAGGING'"

Mrs. Helen Shores Savage, who has been conducting classes in esthetic and social dancing in Duluth during the summer, will leave tomorrow for Chicago to resume her study and work for the winter.

During the summer Mrs. Savage has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. E. Walker. Her work in Duluth this summer has met with much enthusiasm and appreciation and the interest has been widespread. Mrs. Savage did her first serious study of the dance in its various phases at a summer term at the University of Madison where esthetic and gymnastic dancing is a part of the regular university training. She later went to the Mary Wood Hinman school of Chicago and was graduated from the two-year normal course in June of 1913. Last winter she did post graduate work at the Hinman school and at the Mabel R. Wentworth school, and was instructor in social dancing in several large clubs.

Among the most interesting work of the summer has been the supervision of dancing at the Duluth Boat club. "That has been the happiest work I have ever done," said Mrs. Savage, in speaking of this phase of her season's work. "Of course every Duluthian is an enthusiast over the boat club and its accomplishments, but the spirit of the institution has been a delightful revelation to me. The response that has followed every suggestion that was made in the supervision of the what last year were the new dances, has been highly gratifying. Duluth dances beautifully. The dances that have replaced the almost eternal waltz and two step are delightful, and since they have been in large part standardized every one is eager to do them properly. What has been called 'rotten ragging' has been succeeded by these highly graceful and much less gymnastic dances.

Coming Into Its Own.

"The dance is, I think, making a new place in the life of the people. It is coming into its own and is permitting every one who will, to find expression for the play instinct which never should die out of the human being. There is a course offered in many of the universities in gymnastic and esthetic dancing; not, you understand, that they graduate dancing teachers. It is in no sense a normal course, but dancing is offered especially for the young women as a part of a well rounded and well developed individual. The spirit that is a very real part of the Mary Wood Hinman school is one of the most delightful things I have encountered in my life. There is a feeling of graciousness and unselfishness that proves most stimulating. No young woman is graduated from the school until she has served a year in settlement work of some sort. And there is no one more welcome than the person who will teach dancing in social settlements. Although a large patronage of the school is drawn from the fashionable life of the city. Miss Hinman considers no individual worthy of her endorsement who has not made some effort to return in part some portion of her talent and training in free service to the community. And in that part of our required course we find some of the happiest experiences of our work."

In her teaching and supervision at the boat club Mrs. Savage has been assisted during the year by Miss Florence Peeler and John Hurdon. The classes have been greatly enjoyed and most popular.

MUSICIANS ARE FLOCKING BACK FROM WAR TORN EUROPE

SOME of the musicians in whom Minnesotans are especially interested have returned from Europe and have helped allay the fears of some persons that the 1914-1915 musical season would be lacking a great many artists.

Alma Gluck, who will appear in Duluth Dec. 15 under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale club, has returned from Paris. Helen Stanley and Fanny Bloomfield-Zeisler, who will be soloists at Minneapolis Symphony orchestra concerts, reached this country Sept. 1.

Arthur Shattuck, who will be the piano soloist at the Minneapolis Symphony concert early in March, was still in Paris Aug. 23. On that date he wrote, "This war has so completely paralyzed everything on earth that I am beginning to wonder if piano playing ever really existed." Mr. Shattuck added he was delighted to learn his engagements in England has not been canceled. If he is able to reach England it is possible he may be able to get from that country to America in time to fill his engagements.

Louise Homer, who is scheduled for the first concert of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra on Oct. 23, will open her season with concerts throughout the country, as will other Metropolitan Opera artists that include Herbert Witherspoon, Pasquale Amato, Antonio Scotti, Sophie Braslau, Anna Case, Giovanni Martinelli.

Among the passengers of the Rotterdam that docked Sept. 1 were Mme. Johanna-Gadski and Schumann-Heink. Musical America for Sept. 12 had the following account that was given by Schumann-Heink regarding the declaration of war:

"On Aug. 1 we were giving a performance of 'Parsifal' at the Bayreuth festival after the curtain went down on the second act a German officer appeared on the stage and announced the fact that war had been declared, and that all those who were eligible should report to their regiments at once.

"The quietude with which the men took this order and filed out of the hall was astonishing. Our audience dwindled from about 1,000 to 200. Most of our chorus men were eligible and we had great difficulty in finishing our performance."

FOR AN UNLIMITED WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Illinois Republicans Include Strong Plank in State Platform.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 19.—The Illinois Republicans met in convention here yesterday and in a harmonious session elected Garrett de Forrest Kinney of Peoria, chairman of the new Republican state central committee, adopted a platform which includes a plank for unlimited woman suffrage, and adjourned late in the afternoon.

Mrs. Thomas S. Byrnes of Chicago, took the leadership in the fight of the suffragists to obtain recognition and finally secured the insertion of a plank calling for unlimited woman suffrage in the 1914 Republican platform.

"The Democratic party is depending for its salvation from defeat this fall on two things," said Senator William F. Borah, in his address to the convention, "the war in Europe and the division in the Republican ranks. Up to three weeks ago Democratic leaders admitted that the outlook was dark and were on the defensive. With the advent of war 3,000 miles away they took renewed hope."

Senator Borah denounced gag rule as exemplified in the caucus methods of the Democrats in congress and declared that the machine which dominated legislation was the most nearly perfect and most relentless Washington has ever seen.

The convention declared for a comprehensive and thorough corrupt practices act, the extension of civil service to all branches of the state service, the reform of taxation to equalize burdens, for unlimited suffrage, and for a Constitutional convention for the revision of legislation.

STAGELAND

IT HAS long been an axiom of playwrights that the audience must not be kept in ignorance of the true situation being presented in farce comedy.

Whatever the crass purposes of the actors might be, the audience was supposed to be able to sit back in smug satisfaction and know just how the confusion was caused, and how it would all come out.

It was argued that this gave the audience a sense of superior knowledge. It was the same argument that the "Tired Business Man's" show was builded on—that the audience should not be annoyed by the necessity of thinking. The patrons who pay money to see the play should not be compelled to grope in ignorance of the true situation. They should be able to watch the actors gradually or suddenly, as the case might be, come to a true realization of conditions and unravel the tangle the playwright has carefully made.

But this tradition of the theater has received a rude jolt. The plan of mystifying the audience was first tried in a vaudeville sketch, where the desire for a big surprise at the finish overcame the scruples about breaking this rule. It proved successful in vaudeville, and George Cohan then trampled on the tradition by writing a full three-act farce in which the audience was given a surprise at the finish. The public welcomed "Seven Keys to Baldpate" with delight, and two other farces soon followed in which this sacred tradition was tossed to the winds. They were "On Trial" and "Under Cover."

DULUTHIANS who saw "Damaged Goods" last year will be interested in learning that "Maternity" by the same playwright will be produced this year. "Maternity" has been published together with two other plays "Damaged Goods" and "The Three Daughters of M. Dupont."

The three are published with an introduction and warm indorsement of George Bernard Shaw.

As propaganda, nobody had any quarrel with "Damaged Goods." As drama it was tiresome. "Maternity" promises to have less value as propaganda, since its appeal will be more limited, and a reading of the play does not promise any more interest from the dramatic standpoint. By many the subject matter might be considered of too sacred a nature to be discussed in the theater or shouted from the market place.

INTERVIEWS with Martin Beck, head of the Orpheum circuit, and with Mort Singer, general manager of the Western Managers' association, who supply the bookings for the Orpheum and Grand theaters, respectively, were recently published in New York. In the interviews these two vaudeville magnates told their views of the effect of the war on the vaudeville situation.

Said Mr. Beck: "Do you realize that this is a wonderful opportunity for vaudeville managers to aid President Wilson in maintaining the neutrality of this country?

"This opportunity is afforded because the artist on the middle of a vaudeville stage has the quickest and surest method of feeling the pulse of the public—or irritating it. A jest from a monologist, a verse in a song or a line from a sketch taking sides with any of the many belligerent nations engaged in the titanic struggle that is staggering humanity will arouse a section of an audience and create ill feeling. How serious this really is may be better realized when one stops to think that American citizens consist of people of all nations.

"It is because of this tremendous power held by a single vaudeville entertainer that the variety manager must exercise every precaution to prevent any reference, either indirect or direct, being made to the war.

"The war will in no way affect vaudeville at all as far as acts are concerned, because all acts that we booked for the opening of the season have arrived and many more big artists have arrived, who have foreseen that the European theaters will not be able to play them. They are being engaged as quickly as we can make room for them. In fact, I think as far as artists are concerned, America will benefit greatly.

"The outlook for vaudeville was never brighter. Artists have never been so well equipped with sumptuous scenery and well written material. Salaries are larger and there are more big brains in the field."

Said Mr. Singer: "It is much too early to predict what the season of 1914-15 has in store for vaudeville. The world war will no doubt have a tendency to inflict some loss in patronage to the theaters, with a moderate admission in the larger cities, as this class of houses invariably cater to a large percentage of foreigners.

"The closing of the stock markets, the impossibility of obtaining a thousand and one necessary articles from abroad that go to help manufacture as many necessities in this country will undoubtedly lay off a great number of people, who are essential to the welfare of the vaudeville theater.

"On the other hand, Labor day, Sept. 7, was the occasion of the opening of more new vaudeville theaters than ever before. This influx of new houses to the vaudeville business occurs from the fact that managers of picture theaters whose competition is so keen that it is obligatory on their part to show a new five or six-reel feature daily, in order to interest their clientele. Naturally their competitors do likewise and generally at a cut price of admission. This competition and the claim that the public are surfeited with pictures is responsible for this change of policy.

"I never was a pessimist, and am not going to start now. However, I know this country can weather all responsibilities and prove its adaptability to every condition. I look for a partial slump in theatricals for a month or two, and then the reaction after we adjust conditions. The season as a whole, should be the most successful in our history."

NOVELTY AND COMEDY AT GRAND

New Show Opening Monday Has Many Attractions.

The vaudeville offering at the New Grand for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, opening at 12 o'clock Monday noon, will be somewhat changed from last week's program, but all of the attractions offer the same high grade of excellency. In the new offering everything will be of a comedy or novelty nature and there is no doubt that the new bill will please as much if not more than any previous list of attractions Manager Ed. R. Salter has presented to the patrons of the New Grand since its inaugural.

The Mary Pickford photo-plays have made such a distinct hit that Manager Salter has decided to run them indefinitely.

Shaw's comedy circus heads the new program and among its features is the famous kicking mule "Maud." The management offers a substantial reward to any one who can remain seated on the mule's back.

Floyd Mack is a whirlwind acrobatic dancer, usually billed as "That Dapper Dancer."

Levere and Palmer are harmony singers and change artists, who present an entertainment called "A Duo in Contrast." Bennett and Lowe are not only wonderful gymnastic performers, but comedy acrobats of no mean distinction. The war slides, depicting scenes in the European war zone will be continued and the new photo-plays to be presented include an Essanay feature of "Broncho Billy" in "A Friend in Need." The Biograph two-reel feature, "The Cricket on the Hearth" and another George Ade "Fable" in addition to Mary Pickford in a one-act play.

The policy of the New Grand changes the program every Monday and Thursday instead of Sundays and Thursdays, consquently the show now being presented, will not close until Sunday night.

The bill includes Carman's minstrels, featuring the famous Astor Quartette and includes Sam Carman and "Shrimp" Conley as endmen. Mme. Helene Hardy is seen in a new vaudeville offering called "Great Women of the Past and Present." Her impersonations include Lillian Russell, Martha Washington, Mollie Pitcher; Mary, Queen of Scots, etc.

Logan and Ferris are two comical "Dogs of War." Their act is the comedy hit of the bill. Noble and Brooke have an entertaining singing and talkology act.

Mary Pickford appears in "Sweet Charity." George Ade gives his famous fable "Honeymooning." There is a two-reel Lubin feature. "The Twin Brothers Van Zandt," and the Hearst-Selig Weekly News gives an abundance of war news.

The performances are continuous from 12 o'clock noon until 11 p. m.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Four New Vaudeville Acts on Bill for Next Week.

A new show will open at the Empress theater Sunday, Sept. 20. Four vaudeville acts and three reels of high-class pictures will comprise the program.

The acts are all recognized throughout the country as standard vaudeville attractions and the coming bill should prove a very entertaining one.

For the headline act the Four Portias Sisters, an European act, and one of the few that have been able to come to this country on account of the war, has been booked after considerable expense. The four young women have a novelty act that is said to abound in surprises. They are neat dressers and attractive in appearance.

Lewellyn and Stanley are portrayers of odd characters. They can impersonate various types cleverly. Miss Stanley's portrayal of an old maid is said to be a scream and her society matron is one of the hits of the art. Among her other impersonations are those of a nurse girl, nun and an old lady of the South, all of which are correct and entertaining. Mr. Lewellyn's acts such parts as an old army soldier, a gentleman of the South, a pugilist, in which he does some very clever shadow boxing, an escaped convict and many others.

Le Roy and Mora offer a comedy horizontal bar novelty. There are only a few of such acts in vaudeville and Le Roy and Mora offer about the best, it is claimed. Their feats on the bars are hair-raising and hazardous and the climax of their act is a seemingly bone-breaking fall between the bars. Comedy is cleverly put by Mora of the team.

A comedienne with a charming personality and pleasing voice is Leo Ora Vennett. This young woman has a list of songs that are new, as she is constantly changing her numbers. She comes from the East and Duluth will have its first opportunity to hear her new songs.

A two-reel feature film and a single comedy reel of photoplays will round out a bill that promises to outdo others so far seen at the Empress theater.

"Today" began this week its first road tour. With Ethel Valentine and Edmund Breese it opened in New York. The next company to start will be known as the "Chicago company." In it will be Bertha Mann and Arthur Byron, and it begins a long season at the Princess theater in Chicago Sept. 24.

William A. Brady's playhouse will be thrown open for the regular season Tuesday evening with "The Elder Son," played by a company of well-known London actors and actresses. The drama in its original form was in the French language and enjoyed a long and successful run in Paris under the title "Les Petites." It was written by Lucienne Nepoly. The company includes Cynthia Brooke, Nona Hungerford, Irby Marshal, Nell Compton; Cynthia Latham, Norman Trevor, Lumsden Hare, Eric Maturin, Harry Green and others.

William A. Brady's Fortyeighth street theater will be opened for the season on Monday, Sept. 28, with George Broadhurst's new melodrama, "The Law of the Land." The cast includes Julia Dean, George Fawcett, Milton Sills, Charles Lane, George Graham and Walter Craven.

"THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS"

Baldwin Players' Program for Next Week—Coming Attractions.

Harold Bell Wright's most popular novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," of which a million copies have been sold, has been made into a play by its author with the assistance of Elsbery W. Reynolds, and will be presented for the first time in Duluth all next week by the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum theater, commencing with a matinee tomorrow. The play has been as great a success as the book, and is really the dramatic success of the season.

The play is practically a true narrative of life among the humble dwellers of the Ozarks. It touches all the emotions, and its influence is wholesome and helpful, notwithstanding several rough characters that figure more or less prominently. The shepherd of the story is a cultured stranger, who comes into the hills, glad to escape from the vanities and conventionalities to which he has been accustomed. There is a flock needing a shepherd, and he thankfully accepts the lowly occupation of a sheep tender, but soon becomes shepherd of a human flock, the big-hearted mountaineers, their families, and all who need a friend and adviser. Among his most devoted followers are "Old Matt" and "Young Matt," the giants of the hills; Sammy Lane, glorious in the beauty of young womanhood, and poor "Pete," a deranged lad, who understands the voices of nature and sees what others cannot see. There is a mystery of the hills that often terrifies, but at last the solution is brought about by Pete and the shepherd, and it is the latter who is most deeply afflicted and concerned. It is hardly necessary to add that a pretty romance is woven into the humor, pathos and tragedy, for the play throughout is one of human interest with a conclusion that is thoroughly satisfactory to "Young Matt," and of course to the auditors.

The Baldwin Players will be seen at their best and Manager Baldwin promises another treat for the losers of beautiful stage settings.

The regular Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate."

"Seven Keys to Baldpate," George M. Cohan's latest offering, talked about more than any other theatrical production launched in the amusement field in many years will be presented at the Lyceum soon.

The charm of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," is said to lie in the naturalness of the characters introduced and the whimsical humor of the piece, to say nothing of the curiously delightful love story it presents which makes this latest Cohan pen product one of the most interesting plays seen on the American stage.

Cohan and Harris are sponsors for this interesting stage offering, and this fact alone is a sufficient assurance as to its worth as an entertainment. Then too, it is a clean, wholesome play, presented by a carefully selected company of well known players, and played with a rapidity that threatens to break the speed limit, and is filled to the brim with logical tricks and swiftly-moving surprises that keep the interest of the auditor at concert pitch throughout the entire entertainment.

New Yorkers acclaim "Seven Keys to Baldpate" the biggest success of the past season, and it succeeded in playing to absolute capacity of the Astor theater for nearly a year. The emphatic success of this play prompted Messrs. Cohan and Harris to organize a special company to play in Chicago for an unlimited engagement. It is needless to state that "Seven Keys to Baldpate" created a wonderful impression in the Western metropolis and remained there for a six months engagement after which the company and production in its entirety was transferred to New York, where it duplicated its Chicago success for a season of ten weeks. It colld have continued indefinitely were it not necessary to bring the run to a close to fulfill engagements contracted in the principal cities throughout the United States.

The original New York and Chicago cast of players headed by Cyrill Scott, including John O'Hara, Ernest Geyer, Spencer Charters, Frank Allworth, Frank Monroe, Hooker Wright, Lee Sterrett, Walter D. Greene, Laura Bennett, Ethel Intrododi, Christine Mayo, Rita Harlan, Hazel Traverse, Fannie Mackey, will present this famous comedy in this city.

"Joseph and His Brethren."

Putting the Bible on the stage has always been a more or less dangerous undertaking. The peril of sacrilege lies near on the one hand; on the other, so strict an adherence to scriptural narrative that dramatic value will be lacking.

It is doubtful whether any playwright has ever steered so skillfully between these rocks as has Louis N. Parker in "Joseph and His Brethren," the new "pageant play," which will be seen here soon.

There is no line or action that can give offense to the most devout, yet there is throughout the most powerful appeal to the emotions; the play is drama of the highest order.

The production of the Liebler company is as magnificent a series of spectacles as can be imagined. Those previous triumphs of stagecraft at the Century theater, "The Garden of Allah," and "The Daughter of Heaven," have been outdone.

There are four acts and thirteen scenes. They are a series of gasps, so far as the audiences are concerned. Perhaps the most wonderful is "The Pyramid"—a scene in the desert, the sky full of twinkling stars, a blood-red moon low on the horizon, the great dark pyramids marvels of scenic representation.

So far as acting goes, the play is exalted by the splendid work of Brandon Tynan as Joseph and James O'Neill as Jacob. The adultor follows Joseph through his vicissitudes to his final triumph with an interest that nothing can deflect. His unvarying trust in his God to deliver him out of every persecution; his unswerving uprightness, in the face of every mortal temptation, are depicted by Tynan with a marvelously spiritual touch. Katherine Kaelred is most beautiful and most alluring as Potiphar's wife.

NEW BILL AT THE DULUTH ORPHEUM

Elphye Snowden Will Headline Next Week's Vaudeville Offering.

One of the most successful weeks the Duluth Orpheum theater has had during the four years it has been in operation here, will come to a close tonight.

No more popular musical act has been seen on the circuit than "The Red Heads," the headline act on this week's bill, and the rest of the program has also been popular.

For next week the headliner will be Elphye Snowden who has been featuring the Minneapolis bill during the week just closing. Here is what a Minneapolis critic said of her: "Miss Snowden possesses the gift of personal attractiveness to such an extent that she is interesting regardless of her talents. She has accentuated the attractiveness of her appearance by several wonderful sartorial creations. Miss Snowden is doubly blessed, however, as she is an exceedingly clever young woman. She sings a number of special songs in the most engaging manner, and her ballroom dancing in which she is assisted by Walter Ross is positively entrancing. Miss Snowden and Mr. Ross, and Frank D. Lamberti their accompanist, is a distinct asset to vaudeville."

The hit of the Minneapolis bill this week in a comedy line, was provided by Dave Kramer and George Morton, two blackface comedians who have based a fifteen or twenty minute comedy act on the peculiarities of the Southern darky. They portray two very serious minded negroes, and their dialogue is said to provide a most hilarious interlude. They also sing and dance, and during their present tour have proved two of the most popular blackface entertainers ever seen on the circuit.

There will be a comedy playlet on the new bill, entitled "The Stranger." It is the work of Herbert Bashford and will be presented by Charles Yule, Fred Munier and company. Mr. Yule has been seen in the support of Max Figman, Nat Goodwin and other famous comedians, and is said to be unexcelled in his portrayal of the country bumpkin type. Mr. Munier was last seen in the support of Miss Virginia Harned in "The Woman He Married," and Miss Charlotte Treadway, the third member of the company, is said to be a very clever little ingenue with a part which fits her well.

Hyman Meyer, who is known as the "Man at The Piano" will give a comedy pianologue.

The Bottomley Troupe will provide the sensational feature of the bill. They are a troupe of "flying gymnasts" who have a striking aerial act which is said to be different from the usual acts of an acrobatic type.

One of the sensations of this week's bill at the Minneapolis theater was the work of Malota Bonconi, the violin virtuoso, who has come to America with a brilliant record abroad. She was one of the performers who was forced to leave Europe on account of the war, and is just opening her American tour. She has played with the Philharmonic orchestra in Berlin and Cologne, and while with the former was awarded the Mendelssohn prize, which is considered the greatest compliment that can be paid to a musician in Germany. Her tone is said to be full and resonant, and her intonation flawless.

Ernie Potts and his company will introduce an athletic novelty which they call a study in black and white. With a background of black velvet, the men work in white outing suits. They open with a club swinging exhibition, and then introduce some scientific bag punching. This is followed by a brief exhibition of wrestling and boxing, in which more than 100 moves and holds are demonstrated, a sign explaining each hold.

Six countries will be visited by the motion picture man in next week's travel picture. The countries from which scenes will be shown are Italy, Servia, France, Turkey, Austria and Hindostan.

The Italian pictures show some beautiful scenes in the foothils of the Alps. Servia is in the public eye at present because of her connection with the European war, and the pictures next week will show some of the customs and habits of the Servian people. In France the camera man sailed along the coast, visiting Breton, and showing the lace makers of Brittany. Constantinople from the water front is shown in the Turkish views, and in Hindostan the camera man caught the bathers in the Ganges and the market place at Monghyr.

The overture by the orchestra will complete the week's bill.

IT HAS long been an axiom of playwrights that the audience must not be kept in ignorance of the true situation being presented in farce comedy.

Whatever the cross purposes of the actors might be, the audience was supposed to be able to sit back in smug satisfaction and know just how the confusion was caused, and how it would all come out.

It was argued that this gave the audience a sense of superior knowledge. It was the same argument that the "Tired Business Man's" show was builded on—that the audience should not be annoyed by the necessity of thinking. The patrons who pay money to see the play should not be compelled to grope in ignorance of the true situation. They should be able to watch the actors gradually or suddenly, as the case might be, come to a true realization of conditions and unravel the tangle the playwright has carefully made.

But this tradition of the theater has received a rude jolt. The plan of mystifying the audience was first tried in a vaudeville sketch, where the desire for a big surprise at the finish overcame the scruples about breaking this rule. It proved successful in vaudeville, and George Cohan then trampled on the tradition by writing a full three-act farce in which the audience was given a surprise at the finish. The public welcomed "Seven Keys to Baldpate" with delight, and two other farces soon followed in which this sacred tradition was tossed to the winds. They were "On Trial" and "Under Cover."

DUTHIANS who saw "Damaged Goods" last year will be interested in learning that "Maternity" by the same playwright will be produced this year. "Maternity" has been published together with two other plays "Damaged Goods" and "The Three Daughters of M. Dupont."

The three are published with an introduction and warm indorsement of George Bernard Shaw.

As propaganda, nobody had any quarrel with "Damaged Goods." As drama it was tiresome. "Maternity" promises to have less value as propaganda, since its appeal will be more limited, and a reading of the play does not promise any more interest from the dramatic standpoint. By many the subject matter might be considered of too sacred a nature to be discussed in the theater or shouted from the market place.

INTERVIEWS with Martin Beck, head of the Orpheum circuit, and with Mort Singer, general manager of the Western Managers' association, who supply the bookings for the Orpheum and Grand theaters, respectively, were recently published in New York. In the interviews these two vaudeville magnates told their views of the effect of the war on the vaudeville situation.

Said Mr. Beck: "Do you realize that this is a wonderful opportunity for vaudeville managers to aid President Wilson in maintaining the neutrality of this country?

"This opportunity is afforded because the artist on the middle of a vaudeville stage has the quickest and surest method of feeling the pulse of the public—or irritating it. A jest from a monologist, a verse in a song or a line from a sketch taking sides with any of the many belligerent nations engaged in the titanic struggle that is staggering humanity will arouse a section of an audience and create ill feeling. How serious this really is may be better realized when one stops to think that American citizens consist of people of all nations.

"It is because of this tremendous power held by a single vaudeville entertainer that the variety manager must exercise every precaution to prevent any reference, either indirect or direct, being made to the war.

"The war will in no way affect vaudeville at all as far as acts are concerned, because all acts that we booked for the opening of the season have arrived and many more big artists have arrived, who have foreseen that the European theaters will not be able to play them. They are being engaged as quickly as we can make room for them. In fact, I think as far as artists are concerned, America will benefit greatly.

"The outlook for vaudeville was never brighter. Artists have never been so well equipped with sumptuous scenery and well written material. Salaries are larger and there are more big brains in the field."

Said Mr. Singer: "It is much too early to predict what the season of 1914-15 has in store for vaudeville. The world war will no doubt have a tendency to inflict some loss in patronage to the theaters, with a moderate admission in the larger cities, as this class of houses invariably cater to a large percentage of foreigners.

"The closing of the stock markets, the impossibility of obtaining a thousand and one necessary articles from abroad that go to help manufacture as many necessities in this country will undoubtedly lay off a great number of people, who are essential to the welfare of the vaudeville theater.

"On the other hand, Labor day, Sept. 7, was the occasion of the opening of more new vaudeville theaters than ever before. This influx of new houses to the vaudeville business occurs from the fact that managers of picture theaters whose competition is so keen that it is obligatory on their part to show a new five or six-reel feature daily, in order to interest their clientele. Naturally their competitors do likewise and generally at a cut price of admission. This competition and the claim that the public are satisfied with pictures is responsible for this change of policy.

"I never was a pessimist, and am not going to start now. However, I know this country can weather all responsibilities and prove its adaptability to every condition. I look for a partial slump in theatricals for a month or two, and then the reaction after we adjust conditions. The season as a whole, should be the most successful in our history."

The charm of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," is said to lie in the naturalness of the characters introduced and the whimsical humor of the piece, to say nothing of the curiously delightful love story it presents which makes this latest Cohan pen product one of the most interesting plays seen on the American stage.

Cohan and Harris are sponsors for this interesting stage offering, and this fact alone is a sufficient assurance as to its worth as an entertainment. Then too, it is a clean, wholesome play, presented by a carefully selected company of well known players, and played with a rapidity that threatens to break the speed limit, and is filled to the brim with logical tricks and swift-moving surprises that keep the interest of the auditor at concert pitch throughout the entire entertainment.

New Yorkers acclaim "Seven Keys to Baldpate" the biggest success of the past season, and it succeeded in playing to absolute capacity of the Astor theater for nearly a year. The emphatic success of this play prompted Messrs. Cohan and Harris to organize a special company to play in Chicago for an unlimited engagement. It is needless to state that "Seven Keys to Baldpate" created a wonderful impression in the Western metropolis and remained there for a six months engagement after which the company and production in its entirety was transferred to New York, where it duplicated its Chicago success for a season of ten weeks. It could have continued indefinitely were it not necessary to bring the run to a close to fulfill engagements contracted in the principal cities throughout the United States.

The original New York and Chicago cast of players headed by Cyrill Scott, including John O'Hara, Ernest Geyer, Spencer Charters, Frank Allworth, Frank Monroe, Hooker Wright, Lee Sterrett, Walter D. Greene, Laura Bennett, Ethel Intrododi, Christine Mayo, Rita Harlan, Hazel Traverse, Fannie Mackey, will present this famous comedy in this city.

"Joseph and His Brethren."

Putting the Bible on the stage has always been a more or less dangerous undertaking. The peril of sacrilege lies near on the one hand; on the other, so strict an adherence to scriptural narrative that dramatic value will be lacking.

It is doubtful whether any playwright has ever steered so skillfully between these rocks as has Louis N. Parker in "Joseph and His Brethren," the new "pageant play," which will be seen here soon.

There is no line or action that can give offense to the most devout, yet there is throughout the most powerful appeal to the emotions; the play is drama of the highest order.

The production of the Liebler company is as magnificent a series of spectacles as can be imagined. Those previous triumphs of stagecraft at the Century theater, "The Garden of Allah," and "The Daughter of Heaven," have been outdone.

There are four acts and thirteen scenes. They are a series of gasps, so far as the audiences are concerned. Perhaps the most wonderful is "The Pyramid"—a scene in the desert, the sky full of twinkling stars, a blood-red moon low on the horizon, the great dark pyramids marvels of scenic representation.

So far as acting goes, the play is exalted by the splendid work of Brandon Tynan as Joseph and James O'Neill as Jacob. The aduitor follows Joseph through his vicissitudes to his final triumph with an interest that nothing can deflect. His unvarying trust in his God to deliver him out of every persecution; his unswerving uprightness, in the face of every mortal temptation, are depicted by Tynan with a marvelously spiritual touch. Katherine Kaelred is most beautiful and most alluring as Potiphar's wife.

NEW BILL AT THE DULUTH ORPHEUM

Elphye Snowden Will Headline Next Week's Vaudeville Offering.

One of the most successful weeks the Duluth Orpheum theater has had during the four years it has been in operation here, will come to a close tonight.

No more popular musical act has been seen on the circuit than "The Red Heads," the headline act on this week's bill, and the rest of the program has also been popular.

For next week the headliner will be Elphye Snowden who has been featuring the Minneapolis bill during the week just closing. Here is what a Minneapolis critic said of her: "Miss Snowden possesses the gift of personal attractiveness to such an extent that she is interesting regardless of her talents. She has accentuated the attractiveness of her appearance by several wonderful sartorial creations. Miss Snowden is doubly blessed, however, as she is an exceedingly clever young woman. She sings a number of special songs in the most engaging manner, and her ballroom dancing in which she is assisted by Walter Ross is positively entrancing. Miss Snowden and Mr. Ross, and Frank D. Lamberti their accompanist, is a distinct asset to vaudeville."

The hit of the Minneapolis bill this week in a comedy line, was provided by Dave Kramer and George Morton, two blackface comedians who have based a fifteen or twenty minute comedy act on the peculiarities of the Southern darky. They portray two very serious minded negroes, and their dialogue is said to provide a most hilarious interlude. They also sing and dance, and during their present tour have proved two of the most popular blackface entertainers ever seen on the circuit.

There will be a comedy playlet on the new bill, entitled "The Stranger." It is the work of Herbert Bashford and will be presented by Charles Yule, Fred Munier and company. Mr. Yule has been seen in the support of Max Figman, Nat Goodwin and other famous comedians, and is said to be unexcelled in his portrayal of the country bumpkin type. Mr. Munier was last seen in the support of Miss Virginia Harned in "The Woman He Married," and Miss Charlotte Treadway, the third member of the company, is said to be a very clever little ingenue with a part which fits her well.

Hyman Meyer, who is known as the "Man at The Piano" will give a comedy pianologue.

The Bottomley Troupe will provide the sensational feature of the bill. They are a troupe of "flying gymnasts" who have a striking aerial act which is said to be different from the usual acts of an acrobatic type.

One of the sensations of this week's bill at the Minneapolis theater was the work of Malota Bonconi, the violin virtuoso, who has come to America with a brilliant record abroad. She was one of the performers who was forced to leave Europe on account of the war, and is just opening her American tour. She has played with the Philharmonic orchestra in Berlin and Cologne, and while with the former was awarded the Mendelssohn prize, which is considered the greatest compliment that can be paid to a musician in Germany. Her tone is said to be full and resonant, and her intonation flawless.

Ernie Potts and his company will introduce an athletic novelty which they call a study in black and white. With a background of black velvet, the men work in white outing suits. They open with a club swinging exhibition, and then introduce some scientific bag punching. This is followed by a brief exhibition of wrestling and boxing, in which more than 100 moves and holds are demonstrated, a sign explaining each hold.

Six countries will be visited by the motion picture man in next week's travel picture. The countries from which scenes will be shown are Italy, Servia, France, Turkey, Austria and Hindostan.

The Italian pictures show some beautiful scenes in the foothils of the Alps. Servia is in the public eye at present because of her connection with the European war, and the pictures next week will show some of the customs and habits of the Servian people. In France the camera man sailed along the coast, visiting Breton, and showing the lace makers of Brittany. Constantinople from the water front is shown in the Turkish views, and in Hindostan the camera man caught the bathers in the Ganges and the market place at Monghyr.

The overture by the orchestra will complete the week's bill.

Two remarkable little German girls were recently discovered by Orpheum circuit scouts and are now playing that circuit. They are the Althoff girls, one 10 and the other 14, and both of them said to be astonishingly brilliant musicians.

• • •

There were many American vaudevillians in Europe at the time of the declarations of war. Many that were booked for one or two years, found it necessary to give up all contracts and rushed for safety. The Avon Comedy Four, now playing on the Orpheum circuit, were among the first to get away from the danger zone.

• • •

Orpheum devotees have noticed, not infrequently, cases of artists who years ago appeared on the Orpheum circuit and were successful, but nothing more. They came and went without much glare of trumpets, but during the course of five or six years, have risen to stellar heights and have returned to us as headliners. Prominent among these are Cartmell and Harris. This dancing team has not been on the Orpheum circuit for half a dozen years and were then a pleasing but not an important act. In the interim by dint of merit they have forced themselves to the top.

NEW POLICY FOR REX.

New Bookings Will Bring Famous Stars to Duluth.

The question of hearts is always an interesting one and doubly so when it is "The Jack of Hearts," which will be played by the Kay Bee Players, at the Rex theater Sunday, one day only. Blanch Sweet, the young woman who won fame at the international beauty contest, is leading lady in the drama, "Her Awakening," and will delight both little and big. "A Brand New Hero" is an inspiration to the love-sick youth who desires to shine in public.

Monday, Sept. 21 marks the opening of the Rex to a new policy, namely a five-year contract for service, and bookings for more than three months. This contract, is with the "Paramount program," representing Jack London, Frohman's Famous Players, Lasky and the cream of the markets from home and abroad. Each production will be headed with a well known star.

H. B. Warner, the English dramatic favorite, will make his first appearance before the motion picture public in "The Lost Paradise," which will be played at the Rex on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This play is adapted from the German original by the late Henry C. deMille, collaborator in the famous Belasco-deMille plays.

Jack London's "Odyssey of the North" will be the Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday feature. Jack London's red-blooded stories are too well known to need description. The screen is the only place for them, and with Hobart Bosworth, in the lead, nothing is lost from the dash and fervor of London's thrilling stories of the good and the bad in all. The "Odyssey of the North" with its primitive love story, fine scenery and splendid acting, offers attractions to all.

The SUNBEAM

Actual war scenes, comprising one full reel of pictures, taken by the Strand Film company and now being shown at the Strand theater in New York city, will be the feature film accorded the patrons of the Sunbeam theater for Sunday's program. These scenes depict the war in its various stages as it affected Belgium and will give the public an idea of the warfare that took place between the Belgians and the Germans. Among the scenes that were photographed were the aerial fleet of Belgium, the Belgian troops marching on Namur, and King Albert bidding farewell to the Ninth Regiment of the Line, who were nearly annihilated in the siege of Liege. The feature drama, "Shadows of the Past," written by Margaret Bertsch, and produced by the Vitagraph company, is also on the program. The main plot centers around Mark Stetson, a scheming politician who entangles the Brandons, husband and wife, and their friend Antoinette, in his smuggling schemes, and engineers their arrest to protect himself. Several of the leading Vitagraph players including Harry T. Morey, Rose E. Tapley and Julia Swayne Gordon, take part in the production.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Eva Tanguay will not be seen in vaudeville in the near future, according to announcement. She is booked to open at Utica in a French farce with the name of "The Girl Who Cares." Her husband, Johnny Ford, will be with the show, in spite of the fact that the two were reported as being estranged some time ago.

• • •

The singing rabbi, Joseph Shapiro, will take a fling in the two-a-day, it is said.

• • •

James J. Corbett is said to be booked for two solid years in vaudeville. His engagements, it is stated, will take him on a trip around the world if the European situation does not interfere by the time he is supposed to get there. He starts with Australia.

• • •

Douglas Fairbanks evidently found his new vehicle, "He Comes Up Smiling," to his liking when it was tried out at Atlantic City some time ago, as he has started his season in the play at Philadelphia.

Eugenia Blair will be seen over the Stair and Havlin Circuit in "A Royal Divorce."

• • •

"The Lady of the Slipper," in which Montgomery and Stone and Elsie Janis starred last season, has fallen by the way side.

• • •

Laura Cowie, a London favorite of long standing, will be Forbes-Robertson's leading lady on his present American farewell tour.

• • •

Florence Fisher has been engaged as the leading feminine support of Otis Skinner in "The Candle of Faith." Miss Fisher made a name for herself while in the support of Walker Whiteside in "The Typhoon."

• • •

Leo Ditrichstein will shortly make his appearance in Molner's "The Legend of the Wolf," with Laura Hope Crews as his principal support.

• • •

Edward Sheldon has written a new play for John Barrymore. Its title is "The Lonely Hearth," and it will be brought out under the management of Charles Dillingham.

• • •

Kathleen Clifford will not grace the American vaudeville boards this season, having decided to remain in England for the present.

• • •

Ethel Levy made her debut in the legitimate end of the theatrical game when she scored a hit in Wyndham's "The Outcast." The play is said to bear a strong resemblance to "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray."

• • •

It is said that William and Dustin Farnum have been the latest stars of the legitimate stage to hear the call of the "Two-a-day." They have not as yet decided upon a vehicle.

• • •

Amelia Stone will shortly open in Edgar Allen Woolf's operetta, "Mon Desir."

• • •

Although it is doubtful if Max Reinhart, the famous German producer, will be in New York to superintend the production of "The Microbe," yet it is asserted that the play will be given in December as planned.

Pawlova will commence her American tour Nov. 3 at the Metropolitan opera house, New York.

• • •

It is reported that Mrs. Leslie Carter will make her appearance in vaudeville soon.

• • •

Ethel Barrymore, who has been announced as the star in one of the coming Frohman productions, has decided to remain in vaudeville for the present.

• • •

Practically every theater in Holland is closed on account of the European conflict.

• • •

Nat Goodwin will produce a new play by Jack Lait, author of "Help Wanted." The first performance will take place in Los Angeles under the direction of Oliver Morosco, Oct. 15.

• • •

Holbrook Blinn and his Princess Players will inaugurate their season in Los Angeles this month.

• • •

London's "Sea Wolf," which has been seen as a moving picture production, has been dramatized by C. H. Livingston. It will run over the Stair and Havlin circuit.

• • •

Eugene Walter has obtained the dramatic rights to "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," by John Fox, Jr., the author of the popular novel, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

• • •

Joseph Brooks has obtained the dramatic rights to Edna Ferber's series of stories under the title of "Roast Beef Medium."

• • •

The new show, as yet nameless, which has been put together for Montgomery and Stone by Anne Caldwell and Ivan Caryll, will be seen at the Globe theater in New York early next month. In the cast will be Charles Aldrich, Belle Story, Zelma Rawlston, R. E. Graham, Douglas Stevenson, Helen Falconer, Gene Revere, Juliette Day, Edgar Hay, Marjorie Bentley and Violet Zell.

• • •

Daniel V. Arthur has forsaken the "movie" field and again turned his attention to the legitimate stage. He has obtained the rights to "The Delinquents," a new dramatic offering by two hitherto unknown authors. Arthur contemplates an early production of the play.

• • •

Hale and hearty and none the worse for being in close touch with the world-stirring events on the other side of the water, William H. Crane has returned from abroad to resume his tour in "The New Henrietta," which will begin in November and go on in a westerly direction as far as the Pacific coast.

• • •

"Tipping the Winner," with Edith Taliaferro in the leading part, had its first performance in Toledo last week.

• • •

"Cornered," a new melodrama by Owen Davis, had its premiere at Asbury Park a few days ago, with John Mason as the featured star.

• • •

Kansas City theaters are complaining about a raise in the license by the city authorities. While the raise does not affect the houses charging less than $1 for their best seats, those with a higher scale are hard hit by the new order of things. Instead of paying $175 as heretofore, managers of the theaters which come under the workings of the new law will now have to shell out $1,000 for operating their houses ten months during the year.

• • •

"The Bluebird" will begin its fifth season within a fortnight. Among the new artists to be seen in this delightful fantasy will be Mary Rehan, who last year was with "Little Women."

Fred Lincoln, who was one of the most important officials in the old Sullivan and Considine vaudeville circuit, which recently went into the hands of Marcus Loew, has resigned. It is said that he is one of the prime movers in the foundation of a new booking agency. Paul Goudron, John Nash and Fred Kissick, who also severed their connection with the Loew circuit, are said to be with him in the new venture.

A play which has caused much comment in England is "The Clodhopper." It has been selected as one to be done at the Little theater, in Philadelphia, with Ian Maclaren, Hilda Englund, Wallis Clark, Whitford Kane, Mary Servoss and Marguerite Hertz.

The differences which have arisen between H. B. Marinelli, who books most of the foreign vaudeville acts, and the United Booking office, have reached that point where Marinelli threatens to institute and operate a circuit in opposition to the United. Apart from the claim nothing definite is known.

PIGEON AS ARMY SCOUT IN WAR

The use of the pigeon in warfare is not new. Two pigeon dealers were arrested in London lately for having in their possession pigeons which the authorities suspected were to be used to carry news to Germany. They were Germans. A German was arrested as a spy in Belgium for having some pigeons in his possession. It is a German who developed the use of the pigeon as a scout by making a tiny camera which could be carried over a hostile country by a carrier pigeon making photographs of the landscape in its flight. Dr. Neubronner was the inventor of the pigeon camera which takes pictures automatically during the pigeon's flight.

WAR PROMPTS SOCIAL MEASURES

English Parliament Deals With Food Supply, Unemployment and Housing.

By GRAHAM TAYLOR.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

Even these darkest war clouds which have ever enveloped the civilized world have some silver linings which light up the gloom a little and throw a glint of hope into the future. Under the necessity, urged by overpowering emergency, advanced relief laws and measures have been enacted, especially in England, with unprecedented rapidity and unanimity.

England's recent experience with her social legislation has sufficiently demonstrated both its practicability and necessity, so as to sweep all opposition into co-operation with the war relief measures. They extend the operation of some of these advanced laws and enact new ones far more radical than any legislation hitherto proposed or passed.

Humane Items in War Budget.

First and most comprehensive of them all was the vote of credit authorizing the expenditure of $500,000,000 to be available as specified by the prime minister, not only for "all expenses arising out of the existence of a state of war," but for "assisting the food supply, for promoting a continuance of trade, industry and business communications, whether by means of insurance or indemnity against risk or otherwise, and for the relief of distress."

No sooner had the war scare prompted the hoarding of food stuffs and the raising of prices than the cabinet appointed a committee on food supplies. Various traders' organizations at once began to co-operate with it in reporting and publishing maximum retail cash prices which ought not to be exceeded for three days in advance. Parliament supported the government in assuming control of the maximum prices of food, urged the exemption of farm horses from requisition for military purposes, and by a one-clause bill, bearing the title of "the unreasonable withholding of food supplies," invested the board of trade with the same powers for requisitioning food stuffs as the naval and military authorities exercise.

Fighting a Food "Corner."

This act is depended upon to anticipate or check any attempt to "corner" or to speculate with, or arbitrarily raise the price of food. There was an additional suggestion that the government should consider the desirability of preventing well-to-do-people buying up large stocks of provisions. Lord Cecil branded this practice as a scandal and hoped the government would take measures to strengthen the criminal law against it. Leading dealers assured the government that in no case would they supply customers, however well-to-do, with more than normal supplies. The possibility of "an equitable distribution of foodstuffs throughout the kingdom at fixed prices by government agency" is intimated. The national board of education requested the local school boards to provide for the feeding of school children. To this and other ends the schools were reopened before the summer vacation ended. By order of the king and queen plain and simple living is the daily rule at the royal table. The co-operative stores, which handle a large percentage of the retail trade in England, have so far managed to undersell other provision merchants by protecting their members from the somewhat higher prices prevailing elsewhere. The Rochdale Co-operative society formally disavowed all intention of sharing any profit from rising prices.

To prevent financial panic and bankruptcy or undue pressure for debts, the "moratorium" act was passed by parliament. This extends to October the legal term for the payment of indebtedness on bills of exchange and certain other obligations. Among the exemptions to which this delay does not apply are wages and salaries, liabilities not exceeding $25, the payment of rates and taxes, debts due outside the British Isles, dividends or interest on stocks, funds or securities, withdrawals from trustee savings banks and payments due under the workmen's compensation act, old age pension and national insurance. Rents were not exempted for fear of accumulating burdensome indebtedness upon the workers. Reservists' allotments from their wages to their families were paid in advance to cover the first month's rent in their absence.

To Prevent Unemployment.

Very particular and considerate care is being taken to forefend wage-earners from unemployment and to secure the reservists and territorials from the loss of their occupation after the war. As president of the local government board, Herbert Samuel announced in the house of commons that many traders and manufacturers were patriotically keeping their mills and works in operation by reducing working hours instead of dismissing any employes; that the road board had a reserve of some millions of pounds which could be spent on new work employing many laborers; that the development commission also had funds available for large construction work; that the government departments would maintain and, where possible increase, the number of their employes. Mr. Samuel also issued a circular reminding all town and county councilors and officials that it was their duty not to curtail their undertakings and reduce their staffs, but to maintain and increase their operations.

The war emergency workers' committee, representing all the labor groups, vigilantly watch the situation and offer suggestions and co-operation to the government. The cabinet has appointed an advisory committee on distress which includes both John Burns and J. Ramsay MacDonald, together with officials of departments most closely involved. Local committees, having the same title and function, are being organized throughout the country and include representatives of the trade unions, boards of guardians, philanthropic organizations and the local authorities. It is thus hoped to promote "the mobilization of labor" as effectively as the mobilization of troops and ships.

Housing in Peace and War.

The most significant and original of all these relief measures are two national housing enterprises. One, for the building of cottages for rural laborers, had been initiated, but not put into operation, before the war. Housing Bill No. 2, however, was proposed and unanimously carried through distinctly as a war relief measure for the employment of the building trades and for the provision of improved dwellings in town and country. It appropriated $20,000,000 for the building of houses and cottages to be let at economic rent in the United Kingdoms. The bill was announced as more of an investment than a charity and its operation was restricted to one year. The money will be advanced on loan for such local use.

The local government board explained that it would arrange with public utility societies and local authorities to proceed under the act to provide houses where they were most needed.

In concluding its statement of how the funds provided by the votes of credit would apply to "the relief of distress," the government informed the house of commons that it would cooperate with relief funds and all other private voluntary agencies and that it would endeavor both to prevent overlapping and to promote co-operation, especially between official and voluntary efforts. Most significant was the government's final word: "While the poor law authorities should deal with present paupers, the relief of distress would as far as possible be carried out by other bodies. The poor law was being kept rather in reserve, and all other methods would first be adopted before we fall back on that last line of defense."

Britain's Greatest Legislature Week.

Thus that first week in August, which threatened Europe with the greatest destruction which has ever overtaken its civilization, was signalized by the most constructive, or reconstructive, legislation ever enacted in any one week throughout the long history of the British parliament. And it did so in the rush of its gigantic defensive and offensive preparations for war. Although all these measures are temporary provisions to meet the emergency demanding immediate relief from the present or possible disasters of war, yet they cannot fail to affect profoundly the social legislation and administration which had already become the permanent policy of the British empire and of its county and municipal governments.

MILITARY CAMPS AT SCHOOLS IN ENGLAND.

London, Sept. 19.—Most of the universities and schools have been turned into military camps temporarily. At Cambridge and other places commons have been covered with tents and uniformed soldiers are learning military science on grounds given over so long to the cap and gown.

Indications are that the attendance at the universities this fall will be so slight that the army may continue to use many of the school buildings without interfering with college work.

The presence of troops about the various colleges at Cambridge has fired the town with the military spirit and stimulated recruiting work. Already more than 1,500 members of the Officers' Training corps at Cambridge have offered their services as commissioned officers.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LAWYERS TO GIVE VIEWS

North Dakota Bar Favors Pre-Primary Vote on Judicial Candidates.

Candidates for Supreme Court Favored By Bar to Be Nominees.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota lawyers will take an informal ballot on the indorsement or rejection of the supreme court candidates, according to the decision of the North Dakota Bar association reached here yesterday.

The state association adopted the report of the committee that has investigated the question, which proposed a method of balloting. The ballot, bearing the names of such attorneys as are candidates for the supreme court, will be submitted to all attorneys of the state, 120 days in advance of the state primary election. Of the list submitted, the two highest candidates will be considered the nominees of the State Bar association.

By adopting this method, it is proposed to do away with a condition that has prevailed in several recent bar meetings, where the question of indorsing judiciary candidates caused bitter politics, seriously affecting the work of the association.

Judge C. W. Butz of the Second judicial district, in his address proposing methods of dealing with the state juveniles, proposed that either the state school of forestry at Bottineau, the science school at Wahpeton, or the normal-industrial school at Ellendale be converted into vocational schools for dependent children.

The association places itself in opposition to the recall of the judiciary.

Redistricting Judicial Districts.

Definite steps will be taken within the next few weeks for the redistricting of the state judicial districts. Under the present plan, several districts are cumbersome, including a big territory, and giving the judges an exceptionally large amount of work, while in other districts, the work is very light. This inequality in the distribution of the work, it is maintained, has resulted in damage to the clients in many instances, by reason of long delays.

President F. L. McVey of the University of North Dakota, who addressed the association yesterday afternoon, dealt with the revolution in American law.

The committee on grievance reported in favor of a measure which would compel the giving of evidence relating to disbarment proceedings. Under the present condition, committees engaged in the investigations of complaints against attorneys is handicapped. The proposed measure would do away with such handicap, and open the records to the investigators more readily.

In his address at its annual banquet, President Knauf urged that plans be executed to secure a complete enrollment of attorneys.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SPLENDID FARM EXHIBITS MADE AT THE LAKE COUNTY FAIR THIS WEEK

L. D. ROSE'S DISPLAY, WHICH TOOK FIRST PRIZE OFFERED BY IRON RANGE ROAD.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herlad.)—The Lake County Agricultural society's eighth annual fair closed last night at 10 o'clock. It was most successful in every detail, surpassing any previous efforts made by the fair association.

According to Secretary W. B. Woodward, the fair was at least 30 per cent larger than last year, and the attendance was considerably larger also.

The agricultural department under the superintendence of Thomas Owens, was one of the main attractions, and proved beyond a question what could be successfully grown on the fertile soils of Lake county. Those Duluthians who attended the fair yesterday afternoon were amazed at the wonderful displays.

Fine Livestock.

Possibly the greatest surprise to every one who attended the fair was the splendid and exceptionally large stock exhibit. There were 200 head of livestock and of this number upwards of thirty were pure breeds. Cutliff Bros. of Drummond displayed pure bred registered Holstein, two cows and one bull, which took the first prize of $25. Cutliff Bros. also took first prize on pure breed Holstein calf. L. D. Rose took first prize for the best herd of grade Holsteins, a bull and four cows. George Waldren of Stanley won the second prize for herd of grade Holsteins.

In the horse section, Alex Halliday of this city won first prize for the best driving horse, and Dr. J. D. Budd took second prize.

For prizes of best draft team and best farm team there was little competition, William Cable taking the prize for the best farm team, and Joseph Lager taking the prize for the best draft team. Many other prizes were won on single heads of horses and cattle.

On account of the cold, damp weather which prevailed here yesterday afternoon, the stock parade idea was abandoned.

On account of the continual increase in exhibits, the officials believe more buildings will have to be provided. In preparation for this fair, two new buildings were constructed, a poultry, and stock building, and these were filled to the capacity and then some.

The association has enjoyed a wonderful growth during the past eight years.

Officer of Lake County Fair Association, Who Won First Prize for Farm Exhibit.

The great rush to secure final papers is attributed to the European war, and the desire to escape military service as well as a wish to vote in the coming state election. MARKET HAS FAIR BULGE

Wheat Strong on Higher Liverpool Cables and Export Demand.

Flaxseed Recedes on Light Tradings—Crushers Are Buying Sparingly.

Duluth Board of Trade, Dec. 19.—The market was nervous today, with a large volume of business put through during the short session. At the outset maximum advances of around 2c were recorded in sympathy with a sharp bulge at Liverpool, and heavy expert buying reported at the seaboard. Quotations broke at the close on realizing and evening up over the holiday, but final figures showed gains of ⅝@⅞c in the day.

September wheat opened 1⅜c up at $1.13, and it closed ⅞c up at $1.12½. December opened 1¼c up at $1.13¾, and closed ⅝c up at $1.13½. May opened ⅝c up at $1.20, and closed ¾c up at $1.20⅛.

A big Eastern millers' call for durum was met with, and prices in it held strong up to the finish, showing substantial gains. September durum opened ⅞c up at $1.04, and closed 2¼c up at $1.05⅝. October opened ⅞c up at $1.05, and closed 2¼c up at $1.06¼. November opened 2½c up at $1.07, and closed at that figure. December opened 1c up at $1.06¾, and closed 2c up at $1.07¾.

Oats were strong on all the American markets, with urgent export demand and the working of a large foreign trade reported. They closed ⅞@1 up at 47¼c for on track. Rye was stronger, closing 2c up at 90@91c. A very quiet demand for barley has prevailed for several days back, and as traders have found it impossible to dispose of the stuff arrving here, supplies have been accumulating on the tracks at a rapid rate. The market in it closed nominally unchanged today at from 50@60c.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ⅛c up at 49⅝c asked and December ⅛c up at 49¾c asked.

Receipts were heavy locally, 609 cars of wheat being inspected against 467 last year. Inspections at Duluth, Minneapolis and Winnipeg for the day aggregated 2,340 cars against 2,128 last year, an increase of 212 cars. The extent of the movement at the primary markets was evidenced in receipts for the week of 19,190,00 bu, compared with 11,739,00 bu last year. Shipments were 10,347,000 bu, compared with 5,977,000 bu a year ago.

A liberal export trade in wheat, corn and oats was reported at all the Southwest markets, and cash premiums ran about 3c higher than yesterday.

Flaxseed Still Sags.

Flaseed continued weak, with only light trading coming in it. Crushers are said to be in the market for only sufficient supplies from day to day to cover current requirements in view of the uncertainty regarding the marketing of the Argentine crop and the cutting off of the European demond for linseed oil. Final prices for the day were ½@1¼c lower.

September flax closed 1c off at $1.49½. October opened unchanged at $1.50¾ and closed 1¼c off at $1.50½ asked. November opened ⅝c off at $1.53 and closed 1c off at $1.52¾. December opened unchanged at $1.54, and closed ½c off at $1.53½.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 1c off at $1.28¾ asked. November closed at $1.31 asked, and December at $1.33½ asked.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A good export demand for corn was reported from Holland, Denmark and Sweden.

• • •

Over 1,500,000 bu cash wheat are reported to have been bought at Kansas City for export this week.

• • •

The steamer Curry is loading 65,000 bu spring wheat at the Capital and 50,000 bu spring wheat at the Peavy elevator; the Bransford 60,000 bu oats at the Itasca elevator, and 132,000 bu spring wheat at the Consolidated elevator, and the Capt. Thos. Wilson 250,000 bu spring wheat at Elevator S.

At Minneapolis, the cash market was steady, with a good demand. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at the December price to ⅛c under, and velvet chaff at 1½c under. Flour sales were reported moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.12⅜ to $1.14¼, and No. 2 northern at from $1.09¼ to $1.11¼.

The government October crop report will be issued Wednesday, Oct. 7, at 1:15 p. m., Chicago time, and will give the condition on Oct. 1 or at that time of the harvest of corn, potatoes, tobacco and flaxseed, yield per acre and preliminary estimate of the total production and quality of spring wheat, oats and barley.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat opened with a steady undertone, ½d to 2½d higher, and later there was a further advance which carried prices an additional ½d to 1½d higher, with heavy covering in December. Firmness of Manitoba offers, decreasing pressure of wheat on the quay, and the expectation of lighter shipments this week, caused the opening advance. Later speculators purchased freely of distant months with offers light. Unfavorable reports from Argentina, as cabled yesterday, and the strong advance in Rosario, with a growing belief that later offers will be strongly held, and the broadening demand from outside countries, led to support. At the close, the undertone was very firm, 1d to 4d higher than yesterday, with the principal strength in December.

"Corn opened unchanged to ½d higher, and later there was a further advance of ½d, with undertone firm. Argentine spot is more firmly held and shipments from the Danubian countries are expected to continue light.

"Portugal reports are that the supply of wheat as a foodstuff is plentiful and that the corn crop is making good progress, with weather favoring it. Much corn has already been gathered."

• • •

Baker had the following from New York: "They are reporting 600,000 bu corn worked for export yesterday. I understand a boat is loading now at the Erie elevator which will take 375,000 bu for France. This was sold some time ago, and I think it is included in yesterday's sales. Opinions here very much mixed as to amount of cash wheat worked this morning. Personally I don't think much has been done. France, I think is buying. Good export demand for oats is claimed."

• • •

Parker, Paine had the following from Winnipeg: "Yields are very disappointing and the oats crop is going to be a surprise. Some places where they expected 40 bu per acre, they are getting 20. In fact all yields are being cut down on account of light weight. It is seldom you get any over oats 35 pounds, while in the past 40 to 45 pounds was not uncommon. Flax is especially light in yield."

• • •

There is thought to be no question but that Southwest mills are selling all the flour they can make to go abroad. Interior mills are running day and night. At this rate it is predicted wheat will be scarce by Dec. 1.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Strength of Prices in Liverpool Causes Wheat to Jump 3 Cents.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Wheat made a sudden jump today of more than 3 cents a bushel. Astonishing strength of prices at Liverpool was largely responsible. Supplies there were reported to be diminishing, and demand from European countries decidedly broad. Dispatches also at hand asserting that Kansas mills were selling all the flour they could make to go abroad. After opening 1½c to 3⅛c higher, the market reacted somewhat, but quickly turned upward again.

After a further ascent values eased off owing to reports that the advance would cause receipts northwest to enlarge. The close was unsettled at 1¾@2c above last night.

Corn was more active and higher, mainly as the result of export business disclosed last night. Offerings were rather light. The opening, which ranged from ⅜c to 1¼c up, was followed by an additional gain.

Afterward the market receded with wheat. The close was nervous at 1½c to 1⅝@1½c net advance.

Oats climbed with other cereals. Shorts were conspicuous on the buying side.

Higher prices for hogs helped to lift provisions. Demand, however, was not urgent.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, Sept. 19.—Dun's Review says: "Hesitancy in entering upon new commitments continues and a spirit of caution is everywhere manifested, yet the confident feeling in business circles is maintained. Sentiment is strengthened by developments in the financial situation, a favorable impression being created by the further improvement in foreign exchange and the action taken with a view to meeting maturing obligations abroad. Considerable gold has already been shipped to Canada for this purpose and it is evident that banking interests here are actively engaged in the effort to restore more normal monetary conditions. The prevailing high rates for accommodation still exert a restraining influence upon trade expansion, but moderate progress is noted in the various leading lines, especially in the eastern and western part of the country.

"Failures this week in the United States were 384 compared with 282; in Canada, 55 against 20 last year. Bank clearings $2,067,626,000, a decrease of 26.7 from last year."

FAIR INQUIRY FOR KEATING STOCK

Business in Duluth curb mining stocks today was confined to a few trades in Keating and Calumet & Sonora. Better interest in the latter issue was reported as a result of the intimation that plans to install a smelter at the property are under consideration.

Operations at the Keating mine are said to be encouraging at present, with fair profits being earned through current shipments of high-grade gold ore by wagon.

Production of the Shattuck-Arizona Copper company for the first eight months of the present year was as follows: Copper, 9,587,717 pounds; silver, 185,583 ounces, and gold, 2,238.64 ounces. Production for August was 725,450 pounds copper, 9,430 ounces silver, and 135.42 ounces gold. Development work at the property continues active, though production is now at about 50 per cent of normal. This property will be in shape for heavy and sustained production when demand for the metal warrants the activity. The Shattuck also contains extensive deposits of lead ore.

• • •

"Buying of copper continues of a hand to mouth character," says Skillings' Mining and Market Letter today. "This is true of export and domestic demand. The consumers are satisfied to allow the producers to carry the metal. The large agencies are quoting the metal at 12¾@12½ cents, but no difficulty is being experienced in buying at 12¼ cents a pound. There is slightly better feeling in copper circles due largely to better shipping facilities, headway being made toward adjusting the foreign exchange situation and more favorable developments abroad. Spelter is $5.25 to $5.30, and lead is $3.70 to $3.75."

PLAN OF BANKERS MEETS APPROVAL

Washington, Sept. 19.—The bankers' plan for a $100,000,000 gold fund to meet American obligations to Europe was approved today by the Federal reserve board.

National banks in central reserve cities will be asked to contribute to the fund but country banks are not expected to participate. Although a syndicate of New York bankers already has arranged to take care of $80,000,000 of that city's European obligations, national banks in New York will be counted upon for contributions to the additional $100,000,000 fund.

The gold will be deposited in the branch of Bank of England, in Ottawa, Canada. The first call on banks probably will be designed to bring out from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000. Details of the plan, however, were not worked out today at a conference between bankers and the board. They will be considered next week.

DECKER SEES FINE OUTLOOK

Minneapolis Banker Optimistic Regarding Business in Northwest.

Edward W. Decker, president of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis, is optimistic regarding the outlook for business in the Northwest. This part of the country is in an excellent condition, he thinks. He believes that farmers will, on the whole, realize substantially more money than usual for their crops this season, so that, consequently, the fall should be a favorable one for all business interests.

In the course of a recent interview given out to the Wall Street Journal in New York, he said:

"One feature of the situation which is particularly promising is the fact that the farmers are diversifying their crops more and more. This year they have given more than usual attention to corn, but instead of marketing this corn, they are building silos and intend to feed it to livestock, which should be a considerable factor in connection with the price of meat.

"There is positively no cloud on the horizon except the European war, and we look forward to increased business and higher prices for products as the eventual outcome of that struggle, which is paralyzing both the agricultural and industrial activities of Europe. It seems to me that the requirements for the financing of Europe, which will be in evidence at the close of the war, will have a tendency to divert money to that quarter because of the attractive rates which it will command. This would undoubtedly produce a tendency toward lower security values when the stock exchanges reopen. There should be nothing alarming in that situation for the reason that such liquidation as might take place would be for the purpose of securing funds for the new investments.

"The net result ought to be of great benefit to America, in the long run, whatever hardships may have to be endured in the interim. But in our part of the country, those hardships will not be great."

H. C. OF L. HITS FOOTWEAR ALSO

Leather Prices Advancing for Two Years and War Assists.

Prospects now are that the public will be compelled to pay considerably higher prices for all grades of shoes. The factories have, in fact, already raised their lists, and further advances are likely soon.

Manufacturers of shoes and harness are apprehensive regarding the growing scarcity of leather and its ultimate effect on the output and prices of finished products.

Attention is drawn to the fact that the shortage of leather has been severely felt during the last two years and that consequently quotations in footwear have been steadily advancing. Under these conditions the factories are exceedingly chary about making future quotations and in some lines of harness and leather findings business is being accepted only for immediate delivery.

Since the general advances that were made shortly after the European war started, the trend has been further upward. Some grades of oak sole-leather are up 5 cents a pound from where they were at the end of July, and upper-leathers are up from 1 to 5 cents a foot.

Referring to the situation and outlook, a large Eastern sole-leather manufacturer says:

"As financial conditions improve, Europe is beginning to show evidences of wanting leather. England has been getting a large supply of leather from Germany and Austria. These two channels are now cut off. England under normal conditions imports $10,000,000 worth of sole leather from the United States and with the continental countries at war, England's requirements from the United States will naturally be on the increase.

"The abnormal rates of exchange coupled with the war risks and the lack of freight carrying vessels from South American countries is handicapping the United States generally from getting a supply of hides.

"The consumption of leather in foreign countries under these war conditions is much larger than when the world is at peace. Every country must keep her soldiers well shod. That is almost as essential as the food supply.

"We have already had some orders for leather from abroad and in the last two days we have had cables inquiring about the situation showing that they are about to resume their buying.

"Heavy oak leather manufactured by English tanners and suitable for army work has advanced 8 to 10 cents a pound and lighter leather is up 4 or 5 cents a pound.

"In the United States and in South America the cattle kill is much smaller than a year ago and a hide shortage is growing. There have been fully 375,000 fewer cattle killed in this country than in the same period last year. If tanners were operating their plants at capacity there would not be enough hides to go around."

CHANCELLOR TALKS ON EUROPEAN WAR

London, Sept. 19.—"There is no man in this hall who throughout his political life has regarded the prospect of engaging in war with greater repugnance than myself. There is no man either inside or outside this hall who is more convinced than I that we could not have avoided the present war without national dishonor."

This was the text of a speech which David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, made in Queen's hall this afternoon to arouse Welsh enthusiasm for field marshal, Earl Kitchener's new army.

The chancellor went on to say that any nation which disregarded its national honor was doomed and Great Britain was bound by honorable obligations to defend the independence, liberty and integrity of Belgium.

SAY CROWN PRINCE STILL RETREATS

Paris, Sept. 19, 2:49 p. m.—The official statement given out in Paris this afternoon says the French have advanced on the right bank of the Oise; that the Germans are bringing reinforcements from Lorraine to the river Aisne; that the enemy is holding firm on the center, and that the army of the German crown prince continues to retreat. The text of the statement is as follows:

"First—On our left wing on the right bank of the river Oise, in the direction of Noyon, we have advanced. We hold all the heights of the right bank of the Aisne, opposite an enemy who is reinforcing himself by the bringing of troops from Lorraine.

"Second—On the center the Germans have not moved from the decp trenches constructed by them. On our right wing the army of the German crown prince continues its movement of retreat. Our advance in Lorraine is regular.

BUTTE MINING COMPANIES RUN ON "OPEN SHOP" PLAN

Little Trouble Encountered in Enforcing the New Rule.

Tuolumne Mine Looking Better Than for Some Time Past.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Butte mining companies have so far encountered very little trouble in enforcing their new rule to recognize no miners' union and to run their properties on the "open shop" plan. The companies, tolerating the chaotic and lawless condition among the mine workers as long as they could, took advantage of the presence of the state militia and martial law to put into effect the new rule. But one mining company, the Davis-Daly, did not sign the agreement entered into by the mine owners. Those signing the agreement, after a meeting of representatives of all the companies, are the Anaconda Copper Mining company, the North Butte Mining company, Butte & Superior Copper company, Butte-Ballaklava Copper company, Butte & Zenith City Mining company, Elm Orlu Mining company, Timber Butte Milling company, Butte Alex Scott Copper company, Pilot-Butte Mining company, Tuolumne Copper Mining company, East Butte Copper Mining company, Rainbow Development company and the Butte-Duluth Mining company. In their formal statement the companies said:

Statement by Companies.

"The facts leading up to the present labor situation are too well known to need any recital. It has been the position of the mining companies from the beginning, and one which they had hoped to maintain, that the controversy was one which involved only the employes, and that the companies should not, under any circumstances, be called upon to take sides or interfere in any manner in connection with the matter. However, the time which intervened from the 13th of June to the present has demonstrated the impossibility of these labor organizations adjusting their difficulties, and such radical action was taken by the Butte Mine Workers' union that it became apparent that a condition existed under which mining operations could not be continued. The attitude of the Mine Workers' organization toward the employer, as expressed in their published notices, and in the constitution adopted by it, put that organization beyond the possibility of being recognized or dealt with in any way, and so far as that organization is concerned, the companies will not now, nor at any time in the future, recognize its jurisdiction or permit it to interfere in any way with operations conducted by any of them.

Miners in Revolt.

"So far as the local union of the Western Federation of Miners is concerned it became apparent immediately after the dissension of June 13 that the vast body of men employed in the Butte mines were openly in revolt against that organization, and that they would not, under any circumstances, rejoin or be longer identified with it. During the intervening period of nearly three months that organization has demonstrated its inability to assert its jurisdiction, or assume control over the underground workers of Butte. Indeed, so impotent had it become that it was unable to protect its property from destruction or to offer its members the slightest protection when organized mobs, acting under the leadership of the officers of the Butte Mine Workers, undertook to, and did, deprive such members of employment and drive them by force from the community. These mining companies had entered into contracts which, inferentially at least, gave the Butte Miners' union, W. F. of M. jurisdiction over their respective employes until June 1, 1915. The earnest desire of these companies has been, and always will be, to live up to and perform fully and completely every contractual obligation, but it is a universal principle of law and reason that where one party to a contract is wholly incapable of carrying out its part of the contract, the other party to the contract is released.

Absolved From Contract.

"There can be no question that the circumstances above recited, as well as many others, absolutely absolve the mining companies from any obligation to regard the contracts with the Butte Miners' union as of any further binding effect. To longer recognize the jurisdiction of the Butte Miners' union would be equivalent to endeavoring to compel the employes of these companies, against their will and wish, to belong to a labor organization which a great majority of them have most emphatically repudiated. It is therefore the position of these companies that they will not under existing conditions compel any of their employes to join the Butte Miners' union, W. F. of M., in order to remain at work in the Butte mines, and no committee or other representatives of either organization will be permitted to visit the mines of these companies for the purpose of inspecting cards, buttons or other evidences of membership in either organization. With all other organizations with which these companies have contracts, the companies will live up to the letter and perform fully the obligations imposed by such contracts. So far as the miners themselves are concerned, these companies pledge themselves to work the same hours and pay the same scale as was provided for in the contracts with the Butte Miners' union."

Tuolumne.

The Tuolumne mine is reported to be looking better than it has for some time, and the management believes it will continue to improve. Work is being directed to the cross-cutting on the 2,600-foot level, which is in about 125 feet from the station, which was cut last month. The ledge, it is expected, will be reached about Oct. 15. While the development work on the lower levels has been pushed along shipments have been made regularly from the upper levels, about 35 to 40 cars going to the Washoe smelter each month, the returns from the shipments more than offsetting the expenses of the new development work. The Tuolumne has been kept working seven days a week with a force of 115 men, and at present there is no thought of either shutting down or curtailing. The character of the ore taken from the lower levels is little different from that on the higher levels, but the management still has hopes that with deeper mining the grade of ore and size of ore bodies will improve.

Pilot.

At the Pilot mine, which is owned by the same interests that control the Tuolumne and is under the same management, a material improvement is reported. For several weeks the development work has been confined to the 2,400-foot level, where some fine ore has been taken from the drifts. Five or six cars a month have been shipped to the Washoe smelter. It is expected that stoping will begin in a short time and that shipments will be materially increased in about a month. At the present time forty-five men are employed in the Pilot.

Butte & Zenith City.

The Butte & Zenith City Mining company is working three shifts a day at its property southwest of Butte and good progress is being made in sinking, although the flow of water has been so heavy that only 65 feet were added to the depth of the shaft in August. Two No. 9 Cameron pumps are working from the bottom of the shaft and lift 250 gallons per minute. The shaft is following the vein and the management is much encouraged by the mineral showing. Recent average samples assayed 1.3 per cent copper and two ounces of silver to the ton. The shaft will be sunk to a depth of 1,000 feet and from that point extensive lateral development work will be done.

Doebler Property.

Report is that F. Augustus Heinze has taken over the Doebler property near Claysoil, between East Heoena and Winston, but the report is also denied, although Mr. Heinze's manager, M. W. Bacon of Butte, is manager of the property.

August Gold Mine.

The new August gold mine, in the Little Rockies on the Great Northern about sixty miles south of the town of Malta, is showing up fine and promises to become one of the important producers of the state. The mine is equipped for good operations with a 200-ton mill. A. L. Smith of Helena, vice president of the National Bank of Montana, is one of the heavy stockholders.

Easton Suspends.

The old Easton mine at Virginia City, the camp's largest producer, has been forced to suspend work as an indirect result of the war in Europe. The Easton is a gold producer and uses a great quantity of cyanide which was procured from Germany, the supply having been cut off by the war. The Easton employed about 100 men.

York to Start.

The York Gold Mining company is about to start work on its property on Trout creek, the new mill, costing $50,000, being about completed. It has a capacity of 60 tons a day. H. E. Chaney and H. T. Wilkinson of Missoula are among the chief owners in the company.

Indications of Oil.

The Power City Oil and Natural Gas company, which is drilling a well on the west side of the river from Great Falls, has reached a depth of 1,200 feet and is in a strata of shale which is supposed to cover oil sand. The drillers have encountered increasing oil indications and the faith in Great Falls is strong that an oil producer will be developed.

FINE SHOWING BY CALUMET & ARIZONA

What Was Accomplished Until Beginning of the War.

Owing to the unsettled condition of the copper market, the directors of the Calumet & Arizona decided to pass the dividend usually paid in September. Calumet & Arizona mantained, under the closing of the Boston copper market, a remarkable degree of firmness. This was no doubt induced by the excellent record that the company has been making and its prospects for the future. It seems, indeed, a pity that its operations should be disturbed. Its output for July of 5,940,000 pounds is the second largest that the company has ever reported and only 35,000 pounds under that of January of this year. The total for the seven months was 38,145,000 against 29,143,000 in the same period of 1913.

If the company could have maintained the clip established in July, it would have made an excellent showing for the year. In 1913 its costs were down close to 7½ cents a pound and no doubt this figure could easily have been maintained.

This would have meant earnings on the 14-cent market for copper that obtained up to the time war was declared, of better than $7 per share. In addition, the company has, of course, its new porphyry property—Ajo—where 40,000,000 tons have been developed, from which it is expected a net profit of at least $1 a ton will be made. The preliminary problems, such as water supply, concentration, etc., were in a fair way to be solved; in fact, a high extraction by the method of leaching had been anticipated; presumably the development of this property will be somewhat retarded, though not, it is hoped, for long.

The company has completed at Douglas what is practically a new plant and probably the finest of its kind in the Southwest. This was built and paid for without the issuance of any securities. The company's low cost of production will stand it in very good stead in the temporary depression in the metal market.

AUGUST OUTPUT AT BARNES-KING

Value of Bullion Realized During Month Was $27,400.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 19.—President Goodale of the Barnes-King Development company has just received the estimates on the August output of the North Moccasin property of the company. The estimated value of the bullion realized during the month was $27,400. This was from approximately 4,200 tons of ore.

The average amount realized per ton was $6.50. This is not as good as the yield for July, but is better than that for June.

The work is going steadily along at the North Moccasin and every prospect is that conditions will continue fully as good if not better than at present. The gross receipts of $27,400 from the bullion will leave a profit above the milling and mining expenses of about $10,000. It may vary slightly either way from these figures.

At the Piegan Gloster the construction of the new mill and the installation of the machinery are going steadily along. It is probable that the mill will be entirely completed and ready for operation before the cold weather strikes. The only trouble there is in the matter of getting the power needed. The delay in the construction of the pile line from Great Falls to Deer Lodge by the Montana Power company left the Barnes-King company in somewhat of a quandary. That line as surveyed goes by way of Marysville and would furnish the needed power.

The company, however, hopes to have the problem solved and the mill in operation before the end of the present year.

Large quantities of ore are ready for the mill as soon as operations begin and that will add to the revenue producing sources of the company.

IS IN SHAPE TO HAUL ORE

Northern Pacific About to Begin Shipments From Kennedy Mine.

Shaft Sinking Will Soon Be Under Way at the Croft.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cedar Lake connection of the Northern Pacific railway with the Soo has been completed and the Northern Pacific is now in shape to haul ore from the Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company. There is still about 20,000 tons in the stockpile at Cuyuna. The shovel is in position and there are reports that the Northern Pacific is to start hauling ore from the Kennedy on Monday. It is believed that in the production of ore at the Kennedy, the Soo and the Northern Pacific are each to haul half.

The Armour No. 2 mine at Crosby has cleared up its stockpile and is now continuing to ship from shaft to cars. A new trestle for a stockpile is being built. The Thompson mine of the Inland Steel company, a pit mine at Crosby, is shipping. At the Croft mine, visited by John A. Savage of Duluth this week, the steel and concrete chimney is over 100 feet high. The mine buildings are nearing completion, the boilers being placed. Shaft sinking will soon be under way. The Pennington pit mine is filling in at the south end of Ironton, the overburden being hauled on Soo and Northern Pacific tracks.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine is shipping from seven to ten cars a day. The Cuyuna-Duluth mine is shipping three and four cars a day and is also stockpiling. At the Duluth-Brainerd drifting has been resumed and the water situation is well in hand.

Drilling the Sixth Hole.

At the Crow Wing county poor farm property the Longyear Exploration company is drilling the sixth hole.

The shaft is now down over 190 feet at the Wilcox mine of the Canadian-Cuyuna company. They will drift at 200 feet depth and work has progressed so favorably that shipping will be done before navigation closes this season. A miners' "dry" or change house has been completed. It is built of concrete blocks. The concretors are now working on a concrete bed for the hoist.

The Adams mine at Oreland is hoisting and stockpiling. No ore has yet been shipped. The Rowe pit mine at Riverton is shipping steadily, averaging sixty cars daily. The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in Brainerd has its new timber drop shaft down eighteen feet.

Another test shaft is soon to be sunk on the Cuyuna-Sultana property, a forty which adjoins the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine to the east. Drilling was completed this week, the Seafield Exploration company having drilled thirty holes and the Carlson Exploration company twenty-nine holes. Capt. Kitto reports that the shaft from the present shaft is in nice ore. It is confidently expected to have the Cuyuna-Sultana on the shipping lists next year.

Finding Good Ore.

At Barrows and vicinity drills of the Barrows Mining company and Brainerd Mining company are finding good ore. The Barrows Mining company is drilling in the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 16, township 44, range 29.

The Minnesota Land & Colonization company has sold to George Moulster of Pine River the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter and the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 7, township 137, range 28. John W. Smiers has sold to Mary F. Savage an undivided five thirty-second interest in the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 30, township 47, range 29 and an undivided five thirty-second interest in the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 33, township 136, range 26. Charles Nolmeyer and wife have given a right of way deed to the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railway, being in the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 11, township 46, range 29, also a right of way deed to the same party in the east half of the northeast quarter of section 11, township 46, range 29.

The International Harvester company has given a quit claim to Bernt T. Hanson, the property being in the northeast quarter and the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter, and northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 23, township 136, range 29, consideration $1,169.73.

Cuyler Adams of Deerwood has given an easement deed to the Northern Pacific railway a strip fifteen feet wide across lot two and the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 30, township 46, range 28. Carl Neumann has sold to Mary F. Savage an undivided one-twelfth interest in the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 30, township 47, range 29 and the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 33, township 136, range 26.

MILL'S CAPACITY IS OVER-TAXED

Part of Extra Force at Butte & Superior Laid Off.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 19.—There has been some surprise expressed of late because about 100 men have been laid off at the Butte & Superior property. But Manager Bruce explains that the normal force is slightly less than 1,000 and when the price of spelter advanced recently more men were put on, bringing the working force there up over the 1,100 mark. Then it was found that production of ore from the mine was over-taxing the mill's capacity, hence the layoff of some of the extra force.

The advance of 1 cent a pound in the price of spelter has been a big boost for Butte & Superior.

The latest returns from the property show that as against an average of something over 1,000 tons a day, the company is now treating more than 1,200 tons daily, much the highest daily tonnage that has been treated in the mill.

It may be expected that this will slightly lower the percentage of recovery, but the grade of the product, which, during the last year, has been advanced from 49 per cent to 54 per cent will be maintained. It will, of course, be of great financial advantage to the company to sacrifice one or two points in the percentage of recovery in order to treat a 20 per cent greater tonnage.

On this higher metal market, with the larger tonnage and higher price for its product, it is safe to say that the company's "ante-bellum" earnings have been nearly, if not quite, doubled.

PRODUCTION SUSPENDED

Burning Slate in the Underground Workings of Hiawatha Mine.

Yale Mine at Bessemer Closed and 150 Men Affected.

Due to burning slate in the underground workings it has been necessary latterly to suspend production at the Hiawatha mine of Rogers, Brown & Co. at Iron River, Menominee range. The incident is the fourth of its kind recorded in the district within recent years. The fires, so-called, result from the oxidation of the sulphur contained in the rock. The trouble at the Hiawatha is seated in a worked-out stope between the sixth and seventh levels. Friction resulting from a slide in the hanging wall is held responsible. Work became impossible when gases from the fire spread throughout the mine or was attended with such discomfort that mining operations were suspended and efforts were concentrated upon an attempt to confine the trouble to its immediate locality. This, it is believed, is being accomplished by scaling the stope and shutting it off from the other workings. Fires of the kind previously recorded were at the Fogarty and Youngs mines at Iron River and at the Bristol at Crystal Falls. None of these was, however, as serious as that at the Hiawatha. The menace is one that is increasing as the operations in the district attain greater depth.

Yale Mine Closed.

Because of trade conditions, the Yale mine at Bessemer, Gogebic range, has been closed. One hundred and fifty men are affected. The Yale is the property of the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company and the only ore producer of that corporation. Of the six furnaces owned by the company only two, those at Elks Rapids and Boyne City, have latterly been in blast. The stack at Newberry, Mich., is, however, resuming operations and those at Ashland, Wis., and Manistique, Mich., are expected to be restored to activity along about the first of the year. Repairs and reconstruction work have been in progress at all three. A notable acquisition to the mine buildings on the Vermilion range is a minerat change house just completed on the United States Steel corporation's Sibley property at Ely. The structure is of the most modern type and has accommodations for 300 men. At the Cascade mine of the Longyear-Pillsbury-Bennett interests, Marquette range, the erection of a steel shaft-house is under way.

Shipping Brisker.

Ore is going out from the mines of the Marquette and Menominee districts at a rate somewhat more brisk than heretofore this season. There is, however, no expectation that the deficiency compared with the volume moved a year ago will be whittled down to a large extent. Nevertheless, for the time being at least, additional cars trains have been put into service. There is an increase also in the number of steam shovels employed upon stockpiles. In the Crystal Falls district it appears probable that by the close of navigation no ore will be left in stock at the mines of Corrigan, McKinney & Co., of Cleveland, the Great Western excepted. Shipments from this group are in progress at the Tobin, Armenta and Dunn properties, with only the latter mine producing. The Bristol property of Oglebay, Norton & Co. of Cleveland, the largest in the field, also continues in idleness, but with hope it will be restored to activity prior to the advent of winter. The Bristol is sending out some ore from stock. Only small orders have been filled to date, however, and the greater part of the stockpile remains. Oglebay, Norton & Co. have taken options on most of the land between M. A. Hanna & Co.'s Ravenna mine and Fortune lake, Crystal Falls, and are now conducting exploratory work. The tracts are in sections 25 and 26, 43-33. Churn drill work is in progress at present. Diamond drills will be employed as soon as ledge conditions have been determined. The work will be prosecuted steadily until the extensive acreage has been thoroughly tested.

At its Rogers property, in the Iron River country, the Hanna Mining company of Rogers, Brown & Co. of Cincinnati is erecting fifteen dwelling houses for the accommodation of miners.

Taxation of Mining Leases.

Whether mining leases are personal property and thus subject to levy under the inheritance tax law is a question the Michigan courts have been called upon to decide. Among the assets of the Fogarty estate of Iron River is the Fogarty mine, operated under lease by Pickands, Mather & Co. of Cleveland. The estate has been in probate for several months, Probate Judge Brackett of Dickinson county presiding. Judge Brackett has ruled that the Fogarty lease, from which the estate draws the revenue upon which the inheritance tax, if any, must be based, is personal property and subject to assessment. It is the contention of the attorneys for the estate that the lease is real estate. Because of this, they will carry the issue to higher tribunals. Should the argument of the attorneys for the estate be upheld it will create a large class of property upon which the inheritance tax cannot be levied. It is agreed that should mining leases be exempt there is no reason why leases on all other classes of real estate should not be excluded, even building leases from which much of the revenue of big metropolitan estates is derived.

J. C. W. Chipman, who, for the last twenty-five years, had been chief clerk for the United States Steel corporation on the Marquette range, has retired from the position. He has been placed on the pension roll. When the company began reducing its working forces he decided to make room for a younger employe.

When, a few days ago, the crew in Shaft No. 2 at Corrigan, McKinney & Co.'s Colby mine at Bessemer, Gogebic range, sent to the surface 674 skiploads of ore, the hoisting record at the property was broken. The day shift loaded 365 skips, and the night shift 309, a total tonnage approximating 2,000. The largest previous hoist in one shift was 325 skips. Cigars were pasted among the men.

THE VALUE OF ART.

Philadelphia Telegraph: In a Washington club recently reference was made to how differently people estimate art, when this one was told by Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood.

Some time ago an artist camped in a farmer's field to paint the adjacent landscape, and while busily engaged in putting in the birds, grass and things, Uncle Josh rambled along.

"Gee!" he exclaimed with every evidence of large admiration as he gazed at the picture, "I'd certainly like to have that if it ain't too derned expensive."

"I'll tell you what I will do," said the artist, thinking to win the good graces of the farmer by making him a present, "I will give you this picture for one of those little pigs over there."

"Gee whittaker, man!" was the incredulous rejoinder of Uncle Josh. "Don't you know that them pigs is worth a dollar apiece?"

NO CHANGE IN ATTITUDE

Copper Companies of Upper Michigan Are Still Marking Time.

New Arcadian Has Fair Disclosure of Copper in New Lode.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—There has been no change in the attitude of the companies here for the ten last days. They are marking time, eagerly and closely scanning the business and financial horizons for any sign of the future. Labor conditions are better than was expected, mainly due to the efforts of the citizens, individually and civically, to provide work for the unemployed.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian entered its new lode at the 900-foot level, the last of the past week and found a fair disclosure of copper. One cut has been made on the southern drift with better values. The lode was in three parts, the first being six feet wide with considerable fine copper, the second trap mixed with vein having a width of eight feet, and the last 14 feet wide carrying fair values throughout. Drifts will be driven in both directions. This showing on this level gives the mineralization a length on the dip of the lode of about 900 feet, with an ascertained length on the strike of over 450 feet, and it confirms the belief expressed a few weeks back by the writer that there would be revealed here an extent of mineralization sufficiently large to make a profitable mine. The lode has been quite remarkable for the uniformity of its high values.

Wolverine.

Wolverine is yielding a daily tonnage fully up to if not a little better than the normal. It fell off in tons of mineral from 472 tons in July to 413 in August, which is only a natural fluctuation often occurring. The average for the year will be over 400 tons. A few years back the monthly average was over 500 tons, but the saving with the latest improvements and methods is so great that the profit is nearly the same. Sinking will be begun in a few days at the shaft from the thirty-ninth level. The concrete stringers for the tracks will be laid down to that level the present week. No. 4 is bottomed at the thirty-seventh level.

Quincy's production is about normal, 4,000 tons a day. Six stamps are being run at the mill. The number of men dropped from the payroll was very small. Shaft No. was closed down since the pumping done there can be done at each of the shafts it drained. There is plenty of good ground opened up at this mine as it has always been the custom to maintain large reserves on account of accidents and cave-ins, so that if one part of the mine should be shut off, as has happened especially from cave-ins, the tonnage could be immediately made up from some other part.

Keweenaw.

Keweenaw Copper is just finishing the loading station on the fifth level and has started one drift. The other drift will be begun this week. With chutes on the third and fourth levels this will make six new openings into new ground. On the five levels now being driven the rock tallies in quality with that encountered since the shaft was reopened, where new ground has been cut. Sinking will be resumed just as soon as the drifts are far enough out of the way so as not to interfere with this work, as it is the purpose of the management to open up sufficient rock for production in the shortest possible time.

Mohawk.

Mohawk is cutting at No. 6 shaft the plat at the twelfth level, which it reached a few days ago, and will soon extend down the concrete stringers and begin to cut out the crosscut to the lode, 65 feet toward the hanging wall.

When this work is ended the drifts will be begun and the sinking will be started again. The concrete collar at No. 5, which has been substituted for the wooden timbers and lagging, some time ago, is now completed, and what in decay, is being brought down. The stringers are being brought down. This work will be finished in a few days and as soon as the drifts can be sufficiently extended, sinking will be resumed. The crosscut to the shaft will cover only be about five feet. Sinking will be also resumed at No. 4 from the twentieth level as soon as the drifts on that level will permit. The openings at the shafts are showing excellent grade copper and with the constantly increasing footage of openings in the southern half of the extent already developed on the lode, where at Nos. 4, 5 and 6 the ground is the best in the mine and with the improvement at No. 2 noted in the report, the outlook for even a better yield per ton is certainly very bright. The daily tonnage is running very close to the capacity of the mill.

Mass.

Mass is still keeping up in average daily shipments, very close to 1,100 tons. This is rue in a great measure to the very high conductivity of its copper, as the metal from the Knowlton-Evergreen group of lodes at this mine is equal in this respect to the best in the district, the Osceola amygdaloid and the Quincy. As the development is all stopped and as a three years reserve offers a variety of grades from which to select the rock, it is figured that with the good price the mine receives for its copper it is at least paying expenses and is probably making some profit.

Calumet & Hecla.

Calumet & Hecla has for the sake of economy closed down its No. 18 shaft on the Osceola amygdaloid. It has been only operating four drills here, two on the fourth and two on the seventh levels, both being carried north so as to determine the quality towards the Centennial boundary. So far the rock has been up to the average of the lode about fifteen pounds a ton. The drills have been moved over to No. 17. For a while the territory at this shaft appeared somewhat lean, but for the last two years, since it has been explored to some degree, the grades have been found to be good. It would seem, therefore, that for its whole distance of two and one-fourth miles on the Calumet & Hecla the lode can be depended upon to maintain the average of fifteen pounds, as its content have been amply tested for the full length to the south. The depth of this shaft is 1,460 feet. The Calumet & Hecla is still keeping up to its average daily tonnage that had been reached for two or three months before the European war.

Franklin.

Franklin has been obliged for the last two weeks to suspend hoisting and consequently all drifting in order to bail out the water from below the thirty-second level to the thirty-sixth. This has been more of a task than it would seem, because the water in the openings on the Pewabic or Quincy amygdaloid on which the shaft is located had to be removed also. A skip pit is now being cut out so that the top of the big ten-ton skip can be brought down even with the floor of the level and the pit will have to be about twenty feet deep. When the crosscut to the Allouez conglomerate, which will be begun as soon as the pit is completed is far enough away from the shaft, the work on the long exploratory crosscut opened to the east for the purpose of, if possible, discovering some good copper bearing lode and which will be extended 4,000 to 5,000 feet, and the work of driving the raise up to the lode beyond the drift opened seventy-five feet above the thirty-second level will be resumed. Two drills will be operated in each of the three openings. The mill has been closed down and will not be reopened until the new drifts that will be driven on the thirty-sixth, thirty-fifth, thirty-fourth and thirty-third levels and on several levels above the thirty-second have been extended far enough to provide a large and profitable tonnage.

Allouez.

Allouez is shipping about 600 tons daily to the Tamarack mill No. 2 and the remainder of its output, about 930 tons, to the Centennial-Allouez mill. It is using one stamp at the Tamarack No. 2 and the other stamp is taking care of the Centennial rock, which runs from 500 to 560 tons a day.

White Pine.

White Pine has roofed in and boarded in its mill, which will have a capacity of 1,000 tons daily. Editor Wilson of the Native Copper Times, who has recently visited this property, makes some interesting figures concerning its production. Setting the yield per ton at 80 to 100 pounds, which he considers conservative, as many familiar with the rock put its values at double that figure, with a tonnage of 1,000 pounds daily, it would produce from 24,000,000 to 30,000,000 pounds a year. Or, in other words, the White Pine would produce about one-half as much as the Calumet & Hecla and would only be required to mine about one-ninth of the rock. This estimate of the yield may seem large, but it is corroborated by the estimate of all those mining men who have inspected any quantity of the rock. Some experienced, conservatives and sane men who could be called as experts even state that there is a possibility of its taking the place of the Calumet conglomerate as a dividend earner.

Houghton.

Houghton Copper closed down Wednesday morning all mining operations except pumping, which will be continued. This action results from the desire on the part of the directors to conserve the rather small amount on hand owing to the improbability of raising funds for quite a long period in the future. The cash realized from the last assessment of $1, called July 15, 1913, paid back the loans and has furnished the money for the operation of the mine to the present time. The showing on the tenth level, where the mining has been carried on, has been quite encouraging, as nearly three-quarters of the 650 feet of drifts has revealed commercial grades.

RESUMPTION AT THE NORTH BUTTE

Mining Again Started as Repairs at Speculator Are Finished.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 19.—The North Butte company resumed operations this week with about 500 miners on the payroll. It was not the war situation that caused the North Butte to close. The Speculator shaft had been in need of repairs for some time and while the copper market was practically stagnant, it was considered an opportune time to suspend operations, during which the needed repairs have been made. The company is preparing to receive the largest and finest electrical hoist in the world at its Granite Mountain shaft.

The North Butte's treasury is in a very strong position, with a cash and metal surplus of over $2,000,000 and total surplus and reserves of almost $3,500,000.

North Butte was never in better condition than it is today underground, with abundant ore reserves and its mineralized conditions persisting well with depth.

When the market closed on July 30 the stock closed at $20.12, selling off $2.39 in that final session.

NEAR ABSOLUTE INDEPENDENCE

United States Has Mineral Resources Exceeding Other Nations.

Probably no other nation in the world so nearly approaches absolute independence in respect to mineral resources as the United States.

A glance at the statistics of mineral imports affords a means of comprehending in a broad way how great and complex is the task of attaining national independence in the mining, metallurgical and chemical industries. Last year the imports of mineral products, both crude and manufactured, exceeded $270,000,000. Of this total probably $200,000,000 represents raw materials and crude metals, the value of these imports being about 8 per cent of that of the domestic output. In this list of imports the larger items named in the order of value are unmanufactured copper, precious stones, nitrate of soda, copper ore and matte, nickel, tin, iron ore, pig iron and steel, potash products, manganese ores and alloys, platinum, aluminum, pyrite, graphite, stone, potash and magnesite. This country has an abundant supply of most of these mineral products that are now imported in large amounts, and as to them it can be independent of foreign countries. The only essential minerals of the first rank of which the United States has no known supply at all commensurate with its needs are nitrates, potash salts, tin, nickel and platinum, the list thus comprising two essential mineral fertilizers and three very useful metals.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

ACQUIRE SITE FOR NEW FACTORY IN THE WEST END

Minneapolis Interests Seeking Lake Avenue Property for Wholesale House.

Duluth Real Estate Dealer Reports Much Improved Feeling in East.

An interesting transfer of business property was effected yesterday between the John Wahl Candy company and C. W. Elston. The former deeded over two lots at the corner of First street and Twenty-third avenue west, valued at $4,750, and took in exchange two lots on Michigan street near Twenty-ninth avenue west at a valuation of $3,000. The property taken over will eventually be utilized by the John Wahl Candy company as a site for its proposed new factory building. It is regarded by the company as being admirably adapted for manufacturing purposes, having easy access to the railroad and being convenient for teaming. While no plans have as yet been made for erection of the new candy factory, it is expected that it will be put up next year.

There were no happenings of special moment in real estate circles this week, but the number of transfers recorded reached a substantial aggregate. Residence properties, building lots and outlying acreages made up nearly all the business put through. Operators aver that inquiry has shown decided improvement during the last few days and now that the financial situation is gradually straightening itself out, a substantial movement in all classes of properties is predicted later on this fall.

It is intimated that negotiations are on with Minneapolis interests for the sale of a frontage on Lake avenue to be used as a location for a large wholesale warehouse. If the deal is completed as expected, the erection of the proposed establishment will be carried through next year.

Think Well of Duluth.

A. W. Taussig returned yesterday from a month's trip in the East, during which he visited New York and some of the other centers. "The financial situation down that way is thought to be gradually improving, and it is predicted that within a few weeks now general trade will have worked back upon a fully normal basis," he said. "It is felt that the action of some of the leading bankers in arranging to take care of New York city's obligations aggregating $100,000,000, will exert a great influence in promoting the resumption of exports to Europe of manufavtured products. The proceeds of the bonds now being issued will establish a foreign credit balance to this country available for drawing upon against shipments abroad.

"I have found that business men in the East think very favorably regarding the prospects for the development of the whole Northwest territory including Duluth. They think that the next big industrial and business move is going to develop this way, and as far as one can judge, a good deal of Eastern money will seek investment here during the next year."

The L. A. Larsen company reported the following sales: To Mary Ann McCallum, a house and lot in Hunter's Park; to T. A. Hendricks, a lot in Parkland division; Lot 21, Block 7, Hunter & Mattsell's Grassy Point division, and a house and lot on Ninth avenue east and Tenth street for $5,200.

The Harris Realty company sold for A. Jappe to A. Olmem, a house and lot on Seventh street, between Ninth and Tenth avenue east at $2,400.

* * *

The A. A. Fider company had a busy week, a number of sales being put through. Two five-room frame houses were sold at Ninth street and Fifth avenue east, E. Anderson and James Stewart being the purchasers.

A lot was sold in Waverly Park, and earnest money was taken on the sale of 16½ acres adjoining Proctor. The purchasers propose to plat it.

* * *

The Field-Frey company sold four Riverside suburban homes tracts to John Hill and David Kuuri at a consideration of $400 each.

It also sold for T. F. Phillips to Esther E. Wick, a house and lot at Twenty-third avenue west and Eleventh street at $1,600.

The Hoopes-Kohagen company reported the sale of a building lot in its Park Drive division, and of a fifty-foot lot on First avenue west and Seventh street.

* * *

Continued inquiry for tracts at Exeter farms was reported by the Alliance Real Estate company. Four lots were sold and a number of other transactions are said to be approaching the closing up stage.

* * *

Interest in properties in the steel plant districts is said to have shown improvement in the last few days. The Gary Land company sold five lots in Gary Central division to outside investors, and Kinzel & Burke effected two sales in Gary First division.

* * *

Richardson, Day & Cheadle report that there is no speculation market, but a good inquiry for medium priced lots and acres for improvement. They report sales of two lots on the upper side of Eighth street between Fifth and Sixth avenues east, one at $620, and one at $225, two lots in Chambers division, each at $400, and two acre tracts in Norton's acre outlots, one at $170 and one at $150.

WILL TEST THE 1913 TAX TITLE LAW.

A mandamus proceeding instituted in district court to test the 1918 law which provides the manner in which title to land taxes will come on for a hearing before one of the district court judges at the special term session Oct. 3.

The proceeding is one directed against Governor Eberhart, who is cited to show cause why he should not execute a governor's deed to Willis J. Holmes. On May 12 last, at a delinquent tax sale, Mr. Holmes purchased certain property in Sharp's addition to Duluth. The assessed valuation in 1912 was $50. The taxes and interest in arrears was $57.21. Mr. Holmes bid it in for $25 and was given an county auditor's certificate.

On June 8, he applied to the state executive for a governor's deed to the property in conformity with the law. The governor refused on the grounds that Mr. Holmes had given no notice that the redemption period had expired. The contention of Mr. Holmes is that no notice is necessary.

LAYS CRIME TO DRINK

Charles Isenegger Confesses Forgeries; Says He Was Drunk.

Declaring that he was drunk and unable to realize the enormity of the crime he was committing, Charles Isenegger, 26 years old, an employe at the Fitger brewery, who was arrested last night on a charge of forgery in the second degree, pleaded guilty when brought before Judge Windom this morning.

As Isenegger's offense does not come under the jurisdiction of the police court, the prisoner waived examination, and was bound over to the grand jury. The prisoner declared he would plead guilty and ask the court's mercy, without awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Although Isenegger passed two checks, he was arraigned on the complaint of Frank Melvin, bartender at 304 East Superior street, who cashed a check for $40, made payable to Isenegger on the City National bank, and signed G. B. Andrews. The other check was passed on George Kelly, colored, who operates a saloon at 23 West Michigan street.

THOUSANDS EMBARK FOR UNITED STATES.

London, Sept. 19.—Six steamers carrying 6,000 Americans, left the British Isles today for the United States. This makes the total of American departures during the week 15,000.

Among the passengers sailing today are Andrew Carnegie and Sir Johnston Forbes Robertson.

The weekly report issued by Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American relief committee in London, shows that 957 Americans have been assisted during the past seven days and that the total of Americans departing since Aug. 6 is 87,000, of whom 8,637 have been assisted.

BUILDERS SEE GOOD OUTLOOK

Two Warehouses and Three Factories Will Be Built.

$30,000 Addition for Villa Scholastica—Money Situation Easier.

While those interested in the various branches of the building trade are busy in connection with jobs in progress both in the city and in towns through the district, comparatively few new propositions came out during the present week. Architects and contractors, however, regard the outlook as steadily growing brighter and, taking a line on the work in sight, it is predicted that active conditions will prevail from now on till the end of the season and that a new high record in the way of operations will be set next year.

The list of projects in view includes two large warehouses in the wholesale district, three factories in the West end and West Duluth and two centrally located business blocks running up in the aggregate to several thousand dollars.

Money Is Easier.

Money conditions are said to have eased up remarkably during the last ten days and local representatives of Eastern insurance and trust companies aver that there is now an abundance of funds available for moderate-sized mortgage loans. Favorable consideration has been reported during the last few days in a number of loan applications and that will enable further new home building, that had been pending, to be proceeded with immediately.

A permit has been issued to the Benedictine Sisters' Benevolent association for a large stone addition to connect the laboratory and the main building at the Villa Scholastica, to entail an expenditure of $30,000. The structure will be 60 by 64 feet in size, four stories in height. On the first floor will be located a large gymnasium; on the second floor a complete science department and on the third two museums and the curator's room. The fourth floor will be utilized for dormitory space. The general contract has been awarded to John Nolan and, according to its terms, the work will be pushed through to completion this fall.

Bids will be opened this afternoon for a brick home with tile roof built for Marcus L. Fay in the East end residence district at an estimated cost of between $35,000 and $40,000. The plans were prepared by Frederick W. Perkins, architect.

F. A. Johnson is taking figures upon a theater and store building to be erected at Ironwood, Mich.

• • •

Eby & Gridley are completing three modern frame homes at Eleventh avenue east and Fifth street. They report a good inquiry for properties in that section.

• • •

The contract for the building of a greenhouse in connection with the high school at Coleraine, Minn., has been awarded to Martin Christensen. The structure will cost about $8,000. The plans were prepared by W. A. Hunt, architect.

• • •

Bids upon the remodeling of and an addition to the Delmonico restaurant building on West Michigan street are due to be in the hands of the architects, Wangensteln & Gillusson, by next Wednesday. It is understood that the contracts will be let and the work proceeded with immediately.

• • •

It is intimated that Massachusetts Realty company, the owner of the Fargusson building at Superior street and Fourth avenue west has decided to defer the erection of the proposed additional story till next spring. The bids as forwarded to the company at Boston were below the $30,000 estimate of the architect, W. P. Allred.

• • •

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

To Benedictine Sisters Benevolent association, fireproof school building	$ 30,000
To J. H. Linck, concrete basement walls, East Eighth street between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues	250
To W. C. Sherwood, frame dwelling, East Sixth street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avenues	1,500

DULUTHIANS WELCOMED

Enthusiastically Greeted on Their Tour of County Fairs.

The Commercial club county fair touring party, under the direction of Chairman Frank X. Gravel of the trade extension committee, returned to Duluth this morning after a strenuous trip beginning last Tuesday morning. They visited the Isanti county fair at Cambridge, the Pine county fair at Pine City, the Carlton county fair at Barnum, the Chisago county fair at Rush City and the Mille Lacs county fair at Princeton.

The party will start out again next Wednesday morning for a tour through another part of Northern Minnesota. The itinerary for the second trip has been extended since first being announced, and the new plans contemplate visits to seven towns in four days.

The party will leave for Grand Rapids at 8:45 a. m., Wednesday, Sept. 23, and will spend the day there. Thursday will be devoted to visits to Wadena and Little Falls. Friday will be given to St. Cloud and Sauk Rapids, and Saturday to Mora and Grasston, the party returning to Duluth Saturday evening at 6:30.

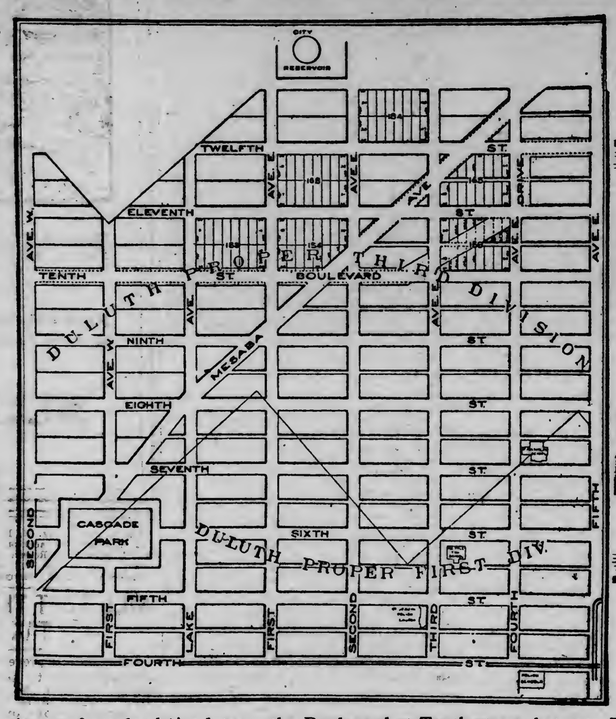

Mr. Gravel is enthusiastic over the trade extension benefit of the visits to the county fairs. He said the Duluth party received an enthusiastic reception everywhere during the past week and that the white caps and badges made the Duluthians prominent even in a large county fair crowd.

TIME FOR ALL GOOD FARMERS TO SELECT THEIR SEED POTATOES

A ST. LOUIS COUNTY POTATO FIELD.

The work of selecting seed potatoes should be taken up at once by every farmer in St. Louis county, according to H. G. Larson, county agricultural agent.

"Otherwise," said Mr. Larson today, "it will do but little good so far as the market is concerned. All the people who sell and ship together must have a uniformly good type of potato to sell. We trust that this question of selecting seed potatoes will be taken up by the several farmers' clubs and that there will be a general co-operation among the members of each club to secure seed that will insure a better crop than heretofore grown in each community for the year, 1915.

"Should any farmers' club or community need assistance or instruction in regard to the method of hill selection they should call upon the county agent, the agricultural instructors in our high schools or consolidated schools, throughout Northeastern Minnesota. All of these will cheerfully give what assistance they can in this work of improving the quality of potatoes grown in this territory. Now is the time to do this work while one can yet distinguish the weak and sickly vines from the good ones. In order to insure getting the seed stock from only high yielding hills the potatoes should be dug by hand and seed and tubers from all unprofitable hills should be rejected.

"A circular issued by the extension department of the University of Minnesota is being prepared and will be mailed to the officers and members of farmers' clubs within a few days, relative to seed potato time. This circular letter will call the attention of farmers and potato growers to the advantages of selecting their seed from the best hills producing good yields of typical potatoes. It has been demonstrated by several trials that it pays to do this.

"It is especially desirable that the farmers of Northwestern Minnesota give seed potato time their attention. If we are going to make potato growing profitable in this territory it is very necessary that the seed be improved in order that the growers may secure potatoes of such quality and type that they will command the highest prices upon the market. There is a great demand for seed stock all through the Mississippi valley and the Southern states for Northern grown seed, seed that is free from disease and true to variety type. The only way to secure such stock is by hill selection at digging time.

"The time set upon as seed potato time is from Sept. 15 to Oct. 1. There is no time which a farmer devotes to his potato crop that will bring him in such large returns as the time devoted to the selection of his seed at this time of year. The seed stock should then be put away in the best part of the root cellar where it will have a uniformly dry atmosphere and cool temperature so that the seed will not sprout until planting time. Such a course will provide seed that will resist unfavorable conditions at planting time, will give a strong, healthy vine, and a good yield of the best of potatoes."

NEW SCALE WEIGHS COAL FOR HARBOR CRAFT AS GROCER WEIGHS SUGAR

THE NEW VESSEL COAL SCALE.

To Duluth belongs the honor of having the best coal-weighing scale in the country. This scale is situated on the Pittsburg Dock No. 7. It has a capacity of 200 tons.

The scale was installed to take care of the harbor craft coaling at the dock. It is operated by one man, who has charge of the scale beam. The big hopper is loaded by electricity and the chutes are operated by the same power.

The operator can sell any amount of coal from a ton to 200 tons with the same accuracy and dispatch that a grocery clerk can handle five pounds of sugar.

Every pound of coal that is taken from the scale is registered and the buyer can tell to a pound just what he is getting. The scales are about the size of an ordinary house and they are said to be so accurate as to register the addition of a fraction of a pound to the load.

J. H. Nordby, state inspector of weights and measures, inspected the scale this week, and says it is one of the most remarkable he has ever seen.

"There is only one other like it in the country," said Mr. Nordby. "That one is in Boston."

LUMBER FLOATS ASHORE; VESSEL MAY HAVE SUNK

It is feared that some lumber carrier has gone down in Lake Superior near this end of the lake, and the life-saving crew is keeping a sharp lookout for any wreckage that may float ashore.

The cause for this fear is that this morning several thousand feet of lumber came ashore on Park Point, but further than that there was nothing, no wreckage having shown up as yet. It may be, of course, that some vessel merely lost her deck load, but that is rather puzzling for the reason that there has been no sea of consequence, and the chance for the loss was meager. Vesselmen say, however, that it would not be a hard matter in case a deck is overloaded, for a boat to list and the load slide off.

The only lumber vessels that left here yesterday were the W. H. Sawyer, belonging to the Hines Lumber company, and which left here at noon yesterday; and the C. F. Curtis, belonging to the same company, which left at 6 o'clock last night. Both are old boats, the former being built in 1890 and the latter in 1882. The Sawyer is 201 feet long and the Curtis 196 feet. Each carries a crew numbering fifteen or sixteen.

ORDINANCE MAY BE PASSED MONDAY

The principal business to come before the city council at its regular meeting Monday afternoon will be consideration of the ordinance appropriating $85,000 for the installation of the West Duluth unit of the proposed municipal lighting plant to be run in competition with the Duluth-Edison company.

The ordinance has had two readings and is due for the third reading and final passage at the commission's next meeting. When it is passed the ordinance must lay over thirty days before becoming effective. In the meantime a petition calling for a referendum vote on it will be filed with the council. Commissioner Voss has stated that he will oppose the ordinance as he believes that the city should make every effort to acquire the plant of the present company before starting a competing plant.

BURGLARS MAKE RICH HAUL IN FOG

Taking advantage of the heavy fog at 1 o'clock this morning, burglars smashed the plate glass window in the jewelry store of Rudolph Wolf, 428 East Fourth street, and stole two valuable watches, four gold-filled watch cases and two rings, although an officer was not a block away. Mr. Wolf estimates his loss at $100, besides the window.

Patrolman Harling heard the crash of falling glass, but the fog was so heavy that the burglars got away before the officer could even see them. It is believed they made their escape to the rear of the building.

Patrolman Harling immediately notified headquarters and Mr. Wolf. They later found a large rock in the window, with which the plate glass had been broken.

Two men, who were arrested about 5 o'clock this morning as suspects in the burglary, were later released.

BLOCKS ATTORNEY'S CASE.

Order for Demurrer Given in Case Against Railway.

Judge Bert Fesler yesterday filed an order in district court sustaining a demurrer to an action begun by Henry F. Greene, a local attorney, against the Great Northern Railway company to recover $737.50 claimed to be due as fees in negotiating a settlement on a wrongful death claim belonging to the estate of Salvatore Palazzolo who was killed in a railroad accident.

Mr. Greene was representing the special administrator of the estate in an action for damages when Domenico Lacovoli, general administrator, settled the claim with the company for $2,350. In his memorandum, Judge Fesler stated that while seemingly an injustice had been done to the attorney, yet the railroad company was not the offending party, as the general administrator was not his client. There was no evidence, the court said, that the company had acted in bad faith in making the settlement.

POSTPONE NAMING McKAY'S SUCCESSOR.

"In view of the fact that the 1914 assessment of taxable property has been about completed and that the necessity for naming a successor to the late William F. McKay, supervisor of assessments in the unorganized territory of St. Louis county, has been obviated until after the first of the year, it is likely that the county board will defer taking any action on the matter at its October meeting.

The work of the supervisor's office plays an important part in the assessment of considerable property. The salary, it is understood, will be about $1,800 annually.

REAL ESTATE IS "MOVING" THESE DAYS

BEFORE YOU BUY A HOME

or lot, or building of any kind in Duluth, take your time and look the field over well; as very often by a little investigation you can save money, and at the same time get a better offering than if you buy in a hurry.

How will you investigate?

It's a simple matter. Practically every Real Estate offering of any kind is published once or twice in the "For Sale Real Estate" columns of the want ads in this paper—and that is absolutely the only place in Duluth that you can find a complete published list of real estate for sale in Greater Duluth.

That's the reason it will benefit you to watch the ads in The Herald before you buy, as it's the only place where you can thoroughly post yourself.

OLD EDIFICE NOTHING BUT EMPTY SHELL

Sends Note to Neutral Governments on Great Loss at Reims.

Says There Was Not Even Appearance of Military Necessity.

French Forces Suffer Terribly From Bombardment of Germans.

Bordeaux, Sept. 21.—The French foreign office has forwarded to neutral governments a protest against the German bombardment against the cathedral of Reims, couched in the following terms:

"Without being able to invoke even the appearance of military necessity and for the mere pleasure of destruction, German troops have subjected the cathedral of Reims to a systematic and furious bombardment. At this hour the famous basilica is but a heap of ruins.

"It is the duty of the government of the republic to denounce to universal indignation this revolting act of vandalism, which in giving over to the flames this sanctuary of history, deprives humanity of an incomparable portion of its historic patrimony."

WESTERN TRIANGLE IN ALLIES' HANDS

German Positions Strong, But Have Been Pierced in Places.

London, Sept. 21.—The Daily Chronicle's Paris correspondent in a dispatch filed Sunday assumes that the Western triangle of Noyon, Compiegne and Vic is now in the hands of the allies.

"The German positions," the correspondent declares, "remain very strong, but they have been pierced and what the middle of last week looked like a wall from Compiegne to Rheims, now present rather the appearance of three groups of entrenched hills which are liable to be isolated and turned.

"Laon, capital of the department of Aisne, is the key of the roads of retreat to the defense of which the German forces are now reduced. Here the Germans had time to choose good artillery positions and entrench themselves strongly.

The allies have reached the edge of the Craonne plateau at Vendresse and Vassogne. There is a substantial breach in the German lines between Laon and Rheims and it is doubtless this threat of their armies being divided which accounts for the repeated and desperate assaults on the French before Rheims.

COMMANDER'S TRAGIC DEATH

Parting Shell From Enemy Cuts Down Gen. Neil D. Findlay.

Remained in Danger Zone in Spite of Protests of Staff.

London, Sept. 21.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail in France describes the death of Gen. Neil Douglas Findlay of the Royal Artillery, as follows:

"When at dawn on Saturday the British advance continued toward Soissons, the enemy was fighting an exceptionally fierce rear guard action.

"A terrible shell fire was directed against our artillery under Gen. Findlay, temporarily situated in a valley by the village of Prise. It seemed a matter of moments when we should have to spike our guns, and Gen. Findlay saw the urgency for action.

"'Boys,' his voice echoed down the line, 'we are going to get every gun into position.' Then deliberately the general approached the regimental chaplain kneeling beside a gunner.

"'Here are some of my personal belongings, chaplain. See that they don't go astray.'

"One by one our guns began to blaze away and the general had a word of encouragement and advice for every man. In vain his staff tried to persuade him to leave the danger zone.

"Our range was perfect, the German fire slackened and died away and with a yell our men prepared to advance. The outburst came too soon. One parting shell, exploding in a contact with Findlay's horse, shattered man and beast."

SERVIAN TROOPS BLOCK ATTEMPTS OF AUSTRIANS TO CROSS RIVER SAVE

Montenegrin Army Only About Ten Miles From Bosnia Capital.

Reports Say Austrians Are Demoralized and Flee in Panic.

Nish, via London, Sept. 21, 10:10 a. m.—An official communication, reviewing the Servian campaign says:

"The enemy's attempts to cross the Drina on the Losnitza-Racha line have again failed and all the Austrian attempts to cross the Save on the Mitrovitza-Shabatz front have also been unsuccessful. Nothing of importance is reported from the Save-Danube front.

The enemy, retiring from Vishegrad, Bosnia, forty miles southeast of Sarajevo, abandoned all his stores. Our troops seized 20,000 kilograms (about 44,000 pounds) of flour, 30,000 tins of meat, many blankets, a field hospital with 100 wounded and all medical stores and forty railway wagons.

"The Montenegrins after carrying the fortress of Fotcha and Gorasda, in Bosnia captured Jabuka on Sept. 16 and took Rogatica on the 17th.

"The morale of our troops is excellent but the Austrians are completely demoralized and are flying panic stricken.

"The Montenegrin army is only fifteen kilometers (about ten miles) from the Bosnian capital and has captured a large amount of booty."

Austrians Driven Back.

New York, Sept. 21.—Col. Golewski, military attache to the Russian embassy, issued today at the Russian consulate here the following official statement, which he said he had received from Petrograd:

"The Austrian rear guard which attempted to delay our advance near Baranow and Rzeszow were driven back with heavy losses. Our artillery is bombarding Jaroslau.

"Fighting with the garrison of Przemysl has begun; the artillery of the fortress has opened fire.

"In passing through the woods our troops find batteries of guns abandoned by the Austrians."

Repulse Attack.

Nish, Servia, via London, Sept. 21.—It is officially announced that a numerically inferior Servian force has repulsed an attack by 20,0000 Austrians near Novipazar. The Servians inflicted heavy losses on the attacking force.

REVENUE BILL IS COMPLETED

Measure Is Introduced in House at Opening of Session.

Underwood Plans to Ask for Consideration on Thursday.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Introduction of the emergency bill to raise $105,000,000 taxing beer, wines, gasoline, bankers, brokers, amusement proprietors and commercial instruments, featured the program for today's session of the house. Democrats of the ways and means committee held a final meeting today as to the phraseology of the bill preparatory to its presentation in the house.

Democratic Leader Underwood, who will pilot the bill through the house, plans to call up the measure for consideration next Thursday under a special rule.

As finally drafted the bill levies a tax of $1.50 a barrel on beer; sweet wines, 20 cents a gallon; dry wines, 12 cents; gasoline, 2 cents a gallon; bankers, $2 on each $1,000 of capital and surplus and undivided profits; brokers, $50 each.

Goods withdrawn from customs houses are to pay a stamp tax of 50 cents and goods entered at customs houses from 25 cents to $1, according to value.

Effective on Passage.

The war tax is effective immediately upon passage of the bill, except that the stamp tax provisions will not become effective until Nov. 1.

The bill, introduced as soon as the house met, puts responsibility for collecting of telegraph and telephone taxes upon the companies through sworn returns to the collectors of internal revenue. In 1898 the public was required to affix a stamp to each telegram.

LOUIS K. HULL MAY BE NEXT MARSHAL

Reported He Will Be Appointed to Succeed Grimshaw.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Information reaching Washington is to the effect that Louis K. Hull of Minnesota is to be appointed United States marshal for Minnesota to succeed William H. Grimshaw. At the department of justice it is stated that Grimshaw's resignation has not yet been called for and he has not been removed.

Attorney General McReynolds stated several months ago, however, that he "would have to get a new marshal," and before he went out of office he was casting about for a suitable man.

The man here to whom the information about Hull was sent claims that it is authentic and that the appointment will probably be made soon after the election. Marshal Grimshaw's term does not expire until Dec. 1915.

FILIBUSTER IS RESUMED

Controversy Over Rivers and Harbors Bill Continued in Senate.

Indications That a Compromise Will Soon Be Effected.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The filibuster on the rivers and harbors bill was resumed today in the senate amid the possibilities of compromise.

After a conference with President Wilson, Chairman Simmons of the finance committee announced that the senate would stay in session continuously until the bill was passed. He expected a vote tomorrow night or Wednesday.

Senator Simmons said informal conferences with Senator Burton, leading opponent of the bill, developed that both sides might yield some points. Mr. Burton told the senate he would be satisfied with a lump appropriation of not more than $20,000,000 to be spent by the war department.

Senator Simmons said that there was no intention of cutting the bill so as

GREAT INCREASE IN POSTAL SAVINGS

Increase in August of $4,200,000 Largest Since Banks Opened.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Deposits amounting to $48,000,000 were in the 9,653 postal savings banks of the country on Aug. 31 last, according to a preliminary examination today of reports to the postoffice department. The increase in August was the largest since the system was inaugurated amounting to about $4,200,000. New York City with deposits totaling $5,366,544 led all other offices. This office, with an increase of $926,842 in August, also made the largest gain for the month. The average daily receipts in New York were about $50,000.

Among other offices showing large increases in August were: Chicago, $184,000; Cleveland, $45,000; Detroit, $76,000; Milwaukee, $42,000; Minneapolis, $28,000; St. Paul, $25,000; Philadelphia, $26,000 and Denver, $20,000.

WHY THE SERVIANS EVACUATED SEMLIN.

Nish, Servia, via London, Sept. 21.—1:05 p. m.—The Servian official press bureau today issued a denial of the report from Vienna that the Servians had retired from Semlin, in Hungary, opposite Belgrade, after losing 6,000 prisoners and several pieces of artillery.

The report admits, however, that the Servians evacuated Semlin on orders from headquarters for strategic reasons. The retirement was accomplished in perfect order, and the Austrians did not re-enter the city until two days later.

YOU CAN TEACH SOME BIRDS TO TALK, BUT YOU CAN'T TEACH THEM TO STOP TALKING.

ALLIES GAIN BUT IN SNAIL-LIKE MANNER

No Confirmation of Report That Bulk of German Army Has Begun to Retire.

Gen. Von Kluck Has Thus Far Been Able to Check Terrific Pressure Brought On Army.

London, Sept. 21.—England waited in vain today for confirmation of the report that the bulk of the German army had begun to retire from France and prepared for another period of anxiety and suspense which must last as long as the great battle of Aisne, now in its tenth day, remains undecided.

ALLIES GAINING GROUND.

Though British officials say the allies are gaining ground, their progress necessarily is snail-like, and the public here is beginning to feel that the turning of the battle never will be reached until one side or the other has been outflanked. The suggestion that the allies would accomplish this Saturday or Sunday on the German right was not fulfilled and apparently their efforts are being continued today.

For days the British press referred to "von Kluck's peril," but so far the German commander has been able to check what must have been terrific pressure from the British and French left.

NO CORROBORATION.

Naturally there has been no intimation from German sources in corroboration of the report that a comparatively small part of the German army purposes to maintain merely a defensive position in France while the main army makes a stand on the frontier, but optimists among the allied advance believe it extremely improbable that Emperor William's troops again during the present war will assume a general offensive on French territory. They contend, moreover, that a retirement of the German forces from French soil must shortly become inevitable, unless the offensive is assumed.

British eyes see further encouragement in the backward movement of the army of Crown Prince William, which, it is argued, means the failure to establish for the invaders new and shorter communication by way of Metz and the Rhine.

Reims Loss Great Shock.

Hardly less discussed today than the battle itself is the destruction or at least the partial destruction of the Reims cathedral. This edifice has been called the Urn of French history, and its loss perhaps will be a greater shock to historians and worshippers of antiquity than was the destruction of the library in the Belgian town of Louvain.

The Germans were quick to issue a formal statement from Berlin saying that the damage to the cathedral was unintentional and was incident to absolutely necessary operations.

Call for Nurses.

Vienna dispatches say that the newspapers of the Austrians continue silent concerning the operations in the Austrian province of Galicia and against the Servians, but they are appealing daily for more nurses, doctors and medical supplies to be sent to the front. The Austrian hospital equipment is said to be woefully inadequate, the wounded often lying on the field from twenty-four to forty-eight hours, greatly increasing not only the suffering, but the mortality.

From Trieste, the principal Austrian seaport on the Adriatic sea, concerning whose attitude in case of an attack there has been much speculation, came a statement today from the governor that in case of being attacked he would not evacuate the city.

Trieste Will Resist.

"Trieste," he said, "will resist. The Anglo-French fleet, however, before attacking Trieste must deal with the Austrian fleet at Pola."

Throughout the British Isle enlistment continues unabated and a noteworthy feature is the high standard of the recruits. Students and young professional men are conspicuous in every squad seen upon the London streets.

It is announced here today that David Lloyd-George, the chancellor of

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

There is no victory as yet for either side in the battle of the Aisne, which has now raged in France for ten days. Both sides claim successes and favorable positions.

The ten days of desperate battle, fierce artillery fire day and night; infantry charges in which the fighting has been hand to hand, and cavalry onslaughts when opportunity offered have shown one result—the soldiers of the three nations engaged are becoming exhausted. The human machine is weakening under the frightful demands made upon it. Lulls in the battling are ascribed simply to utter fatigue.

Another factor, which has had a notable effect on the conduct of the operations, has been the weather. An incessant cold rain has flooded the valley of the Aisne. The river has overflowed its banks, roads and fields are heavy, and trenches filled with water. The men are drenched to the skin day and night, and French soldiers coming to Paris from the front are incrusted with mud. Wornout men are succumbing to the hardships of fighting and living in the open under such weather conditions.

Transportation of all kinds, for both sides, is rendered much more difficult. It is even said the Germans can no longer move their heavy artillery with effective promptness on account of heavy roads. The men are camping in water and the French say the Germans are suffering from lack of food.

While neither side claims a decisive outcome, yet there appears to be good reason to believe that the battle is drawing to some definite development. Military opinion, both in London and Paris, leans to the conviction that the present lines, battered for ten days, soon will have to show noticeable changes. The fighting is fiercest on the allies' left, where desperate efforts are being made to turn the flank of the Germany army, under Gen. Von Kluck. Von Kluck has been reinforced, but in spite of this the French in late official reports claim an advantage, though it is admitted to be slight. The Germans appear to be making desperate and persistent efforts to turn the right wing of the allies, resting on Verdun. The help of this fortified position is of advantage to the French.

On the center the fortunes of war fluctuate. The positions now held by the Germans are well selected and well fortified. Some of their heavy artillery is described as resting upon cement foundations.

A news dispatch received in London from France says an aeroplane reconnaissance has given rise to the conviction that a large portion of the German forces is retiring in the direction of fortified positions on the German border.

The destruction by German shell fire of the famous cathedral of Reims has been made a matter of protest on the part of the French government. Berlin, in an official statement, asserts that the fire of the French came from the direction of the cathedral and the necessity of bombarding it is regretted.

The French navy, acting in conjunction with the British naval forces in the channel and the North sea, has aided in retaining command of the seas, which has been in the hands of the allies since the war began, according to an official French review of the work of their navy.

Przemysl, the strongly fortified Austrian position between Lemberg and Cracow in Galicia, is engaged with the enemy. It is resisting the invading Russians with artillery fire. It is said that a strong German army is at Przemysl.

Berlin says there is no news from the Russian front. The floating of the German war loan is described as a brilliant success.

The official afternoon statement from Paris says that terrific bayonet charges in the vicinity of Craonne resulted in the drawing back of the Germans with heavy losses.

Montenegrin Army Only About Ten Miles From Bosnia Capital.

Reports Say Austrians Are Demoralized and Flee in Panic.

Nish, via London, Sept. 21, 10:10 a. m.—An official communication, reviewing the Servian campaign says:

"The enemy's attempts to cross the Drina on the Losnitza-Racha line have again failed and all the Austrian attempts to cross the Save on the Mitrovitza-Shabatz front have also been unsuccessful. Nothing of importance is reported from the Save-Danube front.

The enemy, retiring from Vishegrad, Bosnia, forty miles southeast of Sarajevo, abandoned all his stores. Our troops seized 20,000 kilograms (about 44,000 pounds) of flour, 30,000 tins of meat, many blankets, a field hospital with 100 wounded and all medical stores and forty railway wagons.

"The Montenegrins after carrying the fortress of Fotcha and Gorasda, in Bosnia captured Jabuka on Sept. 16 and took Rogatica on the 17th.

"The morale of our troops is excellent but the Austrians are completely demoralized and are flying panic stricken.

"The Montenegrin army is only fifteen kilometers (about ten miles) from the Bosnian capital and has captured a large amount of booty."

Austrians Driven Back.

New York, Sept. 21.—Col. Golewski, military attache to the Russian embassy, issued today at the Russian consulate here the following official statement, which he said he had received from Petrograd:

"The Austrian rear guard which attempted to delay our advance near Baranow and Rzeszow were driven back with heavy losses. Our artillery is bombarding Jaroslau.

"Fighting with the garrison of Przemysl has begun; the artillery of the fortress has opened fire.

"In passing through the woods our troops find batteries of guns abandoned by the Austrians."

Repulse Attack.

Nish, Servia, via London, Sept. 21.—It is officially announced that a numerically inferior Servian force has repulsed an attack by 20,0000 Austrians near Novipazar. The Servians inflicted heavy losses on the attacking force.

REVENUE BILL IS COMPLETED

Measure Is Introduced in House at Opening of Session.

Underwood Plans to Ask for Consideration on Thursday.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Introduction of the emergency bill to raise $105,000,000 taxing beer, wines, gasoline, bankers, brokers, amusement proprietors and commercial instruments, featured the program for today's session of the house. Democrats of the ways and means committee held a final meeting today as to the phraseology of the bill preparatory to its presentation in the house.

Democratic Leader Underwood, who will pilot the bill through the house, plans to call up the measure for consideration next Thursday under a special rule.

As finally drafted the bill levies a tax of $1.50 a barrel on beer; sweet wines, 20 cents a gallon; dry wines, 12 cents; gasoline, 2 cents a gallon; bankers, $2 on each $1,000 of capital and surplus and undivided profits; brokers, $50 each.

Goods withdrawn from customs houses are to pay a stamp tax of 50 cents and goods entered at customs houses from 25 cents to $1, according to value.

Effective on Passage.

The war tax is effective immediately upon passage of the bill, except that the stamp tax provisions will not become effective until Nov. 1.

The bill, introduced as soon as the house met, puts responsibility for collecting of telegraph and telephone taxes upon the companies through sworn returns to the collectors of internal revenue. In 1898 the public was required to affix a stamp to each telegram.

LOUIS K. HULL MAY BE NEXT MARSHAL

Reported He Will Be Appointed to Succeed Grimshaw.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Information reaching Washington is to the effect that Louis K. Hull of Minnesota is to be appointed United States marshal for Minnesota to succeed William H. Grimshaw. At the department of justice it is stated that Grimshaw's resignation has not yet been called for and he has not been removed.

Attorney General McReynolds stated several months ago, however, that he "would have to get a new marshal," and before he went out of office he was casting about for a suitable man.

The man here to whom the information about Hull was sent claims that it is authentic and that the appointment will probably be made soon after the election. Marshal Grimshaw's term does not expire until Dec. 1915.

FILIBUSTER IS RESUMED

Controversy Over Rivers and Harbors Bill Continued in Senate.

Indications That a Compromise Will Soon Be Effected.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The filibuster on the rivers and harbors bill was resumed today in the senate amid the possibilities of compromise.

After a conference with President Wilson, Chairman Simmons of the finance committee announced that the senate would stay in session continuously until the bill was passed. He expected a vote tomorrow night or Wednesday.

Senator Simmons said informal conferences with Senator Burton, leading opponent of the bill, developed that both sides might yield some points. Mr. Burton told the senate he would be satisfied with a lump appropriation of not more than $20,000,000 to be spent by the war department.

Senator Simmons said that there was no intention of cutting the bill so as

GREAT INCREASE IN POSTAL SAVINGS

Increase in August of $4,200,000 Largest Since Banks Opened.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Deposits amounting to $48,000,000 were in the 9,653 postal savings banks of the country on Aug. 31 last, according to a preliminary examination today of reports to the postoffice department. The increase in August was the largest since the system was inaugurated amounting to about $4,200,000. New York City with deposits totaling $5,366,544 led all other offices. This office, with an increase of $926,842 in August, also made the largest gain for the month. The average daily receipts in New York were about $50,000.

Among other offices showing large increases in August were: Chicago, $184,000; Cleveland, $45,000; Detroit, $76,000; Milwaukee, $42,000; Minneapolis, $28,000; St. Paul, $25,000; Philadelphia, $26,000 and Denver, $20,000.

WHY THE SERVIANS EVACUATED SEMLIN.

Nish, Servia, via London, Sept. 21.—1:05 p. m.—The Servian official press bureau today issued a denial of the report from Vienna that the Servians had retired from Semlin, in Hungary, opposite Belgrade, after losing 6,000 prisoners and several pieces of artillery.

The report admits, however, that the Servians evacuated Semlin on orders from headquarters for strategic reasons. The retirement was accomplished in perfect order, and the Austrians did not re-enter the city until two days later.

ALLIES GAIN BUT IN SNAIL-LIKE MANNER

No Confirmation of Report That Bulk of German Army Has Begun to Retire.

Gen. Von Kluck Has Thus Far Been Able to Check Terrific Pressure Brought On Army.

London, Sept. 21.—England waited in vain today for confirmation of the report that the bulk of the German army had begun to retire from France and prepared for another period of anxiety and suspense which must last as long as the great battle of Aisne, now in its tenth day, remains undecided.

ALLIES GAINING GROUND.

Though British officials say the allies are gaining ground, their progress necessarily is snail-like, and the public here is beginning to feel that the turning of the battle never will be reached until one side or the other has been outflanked. The suggestion that the allies would accomplish this Saturday or Sunday on the German right was not fulfilled and apparently their efforts are being continued today.

For days the British press referred to "von Kluck's peril," but so far the German commander has been able to check what must have been terrific pressure from the British and French left.

NO CORROBORATION.

Naturally there has been no intimation from German sources in corroboration of the report that a comparatively small part of the German army purposes to maintain merely a defensive position in France while the main army makes a stand on the frontier, but optimists among the allied advance believe it extremely improbable that Emperor William's troops again during the present war will assume a general offensive on French territory. They contend, moreover, that a retirement of the German forces from French soil must shortly become inevitable, unless the offensive is assumed.

British eyes see further encouragement in the backward movement of the army of Crown Prince William, which, it is argued, means the failure to establish for the invaders new and shorter communication by way of Metz and the Rhine.

Reims Loss Great Shock.

Hardly less discussed today than the battle itself is the destruction or at least the partial destruction of the Reims cathedral. This edifice has been called the Urn of French history, and its loss perhaps will be a greater shock to historians and worshippers of antiquity than was the destruction of the library in the Belgian town of Louvain.

The Germans were quick to issue a formal statement from Berlin saying that the damage to the cathedral was unintentional and was incident to absolutely necessary operations.

Call for Nurses.

Vienna dispatches say that the newspapers of the Austrians continue silent concerning the operations in the Austrian province of Galicia and against the Servians, but they are appealing daily for more nurses, doctors and medical supplies to be sent to the front. The Austrian hospital equipment is said to be woefully inadequate, the wounded often lying on the field from twenty-four to forty-eight hours, greatly increasing not only the suffering, but the mortality.

From Trieste, the principal Austrian seaport on the Adriatic sea, concerning whose attitude in case of an attack there has been much speculation, came a statement today from the governor that in case of being attacked he would not evacuate the city.

Trieste Will Resist.

"Trieste," he said, "will resist. The Anglo-French fleet, however, before attacking Trieste must deal with the Austrian fleet at Pola."

Throughout the British Isle enlistment continues unabated and a noteworthy feature is the high standard of the recruits. Students and young professional men are conspicuous in every squad seen upon the London streets.

It is announced here today that David Lloyd-George, the chancellor of

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

There is no victory as yet for either side in the battle of the Aisne, which has now raged in France for ten days. Both sides claim successes and favorable positions.

The ten days of desperate battle, fierce artillery fire day and night; infantry charges in which the fighting has been hand to hand, and cavalry onslaughts when opportunity offered have shown one result—the soldiers of the three nations engaged are becoming exhausted. The human machine is weakening under the frightful demands made upon it. Lulls in the battling are ascribed simply to utter fatigue.

Another factor, which has had a notable effect on the conduct of the operations, has been the weather. An incessant cold rain has flooded the valley of the Aisne. The river has overflowed its banks, roads and fields are heavy, and trenches filled with water. The men are drenched to the skin day and night, and French soldiers coming to Paris from the front are incrusted with mud. Wornout men are succumbing to the hardships of fighting and living in the open under such weather conditions.

Transportation of all kinds, for both sides, is rendered much more difficult. It is even said the Germans can no longer move their heavy artillery with effective promptness on account of heavy roads. The men are camping in water and the French say the Germans are suffering from lack of food.

While neither side claims a decisive outcome, yet there appears to be good reason to believe that the battle is drawing to some definite development. Military opinion, both in London and Paris, leans to the conviction that the present lines, battered for ten days, soon will have to show noticeable changes. The fighting is fiercest on the allies' left, where desperate efforts are being made to turn the flank of the Germany army, under Gen. Von Kluck. Von Kluck has been reinforced, but in spite of this the French in late official reports claim an advantage, though it is admitted to be slight. The Germans appear to be making desperate and persistent efforts to turn the right wing of the allies, resting on Verdun. The help of this fortified position is of advantage to the French.

On the center the fortunes of war fluctuate. The positions now held by the Germans are well selected and well fortified. Some of their heavy artillery is described as resting upon cement foundations.

A news dispatch received in London from France says an aeroplane reconnaissance has given rise to the conviction that a large portion of the German forces is retiring in the direction of fortified positions on the German border.

The destruction by German shell fire of the famous cathedral of Reims has been made a matter of protest on the part of the French government. Berlin, in an official statement, asserts that the fire of the French came from the direction of the cathedral and the necessity of bombarding it is regretted.

The French navy, acting in conjunction with the British naval forces in the channel and the North sea, has aided in retaining command of the seas, which has been in the hands of the allies since the war began, according to an official French review of the work of their navy.

Przemysl, the strongly fortified Austrian position between Lemberg and Cracow in Galicia, is engaged with the enemy. It is re-listing the invading Russians with artillery fire. It is said that a strong German army is at Przemysl.

Berlin says there is no news from the Russian front. The floating of the German war loan is described as a brilliant success.

The official afternoon statement from Paris says that terrific bayonet charges in the vicinity of Craonne resulted in the drawing back of the Germans with heavy losses.

FORMER DULUTHIAN TO LEAD COMPANY OF SHARPSHOOTERS

Eugene Houghton, formerly of Duluth and now of Winnipeg, Man., has just been appointed captain of a rapid-fire squad of the English army and will leave tomorrow for Aldershot, England, where he will be formally mustered into the service and will go to the front in the present European war. He was in Duluth yesterday visiting his brother Fred Houghton, and will leave Winnipeg tomorrow for the East.

Mr. Houghton, who is Winnipeg representative of the Tomlinson company of Duluth, of which he is a member, moved to Winnipeg about five years ago, and, expecting to make Canada his home for the rest of his days, became a citizen of the Dominion. Since then he has become the leading rifle shot of Canada, and has won many national honors in the same line in the United States. His expert marksmanship put him beyond the stage of militiamen in the reservists of Canada, making him a kind of semi-regular. Within a few days he was called to the colors but because of his being an adept with the rifle he was given a commission as captain of a rapid fire squad. This means really serious work at the very front for him.

He was in Duluth yesterday on his way back to Winnipeg, and with him were sixteen Americans, whom he had met by appointment in Chicago. They are men who have all qualified as sharp-shooters in American contests, and who will accompany Capt. Houghton to Aldershot, there to enter the British army and train for their coming experiences on the continent.

Mr. Houghton is very well known in Duluth. His appointment as a captain in the regular British army from civilian life is an honor that comes to very few.

SANITARIUMS FOR SICK CARPENTERS

Question Will Come Before Convention of Unions.

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—Establishment of homes and sanitariums for sick and aged members of the union probably will be the most important questions to some before the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America which opened its eighteenth general convention here today. More than 500 delegates from the United States and Canada are in attendance. Today's sessions were given over to welcoming addresses and organizing.

A resolution which will be placed before the delegates provides for the creation of a fund to establish one home and one sanitarium east of the Mississippi river and one home and one sanitarium in the west, the latter to be located at a suitable place for the treatment of tubercular members.

The carpenters' organization by a referendum vote last winter, withdrew from the Building Trades department of the American Federation of Labor, and later entered into a "defensive and offensive" alliance with the bricklayers, masons and plasterers international union, which is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The withdrawal, which was due to jurisdictional disputes, caused a stir in labor circles, and for a time, it was said an effort was made to have the organization suspended from the federation.

PATENT ATTACHMENT TO POTATO DIGGER.

Sheldon, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Inventing a potato elevator that can be attached to almost any potato digger and will carry up the tubers to a wagon driven alongside the machine, Rev. R. C. Crough and George Patterson have placed potato raising on a more profitable basis here. The attachments can be made at less than $40 cost and will eliminate all the drudgery and expense of potato picking, one of the serious obstacles to successful potato culture. As this section has gone heavily into potato raising, the new invention is regarded as especially timely.

LEE SUPPORTERS TO BEGIN THE CAMPAIGN

Listlessness Characterizes Attitude of the Supporters of the Republican Nominee for Governor; Not Much Hope Apparent; Severe Defection in the Ranks, Particularly in St. Louis County; Marked Contrast in Campaign for Congressman Hammond, Democratic Nominee for Governor.

Republican headquarters for St. Louis county were opened this morning at 309 Alworth building. Richard M. Funck, secretary of the Republican county committee, will be in charge of the headquarters, but Amos L. Warner, chairman, and the other committeemen will spend a great deal of their time there. The others who have charge of the Republican campaign in this county are: A. Lofgren, Ray M. Hughes and Elmer F. Blu of Duluth, Albert B. Coates and William J. Archer of Virginia and Victor L. Power of Hibbing.

Secretary Funck, speaking for the committee, says that a thorough organization is being effected all through the state and that the party feels sure of success. The St. Louis committee proposes to put up an active campaign to carry this section of the state for William E. Lee of Long Prairie, Republican nominee for governor, and Mr. Funck professes to believe that they have the situation well in hand.

However, it is quite generally known that while defection in the Republican ranks is rife throughout the state, St. Louis county is regarded as one particular part of the commonwealth where it has reached a truly alarming stage. That the Republicans need strong organization in this county and an early beginning of the campaign, and a continuation of hard work clear up to election, which is Nov. 3, there seems to exist no doubt among the leading Republicans themselves. Many of the former hard workers for the party have either gone over to the Democratic candidate, Congressman Hammond, or have reached a "don't care" state of mind. These will have to be brought back into camp, if such a thing is possible.

* * *

However, if Candidate Lee makes many more foolish breaks like he made at Marshall in his keynote speech, when he claimed that he is the originator of the economy and efficiency plan, which honor is claimed by Governor Eberhart, the defeated candidate for nomination, the task of enticing the Eberhart following back into the fold is going to become more than difficult is the consensus of opinion. Mr. Lee, it seems, is gifted with the faculty of saying the wrong thing at the wrong time. He made individual and generally foolish breaks in Duluth while up here a while ago, which has caused some life-long Republicans to refuse to talk about the campaign, when they might be out working for him. To one man who has been a Republican ever since there was such a party, Mr. Lee said while here:

"Hello, So-and-So, are you a Republican this year?"

Another man in the crowd prodded the one addressed and said:

"Why don't you ask him what is he this year? Two years ago he was a Bull Mooser."

In view of the fact that Mr. Lee's party affiliations are very much in doubt, and that many Republicans declare that the party has no candidate this year, such breaks are, to say the least, tactless; that much is admitted.

* * *

So, the Republicans—and they know it well—have a hard row to hoe when it comes to putting Mr. Lee over. In private the leaders will admit that, and, in fact, the majority of them are simply working automatically, as it were, without the least enthusiasm or confidence. They are working, it would seem, because they feel that they owe that much to the party organization to keep it intact; and not for Mr. Lee by any means. The entire movement is marked by its lack of enthusiasm. Committeemen are appointed, open up headquarters, send out literature, and arrange dates for their candidate to speak in a purely perfunctory manner. There is no touch of the old-time campaign thrill, and the organization, outside of a few sincere visionaries at the state headquarters, totally lacks anything that has a semblance of unction.

In marked contrast is the campaign for Congressman Hammond, the Democratic nominee. Even though he is absent from the state, there is an amazing lot of "pep" in the work for him, and Republicans are falling into line as enthusiastically as the most ardent Democrats. Many newspapers that are ordinarily on the other side of the political fence have come over, and Mr. Hammond's home press, regardless of party, is backing him. The St. James Plaindealer, which did not support Mr. Hammond for congress, and whose editor, Will Curtiss, is on the Progressive state ticket, has this to say about Mr. Hammond:

A gentleman from St. Paul was here this week looking for material for a biographical write-up of Hon. W. S. Hammond. Mr. Hammond is one of those solid, substantial, unpretentious kind of men, who make no grandstand plays, and it would be difficult to work in any flamboyant, spectacular stuff into a biographical sketch of him. He does his work in a very efficient, quiet manner, with no advertising. He is one of the very best men this state has ever had in congress, but he has no publicity bureau as some of our congressmen have had.

If the people of this state elect him to the governorship he will go about the work of that great office in the same way. He will sit down at his desk and clean up all unfinished business. There will be no slackness, and no tag ends. His motto when he was a young school teacher was "What is worth doing at all is worth doing well," and he has lived up to that motto all his life, as a lawyer, public official and private citizen. If he has a hobby, it is conscientiousness in his work.

That's the kind of sentiment that even the opposition holds regarding the congressman from St. James.

GERMAN DIPLOMATS GIVEN PASSPORTS.

Berlin, Sept. 21.—The Wolff bureau says it is reported from Palermo by the German charge d'affaires at Tangier, that he and the members of his legation were handed their passports by the Moroccan government on Aug. 19, and forcibly taken on board the French cruiser Cassard, which conveyed them to Palermo. The Wolff bureau dispatch points out that this action is a breach of international law, since Tangier is the capital of the international zone in which the diplomatic representatives of the signatory powers of the Algeriras conference still exercise control. "This arbitrary act," says the Wolff bureau dispatch, "was possible only with the consent of England, in view of the location of Gibraltar."

PARADE WILL BE FEATURE

Will Mark Formal Opening of the Industrial Exposition.

Headed By Police, Band, Naval Reserves and Militia.

A parade that promises to be one of the biggest things of the kind ever held in Duluth will inaugurate the third annual Industrial, Agricultural and Dairy exposition tonight.

The parade will form on First street at 7:45 and will swing into Superior street at Fifth avenue west at 8 o'clock. The line of march will be on Superior street to Eighth avenue east, where the floats will drop out and the foot part of the procession will proceed to the curling rink at Fourteenth avenue east.

The parade is under the direction of a committee consisting of R. T. Hugo, Felix Seligman, E. W. Deetz, S. W. Hill and T. F. Clark, Jr. Lieut.-Col. Hubert V. Eva will be grand marshal. The procession will be headed by a platoon of mounted and unmounted police, followed by the Third Regiment band. In the line of march will be the three companies of the Minnesota National Guard, two divisions of the Minnesota naval militia, Aad Temple patrol and drum corps, the marching employes of a number of Duluth houses and nearly 100 floats and decorated delivery wagons and automobiles.

Electric lights and red fire will be plentifully used in the parade and extra illumination will be provided all along the line of march. The Duluth-Edison Electric company has set extra standards on Superior street east and west of the East Superior street white way, which will be illuminated for the occasion. The special lights will extend east on Superior street to Fourteenth avenue east and down that avenue to the curling rink, where a cluster of flaring arcs will make the space in front of the building bright as day.

The parade will follow the south side of Superior street and the committee requests automobiles to keep the line of march clear by parking on the upper side of the street.

Exhibits in all departments of the exposition were installed this morning and the doors were opened at noon, but the formal opening will not take place until tonight. There have been many entries made in all classes in the agricultural department and keen competition for the various awards is in sight.

Ample arrangements have been made at the rink for the handling of the crowds. Signs will point the way so that the crowds may keep to the right, thus preventing the congestion that was an annoyance last year. More space has also been provided in the arrangement of the floor space.

FORGER CONFESSES.

Edward W. Graham Admits He Passed Twenty-One Forged Checks.

Edward W. Graham, wanted in Duluth for passing twenty-one forged checks, made a complete confession to Chief Troyer yesterday after he had been brought here by Detective Irvine from Port Huron, Mich., where he was arrested several days ago. Several of the checks were cashed last June but most of them were put over the night of Sept. 10 between Sixth avenue west and police headquarters. Graham had $230 in his possession when arrested and it is claimed that he is willing to turn this over for pro rata distribution among his victims, which would give them about 60 per cent of their losses.

BAN ON BACK DOOR DELIVERIES

Mail Boxes Must Be at Front Door Within Sixty Days.

The day when letter carriers will be obliged to make back door deliveries of mail is passing.

After sixty days have elapsed, an order of the postoffice department to the effect that mail boxes must be provided at the front door, will be enforced.

Postmaster W. E. McEwen who has received a notice to this effect from Daniel C. Roper, first assistant postmaster general, expects to have the change effective by the end of the sixty-day notice.

People who are accustomed to getting their mail at the back door, will be obliged to change the location of their mail boxes or go to the postoffice after it.

The postoffice department has compiled statistics showing that the average letter carrier loses from a half hour to an hour on each route in making back door deliveries.

MOST WOUNDS IN LEGS.

Dr. Gillespie Tells of Scenes in London Hospitals.

Many of the men brought to the hospitals from the European battle fields were wounded in the legs, according to Dr. N. C. Gillespie, who returned Saturday from London with his bride. He states that a big proportion were wounded by shells from the long range guns rather than by rifle bullets. He said that the motor-hauled batteries of the Germans are more efficient than the horse-drawn guns of the allies because of the rapidity with which they can be transported from one position to another. He asserted that the Belgian army has greatly recuperated and is in better shape than is generally believed in this country.

PROPERTY MAN SUES FOR $500

Alleges Breach of Salary Contract as Basis of Action.

Suit to recover $500 for an alleged breach of a salary contract was started in district court Saturday by Earl Slade, who claims that after he had given up steady employment in New York a few weeks ago to accept a position as property man and stage assistant in a production known as "Carmans' Minstrels" he was discharged after the show reached Duluth. In his complaint, the plaintiff declares that he was engaged for ten months at a weekly salary of $20 and railroad fare to be paid by his employers on a tour of the United States from New York to San Francisco.

The Leiser Company

24 and 26 West Superior St., Near First Avenue West.

Today the stage of Duluth's greatest women's apparel store is set for fall.

Today a new season begins--fall stocks assume their final stage of completeness—it is the third Fall Opening in this city. Today the woman who dresses well sallies forth in her fall apparel.

Today, in Duluth's greatest woman's apparel store, one finds a better stock, a bigger stock, and a finer stock. Today one sees that "nothing succeeds like success" and that this great institution has again moved upward and forward in its status.

To make its service finer, its co-operation keener, and its merchandise more worthy has been our unceasing determination. To bring that determination to a successful completion has been no easy task.

To improve where there has apparently been "no room for improvement" has required, besides determination, a steadfast sincerity of purpose.

That we have succeeded in our unceasing ambition is of more than passing interest to you. That there exists in this community the finest apparel store in Duluth is naturally a matter of pride.

But more specifically it is of deep interest to you—for you are a woman who appreciates that, scoff as one may, clothes DO count.

As the curtain rises on our initial displays you will see that EVERY fine maker of good garments in ALL America "has put his best foot forward" in our displays.

You will see that we do not believe that any ONE maker in America excels in ALL things or that any ONE designer is best for ALL styles.

You will see that we appreciate your business and that we are earnestly striving to express that appreciation in deed rather than words.

You are invited—sincerely—to pay us a visit today. Not necessarily to BUY (for that is an optional matter) but to let us prove our superiority.

HIT BY SIX BULLETS AND DIDN'T KNOW IT

Striking Example of Effect of Small Projectiles Used in War.

Berlin, Sept. 21.—The European war, like all the wars of the last few years, is demonstrating the merciful nature of wounds from the modern army rifles. Unless a vital part be hit, the victims recover rapidly.

A striking example of the effect of the present small projectile is given by the experience of a young German soldier, who was in the battle before Liege. In the course of the battle he fell, which was his first intimation that he had been hit. At the hospital it was found that he had been shot through the shoulder, the upper arm, three times through the thigh, one of the bullets going through both thighs and once in the lower arm. He is recovering rapidly and will be back in the battle line in a few weeks at most.

Artillery fire, particularly shrapnel, brings the greatest number of fatalities. Troops on the eastern border have suffered especially from shrapnel fire, which the Russian appear to use with great precision, in contrast to their rifle fire, which appears to be rather bad.

LOW MARK FOR SEASON

Ore Shipments May Not Exceed 30,000,000 Ton Mark.

One of the Lightest Years in the Last Decade.

Present conditions indicate that during the present shipping season not more than 35,000,000 tons of ore will be shipped from Lake Superior to Lake Erie ports, and it is most likely that the total will not be more than 30,000,000 tons. Vessel owners look for the tonnage to begin dwindling before very long, and in view of the fact that up to Sept. 1 there were only 21,000,000 tons shipped from Lake Superior, it is likely that the total for the season will not reach much more than 30,000,000, and it is barely possible that it will not reach that figure. A year ago Sept. 1, the shipments amounted to 32,000,000 and the total for the season, with the shipping going on as fast as possible, was about 50,000,000.

This will be one of the lightest years in the way of ore shipping from Lake Superior in a decade. The lightest year in the last ten was 1908, when only 26,000,000 tons went East. In 1911, only 33,000,000 tons were shipped; in 1905, 34,600,000 tons went forward, in 1906, 39,000,000 tons; and since 1907, with the exception of the years mentioned there have been shipped yearly from 42,500,000 to 50,000,000 tons, the latter figure being that of last year, the largest on record.

The following tables show comparative figures of the shipments from Lake Superior this year and last:

	1913	1914
Escanaba	3,623,632	2,465,692
Marquette	2,155,363	1,049,791
Ashland	3,673,628	2,079,776
Superior	8,592,522	7,576,831
Duluth	7,891,903	4,152,367
Two Harbors	6,676,708	3,953,650
Total	32,013,756	21,278,107

Baldwin Players Please in "The Shepherd of the Hills."

"The Shepherd of the Hills," a dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's novel of the same name, got its first presentation by the Baldwin Players at the Sunday matinee, and the initial audience apparently found much to commend in the piece. It will be shown all of this week at the Lyceum, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

A great many people have read the book which ranged at the top of the "best sellers" during its heyday of popularity; and the dramatic possibilities of the story have been kept intact in the play, assuring those who know the story an opportunity to see in life the characters they liked so well, and containing for those who are not acquainted with the book many startling situations and climaxes. It is a story of mountains and mountaineers, with the conventions of nice people set at naught, then retrieved; of love, hatred, suspicion and atonement; of a wronged girl, who died, and the complications arising from her lover's disappearance and return, and his father's attempt to rectify, so far as is within his power, the wrong; of Ozark mountaineers and their lives, and the downing of the bully and strong man of the district by an honest lover with a stronger arm. Numerous dramatic episodes, and the development of the characters make altogether an admirable tale, and the Baldwin Players supply the talent necessary to its proper presentation. The scenic possibilities, mostly laid in the big hills of the Southwest, are handled in the usual Baldwinian manner—very well, indeed.

De Stefano took the difficult part of the Shepherd, with his usual artistic and comprehensive touch; Homer Barton made the ideal mountaineer lover, Young Matt, unpolished but honest and true; Miss Lolita Lamb was pleasing in a difficult portrayal of Pete, a weak-minded, though far-seeing little boy; Lola May, ——, pretty and gracious, who becomes a "lady" through the efforts of the Shepherd, gave the usual account of herself as Sammy, while Frank Beamish, as Preachin' Bill, was the decided hit of the play. Helen Keers and James Nelson, taking the parts respectively of Aunt Mollie and Old Matt, were excellent, while Walter Baldwin, doing Wash Gibbs, who failed to "do" Young Matt, did perhaps the best work ever attempted in Duluth by that husky young actor.

The play is full of action, pretty scenery, good acting and "situations" galore.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Blackface Comedy and Society Dances Divide the Honor.

Blackface comedy and society dances divide the honors on this week's Orpheum bill, which opened yesterday afternoon.

Miss Elphye Snowden, former musical comedy favorite, has a dash and a way of her own in her songs and dances that command the approval of the audience. Success as a vaudeville singer and dancer consists of about 80 per cent personality, 10 per cent clothes, and 10 per cent talent. Miss Snowden ranks high in all three departments. She has that "I-know-you-are-going-to-like-me" air that is half the battle for a vaudevillian, and she puts across three songs and several society dances most acceptably. She has the assistance of Walter Ross in her dancing, and has a musical director of her own.

The triumph of burnt cork as an aid to hilarity is again demonstrated by Dave Kramer and George Morton. These two agile young man fed the Sunday night audience a hodge podge of nonsense and retired amid a whirlwind of applause. Kramer and Morton have a dialect that is anything but negro, and set down in cold type their jokes would not produce a laugh in a month, but on the stage they are riotously successful. The audience last evening applauded itself red handed. The dancing of the young men is the best feature of their act. It is clever and original, and they did just enough to leave the audience wanting more.

Maleta Boncont is a violinist of most unusual attainments for the vaudeville stage. She chose rather hackneyed selections in the humoresque and "Traumerei," but she played them delightfully. Her work is free from affectation, and discloses a rarely perfect technique.

Ernie Potts and Leo Ryan, two clean cut young chaps, have a most interesting athletic exhibition. They offer club swinging, bag punching, wrestling and boxing. Their boxing consists merely of an exhibition of blows and methods used by famous fighters, and their wrestling is a rapid exposition of well known holds. They could make their act even more entertaining than it is to the average spectator, by a better system of designating their blows and holds. The young men are finely developed young chaps, and have a clean interesting act which could be improved.

The closing act is a rousing good casting turn by the Bottomley troupe. It is a well known circus act, and their comedy is unusually good.

Miss Vina Bailey in songs, and a comedy sketch called "The Stranger" by Yule, Murnier and company, complete the bill.

The pictures this week are most interesting, especially those showing Turkey and Hindostan.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Two Sisters in Contortion Act Win Honors of New Bill.

Despite the warm weather yesterday the new Empress bill drew good houses and the show had sufficient snap to keep the audience in a happy frame of mind.

One of the best acts seen at the Empress in a long time is that of the Portina Sisters. These girls have a contortion act that pleases. They got the lion's share of applause and won first honors for their cleverness and skill.

Leo Ora Viennett impersonated Eva Tanguay and Eddie Foy and other noted players and kept her audience in a roar of laughter. While impersonations are somewhat time-worn and common, Miss Vennett put considerable originality into her work.

Leroy and Mora did a clever turn on the horizontal bars.

Lewellyn and Stanley, "portrayers of old characters," are both original and clever and their act is a little "different" from the usual.

The pictures are up to the usual Empress standard. The present bill will continue until Wednesday evening.

At the New Grand.

What promises to be the biggest and best bill of the season will open a three days' engagement at the new and popular Grand today. The headline of the bill is Shaw's Comedy Circus, "the children's delight." Featured with the circus is "Maude," the kicking mule. A reward will be offered to anyone who can stay on her back. Floyd Mack, a whirlwind acrobatic dancer, is a sensation in his line. La Vere and Palmer, in harmony and singing changes, and Bennett and Lowe, comedy acrobats, complete the vaudeville end of the entertainment.

A two-reel biograph feature, "The Cricket on the Hearth," an adaptation from the novel of Charles Dickens, tells a beautiful story. "Broncho Billy" G. M. Anderson will be seen in a new Essanay called "A Friend in Need." Another George Ade "Fable" and a Mary Pickford picture add to the interest. The war slides from the scenes of strife in Europe will be continued until Wednesday.

The management of the Grand wishes to draw particular attention to the fact that the new bills open on Mondays and Thursdays hereafter instead of Sundays and Thursdays. This change is made in order to get the best class of vaudeville from the cities which could not be done opening Sundays on account of the long jumps necessary.

BOOZE, NOT WAR TALK, CAUSED ROW.

Wahpeton, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Instead of fighting over matters relating to the European war, as claimed, the shooting of Paul Friemann by Fred Eaton on the Adams farm was the result of the latter's intoxication. Some one struck him in the nose. He didn't know who it was, but he secured a revolver and shot his friend, Friemann, through the body. The latter is in the hospital with a small chance for recovery.

NO DEFINITE NEWS IS NOW EXPECTED UNTIL BATTLE OF THE AISNE IS DECIDED

the exchequer, is holding a movement to raise a complete Welsh army corps.

Attempt Flank Movement.

London, Sept. 21, 10:20 a. m.—While the fortunes of battle fluctuate between the lines along the center of the extended front in France, desperate efforts are being made to execute turning movements on both flanks. The Anglo-French left wing is exerting every ounce of strength to turn the flank of the German general, von Kluck, who is reported as having received heavy reinforcements; while the German left, according to a cautiously worded announcement in Berlin, is making equally strenuous efforts to outflank the French right resting on Verdun.

Under ordinary weather conditions the Anglo-French task would be the easier for the reason that Verdun, heavily fortified, must fall before the French right can be seriously threatened; but on the German right the heavy rains have made such a morass of the valley of the Oise that the allies are hardly likely to move along what would be their natural course until the German front north of Soissons has been driven back. The high ground between Noyon and Chauny has been heavily fortified by Gen. von Kluck and it dominates the whole valley of the Oise.

Chose Positions.

That the Germans chose their present defensive position deliberately is indicated by the fact that their heavy artillery rests on cement foundations.

Some reports received in London declared that the reason for the desperate German counter attacks on Reims is found in a movement of the allies which has virtually isolated Reims from Laon, a town thirty miles to the northwest. If this is true, all of Gen. von Kluck's marvelous strategy in protecting his sorely pressed left flank will have worked futile.

More or less definite rumors continue to circulate in London to the effect that the Germans are preparing a great retreat from France on their own border fortifications. The latest of these is a story related by a French officer who has returned to Paris. This Frenchman declares that an aeroplane reconnoissance has given rise to the conviction that a large portion of the German forces is retiring, accompanied by trains of heavy stores, and leaving only 200,000 men to cover the retreat.

Bad Weather Held Up News.

One reason for the dearth of news from the battle front is to be found in the bad weather which has rendered ordinary signalling and aeroplane scouting unreliable. Stories now filtering through set forth that the Germans made desperate efforts, the middle of last week, to recapture the ground they had lost along the river Aisne. Day and night the assaults continued. The Germans, played into action by bands rendering military airs, hurled masses of men on the hastily constructed entrenchments where the allies had dug themselves in as a protection against the pitiless artillery concealed on the heights above them. It was cold steel against cold steel and ended in the allies holding their desperately won position.

Cathedral in Line of Fire.

Reims, where the ruins of the famous cathedral are still smoking, is likely to prove an object of controversy long after the military forces now in the field have ceased to contend for its possession. The Germans claim that the cathedral was in the line of fire and that it was impossible to save it in spite of their instructions to spare the building.

As had been anticipated, a check has been given to the operations of the victorious Russians in Galicia by the strong fortress of Przemysl which has opened fire with artillery on the Russian invaders.

According to advices received here the advance of the Serbo-Montenegrin forces into Austria continues, while the Montenegrins are reported within a few miles of Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia. According to this intelligence, a combined Serbo-Montenegrin army expects to enter Sarajevo within a week.

Little Change.

Paris, Sept. 21.—There is little change in the situation in the great battle of the Aisne, according to the latest official announcements. The extreme left of the allied forces continues to bear the brunt of the fighting and one time Saturday or Sunday (the official reports do not bring out the time clearly) the Germans in a furious attack, gained some ground which, however, was speedily regained.

Elsewhere along the big battle front the success of one side have been counterbalanced by forward movements of the other, but military experts here claim the allies have bettered their position so far as it affects the continuation of the struggle since they have reached and entrenched themselves on high grounds.

Frontal Attacks to Continue.

The best opinion here, however, inclines to the belief that the frontal attacks of forces, both apparently of equal strength, will continue for some time yet without result unless something unforeseen happens.

The havoc wrought in the famous cathedral of Reims by the German guns, as told in official and other dispatches from the front, is the subject of bitter comment here. It is stated that the French government will lodge a protest with all the powers regarding the bombardment of the cathedral, which unofficial dispatches say, was sheltering several hundred German wounded and flying a Red Cross flag.

Bread is a Luxury.

Copies of letters said to have been found on German prisoners continue to be made public here. One credited to a Brunswick non-commissioned officer reads:

"Our life is not a gay one. For nine days we have camped in water and we are living on beets and sugar. Bread is a luxury. The tension is frightful and our losses are enormous. There is not a single officer left in my company which has been reduced from 250 to sixty men."

Other letters of a similar tenor are given out and wonder is expressed at how men living on raw vegetables have still the courage to fight with such desperation, especially under the most trying weather conditions.

Have Not Considered Peace.

Berlin, Sept. 21, via London, 9:30 a. m.—Commenting upon the alleged statement of Count Von-Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, that his nation was looking for peace upon condition that the entity of German territory would be preserved, or as so presented in Washington dispatches the North German Gazette, the official organ, declared in its issue of Sept. 20 that the government had not even considered the matter.

"The assertions are intended," the paper says, "to foster the impression that we have tired of the war, in spite of our victories in the east and in the west. Peace overtures may not be looked for until the war, forced ruthlessly on our people, is brought to an honorable conclusion."

The official statement given out last night made mention of the bombardment of Reims. It said that Reims was in the battle lines of the French and that the Germans were obliged to bombard it. The necessity for this action was regretted, but the fire of the French, it was stated, came from that direction. Orders to save the cathedral at Reims have been given.

The statement also made reference to the progress on other points of the line. In this respect it says:

"The attacks upon the French are progressing at several points in the central Vosges. At Donon, near Senones, twenty-seven miles southeast of Luneville near Saales, in the German Vosges, their offensive has been repulsed.

"There is no news from the eastern (Russian front) camp."

Statement From Paris.

Paris, Aug. 21, 3:01 p. m.—The following official announcement was given out in Paris today:

"First, on our left wing, on the right bank of the river Oise, we have advanced as far as the heights of Lassigny, west of Noyon, to the east of the Oise and to the north of the river Aisne, the Germans have given evidence of a recrudescence of activity.

"In the region of Craone there have been violent encounters, which did not stop short of bayonet charges. The enemy has been everywhere repulsed, with considerable losses. In the country around Reims the enemy has not undertaken any infantry attack, confining itself to artillery fire, directed against our front, from heavy guns.

"Second, on the center, in the Champagne country and on the western slopes of the Argonne river, an exception being made at Souain, we have taken Mesnil-les-Hurlus and Massiges. In the Woevre district the enemy still holds the region of Thiaucourt and has cannonaded Hassonchatel.

"On our right wing, Lorraine and the Vosges, there is nothing new. The Germans are fortifying themselves in the vicinity of Delmiet, to the south of Chateau Salins."

German War Loan.

Berlin, Sept. 21, by wireless by way of Sayville, L. I.—Subscriptions thus far received to the German war loan have assured the brilliant success of the war loan plan. One paper speaks of the public response as the "victory of those at the Somme."

The call was for 4,200,000,000 marks ($1,050,000,000). With a number of reports not yet received the total subscription to the imperial bonds already is 2,940,000,000 marks. The treasury certificates, which were offered to the amount of 1,000,000,000 marks, have been over-subscribed by 260,000,000 marks.

The newspapers express pride that this result has been reached without foreign subscription or the necessity of sending subscription blanks to many of the well-to-do Germans now in the field. On account of the unexpected success the final terms of payment have been postponed until December.

On the Offensive.

Last night's report from headquarters stated that the German armies in France everywhere have assumed the offensive against the strongly intrenched enemy.

The Swedish explorer, Anders Sven Hedin, is a guest of Emperor William at headquarters. He will be allowed to visit the eastern and western fronts in order to give a non-partisan account of the situation.

Advices from Vienna deny the report that Henryk Sienkiewicz, the Polish writer and author of "Quo Vadis," is a prisoner of war of the Austrians. He is in Vienna en route for Tirol, and is preparing to write a book on his experiences in the war.

to include only projects already under way and that the president had not insisted upon such a plan.

Calls at White House.

Senator Simmons called at the White House primarily to discuss the Alaska coal leasing bill, which President Wilson is eager to have passed. The senator told the president the bill could be taken up after the rivers and harbors bill.

When Senator Burton learned of the plan for a continuous session he declared he was prepared.

Brought Lounging Robe.

"I brought with me a dress suit case," said he, "and am prepared to stay right here as long as my strength holds out. In my suitcase is a lounging robe and I have picked out a soft couch which will be of service when reinforcements give me a chance for rest. The outlook is for a finish fight."

When Senator Simmons made known the purpose to hold the senate in session until the bill was passed several Democrats declared they would not agree to another all-night session. One defied the senate to make him appear.

REVENUE BILL IS COMPLETED

municipal bonds, debentures or certificates of indebtedness are exempt, as are stocks and bonds issued by cooperative building and loan associations that loan only to their stockholders.

Tax on Policies.

In taxing life insurance policies 8 cents for each $100, the bill provides that for policies issued on the industrial or weekly payment plan the tax will be 40 per cent of the first weekly premium, the company to pay the tax. The tax will not apply to "any fraternal beneficiary society, or order, or farmers' purely local co-operative company, or association, or employes' relief associations, operated on the lodge system or local co-operation plan organized and conducted solely by the members for their exclusive benefit and not for profit."

Purely co-operative or mutual fire insurance companies carried on by members solely for protection of their own property and not for profit will be exempt.

A broker is exempt from the said $50 tax if he has paid a bankers' tax. The $100 tax on theaters, museums and concert halls in cities of 15,000 population, includes moving picture shows. The tobacco tax is to take effect Nov. 1. It exempts all leaf tobacco dealers whose annual sales do not exceed 1,000 pounds.

FRENCH FOREIGN OFFICE PROTESTS

last night. Debris and crumbling walls were all that is left of the thirteenth century cathedral, the most remarkable example that was left of early Gothic architecture.

In addition to the cathedral, the museum, the hospitals and the city were all for the greater part, destroyed.

The allies have repulsed the German attacks and made several impetuous counter movements in which their infantry charged with magnificent bravery regardless of the terrible storm of shrapnel.

Suffer Terribly.

The first ranks suffered terribly, but as fast as the men fell others rushed up to take their places and when the enemy's lines were reached there were furious hand-to-hand encounters in which the Germans were forced to give ground, except on the heights of Brimon, which, owing to the overwhelming fire of machine guns, the Germans recaptured.

At the same time the French made a fierce assault on the heights of La Pompelle, which they carried at the point of the bayonet. The struggle here was a desperate one and after the retirement of the Germans, Turcos were found dead from bayonet wounds with their hands clasped in such vise-like grips around the necks of antagonists that they literally had to be pried open.

Persons who have returned here from Reims say that it is difficult to find words to describe these attacks and counter attacks of infantry amid showers of shot and shell and in a deluge of rain.

Used as Red Cross Hospital.

London, Sept. 21, 6:20 a. m.—The reims correspondent of the Daily Mail Reims correspondent of the Daily Mail in the cathedral there:

"The magnificent cathedral of Reims, sends this story of the damage wrought which was a national monument of universal fame, is now no more than an empty shell of charred and blackened walls. It is not yet known to what extent its stone work has been weakened by the flames or whether it can later be restored, but it will never be what it was before.

"The fire started between 4 and 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon after shells had been crashing into the town all day.

"The cathedral on Thursday had been turned into a hospital for the German wounded so as to secure for the building the protection of the Red Cross flag. When the first shell struck the roof everyone believed it was merely a stray shot, but later in the day a German battery on a hill four miles away began making the great Gothic pile its particular target.

"Shell after shell crashed its way into the old masonry and stone work that had stood the storms of centuries, or fell into the deserted streets round about. At half past four some scaffolding around on the east end of the cathedral, where repairs were going on, caught fire. Then the roof of old oak timbers ignited and soon the ceilings of the nave and transepts were a roaring furnace.

"The German wounded would have burned alive if the French doctors had not removed them at great personal risk.

Loss Greatest Yet.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The destruction of the cathedral of Reims is the greatest loss from an historical and artistic sense of the present war. Begun on the site of an earlier church, erected by Robert De Courcy in 1212, and continued at intervals down to the fifteenth century, it has been described as "the most perfect example in grandeur and grace of Gothic style in existence.

The west front which was begun about 1241-42, is said to be the most beautiful structure produced during the Middle Ages with its deeply recessed triple portal and the wonderful rose-window that surmounts it. This window, more than forty feet in diameter, was reported in cable dispatches yesterday as having been destroyed by a shell. It was in the cathedral of Reims that the Slav kings of France from Philip II to Charles X were crowned, and there that The Maid of Orleans, after her victorious career, stood, banner in hand, before the great altar and saw the coronation of Charles VIII, which marked the fulfillment of her vision. After kneeling before the monarch whom she had placed on the throne, she begged the gentle king to allow her to return to her flocks."

Sculpture Not Surpassed.

The elaborate richness of the sculpture, its stained glass and statuary, are not surpassed in any existing structure.

In the north transept over the sacristi was a clock said to have been the oldest movin gpiece of horology in existence.

The archbishop's palace, also reported as destroyed, is a double chapel dating from 1230. There the monarchs of France were housed at their coronations and there Joan of Arc lodged when she came to Reims to crown Charles VIII. The palace adjoins the cathedral and about a quarter of a mile to the south is the church of St. Jaques, also reported destroyed or seriously damaged in the bombardment.

The Hotel De Ville or city hall, also said to have been ruined or badly damaged by shell fire, was commenced in 1627, but not completed until the present century. It contained a fine library with hundreds of volumes of manuscripts, some antiquities and a good collection of paintings.

Protest Presented.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The French ambassador, Jules Jusserand, presented the protest of his government as given in the foregoing dispatch, to the state department today and personally read it to Secretary Bryan. It was signed by Foreign Minister Delcasse.

GERMAN FLEET IS STILL AT ITS BASE

Not Known Whether It Will Come Out and Meet Enemy.

Bordeaux, via London, Sept. 21.—An official communication, addressed to the navy and reviewing the works of the fleet since the outbreak of hostilities, says:

"The navy was called upon to cover the return of troops to France from Africa, which was done satisfactorily. Assisted by British forces in the channel and the North sea, the command of the sea was attained from the first day the war broke out. The French and British fleets also assured the security of the Mediterranean.

"The German fleet does not leave its base. Nevertheless the British fleet was able to fight a naval battle off Helgoland from which it emerged victorious. It is impossible to know whether the enemy's fleet will end by accepting the challenge, but meanwhile the allied squadrons are mistress of the sea and are blockading the German and Austrian coasts, forcing the enemy to live almost exclusively on themselves and reckon only their own resources. This is certain assurance of ultimate success for us if the war is prolonged."

The communication asserts that French seaborne trade continues to enjoy full liberty of movement, and concludes by emphasizing the manner in which the navy and the army have cooperated for the defense of the country.

AMERICANS AWAIT TRANSPORTATION

London, Sept. 21, 11:45 a. m.—The relief agents of the American government who have been busy in London since the outbreak of hostilities, may not be able to bring their work to an end by Oct. 1, if today's influx from the continent is a criterion of the number still to come from Germany.

Six hundred Americans, all from Frankfort, reached the offices of the relief committee today. These are virtually all bona fide Americans and have unquestionable passports and most of them are in possession of sufficient funds to take them back home. Only a few lack the sums necessary to pay for their passage.

These refugees say that not enough trains have been running in Germany to bring out all the Americans who wanted to leave. They wanted to come from the first, but were unable to find accommodations. They declare that several thousand American tourists are still awaiting transportation to the Dutch border.

The London relief committee composed of American residents intends to continue its work no matter what is done by the government.

Injured by Separator.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 21.—While endeavoring to catch a strap that was hanging in the separator of a threshing machine rig on the Altepeter farm northwest of the city, Stephen Altepeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Altepeter, Sr., was drawn into the machine and before it could be stopped one of his arms was broken, the other badly bruised and his head cut.

CALLED HIM DOWN.

Philadelphia Telegraph: At a social affair the other night the conversation turned to justifiable remonstrances, when Congressman Frank B. Willis of Ohia was reminded of the rebuke administered by a pretty girl named Marie.

One afternoon some time ago Marie called on her dearest girl chum, and soon the two fairies were deep in the details of the gowns and things seen at a reception the evening before.

"And do you know, Alice," confidentially murmured Marie, when the subject reverted to the guests, "Harry had the nerve to kiss me on the forehead."

"You don't really mean it!" was the horrified rejoinder of Alice. "I suppose you called him down?"

"I certainly did," sweetly answered Marie. "About four inches."

LAXITY IN RELIGION

Sunday School Instruction Insufficient, Declares Dr. Hovis.

Ignorance of Bible Being Reflected in Home Life.

Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, spoke yesterday morning on "Personal Accountability," taking as his text: "Each one of us shall give an account of himself to God." Dr. Hovis spoke in part as follows:

"Paul announced the fact of individual obligation in his letter to the Romans when he said: 'Each one of us shall give an account of himself to God.' This statement arrests our attention and groups our thought around its three important words—'each' in the sense of each person separate from every other; 'account,' involving the necessity of a reckoning, and 'God,' who is the final arbiter of human obligation.

No Two Alike.

"The Creator has taken infinite pains with private personality. It is estimated that there are one billion, five hundred million people in the world, and no two of these are precisely alike. Each one bears his Maker's stamp. When God creates a soul, He uses an exclusive pattern. He has placed the emphasis on the unit. There is no poverty in His variety. He does not deal in duplicates when He puts His imprint on a human heart.

"A superficial survey of the human family takes into account similarity rather than personal distinction. Trade is organized on the basis of common need. Multitudes of men and women are enough alike that merchants are able to supply them with clothing ready-made. Salesmen, however, have learned that those who wear shoes and gloves and coats and hats of equal size differ widely among themselves in individual characteristics.

"The truth of the matter is that there are no two people in the world exactly alike. There are many whose feet and hands and head and ears and nose and mouth are the same size and shape, whose hair and eyes are the same color, whose height and weight are just the same, who do not even look alike. The divine Artificer has endowed the human spirit with such diversity and power of expression that the countenance changes to suit its moods. The foolish ditty which caught the popular ear with the facetious phrase, 'all coons look alike to me,' was simply another way of saying that all negroes are black and an indication that the world is liable to see nothing but their blackness.

No Real "Doubles."

"The very title of Edward Everett Hale's book, 'My Double and How He Undid Me,' suggests the impossibility of a double for any considerable length of time. If one is playing a double role, as in the case of Robert Louis Stevenson's 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde,' then one does not dare to appear at the same time as his double under the penalty of being shown to be not two but one; if one has another acting for him as in the case described by Mr. Hale then self and double dare not be seen together or they will be proven to be not one but two—not the same but different.

"In my college days I met two young men who were twins. When they were dressed in their military uniforms they surely did look alike. When I saw them apart I was never sure which one I saw, but when I saw them together it was not difficult to note considerable difference. One had only to hear the two recite and to observe their spirit, speech and manner, to see that in many respects they were diametrically opposite and that they were as distinctly different as day and night.

Value of Personality.

"It enhances the value of personality to know that each one is different from all the others in the world. It makes a person feel as if he were somewhat to understand that God made him different from any other person He ever made. It was said of John the Baptist, 'There was a man sent from God whose name was John.' If God thought enough of you and me that He was careful to make us unlike anybody else, I fancy that we, too, are sent by Him.

"I have a letter in my desk which I have kept for many years and mean to keep it till I die. It was written by Bishop Vincent to me when I was new at my chosen work. It would not be in good taste for me to repeat the phrase that makes me keep the letter if it were not general enough to be applicable to any case. He said: 'It is a great thing to be you.' I turn to you and pass it on, 'It is a great thing to be you.' Your endowment is yours and not another's, your 'charge to keep' the charge of no one else; there isn't anybody just like you, God made you as you are as He has made 'each one'—'It is a great thing to be you!'

Involves Accountability.

"Privilege always involves accountability. You can take down your telephone receiver tomorrow morning and call your grocer and order every luxury that the market can afford and as soon as the deliveryman can hurry to your door your wants will be supplied. You can keep that for thirty days, but the privilege is granted on the assumption that at the end of the month there must be an accounting. You cannot remain an honorable citizen and disregard your accounts. You can go as a perfect stranger to any hostelry in the world and the minute you cross its threshhold bellboys will vie with one another to carry your luggage; you are given a room; every luxury of the institution is at you disposal, but you cannot take your departure with impunity until you have stood before the cashier's window and settled your account.

"One of the reasons why man fails to recognize his obligation to his Maker lies in the fact that so many secondary causes have thrust themselves between him and his God. Primitive society was simple and its religious relationships were easily understood. The early government of the Hebrews who were the conservators of the oracles of God was a theocracy. The life of the people was largely pastoral and they had abundant opportunity for reflection upon the deeper things of life. Science and invention had not multiplied and rendered complex the lines of life. There were scholars in those days, but to be a scholar and a "wise man" was to know about the heavens and to understand the laws that relate men's hearts and lives to God.

"The average person is in the anomalous position of professing a belief in God and acting as if there were no God. Men give little place for worship in their lives. In an intensely practical age they have put the stress on doing good and have minimized the matter of being good. The authority of God is not a recognized reality. Business and pleasure seem the master passion of many lives. God is crowded into a secondary place. His institutions are trampled under foot.

Ignorance of Bible.

"Part of the apathy which men show for matters religious arises out of a lamentable ignorance of God's word. We are reaping the harvest of religious laxity in the home. We are facing the appalling danger that the children of our day shall grow to manhood and womanhood with insufficient knowledge of the Bible. So much is this becoming a matter of concern with thoughtful minds that leading educators are suggesting that the meager work of the Sunday school be supplemented by some instruction along this line during the week. The day is probably not far distant when each pupil in the public schools will be turned over to the church of his choice to be instructed by competent teachers for at least a half a day each week, with the understanding that during this time he is to study the Bible and be examined on his work in the same way in which he tries for any other credit in the course.

"The safety of the nation, the home and the individual lies in the recognition of the sovereign authority of Almighty God. We dare not thrust God out of our lives and deny Him a place in our homes. The question of the accounting is serious business. It should sober us and make us devoutly thoughtful when we remember that each one of us shall give an account of himself to God.'"

MENTAL LAXITY MENACES HOME

Dr. Hoffman Scores People of Fashion for Their Indifferehce.

Dr. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, severely criticized the mental attitude of fashionable society in his sermon yesterday morning on "Kindness That Is Fatal."

He said in part: "A recent writer declares most women in polite society just now have no clear principles. Judging from the way in which things most threatening to the integrity of the home, the sanity of pleasures and purity of social life are countenanced, this is true.

"The mental attitude of fashionable life is a curious composite of doubt, uncertainty and indifference. The effect of this is most distressing in its social aspects.

"Drinking habits are countenanced, Sabbath amusements are fostered, promiscuous habits are developed which undermine the moral vigor and religious force of truth. Time was when Saturday evening was set apart for quiet and retirement in preparation for the Sabbath. Now it is a night of long and hilarious amusement.

"Of all the nerveless, forceless, worthless men or women are those who smile and say, 'It matters not what one believes,' or 'It is immaterial what church one attends, so he attends one.'

"This savors of a tolerance which has neither discrimination nor conviction—a kind of lazy, slipshod way of thinking. The Roman empire was most demoralized when it was most tolerant. Decay and degeneration had already set in.

"To sacrifice truth to personal pleasure is a tragedy. To practice a tolerance which has no conscience and no convictions is fatal to the integrity and advance of the work of Jesus Christ."

PROSPERITY NOT GAUGE OF SUCCESS

Sense of Duty Toward God Paramount, Says Dr. Ryan.

Neither the amount of goods a man accumulates nor the opinion others have of him, is as important as the inner sense of duty he feels toward God according to Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, in his sermon yesterday morning on "The Regulating Force of Life."

"Men are sent forth in this world to fulfill the offices of men, to preserve their honor, to attain beauty, to exercise noble influence in their kind and to live their own lives," Dr. Ryan said.

"We are liable to be swerved from doing what we ought to do by what people think or by the sense of our own inefficiency; but our Master tells us that we are doing an important work and that when he sends us to perform any office in the world, it is His power to bring success.

"To think that we are successful if we are prosperous is wrong. The divine demand is the demand that is worth while. He tells us 'Fear not little flock. It is the Father's good pleasure to give you the Kingdom.'"

SALONS AS WELL AS THE SALOONS

Cause Domestic Unhappiness, Says Pastor in Sermon on "Larger Life."

"Living in the Larger Life," was the subject of the sermon by Rev. George R. Gebauer at the Unitarian church yesterday.

"While we may not accept the Hindoo idea that this phenomenal world with its material pleasures is but a sham, we may well confess that it contains a very important truth and offers correction for our own views of life, which are fundamentally materialistic in spite of all Christian teaching," said the speaker. "We certainly are living too much in the things which are passing, we pin our souls to the comforts of physical life. We do not understand what Jesus meant when he said to his disciples, 'I have meat to eat that ye know not of'. We are in other words filled with an abnormal desire of selfish living. And we are harvesting from day to day, in the home, in society, in life at large the dire crop of materialistic selfishness.

"Our 'glorious' civilization is constantly running amuck and is to no small extent the cause of the terrible war raging today in Europe. Nations indeed never clash in the realm of mental and spiritual attainments, in the realm of free and unselfish endeavor, but only in the field of materialistic interests. Thus indeed selfish desire and misery and unhappiness are twins. And as this materialistic desire is at the bottom of the present war, so it is at the heart of the social dissensions of our day.

Reason For Dissatisfaction.

"Certainly all must admit that there is good reason for this dissatisfaction in the social and the labor world today. We know that there is much injustice in our capitalistic individualism. And we all can well understand the socialistic propaganda which would wake up the masses to their rights to bring about a more just distribution of the fruits of labor. But the question must come to every thinking man, is the socialistic ideal of life true in itself? In spite of all my sympathy for the suppressed masses, which can not get close to the trough of happiness, it will seem to me that the new theory of social life and justice is after all affected by the same virus, which led to the unwholesome development of capitalism. In spite of all the noble sounding phrases of justice and humanity, the movement is to the largest degree materialistic, rooting in the assumption that it is all of life to live. And so, no matter how just may be the demands of the reformers, and how natural they may be, they will never succeed in making this a kingdom of heaven. The kingdom of heaven can only be, when the spiritual is put above the material. We may want more economic justice, we cerainly need better physical conditions for the men and women, who bear the burden of our civilization, but as long as we have no higher thought than this, we must ever fail in our endeavor to give lasting joy to mankind.

Covetousness.

"After all it is materialistic greed which is the bane of our day. It is this greed which makes people more miserable than even the dire fact of poverty. Lack of needful things may much interfere with a man's happiness, but covetousness for things man does not need, much more. There are women who can not pass a show window on Superior street without a heartache, and in these windows nothing but needless frills. When they come home these desires are brought to the ears of their impecunious husbands and there is weeping and gnashing of teeth for a while. May be, finally the weak husband succumbs to the entreaties of his stronger half and buys which is beyond his means, and behold the latter state of conjugal infelicity is worse than the first. I would not hurt any one's feelings, and yet it will seem to me, that a great deal of domestic misery is not only due to the saloon, but to the 'salon of fashion', where covetousness is unduly stimulated by a foolish display of millinery. I do not say this in criticism of woman, but in pity for the multitudes of foolish men, who estimate a woman's worth by her feathers. And indeed not alone the woman is carried away by her selfish cravings fostered by man, but man himself. Driven by false notions of mere living, he will enter upon doubtful speculations which are bound to lead him to ruin and misery. No, true joy, the kingdom of heaven lies in the direction opposite to that in which the world travels. To see things which are desirable to the material eyes and not to desire them, this is the beginning of wisdom and in that direction is the kingdom of heaven."

EVANGELIST TALKS ON WORLD PEACE.

Before a large audience last night, at the Bible Chautauqua tent, located on West Second street near the Y. M. C. A., Evangelist Stemple White spoke on "Disarmament and the World Peace Cry, in the Light of the Holy Scriptures."

Mr. White briefly traced through history the various weapons of warfare on land and sea, used by man from the earliest times, down to the Twentieth century where war is fiercely waged on land and sea, under the sea and in the very clouds. Mr. White said:

"The beginning of war took place in heaven, when Lucifer rebelled against the law and government of God, and with one-third of the angels, who, against all proferred invitations of mercy through Christ, became utterly confirmed in rebellion, and were cast out of heaven. Since the fall of man, the same wicked rebellion is being carried on in this revolted world. Jesus died on Calvary's cross, that he might destroy the devil and his works, and not until the final destruction of sin and sinners, will war cease.

"One of the great paradoxes of the Twentieth century is the world wide cry of disarmament and peace, in the very face of the mightiest and most persistent preparation for war ever before known in the annals of time. To one who believes the word of God, this remarkable condition is not strange.

"Hundreds of years before the Caesars, the Lord spake through Isaiah and Micah, foretelling that 'in the last days,' 'many people' and 'many nations' would take up a world-wide peace cry, calling for disarmament and saying that 'swords would be turned into plowshares.' No one today is unfamiliar with the international peace conference movement, in which this is all being fulfilled before our very eyes, as a sign that we are in the last days of earth's history. But through the prophet Joel God declared that 'in the last days,' plowshares would be turned into swords, and that even the very heathen and the weak, would join in a most mighty preparation for war. This universal war preparation of today is simply a preparation and prelude to Armageddon, at which time all the nations of earth will be destroyed at the second personal return of Jesus Christ. As Paul wrote the Thessalonica church, at that day the 'peace and safety' criers will go down in final destruction, because they closed their eyes to the light of God's word. O why will not the world listen to the word of God, and prepare for the future?"

This is the last week at the Bible Chautauqua tent, and Mr. White will speak tonight on "Lessons From Jonah and the Whale."

FALL STYLES ON DISPLAY

New Evening Gowns Shown By Merchants, Rarely Beautiful.

Fur Used for Trimming—Hats May Be Either Small or Large.

Delicious—that's the only word that will describe some of the new evening gowns that are being shown at the fall openings and in the wonderful window displays seen along Superior street.

Delicate shades of pink, blue, green, yellow and lavender in messaline and chiffon are combined with lace to produce gowns that will make young women and those not quite so young, appear to the best advantage. Most of the evening gowns have floral touches that enhance their beauty. This touch may be a single rose or a garland of flowers, placed upon the shoulder or festooned across the girdle, but it is effective and dainty wherever placed. Some of the posies are made of chiffon or ribbon and others are of the variety one is accustomed to see on millinery.

Many of the dancing frocks have the skirt made of silk and lace or chiffon and lace, the bodice of lace and a wide crush girdle of silk. An unusually attractive evening gown is of white taffeta and Kelly green net with a train of the net falling from the shoulders and weighted at the bottom with a band of pearl trimming. A rather unusual model is a rainbow gown with the lower part of the skirt of chiffon in shades of yellow and the waist in shades of green.

A feature of some of the evening frocks is a scalloped edge to the skirt, resembling flower petals.

One of the new shades is orchid pink, a rather deep shade. One gown of this shade had the skirt formed of ruffles of chiffon bordered with satin and a sash of blue that added a chic note. Another orchid pink creation was of chiffon with a deep crush girdle of velvet in the same shade.

Black Is Popular.

Many of the afternoon gowns are combinations of velvet and messaline and it may be said that black is in the lead. There is enough velvet in these to give richness but not enough to make them cumbersome. Accordian pleated net tunics edged with messaline are very smart. Several very chic afternoon gowns have white messaline skirts and bodices of black messaline or velvet.

Fur is going to play an important part this winter as a trimming as well as a protector for the cold. Fur collars and cuffs are seen on many fabric coats and a delicate chiffon afternoon gown has its flounces edged with narrow fur banding. Many suits have trimmings of bread tail cloth.

Most of the suits display the happy combination of chicness and a degree of conservatism that was lacking in the suits of last season. Black, navy blue, brown and Russian green are the favored shades. One of the newest materials for suits is mirror cloth. It is really pure mohair but has the appearance of pan velvet with slightly irregular ridges. Wool velour, broadcloth and zibilene are among the popular materials for coats.

Furs are not attracting much attention this warm weather, but many sets have attractive muffs in the new melon form that is a welcome change to the pillow and rug styles that held sway so many seasons.

The New Hats.

Hats are either small or large. The turbans that are intended for general and informal wear are nearly all of black velvet that is suitable for most occasions and can be worn by most women, regardless of age or features. Metal flowers, fruit and ribbons in gilt, steel, silver and the tarnished forms are extremely popular for both knock-about and dress hats. The brims of some of the larger hats are edged with white, black or metal net that adds to the size but gives a note of airiness. Hackle feathers in black and brown are used on some of the chic turbans.

Blouses are often made of plain chiffon combined with floral, Persian or rainbow designs and are very delicate and dressy. Rainbow effects do not stop with gowns and waists for some of the Windsor ties have ends of various shades.

The stores are unusually bright and attractive this week with baskets of flowers placed upon the showcases and hanging from the ceilings, and the show windows are beautiful with their displays of charming gowns and hats against their floral backgrounds.

Among the firms making prominent displays are George A. Gray & Co., the Leiser Co., J .M. Gidding & Co., Freimuth's, the Glass Block, Silberstein & Bondy, Gately's, J. J. Moe & Sons company and Miller-Albenberg.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Some Women Wait Too Late for Marriage.

I have never believed in hurrying young people into marriage, though there are several things to be said in favor of early marriage just as one can be argued into the belief that marriage later on in life is preferable and should be indulged in by young men and women.

I say, suit yourself. If you think you can get along on a small amount of money, you probably can, and be happy, too. If you have lofty ambitions you had better bide your time, for you are likely to come to grief on the shoals of dissatisfaction and discontent.

But it is not so much the question of when men and women should marry that I wanted to get at as it was why certain women do not marry until they reach a certain age and then marry a man at variance with all preconceived ideas of the type of man who would make a fit husband for them. I suppose the same thing applies to men.

I have known girls who have spent some of the best years of their lives looking for someone more advantageously situated than those men with whom they had grown up with from childhood. And they did this openly. They had a way of treating all their friends in a "not quite good enough for me" manner, and though boyhood friends were suitors, they were put off in the hope that someone more eligible would eventually come awooing.

Sometimes these expectations have been realized, but I am afraid the reverse is the rule. I would not have anyone think that I believe many of these young women have an affection for some one man and allow it to pass out of their lives because they are ambitious for worldly success through marriage. Most of them keep fancy free, the while they pursued a policy of "watchful waiting." Often as not this comes to naught.

But some of these girls have long to wait, and just before it is too late they come down to earth, take an account of their own good points and failings and patch them up with someone who has a somewhere near equal showing. They make good wives and are happy and contented after they get over their vain and foolish estimation of their own worth, and what they should bring in the marriage market. This is one of many reasons why some women marry late in life. It is also an explanation of the remark we often hear: 'Why I never thought she would marry him."

WANT AUTONOMY FOR LITHUANIA

National Convention With That Object in View Opens in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—A national convention, having for its objects the formation of a program to obtain autonomy for Lithuania and to raise funds for war sufferers of that Russian province, began here today.

The convention, according to announcement, under the auspices of the Lithuanian Roman Catholic federation, represents 500,000 Lithuanians in America. In addition to obtaining autonomy from Russia the announcement states that it is desired to take that part of East Prussia which, prior to the union of the Lithuanians and Foles in the Sixteenth century, was a part of Lithuania. In the partition of Poland in the Eighteenth century most of Lithuania went to Russia.

Among those at the meeting today were the Rev. Dr. M. Gustaitis, president of the prominent educational organization Ziburis in Lithuania, and Dr. J. Gabrais, an educator of Paris and director of the Lithuanian bureau of information of Paris.

"Means of co-operation with the efforts of our Lithuanian brethren to get autonomy will be solved at this convention," the announcement concludes.

IRON CROSSES WERE READY FOR VICTORS

Were to Have Been Distributed When German Army Entered Paris.

Bordeaux, France, Sept. 21, 11:45 a. m.—The Petit Geronde, has published a dispatch from Verdun stating that French soldiers nearby found a valise belonging to a Prussian officer, which contained a quantity of little iron crosses, strung on black and white ribbons and bearing the inscription "1814-1914." These presumably were to have been distributed to German soldiers after the entry of the German army into Paris.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TRAIN IS HELD UP.

Los Angeles, Sept. 21.—Two armed men held up and robbed Southern Pacific northbound fast passenger train No. 75 late last night, eleven miles north of here. They are reported to have secured nearly $1,000 from the passengers. The train proceeded after a half hour's delay.

The holdup is the second at about the same hour and place, within two months. The previous occasion robbers went through a southbound train made up mostly of day coaches and obtained about $3,200.

POWDER FACTORIES WORK NIGHT AND DAY.

Rome, by way of Paris, Sept. 21.—Reports received here state that the factories of Austria in which explosives are manufactured, are being worked to their capacity day and night.

According to the correspondent of the Messagero at Trieste the municipal authorities of Trieste, where the great bulk of the population is Italian, have refused to permit a special church service imploring victory for Austrian arms on the grounds that the war is contrary to the sentiment of the people of the city.

Valuable Discovery in Complexion Beautifier

Because of its peculiar power of absorption, also because it serves every emollient purpose, ordinary mercolized wax is perhaps the most valuable complexion beautifier discovered within recent years. If one uses this she needs no toilet cream. Some use powder afterward, but this is not necessary. This rule for applying mercolized wax has been found very satisfactory. Wash the face with warm water, drying lightly. Before thoroughly dry, anoint face and neck with the wax, but don't rub it in. The favorite way is to use before retiring, allowing it to remain on all night and washing it off in the morning with warm water. All druggists have this wax in original one-ounce packages.

For the removal of a wrinkled or flabby condition there's nothing better than to bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. Beneficial results are quickly noticeable. —Advertisement.

Ironwood Church Festival.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual harvest thanksgiving service was held at the Newport M. E. church yesterday. In the morning the pastor preached from the text: "The harvest is past, the summer is ended." At 2:30 in the afternoon the Rev. Mr. Thompson, of the Hurley M. E. church, preached and in the evening a varied program was rendered.

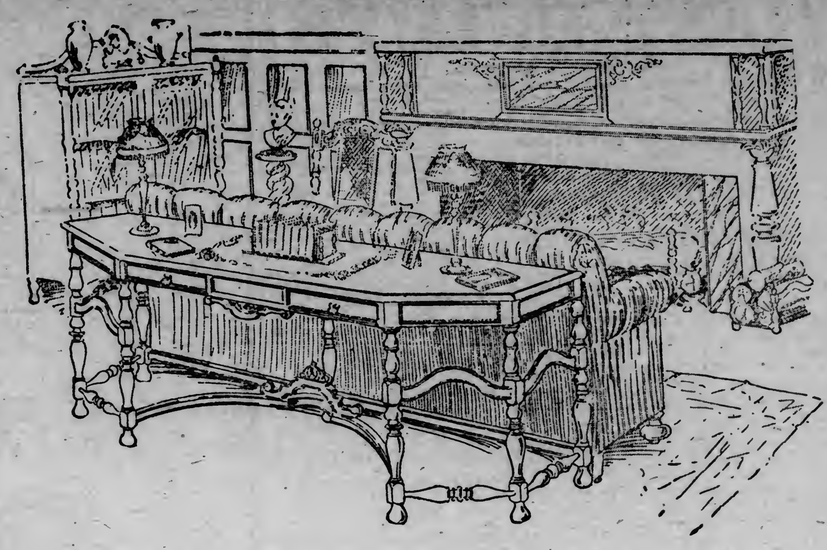

This evening there will be a social in the church parlor. Fruits and vegetables will be sold during the evening.

GERMAN RIVERMEN NEED NOT ENLIST.

Berlinfi Sept. 21.—In order to meet the scarcity of experienced men for river and canal traffic, the military authorities have ordered that all rivermen belonging to the Landsturm need not enlist, and a call has been made for old rivermen, who have entered other trades, to return immediately to river work.

It is pointed out that it is of vital importance to keep commerce on the inland water routes going, for the transportation of foodstuffs, fuel and other necessities, and the authorities are doing their utmost to maintain this service. The only thing lacking, it is said, is the experienced river man, so many of whom have gone to war. So far as ships and other shipping facilities go, it is declared, there is no handicap.

MISSIONARY HAS BIG FIELD HERE

Minnesota Needs Gospel as Much as India, Says Pastor.

That home missionary work was just as important if not more so than foreign work was the contention made by Rev. Herbert Ford, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues, in his sermon yesterday. The subject of the pastor's address was "Christ in Minnesota."

"The work of spreading the gospel to the people of Minnesota is just as important if not more so, than among the heathens on the banks of the Ganges river," said the pastor.

"Right in our own state there are sixty towns without regular religious meetings," he said, "and the state convention of the Baptist church spends about $25,000 a year to aid these struggling towns. We pay either for the entire or partial support of these people, and must depend on the generosity of you more fortunate people to keep up the work.

"We are also extending the scope of our work among the foreigners coming to our shores. We have done good work among the Danes, Norwegians, and Finns, and we are now extending the work to the Hungarians, Slavs and Italians."

COMET SEEN BY DULUTHIAN

George W. Martin Gets Up Early to See Visitor in Skies.

Nocturnal observers of the sky may now be able to see the latest style in comets if they wish to take the trouble to get up during the early hours of the morning. The comet, which some time ago was chronicled as about due to get within range of the naked eye, has been viewed two mornings in succession by George W. Martin, 603 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Mr. Martin is the first Duluthian to call attention to the comet. He said that he first observed it with the naked eye yesterday morning at 2 o'clock. He saw it again this morning. The comet, he says, can be seen between 2 and 4 o'clock near the horizon, slightly east of north, a distance of about 2 deg. east of the big dipper. Mr. Martin says it appears to be traveling towards the sun.

PARTY FOR PUPILS.

Miss Solem Gives Pleasing Entertainment Saturday Afternoon.

Miss Pauline Solem of Bay View Heights entertained for a number of her piano pupils at her home Saturday afternoon. Piano selections were given by the students and games were played following which refreshments were served.

The home was prettily decorated with autumn leaves, ferns, gladiolas and cosmos. Games were played on the lawn. Prizes were won by Misses Vivian Bentson, Nedra Olsen, Diana Erickson, Hildeborg Ek and Mrs. T. F. Olsen.

The guests were: Mesdames Peter Lund, E. J. Sponheimz, T. F. Olsen, G. Solem and Misses Hulda Wickman, Alta Johnson, Mildred Grono, Helen Scott, Madeline Pond, Muriel Strand, Beatrice Comfort, Bernlece Olsen, Nedra Olsen, Alfhild Soderberg, Walborg Erickson, Hildeberg Ek, Wilhelmina Ives, May McConnell, Vivian Bentson, Ethelyn Aman and Masters Arthur Lund and Herbert Lund.

McCABE WILL BE POSTMASTER.

Patrick McCabe, one of the leading citizens of the village of Proctor has been appointed postmaster of the village. His appointment has just been confirmed and he will assume the duties of his new office about Oct. 1.

Mr. McCabe has been one of the leading spirits in the civic life of Proctor for many years. He has not only taken an active part in the political life of the village but also in its general welfare and was an officer in the Proctor Commercial club. He has been in business in the village for many years.

The new postmaster of the village will not go into the office without previous experience. For several years he was employed in the Duluth postoffice and for a long time had charge of its money order department.

Mr. McCabe has a host of friends in West Duluth and Duluth who have been congratulating him on his appointment to the office. Mr. McCabe was a member of the firm of Sutton & McCabe, grocers, located in Duluth prior to his establishing a store in Proctor.

SAY OIL WAS SPREAD TOO THICKLY ON STREET

Drivers of machines and teams as well as a number of residents along Grand avenue east of Fifty-fourth avenue west, are complaining because of the amount of oil which the city has spread over the street. While they want the oil on the street to lay the dust they say that it is unnecessary to dump so much on the street that it stands in pools.

"The oil could have been spread much thinner and would do just as effective work," said one of the residents this morning. "Thinner coats put on oftener would be far more satisfactory. Now it is so thick that it is impossible to walk along the street without carrying a great deal of it on your feet and tracking it into our homes. The department could use better judgment in spreading the stuff, thus not only saving money for the city but also making it go a great deal farther."

PROCTOR TAKES "SEMI-PRO" TITLE

Wins Decisive Victory 8 to 0 Over Superior Nine.

The Proctor semi-professional team decisively settled the Head of the Lakes championship for that class in its game yesterday with the Superior Box company's team. The score was 8 to 0 for the villagers, granting them the championship as well as a side bet of $50.

According to observers of the game, the South Superior men never had a "look in." Al Cummings, former league hurler, allowed but three scattered hits, while the men back of him played an errorless game. The Proctorites in their turn gathered eleven hits, some of them well bunched and were assisted in run getting by means of six errors made by their opponents.

PEPPER RUBBED IN BOYS' EYES

Two Little Lads Are Victims of Gang of Bullies.

While on their way to a motion picture theater Saturday evening, Herbert and Clifford Giroux, aged 9 and 10 years respectively, were attacked by larger boys, who held them while one of them rubbed a red pepper bulb across their faces, getting some of the juice into the boys eyes. Orvil Fox, aged 15 years, is charged with having rubbed the pepper in the boys' faces.

The screams of the boys attracted the attention of Patrolman Fred Anderson, who took them to Dr. D. E. Seashore's office for treatment. Dr. Seashore this morning said that they would recover from the effects.

The Fox boy was placed under arrest shortly afterwards by the officer and later released, with instructions to report to Lieut. C. R. Wilcox. Lieut. Wilcox this morning said that the boy would be brought before the juvenile court.

DULUTH IS GIVEN FLAG

Northern Magnates Meet and Award the Bunting.

Attendance Figures Show Duluth Third in the List.

The most interesting piece of information given out at the Northern league meeting today was the official attendance figures of the season past. The pennant was formally awarded to Duluth and several matters that the magnates earnestly guard against getting in the papers at this time, came up for discussion. On the whole, the gathering was extremely barren of news that would prove interesting to the general public.

The official attendance figures differ materially from the unofficial count given out just before the close of the season.

During the past season Winnipeg sent 103,807 fans to the seventy-three games played at the Riverside park, an average attendance of 1,422 per game. Had not grim war broken in upon the national pastime, it is estimated by baseball men that the attendance figures of the metropolis of the league would have gone past the 150,000 mark.

Fort William surpassed Duluth in total attendance figures, though the average per game was not quite so high. In sixty-four games the Bills played to a total attendance of 52,495, making an average per game of 820. The total attendance here for fifty-seven games was 51,213, making the average attendance per game 898.

One of the very vivid reasons Winona will not be in the league next season is an 18,195 attendance figure for the season. The daily average attendance at the city beautiful was 387. The fans prefer looking at the scenery to gazing at the ball team.

Grand Forks had a total of 34,445 for 60 games, an average daily attendance of 574. Fargo-Moorhead totaled 37,219 for 61 games, an average daily attendance of 730, and down-trodden Superior sent 28,658 fans out to witness 55 games at Hislop park, the average attendance per game being 521. Virginia had an attendance of 27,431 for the same number of games, the average daily attendance being 498.

The total attendance of the league for the season was 253,463, which is said to be above the mark of last season. Considering the fact that Duluth was provided with the best baseball in the history of the city, the mark of the home team is nothing to the credit of the sporting spirit of the city.

Magnates Are Satisfied.

The majority of the magnates are satisfied with the record of the season. This year has been one of the worst in the history of baseball and there are alibis in plenty for any club owner losing money. On the whole it is stated by those present that the season has been very satisfying.

O. H. Clark is here representing the Winona club, with W. J. Sommer representing Superior; H. A. Blume, Duluth; A. B. Coates, Virginia; Dr. Mitchell, Fort William; John Burmeister presided. Luncheon was served at the Spalding.

It was mysteriously whispered that some startling baseball pyrotechnics would be shot off at the December meeting of the magnates, when the circuit for next season will be shaped. It is stated on the very best of authority that the league at that time will be solidified and placed on a long term basis of organization. There is also reason to believe that there may be some rather radical changes worked in the league at that time.

FIRST GRIDIRON VICTIM.

High School Player Has Leg Broken at Galesburg.

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 21.—With the opening of the official football practice season in the Middle West today came the first accident of the season.

The victim was Harold Voss, a member of the Viola high school eleven. His right leg was broken in scrimmage practice.

BEST PLAYERS ON COURTS.

Women's Tournament at Forest Hills Is Begun.

New York, Sept. 21.—Virtually all of the best women lawn tennis players in the East are entered in the metropolitan championship tournament which began today at the West Side Tennis club courts in Forest Hills, L. I. The tournament will consist of singles, doubles and mixed doubles. The latter two branches will begin tomorrow.

DELAY ACTION ON CITY PLANT

Council Will Provide Ferry in Place of Aerial Bridge.

The ordinance appropriating $85,800 for the West Duluth unit of the proposed municipal lighting plant will not be acted upon at the council meeting this afternoon, according to Mayor Prince. He said that it would be laid over one week as the city attorney wishes to make some changes in it.

The contract for transporting passengers across the canal while the bridge is laid up for its fall overhauling will be awarded to W. F. Thompson on his bid of $39 per day. The steamer Chase S. Osborne will act as the ferry. The only other bid was that of the Clow-Lloyd Transportation company, which asked $65 a day for the Plowboy. Commencing today the bridge will be laid up for about ten days.

Several appropriation ordinances will be passed or advanced and other routine business transacted. At the close of the meeting Attorney John Jenswold has asked for a conference with the council relative to the Seventh street assessment.

Chicken Hunter Shot.

Sanborn, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Postmaster Langer, a railroad man named Knable and Lars Peterson were chicken shooting. They were carrying loaded guns in the rig and when Langer got out to water the dogs his gun was accidentally discharged and Lars Peterson was shot in the leg. Amputation may be necessary.

HUMIDITY IS HIGH; TEMPERATURE FAIR

No Weather Records Are Broken—Fair Weather for Industrial Exposition.

That this temperature is no record-breaker for this late in September was the statement of Weather Forecaster Richardson today. Most people will have it that it is.

"No, it is not," said Mr. Richardson, when asked this morning. "It's warm, all right, but we have had it as high as 82 deg. on the last day of the month. Today the highest temperature was 80 deg. That's not so bad, when you come to think of it. Probably the reason people think it is so very hot is because of the humidity. The humidity today reached 80 to 90 per cent, which is high for this time of year. When high temperature and high humidity join forces everybody is going to come to the conclusion that the hottest weather of the year is upon us. But this is not the case. However, as I observed before—in case nobody else does—it's hot."

Mr. Richardson added that tonight or tomorrow cooler weather will set in, together with a streak of fair weather. He says that the indications for the industrial exposition days are for good weather, except that there may be showers tonight and early tomorrow.

EXPOSITION IS ARRANGED WITH EYE TO BEAUTY

Curling Rink Interior Artistic Prototype of Ancient Egyptian City.

Beautiful Setting and Superb Decorations Set Off This Week's Affair.

When the doors of the curling rink are thrown open to the public this afternoon, ushering in the big industrial, dairy and agricultural exposition, to be held all of this week, patrons of Duluth enterprise will be given one of the finest artistic treats of their lives. They will be ushered into an ancient Egyptian city in which are exhibited the products of modern industrial and agricultural science.

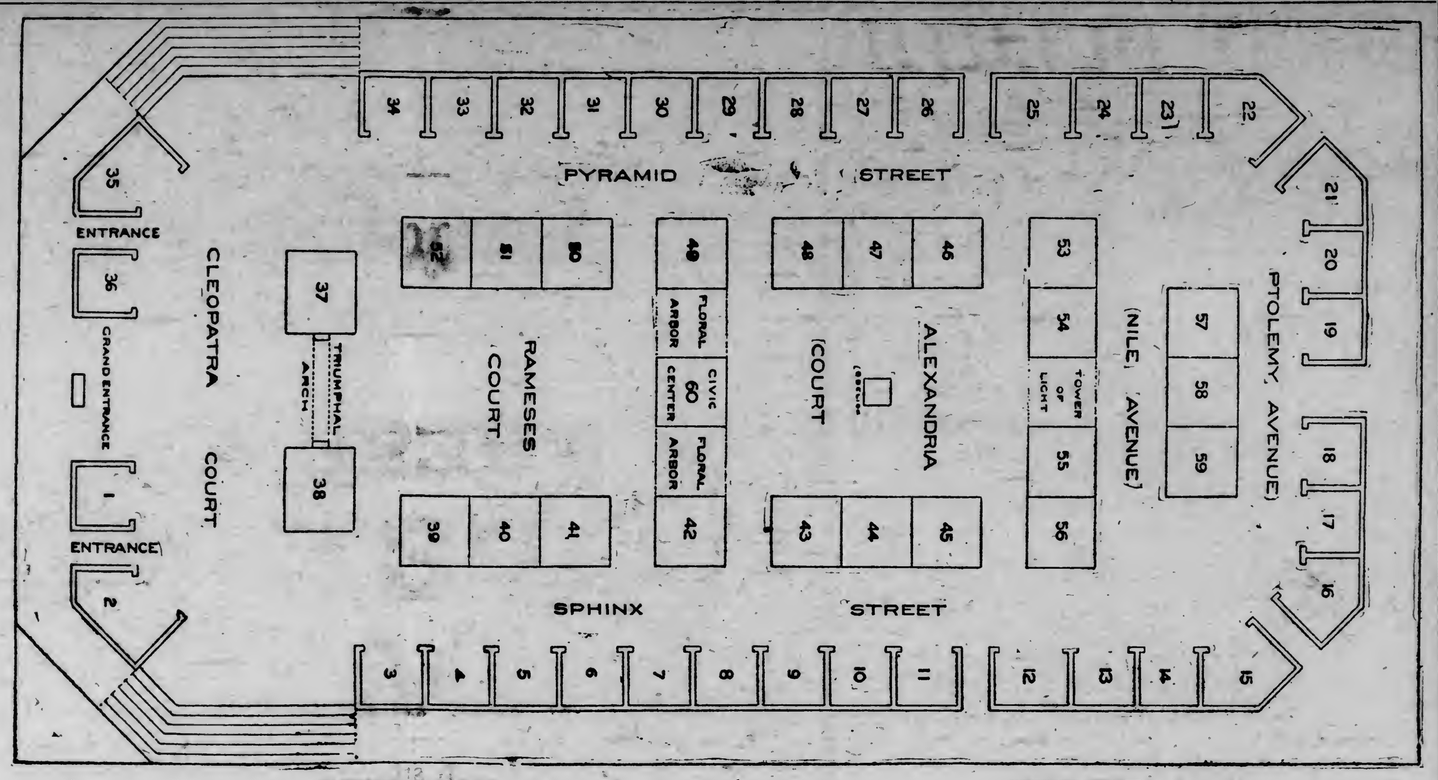

It is safe to say that no exhibition ever given in Duluth or the Northwest has ever had such a beautiful and tasteful setting, and the decorative work is a triumph for its designer and producer, Charles Josten of Fowler, Mont., formerly of Duluth, who left his home and business to create this Egyptian city for his former fellow townsmen. So elaborate and complex is the plan of design that Mr. Josten spent seven months in working out the details of his work. The conventional characteristics of Egyptian art and the historical figures and persons so well known to the architect are faithfully reproduced in an original manner.

List of Exhibitors.

The list of exhibitors; some of whom will occupy two or three of the buildings in the Egyptian city, follows:

Interesting features in a number of the booths are described below.

37

THE PATRICK-DULUTH Woolen Mill exhibit, Booth No. 37, scarlet and white decoration, with showing of the genuine Bigger-Than-Weather Blankets, Automobile Robes and the demonstration from the raw wool to the finished cloth of the Patrick process as carried on at the mill. This booth will also include a showing of the genuine Patricks. These garments will be demonstrated by men and women models. A number of attractive new designs in garments and materials will be shown.

38

THE PATRICK-DULUTH Knitting Mill, Booth No. 38, will include two hosiery knitting machines of latest design, in full operation. Under the charge of experts, these machines will turn out two pairs of the genuine Macka-Knit Socks every five minutes. The interesting manner of knitting by machinery will be fully explained to all visitors. The exhibit will include a demonstration of the raw and partly prepared materials from which the Patrick-Duluth Macka-Knit Sweaters are made. The decoration of this booth will be in scarlet and white.

35

ONE BOOTH bound to attract the kiddies' attention is that of Bridgeman-Russell Co. To see that delicious Velvet Ice Cream pouring out in a continuous stream from the latest type continuous freezers is sure an interesting sight. The Bridgeman-Russell people also have one of their strictly sanitary churns busily engaged in the manufacturing of Primus Butter. Sanitation and cleanliness is the keynote of successful creameries. Here you will see in a small way how carefully Primus Butter and Velvet Ice Cream are guarded from possible contact with dust and dirt. Many people have heard of Pasteurized Milk but know very little about the process it goes through in being made pure and at the same time retaining its food values. This should interest the mothers. The able demonstrators will answer your questions.

26

TO THE MAN who has just finished a six-month seige on the rock pile the exhibit of the Duluth Crushed Stone Co. will be of little interest. This concern has thought it best to work in harmony with the commissioner of public works, so, therefore, the larger part of this booth is used for the display of paving samples and is of vital importance to the taxpayer, for it illustrates the different kinds of paving used throughout our city. Duluth stone proves, by wear, to be the best. The Duluth Crushed Stone Company's only competitor is the city, the city having about $25,000 invested in crushers that are used mostly to open up new streets. Nevertheless, Mr. Murchison, the commissioner of public works, finds that in many cases it's cheaper to buy crushed stone from the Duluth Crushed Stone Co. The reason the Duluth Crushed Stone Co. can furnish material cheaper than the city is because of their large plant and their thorough knowledge of the business. This company is able to furnish crushed rock in any size. Some of it is crushed as fine as flour, and often times rock is furnished in one piece weighing twenty tons. This feature is shown by photographs at the booth.

46-47

BOOTHS 46 and 47 are occupied by the Clyde Iron Works. In it is shown an exact working model of the Field Tower Excavator. This machine is being used with great success throughout the country in levee and drainage work, being one of the most modern type of excavators. The Clyde Iron Works are the sole manufacturers of this type of excavating machine. This company also manufactures hoisting machinery and are the largest builders of logging machinery in the world. In every continent of the world machinery of Clyde Grade may be found fulfilling efficiently and economically the end for which it was designed. Clyde-Grade machinery may indeed be hailed proudly as a product of the "Great Port of the Northwest."

40

ASIDE from the latest models of their regular line in Men's and Women's Footwear, the Northern Shoe Company is exhibiting some fancy designs to demonstrate the high type of workmanship and skill possessed by the shoe workers who make Kitche Gamee Men's Shoes and Northern Maid Shoes for Ladies. Amongst these is an enormous pair of Size 20 Shoes, which, without doubt, is the largest pair ever made in this part of the country, perfect in every detail, having nine pounds of leather in the sole alone and capable of being worn right out of the building by the Goliath who might fill them. Also they are displaying some of the extremely up-to-date shapes worn in Paris and London just previous to the breaking out of the European war. These will be examined with a great deal of interest by followers of correct fashion and perhaps with utter astonishment by those not acquainted with Duluth-made shoes.

11

ANYONE intending to do house constructing or repairing will certainly find something of great interest in Booth No. 11, the exposition home of the Scott-Graff Lumber Co. The finishing of the wall and ceiling of this booth is quarter sawed oak. An able demonstrator will be very glad to explain the quality of the various kinds of woods they will have on exhibition. Philippine, Honduras, South African, American and two East Indian varieties of mahogany alone will be on display, and everyone interested will be invited to carry a small sample away with them. This booth also has its educational value and anyone interested in lumbering will certainly be able to say that their time was well spent after hearing the demonstrator in this booth a short period.

27-28

THE DULUTH CORRUGATING & ROOFING CO., in Booth No. 28, have a corrugated galvanized steel building, which was never dreamed of in Ancient times. It is principally used for a garage building, but may be used for any purpose as it can be lathed and plastered. They also show a section of both their one-piece and sectional Iosa galvanized corrugated metal culverts. In Booth 27 is a steel ceiling and side wall, which is one of the many designs they manufacture. There is also very good model of an Ajax grain bin. A very good idea of the many uses that sheet metal is put to may be had by visiting both of their booths. There is shown, besides the above mentioned, all kinds of ornamental pressed zinc, steel shingles, doors and interior building trim.

54

THE DULUTH- EDISON ELECTRIC CO. occupied Booth No. 54. The Egyptian hieroglyphic decorations on this booth pictures the limited knowledge the people of ancient times had of electricity, the contrast is well shown. Modern electrical labor-saving appliances for the household are being demonstrated here that could those people of ancient times see them, words would fail to express their wonder. The economical cost of maintaining and operating these devices will prove an interesting surprise to many who imagine them beyond their means. Efficient demonstrators will be there to explain and gladly answer all questions.

57-58-59

THE EXHIBIT of the Western Rug Company in Booths 57, 58 and 59, on Nile avenue, shows the conversion of American grown linen fiber into rugs and runners now being marketed under the trade name of "Klearflax." These floor coverings represent the first fabric successfully woven from this home grown linen. The flax straw from which the fiber is obtained comes from Minnesota and North Dakota. The exhibit is therefore especially interesting to residents of Duluth and the Northwest. To utilize American linen fiber in any way is an achievement, but the Western Rug company has also made revolutionary advances in weaving and dyeing, and the finished product is remarkable in appearance, wearing qualities and general appeal.

44

IT WILL be a great surprise to the people of Duluth to know that Cowen & Zimmerman manufacture special furniture, and to see some of their pieces in course of construction on display in Booth 44, where there will be on exhibition a special dining room suite in Jacobean style, in oak. This is only one item of their growing business. They are in hopes of soon getting sufficient additional machinery to manufacture any piece of special furniture that they might be asked to make. Cowen & Zimmerman have made a name for themselves as high-class decorators, upholsterers, wood finishers, etc. They probably have on hand the largest stock of imported wall paper of any dealer in the Northwest, of which fact they may be justly proud, owing to the fact that nobody will be able to import any more paper for at least a year after the European war is settled.

41

PROBABLY one of the most popular places at the Exposition is the booth of the Zinsmaster-Smith Bread Company. Dainty sandwiches made from the delicious Butter-Nut Bread are served continuously to everyone. Two bakers, white, spic and span, even to the clean white gloves, impress the public that cleanliness reigns supreme in the making of this bread. The booth itself, located on the main aisle, stands out alone for its simpleness and neatness. Decorated in white with touches of golden brown, in harmony with the golden loaves of bread, give it a very striking appearance. Novelties for the children, who are such lovers of Butter-Nut Bread, are given away. Thousands of people are visiting this booth as they have the bread plant on Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street. They are always welcome, and the utmost courtesy is shown to all.

MARCHING ON THE CURLING RINK.

The big parade, through illuminated streets, will march tonight upon the curling rink; and all Duluth, surely, will march with it.

For tonight the big show opens, the show that epitomizes Duluth and its industries, its agriculture and its dairying achievements.

Long and careful preparation will come to a head tonight, and the third annual Industrial, Agricultural and Dairy exposition will open in a blaze of glory that needs only an audience to complete it.

This year the decorations, a spectacle of Oriental splendor, have been made a striking feature that is alone worth the small price of admission; and yet these attractive and interesting decorations are only the setting for this exhibition of Duluth and its industrial, commercial and agricultural prowess.

Everybody will go, of course; and everybody should go. Not only as a civic duty, in order that every citizen may know his home town and be equipped to tell of its achievements, but as a pleasure: for seeing this splendid exposition, this Made-in-Duluth exhibition, is a pleasure that nobody should deny himself.

So the whole town will turn out tonight, downtown to see the parade, out into the East end with the parade to see the show. If not tonight, then tomorrow night; for the show lasts a week.

Duluth invites itself today to a spectacle of interest, of educational value, of town-boosting importance.

And Duluth accepts the invitation with pleasure.

THE WAR FROM DAY TO DAY.

History will have a tale to tell of this battle of the Aisne—this tense, bitter, deadly, bloody, muddy, wet, toilsome, wearisome battle of the Aisne which is yet undecided at this writing and whereof no end is yet in sight.

For a long, hard week it has been a test of endurance—of human capacity to fight, to toil, to suffer peril and endure hardship.

The trenches are full of water—mud-tinged, tinged a darker sinister hue with lifeblood. "A heavy hail storm with a cold wind added today to the hardships of the entrenched troops."

There is little change—no change at all so far as surface indications tell. It has been a solid week since the German turned on the north bank of the Aisne and the battle of the Marne merged into the greater battle of the Aisne. All that week the troops on both sides have been pelted with bullets and cannon shot—worse still, with rain and hail and cold. All that week an artillery duel has been in progress, varied with infantry clashes as ground was gained by one side only to be retaken by the other.

Both sides are entrenched, and mainly the big guns have done the fighting, though there has been much hand-to-hand fighting of a primitive type that discredited prophets said had vanished from the field of war. There have been short rations, dampness, weariness—testing courage and spirits.

That the German ground was carefully and deliberately chosen is shown by the report that their great guns are bedded firmly on concrete foundations. The French and English, too, have in many places gained strong positions.

It is a fierce, bitter struggle all along the line. The allies are desperately striving to turn the right of the Germans, resisted by Von Kluck. The Germans are striving desperately to turn the right flank of the allies, resisted by the strong fortress of Verdun. Ground turned to mush by heavy rain fights with the defensive against all attacks.

Complete exhaustion, complete inability to fight further, may soon develop on one side or the other, to decide the issue—if the opposing side is not too completely exhausted to follow up its advantage.

In the East, the Russian aggression and the Austrian retreat have stopped at the strong fortress of Przemysl, where the invasion of Galicia halts till the overwhelming numbers of the Russians overcomes this powerful defense.

TO A MENTALLY STRUGGLING BROTHER.

Says the Duluth Herald: "It is true that Mr. Lee has not changed his mind on county option, and that he is still for it. After a carefully prepared address in which he set forth his idea of the issues, it was necessary for him to send a letter to the press saying that he still is for county option; so we must believe that he is." That being so, why does The Herald devote so much space in a quibbling attempt to make the people believe that Mr. Lee is not for county option?—Mankato Free Press.

We shall have the greatest pleasure in striving to make this all clear to the Mankato Free Press, which also is not for county option.

The Herald has devoted no space whatever to any attempt to make people believe that Lee is not for county option. It doesn't care whether he is for it or against it.

Whatever space it has devoted to the subject has been used in making people see that Mr. Lee is MUCH STRONGER FOR VOTES THAN HE IS FOR COUNTY OPTION OR ANYTHING ELSE.

Mr. Lee did not change his mind on county option, and so far as we have observed nobody ever charged that he did.

But he did, manifestly, try to subordinate the county option issue so it would not act as a red rag to a bull with the Eberhart following.

That's why he told people in Duluth and on the iron ranges, where county option is not popular and Eberhart was strong, that he did not intend to make it an issue.

That's why he gave an interview to the Biwabik Times in which he said that any one of the candidates for governor, himself included, would sign a county option bill if the legislature passed it, so that "all the candidates stand on the same ground in that respect."

That's why, in his carefully prepared keynote address before the state committee in Minneapolis, he sedulously avoided any use of the words "county option," but made his reference to the liquor question a cryptic utterance obviously intended to assure county optionists that he is still "all right," and to convey the idea to anti-optionists that he isn't such a bad fellow after all.

The scheme simply didn't work; that's all.

Mr. Lee's county option following, dissatisfied and alarmed by his utterance at Minneapolis, disturbed by the charge that he was striving to shelve the county option issue in the attempt to win back the disaffected liberal element in the Eberhart following, compelled him to come out flatfooted, and to deny with heat that he ever had tried to shelve this issue.

The issue ought to be shelved, for that matter, so far as the governorship is concerned. It rests with the people and the legislature. If the people want county option, they will elect a legislature pledged to it, and then county option will become a law, for whoever is elected governor will sign the bill if it is passed. If the people don't want county option, they will elect a legislature pledged against it, and then county option can't become a law no matter who is governor.

The issue in the recent controversy wasn't county option. It was not whether Lee was for or against county option. It was simply the exposure of an attempt on the part of Lee, county optionist, to flirt with the anti-option Republicans, and it failed miserably and ignominiously.

And that's all there was to it.

ASKING TOO MUCH.

Let our German fellow-citizens keep their shirts on. The world is not coming to an end just yet. Meanwhile, in case they be true Americans, as they say they are, let them join us in the adjuration, "We love no country except our own."—Col. Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The advice about keeping shirts on is timely and good, especially as the autumn chill draws nigh.

But the rest of it, Colonel, is just a leetle too strong—it is asking a trifle too much.

We in this neck of the woods have for neighbors and fellow citizens men and women born not only in Germany, but in Britain, in Canada, in France, in Austria, in Russia, in Norway, in Sweden, in Denmark—in every civilized country of the globe. Not a few of them, but many.

We find them loyal American citizens, fully appreciative of the glories of this land, zealous and useful in promoting these glories and cleaning them of their stains. Many of them can teach American patriotism to Americans whose ancestral immigration goes back to Colonial days.

We do not need to ask them to love America. They love it without asking.

And we never have thought of asking them to love no country but America; because we have found that love of native land and love of adopted country are not inconsistent, but rather intermingling and mutually supporting.

We have not found that these Americans of alien birth and parentage are any the less good Americans because love for the land of their birth mingles with and strengthens love for the land of their adoption.

Not Germans only, but Americans and others should "keep their shirts on" in this time of world-wide strife. That phrase is one way of putting President Wilson's splendid message on neutrality. We don't want our German neighbors entangling us in European quarrels; nor do we want our anti-German neighbors entangling us with quarrels either European or domestic.

We want them all to be Americans first, and so far as we have observed that is precisely what most of them are—conspicuously so right now. We want them to love America, but it is folly to ask them to love none but America. So long as America is first, and so long as America is at peace with the world, we invite them to cherish their love of native land and its traditions and virtues, for thereby they contribute to the melting pot of American life elements of rugged strength for which we are the better.

"We love no country but our own," is not broad, not Christian, not democratic, not brotherly, not human. Not EVEN the American whom many generations have thoroughly dehyphenized should join in that discordant song.

LA FOLLETTE AND WISCONSIN.

That's an interesting and enticing report which a returning traveler brings from Washington, that La Follette may come back and make himself an independent candidate for governor with the hope of rehabilitating himself and radicalism in Wisconsin.

Both the Republicans and Democrats in that state have nominated candidates anti-radical, anti-La Follettism.

Both claim to be "progressive," whatever that is. Yet both rank personally as conservatives. Probably both are conservative progressives, as distinguished from aggressive progressives.

At any rate, matters in Wisconsin are not going to the liking of La Follette. Moreover, it has been the La Follette portion of late, a portion bitter to the La Follette taste, to occupy ignominious inconspicuity.

To run for governor as an independent, carrying the standard of radicalism over his red locks, should be a stunt much to that La Follette taste. It would center again the wandering limelight. It would banish the gloom and murk of inconspicuity, a state abhorrent to the La Follette mind. It would be a "grandstand play" of the most spectacular sort, and would purchase much publicity, countrywide.

Moreover, it would add vastly to the gayety of nations, and the nations have little enough gayety these dark days.

A Brilliant Record

Harper's Weekly: It may well be doubted whether any secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton has acquitted himself more brilliantly than William G. McAdoo. He has had a series of intricate, novel, pressing and momentous problems crowded upon him. To him fell many of the tariff and income tax difficulties. On him came much of the organization of the new currency system, both in plan and in personnel. It was one of his duties so to use the government funds as to meet a sudden and unexpected crisis. In all of these emergencies his conduct has been masterly.

In the present shipping situation he also has an important part, and we may be sure he and his associates will meet it wisely. It is widely believed in Wall Street that one of the great banking houses hopes to induce the government to enter into partnership with it in buying a certain steamship line. Such are the relations of the two interests that this step would be equivalent to entering into partnership with the line itself. The ships in question are now useless until the end of the war. If they are bought they should be bought at a price which takes full account of that diminution in value. There must be no possible excuse for a criticism of the government. With such men at the helm as the president, Mr. McAdoo, Mr. Lane, Mr. Houston and the rest of a singularly powerful and well balanced cabinet, we are wholly sure that this suspicion in Wall Street is groundless.

Were Not Vegetarians.

Brockton Enterprise: The subject of vegetarianism has been the chief topic of discussion among the members of a Pleasant street family lately, and the head of the family has been trying to impress it upon the younger fry that it is better for them not to eat much meat during the warm season.

A few days ago some of the youngsters were out after blueberries and one of the little lads took his stand on a small knoll which was inhabited by a colony of ants.

Soon after his sister noticed that he seemed to be decidedly uncomfortable, to say the least.

"What's the matter?" she called out to him.

"Oh, nothin'," was the reply. "Only them ants ain't vegetarians."

But She Recovered.

Boston Transcript: "She was completely prostrated and made very ill by his perfidy."

"Did she recover?"

"Yes, $6,000."

Two European Evils

Ex-President Eliot of Harvard University in the New York Times.

When one begins to reflect on the probable causes of the sudden lapse of the most civilized parts of Europe into worse than primitive savagery, he comes at once on two old and widespread evils of Europe from which America has been exempt for at least 150 years. The first is secret diplomacy with power to make issues and determine events, and the second is autocratic national executives who can swing the whole physical force of the nation to this side or that without consulting the people or their representatives.

The actual catastrophe proves that secret negotiations, like those habitually conducted on behalf of the "concert of Europe," and alliances between selected nations, the terms of which are secret, or at any rate not publicly stated, cannot avert in the long run outrageous war, but can only produce postponements of war or short truces. Free institutions, like those of the United States, take the public into confidence, because all important movements of the government must rest on popular desires, needs and volitions. Autocratic institutions have no such necessity for publicity. This government secrecy as to motives, plans and purposes must often be maintained by disregarding truth, fair dealing and honorable obligations, in order that when the appeal to force comes, one government may secure the advantage of taking the other by surprise. Duplicity during peace and the breaking of treaties during war come to be regarded as obvious military necessities.

The second great evil, under which certain large nations of Europe—notably Russia, Germany and Austria-Hungary—have long suffered and still suffer, is the permanent national executive, independent of popular control through representative bodies, holding strong views about rights of birth and religious sanctions of its authority, and really controlling the national forces through some small council and a strong bureaucracy. So long as executives of this sort endure, so long will civilization be liable to such explosions as have taken place this August though not always on so vast a scale.

Americans now see these things more clearly than European lovers of liberty, because Americans are detached from the actual conflicts by the Atlantic, and, because Americans have had no real contact with the feudal or the imperial system for nearly 300 years. Pilgrim and Puritan, Covenantor and Quaker, Lutheran and Catholic alike left the feudal system and autocratic government behind them when they crossed the Atlantic. Americans, therefore, cannot help hoping that two results of the present war will be: (1) The abolition of secret diplomacy and secret understandings, and the substitution therefor of treaties publicly discussed and sanctioned, and (2) The creation of national executives—emperors, sultans, kings or presidents—which cannot use the national forces in fight until a thoroughly informed national assembly, acting with deliberation, has agreed to that use.

Kings at the Judgment Bar

From a sermon preached by Washington Gladden: I doubt not this war will bring to the world at large some great gains—gains not sought by any of these combatants—gains not desired by most of them—gains won in spite of them all.

It will bring, in the first place, such a demonstration, not only of the horrors of war, but of it futility, its stupidity as the arbiter of international relationships, that there will be a mighty revulsion against war, and that we shall soon realize that we have seen the beginning of the end of it.

It will bring home to us, also, in the sufferings which we shall undergo through the rupture of all these industrial relations, and the interruption of human progress, and the dislocation of so much of the order of the world on which we have learned to depend, the truth that for this world industry and world commerce and world finance and world friendship we must have a world peace.

It will bring the kings of this world and their ministers and their chancellors—those of them especially who are most responsible for this outbreak—to the bar of the world's judgment. It will convict them of the most stupendous blunder and the most ghastly crime of history. It will demand of them very pointedly what reason they have to offer why they should not have their power considerably restricted. It may not insist upon discrowning them, but it is pretty sure to give them notice that they have come into a new world order, where nations are not plunderers of one another, or overlords one of another, but members one of another—in which

Each Christian nation shall take upon her
The law of the Christian man in vest;
The crown of the setter shall fall to the donor,
And last shall be first, while first shall be last,
And to love best shall still be to reign unsurpassed.

War and Women.

The women wait and strain their eyes ahead,
One hand upon their eager sons in dread.
Is there no other way that leads to light?
Must blood and darkness be the door to right
Nor nations treat until more lads lie dead?
The women do not speak. In silence still
They bear the constant old yoke of men's will.
They who have given life must watch it tossed
A sop to war; the gift they gave so, lost,
Thus old dark rules these later days fulfill.

The women weep alone. They do not know
The way to give their wishes words. For slow
Are bonds to break. But when, hand clasped in hand,
The wakened women sure and strongly stand
In new-found freedom, will these things be so?
Will they who know the cost of life obey
The old tradition? send, for war to slay,
The sons that hold the future in their hands
Of all the races, all the earth's wide lands,
Or war's grim power be broken in that day?

—Mary Carolyn Davis in the Survey.

Obliging Conductor.

Cincinnati Inquirer: The fussy lady had noticed that the rude man sitting beside her on the street car had expectorated on the floor. The fussy lady immediately signaled the conductor and that official came in to see what was wanted.

"Do you allow spitting in this car?" demanded the fussy lady.

"Well, no," replied the conductor. "But you can come out on the platform if you want to, lady."

Armed Lovers of Peace

Dr. C. E. Jefferson in the Christian Century.

The historians of the future will find incontestable evidence that the king of England was one of the truest friends of peace who ever sat on the English throne, that the German emperor proclaimed repeatedly that the cause of peace was ever dear to his heart, that the president of the United States was so effective as a peacemaker that he won a prize for ending a mighty war, that the czar of Russia was so zealous in his devotion to peace that he called the nations to meet in solemn council to consider measures for ushering in an era of universal amity and good will and that the president of France, the king of Italy and the mikado of Japan were not a whit behind their royal brethren in offering sacrifices on the altar of the Goddess of Peace.

A crowd of royal peacemakers in a world surcharged with thoughts and threats of war, a band of lovers strolling down an avenue which they themselves had lined with lyddite shells and 12-inch guns, this will cause our historian to rub his eyes.

His bewilderment, however, will reach its climax when he discovers that it was after the establishment of an international court that all the nations voted to increase their armaments. Everybody conceded that it was better to settle international disputes by reason rather than by force, but as soon as the legal machinery was created by means of which the swords could be dispensed with, there was a fresh fury to perfect at once all the instruments of destruction. After each new peace conference there was a fresh cry for more guns.

Our historian will read with gladness the records of The Hague conference, and of the laying of the foundation of a periodic congress of nations, and of a permanent high court. He will note the neutralization of Switzerland, Belgium and Norway; the compact entered into by the countries bordering on the North sea, to respect one another's territorial rights forever; the agreement of the same sort solemnly ratified by all the countries bordering on the Baltic; the signing of more than sixty arbitration treaties, twelve of these by the senate of the United States; the creation of an international bureau of American republics, embracing twenty-one-nations; the establishment of a Central American high court; the elaboration and perfection of legal instruments looking toward the parliament of man, the federation of the world.

He will also note that while these splendid achievements of the peace spirit were finding a habitation and a name, the nations were thrilled as never before by dismal forebodings and the world was darkened by whispers of death and destruction. While the palace of peace at The Hague was being built, nations hailed the advent of the airship as a glorious invention, because of the service it could render to the cause of war. This unprecedented growth of peace sentiment, accompanied by a constant increase of jealousy and suspicion, of fear and panic, among the nations of the earth will set our historian to work to ascertain the meaning of this strange phenomenon, the most singular perhaps to be met with in the entire history of the world.

* * * * * *

Legislative bodies came to think that possibly the country was really in danger; and looking around for a ground on which to justify new expenditures for war material, they seized upon an ancient pagan maxim—furnished by the military experts—"If you wish peace, prepare for war." The old adage, once enthroned, worked with the energy of a god. The love of war had largely passed away. The illusion which for ages it had created in the minds of millions had lost its spell. Men had come to see that war is butchery, savagery, murder, hell. They believed in reason.

Peace was seen to be the one supreme blessing for the world, but to preserve the peace it was necessary to prepare for war. This lay at the center of the policy of the twentieth century. No guns were asked for to kill men with—guns were mounted as safeguards of the peace. No battleships were launched to fight with—they were preservers of the peace. Colossal armies and gigantic navies were exhibited as a nation's ornaments—beautiful tokens of its love of peace.

The expenditure crushed the poorest of the nations and crippled the richest of them, but the burden was gladly borne because it was a sacrifice for the cause of peace. It was a pathetic and thrilling testimony of the human heart's hatred of war and longing for peace, when the nations became willing to bankrupt themselves in the effort to keep from fighting.

Like many another fever, militarism grows by what it feeds on, and unless checked by heroic measures is certain to burn the patient up. Men in a delirium seldom have a sense of humor. The world is fearfully grim to them, and life a solemn and tragic thing. They express absurdities with a sober face, and make ridiculous assertions without a smile. It may be that the militarists are in a sort of delirium. At any rate, they publish articles entitled "Armies the Real Promoters of Peace," without laughing aloud at the grotesqueness of what they are doing.

The militarist is comic in his seriousness. He says that if you want to keep the peace you must prepare for war, and yet he knows that where men prepare for war by carrying bowie knives, peace is a thing unheard of, and that where every man is armed with a revolver the list of homicides is longest. He declares his belief in kindly feelings and gentle manners, and proceeds at once to prove that a nation ought to make itself look as ferocious as possible. In order to induce nations to be gentlemen, he would have them all imitate the habits of rowdies. To many persons this seems ludicrous, to a militarist it is no joke. He is a champion of peace, but he wants to carry a gun. The man who paces up and down my front pavement with a gun on his shoulder may have peaceful sentiments, but he does not infuse peace into me.

With Half the Game Gone.

Boston Advertiser: Before going to the game they stopped in town for lunch and did not notice the time slipping by. When they got to Fenway park the game was in progress. In fact, Chicago was at bat in the first of the fifth inning.

"What's the score, dear?" asked the sweet thing as she opened up the dainty box of candy Bill had brought along for her especial benefit.

Bill was a little bit peeved to think that the game was half over and he answered rather sharply, "nothing to nothing in the fifth."

"Oh, goody," murmured the maid as she munched the chocolates. "I'm so glad we didn't miss anything!"

A Possible Parade.

Springfield Republican: Wall street at any moment could get up a parade of unemployed bookkeepers, brokers' clerks and even brokers themselves. The I. W. W. may yet organize them.

GovernorshipTalk

What the State Press Thinks.

Majority? Hundreds Don't Believe It.

Browns Valley Tribune (Progressive): When the Pioneer-Dispatch of St. Paul can't have its own way in state politics it sulks in its tent and refuses to become reconciled. If the Pioneer-Dispatch is a Republican paper, as it claims to be, there should be no valid reason why it shouldn't give its loyal support to Mr. Lee for governor. He was nominated by a majority vote of the party.

Snubbing Is Sure to Come.

Gonvick Banner: W. E. Lee, successful Republican nominee for governor, is right in line with the anxious nimrod and the last few weeks has found him laying in a supply of ammunition in the form of adjectives, verbs, adverbs and various other grammatical words in preparation to firing his opening campaign shot at Marshall. If Lee displays the villifying and barnstorming methods in his fall campaign in effort to down his estimable opponent it will result in the worst snubbing any one man ever received.

Analysis of Verity's Attitude.

Heron Lake News: Congressman Lindberg is the Republican nominee for re-election and is repudiated by the Wadena Pioneer Journal on the grounds that Lindberg is not a Republican, that he preaches party disloyalty, and yet the Pioneer Journal supports, and vigorously, too, William Lee for governor. The P-J may have a rule that works satisfactry to itself, but the reader is not just satisfied as to the consistency of that Journal. Mr. Lee has been preaching party disloyalty for the past two years and would be doing it now were he not the candidate for governor or some other office.

As to Nationality, It's a Draw.

Madison Independent-Press: Yes, dear reader, Mr. Lee and Mr. Hammond are both Yankees. Neither one can tell you when his ancestors came from England, but that is where the forebears of each came from.

Republican for Office Only.

Dassell Anchor (Rep.): The Hector Mirror says that it will take the united effort of every Republican in the state to elect Lee. It sure will. But the fact of the matter is that not many Republicans are going to sprain themselves in the effort to elect a man that has betrayed the party for purely selfish and personal reasons for many years back and whose only ambition in running as a Republican is to attain the honor and social prestige that would come to him by his occupancy of the gubernatorial chair. Every Republican knows that the G. O. P. has no candidate for governor this year that is worthy of the name of Republican. He is a Republican for office only and nothing else.

Pease Does Not Back Down.

Anoka Union: You can't make out that the Union is not a Republican paper because it refuses to support Bill Lee, who is not a Republican candidate, but that of a packed convention.

This Explanation Ends With a Slam.

Virginia Enterprise: Minnesota has a new kind of Republican. He is the one referred to in the state press as the Eberhart Republican. The Eberhart Republican is the man who is so aggravated over the defeat of that worthy at the recent primaries that he is now constrained to support Congressman Hammond, the Democratic nominee. Generally speaking his interest in state politics was for personal gain. He is of that type whose Republicanism was inspired and sustained by patronage, and who now finds it easy to become a Hammond Democrat because there is nothing more to be gained by remaining an Eberhart Republican. Before the late primaries he was a staunch advocate of party loyalty. Today he declares he cannot swallow the party's nominee. In the meantime the same old question is before the people. It is not the Republicanism of Mr. Lee or the Democracy of Mr. Hammond, it is who will make the best executive for the state of Minnesota, who is the most capable man. There is now no indication that anybody has the governorship signed, sealed and delivered. The campaign will be a short one, which is all the better. The biggest man will win, the one who makes the best impression with the people. And whatever the outcome Minnesota will be better represented in the governor's chair than it has been for some few years past.

The moon and stars are commonplace things,
And the flower that blooms, and the bird that sings,
And dark were the world and sad our lot,

Out of commonplace lives make His beautiful whole.

Lessons of faith and honor and purity and charity exhale with the morning dew. Every sunrise is the proem and every sunset the peroration of a noble, discourse from God to His children. The man who feels with, and suffers with, and smiles with Nature, to whom every flower and every grain of sand is a thought of God, and every leaf a note in a continuous coronation song, has an ever-increasing resource from which to draw a wise lover and leader of souls. Youth in the Market Place.

Collier's Weekly: Youth came into the market place half dazed by the dazzling brilliance of the sun, but with strong hands and a ready spirit. Youth found a master, and was happy even when surcharged with labor and meagerly rewarded and denied sunshine. Youth gave largely of service and of loyalty—for of these things Youth was prodigal, being richer in them than in dollars. Years rolled by, and Youth was less quick, and showed the pallor of working indoors for small recompense. Then one day the master reflected and said to himself: "Which of my handmaids has less to give me in the time to come? For I must keep in my house only those whose backs are strong and feet eager and hands subtle." And she whose name had been Youth passed languidly, and the master marked her without speech that she no longer sang softly at her work as once, and he reflected: "A few years and she will be of much less value to me, and I shall be paying her as much as her labor is worth to me—which would be no bargain. Better dismiss her today than tomorrow." And he called to her and said: "My plans are altered, Youth, and I no longer need you here. Take two weeks, look about you, and be sure that I shall give you a letter of recommendation, saying that I have found you a fairly faithful servant in such matters as you understand." And tears came into Youth's eyes, knowing that she was Youth no longer, but an empty vessel.

CORPORATIONS AND HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Dr. Webster is all right in some ways, but capital seems to have some swing with him, or he would close up some of those open outhouses that are owned by corporations and which are used by from 100 to 500 men.

If a private citizen doesn't put in a toilet the board of health takes it upon themselves to install one and charge it to the property.

Dr. Webster should walk down Garfield avenue by the Northern Pacific roundhouse and see how long he can stand there without holding his nose.

YARDMASTERS GRATEFUL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is the sincere desire of the United Yardmasters' association to express to you their appreciation of the many courtesies extended and the kindness shown us during our recent convention.

The convention was a thorough success from start to finish and we are individually and collectively grateful to you for the whole-souled support and co-operation which contributed so materially to that success.

Resolutions were adopted at the convention and also at the last regular meeting of the Head of the Lakes division, requesting the grand division to communicate our appreciation, which we trust the future may provide opportunity of further expressing in more tangible form. Sincerely yours,
W. H. STREETER,
Grand Secretary.

THAT SPECIAL TAX.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Just one for your "Query Box" regarding the alleged "war tax" measure:

If the alleged deficit in United States revenues has been caused by the European war, instead of by tariff tinkering, why does not President Wilson (who is the Democratic party de facto) raise that hundred million per annum by taxing the wheat and foodstuff exports to European countries, thus making the countries who are allegedly responsible for bringing on the crippled condition of national finances pay for the alleged condition resulting from their action?

Why assess the smokers and drinkers of this country to make good a deficit allegedly wrought by the actions of European nations?

Why assess car owners, the small town country editors and others who use gasoline 2 cents per gallon to aid in making up a deficit caused by no act of their own?

I am neither a drinker, a smoker, an automobile owner or a country editor (although if I was the latter I would burn editorial space, believe me), but I would like a candid expression of the editorial staff of The Duluth Herald as to why, in their judgment, President Wilson should not, in his judgment, have made an attempt to place the burden of the alleged deficit upon the nations causing conditions responsible for such deficit instead of upon the innocent people of his own country?

I shall look for an open reply to this, but knowing the inalienable democracy of The Duluth Herald I confess I scarce anticipate the dynamic idea expressed will be given space.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN M. THORNTON.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 16.

Don't know why the correspondent should fear his effusion would fail to reach the Open Court. It prints many very curious things.

And he couldn't by any chance be subtly contriving to get the administration into a feud with the producers who would be hit by an export tax, or to maneuver it into a position where he could chide it for fattening the treasury at the expense of the widows and orphans of war-plagued Europe, could he?—The Editor.

TRAVELING SOLICITORS FOR CHARITY FUNDS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In last night's issue of The Herald you published a letter from the Children's National Tuberculosis society with headquarters in Chicago in which the above named society defends itself against insinuations which they claim are directed against their society by the Associated Charities of Duluth in an article which appeared in The Herald Sept. 11, 1914.

It is a custom in Duluth that all agents and solicitors for any public fund shall have a letter of indorsement from some local authority, and the Associated Charities has been looked to by the public in general as well as city departments to furnish this indorsement.

As the solicitor made no effort to present the facts to us or obtain our indorsement or, as far as we know, any other, and, as the Associated Charities was unable to get in personal touch with her it seemed only fair to the public to advise them that the above named society had not yet proven they were willing to stand an investigation in Duluth.

We telegraphed to the United Charities of Chicago asking them to wire us information regarding the Children's National Tuberculosis society. The answer was as follows:

"Insist solicitors show Chicago Associated Commerce indorsement card."

The letter which followed stated the society had failed to meet the requirements for indorsement by the subscriptions investigating committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, thereby confirming our position.

The Associated Charities is anxious to see fair play and never hesitates to go to any amount of pains to prove that solicitors and the organizations they represent are all that they claim and is most willing to give letters of indorsement when application is made and the investigation warrants. Sincerely yours,

E. A. SILBERSTEIN,
President Associated Charities.

PAYING TWICE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would someone kindly answer, through the columns of the Open Court what a young woman is to do in a crowded street car when the conductor insists upon her paying her fare twice? Should she pay the second time in order to avoid the embarrassment of being put off the car?

ONE WHO PAID TWICE.

Duluth, Sept. 19.

It might be well to pay the second fare, if it is insisted on by the conductor, and then make a complaint to the company's office. If the conductor is rude as well as being mistaken, his conduct should also be complained of.—The Editor.

SENDS POEM ASKED FOR.

W. H. Carter of 502 Fifth avenue east sends in the following poem which he believes is the one asked for last week in the Open Court:

To the Editor of The Herald:

The hero looked from the engine cab
Where he ruled the rushing train,
At the demon of fire that stalked the woods,
With his great red eyes of pain—
And the passion of life and the horror of death,
Burnt deep into his brain.

While the cry of a thousand hearts went up
From the rolling cars behind,
As the breath of the demon seared the cheek,
And the dust of his stride struck blind;
But the hero strung his soul to win
The battle of might and mind.

And the fire fiend laughed as the weak fell—dead,
And madness seized the strong,
For the breath of his mouth was fell and fierce,
And the way to the waters long;
But the hero's brow was calm and stern,
And stoutly he still held on.

Then loudly the baffled demon shrieked,
And thrice on the engine sprang,
And the stalwart hero's shuddering form
Hath felt the bitter pang
Of the hot breath creeping o'er his flesh,
And the gnaw of the flaming fang.

But his eye was bright with a hero light,
For the friendly lake was won,
And the cry of the souls he'd saved rose up,
And round the world did run,
To bring him the crown of heroic deeds—
God and the world's "well done."

WILLIAM H. HILL.

ACTORS APPROVE THE HERALD'S VIEWS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Permit us, on behalf of the showmen, "troupers" and "pros" of the country, to thank you for boosting the idea of having a public defender as well as a public prosecutor.

We know that each and everyone will feel deeply grateful to you.

We are telling them in next week's issue just whom they are under obligations to, and The Duluth Herald is on the list. Very truly yours,

GREED AND ENVY THE CAUSE OF WAR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In Saturday night's Herald you published a good editorial upon "War is Hell," but the thought occurs to me that as long as there is civilization, semi-civilization and non-civilization, upon this world of ours there will be more or less war.

Expansion of commerce or expansion of territory or both are dangerous pastimes for any nation which wishes to be at peace with the entire world. History shows that nations which were enjoying a large commerce were envied by other nations; nations whose ambition was territory or a world power were likewise envied, and thus, by that little green-eyed monster, envy, fathered by the gray-eyed monster, greed, have been plunged into disastrous war and in some cases obliterated from the pages of modern history.

All Europe seems to be now enjoying the spectacle of a pitched engagement between these two monsters, greed and envy, who are encouraged by jealousies.

We, in the United States, are positive that we, as a nation, have not had the poisonous fangs of either of these monsters strike us with sufficient force to cause us to abandon our tranquil, neutral state and prostitute our fertile country to the ravages of these monsters in combat.

We expect to remain neutral, but if reports are true there are 200 American armored motor cars, 6,000,000 horseshoes, etc., being made and to be delivered to parties who ultimately cause them to be delivered to governments who are actually engaged in war. Is this not endangering our country's tranquility for the sake of a few paltry dollars' gain by commerce? Is it not liable to place this country in the same position in this case as was England in the Alabama claim? Would it not be more prudent for our government to purchase the output of these warlike material manufacturers and store them away so that we would have sufficient arms and ammunition for our citizenship in case some of the other powers of the world saw fit to humiliate us for extending our commerce while they were having their fertile fields and numerous factories trampled under foot in the present engagement between these two monsters?

War is undoubtedly hell, but what is the term applicable to a condition where a government which has a large fertile country populated with a numerous, patriotic people and not sufficient war material for their use in self-defense? While we exist in a period of history that neutrality is disrespected, secret treaties are made between governments, and greed is running loose throughout the world, I believe that it is prudent for our government to have at all times sufficient war material to enable our citizens to defend themselves against an enemy who may become greedy or envious.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty and until the hearts of men change to that extent which permits of universal brotherhood, abolishing these two monsters (greed and envy) from the earth, let us, as a nation, be prudent and vigilant to the end.

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

Food Economy

IT is a curious fact that the cheapest foods are generally the most nutritious and digestible. Luxury is costly in money as well as in health. The waste of food in the average American home is appalling. We squander money on fancy articles of low nutritive value, and we use little or no judgment in preparing what we eat with a view to obtaining all the energy there is in it.

For instance, potatoes are most digestible and most palatable when cooked with their jackets on, either boiled or baked. Yet this is rarely done except with new potatoes. Bread is more digestible when stale than when fresh. Yet many housekeepers throw away crusts and loaf ends because they are stale, instead of incorporating them into a pudding or otherwise utilizing the food value.

In meats the cheaper cuts are just as nourishing and just as palatable in every way as loin or porterhouse cuts. Yet hundreds of families never think of buying anything cheaper than a sirloin or a rib roast or chops or some other extravagant cut. Fish is every whit as nourishing as meat, and often more digestible. But a lot of people for some foolish reason imagine fish won't sustain working strength.

Save Money and Keep Well.

We eat too much meat anyway. Meat may possibly be necessary for a person doing hard muscular labor, but even then a single meal of meat a day is ample, no matter how hard the work. For indoor workers, clerks, office people, those who do not put forth great physical exertion in their daily work meat three times a week is all the body can assimilate without being overburdened with nitrogenous wastes.

Cheese is cheap and quite as digestible as meat if taken in moderation. It is highly concentrated nutriment, and should therefore not be crowded in with pie after a full dinner. Oleomargarine is fully as healthful and nourishing as the best dairy butter, and a lot cheaper. Colored yellow it fools many a boasting epicure.

Beans, rice, oatmeal that is cooked at home, macaroni, bananas, peanuts, peas, both green and canned, and the brownest of brown sugar are all fit for anybody's pantry and exceedingly cheap articles of food. Cornmeal, cabbage eaten raw or in salad, onions and potatoes are cheap and healthful foods.

Extravagant articles of diet are oysters, porterhouse steaks, ready to serve breakfast fodder—"boxed wind," strawberries, peaches, condensed milk, musk melons, gelatin and canned soups. These articles are all of little food value.

Any householder interested in the question of food economy should write the U. S. Department of Agriculture and ask for copies of Farmers' Bulletin Nos. 142, 121, 92 and 332.

REPLY.

Join a gym class. Second best, make your bedroom or back attic over into a gymnasium. Lie on your back and kick your feet in the air, not in a ludicrous fashion at all, but rythmically and slowly, both feet raised gradually to the vertical, then gradually lowered to the floor, and repeat for ten to thirty times at a sitting. Then keep your heels on the floor and raise your trunk slowly to the upright, and slowly down again—ten or more times at a sitting. Continue at this exercise ten minutes a day and you'll soon gain control of the corporation.

CONSTANT PATROL OF NORTH SEA

Impossible for Any Foe to Break Through, Says Skipper.

London, Sept. 21.—A "solid wall of warships" is thrown across the northern part of the North sea, according to the captain of a British trawler who has just arrived from Iceland. The skipper said it was "absolutely impossible for any foe to break through undetected," so constant and thorough was the patrol to the north. It was his own experience to be halted and searched and after being released his boat was followed by two torpedo boats until it reached its destination.

The thoroughness of the patrol was further testified to by another North sea skipper. His trawler was lying along shore, when shortly after midnight it suddenly found itself hemmed in by a huge black object which proved to be a British cruiser. Its officers seemed to have had cat's eyes. From the dark a voice demanded to know the identity of the trawler. It was promptly shouted back.

"'The name is quite correct, sir,' came another mysterious voice astern of us," said the skipper. "A submarine had crept up behind us and read our name. Although all of our crew had come on deck to see what was happening, not one of them had seen the submarine appear. The whole episode only occupied a few minutes and the cruiser, after wishing us 'Good morning,' and plenty of fishing, disappeared in the darkness."

HIT BY AUTO WHILE CROSSING THE STREET.

Martin Iverson, 25 years old, sustained a badly dislocated shoulder, a gash over the left eye and was otherwise bruised when he was knocked unconscious by the automobile driven by John Gurton, Ninth avenue west and Fourth street, Saturday night.

Iverson was hit as he was hurrying across Superior street between Fifth and Sixth avenues west. Gurton took him to police headquarters, whence he was removed to St. Luke's hospital, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon. It will be some time before he can leave the hospital.

YOUTH SHOWS COOL HEAD AND SENSE

After Wounding Companion He Hastens Victim to Train and Hospital.

Alex Bang, 17 years old, showed great presence of mind and initiative yesterday afternoon after a 22-caliber bullet from his gun had wounded his small companion, 11-year-old Edwin Larson, while the two were hunting rabbits near their home at Culver, Minn.

Alex was using the gun and Edwin was beating the bushes to scare the game. While firing at a rabbit Alex shot Edwin in the knee, the bullet, it is thought, having been diverted by an intervening branch. After binding the wound Alex carried Edwin to his home. The injured boy's father being absent, the youth lost no time in getting Edwin to the train and to this city. At the Union station he summoned a taxicab and hurried Edwin to St. Luke's hospital.

Dr. J. J. Eklund was summoned and dressed the boy's leg. It was reported at the hospital this morning that he is in little danger and that the bullet will probably be removed later by an operation.

TROOP MOVEMENT IS WELL HANDLED

Bulk of British Army for Continent Sent From Southampton.

Southampton, Sept. 21.—The dispatch of troops from Southampton continues, but the movements are now kept less secret than during the passage of the first expeditionary forces. The record then made provided an excellent test of the facilities here for handling such a great movement of troops.

Although the expeditionary force was dispatched from several points, Southampton handled the bulk of the 150,000 to 200,000 men who were sent to the continent during two weeks' time. The docks at this place afford more than one and a half miles of water front, with railway lines so close to the ships' docks that it is but a moment's work to transfer trainloads of men, horses, and equipment from the railway to the steamships. The precision with which the transfer was made was so marked that an entire train was frequently unloaded in three minutes, and it was not uncommon for twenty trains to enter the docks and complete their task of unloading within a single hour.

The plan had been worked out by the war office two years before. The small cars used for transporting horses, accommodating only seven to eight animals, proved a great factor in the speedy transfers. Each horse had a separate compartment, and the sides of the cars dropped down in such a manner that the animals stepped out without the slightest confusion. Some Americans who witnessed this movement remarked that the cars were far more practical for this sort of work than the large freight cars used in America, into which a number of horses were crowded.

Scores of hospital cars still line the dock tracks here ready for the reception of sick and injured returning from the continent. Red Cross signs are displayed, and surgeons and nurses are in the cars with everything ready for the wounded. The hospital trains are made up of converted passenger coaches and sleeping cars. All have the small compartments common to English railway coaches with doors opening at the sides. Litters are provided which will enter these small side doors, and consequently it is much easier to place the seriously injured in berths than it would be if it were necessary to carry them through the end doors common to American sleeping cars and along narrow aisles or hallways.

Baggage cars have also been converted into hospital cars, where patients can be placed who need attention of a sort which can be rendered more satisfactorily in a roomy car than in a small compartment.

The American Telephone

In the United States the telephone has been extended to small towns, farms and ranches much more generally than in any other country.

In American towns of under 100,000 people, and on the farms and ranches, there is an average of one telephone for every 12 persons; in Europe there is less than one telephone for every 200 people.

Nearly 58% of American telephone exchanges are in very small towns with less than 300 subscribers. In the small towns and on the farms in Europe the telephone is a near curiosity.

The private companies in the United States have given the American people the lowest telephone rates in the world and have extended the service until this country now has more telephones and more telephone wire than all the rest of the nations combined.

Law Should Stop Sale of Elastic and Spring Trusses

Such Misery-Causing Makeshifts Are the Ruptured Man's Worst Enemies

Depending on elastic or spring trusses like shown above is little less than slow suicide. Such contraptions are almost sure to shorten your life.

It's hard to make them hold, even when drawn so tight that they scarcely give a minute's peace. They are simply a curse to wear.

And because they nearly always let their victims get worse all the time, they are yearly forcing thousands of people into risking their lives by undergoing operation.

These unscientific makeshifts cause so much misery and such a shameful waste of money that the law should put a stop to their sale.

Don't Buy Anything For Rupture Without Giving It a Thorough Test

There's only one reason in the world why you or any one else ever gets saddled up with good-for-nothing makeshifts—

It's simply because you trust to a mere try-on or hasty examination instead of first making a thorough test.

A truss or so-called "appliance" may seem alright when you first try it on and afterward prove utterly worthless.

The only way you can ever make sure of exactly what you are getting is by sixty days trial—a thorough day-after-day test.

And there's only one thing of any kind whatever for rupture that you can get on such a long trial—

Only one thing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test —

That's our guaranteed rupture holder.

Only Thing Good Enough To Stand a 60-Day Test

We'll make you a guaranteed rupture holder—make it to your measure—and let you give it a thorough 60-day test without asking you to risk a cent—

If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or bothering you in any way, no matter how hard you work or strain—if it doesn't prove every claim we make—then you can send it back and it won't cost you a single penny.

See What It Does

This guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss—is made on an absolutely new principle. It is far more than just a truss.

Instantly and automatically protects you against every strain, so your rupture can't possibly come out.

And in addition to constant holding—without which you can never get well or even get better, just as a broken bone can't knit unless constantly held together—in addition to that the Cluthe Truss provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

Just how it does that—entirely automatically—is explained in the free book which the coupon below will bring you.

Will Save You From Operation

The Cluthe Truss has such a remarkably strengthening and beneficial effect that it has completely cured hundreds and hundreds of people whose cases seemed almost hopeless.

It has so thoroughly proved its merits that many physicians in all parts of the country now recommend it instead of advising operation.

No Belt—No Leg-Straps—No Springs

Does away entirely with the curse of belts, leg-straps, and springs. People say it is as comfortable as their clothing. It is water-proof—will hold in the bath. Also perspiration-proof and easily kept clean.

Get World's Greatest Rupture Book

There are so many wrong ideas about rupture that we have taken the time to sum up in a book all we have learned during forty years of experience.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 96 pages—is full of facts never before put in print.

It shows why depending on elastic or spring trusses is about the worst thing you can do.

It exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," "plasters," etc.

It explains the dangers of operation. And shows you why, if you manage to live through it, you may have to keep on wearing a truss.

And it tells all about the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss—how simple it is—how it ends constant expense—how you can test it on sixty days' trial without having to risk a penny, and how little it costs if you keep it.

Also gives voluntary endorsements from over 5,000 benefited and cured people.

The minute it takes to write for this book may make a big difference in the rest of your life. Don't fail to get it—just use the coupon or simply say in a letter or postal "Send me your book."

LEARNED TO BE DEMOCRAT

King Albert of Belgium Got His First Lesson in Duluth.

Saw James J. Hill Shake Hands With the Enginemen.

No less an authority than Archbishop Ireland vouches for the fact that King Albert of Belgium learned his first lesson in true democracy from James J. Hill in Duluth. The incident took place when King Albert, then Prince Albert, was touring America.

Archbishop Ireland was intimately acquainted with the royal family of Belgium, and upon the occasion of Prince Albert's visit to America several years ago he personally interested himself in the prince's entertainment during a three-day sojourn in St. Paul.

Also it was at his suggestion that James J. Hill accompanied the prince from St. Paul to Duluth when the royal visitor returned home.

Calls on King Leopold.

"Some time afterward I was in Belgium," Archbishop Ireland said, in relating the circumstance, "and, calling upon King Leopold I., inquired after the young prince.

"'He has acquired strange customs since he went to America,' I was told. 'Why,' said Leopold, 'he's been running about shaking hands with everybody in the most democratic fashion imaginable.'

"'And did he learn that in America?' I inquired.

"'So he says,' was the reply.

"'How about it?' I asked the prince when I saw him later. 'They tell me you have become very democratic since your visit to America.'

Admired Hill's Way.

"'Indeed I have,' he replied, 'and I learned it in Minnesota. When we reached the end of our journey from St. Paul to Duluth James J. Hill climbed down off the train and walking forward, shook the grimy hands of his enginemen and helpers in the best of fellowship. I like it, and, regardless of what my ministers or advisers may say, hereafter I'm going to do like Mr. Hill of Minnesota.'"

PROTEST AGAINST EUROPEAN WAR

Socialists Hold Parade and Mass Meeting at Auditorium.

At the Socialist anti-war meeting, held yesterday in the Auditorium, about 1,000 members of the party took part, and Morris Kaplan, the chief speaker of the occasion declared that the Socialists have tired of demanding their rights; that the time for resolutions has gone by; and that the dealers should be notified that the Socialists will take over the food supplies. This, he declared, was the best way to stop the European war, cause a cessation of the war on the industrial classes, and prevent the big dealers from sending any food supplies out of the country.

The Socialists, prior to the meeting at the Auditorium, held a parade through Superior street to the Auditorium. About 200 men and women members of the party marched, headed by a band, which played a dirge. In their protest against war, they made an impressive sight and were watched by a large crowd of people.

Ed Sulo spoke in Finnish. The only other speaker was W. E. Towne.

LEE MUCH DISAPPOINTED WITH SIZE OF AUDIENCE

Enthusiasm Lacking at His Meeting at Marshall Which Opened His Campaign—Now Seems an Assured Fact That Eberhart Republicans Will Bolt Lee—State Press Praising Hammond for Sticking to His Duties at Washington.

St. Paul, Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the fact that the Republican state committee tried to make the opening meeting of the campaign at Marshall last Monday night an event long to be remembered, the organization plans miscarried, and the oratorical fireworks provided for the Lyons county folk didn't seem to make much of an impression. A Pullman car loaded with speechmakers and party leaders was hitched on to the 10:10 a. m. Omaha train out of St. Paul, and the galaxy of stars arrived at Marshall at 6 p. m. Here they were met by a band and escorted to a hotel, where dinner was served. After the repast the celebrities went to the high school auditorium. This hall will hold 1,800 persons, according to one of the men in charge of arrangements. At no time during the evening were there more than 600 present, and this is a liberal estimate. William E. Lee, nominee for governor, it is said, was much disappointed at the size of the audience. He had figured on a great outpouring of people to hear his "keynote" speech. He was expecting great enthusiasm. He had brought with him such spellbinders as Former Governor Samuel R. Van Sant, State Auditor Samuel G. Iverson, Secretary of State Julius A. Schmahl, Former State Senator Fred B. Snyder of Minneapolis and Railroad Commissioner O. P. B. Jacobson. But still the people didn't turn out, and enthusiasm was not a feature of the meeting. In fact there has seldom been a campaign opening in Minnesota when the audience seemed so utterly unappreciative of the efforts of those sent to entertain and instruct. Governor Van Sant failed to stir things up, Mr. Lee read his speech and there was but a ripple of applause, and many left the room while Senator Snyder, Mr. Iverson and Mr. Schmahl were speaking. It was all over at 10 p. m., and the disappointed and tired party leaders went back to their car wondering what went wrong.

Selling of Bottled Beer.

The only feature of Mr. Lee's speech was his advocacy of a law prohibiting wholesale liquor dealers or brewers to sell to any but licensed retailers. Mr. Lee has been urging such a law since 1912, but little attention has been paid to the matter. He says that an act of this character will do away with blind-pigs and other illicit places where liquor is sold. It will be remembered that an effort was made to pass legislation along this line at the last session, but it was killed by the temperance committee of the house, composed generally of temperance advocates. There are two sides to the story. It is said that there are 400,000 persons in Minnesota who purchase cases of bottled beer direct from the brewers. Many of these would be unwilling to make a retail dealer their agent, being as much opposed to the present saloon system as are the prohibitionists themselves. Retailers are not properly equipped for the storage of large quantities of case beer. Their refrigeration systems are not large enough and their delivery equipment entirely inadequate to give good service. In order to go into this branch of the business retailers would have to buy teams and trucks, employ a large number of additional men and go to a large expense in providing storage facilities. All this the breweries are now equipped for. It is also pointed out that many a person who never goes into a saloon but has beer at his home might be led into these places if the breweries were restricted in their house to house sales.

Not Displeasing Saloon Keepers.

But there is a political feature to all this which is attracting attention here. By his advocacy of county option Mr. Lee has alienated most of the licensed retail dealers, it is said. These dealers, however, have always been jealous of the home trade of the breweries, and it is alleged that they were instrumental in having the law proposed by Mr. Lee introduced at the last legislative session. They are still anxious to get such an act on the statute books and might perhaps change their attitude towards the Republican nominee in some instances, should his advocacy of the measure they have long desired point a way towards its enactment. So while Mr. Lee is pleasing the temperance folk, he is not displeasing the saloon keepers by his campaign in this direction. Chairman Gunner B. Bjornson of the state central committee has further explained Mr. Lee's position by saying that there would be nothing to prevent a citizen from ordering his beer through a licensed retailer if the proposed law is passed. This is just what the saloon keepers want, apparently, and it seems to politicians that the Republican organization is playing right into the hands of the men it is supposed to be bitterly opposing. Anyway, there is food for reflection in this discussion which perhaps may not escape the Democrats.

Lee Stirs Up Trouble.

Mr. Lee seems particularly unfortunate in stirring up trouble for himself. Just when some of the Eberhart supporters were beginning to rally around the old Republican banner again, the Long Prairie banker, at Marshall, took credit for the appointment of the economy and efficiency commission by Governor Eberhart. He said in this connectio:

"My declaration in 1912 that Minnesota had a complicated and antiquated governmental organization and that there was imperative need of a complete overhauling and reorganization of the administrative machinery of the state government, at first discredited, was developed to a point where public opinion demanded some action; and as a result, a commission was created which has taken up the whole question of reorganization."

Now, if there is anything which Governor Eberhart prides himself about, it is the appointment of this commission. To have Mr. Lee claim that he forced the executive to take this step is not pleasing either to that official or his many friends. In fact, Governor Eberhart last Tuesday, the day after the Lee speech, called attention to the fact that in his inaugural message to the 1911 legislature he urged and advocated just such a reorganization as the commission has proposed. Most of this message is taken up with details of the governor's plan, and these in a modified way are now incorporated in the commission report. The 1911 legislature was anti-Eberhart and controlled for the most part by the friends of Mr. Lee, the so-called "reform" element. But the reformers refused to heed the governor and the matter went over. In the 1912 campaign the Long Prairie man blamed Eberhart for not forcing his enemies in the legislature to play ball with him, but this had little effect at that time. The governor repeated his recommendations to the 1913 legislature, but the Henry Rines contingent in the house, composed mostly of Lee followers, wanted to make the reorganization commission a factional affair, so nothing ever came of it. "Discouraged by repeated rebuffs and the attempts of his legislative enemies to play politics in the matter, Governor Eberhart finally, in October, 1913, appointed the present voluntary commission of thirty citizens, whose work has met with such widespread approval. Now, to have Mr. Lee jump in and assert that he forced him to take this action and to endeavor to grab some of the glory resulting from the work that has been accomplished, naturally makes the governor peevish, to say the least.

Will Bolt the Ticket.

That the Eberhart Republicans will bolt the ticket this year now seems an assured fact. Although the governor has declared all along that he is a party man and will support the nominees, it is known that he would bear up nicely if Mr. Hammond were elected. He will not admit this, but enthusiasm for Mr. Lee on his part is sadly lacking. He says he is going out to make some speeches for the efficiency commission but has not promised as yet to say a good word for his successful opponent at the primaries.

Asked what he intended to do the governor said: "Well, nobody has asked me to go out and make speeches for Mr. Lee, so it would not be courteous for me to take the task on my own shoulders without a formal invitation from the state committee." It is not likely, however, that Chairman Bjornson will extend any such invitation. To have the governor on the stump for him might prove decidedly embarassing for Mr. Lee. At the Marshall meeting O. P. B. Jacobson of the railroad commission unintentionally pledged the governor and his friends to the support of the nominee. It seems that before he went up to Marshall, Mr. Jacobson conferred with the governor who told him simply that he has always been a Republican and will stick by the party no matter what happens. Mr. Jacobson assumed that this meant that Eberhart would get out and fight for Lee, but such was not the impression the executive wanted to convey.

Hammond Gets Praise.

The state press has been unusually complimentary in commending Congressman Winfield Scott Hammond, Democratic nominee for governor, for his action in remaining in Washington until present war tax legislation is finished. Mr. Hammond was one of those who succeeded in eliminating the freight tax feature from the pending bill and this has been generally approved by the people of Minnesota if the newspapers are any index of public sentiment.

State Senator Samuel D. Works, treasurer of the state committee, on Friday last issued a statement in which he explained to the voters just why Mr. Hammond is not campaigning in Minnesota at the present time. He told of the serious work before Congress, the necessity of the presence of the candidate in Washington and the latter's willingness to sacrifice his ambition to become governor of Minnesota to fulfill his duty towards the people of the second congressional district who three times have honored him by an election to the national house of representatives.

This statement will be widely published and already has created a good impression in St. Paul. Democrats feel confident of carrying Ramsey county by at least 5,000 at the election Nov. 3, while even the Republican organization leaders admit that if they can keep the majority down to 3,500 they will be doing well. Some of the more enthusiastic say Hammond will win in Ramsey county by 10,000 to 12,000. Of course this prediction may come true but at best it is an exceedingly generous guess.

Halbert Denies Rumor.

Hugh T. Halbert, the Progressive nominee for governor, is emphatic in denying the story which has been circulating here that an effort has been made to induce Col. Roosevelt, Hugh's patron saint, to prevail upon the young man to withdraw in the interests of Mr. Lee. It is even said that George B. Edgerton, a well known attorney and former Progressive leader, wired the colonel requesting that he pull Halbert out of the race. What the reply was no one seems to know, but it is a fact that although the Halbert petition is complete and ready for filing with the secretary of state, nothing has been done by his brother, Clarence Halbert, chairman of the Progressive state central committee. Incidentally Mr. Edgerton is a member of the recently organized Ramsey county Republican committee, having gone back to his first love. He and Halbert are said to have had some words concerning the telegram sent to the colonel, but the outcome of their squabble is not evident as yet. It is even said that Halbert made such a strenuous protest to his patron against quitting that the latter finally agreed to come to Minnesota and make a speech or two for him, if possible. This story, however, is of Progressive origin, while the other naturally comes from Democratic sources.

Lindeke Quits Chairmanship.

The Ramsey county Republican committee held a joke meeting Saturday afternoon at state headquarters, Merchant's hotel. Out of a membership of about twenty, four attended. They were: William H. Lightner, Edward T. Young, former attorney general and former candidate for governor; C. Harold Richter, former Progressive and secretary now of the county organization, and George B. Edgerton, also a former Progressive. A. H. Lindeke, named chairman at the first meeting, resigned. He said in a letter that he will be in the East for some months and cannot give the necessary time to the work. Mr. Lindeke is a close personal friend of Mr. Lee, but he is also said not to be over enthusiastic over the Long Prairie banker's views. Incidentally Mr. Lindeke's resignation was known to the committee some time ago but no mention made of it. The resignation having been accepted, the four present picked Mr. Lightner for chairman. Richeter will continue to act as secretary. Mr. Lightner appointed State Auditor Iverson and Mr. Edgerton a committee to select headquarters. Another meeting will be held tomorrow night.

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE

If the work that women do and the pains they suffer could be measured in figures, what a terrible array they would present! Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness which are tell-tale symptoms of organic derangements which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given it a trial.

BOY INJURED BY DYNAMITE CAP

Finds Explosive in Old Coat; Hand Is Maimed.

Einnar Hallquist, the 10-year-old son of Mrs. Nels Wingren, 2202 West Eighth street, will carry a maimed hand through life as the result of an explosion of a dynamite cartridge with which he was playing yesterday morning. Parts of the thumb and three fingers of the left hand were blown off, his eyes slightly injured and thigh received a number of bruises.

According to the story told by the boy, he had found an old coat in which he found several of the dynamite caps. The boy said he intended making a cartridge for a gun out of the cap and while attempting to dig the explosive out of the end of the cap it exploded.

The explosion took place on the rear porch of the Wingren home. Dr. C. L. Haney was called and ordered the boy taken to St. Luke's hospital. The boy's eyes, while badly injured, will not be blinded, in the opinion of the physician, and he also believed that the injury to the thigh will not prove serious.

The owner of the coat has not been found. The boy's stepfather says it is not his and is of the opinion that it belonged to some workmen who have been employed in the vicinity.

FARMERS' CLUB HAS SUCCESSFUL MEET

Grand Rapids Organization Discusses Some Pertinent Themes.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of the Grand Rapids Farmers' club Saturday evening at the home of Miss Florence Burlingame was one of the best attended and most successful meetings, both from the social point of view and in an educational way that has been held by the club.

The subject discussed was dairying. William Welte of Bigfork, who owns one of the few herd of purebred cattle in the county, had been asked to talk on the subject, "One Year With Pure Bred, Registered Guernsey Cows in Itasca County," but was unable to be present. J. D. Hinegardner, who had been assigned the subject, "Building Up a Dairy Herd," could not be present, so to fill in, A. L. La Freniere spoke briefly upon the importance of breeding up and improving the dairy herds of this section.

Arthur Iten, butter maker at the local creamery, spoke on the subject of the care of milk and cream from the time it is milked until it reached the creamery. The cows and the milkers should be clean, said Mr. Iten. No foreign matter should be allowed to get into the milk as it destroys the fine flavor which is susceptible to foreign odors. The milk should be cooled as soon as possible after milking, and kept cool. He laid much stress upon the importance of washing up milk cans and utensils, and stated that they should be scalded with boiling hot water. The talk was brim full of good, wholesome information and advice, and the farmers could do worse than to follow the instructions set forth. This talk also brought out a good discussion.

Miss Burlingame, at whose home the meeting was held, gave a very interesting talk upon the mushrooms, which grow so profusely in the nearby woods, and then she invited all to go to her bungalow, upon which she has had a great many improvements made the past summer, to look over the house and to partake of some of her mushrooms which she had prepared in several different ways.

The supper was in the form of a weiner wurst and green corn roast, around a big fire, and it proved to be a most enjoyable meal. The program was rendered in the glow of the big bonfire.

EVELETH MAN IS KILLED IN HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dennis Masucci, aged 26, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Masucci of Eveleth, employed as chemist at the Fayal laboratory and a member of Company F, M. N. G., while trying to cross Third avenue at Lincoln street ahead of the 2 o'clock street car yesterday afternoon, was thrown from the motorcycle he was riding and received injuries which later proved fatal. He was rushed to the hospital and died in a short time.

Masucci started from Eveleth at 1 o'clock and had only been in Hibbing a short time when the accident occurred. He was riding at a pretty good clip along Lincoln street when the trolley car, which arrives at Hibbing at 2 o'clock, struck the back wheel of his cycle, throwing him off the machine onto the pavement. He was fatally injured and died within an hour after the accident occurred.

Masucci's father and mother were in Hibbing at the time, as was a brother-in-law, Louis Belanger, who runs a barber shop. The remains were taken to Eveleth today.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The preliminary hearing here before Judge Walsh of John Haakonen and William Salmela, alleged to have conspired to take advantage of the infatuation of Mrs. Jalmar Niemi for Haakonen that they might rob her of the family treasure representing the earning of her husband to the amount of $405 in gold, a gold watch, bracelet and other trinkets, resulted in their being held to the grand jury. They were remanded to the custody of the sheriff without bail and were returned to the county jail in Virginia.

Mrs. Niemi on the stand did not deny that she had planned to elope with Haakonen and expressed her firm conviction that he had intrigued with Salmela to hold her up. She vigorously reviled the faithless Haakonen.

Haakonen and Salmela have been employed as underground miners at Sparta and have been living in bachelor's apartments at that location. When arrested in Duluth they had over $600 in money between them.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

After a really pretty Sunday, excessively warm for this time of year, a sultry and uncomfortable night set in, followed by an equally uncomfortable morning. What the rest of the day will bring forth is a problem, although the threatening clouds would indicate the predicted rain. However, the prediction gives hope for tomorrow.

A year ago today was fair and frosty. The sun rose this morning at 5:54 and will set this evening at 6:08, giving twelve hours and fourteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Moderately warm weather prevailed Saturday and Sunday in most states east of the Rocky mountains, but somewhat cooler temperatures have appeared over Wyoming, the Dakotas, Montana and Western Canada. Freezing temperature occurred this morning in Alberta and Saskatchewan. During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours showers fell throughout the Northwest and Middle West, Texas and Florida."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin — Unsettled weather in west portion tonight and Tuesday, probably showers; fair in east portion tonight; probably showers Tuesday; cooler Tuesday and in west portion tonight.

Minnesota—Unsettled weather with showers this afternoon or tonight; Tuesday fair, with cooler in east portion.

Iowa—Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, probably showers, except fair in northwest portion Tuesday; cooler.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight; rising temperature Tuesday; probably frost in low lands of north and west portions tonight.

South Dakota — Unsettled weather with showers this afternoon and in southeast portion tonight; cooler tonight; probably frost in low lands of west portion tonight; Tuesday fair, with warmer in east portion.

Montana—Fair tonight and Tuesday; probably light frost in low lands tonight.

Lower Michigan—Increasing cloudiness tonight; Tuesday probably showers and cooler.

Upper Michigan—Unsettled weather, probably followed by showers late tonight and Tuesday; cooler Tuesday in the west portion.

LUMBER OUTLOOK CONSIDERED BETTER

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The lumber market, which has been very dull for several months, especially since the beginning of the European conflict, will improve considerably, according to L. H. Flourney, general sales agent for the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company here, who has just returned from Detroit, Buffalo and other down-the-lake points.

Mr. Flourney says that he talked with a number of manufacturers who are big buyers of lumber, and they all say that where a short time ago they were working their plants only on a 75 per cent basis, they are now running full blast. This will be reflected in Minnesota, and Mr. Flourney looks for an increased demand for lumber.

The directors of the Virginia & Rainy Lake company will hold a meeting here tomorrow. It is expected that President Edward Hines of Chicago and representatives of the Weyerhaeuser interests will be present.

BUDGET IS DISCUSSED.

Virginia School Board Has Not Reached Conclusion on Figures.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education has approved the bond between Contractor Donlin and the Nama Stone company for the laying of the floors of the new South side school building was approved. The contract had been let some time ago, but no satisfactory bond to guarantee the upkeep of the floors had been given.

The budget for next year was discussed and copies of last year's expenses were given to the members of the board. The figures were studied over and will be reported on at the next meeting. It is not necessary to pass the budget until Oct. 19 and no approximate of what it will amount to is available, as the improvements and new building for next year are not decided.

Supt. P. P. Colgrove reported that the domestic science and manual training departments each have an enrollment of 250 and that both are crowded at the present time.

Charles Heelstone was appointed as the janitor of the North side school building, assuming his duties at once.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Peterson has started to remodel and enlarge his business block at the corner of Grant avenue and Pierce street and when the work has been completed it will be the largest and one of the nicest appearing in the city. A three-story addition is to be erected with a 40-foot front on Pierce street and the present structure is to be increased to three stories and resurfaced with pressed brick.

The first floor of the addition will be used as a garage. The hall now on the second floor of the old building will be done away with and the second and third floors will be divided into suites and rooms, about forty in all. The city auditorium has done away with most of the need for the Peterson hall and rooms and offices are more in demand. Charles Rutty has the contract to remodel the building and erect the addition.

In the game Saturday between the high school and alumni the older boys by sheer strength rammed through the high school eleven lines for touch downs. Both times the trys for goals failed. Bardessona of the alumni made a very pretty drop kick from the 30-yard line.

The final score was 16 to 0. The next game for the high school boys will be with Virginia at Hibbing next Saturday.

ITALIAN UNITY IS CELEBRATED

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many range Italians met at the Auditorium here yesterday afternoon to celebrate the anniversary of the abolition of the temporal power of the pope and the completion of the unity of Italy, the entire range being represented. Italian societies failed to attend collectively as was expected due, it is said, to a misunderstanding which led to the belief that the services were of sectarian nature.

The church was crowded when she was stricken and the occurrence caused a stir among the worshipers, although it was not known except to a few that the woman had died until after services were over. Rev. Father Bliban was saying mass when death occurred.

Ruling of Eveleth City Attorney in Case of Recalled Pair.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Mayor Gleason and Commissioner Brince ceased to be officials of the city when the vote which recalled them from office was announced by the council was the substance of an opinion rendered to the council by City Attorney James P. Boyle at a meeting Saturday night. He informed the council that while the charter is somewhat indefinite in stating when a recalled official shall give up office it is the intention of the charter that their terms shall end at once.

A special election was called to fill the two vacancies. The primaries will take place Oct. 12 and the election held Oct. 20.

EVELETH GAME IS TIE.

Alumni and High School Elevens Battle in Vain.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The alumni and high school teams batted to a scoreless tie here Saturday afternoon in the annual opening event of the gridiron season. Both teams showed lack of seasoning and costly fumbles on both sides ended good chances of scoring. The high school team did not use any of the formations which Coach West has been instructing them in and resorted to straight line plunges and end runs. Several forward passes were nicely executed but fumbles in receiving the ball prevented gains. The alumni eleven will disband for the season and the High will settle down to some hard practice in preparation for a game here Oct. 3 with Hibbing. Henry Hill, student manager, has also scheduled a game at Virginia Oct. 12, at Hibbing Oct. 17, and Virginia at Eveleth Oct. 24.

FEEL BADLY ALL OVER?

When you feel badly all over but with no particular organ of your body noticeably out of order, you need a tonic for the blood. You require a medicine that will benefit the whole system. The blood reaches every part of the body and when it is built up the whole system quickly benefits.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic that build up the blood, making it rich and red and able to supply to the tissues of the body the nourishment they need to keep them in health.

Most general debility results from thin blood. Every part of the body suffers and you "feel badly all over." When the blood is restored and a health-giving stream is going to every part of the body you soon see the result in a better appetite, an improved digestion, brighter eyes, better color in cheeks and lips.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a most valuable family tonic and should be taken by every member of the family except infants whenever the general health is not what it should be. Much downright sickness has been saved by the use of a tonic or supporting medicine in times of physical depression.

A book "Building Up the Blood" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. on request. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

She alleges that her husband became intoxicated in Carlson's saloon at Iron Junction, and that on his way home he fell into the ditch and because of his intoxicated condition was unable to keep from drowning. She alleges that Carlson gave him liquor to such an extent that he was not able to control himself. The surety company is on Carlson's bond.

GRAND FORKS PAIR ABROAD

Former College Head and Banker Flee Germany as Conflict Starts.

Believe Germany Will Sue for Peace If Allies Halt Progress.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Germany will sue for peace as soon as she realizes that she cannot dispose of the allies in the west in a very short time, in the opinion of Dr. Webster Merrifield, former president of the North Dakota university, and H. L. Whithed, a local financier, according to letters just received from them, posted in London, after their flight from Germany, where they were touring when the war broke out.

Germany's belief that she will be able to crush her opponents in the great war is remarkable, say the Grand Forks men, but both writers believe that she will find the task quite difficult.

The Germans will sue for peace if conditions should be created that would permit the Russians to overrun the entire country. This condition can be brought about through the work of the western allies, who, if they are successful in demanding the full attention of the German army along the Belgian and French frontiers, will make it possible for the czar's forces to penetrate Germany to a remarkable distance.

Americans Well Treated.

Americans in Germany at the time the war broke out were treated with special consideration, write the tourists. In several towns where they were after war was declared, they found notices posted, urging the populace to treat the Americans kindly—because America was a friendly nation.

"Englishmen, Frenchmen and Russians were not permitted to come within 500 feet of railroad lines," they write, "while Americans also were requested to keep away from the railroads, the purpose being to avoid annoyance.

"Small towns were emptied of their male population by the call to arms. In a remarkably short time, the male population left their homes. I met one man whose four sons left his home within three hours, each going to different regiments. They fought before Liege—and all are dead now."

Dr. and Mrs. Merrifield and Mr. and Mrs. Whithed have booked passage for Oct. 7 for the United States.

Child Born in Brussels.

Mrs. Eugene Toussaint of this city, a Belgian, had been a mother only two weeks, at the home of her parents in Brussels, when that city was captured by the Germans, and her husband has not heard from her for four weeks.

In a letter written two days before Brussels fell into the hands of the Germans, Mrs. Toussaint wrote to her husband that the Teutons were nearing the Belgian capital, and that its occupancy by the invaders was then a matter of hours only. She declared there is nothing to worry about.

WILL MAKE EXHIBITS AT BEMIDJI MEETING

Work to Be Shown at Charities and Correction Gathering.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new feature of the state conference of Charities and Corrections which will be held here Sept. 26-29, will be the exhibits. It will be the first time that an effort has been made to bring together material to show the social work being done in Minnesota.

The most important exhibit will display the work of the state institutions under the board of control. This exhibit alone is valued at $5,000. Thirteen institutions will be represented, and samples of the work done by the insane, the feeble-minded, and the inmates of correctional institutions will be shown. Through this exhibit taxpayers may gain some idea of the wonderful work being done for the wards of the state.

The state board of health and the Minnesota Public Health association will both have extensive exhibits showing what is being done in the campaign for public health. The Minneapolis and St. Paul Infant Welfare societies will show, through their displays, the right and wrong way to take care of babies.

Twin City Exhibits.

The Minneapolis and St. Paul Associated Charities have united in bringing the national exhibit of charity organization work. Pictures and charts will be added, explaining local methods and results.

The Minneapolis Woman's club has loaned the infant welfare pictures used at the child welfare exhibit held in Minneapolis a year ago. Several settlement houses and other social agencies are gathering material especially for the Bemidji conference.

SAYS "BIG BUSINESS" IS BEHIND HANNA

The Democratic Candidate Makes Charges Against Flickertail Executive.

Wahpeton, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank O. Hellstrom, Democratic nominee for governor of North Dakota and former warden of the state penitentiary under the Burke administration, sprang a big sensation here when he publicly challenged Governor Louis B. Hanna to meet him in open debate and discuss the governor's claims to having run a "business administration," which Mr. Hellstrom is ridiculing in his campaign speeches.

What Is Charged.

The Democratic nominee charges that the "Hanna business administration" in the last two years has taxed the people sixteen times as much as the railroads, has taken $130,000 a year away from the educational institutions, has looked out for the interests of big business, has made the penitentiary twine plant cost the North Dakota farmers $325,000 more on twine bills than ever before, has tried to deprive the state of a tax commission by vetoing the bill creating it, has taken credit for the payment of $225,000 penitentiary bonds left for that purpose by Mr. Hellstrom and the Burke administration more than a year before, and that the business administration has proven a delusion as was emphasized by the Burnett-Hill resolution adopted by the last state legislature.

Hellstrom also charges that big business is planning to gain control of the North Dakota Agricultural college and is seeking to prevent the administration of the pure food laws.

LESS DISEASED HORSES REPORTED

Falling Off in North Dakota Shown By Stock Sanitary Report.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 21.—The eighth annual report of the state live-stock sanitary board indicates that there has been quite a perceptible falling off during the past year of the number of horses necessarily condemned for glanders.

The report shows that considerable effort has been exerted towards the eradication of the equine disease known as dourine.

Dourine is a communicable equine disease affecting breeding animals and had become a serious menace to the horse industry in the western part of the state.

10,000 Horses Tested.

During the past year over 10,000 animals were tested with the complement-fixation test.

The report indicates that the law prohibiting the sale of pure-bred cattle unless tuberculin tested and accompanied by a certificate of health has had quite a salutary influence, in preventing the spread of tuberculosis from this class of animals.

One thousand and eighty purebred cattle were tested under the direction of the board, and eighty-nine were found tuberculous.

The report shows an increased number of cattle entering the state, mainly dairy cattle, there being an increase of 100 per cent during 1914 over the years 1912 and 1913.

The figures also show the falling off in the emigration from the state during 1913 and 1914. In 1913, 4,595 horses and 1,490 cattle were tested leaving the state during 1914.

ESTABLISHES BIG DITCH.

Judge Watts Makes Final Order In Huge Piece of Work.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The adjourned final meeting on the petition for the establishment of Judicial Ditch No. 60 in Pennington, Red Lake and Polk counties was held in this city before Judge William Watts, who made his order establishing the ditch.

The route of the big ditch had been changed somewhat from the original report before its establishment. The outlet, emptying into the Red Lake river in Crookston township was moved a half mile to the east and branch No. 4 was made longer.

The original plans called for the ditch to run on an angle through one farm to avoid the necessity of going through a high ridge. There was objection to this and the plan was changed. This accounts for the change in outlet. To make the change it will be necessary to construct a reinforced viaduct 1,800 feet long through the ridge. The viaduct will be six feet in diameter. This viaduct will be constructed on section 2, Crookston township.

The ditch with its branches will be thirty-six miles long and will drain farm lands in the town of Crookston, Parnell and Belgium, Polk county, ton, Parnell and Belgium, Polk county; and Polk Center, Pennington county. The estimated cost is $66,000; the estimated benefits $123,000.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Just Between You and Me

By BRUCE

SOME scientist or economist, proceeding upon the basis that there is so much labor in this world for every man, declared that as each busy industrial bee labored so the result and progress of his labor would be marked upon the path of his accomplishment. The labor of some men would be marked in long and steady black lines, while faltering and indistinct lines would measure the inefficient progress of others.

If the plan of the economist were applied to the activities of the men in the great world of sports, we would find the strong black lines of sterling accomplishment and legions of lines of those whose accomplishments had been meager and somewhat unworthy.

It might be supposed that the man who thus proposed to judge men by a broad and unprejudiced plan, took no account of the handicaps that are set against some of the starters in the stake event of life.

Some forty years ago Australia gave to the world the most marvelous fighting machine of the ages. Bob Fitzsimmons mowed down the men of the decades of the boxing age, simply because nature was in a lavish and bountiful mood when the mould was cast for the freckled wizard of fistiana.

Passing down the decades of ring endeavor we come to Georges Carpentier. While as a boy Bob Fitzsimmons was licking six burly bruisers in one single show and was attracting the attention of Jem Mace, Georges Carpentier in his extreme youth was considered one of the greatest bantams in the world.

Fitzsimmons conquered and proved the greatest middleweight in the history of the world because nature gave him the body of a giant and the sinewy arms of a cave man. Pugilistically speaking, the conquests of Bob Fitzsimmons were the lavish accomplishment of chuckling nature.

No man could have been more industrious in his chosen profession than Georges Carpentier, the most unique pugilist of the age; and yet were the gauge of human progress, as based upon the rules of the scientist, to be applied to Fitzsimmons, a man who violated the rules of training and the immutable laws of nature, and Georges Carpentier, the Adonis of the ring, the industrious laborer in the field of physical perfection, it would be found that the line of accomplishment of Fitzsimmons was longer, more distinct and greater in every way than the labor line of the illustrious French pugilist.

Lacking brains, possessing the cunning instinct of fighting that went with his animal-like nature, shiftless, a child of nature permitted to wander aimlessly in a complex age, Fitzsimmons succeeded because he started from the barrier in his chosen profession with the things that nature alone can give.

Some men crave power and accomplishment as more unfortunate brothers crave the poisoned cup of drink. Every opportunity for success has been eagerly embraced by the remarkable Carpentier; no stones have been left unturned in the laborious plan of accomplishment he has laid down; every day has been one of intelligent and arduous labor, and in the end, the grinning face of Robert Fitzsimmons will rise to haunt and taunt the emotional Carpentier, for nature is bountiful and omnipotent, and leers with grotesque face at the efforts of mere man.

Nature endowed Fitzsimmons as lavishly as some uncultured men of wealth endow colleges. Perhaps nature was in a querulous mood when discussion was brought up over the fate of Carpentier.

"Let's give this boy a fair body and a lot of energy and see what he will do for himself," you can imagine nature saying. And Carpentier out of the frame work of his ordinary body achieved wondrous results—and yet his results will never reach the heights of the achievements of Bob Fitzsimmons, and the industry will have fallen far short of the accomplishment of the buffoon that nature set down on the path of life with a steel-ribbed body and told to search for the moon.

The Change of the Game.

IF the present indications are to materialize into golden accomplishment, the football day is near at hand when weight is to be less prized on the gridiron and speed and quick thinking will be eagerly sought after and utilized as a tremendous factor in changing the game.

According to some of the coaches, many of the college elevens of the West will abandon the shift formations and will form the system of attack from the style of formation in vogue before the shift and mass plays transformed the open game.

As the Western teams have made greater progress in the more open game, especially Notre Dame and Michigan, it appears at this time as if the teams of the West will show the greater possibilities of the forward pass. It requires speed and quick thinking to make a success of the open style of the game, and in this connection will come the opportunity of the smaller man and the less opportunity of the player who has only 200 pounds of beef to recommend him.

In the development of the forward pass and the open system of attack that is being more and more constructed around the possibilities of the forward pass, may depend the chances of Michigan and Notre Dame in the games that Western men are eagerly looking forward to.

Only a Slight Mistake.

An Eastern exchange declares that Johnny Tillman is a young pugilist who is just coming to the front. It might not be out of place for a Western exchange to remark that he is a young pugilist who is just going to the rear.

Kavanaugh of Grand Forks are the representatives present. Dr. Mitchell of the Fort William team is expected later in the day. It looks as if Winnipeg and Winona will not be directly represented at the meeting.

No consideration outside of routine importance is scheduled to come before the meeting. Duluth was awarded the pennant at an early hour of the session and the magnates then settled down to a lengthy discussion of business of the past season and plans of the coming year.

All of the magnates declared that they were satisfied with the result of the past year and President Burmeister was loud in his predictions of a banner season for 1915.

BRAINERD PROTESTS.

Declares Pine City Did Not Beat Regular Team.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 21.—The Brainerd city baseball team and all local fans resent the story of a baseball game sent out from Pine River to the effect that the Pine River baseball nine had shut out Brainerd by an 8 to 0 score at the Pequot county fair Sept. 17.

The facts are these. The team playing Pine River was a pick-up Brainerd Elks' team and not the fast city team. Cook, Victor and Templeton, being Elks, were asked to play in the Elks' nine which on Brainerd day played at the county fair. The team playing was not even the regular Elks' team, volunteer Elks being taken to fill places.

The Brainerd city team has played twenty-four games this season and was defeated but twice, once at Staples, which nine it subsequently beat three times and once at Hibbing, when it won the series, two out of three, and gained the independent semi-professional championship of the state.

Recently also the Speedwells of Brainerd played Ironton and Aitkin and this again was falsely heralded as games with the Brainerd city team. There is but one Brainerd city team, but there are other nines, including the Speedwells, Athletics, Elks' team, etc.

RALLY MAY BE TOO LATE

Giants' Reversal of Form Believed to Be Too Long Delayed.

Athletics' Lead Is Reduced; Louisville and Milwaukee Close.

New York, Sept. 21.—Five victories for Boston and five winning games and two defeats for New York tells the story of the struggle of the past week between the rivals for the National league pennant.

The Braves forged further ahead early in the week, while the Giants were winding up their disastrous campaign in Philadelphia where they lost three out of five games. Since then, however, the race has been virtually even, McGraw's men gained a half game by outplaying Cincinnati while the Braves were involved in a tie encounter with St. Louis.

A three-game gap now separates the two clubs—a decided advantage for Boston at this stage when little more than a fortnight of play remains before the season closes.

Starting in with the Cincinnati series, the Giants began to play better ball than they have shown for months, indifferent fielding being offset by superior pitching and lively batting. It looks, however, as if the champions' reversal of form had come too late, their only apparent salvation now being the chance that the Bostons will strike a snag in either the remainder of the series with the Westerners, or in the clash with the Giants beginning Sept. 30.

In the American league Boston has made little progress against Philadelphia although the latter team has been playing below its mid-season form. The Red Sox lost a chance to gain on Saturday by taking a beating from Cleveland while the Athletics were losing to Detroit. Yesterday, with a change of opponents, both Athletics and Red Sox won, but the victory of the Bostons was a double one and the lead of the Mackmen was reduced to 6½ games.

There is one week of campaign left in the association and what is virtually a tie between Louisville and Milwaukee to be settled in the few remaining games. Louisville still has eight games to play, meeting Indianapolis on its home grounds Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and Cleveland at home Friday, Saturday and Sunday, a double-header winding up the season. Milwaukee has nine games remaining, five in the next four days with Minneapolis, according to figures given out in President Chivington's office, the Brewers finishing the season at home.

Results of yesterday's games left Louisville in front with 91 victories and 69 defeats, and Milwaukee second with 89 games won and 68 lost. If Louisville and Milwaukee win all their games, Milwaukee, by a small margin in percentage will take the pennant.

In the Federal league Chicago and Indianapolis ran neck and neck from the first of the week to the last and ended with Indianapolis half a game ahead.

ZBYSZKO AT WAR! HOW CAN AUSTRIA FEED THIS MONSTER?

Stanislaus Zbyszko is fighting in the Austrian army, according to the information that has come to this country. The huge Polish wrestler is a second lieutenant, it is said. Zbyszko was preparing to take part in a wrestling tournament at Petrograd when the war broke out. Just how he got out of Russia, and just why he is fighting in the Austrian army are details lacking in the general information regarding the remarkable athlete who has appeared in this city a number of times.

It is difficult to see how the enemy can help hitting "Zby." He makes the ideal target. On the other hand, if the campaign is to be an extended one, it is very difficult to see how the Austrians can afford to keep Zbyszko. He will prove a drain on the commissary department that may result in a food famine in Austria. While Zbyszko will be great in lifting wagons out of the mud and pushing over brick and stone walls, the matter of feeding him will be one of the real problems of the campaign.

NOTED POLO PLAYER A VICTIM OF WAR

One of the most famous athletes to fall a victim to the war, is Capt. R. N. Grenfell, one of the most famous polo players of the world. Capt. Grenfell was killed while fighting with his English regiment in France. Grenfell was to have played in this country in 1910 and he was a substitute member of the team that competed in the United States in 1913.

After National Title.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 21.—The Vinton street merchants, champions of the Omaha Amateur Baseball association, defeated, the North St. Paul team champions of the city by a score of 16 to 9 yesterday. By its victory the Omaha team goes into the semi-finals for the national amateur title.

Oldfield Breaks Record.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21.—Three world's automobile records on a one-mile circular dirt track, were broken at the Maxwellton field here yesterday afternoon by Barney Oldfield. Oldfield set new marks by making the mile in 44 seconds, the two-mile event in 1:27 and by negotiating five miles in 3:40 2-5.

GRADS TAKE THE LAURELS

Central Loses Annual Football Battle to Alumni.

Former Stars Defeat Hilltop Team By 13 to 0 Score.

Possessing a line that was able to bend the Central forwards back and throw them into their own plays in choking confusion, the alumni football team Saturday defeated the Central gridiron warriors by the score of 13 to 0. The first score came in the second quarter and the final touchdown in the final quarter. Currie missed the first goal and neglected his second chance.

The Alumni team was heavier and its backfield, composed of veterans, worked to better advantage than Central's. In addition to this quality of superiority, the grads shifted to meet the attack of their opponents, while at times the younger players seemed lost as to what to do to meet the shift formations of the Alumni players.

"Shorty" Wharton was the bright and scintilating star for the grads. This player picked his holes admirably and showed a dash and speed that carried him yards into the enemy's territory. This speedy back received assistance in the shape of fine interference from McClaran, Solheim and Percy Stevens.

In the off tackle drives the Alumni linemen generally had the tackle out of the play or driven in, and the alumni backs generally took good care of the end and opposing back.

While Central put up a pluckey and tenacious defense, the heavy Alumni linemen broke through times innumerable and downed the runner before he was fairly started. At other times the interference of the high school was smashed and the runner was left for an open shot by tackle, end or opposing back. With the big linemen streaming through on top of the high school backs, the offensive efforts of Central were as a rule nipped in the bud.

The First Score.

While the Alumni team was the greatest gainer in the first quarter, occasionally a high school man would sift through and down the runner for a loss. The gaining was not consistent enough to carry the ball within striking distance of the goal.

McClaran started to use Wharton more frequently in the second quarter, and the speedy youngster tore off some good gains. Wharton went off tackle, sidestepped a tackler, and whirling in toward the center of the field, ran ten yards for the first score of the game.

It looked in both the third and final quarters as if Central was going to score. Particularly in the third quarter did the the high school boys make a fine rally. Little Bobby Kerr, Walsh and O'Brien tore through the heavier alumni line and ran the ends for gains that brought the oval to the 10-yard line of the grads. Here the former stars made a stand and the progress of the Centrals was stopped.

In the final quarter the ball was kicked into the alumni's territory and then Currie got away for a 60-yard run that resulted in the second touchdown of the afternoon. The alumni man dodged several tacklers and outran several more. This run was the feature of the game.

Central's Showing Good.

While Central was defeated, the defeat should in no wise serve to discourage the hilltop aggregation. Lacking in team work and grievously lacking in a versatile attack, outweighed and pitted against players with more experience, the defeat was to be expected.

On the whole, the showing was meritorious, and should the candidates that have answered to the call of Central this season receive adequate and efficient instruction, there is every reason to believe the team of this season will be far above the average high school eleven.

PUPILS TO BE DAIRYMEN

Practical Work Will Be Done at Central High School.

Creamery Utensils Arrive; Agricultural Students Are Active.

The practical side of education at the Central high school will be further extended by the taking up of dairying on an extensive and systematic scale. The purchase of $150 worth of additional dairy equipment, authorized at the last meeting of the board of education, has greatly increased the facilities of the student dairymen.

Creamery Equipment.

The creamery outfit consists of a scale, a cream separator, a Babcock tester, cream cooler, ice box, churn, butter worker, butter printer and other necessary utensils have arrived. The equipment will make it possible for the students to carry on operations in about the same proportions as those of a farmer with five or ten cows.

The students will buy milk from a dairyman. This will be weighed, tested, run through the separator and cooled.

Skimmed milk and cream will be weighed and tested, after which the skimmed milk will be sold and the cream stored in the ice box. When two days' cream has been "ripened" it will be churned and the butter worked and packed in one-pound prints.

The boys, who have bought the milk, may sell the butter and keep the proceeds. There will be at least two churnings a week and more if necessary to give the boys practice.

The work will be done in a scientific manner and gasoline will be used for power, as it is believed to be the most economical power.

Students to List Dairies.

A new feature of the agricultural work will be the milk testing, which will be begun in a few days. Two to four boys will be assigned to each dairy in the city. Each crew will be responsible for the testing of the milk of each dairy in the city. Two tests daily will be taken by the Babcock method from each cow and the samples will be taken to the labratory for testing. The testing will be done free of charge and the dairies agreeing to the plan will get accurate, scientific tests.

The agricultural club will meet the first Tuesday in October, at which officers will be elected and plans for the coming year will be discussed and outlined.

Agricultural Work.

E. P. Gibson has charge of the agricultural work and the club, and he will place the work in the hands of individuals, who will act as committees. In this way Prof. Gibson expects to get better results than by having committees of several members each.

A series of practical instruction trips was begun Saturday when the students went to the state experiment farm and got some information on practical land clearing. About forty boys took the trip in charge of Prof. Gibson.

POTATOES COME UNDER NEW LAW

Net Weight of Contents of Sack Must Be Shown.

Of interest to local potato dealers is a recent interpretation of the Federal law which provides that potatoes sold in the open market in sacks and bags or in any package form, must bear on the outside of the package the quantity of contents.

The question was recently presented to Congressman Steenerson, as to whether or not the act included the sacking of potatoes in the field, as well as other food products which are almost necessarily handled in sacks and bags in the operation of marketing. Mr. Steenerson immediately called upon the secretary of agriculture for a ruling. Under date of Sept. 16, the department stated as follows:

"The question as to whether a certain article constitutes 'food in package form' within the meaning of the net weight law is a question of law which can only be finally determined by the courts. In the opinion of the secretary of agriculture, however, potatoes in sacks are a food in package form within the meaning of the law, and should be marked with the quantity of the contents in accordance with the regulations. However, the committee in charge of the enforcement of this law is trying to secure a ruling that where sacks are used as a container for convenience in loading cars, and where sales are made in accordance with the railway company's weight figures for the entire car, it would be unnecessary to mark the net weight on each sack. However, fair such a ruling might be, it is impossible now to state whether such a decision will eventually be made."

AVIATORS HAVE FIGHT IN MIDAIR

Jules Vedrines Brings Down German Airman With Automatic Gun.

Paris, Sept. 21.—Jules Vedrines, the noted French aviator, was credited with a courageous fight in midair with a German aviator whom he brought to earth. The German was daringly reconnoitering the position of the allies when Vedrines ascended.

Moving swiftly upward until he was above the German, Vedrines gave chase and, as he skimmed along, fusilladed the air scout with his automatic gun. The German machine was riddled and the aviator killed, both falling to the ground within fifteen minutes of the time Vedrines took the air. Vedrines had accomplished a similar feat before.

Military experts here believe that the longer the present battle endures the better it will be for the allied armies, who thus will be able to pass strong forces of fresh troops to places where they are needed along the front.

Germans Would Take Reims.

At the western end of the battle line, Reims has been the object of the greatest attention from the Germans, who, time after time, have unsuccessfully attempted to break through the allies' lines after subjecting the town to an intense bombardment. It is the German's intention, it is understood, to capture Reims, which is an important railroad junction, the possession of which would give them command of another road to the north. They have made an especial mark of the magnificent cathedral, which has been in flames since yesterday.

JULES VEDRINES.

The allies, meantime, have made for themselves a strong position on the right bank of the Aisne, where they occupy all the heights. The Germans have taken advantage of the sites of the forts which were intended for the the defense of Reims, but which were abandoned by the allies when the invaders made a rapid dash southward from Belgium.

Hail Adds to Hardships Yesterday.

A heavy hail storm, with a cold wind, added to the hardships of the entrenched troops, who are entirely without tents, but it did not affect their spirits, which are high. All the commissariat departments of the allies are working splendidly. The men are well fed and clothed and are contented.

The German army, when it evacuated Chalons, left one of its chief surgeons and a corps of nurses in charge of a hospital filled with German and French wounded. The French medical officers found the hospital so well managed and the French wounded so well treated that the German surgeon was left in charge.

NAVIES HAVE HAD BUT LITTLE WORK

Resume of Action of British Warships Given Out By Admiralty.

London, Sept. 21.—Compared with the battles on land, the navies of the warring nations have had but a small part in the great conflict.

There has not been a gun fired in the North Sea for days, so far as the British public know, but the admiralty has issued bulletins of important encounters in far off waters. Successes and misfortunes were both chronicled impartially.

The German protected cruiser Koenigsberg caught the British light cruiser Pegasus overhauling her machinery in Zanzibar harbor yesterday morning, and attacked and completely disabled her. The British lost heavily, and the Koenigsberg was able to steam away.

The German cruiser, while of the same class as the British, had more modern guns, which outranged those of her antagonist.

The British loss is given as twenty-five killed and eighty wounded.

The German cruiser Emden captured six British merchant steamers in the Bay of Bengal in six days and sank five of them. The Emden reappeared at Rangoon, possibly having taken part in other exploits as yet not known.

On the British side of the score was the sinking of a German merchant cruiser, supposed to have been the Cap Trafalgar for Berlin, by the former Cunard liner Carmania, on Sept. 14 in waters which the admiralty describes as "off the coast of South America."

The British loss was small—nine killed and twenty-six wounded.

The German loss is unknown, but the survivors were rescued. Apparently the Carmania steamed away without stopping to learn particulars of her victim's identity.

The British cruiser Cumberland reports some small encounters between small British and German craft in the Kamerun river, in which the British had the better of it.

The admiralty report says that since the outbreak of the war, the Pegasus, under command of John Inglais, had been working from Zanzibar and had rendered very useful services, including the destruction of Dar-Es-Salaam (a seaport in German East Africa), the sinking of the German gunboat Mowe and a floating drydock.

The German cruiser Emden, during the period including Sept. 10 to 14, captured six British ships as follows:

The Indus, Lovat, Killim, Diplomat, Frabbock and Katinga, of which five were sunk and the sixth sent to Calcutta with the crews of the others. The Emden is now reported at Rangoon and it is possible she has made other captures.

The admiralty report confirms an earlier report from Tokio last week, of the sinking of six British steamers by the Emden in far distant waters.

FROM BEHIND BRITISH LINES

London Correspondent Describes Fighting of the Great Armies.

London, Sept. 21.—A correspondent of the Times sends the following from "behind the British lines," dated Sept. 19:

"The great battle draws to a close. Exhaustion, rather than shot and shell, has wrought a terrible peace along the river banks, a peace which my experiences of the last few days lead me to believe may be the herald of victory. That, at least, is how I read the situation.

"I have seen our troops and the French go into battle these last days, not as worn and weary men, but as conquerors. I have seen them return wounded from this valley of death with the conquering spirit fanned to fierce fire. Here is a typical description from the trenches of the great struggle:

"'We are slowly beating them back. We have to do it foot by foot, for they have huge guns and their shell fire is terrible. But we keep pegging away, How? Well we dig ourselves in—we British lads have learned that lesson—and then we go on fighting and fighting until the moment comes when we make a small advance. We crawl up again and dig ourselves in.

"'At the end it comes to cold steel, of course. We are all right there.'

"The scene on the river at night was magnificent, and appalling beyond words. The whole valley was swept with a blaze of searchlights from darkness until dawn. Great beams moved up and down, searching the skies and trenches, and revealing masked batteries on the heights and dark forms lying along the ridges."

MANY OFFICERS IN THE CASUALTY LIST.

London, Sept. 21.—A casualty list made public last night by the war office again shows a large number of officers among the killed, wounded or missing. Sixteen officers are reported killed, 38 wounded and 10 missing.

Among the wounded is Lord James Thomas Stewart-Murray, son of the duke of Atholl. He is a captain of the "Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders" and won both the king's and queen's medals for bravery in the South African war. He is 34 years old.

LA FOLLETTE TOLD NOT TO ENTER RACE

Washington, Sept. 21.—If Senator La Follette heeds the advice of his close friends in Washington, he will not become a candidate for the governorship of Wisconsin.

Senator La Follette has not indicated what he will do. In fact his physicians have forbidden him to give any thought or time to public or political matters. He has, however, been permitted to read letters from those who want him to get into the race, and has talked with his friends about the matter. Their advice has been against his running. One of La Follette's close personal friends has told him that the men who want him to run are not his real friends, but that they want to push him forward so that they can satisfy their own personal grievances. Another says that the condition that resulted in the selection of Emanuel Philippe as the Republican candidate for governor and McGovern for the senate, is only temporary, and that there will be a return to progressive control in the next campaign two years hence.

ARMSTRONG HEADS THE STIRRUP CLUB.

Edward Armstrong was elected president of the Stirrup club, which held its annual meeting at the Spalding hotel Saturday afternoon, following the usual weekly luncheon. The other officers chosen for the ensuing year were:

Frank McNally, vice president; J. H. Hoag, secretary; W. T. Wilke, treasurer; and C. R. Magney, chairman of the executive committee. The retiring officers of the club are: I. K. Lewis, president; W. E. McEwen, vice president; Elmer F. Blu, secretary; C. [illegible] and G. W. C. Ross, chairman of the executive committee.

WILL NEVER KNOW THE EXACT NUMBER OF LOST.

Astoria, Or., Sept. 21.—The exact number of those who went down with the steam schooner Frances H. Leggett when she foundered in a gale sixty miles south of the Columbia river, Friday, probably will never be known. The steamer Frank S. Buck, convoying the second of the Leggett's two survivors into port, reached here yesterday.

The passengers who were booked before sailing numbered 36, while the crew was composed of 25 men, a total of 61. There were a number of passengers, however, that boarded the vessel at the last moment, whose names were not recorded on shore, among them being Alexander Farrell, one of the two survivors.

Blood Sufferers Want to Know

The Light is Turned on to a Subject of Darkness.

The mere fact that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, drives out disease is a world's story, a topic of conversation wherever men get together.

They wonder why, simply because most remedies are mystified and put before them as "discoveries." The facts are that we pay too much attention to possibilities and not enough to real, homespun accomplishment. S. S. S. is a remedy of our fathers. It has a history that is written deeply in men's minds because it has done the work, driven out deep seated disease, revived hope, put the O. K. on appearance and clamped down tight any effort of germs to get the upper hand. Any sore spot on the skin is an immediate demand for S. S. S. since the first principle of this famous remedy is to strike out for places of trouble. This is a physiological fact and S. S. S. is true to the workings of our body.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today at any druggist and begin blood health. It will master any blood disease and do it in a way to emphasize its influence. And if you would like definite advice write The Swift Specific Co., 56 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Their medical department is where most people first seek advice that puts them on the straight road.

PRICE MAINTENANCE.

Its Necessity to Aid Consumer.

Many big industries engaged in national trade have often in the past done openly what the small concerns in their limited fields have done secretly—varied prices according to the degree of competition at different times and places. Their object has been to secure the highest price to be had, irrespective of whether the buyer was held up or not.

The principle of selling goods at a close margin at one place to meet or to kill competition, and charging a high price, to make up for it, where little or no competition exists, is economically wrong and unfair to the buyer. Every article offered for sale should have a uniform price plainly marked upon it.

Manufacturers will then have to see that the price of their goods is a reasonable one, so they will sell, and at the same time they will provide enough profit to pay the jobber and dealer fairly for handling the goods at a uniform price. This will inspire confidence in the consumer, because he will know the price can not be cut and must, therefore, be a reasonable one to permit the goods to sell. He will buy such goods in preference to a small selling article sold at exaggerated profits.

Everybody will benefit from price maintenance in this way. It will protect the manufacturer who has built up well known brands, also the newcomer who is seeking to do so. Distributors will be protected in handling it at a fair profit, and they will not be forced, through fear of cut-throat competition, to build up their own private brands at much expense. Flooding the market with unknown private brands brings about complexity and doubt in the minds of the consumers. Many private brands are sold at exorbitant prices, and many are of doubtful quality. It is better to eliminate thousands of the unknown brands and force the manufacturers to establish one brand for each quality of goods made by them. This will avoid confusion and complexity in the mind of the consumer, and he will use the well established brands which are of the right quality and sold at one fair price to all.

The General says:

Certain-teed

Quality Cert-ified Roofing Durability Guaran-teed

—has won its way to the front because customers who have covered one building with Certain-teed want it for other buildings. They know by experience that Certain-teed is the highest quality roofing possible to buy, and they know it is reasonable in price.

When you buy Certain-teed you have our real guarantee that it will last at least five years for 1-ply, ten years for 2-ply, and fifteen years for 3-ply, and this guarantee is backed by the world's largest roofing mills.

4 Reasons for Certain-teed: Highest Quality, Reasonable Price, Real Guarantee, Greatest Durability

Certain-teed Roofing contains no coal tar—because coal being a by-product of gas works and coke ovens, dries out too quickly. Certain-teed Roofing is made of the best felt, saturated with our properly blended asphalts, and coated with a harder asphalt as a protecting surface. This keeps the soft saturation from drying out quickly and preserves the life of the roofing.

There is a dealer in your city or town who handles Certain-teed products. He will be glad to give you information and prices.

AYR, N. D., ROBBER GOES TO PENITENTIARY.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 21.—William Arthur Rose, a negro, who was bound over to the district court when he waived preliminary examination and made a signed statement in which he acknowledged having broken into the Ayr State bank and two business houses there, pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge C. A. Pollock in the district court and was given three years in the state penitentiary on a third degree burglary charge.

The robbery at Ayr happened on Sept. 9, when, during the night of that day, the store of C. N. Hagen, the butcher shop and the bank were entered.

MAKING CHANGE ON STREET CARS

CONDUCTORS REQUIRED TO BE ACCOMMODATING WHEN POSSIBLE

We desire to respectfully call the attention of our patrons to the necessity of providing themselves with change before boarding cars.

Conductors are required to be prepared to furnish change up to the amount of $2.

Some persons appear to have the idea that the offering of any piece of "good money" on a street car is "legal tender" and that upon making such tender they have the right to be carried whether the conductor is able to make change for it or not. This idea is erroneous, as the courts have held that the tender of a $5 bill in payment of a 5-cent fare upon a street car is unreasonable and therefore not a legal tender. It will therefore be seen that a person who gets aboard a street car with nothing less than a $5 bill is in the same position as if he had no money at all, so far as paying his fare is concerned, and that in such cases it is not as unreasonable as it may at first appear for the conductor to politely ask him to step off the car, procure change and take the next car.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS

But while conductors are not required to furnish change for any sum in excess of $2, they are instructed by the company to do so as an accommodation to passengers when possible. A conductor is required to have $10 in change when first starting out, and it can easily be seen that the changing of $5 bills from two passengers would exhaust this supply. If he accepted two such bills he would be compelled to stop the car and seek change himself while all his passengers waited.

MISTAKES IN CHANGE

When a conductor takes a piece of money from you from which you expect change, and passes on without returning change or audibly calling out the denomination of the money, you should not rely upon his having correctly read it and upon his returning your chance to you later, but should call him back at once.

In order to prevent mistakes in change, misunderstandings and short change complaints, our conductors have been instructed to call out audibly the moment they receive a piece of money from a passenger, the denomination of the coin or bill, the number of fares which they understand are to be taken from it, and the change to be given in return, and to at once count out the change audibly as they hand it to the passenger. Co-operation of our patrons in insisting upon our conductors observing this rule will be greatly appreciated and will greatly assist us in preventing mistakes regarding change.

BELGIANS WOULD RESUME CONTROL.

London, Sept. 21, 4:30 p. m.—In a dispatch from Antwerp the correspondent of the Central News declares that the armistice proposal made some days ago by Germany to Belgium provided that the civil government in all Belgian towns should be immediately resumed by Belgium and the German occupaton of these towns be discontinued on condition that communication with the Germans in France be not interfered with.

Belgium refused to agree, saying to do so would be disloyal to the allies.

IS INDICTED FOR MURDER

Joseph Bisel Must Answer Charge of Killing John Magnuson.

Eighteen True Bills In Partial Report of Grand Jury.

An indictment charging Joseph Bisel with the crime of murder in the third degree was returned this morning by the September grand jury, which made a third partial report to District Judge Cant. Bisel is accused of being responsible for the death of John Magnuson on July 1 last, following a fight in which the two men were engaged while in a camp near Fairbanks during the first week of July.

The jury's report also included seventeen other indictments and four no true bills. Of the eighteen indictments reported, eight are secret on account of the fact that the defendants are not in custody. The true bills made public were returned against the following:

Joseph Bisel for murder in the third degree.

Margaret Caron and James S. Dunham, indicted separately on an adultery count. The crime for which the pair is charged is alleged to have been committed on Aug. 14 last.

Lena Maki for keeping a disorderly house. The defendant is accused of having conducted the premises at 1127½ West Michigan street as a house of ill fame between July 1 and Aug. 2, 1914.

William Copeman and John A. Smith for burglary in the third degree. The Two men are jointly accused in the same indictment of having on Sept. 10 broken into the gasoline launch Nipigon, owned by C. H. Krause, with the intent to commit the crime of larceny.

John Longs for assault in the first degree. Longs is charged with having slashed James Williams, a negro, with a knife on Sept. 3 last. He is accused of having assaulted Williams with intent to kill.

Edward W. Graham, allas P. J. Hughes, allas C. W. Smith, for forgery in the second degree. Graham is charged in two counts with having on Sept. 10 last forged two checks, one for $18 and the other for $18.25, and to have passed them off on Frank Bradley and Fred Hilger.

William Teel for burglary in the first degree. Teel is accused of having on the night of June 1, 1914, broken into the residence of Ben Gustaffson, 1003½ Garfield avenue.

George Sarros for perjury. Sarros, a bus boy at the St. Louis hotel, is alleged to have perjured himself while acting as a witness in municipal court.

No true bills were returned in favor of Charles Rose and Frank Barselo, two prisoners at the county jail who were held to the grand jury. Two other no true bills were returned.

RAILROADS

FINE SHOWING BY NEW YORK CENTRAL.

New York, Sept. 21.—There has not been a passenger killed in a train accident on the New York Central & Hudson River railroad since Feb. 1, 1911, a period of over three and one-half years. During this time, up to June 30, 1914, the road has operated 1,266,654 passenger trains and 819,513 freight trains. These trains have been operated day and night in all kinds of weather with regularity. Some idea of the comparative safety of railroad travel can be gained when it is known that this road carried 136,154,983 passengers on these trains, which is more than the entire population of the United States.

In compiling statistics of passenger travel on railroads, it is customary to indicate the number of passengers carried one mile. For instance, a passenger carried 100 miles would be equivalent to 100 passengers carried one mile. On this basis the New York Central, during the period stated, carried 5,286,931,140 passengers one mile, a number equal to approximately fifty-two times the population of the United States, without one being killed in a train accident.

IS BUILDING LINE TO LEWISTOWN, MONT.

New Rockford, N. D., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Operating out of four cities, the Great Northern expects to complete the New Rockford, N. D., to Lewistown, Mont., line next year.

The gap in North Dakota, New Rockford, to Arnegard, will be closed by crews working out of those cities. The crew working out of Arnegard will bridge the Missouri river, and go through the heaviest country that the line crosses in this state.

The Montana work will be taken up out of Circle and Grass Range, present terminus points on the operations out of Lewistown, on the west, and Fairview and Sydney, on the east.

RUSSIANS CUT OFF RETREAT OF DANKL.

London, Sept. 21.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company has sent the following dispatch by way of Rome:

"The Russians have completely cut off Gen. Dankl's army, which forms the extreme left of the new battle front from Przemysl to Cracow (Galicia) and prevented his junction with the forces under the command of Gen. von Auffenberg. While Gen. Dankl is retreating in a desperate attempt to reach the Cracow fortifications the Russians are advancing from Sandomir in an endeavor to cut off that retreat as well.

GERMANS LITERALLY HURLED AT ALLIES.

London, Sept. 21.—The correspondent of the Times, telegraphing Sunday from near Soissons in describing the German counter attacks on the allies' left wing Wednesday and Thursday says:

The men were literally thrown away to act as mere dead weight. They hurled them down at us like a landslide. Our officers were wonderfully cool and made us lie close and fight close. That and a bit of pluck did the work.

Soissons has suffered terribly. It has been subjected to a regular daily bombardment until almost irreparable damage has been done. Both the cathedral and church of St. Jean are badly damaged.

Today the fearful fusillade continues.

Fall From Speeder Fatal.

Stanley, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—While riding on a gasoline speeder, Gus Nihols, a Greek railway laborer, fell off the front of the machine and received injuries which soon afterwards proved fatal.

CAUGHT LIKE RAT IN TRAP

Miner Insane From Fright After Facing Drowning in Mine.

First Guardian Accepted $107 Damages—Second Gets $2,125.

Driven insane from the fright which he received, when, like a rat in a trap, he was caught in a mine chamber which was flooded by water, Novo Dasich, through his guardian, William Getty, has accepted $2,125 from the La Rue Mining company, his former employers. A stipulation for judgment in this amount was filed with the clerk of the district court today.

The settlement is the concluding chapter of a rather interesting story of a personal injury case which has dragged through the courts for the last three years. Ever since his harrowing experience, Dasich, the plaintiff, has been an inmate of the state asylum for the insane at Fergus Falls.

The accident which was made a basis for the suit occurred in March, 1911. Dasich was at work in the mine when there was a sudden cave-in, which flooded the chamber with water, sand and rocks. Dasich, with grim determination, stood upright in the seething mass until the water came up to his neck, when he was finally rescued. The shock to his nervous system dethroned his reason.

In probate court during the summer of 1911, V. N. Nickolich was appointed as guardian for the insane miner. During the month of September of that year he effected a settlement of the case with the mining company for $107, and judgment was accordingly entered in the municipal court, the original action brought by Dasich having been for $500.

Shortly afterwards it was discovered that Nickolich had become heavily involved in a number of other probate court matters and was arrested for embezzlement. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to Stillwater, where he served several months. He is now out on parole.

Nickolich was removed as guardian and William Getty of this city substituted. The new guardian, believing that his ward had been wronged by Nickolich, petitioned the municipal court to set aside the settlement which Nickolich had made with the company. The municipal court granted the motion. From this an appeal was carried to the district court. The action of the lower court in setting aside the settlement was affirmed not only by the district court, but was sustained by the supreme court.

The new guardian withdrew the $500 action and sued in district court, asking for $35,000. Under the stipulation entered into by attorneys for the company and for the guardian, a fund of $2,125 will be set aside for the interests of the miner. The expenses of the litigation, however, will be paid from this fund.

SUPERIOR

SUPERIOR UNABLE TO SELL ITS BONDS

No Call for Them Even With 5 Per Cent Interest.

The city of Superior is unable to raise money to pay for sewer improvements recently authorized in Billings park. A bond issue amounting to $23,500 offered for sale for the purpose of covering this expense still remains with the city clerk unbid for in spite of the fact that it offers 5 per cent interest. The war in Europe and the stringency in the money market are believed to be the cause. The commissioners will probably decide to dispose of the issue over the counter in small lots to local people.

BOY IS KILLED BY TOURING CAR

Norbert Diederichs, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Diederichs, 1827 Butler avenue, was almost instantly killed at the Carey garage on Tower avenue Saturday evening by the big tourning car belonging to J. J. Flinn, 1321 Hammond avenue. The boy with a playmate, Frank Eaton, aged 11 years was playing "train" using a bicycle pulling a wagon, and ran into the automobile as it was slowly turning into the garage.

The boy fell directly under the front wheel of the auto and it passed over his neck and shoulders. The Flinn family were all in the machine, the car being driven by Neil Flinn, 15 years old. The boy apparently did not see the approaching auto and he was not observed by Neil or his sister, Florence, who was riding in the front seat, until too late.

Four physicians responded to the call but the boy died before any medical aid could be given. The mother appeared on the scene within a few moments of the accident and was prostrated with grief.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the St. Joseph's German Catholic church.

RAISE $1,260 FOR SUPERIOR ORPHANS.

The Children's Home treasury was enriched by the sum of $1,260 by the generous contributions of citizens of Superior during "tag" day Saturday, according to the returns made by directors of the work. The women disposed of 18,000 tags. Sums ranging from $2 to $47.70 were collected by the various workers. Mrs. Woodward Kirkpatrick was accorded the honor of having the largest amount to her credit, having the box containing the latter amount.

Fair Will Open Tuesday.

The Douglas county fair will open at the Carey Garage building tomorrow. This fair will be held open for four days. According to entries being made by growers, stockmen and others the display this year will exceed that of any former years in the history of the association.

ASSAULT IS SERIOUS.

Assailant of Louis Evans Held Pending Outcome of Injuries.

John McKnight, a bartender in a Billings park saloon, was arrested yesterday afternoon and is being held pending the outcome of injuries to Louis Evans, whom McKnight is alleged to have assaulted several days ago. Evans is said to be in a serious condition and fears are being entertained for his recovery. In case of his death it is probable that a charge of murder will be filed against the bartender. The police have only a meager account of the fight but claim that McKnight severely beat Evans. The latter is now in the hospital.

Held as Accomplice.

Frank Schultz was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives McDonald and Galvin, charged with being an accomplice of Joe Meyers, who is alleged to have stolen meats from refrigerator cars of the Cudahy Packing company. He will be given a hearing today.

PRESIDENT STILL WORKING FOR PEACE

Nothing Definite or of Formal Character Has Yet Been Done.

Washington, Sept. 21.—President Wilson said today that he was prayerfully working for peace in Europe, but indicated that nothing of a definite or formal character had yet been done. He told callers that publications of stories that he would call a world conference to discuss peace interfered with his serious work. The president declared that a world's crisis exists and that only serious remedies should be discussed.

EMPEROR HAS NOT FLED FROM VIENNA.

The Hague, via London, Sept. 21, 4:45 p. m.—The intimation recently cabled abroad that the emperor of Austria-Hungary, Francis Joseph, had fled from Vienna is denied by the Austro-Hungarian minister here who today received a dispatch describing the activities of the emperor on behalf of Austrian wounded. These include a visit to one of the imperial palaces which has been turned into a military hospital.

IF BILIOUS, SICK OR CONSTIPATED TAKE CASCARETS

No Headache, Bad Cold, Sour Stomach or Costive Bowels By Morning.

Get a 10-cent box now.

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

CITY BUDGET IS $1,193,000

Commissioner Voss Submits Estimates for Running Expenses in 1915.

Taxes Will Produce $875,500; Several Other Sources of Income.

The cost of running the city of Duluth during 1914 will be approximately $1,193,000, according to the estimate submitted to the city council this afternoon by Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss.

Of this sum $875,500 will be raised by general taxation, making the city tax rate 16.02 mills on a valuation of $53,500,000. This is a slight reduction over the rate last fall, which was 16.13 mills.

Of the $875,500 to be raised by taxation, $100,000 is for the interest fund and $80,000 for the sinking fund. Under the charter the maximum levy for general purposes cannot exceed 13 mills, which amounts to $695,500, an increase of $26,000 over last year.

Miscellaneous Sources.

The remainder of the funds required to meet the expenses comes from miscellaneous sources, including various licenses, the wheelage tax, money due the city from the county. In making his estimate the finance commissioner has also taken into consideration the probable balances of various funds at the end of the present year.

The estimate for the fire department is $150,000, of which $142,000 would be raised by taxation; that for the police department is $109,000, of which $104,000 would be raised by taxation, and that for the health department is $22,000, of which $17,000 would be raised by taxation. This makes a total of $281,000 for the public safety fund.

The estimate for the library fund is $26,000, of which $2,000 would be raised by taxation, that for the park department is $33,800, of which $21,000 would be raised by taxation; that for the welfare department is $8,542, and that for the joint work farm is $19,600.

The allowance for the public works fund is $152,000, of which $17,000 will come from the wheelage tax. The levy for the permanent improvement fund is placed at $150,000. In addition to that the fund has due $38,995.37. The fund is now heavily obligated and the finance commissioner estimates that when these debts are paid there will be $66,660.40 available for 1915.

Fund for Next Year.

The total of the general fund for next year is given as $284,500, of which $46,000 is to be raised by general taxation. The biggest part of the balance will come from liquor licenses, which are estimated to bring $165,000 of revenue in 1915, as compared with $187,000 estimated for this year, and miscellaneous licenses.

The council gave the ordinance fixing the levy its first reading but will hold several meetings to consider the various appropriations before taking final action. The estimate of the finance commissioner is intended as a guide and is used by the council, which now acts in the capacity of the conference committee which fixed the budget under the old form of government. It is likely, however, that the estimate of the finance commissioner will be approved with few changes.

PRESIDENT URGED TO ATTEND MEETING

Governors Want Him Present at Convention at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 21.—President Wilson is being urged to attend the meeting of the governors' conference, which will be held in Madison in November. The Western governors at this meeting will present their case against Federal control of natural resources within the states, and for this reason are anxious that President Wilson attend and counsel and confer with them.

President Roosevelt called and attended the first meeting in the city of Washington in 1908. President Taft attended the 1910, or second meeting and held conference with the governors at a meeting adjourned to Washington, D. C., Dec, 1912.

PARTRIDGE WIPED OUT BY THE GAME HOGS.

Deputy Game Wardens T. J. Storey and Archie Boyd were on the job yesterday afternoon, according to County Commissioner "Ham" Little. He said that they were stopping automobiles and searching them for partridges shot out of season. He had gone to the country back of the city to look at some road work and had taken a gun and dog with him. He bagged two prairie chickens and although he didn't start back for the city until towards 9 o'clock at night, he was intercepted by the wardens.

The commissioner declared that, although he had covered considerable ground, he hadn't seen a partridge, where a month or two ago he had scared up covey after covey. He asserted that they had been wiped out by game hogs and he expressed the hope that the searching of automobiles would do much to put an end to the practice.

When Johnnie Comes Marching Home

During these anxious days, in the midst of war's alarms, the old soldiers of the Grand Army live over again those dark days of '61-'65. They were boys then, full of vim and pep, and life was gay and pleasant. But when the crucial moment came they marched away to fight for their country, just as the boys across the water are doing now. And after the war was over, "Johnnie came marching home," and there were some doings in those days when the brave boys came home. It was the fatted calf for Johnnie. And now half a century has gone by and still the Johnnies are welcome home just the same. And what a happy, cheerful home it is, where Pittsburgh's Pittston, the guaranteed hard coal, is on guard, warm and comfortable for Johnnie after his hard day's work. Life is worth living if Pittsburgh's Pittston is on the job. And the old folks in their easy chairs are enjoying the evening of their lives in peace and comfort, not fearing winter's bitter winds, because they know that Pittsburgh's Pittston is in the bin. Pittsburgh's Pittston is the efficient coal, the coal that guarded the homes in '61-'65—just the coal for you. Today give us the order; we guarantee you'll never regret it. It costs no more than the ordinary inefficient kind. Pittsburgh Coal Company, City Sales Office, 335 West Superior Street, Corner Fourth Avenue West.

CAMPAIGN FOR NELSON IS ON

Democratic Congressional Committee Actively at Work at Headquarters.

Chairman d'Autremont Issues Statement as to Plan of Action.

Hubert d'Autremont, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, has begun active work in the campaign in which he and other Democrats hope to put Andrew Nelson, the party candidate for the national house, in the seat now occupied by Congressman Miller, as an additional support to President Wilson. The congressional committee has opened headquarters in parlor E, St. Louis hotel, and Mr. d'Autremont and Secretary Fred L. Ryan are in charge. One or the other, or both of them, will be found there at all times. They have already started work and will keep it up until the polls are closed on Nov. 3. In regard to the work, Chairman d'Autremont said today:

"The active campaign to elect Mr. Nelson has started. From this time on we shall carry forward the energetic fight into every part of the different counties of the district. We are thoroughly organized, completely united and in all ways prepared to place before the voters the just reasons for soliciting their support. Every day come encouraging reports of a rising enthusiasm and eagerness on the part of the voters to take this opportunity to send a man to congress who will uphold and assist President Wilson in his masterful leadership of the national administration.

"The issues are simple. For our part we will not inject any questions concerning personalities or religion. We have no bunk to offer or fog to obscure the facts. The cleverly flippant jibes and sneers of the opposition will bother us as little as they will not influence votes. We intend simply to submit to the voters whether they want as their representative to congress a man who believes in the principles of government as exemplified by our present administration and a man who will uphold and support their president, or whether they want to be represented by a man who stands for the old time ideas of control of the government and who, through political expediency, has and will hamper and hinder their president in these critical times; and further, whether the voters think that the affairs of this district can be better cared for and advanced by one who is in harmony with the administration in power or by one who is railing against it. In Mr. Nelson the voters have a man whom they can trust, whose ability is known and whose principles are of the highest.

"Our methods will be equally plain. The times of political subterfuge and star-chamber power are past. Sub-rosa maligning of an opponent does not interest us any more than such tactics as stealthily delivering cases of beer on the eve of an election. We have no activities to conceal or compromises to make. Complete publicity of the truth is all that we shall strive to attain. We only desire that the people shall have a full knowledge of what the Democratic administration under the guidance of their president has accomplished. We shall furnish information of the justness and benefits of such work as the tariff with its income tax, the banking and currency reform, the restriction of convict-made goods from interstate commerce, unlawful combinations dissolved, an insidious lobby driven out of congress, Panama canal tolls exemption repeal, parcels post extended and cheapened, arbitration of strikes, and many other achievements. When a thorough realization of these accomplishments is coupled with the existing feeling of gratitude for his averting war with Mexico, then we believe that the people of this district will welcome the opportunity to register their faith in Woodrow Wilson and the cause he leads by sending him a representative pledged to stand by him in his fight for the new freedom."

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

DALE M'ALPINE ON STAND; FIRST REBUTTAL WITNESS

Insurance Companies Bring Their Case to Unexpected Close.

Judge Cant Again Refuses to Order Choice of Defenses.

Dale K. McAlpine, stepson of John McAlpine, whose mysterious death at his East end home a year ago last August has been a subject of inquiry by accident insurance companies, took the stand this afternoon as a rebuttal witness in the $50,000 suit for insurance which his mother, Mrs. Sarah K. McAlpine, is pressing against the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York.

An unexpected turn in the trial came this morning when attorneys for the defendant company announced that they would rest their case. The defense, it is understood, had expected to call several more witnesses before resting its case, but the attorneys changed their minds. The trial started on its third week this morning.

After the defense had examined two witnesses and rested its case Attorney McManus again urged a motion which would require the company to elect between its two contradictory defenses, that of murder by the plaintiff and that of suicide. Judge Cant again denied the motion, stating that the question of which was the proper defense, if any defense existed at all, would be one for determination by the jury.

Dale on Stand.

When the afternoon session of court convened today, Dale McAlpine took the stand and was asked to tell what he knew about the case. His recital of what happened in the McAlpine household on the morning that his father's body was found coincided in all substantial particulars with the narrative told by Mrs. McAlpine.

He stated that he went to bed about 10 o'clock on the evening of Aug. 14, with his wife, Alice, who has since divorced him. The first moment of consciousness that he can recall after that, he testified, was when he was awakened by the fire teams, which passed the house. He said that he saw Alice looking out of the window and that shortly afterwards, a few minutes, perhaps, his mother called to him that his father was missing.

Finds the Body.

He then told the court and jury how he had gone to the basement and how he had found the body. He described the position of his father's body, stating that the head was lying about six inches from the furnace. His first impression, he said, was that his father had been stunned by a fall. He said that he called quickly to his mother to bring down some comforters and pillows and whisky because his father had been hurt badly. His mother, he said, came down almost immediately.

The witness stated positively that his mother was in the basement that morning before Alice, his former wife, was. The testimony of Miss Spaulding on this point was that she went to the basement before Mrs. McAlpine went down.

With reference to the revolver, Dale testified that when he first went to the basement he did not notice any revolver lying there. Some time later—he testified he did not remember just when—he had a recollection of his mother picking up a gun near his father's body and handing it to him, or he was not sure, he said, but what he picked it up and she took it from him. Either he or his mother, he said, placed it in an urn as they went by the staircase.

In explanation of how it came about that he did not report the matter to Dr. McAuliffe, the deputy coroner, he stated that there were so many other things transpiring then that it did not occur to him. Later, he said, he called Mr. McManus aside and took him to the basement, where he found the gun and gave it to the attorney. The witness also declared that he did not know in what official capacity Dr. McAuliffe came to the house that morning.

Miss Spaulding Recalled.

Miss Alice Spaulding was recalled to the witness stand for a few questions by the attorneys for the insurance companies this morning. She was asked to state what her conversation with Mr. McManus was at the time they were talking at the McAlpine home on the morning of Mr. McAlpine's death when Chief of Police Troyer interrupted them.

Attorney McManus objected to the questions, but was overruled by Judge Cant. Miss Spaulding testified that Mr. McManus came to her and told her that "they suspected Dale" and that he also said "By God, you've got to stand by us now, Alice." The witness stated that she said "I have nothing to tell but the truth," and that at that moment Chief Troyer appeared and Mr. McManus said "Why, no, you haven't anything to tell but the truth."

The young woman also testified that at another time when Mr. McManus was at the house and in conversation with Mrs. McAlpine, Dale and herself that he advised them not to do any conjecturing when they testified before the grand jury, and if they were not clear on anything they were telling about that they had better say "I don't remember."

Dale McAlpine sat by his mother in the courtroom this morning for the first time since the case has been in progress. In accordance with an agreement earlier in the case, Dale was obliged to leave the room while Miss Spaulding, his former wife, testified. He returned when she finished. Neither the mother nor the son had a sign of recognition for the former member of the household.

The Last Witness.

The last witness called by the insurance companies before they rested their case this morning was James W. Thompson, a timber cruiser who had been in the employ of Mr. McAlpine for a number of years prior to his death. Mr. Thompson testified that on Aug. 14, the day before Mr. McAlpine died, he visited the lumberman at his office and had a talk about squaring an account which Mr. Thompson had with Mr. McAlpine.

Mr. McAlpine, said the witness, owed him about $70, but stated at that time he would fix it up later. He returned to the office to see the lumberman during the afternoon and on that occasion Mr. McAlpine promised to pay him $50 the next morning at 9 o'clock, he said. The witness also testified that Mr. McAlpine spoke of taking him (Thompson) with him to California on a trip, leaving Duluth on the following Sunday. The California trip spoken of, according to the witness, was with regard to settling the Titus suit which was then pending in the California courts.

TURKESTAN ALFALFA SEED IS FOUND TO BE INFERIOR

Commercial Quality Both Higher in Price and Poorer in Quality Than the Home Grown Product.

Washington, Sept. 19.—A warning to alfalfa growers to avoid the use of commercial Turkestan seed is contained in Department Bulletin No. 138 of the United States department of agriculture, which is shortly to be issued under the title "Commercial Turkestan Alfalfa Seed."

Specialists of the department have been investigating the comparative merits of different kinds of alfalfa seeds and have reached the conclusion that there is nothing to recommend the Turkestan variety for general use in this country. It is, they say, particularly unsuited to the humid climate of the East which, as a matter of fact, uses most of the Turkestan seed imported into this country. This seed is also not sufficiently hardy to warrant its general use in the upper Mississippi valley, where hardiness is an important factor. The investigators, however, are careful to distinguish between commercial Turkestan alfalfa and special strains of hardy alfalfas that have been developed from certain introductions of seed from Turkestan. Valuable varieties of alfalfas unquestionably exist in Central Asia, but these are at present only fitted for use in experimental work in breeding.

At the present time, approximately one-fifth of the alfalfa seed used in the United States is imported. Of this quantity, practically all—95 per cent in the last twelve months—comes from Russian Turkestan. In the European market, commercial Turkestan is the cheapest seed available; in this country its wholesale price is less than that of domestic seed. In spite of this fact, however, a mistaken belief in its superior qualities has resulted in raising its retail price to a point frequently above that of domestic seed. No such preference is shown in the alfalfa growing regions of Europe. There French seed is commonly considered the best, with Italian ranking next, and Turkestan last. Under these circumstances, very little French and Italian seed finds its way to the United States, the bulk of the importations being, as already stated, the cheap commercial Turkestan.

Fortunately, growers who wish to avoid this variety can readily identify it by the presence of Russian knapweed seeds. These seeds have not been found anywhere except in commercial Turkestan seed, and here they are practically always present. Russian knapweed is in some ways similar to quack grass, Johnson grass and Canada thistle, spreading both by seeds and underground rootstalks. The seeds are slightly larger than those of alfalfa and cannot all be removed by any practicable method of machine cleaning. Their chalky white color makes them especially conspicuous, and their symmetrical form — slightly wedge shaped—distinguishes them from the notched seed of other species often found in varieties of alfalfa from other sections. The knapweed seeds, however, are not usually found in large quantities and any lot of alfalfa should, therefore, be examined in bulk. The examination of small samples is not sufficient to show whether the alfalfa comes from Turkestan or not.

ON HOUSING AND HEALTH

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

Nature intended man to live outdoors. Civilization has so extended the geographical range of the human race that this primitive plan has of necessity been abandoned by the great majority of people who spend far more time indoors than out.

In the early stages of civilization houses were sufficiently primitive to insure a healthful degree of ventilation. In recent years there has been much talk in regard to the improvement necessary in housing conditions.

In the larger cities there are many miserable tenements which are unfit for habitation but the great majority of our modern houses are constructed on sanitary lines and would be more healthful if they were properly used.

All the living rooms and bed rooms should have a sufficient amount of fresh air passing through them to keep the atmosphere perfectly sweet. With the arrival of the cold weather comes the problem of properly heating the house. The ordinary hot air furnace provides for the admission of fresh air as do indirect systems of steam and hot water heating, but where the radiators are placed in the rooms heating too often means raising the temperature of the impure and stagnant air which often remains unchanged for hours regardless of the number of people who breathe it.

It may add to the expense of heating our home and places of business to permit constant admission of fresh air and the discharge of that which has been vitiated. Health, however, depends upon the quality and quantity of the air we breathe, and the slight additional expenditure required for heat plus ventilation will mean much to health when compared with heat minus ventilation.

The latter is responsible for the great increase in pneumonia which occurs during the winter months.

POLITE WORDS SAVED HER.

The Youth's Companion: During the siege of Paris and the commune in 1870, Mme. de. Hegermann Lindencrone, an American, was living in Paris, and had a very narrow escape from violence at the hands of a street mob. Her own courage and courtesy were all she could depend upon, and these served her well. She tells the story in the book, "In the Courts of Memory." She had been on a visit to Worth, the dressmaker, when the noise and shouting in the street sent every one to the windows. The street was filled with smoke, and a mob was "howling and flying in every direction."

My one thought was to reach my carriage, and get home as quickly as possible. I caught a glimpse of the carriage way up the street, and I saw a hand gesticulating above the heads of the crowd, which I recognized as Louis'. It was the only one with a glove on!

I pushed my way through the mass of people, saying, very politely, "Pardon," as I pushed, and very politely, "Merci," after I had passed.

My horse had been unharnessed, and a man was trying to lead him away in spite of Louis' remonstrances. The man had hold of one side of the bridle, while Louis, with a pluck unknown before, kept a firm grip on the other. The horse was being tugged at on both sides; had he not been the angel he was, there would have been trouble.

The man holding the bridle opposite to Louis seemed to me a most formidable person. Still, I tried to smile with calmness, and although I was shaking all over, said, "Pardon, monsieur, will you permit me to have my horse harnessed?" I think he was completely taken off his guard, for, with the intuitive gallantry of a Frenchman, he answered me amiably. Throwing back his coat, he showed me his badge and said, "I am the agent of the committee of public safety, and it is for the government that I take the horse."

I made him observe that it would be very difficult for me to walk to my home, and if the government wanted the horse, it might come there to fetch it. He looked doubtfully at me, as if weighing the situation, then said, very courteously:

"I understand, madame, and I give you back your horse." And he even helped Louis to reharness the horse, which seemed happy to return to his shafts.

Nearly all fall lines have been received. If the war should stop tomorrow, it would take four months to tan the leather for gloves. WHEAT WEAK AT THE CLOSE Market Sells Off on Quiet Eastern Demand and Heavy Receipts.

Flaxseed Slumps Sharply on Liquidation and Lack of Crushers' Support.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 21.—The market was weaker at the close. September wheat closed ⅞c off; December ½c off, and May ¾c off. September durum closed ⅞c off; October 1c off; November ¾c off, and December ½c off.

Oats closed ½c up at 47¾c for on the track. Rye closed unchanged at 90@91c for on the track, and barley unchanged at from 50c to 60c.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ¼c off at 49⅝c bid, and December ¼c off at 49½c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at $1.10⅝ bid, and calls at $1.16 asked.

The wheat market was nervous throughout today's session, selling at well over Saturday's closing quotations to fractionally under. On the whole the undertone was strong in spite of continued heavy receipts at all points and quiet demand in so far as the Northwest markets were concerned.

Good export demand was reported at the seaboard, and it was noted that the business was better distributed between the European countries. The general opinion among exporters is that although quotations are now on high levels, still stiffer figures will be recorded early in the year. It is conceded that the war has seriously impeded the preparation of the soil and seeding everywhere over there, and that America will be called upon to make up heavy deficiencies in supplies.

Inspections at Duluth bulked up to 1,270 cars against 888 last year. Elevators look for continued large receipts during the next ten days, but a falling off after that is predicted as growers are showing an inclination to hold as soon as they have marketed sufficient to cover their pressing liabilities.

A weakening factor around mid-day was a large increase of 5,046,000 bu, showing in the American visible supply. Primary receipts for the day bulked up to 3,522,000 bu, or approximately 960,000 bu more than last year.

September wheat opened ½c up at $1.13 and it stood at ⅛c lower at the noon hour. December wheat opened unchanged at $1.13⅛ and weakened ¼c. The May option sold off 1⅛c to $1.19.

Durum was weak. September durum opened ⅜c up at $1.06 and later weakened ¼c. October durum ½c up at $1.06⅛, and sold off 1⅜c. November declined 1c to $1.06. December opened ¼c up at $1.08, and weakened 1c.

Big Drop in Flaxseed.

Sharp weakness developed in flaxseed as a result of steady selling pressure and lack of crushers' inquiry. Bearish sentiment prevails in the trade owing to the uncertainty regarding the prospective demand for linseed oil, and the increasing fear that the new Argentine crop may be dumped on the American markets. It is a subject of comment amoun leading traders that the situation is dark despite the heavy falling off of the flaxseed crop in both the American and Canadian Northwest this season.

The market was weak from the start and final prices showed declines of 6 @6¼c in the day.

September flax closed 5c off at $1.44½ asked. October opened ⅜c off at $1.49¾ and closed 6c off at $1.44½. November opened unchanged at $1.52¾ and closed 6c off at $1.146¾ asked. December opened ½c off at $1.53 and closed 6¼c off at $1.47¼.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 5¼c off at $1.23½. November closed $1.26 asked and December at $1.28 asked.

Baker received the following letter from Shipton, Anderson & Co. of Liverpool, dated Sept. 16. "It has naturally been a most strenuous time here, as Liverpool brokers had a tremendous number of commitments open, not only with shippers in America, but consumers and buyers of all sorts on this side. We are thankful to say that things are now straightening out wonderfully, and better than we could possibly have expected. Our government has given us very great assistance, and has tackled the commercial problems in conjunction with business men in a wonderfully prompt manner. Naturally our market was very much affected at first owing to the general uncertainty. Then, later, as you are aware, it slipped back considerably owing to the enormous arrivals of diverted cargoes, as it was quite impossible for any shipowner to risk going into the North Sea for some time. Shipments to Liverpool and the United Kingdom have, of course, been enormous, but then this has been caused by buyers over here giving shippers almost carte blanche to ship whenever they could, and even October shipments have already been put afloat. This war must have a tremendous influence on the wheat market during the next twelve months at least. The wastage of food supplies on the continent of Europe has been and will be enormous, but on the other hand people will conserve as much as possible. Although the price at present seems a very high one, later in the year and the early part of next year, we candidly feel that prices will be materially higher."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Total shipments from North America this week were—Wheat, 8,408,000 bu; corn, 112,000 bu; oats, 2,634,000 bu. Of this wheat Canada shipped 1,323,000 bu, and the Pacific coast, 587,000. Distribution of wheat as follows—United Kingdom, 2,805,000 bu; Rotterdam, 834,000 bu; France, 2,672,000 bu; Italy, 147,000 bu; Greece, 190,000 bu; Santos, 158,000 bu; Scandinavia, 415,000 bu; ex. Europe, 1,167,000 bu. General heavy rain and cold prevail throughout Europe. There is small mention made of crop preparation.

Cold rain is falling in Russia. In the upper Ural districts seeding has commenced with the help of the peasants and various societies and it is believed that this operation will extend rapidly if the weather permits."

• • •

A Reuter cable from Melbourne states—Heavy rain would help pastures, but would not prevent an enormous diminution in the average wheat harvest.

Russell News says: "Chicago interests are talking of good demand for wheat, corn and oats. Local exporters did not seem to be quite as enthusiastic but there were inquiries here. It is understood that James A. Patten predicts that the available oats exportable surplus will soon be exhausted."

Paine Webber & Co. had the following from Chicago: "Our reports on corn are showing improvement in prospects over northern half of the surplus states. South Dakota and Minnesota are leading in the condition reports. Ohio and eastward report splendid prospects. The October indication will be advanced at least 50,000,000 bu over Sept. 1."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Falling Off in Receipts Throughout Spring Crop Belt Bulls Wheat Prices.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Decided falling off in receipts throughout the spring crop belt had a bullish effect today on the wheat market here. The arrivals, instead of continuing unusually heavy, were under the total reached at the corresponding time a year ago. Increasing European demand tended also to lift values. After opening ⅞c to 1¼c higher, prices made a moderate additional gain.

A huge increase of the United States visible supply led afterward to a decided setback in prices, but not of a lasting sort. The close was steady at ⅛c to 1¼c net advance.

Corn sympathized with wheat. Offerings were light and only in small lots. The start, which was ⅛@¼c to ⅜c up, was followed by a further advance.

A temporary dip occurred later when the wheat market underwent a sag. The close was firm, ⅛@¼c to ⅜@⅝c above Saturday night.

Seaboard demand strengthened oats. Commission houses, too, were good buyers.

Provisions hardened a little because of a rise in hog prices but had no support and gave way under scattered selling.

Straight Dealer Talk

R. H. Durbin, the advertising manager of one of the largest and most successful department stores in the country, recently addressed a meeting of buyers in New York.

He made a strong plea to local merchants to support the manufacturers who advertise in newspapers.

Such national advertising, Mr. Durbin declared, should inspire the retailer to come out and say "I carry such and such a product."

Mr. Durbin gave this advice to the buyers:

"Don't forget that the goods you have in stock are to be sold right there in your town and that the way to sell them is to advertise in the home newspapers.

"Pay no attention to the manufacturer who sends you a lot of circular matter, saying, 'We are going to buy a $10,000 spread in the Sun and Moon Magazine on such a date and we hope you will co-operate with us by advertising in your local newspaper that you handle our product.'"
